

General Assembly Approves $28,000,000 School Bonds

The General Assembly, at a long and confused session Monday passed the $28,000,000 school bond bill and again defeated the highway bond bill.

Passage of the school construction measure was the major item in the House of Representatives which did not meet until after 8 p. m. when the Senate had already gone home after defeating the $14,000,000 highway bond bill.

The Senate added three amendments to the school bill, HB-564, which already had one house amendment. The controversial feature of the bill which stalled action in the House was a provision to add vocational facilities at 100 per cent state cost to a proposed new Dover high school project.

In the school bond bill as originally written Dover proposed to renovate the present high school for use as a junior high at a cost of $379,200. The Senate amendment added to that a new high school for 1,200 pupils plus $1,140,280 worth of vocational facilities at state cost for a total of $3,433,749 state share and $1,528,978 local share.

Some members complained that if Dover received this money for vocational facilities, every other high school would have a mortal right to ask for similar facilities at 100 per cent state expense instead of the 60-40 per cent breakdown under which the state and local districts share the cost of other school construction. It was also argued that while Kent County needs a vocational school it should not necessarily be located at Dover and in any event should be a county-wide rather than a one-district facility.

However, other members said the entire program was too important to be lost because of disagreement or dissatisfaction with the Dover item and several went along with the Dover project only to get the full bill passed.

Some members opposed to the Dover project voted for the bond bill because the State Board of education has not yet issued a certificate of necessity. By approving the bond bill they were in effect leaving the project up to the state board.

The House received an amendment (HA-2 to HB-564, as amended) which would have undone the Senate amendment and put the Dover appropriation back into its original form. This amendment was lost on a close vote of 12 nays, 11 yeas, five not voting and seven absent, and its defeat cleared the way for passage of the bond bill.

The other two Senate amendments provided for projects for the Caesar Rodney Special and Milton School Districts.

The bill provides for a construction program to cost $28,584,288. Of this, $19,247,198 would be the state's share and $9,337,090 the total local share.

The House spent about two hours and 10 minutes at its night session at which it also passed a variety of expense resolutions and knocked down a resolution to investigate the New Castle County Levy Court.

This resolution was submitted by Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred), who said that a 1957 Ford truck belonging to the Levy Court was reported to have used 300 gallons of gasoline in going 157 miles in a week.

The House passed a resolution to pay its attaches for Monday although the Senate did not and it also found time to pay the members for their traveling expenses.

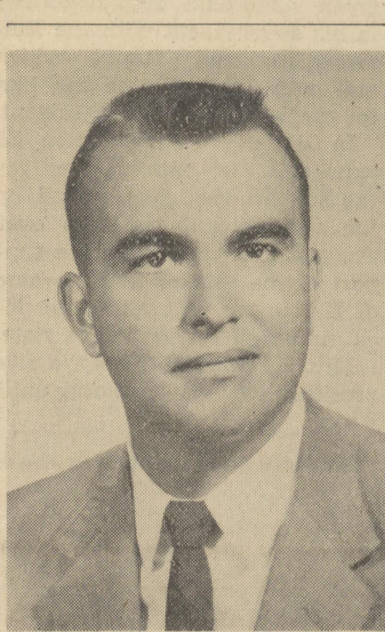

The only new bill introduced Monday night was HB-635, handed up by Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Brandywine Hundred), to make an appropriation to the State Board of Accountancy.

In another significant action Quigley accomplished the House passed the bill to increase tax on fire insurance companies for the benefit of the volunteer fire companies throughout the state. The roll call on this measure, HB-260, had previously been tabled. It was lifted from the table Monday night, a half dozen or so votes were switched and the bill was passed with a final tally of 29 yeas, 3 nays and 3 absent.

The House recessed to the call of the chair as did the Senate. The call is not expected to come and this was very probably the final meeting of the 120th General Assembly.

CARVEL SAYS GOP TRYING 'CURE ALL'

Former Gov. Elbert N. Carvel Monday night accused the Republican state administration of trying to divert public attention from fiscal failure by a cure-all program.

Speaking to the Eighth District Democratic Club of Kent County in the Felton Fire Hall, the Democratic candidate for governor called for a return to Democratic leadership based on the record of his administration.

The Laurel Democrat said in part: "During our Democratic administration of 1949-1953, Delaware ended each fiscal year with a surplus.

"Three out of the seven years of the present Republican administration have ended in deficits.

"In order to divert public attention from their failures, the Republican administration and the Republican nominees for office have been trying to sell the people of Delaware a new cure-all program which is supposed to solve all our problems.

