The curbing and blacktopping of Liberty Street, from Delaware Avenue to U. S. 13, was completed toward the close of last week. This was a state project.

Curbing has started on Second Avenue and may be completed this week, after which curbing will be completed on Reese Avenue and all of Smith Avenue will be curbed.

Short, High, and other parts of Liberty Street will also be curbed at an undetermined date.

With the completion of the present curbing, it is expected the streets will be blacktopped, said City Manager George Graham. He added that the State Highway Department this week was cleaning up all state roads in the community.

Turning to other affairs, the city manager disclosed that two bad leaks in the Clark Street water main; five on South Street, several on Harrington Avenue, and one on Delaware Avenue at Center Street had been repaired and that one on Clark Street at East Street will require replacement of a portion of a main.

Numerous holes have been patched in the streets and mowing of lots will begin next week, the city manager concluded.

Rotarians Learn Of Discovery Of Indian Relics

In describing the operations of the Sussex County Archeological Society and the methods employed in location sites for excavation purposes to discover Indian relics and trophies of historic importance, Henry H. Hutchinson, member of the society and retired mechanical engineer of the DuPont Company, explained to Dover Rotarians at their meeting Tuesday night in the Dinner Bell Inn that numerous relics of great historic significance have been discovered in different sections of Sussex County within the past several years.

Mention was made concerning the interesting fact that practically all the sites which have been excavated are located near navigable water, as these discoveries indicate that the early inhabitants of lower Delaware used these rivers and streams for transportation as well as sources of water supply. In locating areas for excavation purposes, members of the Archeological Society look for pieces of broken pottery, arrowheads and other evidence pointing to the fact that Indian villages at one time were in existence in these places.

In connection with these observations, a detail map is prepared of each area, and as the excavation progresses additional observations are noted along with keeping an accurate record and description of everything which is found that might be of value to the history of the state with reference to these early settlers. Hutchinson exhibited a number of relics and showed colored slides illustrating the method of excavating, also the various articles which have been discovered showing some of the habits and characteristics of different Indian tribes.

This presentation created a number of questions and comments indicating their interest in these discoveries which are being unearthed through the efforts of the Sussex County Archeological Society.

Hutchinson, whose former home was in Stanton, Va., and who now is living in Bethel, since his retirement several years ago, was introduced by Douglas L. Harris, chairman of the club program committee.

Club singing was led by John S. Charlton, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. George D. Tebo, and birthday congratulations were extended to Karl D. Dorzback, Jr.

The Dover Rotary Club was highly honored at its meeting last Tuesday night when one of the Junior Rotarians, George A. Ward, Jr., a Cadet Staff Sergeant at the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., related some of his experience.

Girl Accuses Man of Attack

Charged with the rape of a 14-year-old girl, William Warren, 24, of Woodside, was released under $10,000 bail Sunday.

He was arrested by state police at Dover shortly before midnight Friday, accused of attacking the girl in an automobile at a lake near Wyoming Mill. Magistrate Ralph D. Knotts, Sr., Dover, set bail.

An accomplice of Warren is being sought. State police said Warren and his companion drove alongside a car in which a Woodside girl and her 18-year-old escort were parked.

State police said Warren ordered the girl's escort into the back seat of the car, raped the girl and, holding a butcher knife at her throat, threatened to kill her if her escort interfered. His accomplice remained at the wheel of the car.

The girl recalled her attacker had a bandaged arm. A Dover policeman, hearing a description of the man sought, told state police he had seen Warren in Dover Friday with an arm bandaged.

Warren, arrested at his home, has denied the crime. Police said the girl picked Warren out of a lineup.

Buckson Favors Reapportioning Seats in House

Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson Wednesday advocated reapportionment of representation in the General Assembly as a plank in the GOP state platform.

"I believe in a representative government and it is time to correct certain inequities that exist," said Mr. Buckson, who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The state's founding fathers intended that representation in the General Assembly be based on population, he said, but since then population densities have greatly shifted. As a consequence, he said, populous areas do not have a fair representation in the State Legislature.

He suggested a constitutional amendment to provide that each representative district in the state have at least one member in the House of Representatives, and that additional members be based on the number of voters in a general election.

The additional representatives could also be based on

FREAR SEEKS RE-ELECTION

United States Senator J. Allen Frear Jr., announced this week that he is a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate.

Mr. Frear said that prior to reaching his decision to run again, he has sought the viewpoint of Party representatives and from individual citizens throughout the State. "The advice and counsel that has come to me as a result of these conversations have been encouraging and in some cases quite heartwarming," he continued, "particularly in Kent County which supported me so wholeheartedly at the 1954 State Convention and, more recently, by an endorsement for the 1960 campaign."

The Senator said that he would spend as much time as possible in Delaware in the days ahead, but pointed out that legislative obligations will require him to remain in Washington most of the time between now and the adjournment of Congress.

Senator Frear was elected to the Senate for his first term in 1948 and was re-elected in 1954. He now serves as third ranking majority member of the important Senate Finance Committee and as fourth ranking member of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency. In addition, Mr. Frear is assigned to the Senate District of Columbia Committee, the Joint Committee on Defense Production and the Democratic Steering Committee.

Migrant Worker Gets Suspended Sentence

A Puerto Rican migrant farm worker was given a three-month suspended sentence in Court of Common Pleas Wednesday as an aftermath of a shooting incident at a labor camp.

The man, Gabriel Texidor, 34, was given the sentence on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, a loaded pistol, to which he pleaded guilty.

A charge of assault and battery on Lorenzo Davis, 40, Lakeland, Fla., who also lived at the labor camp, near Magnolia, was dropped against Texidor by Deputy Atty. Gen. George R. Wright because Davis left the state without permission of the prosecution and it not available as a witness.

Texidor was alleged to have shot Davis in the shoulder with a .38-caliber pistol during an argument at the camp on July 3. Both men, according to the allegations, had been drinking. Speaking through an interpreter from the Dover Air Force Base, Texidor claimed he shot in self-defense.

Judge Ernest V. Keith, in imposing the suspended sentence, said he wanted the defendant to understand that the carrying of deadly weapons is against the law and that the law must be obeyed.

Mr. Wright nolle prossed a charge of false pretense against Tommy W. Addison, 39, and David Pritchett, 20, both of Harrington, as the prosecuting witness will be unable to appear as a witness because of ill health.

They were accused of charging Mrs. Elva Pryor, 75, of Clayton, $200 by misrepresentation in connection with a termite re-spraying and inspection job at her home on May 11. Addison previously worked for a termite control company with which Mrs. Pryor had a contract, according to the allegations.

Too Many Vitamins Can Be Harmful

American were reminded today that taking an excessive amount of vitamin supplements can be harmful.

The Journal of the American Medical Association in an editorial said "the fallacy seems widely disseminated that every healthy individual must consume multivitamin pills" to obtain an adequate diet.

"On the contrary," the Journal said, "only in a deficiency state or an anticipated deficiency state are vitamin supplements necessary."

"Under such circumstances it is the responsibility of the physician to recommend supplementary vitamins, and the decision regarding dosage and kind of vitamins must reside in the physician."

If single or multiple vitamins are taken without sound clinical indications, trouble may appear, the editorial said. An overdose of vitamin A can lead to loss of appetite, irritability, skin eruptions, or enlargement of the liver, it said, and too much vitamin D may lead to gastrointestinal symptoms.

The position of the A.M.A. on vitamin supplements, as stated by its Council on Foods and Nutrition in January 1959, is that "all the nutrients essential to the maintenance of health in the normal individual are supplied by an adequate diet."

Tot Has Narrow Escape at Felton

Democrats Plan Pre-Convention Parley at Dover

The Democratic State Committee will meet Wednesday night at Dover to prepare for the party's state nominating convention next Thursday — and to talk politics.

The committee always meets on the eve of a convention to certify the lists of delegates and thus adopt a temporary roll for the convention. At the same time, the committee names a temporary chairman for the convention.