"At the beginning of our administration, we too urged revolutionary changes in our form of government. But over the years, as we successfully administered the affairs of Delaware, we found that responsible leadership was the important element of success in Delaware government.

"We also learned that the commission system had much to recommend it in the way of citizen participation in the affairs of our state government.

"Delaware again needs seasoned leadership. Based on our record of leadership, I believe the people of Delaware will vote Democratic on Nov. 8 to return seasoned leadership to the executive department of our state."

Road Board's Tentative Budget

The sprawl of the agencies under the control of the State Highway Commission will require an outlay of a little more than $8,309,000 for the next fiscal year.

This was brought out in a tentative budget adopted Wednesday by the commission. This includes the various divisions that come under the highway commission—from state police to mosquito control; from highway maintenance to communications.

This does not include any money for new construction of buildings or highways, nor for beach erosion. Such capital improvements would be taken care of in bond issues.

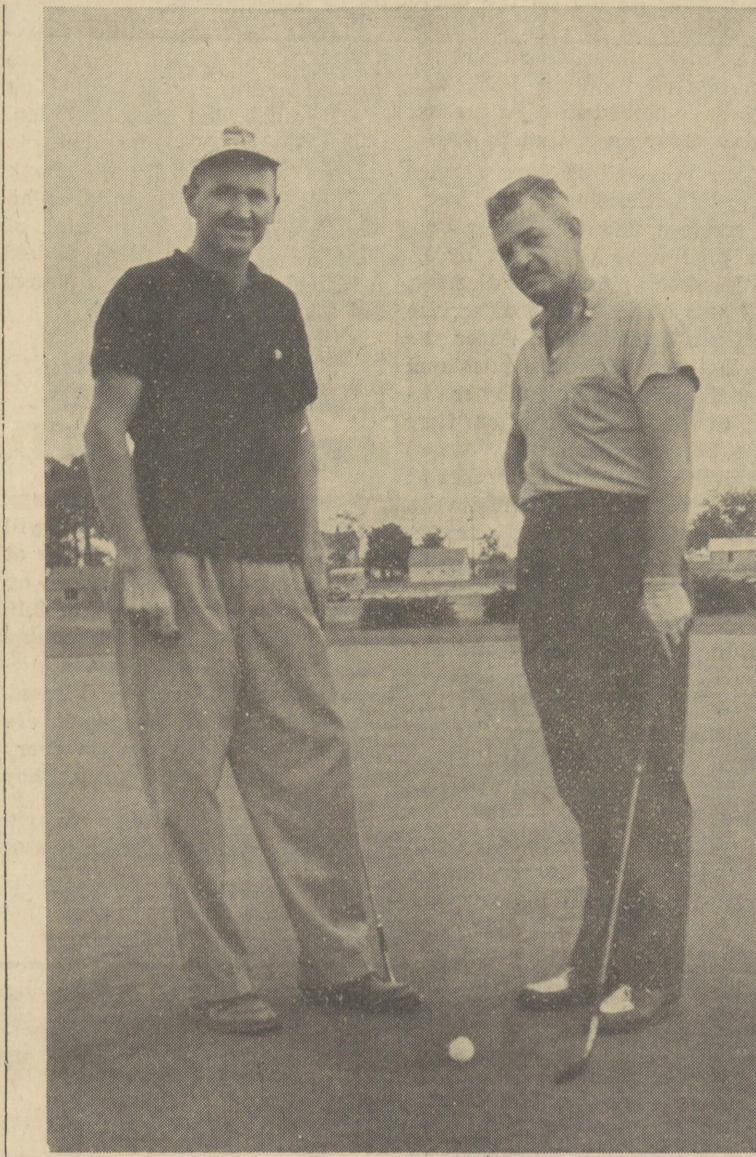

The estimated need for the next fiscal year is about $1,550,000 more than what had been appropriated by the General Assembly to the Highway Commission for the current fiscal year.

The highway commissioners expressed the realization Wednesday that there's no real connection between what they ask for and what they will eventually get from the General Assembly.

The figures approved Wednesday (subject to re-examination by the highway commissioners) go to the Permanent Budget Commission.

The budget commission will do a job on them.

Then the figures will go to the General Assembly next year. And the Assembly will do another job on them.

Frank Wright Wins Tourney At Shawnee

The Club Championship of Shawnee Country Club was concluded Sunday by a thrilling 36 hole match between Frank Wright and Bob Hoch.

At the completion of the morning round of 18 holes, Wright was four holes up. At the end of 27, he still maintained this substantial lead. However Hoch was not out of it yet, he battled his way back and came into the 36th hole only one down.