But the big interest in the meeting this year will be speculation on what will happen one week from today at the convention.

Sussex Democrats will be the center of attention, because the choice of the Democratic candidate for governor is in their hands.

If a majority of the Sussex delegates are for former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, the convention is expected to make him the candidate. But if the Sussex delegates are so split that Mr. Carvel can't get a majority of 60 convention votes from Sussex, the Democrats are expected to nominate J. H. Tyler McConnell.

Some delegate contests in Sussex will be settled at the delegate election Saturday. Meanwhile, there are conflicting reports on who is for whom, and the impression given out by Sussex Democrats is that anything can happen.

The convention will be held in the Field House of Dover High School, not in the air conditioned auditorium of the same school. The convention arrangers felt that the fixed seats in the auditorium are unsatisfactory for the moving around that convention delegates like to do.

Democrats In Kent Open Headquarters

About 150 persons, many of them candidates for office in Saturday's primary elections, showed up Tuesday for the opening of Democratic Headquarters at 321 Lockerman St., Dover.

The office will be staffed until the November elections and information on registration or voting will be available by personal visit or telephone. A voting machine will also be on the premises to illustrate its use.

Young Democrats of Kent County and the Democratic Women's Club are sponsoring the party headquarters which, of course, will be managed by the committee.

In brief ceremonies, Jack Whitby, president of the Young Democrats Club, received keys to the office from Vernon B. Derrickson, chairman of the Kent Committee.

Derrickson also announced he has named a committee of four attorneys to handle publicity for the county committee. They are Max Terry, William W. Bush, III, Maurice A. Hartnett III and Joshua Twilley.

Derrickson asked them to do a "thorough job at the least possible cost."

Tuesday's ceremonies marking the opening of the building included lunch.

Stolen Motors Are Recovered, Two Arrested

State police have solved the theft of three outboard motors, with some equipment, from boats tied up at Port Mahon, with the arrest of James Edward Carter, 30, Harrington RD, and Charles Henry Knight, 28, Goldsboro RD.

Recently state police received a report from Willis Hand, of Little Creek, that two outboard motors were stolen from his crabbing boats at Port Mahon.

Last week Herman Downs, of Frederica, informed state police that an outboard motor had been stolen from his boat at Port Mahon.

Also, last week, a maintenance crew of the State Highway Department, found three outboard motors concealed in some brambles along a dirt road near Canterbury, and informed the state police about it.

The police investigation stepped up in tempo with this discovery and the subsequent identification of the three motors as being the ones that were stolen from Port Mahon.

The police located Carter and Knight Wed., Aug. 10, and took them into custody, after which the police also recovered a wrench and fuel can that was taken from the boats.

Carter and Knight were taken before Magistrate Ralph Knotts Sr., on two charges of grand larceny and an additional charge of petty larceny involving the wrench and can.

They were held under $500 bail on each of the grand larceny charges for the Superior Court and in default of bail they were incarcerated in the Kent Correctional Institution.

Both men entered pleas of guilty to the petty larceny charge and Magistrate Knotts imposed a fine of $10, plus costs, on each of them. In default of payment they were sent to jail for ten days.

Strict Control of Diabetic Needed to Prevent Complications

A lack of medical control of the diabetic is the "prime factor" in the occurrence of kidney complications, two British researchers said today.

They said "a long period of uncontrolled, or inadequately controlled, diabetes was the prime factor responsible for the development" of kidney disease in the diabetic.

Insulin and antibiotics have saved the diabetic from early death, from coma and infections, almost tripling his life expectancy, they pointed out. Now, complications, primarily of the kidney, are the "chief problem" in the disease, they said.

Diabetes is a metabolic disorder resulting in an insufficiency of insulin. It is accompanied by degenerate vascular changes affecting the eyes, kidneys, heart, and nerves.

Although most medical men agree that kidney complications are related to the duration of the disease, the two researchers said, there is some controversy about whether good control of the diabetic state over the years protects the patient from these complications.

"In this study, a definite relationship between the degree of control of diabetes and the incidence of diabetic nephropathy (kidney disease) was found," they said.

"It is apparent that a shorter duration, e. g., 5 years, is sufficient for a poorly controlled diabetic to develop these complications, while a longer time, e. g., 10 or 15 years, is necessary for a moderately controlled diabetic to develop them, and a patient with an excellent degree of control of his metabolic error will not develop vascular complications no matter how long diabetes remains.

"The duration of diabetes thus plays its role only in the presence of deficient control by prolonging the period of this deficient control and exaggerating an abnormal physiology in the poorly controlled diabetic subject."

The two authors said they believe the discovery of the various factors that influence the development of diabetic complications will bring stricter rules and additional rules for medical control of the diabetic.

Felton later defeated the Moose 9-5 to break the tie for fourth place and enter the playoffs as defending playoff champion.

Last week the Harrington All-Stars defeated the Milton All-Stars 10-2. Harrington managed this with outfielder Sheldon "Fink" Hayman on the mound right to the absence of their ace righthander, Chester Short.

The playoffs began this week with the third place Harrington Athletic Club upsetting the Greenwood pennant winners in the first game of their series, 15-8.

The primary elections here tomorrow promise spirited contests among the Democrats while the Republicans, with no local contests, chortle.

Elsewhere in Kent County, the Democrats have many contests, with the Republicans, few.

Overhead Wires Can Be Deadly Electric energy is probably the safest source of light, heat or power around the farm when properly controlled, but it can be deadly. Forgetting or overlooking the presence of overhead wires when handling a metal ladder, swinging and carrying irrigation pipes or when putting the silo filler pipe into position can mean death, warns A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. High voltage or primary lines are usually bare wire and the so-called weather insulation on them does not protect people against shock, he points out. Never assume that the insulated wires carrying the 120 or 240-volt current between buildings are safe to touch since insulation may become ineffective with age. The National Electrical Code requires that such conductors have a clearance height of not less than 18 feet above drive-ways and that everywhere else they be at least 10 feet above ground. It is best to avoid running wires across buildings but, if necessary, they must extend at least 8 feet above the highest peak, the engineer suggests.

Motor Fuel Taxes Increase in June Receipts from motor fuel taxes in Delaware during June showed a large increase over the receipts from this source for the same month in the three preceding years, according to a report released by James J. Deputy, administrator of the Motor Fuel Tax Division of the State Highway Department. According to this report the receipts from motor fuel taxes for the month of June totaled $850,957.98, an increase of $69,217.09 over June of last year, $98,670.25 more than was received during June of 1958 and an increase of $129,391.83 over the amount received during June of 1957. The motor fuel taxes for June, which were received during July, represented the sale of 17,019,159 gallons of motor fuel, an increase of 1,312,577 gallons over the amount sold during June of last year. Mr. Deputy's report listed 61 concerns as being bonded as motor fuel distributors in Delaware during June and of this number 11 concerns reported no sales for the month. Six other concerns reported sales that produced $566,208.38 or 66.6 percent of the taxes collected. These concerns, and the amount of taxes reported by each, were: Atlantic Refining Company, $102,621.77; Humble Oil & Refining Company (Esso), $157,879.39; Gulf Oil Corporation, $100,189.94; Sun Oil Company, $61,156.05; Texaco, $72,797.55 and Tidewater Oil Company, $71,563.68.

Minimum Corn Support In Kent County is $1.17

The price of 1960-crop corn in Kent County will be supported at a minimum of $1.17 per bushel, R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced today, at Dover.

The local rate is based on a minimum of national average support rate of $1.06 which has been determined under the requirements contained in the Agricultural Act of 1958.

This minimum is determined well in advance of harvest on the basis of preliminary information, so that the price support program can get under way promptly at harvest time. The minimum rate may be increased if the final 1960-crop support price as determined in October is higher. It will not be reduced.

As in the past, Mr. Wilson said, the price support program for corn will be carried out through loans on farm or warehouse-stored corn and through purchase agreements. These will be available from harvest time through May 31, 1961 and will mature July 31, 1961.

To be eligible for support, corn must grade No. 3 or better except that corn grading No. 4 because of test weight only will also be eligible. Corn must meet certain moisture requirements and must also be in adequate storage. Detailed information is available at the county ASC Office.

CC Storage Facility Loan Available

The Commodity Credit Corporation storage facility loan is available again this year for farmers who need additional storage capacity on their farms, according to R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, at Dover.

The loans are available to provide new farm storage facilities for most storable crops. County ASC committees are authorized to approve applications for loans up to 80 percent of the cost of storage structures. The loans are payable in four annual installments beginning one year after the loan is made. The rate of interest is four percent. Applications may be filed at the county ASC office, at Dover.

Since the inauguration of the storage facility loan in 1949, more than 126,000 loans had been made to farmers as of April 30, 1960. The loans helped finance storage structures with an aggregate capacity about 498.5 million bushels.

Entered as second-class matter August 16, 1946, at the Post Office at Harrington, Delaware, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

We see where there was an accident at State and Division Streets in Dover when a motorist was accused of running the redlight. This is a notorious corner. We have seen motorists run the redlight, take off with jackrabbit starts and round the corner on two wheels. We also heard the crash of a bottle thrown from a car at this corner the other night.

And motorists are still running the caution light on U.S. 13 at the edge of Camden. Where old U.S. 13 joins the new U.S. 13, just north of Camden and below the Rodney Village Shopping Center, there is a yield-right-of-way sign for traffic coming from Camden onto U.S. 13. It means nothing, however.

VOTE TOMORROW IN THE PRIMARY

There will be many contests in the Democratic primary tomorrow. Two reasons have been ascribed for the contention: lack of leadership and the belief it will be a good year for the Democrats and everyone wants to get on the ticket. "Too many chiefs and not enough Indians," says one candidate.

Nevertheless, this country is a democracy and every person, eligible to vote, has the opportunity to run for office.

In the Ninth Representative District, which comprises the major part of Harrington, there are contests for many posts. The gladiators are composed of the organization and a newly formed group called the Frontier Democrats.

It is not good logic to presume that all on one side are capable and all those on the other side are not capable. The main thing is that every Democratic voter should vote according to the dictates of his or her conscience and that, after the primary, the opponents let by-gones be by-gones.

Letter to the Editor

Press releases from office of the Secretary of the Kent County Democratic Committee indicate that Leon Donovan, a former Representative and attaché, has filed for the Senatorial nomination from the 4th Senatorial District of Kent County, which includes the Sixth and Ninth Representative District. Prior to filing for this nomination Mr. Donovan did not consult with the majority of the District Committee and this action has caused a factional fight within the 9th District. Despite the fact of the established practice in the Fourth Senatorial District to rotate the nomination for the Senatorship between the Sixth and Ninth District, Edgar Kates, committeeman of the Sixth District has made every effort to assist Mr. Donovan and has failed to assume neutrality as should have been done. I do not believe this is the consensus of the Sixth District and am of the opinion that the voters of the Sixth District will support George Cain for Senator and Walter Paskey Sr. for membership in the Levy Court.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: Why in the sam hill don't they run Charles Peck Jr. for Governor. I saw in last weeks paper that he belonged to all the organizations in Delaware, so this shows he has never done a good days work. He wouldn't know what to do for a working man if he got up to Dover. I understand he falls asleep in his tracks, standing up. If he did get up to Dover, he would fall asleep in the chair, probably never know what was going on. So why vote for a guy who doesn't know what a days work is and someone who is always half asleep. Vote for a real good earnest man, George Exley. A Fellow Democrat

Letter to the Editor

Dear Leon: I have supported you both times you have been on the ticket, but I am confused now as a fellow Farm Bureau member. A local labor organizer seems to be your principal backer and states he has all the money necessary to assure your victory. Is this true? If so, where are we farmers going for help if you are elected? Also, please explain the position you place yourself in by putting your farms in the Republican Benson soil bank. Your Neighbor and Farmer Jasper Dulittle

Letter to the Editor

To The Voters: To the Voters of the Ninth Representative District: don't be misled by voting the so-called good government ticket. It will only be good for some few. A Democrat

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

I always think it's fun, during the big fashion openings, to pick out the styles I can copy most easily with my own knitting needles or crochet hook. This Spring I certainly haven't had to look very far. Today I want to tell you about one top fashion item that takes to crochet like a duck to water: the pert and attractive Bertha collar that's being shown with such success in Paris, New York and London.

"TO THINE OWN SELF..."

Any really well-dressed woman knows the value of Shakespeare's time-honored advice, "To thine own self be true." It's important to be fashion-conscious when you buy or make your new clothes. But you should certainly never lose track of the colors and silhouettes which are personally becoming to you. Now what could set off your face and features more beautifully than this neat, fresh circle of white?

A QUICK TRICK TO TRANSFORM LAST YEAR'S BEST

None of us can afford to empty our closets of last year's clothes every time a new style appears, and I for one wouldn't even want to. There are all sorts of little tricks, though, for keeping our favorite dresses up-to-date. This Fall we were shortening our skirts. And this Spring, what could be simpler than crocheting a pretty collar? It takes just a few hours to make, in alternating rows of treble and single crochet. Trimmed with chain loops and snap-fastened, it's worked in a mercerized crochet cotton that takes washing particularly well. If you'd like to add this bright bit of Spring to your wardrobe, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper and ask for BERTHA COLLAR, free Leaflet No. FC-1152.

Voters in Caesar Rodney School District to Decide On Bond Issue Today

Friday the voters in the Caesar Rodney Special School District will decide whether or not the Board of Education will be given authority to bond the district for $570,000 for school construction to be matched by $855,000 in State funds. $1,275,000 of the $1,425,000 total is allocated for a new 24-room elementary school and $150,000 for renovations to the present plant.

As required by law, voting districts have been outlined with voters living east of the dual highway 13 and south of the blacktop road, 356, running from the Odd Fellows cemetery to Lebanon Bridge voting at the Star Hill School. This area includes the towns Lebanon and Rising Sun. Residents of the District from the former Comegys District east of St. Jones River are also to vote at Star Hill.

The voters in the remainder of the district are scheduled to vote at Caesar Rodney High School in Camden.

Voting hours are between 1 p. m. and 8 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

In addition to voting on the bond issue the Board of Education will give those voting an opportunity to express a recommendation as to whether or not the new school, to be located on a separate site, should be a one-story or a two-story building. This arrangement was made by the Board since considerable interest in the type of building was expressed at the recent public meeting. At present the Board has preliminary sketches of both types of buildings under consideration.

The Board has pointed out that the need for additional classrooms is urgent.

A total of 18 temporary rooms will be in use during the coming school year.

The government will pay a rental charge on seven of the 1938 series of bonds and an increase in the real estate assessment the new bond issue would not involve a change in the tax rate.

Of Valuable

It looks like the Blue Hen Speedway is back in business on a bigger scale than ever. We had 24 midgets at the track Friday night and expect more this week. A total of 9 races were held: 5 heat races, 1 consolation and 3 features—that's right, three big 25-lap features. One for the 1/4 midgets; one for the flathead class, and one for the open class of micros. This gives the spectators a total of 165 laps of the fastest, toughest racing on the Eastern Shore. Along with the National Cars come the expected thrills, spins, and tangles from the very first lap. I know we have all see midget racing before but when you take the fastest cars from Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, believe me, you see the best.

Buddy Spearing driving car 8 from Greensboro took the first heat race for the flathead class after fighting off Clarence Welch driving car 14 of Harrington for 15 laps, this was a battle all the way. Curly Warren of Dover, finished third; it's good to see Curly back in there and running very good. The second flathead heat race saw another Maryland car take the checkered flag, this was Frosty Dickson driving the red hot car 77 owned by Dan Perry. Frosty started in the rear and went all the way on the outside, this car rally goes. In second place was Harry Porter driving car 8 from Wilmington and third was Dick Palmer car 99 of Lancaster, Pa. The third heat race for open class cars saw Dick Sapp in Walt Schiff's car 22 with Lou Abba of Vineland, N. J., second. In third place was car 2, J. Alexander also of Vineland, N. J. This No. 2 car is powered by a Mercury outboard, so you see it's hard to tell what you might find pushing these midgets around the track.