On this hole, both golfers were trapped on their second shots. Wright's ball was near the lip of the trap presenting a very difficult shot. Both contestants got out handily and it became a question of putting. Wright putted first and was short of the hole. This meant that if Hoch could drop his putt, he could take the match into a sudden death playoff. After careful study Bob stroked the ball and it went straight to the cup but jumped over. Wright sank his next putt and became the first champion of the club.

Quite a bit of interest was shown in the tournament, a gallery of about fifty persons followed the players around the course and nearly a hundred were on hand to see the finish.

In the other flights the results were as follows:

Winner:	Runner Up
1st. Flight-Atkinson — Sipple
2nd. Flight-Fischer — French
3rd. Flight-Townsend — Adkins
4th. Flight-Downham — Govatos
5th. Flight-Pendleton — LeBright
6th. Flight-Meredith — Clendaniel

School Board Discusses Transportation Problems

Post Time at Harrington Track Changed to 8 P. M.

Beginning this past Monday night post time of the first race at the Kent and Sussex Raceway in Harrington has been changed to 8 p.m. The daily double window now closes at 7:50 p.m.

The change in post time was announced this week by T. Brinton Holloway, general manager, who said that the action was taken by the raceway's board of directors in the interest of public convenience.

"A number of raceway patrons have expressed a preference for the earlier starting time," Mr. Holloway said, "and the fact that it is now dark by 8 p.m. permitted us to go along with their desire."

"This means that our nine-race nightly program will be over by about 10:45 p.m.," he pointed out. This is of added convenience to those patrons who travel considerable distances to attend the Harrington harness races. Mr. Holloway added. The 30-night meet is scheduled to run through October 19.

Two Harrington natives are battling for top driver honors as the meet approaches the halfway mark. They are Pat Hubbard, second leading driver last year, and Francis Quillen.

In the first week of the meet, Quillen had the distinction of being involved in seven photo finishes. He was declared the winner in four instances and second in the other three.

Woman Loses In Appealing $10 Fine

A Superior Court jury both upheld and reversed previous lower court decisions in two cases heard Wednesday morning.

Rosalie E. Jackson, Harrington, was found guilty for failing to overtake and pass another vehicle at a safe distance, after appealing the decision of Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway, Harrington, who also found her guilty on April 25.

She was arrested by state police on April 21, one mile south of Farmington on U. S. Route 13, after cutting back into the right

A special meeting of the Board of Education Special School District was held Wednesday evening. Preston G. Eisenbrey and Leon Hart, of the Department of Public Instruction, presented the board with transportation conditions now existing in the Harrington District. They mentioned several solutions and requested that the board take the matter under study and report to them the most advantageous method of meeting the problem. Eisenbrey stated that Nelson Rash had asked to transfer his bus route to Roland Cashwell. The board approved this change.

Approval was given for the installation of a gate separating the elementary school hall from the toilets at the entrance of the building. This will enable the toilets to be used by the public during outside activities without permitting access to the school proper.

The contract for Mrs. Bernice Parker as a teacher of a fourth section of the first grade was duly approved. Mrs. Parker has already started her duties.

It was announced that Buchart Associates will meet here October 13 to present preliminary plans for the Pierre S. duPont construction program.

The board discussed recent State Board action and legislative action regarding the Kent County Vocational School, and the advantages and disadvantages of available courses of action.

H.H.S. Loses At Bridgeville, 19-0.

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach William A. Smith's underranked Harrington High football team, despite handicaps, gave the defending Henlopen Conference Champion Bridgeville Mustangs a much harder battle than expected Saturday afternoon at Bridgeville.

Less than a week before the game, H. H. S. had only 13 men in uniform. Four more men reported to give the Lions only five reserves, most of whom are inexperienced.

Bridgeville could do very little against the Lion defense especially the line. Their three tallies came as a result of Harrington offensive mistakes.

With ten seconds left in the first half the game was scoreless. Harrington tried a forward pass

Today and tomorrow Taylor's Hardware, Commerce and Dorman Streets, Harrington, will have an open house in celebration of the construction of a brick building supplanting a frame structure.

The firm will give door prizes, serve free refreshments, and will give sharp discounts on merchandise for these two days.

J. Edward Taylor, the owner and prominent in civic activities, says the favors to patrons, today and tomorrow, is the firm's way of showing it's thanks to those who have made the new building, one of the nicest in lower Delaware, possible.

The construction problem was something unusual. The Harrington Lumber & Supply Company tore down the old building, a section at a time, and built the new one, a section at a time. Meanwhile, business continued as usual.