The consolation was taken by Mervin Shultie in the very fast car 7, second place went to Spanky Vincent driving car 71, it's real good to have Spanky back. Third place went to Bob Walls driving car 00 from Greensboro. The flathead feature turned out to be a real battle and Clarence Welch in car 14 held the lead until the race was stopped in the 10th lap due to an accident, which took both No. 7 & 00 out of the race. On the restart Spearing took the lead pressed very hard by Frosty in No. 77. After running several laps side by side Spearing went into the second corner and spun. Frosty then went on to take the first place money, second was Clarence Welch No. 14, 3rd., Spandy Vincent No. 71. The open feature was another real thriller which saw leadfoot Lou Abba of Vineland coming in to take first place prize money, this was a very close race most of the way between 4, 8, 2, and 7. Smokey in John Porter's 7 moved from last place to second and was on the outside of the blue No. 8 from Pennsylvania when both cars drifted a little too wide coming off the 4th corner, this was all Lou needed to drop under them and go on to take first place, second Smokey in car No. 7 and third was car No. 2.

Once you see these boys in action we know you will be back so come on out and help us keep speed and racing where it belongs, on the race track. See you at the Blue Hen Speedway this Friday night.

Quarter Midget Division
The mud-caked little speedsters on the Blue Hen track Friday night was the 1/4 midget division displaying techniques of tomorrow's future safe drivers. The bumper to bumper action, slides and spins produced an air of excitement with everyone young and old. To everyone these little drivers are champions.

The first heat race was won by Jackie Warrington piloting car 33 to victory with car 100 driven by Bobby Walls second. Billy Dill driving car 1 third and Buddy Matthews driving car 88 Jr., fourth.

The second heat race found a turn about with Buddy Matthews capturing first place with Bobby Walls in car 100 in second spot; Billy Dill chauffeuring car 1, third, and Jackie Warrington, in car 33, fourth.

These little midgeteers topped the evening with a 25-lap feature race with Billy Dill holding the lead for 15 laps then spun out and was placed last. Buddy Matthews drove his 88 Jr. to the winners circle capturing first place as the checkered flag was dropped. Car 33 driven by Jackie Warrington was a close second with Billy Dill, in car 1, third, and Bobby Walls driving car 100. You will see these little speedsters on the Blue Hen oval Friday night with plenty of racing activity.

W. O. T. M. Notes

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Chapter 1229 was held Thurs., August 11. Mrs. Elsie Barlow, sponsored by Mrs. William Fleischauer, was enrolled as a candidate. The chapter was very glad to have Mrs. Barlow reinstated as she was the first Senior Regent to serve in this chapter.

The family picnic which was scheduled for Saturday was held in spite of the bad weather and although the attendance was not what was expected the picnic was a success. ### Md. 4-H Public Speaking Winners Announced

State winners of the 4-H Public Speaking contest delivered their speeches on "How 4-H Clubs Build Better Communities" at the morning assembly program Aug. 11 during State 4-H Club Week on the University of Maryland Campus, Aug. 8-13.

About 1200 4-H'ers attending Club Week from all Maryland counties heard State winners Nancy Ellen Bohr, Westminster, Carroll County, and James Kirby, Cambrills, Anne Arundel County, tell how their clubs serve their community.

The two winners won first awards in competition with district winners from six 4-H Club districts.

Nancy Bohr is a member of Winfield Girls 4-H Club and has been a member for six years. She carries clothing and public speaking projects. Her public speaking activities include talks before Homemaker Clubs, American Legion, Southern States and service clubs.

James Kirby is a member of the Davidsonville Club and Anne Arundel County's Older 4-H Youth. He is assistant leader of 52 members of Davidsonville Club. On the State level, Kirby is vice president of the State 4-H Older Youth.

In 1959, Kirby won a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for the State winning record in 4-H project achievements.

Both contestants feel that the 4-H Club has an important place in the community. "A Community is only as good as its families make it and 4-H makes the family," stated Kirby.

Nancy Bohr feels that the 4-H activities have a tremendous effect on the entire country since 4-H'ers contribute to the overall effect by what they do with the knowledge they've gained.

Girls competing were Sarah Lane, Caroline County who placed second, and Patricia Payette, Baltimore County, third place winner. Sue Gray, Worcester County, Patricia Beard, Anne Arundel County and Alice Stanley, Washington County, represented their districts.

In boy's competition, Frank Downey, Washington County, placed second; Ernie Harris, Howard County, third. Others competing were Bill Davis, Queen Anne's; Roy Purdue, Wicomico, and William Watson, Harford.

Judging the 4-H Public Speaking event were Miss Margaret Oliver, home demonstration agent leader, John Magruder, county agent leader and Donald Gareis, eastern representative of the sponsoring firm for the 4-H Public Speaking contest.

Calvert County 4-H'er Wins Top Honors In State Dress Revue

A Calvert County 4-H member, Frances Dunkle, Prince Frederick won top honors in the 1960 Maryland 4-H dress revue.

Wearing a navy blue suit of a washable blend fabric, Frances modeled the outfit she made in her clothing project.

She will represent Maryland in the National Dress Revue held during National Club Congress. She is a 7th year club member and makes most of her own clothes. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunkle.

Runner up was Sarah King, Frederick with her shirt waist dress of cotton fabric.

There were 63 entries in the State Dress Revue representing 1162 4-H members who competed in county and district eliminations.

Held on the final day of State 4-H Club Week, August 12, the State Dress Revue was staged in the University of Maryland Armory. The show's theme and props around Main Street, U.S.A. made a perfect setting for an array of pretty girls modeling costumes they fashioned from a variety of fabrics, colors and styles.

Other top scoring contestants were Jane Hanst, Oakland, Garrett County in a smart suit of woolen plaid; and Carolyn Mills, Gaithersburg, Montgomery County in a short party dress of blue sateen and white lace. Honorable mention for scoring among the top ten contestants went to Nancy Williams, St. Leonard, Calvert County; Carolyn Buck, Upper Marlboro, Prince George's; Norma Weaver, Hagerstown, Washington; Barbara Tibbitt, Salisbury, Wicomico; Jean Slade, Ellicott City, Howard; and Arlene Hastings, Salisbury, Wicomico.

The State Dress Revue was under the direction of Miss Lavonia Hilbert, Extension clothing specialist at the University of Maryland.

Revocation of Licenses Shrink In July

The number of motor vehicle licenses revoked during the month of July was one of the smallest issued in this state for a number of years. Likewise there was a reduction in the number of license suspensions for the month.

According to a report issued by the Revocation Division of the Motor Vehicle Department, there were a total of 96 license revocations during July and 247 license suspensions for various periods of time.

All but one of the revocations were for convictions for drunken driving, the other revocations resulted from three convictions on a charge of reckless driving.

Of the revocations 64 were Delaware motorist and 23 were from out of the state, while 9 Delaware motorists were convicted of drunken driving in other states. 91 of the revocations were for male operators and 5 were for female operators.

In addition 11 motorists had their period of revocation extended for driving during the period that their license had been revoked.

Of the runken driver revocations 86 were first offenders and 8 were second offenders while one was arrested on this charge for the third time.

The age group of 26 to 36 years had 31 of the revocations while 26 were in the 37 to 45 age group and 23 in the 46 to 55 year group. One was in the 16 to 19 age bracket, 11 in the 20 to 25 year group and two in the 56 to 65 age group.

Kent and Sussex counties had 27 of the revocations with 15 being for Kent County motorists and 12 for Sussex County operators. Kent County had three of the operators who had their period of revocation extended while one was in Sussex County.