The previous structure was built about the latter part of the past century by one Smith, a tinsmith who, however, was not related to any of the local Smiths; but he did marry John Smith's daughter.

Joe Fleming got his start as a tinsmith in this store. Another owner was Joe Callaway for whom Joshua Smith worked. Joshua Smith and another Smith later ran the business under the name of Smith & Smith.

D. E. Handley and his son-in-law, Mark Warren, then operated the business under the name of Handley & Warren, but the store was badly damaged by fire in the thirties and it closed.

Mr. Taylor purchased it and has been operating it since the latter part of the thirties.

Rollins Favors Small Business Plank in Platform

John W. Rollins, the Republican candidate for Governor, said today that he stands squarely behind the small business plank in his party's 1960 platform.

"There is room in Kent and Sussex Counties for 125 to 150 small businesses and as Governor of Delaware I would hang out the welcome sign for them," said Mr. Rollins.

The candidate said that small business "helps to keep the economy of a community in good shape. It is the backbone and muscle of our small towns and cities."

"In these two counties," said Mr. Rollins, "the addition of a number of small businesses would

Group Hospital Officials Honored

The president and the treasurer of Group Hospital Service, Inc., were honored yesterday on their 25 years of service.

Both F. A. Wardenburg, president, and H. B. Robertson, treasurer, have served on the board of trustees of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield organization since it was started here in 1935, and both have served in their present offices throughout that period.

Both received 25-year service pins at the meeting of the board of trustees Monday afternoon. The pins were presented by H. V. Maybee, managing director, who also has 25 years of service with the organization. After the meeting the two were guests at a brief reception given by members of the staff with whom they have been associated at Group Hospital Service for a number of years. They were presented with scrap books containing mementoes of events in a quarter century of Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Delaware.

Both Mr. Wardenburg and Mr. Robertson are retired executives of the duPont Company. Mr. Wardenburg was general manager of the Ammonia Department and Mr. Robertson was assistant treasurer.

Both has long been active in other community organizations, including hospitals. Mr. Wardenburg has been a director and member of the executive committee of the Memorial Hospital, and Mr. Robertson has occupied a similar position with Delaware Hospital.

"One of the several good reasons that a majority of the people of Delaware are members of Group Hospital Service is the knowledge that it is guided by men of ability and experience, like Mr. Wardenburg and Mr. Robertson, who have been willing over the years to donate their services to this non-profit community organization," Mr. Maybee declared. "No one is in a better position to realize the tremendous value of their contributions than the staff, which joins me in thanking these two officers on behalf of our 284,000 members for a quarter century each of devoted, conscientious, and extremely capable leadership."

At the meeting of the trustees Mr. Maybee reported that utilization of hospital and surgical-medical services among members of Blue Cross-Blue Shield has been relatively high this year. The result is that additions to reserves for the first eight months of the year have not been up to expectations.

Mr. Maybee reported that membership gains in the past two months were particularly high in the extended benefits plan, which added 3040 members to reach a total of 123,980 as of Sept. 1. The Blue Cross (hospital) plan added 925 for a new total of 284,022, while the Blue Shield (surgical-medical) plan gained 976 for a total of 272,426.

Duo-piano Team Tuesday at U. of D.

The exciting duo-piano team, Luboshutz and Nemenoff, will open the annual Artists Series at the University of Delaware on Tuesday evening, Oct. 11, at 8:15 p.m. in Mitchell Hall. The couple comes to Delaware from a successful tour of Europe and Israel.

Luboshutz and Nemenoff are familiar guest artists with every leading American orchestra. They have appeared frequently with the Philadelphia and Boston Symphony Orchestras, introducing important new two-piano concerti and performing the great two-piano works of the classical repertory.

Playing two pianos as one, the sound falls between that of a soloist and an orchestra and is most unusual. The teamwork of the couple, who are Mr. and Mrs. is a marvel to behold. Without so much as a glance at one another, the music flows and pauses in a flawless manner. Two pianos heighten the music of Rachmaninoff, Mozart and Strauss, as well as the music written especially for the couple.

The Russian-born Pierre Luboshutz and Parisian, Gina Nemenoff, met in Paris. She was a student in his class. Soon they were playing together for friends, and, somewhat later, they were married and on the concert stage. For the last twenty years they have been tops in their field.

On their most recent concert tour they played a command performance for the Greek royalty. In Tel Aviv the Queen of Belgium attended their performance.

Box office sale of subscriptions to the 1960-61 University of Delaware artists series opened Sept. 19. Tickets may be obtained by mail or in person from the University bookstore in the Student Center. Subscription prices are $7.80 for regular admission and $5 for students.