Mushrooms—Food For The Future

As man takes up more and more of the earth's surface by standing, sitting, driving and sleeping on it, there is naturally less and less land available for food production. Someday, according to present birth rates, there will not be enough food produced by conventional methods to meet the needs of the increased population.

One often mentioned food source is the sea, but another underrated method of concentrating food production can be found in the mushroom houses of Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Around Kennettown Valley area around Kennett Square, just west of Philadelphia, grows more mushrooms than the rest of the United States put together. The area produces more than 30 million dollars worth of mushrooms each year.

Because of the great potential of mushrooms and because the growing area is nearby, University of Delaware agricultural chemists and marketing specialists have been carrying on mushroom research and co-operating with growers and processors in the application of new methods based on research results.

How do mushrooms grow? The first step is spawn making. This goes on under sterile laboratory conditions as clean as a hospital operating room.

Mushroom growing has become a science akin to antibiotic production. The process is so similar that the world's first commercial penicillin came from a mushroom spawn laboratory in Kennett Square.

The spawn is scattered through a pasteurized compost of hay, chopped corn cobs, and fertilizer. Sterilized soil is the spread about an inch deep over the compost and the first crop is ready in about two weeks.

The beds are picked by hand about eight or nine times and then the compost must be removed from the house and replaced with fresh material. This cycle is repeated twice a year.

There are usually six layers of beds in a house and production average about four pounds per square foot per year. This means that one square foot of standing room on the earth's surface, produces six layers of mushrooms totaling about 24 pounds of high protein food in a year. Increased production is sure to come within a few years and will boost this production by at least 50 percent.

This space aspect of mushroom production may be the most important factor in world food production for the next generation.

With the help of University of Delaware research results, applied to processing and packaging, the market for mushrooms has been greatly increased because of better quality control and longer shelf life. Fresh mushrooms can be shipped farther and will keep longer in the store without discoloring.

Sales for the 1957-58 season hit an all time high of 55 million dollars. In 1958-59 this figure climbed to 64 million dollars.

Fresh sales have taken a 30 per cent jump without a price reduction to the producer or a price increase to the consumer because of the increase in consumer satisfaction and the opportunity that longer shelf life presents for reaching markets formerly too distant.

Another promising development is a washing-cutting-grading machine worked out by agricultural chemist Donald H. Hughes and agricultural engineers at the University. The machine represents a radical change from conventional cannery equipment and has been favorably evaluated by industry representatives. A sample machine is in use by William Harrison, Stonehill Farms, Herman, Mo. It turns out 20 pounds of cut and graded mushrooms per hour with one operator. With the machine now commonly in use, 75 pounds is a good hour's work, so the new machine will obviously reduce handling costs.

The industry, in cooperation with Agricultural Extension marketing specialists, have improved refrigeration and handling methods, have simplified packaging techniques and in general, have saved the industry many millions of dollars, Hughes believes.

More efficient marketing and merchandising of a higher quality mushroom has changed the attitude of retail stores and consumers. Retail stores deliberately understocked mushrooms in the past because of the fear that they would discolor before they could be sold. Consumers also were dissatisfied because of the short life of fresh mushrooms.

With today's better quality-control the mushroom is on the way up.

Already second only to corn as a cash crop in New Castle County, Delaware, mushrooms or perhaps a similar type of human food, may one day be the most important crop in the whole world.

The latest development in the laboratories at the University of Delaware surrounds the effort by Hughes to pinpoint the flavor elements of mushrooms. He has solved enough of this problem so that he is enthusiastic about the chances of developing a mushroom powder or flavoring agent that can be used in soups, gravies and other dishes. Discovery of a method of extracting the flavor elements of the mushroom would open many new frontiers to the industry.

Planning A College Wardrobe

"Are you planning a college wardrobe?" asks Miss Janet Reed, clothing specialist, University of Delaware. Yes, you say! Then consider the "Five C's" of a college wardrobe, college, cost, care, co-ordination and comfort, when making your wardrobe plans, Miss Reed suggests.

First, "What are acceptable fashions and styles at the college you will be attending this fall? What do they wear to classes? How about those fraternity parties, how do I dress for them?" you may ask.

Miss Reed points out that college students in different parts of the country dress differently. She suggests that you write to the Dean of Women at your college or drop a line to your college big sister. They can help you select a suitable wardrobe.

Co-ordination of color is very essential in making your wardrobe do as many jobs as possible. When planning your college wardrobe, consider outfits that may be mixed and matched. For example, a sweater that goes with more than one skirt or a basic dress that may be dressed up or toned down are sensible selections.

Most college students want to spend as little time as possible doing washing, ironing, and taking clothes to the cleaners. Wash and wear clothes, that shed wrinkles, wash easily, and require little ironing leave you more time for other things.

Cost is the fourth consideration. How much do things cost and what have you got to spend? Plan and shop wisely and make your money go as far as possible.

Don't buy poor quality coats, suits, sweaters, shirts, or shoes. They don't last and require more care than those of better quality. Economize on such things as accessories. They don't get much hard wear.

If your budget is limited, save some of your money until you get to college. There will be additional clothes you'll want during the college year and you will be out of luck if your pocketbook is empty.

Women are said to be concerned first with vanity and then comfort. Experience says the two go together. If you don't feel comfortable in your clothes, you won't be satisfied with your appearance. Be sure clothes fit properly. Physical comfort contributes to mental comfort.

Plan your wardrobe with the "Five C's" in mind. Be sure your college wardrobe is attractive and sensible.

Letter to the Editor

For the past few weeks several letters to the editor have been written, most of them attacking the voting records of our Senatorial Candidates in the coming primary. Voting records of Legislators are expected to be attacked by the public. Don't let it bother you as long as we have honest, sincere and public minded citizens aspiring for office.

The selection of Public officials through primary elections is the Democratic way, and the spirit runs high during such contests. For the past two years since World War II we have seen very few primaries in either major political party. It many times looked like a lack of interest in political jobs, especially the jobs where one had to run on the ticket and be appraised by the public. On the eve of Conventions and closing filing dates many times the State and County Committees have found it necessary to fill the ticket because Candidates had not filed, these were not hand picked tickets, it was a necessity because of the absence of public interest.

This is the year of many Candidates and therefore, primaries prevail throughout the state in both parties. This, I believe, is a good healthy condition. It shows a public interest in state and county government and a desire of the public minded citizens to participate therein.

I have the utmost confidence that following the primary this Saturday all Democrats who are not fortunate enough to win will offer their hand and their help to the victors to assure a Democratic victory on November 8th.

Fishing Lines

Believe It or Not!

Three men put out from Port Mahon this past week in a small boat powered by an outboard motor. They directed their craft toward the oyster grounds which are located offshore, and upon reaching the grounds, they began fishing. In a relatively short time they had completed their fishing activity and returned to port. Each member of the party returned with 25 trout in his possession. This is just one report, but certainly an enlightening one, for trout have been very hard to locate this season.

Dolphin a Beautiful Fish

The dolphin ranges in all warm waters, and recently many were taken from our ocean waters near the Indian River Inlet. Several charter boats operating in these waters landed as high as 17 of these gorgeous fish. This particular fish stays mainly in the open sea and is seldom seen in shallow water. The dolphin, one of the most vividly colored fish in our waters, is predominantly bluish gold and various hues of blue and sea green, yet when viewed from the water, it usually becomes a plain grayish color. Dolphins are noted for their great speed and ability to leap high in the air when hooked. This fish is caught by means of trolling baits of fish or artificial lures, such as plugs, spoons, feathers and jigs. In more southern waters its flesh is considered fine blue marlin bait, however, in most cases, the dolphin is usually mounted because of its great beauty.