Welch Resigns As P.T.A. Head

The first meeting of the Harrington P.T.A. will be held in the cafeteria Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Wednesday's program is under the direction of Alan Rutledge with a guest speaker on the subject of "Our Responsibilities as Voters." This subject is of foremost importance during this year of the presidential election.

A letter of resignation has been tendered by aHrold Welch, elected last May as the Harrington P.T.A. president. Welch has been given additional responsibilities in his employment with the Delaware National Guard which makes it impracticable for him to continue as P.T.A. president.

In his letter of resignation, he expressed his appreciation for the support that he received by the officers and members over the past year and urged the support of the parents and teachers of Harrington in making the local unit well known in the state.

Mrs. Virginia Coady is the vice president and will take over until a new president can be selected. Other officers are Matilda Brown, treasurer; Clara Bell Walls, secretary; Matilda Kukulka, membership chairman, and Muzetta Cox, publicity chairman.

Two of the main projects this year for the P.T.A. will be its Talent Contest and Family Night and the May Mart, the latter having been one of the largest sources of revenue for the organization. Considerable discussion has been had on the subject of scholarships sponsored by the P.T.A. as one of its primary goals.

Education Association Elects Officers

At a recent meeting of the Caesar Rodney Education Association the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Maybelle Baker; vice-President, Mrs. Ruth Sanderson; Elementary Secretary, Mrs. Virginia Dewey; Secondary Secretary, Mrs. Josephine Ives; Elementary Treasurer, Miss Dorothy Brown; and Secondary Treasurer, Thomas Shaffer.

Social Security News

Under the 1960 amendments to the social security law, additional people—disabled workers under 50 years of age and certain of their dependents—are now eligible for social security benefits. Until now only those disabled workers between 50 and 65 and their dependents were eligible for monthly social security payments.

Severely disabled workers under 50 who have worked under social security, but have never applied to have their social security records frozen, should get in touch with their nearest social security district office now to inquire about their rights to payments.

To qualify for disability insurance benefits, a disabled worker must be so severely disabled that he is "unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity".

In addition, he must have worked under social security for at least 5 years out of the ten years before he became disabled.

Benefits for disabled persons under 50 and their families can start with the month of November 1960.

When the disabled worker applies for disability benefits at his social security district office, certain information about his age, education, training and vocational skills will be obtained. He will also be given a medical report form to take to his doctor or to the hospital or institution where he had care and treatment. These sources provide medical data about the worker's injury or illness with particular reference as to how this affects his ability to work. When the completed medical report is returned to the District Office, the worker's entire record is sent to the state vocational agency, which has been designated to make the decision as to whether or not the claimant is disabled within the definition of the social security law. Our office will be glad to answer disabled worker's questions about his rights and responsibilities.

The 1960 amendments to the social security law reduce by about one-third the length of time a person has to work under social security to become insured for the payment of benefits to himself and his family.

Some 200 people in Kent and Sussex Counties will become immediately eligible for cash benefits because of this change in the law, including many wives, widows, and dependent husbands and widowers already at or beyond retirement age. First payments to newly eligible persons will be for the month of October.

Under the new rule, persons reaching retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) this year need only about 3 years of work under social security instead of the 4½ to 5 years required by the old law. If you reach retirement age any time next year, you will need to have worked under social security for only 3 1/4 years instead of the 5 to 5 1/4 years required before the change in the law. There is, however, a minimum requirement of a year and a half of work under social security—without which no benefits can become payable.

In terms of future eligibility, the reduction in the amount of work required means that many more wage earners and their widows and dependent widowers will be able to qualify for social security benefits when they reach retirement age.

Say, for example, that you are a man now 60 and planning to retire at the end of 1965. Under the old law you would have needed a total of about 7 years of work to draw these benefits. Under the new rule you will need only 4½ years social security employment or self-employment to draw monthly old-age benefits. If you are a 60 year old woman planning retirement in 1962, you need only 3½ years of work to be eligible for social security.

Remember that social security benefits cannot start until you file a claim with the social security office nearest you. Therefore, if you believe you may be eligible for benefits under this change in the law, visit our office now. Our office in Dover, Delaware is located at 230 West Lockerman St.

Winter's Heavy Hand is Hovering

How much longer do we have before winter's cold hand falls over the ragweed, the garden, the flowers and the crops?

Hay fever sufferers are anxiously awaiting the first killing frost which will remove most of them from the sneeze and drip group.

Home gardeners wonder when they should get those house plants, that have spent the summer outdoors, back in the house.

Vegetable farmers wonder whether they should spray their crops with insecticides and herbicides again when a hard frost will come along and kill the plants anyhow.

Can we predict when it will frost? Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse, horticulturist at the University of Delaware, has been doing some figuring for Delaware pepper growers so they can tell how long they should spray to control corn borers, anthrax and bacterial spot, before giving up to winter.

His figures can be applied for house plants and sneeze weeds too.

Dr. Fieldhouse provides the facts but not the guesses. He said everyone will have to make his own guess as best he can.

The following are the odds, on when we will get the first killing frost, based on the weather records for the last 30 years:

The odds are one in ten that the date will be Oct. 7. If you wait until Oct. 13 to bring your house plants inside you have four chances against one of being in time.

If you wait until Oct. 21 you have a 50-50 chance, that's the average date for the first frost.

By Oct. 25 the chances are two out of three that the hay fever sufferers have stopped sneezing, at least due to pollen. They may have colds by then, however.

If your geranium is still outside Oct. 23 the chances are three out of four that it's dead, frozen to death!

By Nov. 4 the chances that Delaware has not been touched by the frigid finger of father frost is only one in ten.

So, Fieldhouse says, you figure the odds and take your chances with spraying your peppers, coming back from wherever you may go to get away from the hay fever, or moving house plants back inside.

Roxana Farmer Selected As Delaware's 'Best Poultry Boy'

Bruce M. Rickards, Roxana, 18 year-old June graduate of Lord Baltimore High School who netted more than $7,000 in spare-time poultry profits during the past two years, has been named Delaware's "best poultry boy" of 1960, according to Professor Ralph P. Barwick, department of agricultural education, University of Delaware.

Rickards will be the official state Future Farmers of America entry in the 14-state NEPPCO-FFA Star Poultry Farmer contest sponsored by the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council. Finals will take place at the council's annual exposition in Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 4-5-6.

This year Rickards contract-reared 48,000 broilers and owned 6 per cent of another flock of 17,000 meatbirds. He has also grown field crops and raised hogs.

He was married last month after purchasing a 13,200-broiler capacity farm of his own, and is planning to build a 12,000-capacity pole shelter in addition to renting an 8500 bird poultry house.

Rickards will join some 5000 other poultry folks, young and old, gathering at Syracuse's War Memorial Building during the exposition to witness the selection of the "Poultry Princess of the Northeast" and several other youth contests.

Rickards' vocational agricultural instructor at Lord Baltimore was Raymond Swadley.

4-H Teams to Display Skills At NEPPCO

Delaware 4-H Club youngsters will compete against teams from 13 other states at the three-day Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO) Exposition in Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 4-5-6, according to James O. Baker, Delaware 4-H Club Leader, University of Delaware.

In the egg-grading contest, Kenneth Marvel, Houston, and Nina Tammi, Newark, will represent Delaware.

Lois Wiebel, Hartly, will represent the state with a 4-H poultry foods presentation on the preparation of baked chicken salad.

Vaughn Elliott, Laurel, will give a production presentation entitled, "Keep Out".

Young poultry farmers competing in exposition events will arrive in Syracuse Oct. 2 for registration. The following day they will tour baseball's Hall of Fame and the Farmers' Museum at Cooperstown.

Contests will be held Oct. 4 and awards made at a special youth banquet in the Onondaga Hotel that evening.

More than 5000 poultrymen throughout the northeast are expected to attend the three-day exposition.

U. of D. Undergraduate Enrollment Hits New High

Undergraduate enrollment at the University of Delaware has soared to a new high with the registration of 2,750 students. More are expected to enroll before the close of the late registration period, Saturday, Oct. 1.

The number already enrolled exceeds by nearly ten per cent the 2524 undergraduates enrolled last year.

A record-breaking freshman class of 993 students is responsible for much of the growth. Robert Gebhardt, assistant director of admissions and records, said that late registrants will probably make the Class of 1964 the first in the history of the university with more than 1000 members.

With registration at the Dover Air Force Base and late arrivals still to be tallied, enrollments in university extension courses throughout the state parallel those of last year. A total of 1,542 have signed up to date with about 250 more expected in the next two weeks.

Graduate enrollments are ahead of last year's, with 1,037 already registered. About 1,060 advanced degree candidates are anticipated.

Do Not Re-Use

Egg Cartons Bearing

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to poultrymen that it is unlawful to reuse egg cartons with any U.S. D.A. official grade or size markings unless these markings are obliterated.