Sturgeon Season Underway

Since the end of the 19th Century, the lower Delaware River has been the fishing ground for the Atlantic sturgeon. Sturgeon occasionally reach 12 feet in length, however, few that size are landed. Due to the great strength of these fish, a very heavy strand drifting gill net with extremely large mesh is used. The sturgeon is very heavily plated with scales for protection. Feeding activities of these fish are quite different from most other fish. They have a sensitive mouth and four barbels, or feelers, which are used in locating food on the bottom. While feeding, these fish drag along the bottom until they come in contact with small food particles; after locating the food, the tubular snout or mouth is projected downward to devour it. Although in the past sturgeon have been sought mostly for their roe, popularly known as caviar, in recent years they have been marketed for their flesh, which when smoked is considered a delicacy. Sturgeon season is just beginning in Delaware.

Sharks Too Plentiful!

Although large sharks have been known to frequent the Delaware Bay, this season they are more plentiful than ever. Recently a fisherman was attacked by a large shark while he was removing a smaller one from his line. This small shark was in the water and bleeding slightly when the large creature struck.

We would like to caution all anglers to be very careful. Don't put your feet or hands into the water while fishing any distance from shore.

Young Wandering Bull Killed By Car

What happens when a six-month-old bull is hit head-on by a car traveling 50 miles an hour? The question was answered at 1:15 a.m. Sunday on State Route 36, about three miles north of Greenwood.

The bull worth $80 was killed instantly. The car sustained $300 damage.

Troopers say the animal broke out of the pasture of Thomas

Tennefoss and ran into the path of the car of George Jenkins, Sr., 69, of King of Prussia, Pa.

Farm Gasoline Tax Refunds Available

Under federal law, farmers who use gasoline for farming purposes are entitled to a refund of the federal tax paid, according to Kent County Agent George Vapaa. The refund is four cents a gallon.

A claim for this refund must be made on Internal Revenue form 2240. Farmers who have filed claims in previous years will receive this form by mail. Forms may also be obtained at the local revenue office, or by writing to the office of the District Internal Revenue Director, or at Mr. Vapaa's office, 2nd floor, Dover Postoffice building.

Claims for refunds of Federal tax must be filed on or before September 30, 1960. The period covered by the claim is July 1, 1959 through June 30, 1960. The claim should include gasoline used on the farm after June 30, 1959 and before July 1, 1960. Different rules apply to diesel fuel and special motor fuels. Information relating to tax refunds on these fuels is contained in publication No. 308, also available from the above office.

Farm Labor News

Continued heavy rains throughout the past week have brought most harvesting operation to a standstill. The weather has been troublesome to growers, crew leaders and workers. Crews have been unable to find work with crew leaders using profits from previous work to furnish subsistence to workers. Several crews have left the area and their places have been filled by uncommitted crews from Virginia and North Carolina. Rains have caused severe loss to tomato growers through rot and cracking. Potatoes are showing the effects of too much moisture with considerable rotting reported. Growers are reporting heavy infestation of weeds and grass in cucumber and cabbage fields. Corn harvest for fresh market and processing continues at peak, lima bean harvest in Sussex County continues at peak. Hot, humid weather is causing slight damage. Fall snap bean planting is nearing completion in Kent and Sussex Counties. The potato market has stabilized at around $1.60 per cwt. in 50 and 100 lb. bags. Digging should proceed rapidly once the fields are dry enough to work on. No crews should be routed to the area without commitments as workers in the area are now under employed.

Wilmington Area

Ground too wet in most sections to work in potato harvest. Corn for processing being machine harvester. Ample help in the area.

Dover Area

Wet weather has brought the important potato harvest to almost a complete stop. Some few growers on high ground are trying to dig but wet and mud make it difficult to make much progress. Considerable rot is beginning to show in low ground. As soon as the ground is dry enough to work on, digging should start at a good pace. Tomato growers are losing from both rot and cracking. Corn harvest for fresh market and processing continues at peak. Cucumbers and peppers are also at peak. Potato crews are under employed and taking other work until potato harvest begins.

Georgetown Area

Big crop of lima beans at high production level. Tomatoes also heavy. Growers report excellent harvest. Cucumbers and cantaloupes still being picked. Help sufficient for present time.

Labor Summary

Seasonal workers were at the year's high of 6327. Of this number, 4470 were employed in agriculture and 1857 in food processing. There were 1926 local workers, 3927 southern migrants and 474 Puerto Ricans.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevies are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

"That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lugging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

Recreation Areas Set Record

The recreation areas operated by the State Highway Department, along the water front, south of Dewey Beach, are establishing new records this year for the number of persons who are enjoying these facilities.

At the present time, during weekdays, an average of 1500 persons are to be found in the tenting area, maintained at the ocean front along Key Box Road, while several thousand other persons can be observed at the specially prepared bathing areas, along Rehoboth Bay, at Savage Ditch, and along the ocean, just south of Indian River Inlet.

During weekends overflowing capacity crowds are assembled at all of these places and many others are turned away because of the accommodations all being occupied.

Last year more than 30,000 persons were accommodated at the tenting areas along Key Box Road and present indications are that this number will be about doubled this year, with the additional persons using the facilities at Savage Ditch and south of the Inlet, expected to equal that number.

Due to weather conditions existing during the month of May, the use of these facilities got off to a slow start but by the time the end of June but by the time thing was being filled to capacity during the weekends.

The Fourth of July holiday saw all of the facilities extended beyond their capacity. Occupants of the tenting area overflowed into adjacent areas and some tenters used the area surrounding the facilities at Savage Ditch and the Indian River Inlet recreation area.

Officials in charge of the project for the State Highway Department have decided not to permit this condition to be in operation again because of the inability to have these extended tenting areas properly supervised.

As has been their custom the State Highway Department had a number of improvements made at the Key Box Road tenting area during the past winter. The number of tenting areas were increased from 312 to 436.

Each tenting area is capable of providing for a tent suitable for use of up to eight persons. A nominal renting fee is charged for the use of these spaces. The drinking water capacity was increased and the toilet facilities and garbage disposal units were increased.

At the Savage Ditch area, where formerly a huge pavilion for family use was erected, the paved parking area was increased in size to provide for more than 500 cars.

The recreation area south of the Indian River Inlet is new this year. A huge pavilion has been erected on the area and a paved parking area to provide for more than 700 cars was constructed. This area is now filled to capacity almost daily.

The Savage Ditch recreation area, located on Rehoboth Bay, provides excellent bathing facilities for children because the water depth is not great for several hundred feet from shore and as a result it has become a popular family outing area.

The recreation area south of Indian River Inlet provides for ocean bathing along a nice beach area. It is used by many persons desiring a day's outing at the water front.

Life guards are provided in pairs at the bathing areas in operation along the ocean at Key Box Road, Towers Road, and the Indian River Inlet recreation area.

The State Highway Department which department has control over the public lands in Delaware, makes a study of the operations and activities at these recreation areas each summer with a view towards making needed changes and improvements for the next season. All proceeds from the tenting area rentals, above the needed operating expenses, is used for improving the recreation areas.

Records reveal that persons from many points make use of the recreational facilities provided by the State at these waterfront installations.

Funeral of Infant
Two-month-old Norman Allen Maloney died in the Milford Hospital Saturday.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Maloney, Jr.; a sister, Connie Lou Maloney; a brother, Richard Allen, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Maloney, Sr.; all of Felton.

Funeral services were held from the Berry Funeral Home Monday afternoon with the Rev. Hugh Johnson, pastor of Felton Methodist Church, officiating.

Vehicles Increase; Roadwork Slow

With the building of new highways, and the improvement of existing roads, rapidly coming to a standstill in Delaware, due to the lack of construction funds, the number of motor vehicles using the existing highways is continually increasing.

Because of the inability of the General Assembly to reach an agreement on providing funds for highway construction purposes, the present construction year will pass without any additional highway improvements being made.

But according to the records of the Motor Vehicle Department, the number of motor vehicle registrations in use in this state has been continuously increasing over the number of registrations in use during the preceding year.

A recent report of the Auditing Division of the Motor Vehicle Department reveals that Aug. 1 of this year there were a total of 297,309 motor vehicle registrations in use in this state.