According to Ray Lloyd, associated extension poultryman, University of Delaware, this practice is a violation of certain public laws and U.S.D.A. regulations and should be discontinued at once. These same rules apply to State grade or size markings and to the use of egg cartons with a producer's name or a brand name printed on it.

Plain egg cartons are very inexpensive and can be marked as to size and grade as regulated by the State Board of Agriculture and the U.S.D.A. It is better to go to this minor expense than to be caught violating the law.

If you have questions concerning this or other regulations of egg grading, Mr. Lloyd suggests you get in touch with the State Board of Agriculture at Dover which handles these regulations.

Corn Crop Lower Than In 1959

The 1960 national corn crop is now estimated at 4 billion 182 million bushels — or 4 per cent below the record 1959 production, according to the latest U. S. crop estimate received by R. Harry Wilson, committee chairman at the Kent County ASC Office at Dover.

The nationwide corn yield for 1960 as of Sept. 1, was estimated at 50 bushels per acre, compared with 51.5 bushels in 1959 and a 10-year average of 41.6 bushels.

Production of all wheat is estimated at 1 billion 368 million bushels, the second largest crop of record. It is more than a fifth larger than 1959 but six per cent less than the record crop of 1953.

The composite yield per acre of 28 leading U. S. crops in 1960 is now estimated to be higher than last year's yield and second highest of record, exceeded only by 1958, the ASC office reports. Record yield per acre are expected this year of sorghum grain, peanuts and tobacco.

The Blue Hen Speedway staged a successful event Friday evening with cars from Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware. This race climaxed the Friday night racing date changing to Sunday afternoon starting this Sunday at 2 p.m. with the same program: Micro, 1/4 midget, and Go-Kart racing.

The first heat race of the flatheads was won by Car 7 piloted by Spanky Vincent.

The second heat race of the open class was won by car 22, chauffered by Dick Sapp.

Winner of the flathead 25-lap feature race was Car 7, driven by Shultie of Greensboro, Md.

Dick Sapp carried the checkered flag as the winner of the open class 25-lap feature race.

1/4 Midget Division
The quarter midget division is looking forward in having Roy Walls driving his car 00 back with us again now that we are racing Sunday afternoon.

Much can be said about these little sportsmen and we feel humble around young people who practice meritorious actions as they do. Their deeds toward each other recognize no barriers, playing together, competing together is reward enough for them.

The heat race of Sept. 23 was won by car 33 driven by Jackie Warrington, the youngest member of the club. 2-Billy Dill driving car 1; 3-Bobby Walls driving car 100; 4-Buddy Matthews driving 88 Jr.

The feature race of the evening consisting of 25 laps was won by Billy Dill as he chauffered his car 1 to the winners circle with Jack Warrington a close second piloting car 33. 3-Buddy Matthews, car 88 Jr.; 4-Bobby Walls car 100.

Racing at the Blue Hen Speedway will be held Sunday afternoon 2 p.m. when these little midgeteers will be performing for you again.

It can't go without mention the showing the Blue Hen Club members made at the Kennett Square track Saturday night. John Porter, Smokey with car 7, Walter Schiff, Dick Sapp with car 22, Red's Hollowell car X and Harry Porter with car 8, all journeyed up to compete with the national drivers. First heat winner was Red Hollowell; second heat, Harry Porter; third heat, Dick Sapp.

Dick Sapp piloted car 22 to the front and the checkered flag winning the 30-lap open class feature race. John Porter and Smokey had trouble with No. 7's engine giving Smokey a good size job, however, he still gave these boys plenty of competition in this 14-car lineup, coming in third.

To climax the evening after the feature race Dick Sapp was challenged to a 5-lap match race by Car 4, with Dick in car 22 taking top honors, when again challenged by car 3, with Dick once again taking the lead and winning this 5-lap match. These cars, were powered by the Mighty Koneg's, Moco, and Anzanna motors.

The book, published annually by the Department of Agriculture, is devoted to a review of the changes that have been made in agriculture in recent years as a result of technological changes.

Titled "Power to Produce," the 480-page volume tells of the change from horse-drawn operations to present-day pushbutton automation. Topics in its 60 chapters include the development of tractors, electricity, communications, power on the land, harvesting methods, developments in handling livestock, mechanization of marketing, farm building, efficiency of labor, the effects of power, and power in the future.

Senator Williams said that a limited supply of the books are available from his office in Washington on a first-come, first-served basis. Persons interested in obtaining a copy of the book should address their requests to Senator John J. Williams, 315 Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

THE HALFWAY MARK—This picture shows a novel method of building a store and continuing business at the same time. Taylor's Hardware moved merchandise from one half of the building to the other while construction was under way.—Parsons Photo.

lane, too quickly, after passing a truck, according to state police. She was fined $10 plus costs by Associate Judge William J. Storey.