According to the 1960 census figures the number of registrations is equal to one registration for every 2 1/4 men, women and children in the state, the highest per capita rating of motor vehicle registrations in the history of the state.

The number of motor vehicle registration in use on August 1 was an increase of 7163 over the number of registration in use on the same date of last year and of the registrations reported for this year, 118,122 were in Wilmington and New Castle County, an increase for the year of 4,867; Kent County had 43,679, an increase of 1655 while 35,508 were in Sussex County, an increase of 641.

Of the registrations reported in use on August 1, 137,823 were for pleasure cars, an increase for the year of 3,997; commercial vehicles accounted for 42,069, an increase of 2,702 and trailers had 12,232 registrations, an increase of 276. The other registrations were tractors 395, an increase of 29; motorcycles 768, an increase of 52; stock cars 32, an increase of 10 and farm trucks 3,990, an increase of 97.

The pleasure car registrations on August 1 were divided as follows, Wilmington and New Castle County 88,890; Kent County 26,138 and Sussex County 22,795. Commercial registrations by counties were Wilmington and New Castle County 24,077, Kent County 9982 and Sussex County 8010.

At the Savage Ditch area, where formerly a huge pavilion for family use was erected, the paved parking area was increased in size to provide for more than 500 cars.

Felton Street Fair A Success

In spite of the threatening weather an estimated 3000 visitors crowded Felton streets the past weekend for the annual Street Fair and the one hundredth anniversary of the Felton Methodist Church.

The fair and anniversary were brightened by the women and the girls of the community wearing costumes of the 19th century and the bearded Townsman in the garbs of yesteryears.

Brenda Green was the winner in the doll coach parade and Kenny Steele received the prize for the best decorated bicycle. Walter H. Moore, town councilman, won the beard-growing contest and was awarded a silver dollar. Miss Joyce Tatman was elected "Queen of the Fair."

More than 600 visitors enjoyed the fried chicken dinner with all the trimmings. This was served in the dining room of the Educational building in the church.

The various booths sponsored by the organizations of the town were set up in the Fire House. As the Rev. Hugh Johnson expressed it — "We were rained in, not rained out."

The outstanding attraction of the weekend was the "Feltonia Museum", where old town relics, furniture, photographs and records were on display. Among the exhibits were a volume of the original town ordinances, a book of John Wesley sermons and an 1851 fire Engine.

Another feature of the fair was the concerts given by the Felton School Band.

Handicap Stamp Available Aug. 28

More than 200 Delawareans will receive first day covers bearing the new "Employ the Handicapped" commemorative stamp which will go on sale Aug. 28.

James H. Sears, chairman of the Governor's Committee in Delaware, announced this week.

There will be a presentation to Governor J. Caleb Boggs of a block of stamps in an album on Mon., August 29, Sears said. Since Governor Boggs will be out of the state, the album will be accepted on his behalf by Lt. Governor David P. Buckson at ceremonies in the Governor's office at Dover.

Mr. Sears said that keen interest is being shown in the new stamp. Many industrial firms are planning to hand-stamp a portion of their mail order that the 120 million reproductions of the handicapped persons at work with a drill press will receive top circulation.

E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. Inc., is among the Delaware firms which will hand-stamp a portion of mail daily in September to help get across the message that "it is good business to employ the handicapped."

In announcing the commemorative stamp, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said that August 28 was selected as the opening sales date to coincide with the Eighth World Congress of the International Society for the Welfare of Crippled which opens in New York on that date.

The 200 first day covers which Mr. Sears has prepared for mailing from New York to Delawareans contains an advance notice of the annual awards luncheon of the Governor's Committee which is scheduled for Tues., Oct. 4, at the duPont Country Club, near Wilmington. An employer of handicapped people and a handicapped person who has been judged as making the greatest progress during the year will receive citations at the awards luncheon, Sears said.

There is one precaution in watering a horse: never let a hot horse drink his fill of water and then stand. This could bring on a condition of "founder".

If you give water to a hot horse—and he should be watered—then keep him moving until he has cooled out. If you are out riding and the horse is hot and tired give him a good drink of water one to two miles before he gets back to the stable. This will allow you to walk him the rest of the way so he can cool out.

Take good care of your horse, feed and water him regularly. See that he gets plenty of exercise. If you take good care of the horse he'll reward you with many hours of riding pleasure, Mr. Vapaa says.

Veterans News QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I see that World War Two veterans have just been given another two years in which to get a GI loan, and that at the same time VA was given new authority to make direct loans. What is the direct loan program?

A—It is a much smaller program than VA's loan guaranty program. Direct loans are made only to veterans who live in certain rural and small town areas where GI loans are not obtainable from local lenders. Eligible veterans apply directly to VA.

Q—Does the VA in Washington, D. C., have a list of all courses approved for veterans under the Korean GI Bill?

A—No. Each regional office maintains a list of State-approved courses for veterans under the Korean GI Bill. To get the information, contact your VA regional office, and not VA headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, disability which VA has just rated ability which V Ahas just rated service-connected. What is my deadline for finishing vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A—Your deadline is January 31, 1964, or nine years after separation, whichever comes first. There are exceptions to this deadline for certain veterans, but apparently they do not apply to you.

Q—I understand that special restorative training is available under the War Orphans Education program to handicapped young men and women in need of it. Does this restorative training include medical care?

A—No. Special restorative training does not include medical care. It does include special courses—such as braille reading, language retraining and the like—designed to help a person overcome his handicap so that he can take regular training at school.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

With a watchful eye on the fast approaching Christmas season, I've chosen as today's special needlework suggestion a mesh cap, trimmed with metallic pearls and fragile looking as a spider web. Festive with a special dress or formal gown, it's just the touch to add after-five excitement to a basic black.

HOLIDAY GLITTER FOR YOUR HAIR

Here's a happy thought! This versatile crocheted Juliet cap will give you a wonderfully glamorous and easy hairdo during busy days ahead. You can wear it several smart ways, depending on your mood and hair style. For sophistication, tuck hair inside, either loose or in a soft bun, as shown. The cap can be worn forward on your forehead, or pulled back and down, in the style that's so popular this season. And it's stunning to crown a softly curled bob.

BEGINNER'S PET

Worked out from the center in simple chain loops, treble and single crochet stitches, the cap couldn't be easier to crochet. Even a beginner will have no difficulty making it. The tiny pearls are worked in as you go along. To order free directions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper and ask for BEADED EVENING CAP, Leaflet No. PC-9207.

Meprobamate Users Intoxicated By Small Amount of Alcohol

Persons taking meprobamate, a relaxing drug, should be warned that alcoholic drinks can have a greater effect on them.

Meprobamate, sold under the trade names of Milltown Equanil, Meprospan, and Meprotabs, is prescribed for tension and insomnia among other ills.

"There was more effect on human performance and judgement from a combined dosage of meprobamate and alcohol than from either of the drugs taken singly," the authors reported.

"Results indicate that physicians prescribing meprobamate should warn patients of the greater effect from drinking alcohol beverages while taking the drug—especially if they are likely to operate motor vehicles or other complex machinery."

They said "small amounts of alcohol were shown to significantly impair performance and judgment when combined with meprobamate."

Ten men and 12 women volunteers took part in the study. For a week before the experiment, the subjects took tablets containing 400 milligrams of meprobamate four times a day, a common dosage.

In the experiment, they underwent a battery of eight psychological tests on different days under four experimental conditions: (1) after taking an innocuous drink, (2) after a drink containing meprobamate and alcohol.

The alcohol administered was enough to produce about a 0.05 per cent blood alcohol level.

"This level is not sufficient to impair automobile driving ability according to a number of United States court decisions," the researchers pointed out.

The psychological tests showed with few exceptions, the "worst performances" were turned in by the subjects under the influence of both meprobamate and alcohol.

According to the clinical judgments of two of the experimenters, the combination of alcohol with meprobamate produced more intoxication effects than the alcohol alone in 16 of the 22 cases," the authors said.

"On the day of the combined drug dosage, four of the subjects were quite obviously drunk. They showed marked muscular incoordination and little or no concern for the social proprieties. Nothing approaching this was observed in the alcoholic condition."

The experimenters admitted they "were frankly not prepared for the extent of the effects," having noted less behavioral deterioration in a similar experiment with alcohol and chlorpromazine, generally considered a stronger drug.

The meprobamate study indicates a possible potentiating effect on alcohol, they concluded.

Layoff At DuPont

A temporary shift in the production pattern at the Seaford Nylon Plant which will require less manpower for the next few months will result in a layoff of approximately 70 people at the end of the month, Arthur J. McGinty, manager, made known recently. This layoff affects employees with less than two months' company service.

Mr. McGinty said the shift in production emphasis was to alleviate the shortage of nylon staple.

"The demand for staple has outstripped the plant's normal ability to supply its customers," he said, "so a portion of the plant now producing nylon filament yarn will shift over to the production of staple."

Mr. McGinty pointed out that the nature of staple production is such that it requires less people than the nylon filament operation.

Class C could very easily develop into a struggle between Dick Schluederberg's "Serendipity" of Gibson Island, Bill Meyer's "White Shadow" of Tred Avon, Commodore H. F. Hallock's "Quandary" of Tred Avon, and John Porter's "Slipper" of the host club. In the Delta Class ex-Comet sailor Tim Malone will be skipping "On A Holiday." He will be hard pressed by Terry Blackwood of Corsica in "Shillelagh" and John Aufhammer of Gibson Island in "Brunan."

In the Star Class Jack Streeton and Mason Sheehan of Tred Avon, Dave Gaillard of Gibson Island and ex-world champion Bob Lippincott of Riverton, N. J., will be hard to beat. Herman Henschen and Marbury Fox of the Baltimore Yacht Club will offer top competition in the Lightnings. Dr. Stuart Walker is the skipper to watch in the International 14's.

The Comet and Penguin fleets possibly will be the largest seen on the "Bay" this year. In the Comets International Champion

John MacCausland will be matching wits with John and Mary Swaine of Tred Avon and George and Bobby Seger of Corsica. Among the shining lights in the Penquins will be Bill McClure, Ed Cotter, and Bob Clagett, all consistent winners. Tops among the younger penguin sailors will be Beverly Corkran, Margy Meyers, and Homan Hallock of Tred Avon, Tad Dupont of Annapolis, and Ebby Valliant, Jim White, and Dicky Thomas of Corsica.

First race on Saturday goes off at 10 a.m. and Sunday the starting time is also 10 a.m.

Trophies will be awarded at the dock after the last race Sunday.

Little League News

Coach Jim O'Neal's Harrington Little League entry and John Godwin's Felton nine continued their closely-matched rivalry in recent games. Earlier in the season, Felton had won a contest on the Harrington grounds. Later at Felton, Harrington was leading 6-4 in the bottom half of the last inning. Two were out and Reed, the Harrington southpaw, needed only to get the next batter to win a two hitter. Rain halted that game but last week play was resumed at that point and the 6-4 score stood up. This result enabled the locals to end the regular season in a tie with Felton for first place in the Kent-Sussex Little League.

A playoff game was started immediately after completion of the rain-suspended game and ended in a 3-3 tie after six innings. This will necessitate at least one more game between the evenly-matched nines before a champion can be crowned.

Sussex Has 9 Contests

Though a few Sussex County contests have been eliminated, there are still enough left in both Republican and Democratic ranks to insure excitement at the primaries Saturday.

The Republicans have a remaining contests for county-wide offices: Comptroller, Ralph L. Swain, Georgetown, incumbent; Richard Clendaniel, Lincoln.

Tax Collector, Tilgham S. Johnson, Roxanna; Edwin R. Powell, Ocean View.

Clerk of the Orphan's Court and Register in Chancery, Paul Clogg, Dagsboro, incumbent; Mrs. Margaret Hastings, Blades.

For legislative seats, William Wilgus, Ocean View, and Herschel Quillen, Dagsboro, are still census figures, he said although he preferred using the number of voters as a more effective yardstick.

Mr. Buckson proposed that the representation in the Senate remain as it is, keeping a "checks and balances" system in the state government.

A plea for reapportionment is infrequent in lower Delaware (Mr. Buckson lives in Smyrna) because the present representative set-up favors Kent and Sussex counties, which have lower populations than New Castle County.

Mr. Buckson spoke before members of the GOP platform committee meeting in Legislative Hall. The committee listed to platform suggestions Monday from Sussex Republicans. On Friday it will meet at Republican headquarters in Wilmington for what promises to be the longest of the three plank-hunting sessions.

The platform which comes out of these meetings will be presented to the Republican convention in Dover on Aug. 31. Buckson was one of seven persons to offer ideas. Also speaking were George R. Wright, deputy attorney general; Mrs. Vera G. Davis, former state treasurer; Senator Walton M. Simpson (R-Camden); Charles F. Richards, Sr., (R - Dover); Harry R. Cross, representing the petroleum industry; and Mrs. Bessie Peterson, Wilmington, a member of the State Republican Committee.

Mr. Buckson singled out creation of a Department of Public Works as one section of Gov. J. Caleb Boggs' New Day for Delaware Program.

Mrs. Peterson, who is also committeewoman for the 5th Ward, 14th District, Wilmington, asked Mr. Buckson if he favored Negro policemen as members of the State Police.

"I think there should be one set of requirements, and that anyone who qualifies be hired," he answered.

Deputy Attorney General Wright hammered again at the theme begun Monday in Georgetown: support the anti-crime bills prepared by the Attorney General's office.

Senator Simpson offered three prospective platform planks: support of a better school building program, backing of a conflict of interests law and elimination of abuses of mileage payments by members of the General Assembly.

Mrs. Davis, who is contesting Rep. Richards for a seat in the House of Representatives, pushed for "a practical statewide solution to misquito control." She also backed zoning for Kent County, increasing terms of the state treasurer and auditor to at least four years, and a state merit system.

Representative Richards suggested support for home rule for municipalities, a better system for seeing that drivers carry insurance, better schools and cutting red tape for pensions.

Improving Business Vital, C. of C. Tells Platform Units

It is "critically important that Delaware must maintain and improve its business climate according to the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce.

Ross E. Anderson, Jr., executive vice president, urged in letters to the platform committee chairman of both political parties the five points concerned with business climate be considered in platform writing.

These five points are: "1. Fair and equitable treatment in legislation and administrative regulation for all segments of Delaware's economy.

"2. A framework of government, the support of which adds no greater cost to doing business than the cost of government imposed by other states of similar industrialization and favorable climate.

"3. Equitable tax policies, and restriction of the cost of government to reasonable levels.

"4. Fair treatment for all in legislation and administration of labor-management relations affairs.

"5. Fostering, in the public interest, an economic atmosphere which will enable Delaware's agriculture and industry to compete for out-of-state marketing of Delaware's products brings wealth into the state, thereby raising the standard living of all of our people."

Continuing, Mr. Anderson wrote: "Many states and communities in the United States have active programs in this respect which have resulted in keen competition for new business and industry. For this reason it is critically important that Delaware must in the running for the nomination for state senator from the fourth senatorial district, and Wilbert F. Hocker, Millville, Roland Derrickson, Frankford, and William J. Quillen, Ocean View, are still in the nomination race for representative from the seventh representative district.

The Democrats have only the one countywide contest—for the four year term of Levy Court, with Clarence Lingo, Millsboro; Levi S. Warrington, Seaford, and Molloy C. Vaughn, Lewes, lined up against each other for the Democratic nomination.

For state senator from the second senatorial district, Earl Tull, incumbent, and Martin W. Johnson Jr., are competing, as are Norman Eskridge, incumbent, and Ira Messick for the nomination for representative from the third representative district, and W. Harrison Phillips and James L. Hastings for representative from the fifth representative district.

The Republicans have no contests for delegates to the state convention and the situation has not materially changed in the Democratic delegates contests.