Decision Reversed

In the second case, the decision of Magistrate Joseph B. Jeffers, Milford was reversed, when the jury returned a verdict of not guilty to William H. Morgan, 19, Lincoln, charged with speeding.

Morgan was arrested on the charge by Milford police, June 6. In court of Common Pleas Wednesday, Judge Ernest V. Keith handed down a verdict of not guilty to James B. Lewis, Jr., 25, Dover, being tried on a charge of drunken driving.

Lewis was arrested by Dover police on March 3, after his car was observed moving "unsteadily" along Reed Street. Lewis blamed icy road conditions as the cause of his car's wavering.

meeting the problem. Eisenbrey ran 35 yards to bring the half-time score to 6-0.

The third quarter was scoreless but in the final chapter Bridgeville converted two fumbles into quick scores for a final count of 19-0.

Outstanding for Harrington were Dave Martin, George Pfeiffer, Bob Bonniwell and Joe Taylor.

Lord Baltimore will be here Saturday afternoon. The Lords are one of the teams the Lions may be able to handle. At least they don't figure to be in Bridgeville class.

Budget Unit Taking Up Small Items

Three small agencies presented 1961-62 budgets Wednesday as the six-man State Budget Commission began its seventh day of hearings.

Altogether the three boards requested $40,400, which is $13,900 more than they are receiving this year.

Mrs. Sara Gibson Reed, executive secretary of the Board of Examiners of Graduate Nurses, said the activities of the board have grown to the point where it has become impossible to operate on a part-time basis.

The budget asks that the salary be doubled to $6,000 and the whole budget boosted from $6,000 to $9,100.

Mrs. Reed said Delaware has 3,485 registered professional nurses and 402 practical nurses. Accompanying Mrs. Reed were Miss Ada Moratti, Wilmington, president of the board, and Mrs. Lillian R. Wagner, a board member.

The board of Boiler Rules asked a $10,300 increase, also chiefly for salaries.

Henry S. Mauk, chief inspector, said another inspector is needed to check new boilers being installed. He said it now takes all the board's three inspectors' time to check annually the 4,900 boilers already licensed.

Alexander R. Abrahams, commission members, asked "Are there some boilers not being inspected now?"

Mauk answered: "We are not picking up any new ones at all." Mauk said boilers which have not been inspected are those installed in the last three or four years in such places as motels and shopping centers. New boilers in schools have been inspected, he said.

The intention of the board, Mauk said, is to become self-supporting. With a new fee schedule which goes into effect Jan. 1, plus another inspector, the board believes this can be done. Revenue now turned over the state now amounts to about $13,000 annually. The request for 1961-62 is $30,800.

Dr. Allen G. Schiek, Claymont, chairman of the Delaware Archeological Board, explained the board's request for a $500 budget. The board received no appropriation this year because it had encumbered funds still in its budget.

Dr. Schiek explained several projects the board has underway, including co-operation with the Delaware State Museum in the excavation of the Adena site on the St. Jones River southeast of Dover.

Before Wednesday, the commission has received requests from 55 agencies totaling $15,536,048, an increase of $3,061,485 over what the same agencies received for 1960-61.

The budget group announced that Oct. 15 is the target date for completing hearings.

The major request Tuesday was by the University of Delaware, for $3,873,175, a 21 per cent increase.

The commission heard six others Tuesday. They are:

Delaware Geological Commission—$44,250 currently; $49,250 asked for 1961-62.

Court of Chancery—$77,600 currently; $81,720 asked for 1961-62 (cut in request for funds to publish chancery reports partly offsets additional sought for salaries).

Supreme Court of Delaware—$99,746.19 currently; $99,570 asked for 1961-62.

Board of Parole—$8,600 currently; $12,200 asked for 1961-62. Public Service Commission—$65,940 currently and same amount requested.

Kent County Department of Elections—$40,000 currently; $31,595 asked for 1961-62 (off election year).

Tarumianz to Retire in July

Dr. M. A. Tarumianz will retire next July, but will retain a dominant position in the state's mental institutions.

He will still serve as state psychiatrist and chief consultant to the board of trustees of State Hospital.

This board also controls Governor Bacon Health Center at Delaware City and the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded at Stockley.

The new superintendent will be Dr. Charles K. Bush Jr., who is currently closing out the hospital inspection system of the American Psychiatric Association. It functions will be taken over by the American Hospital Association and related medical organizations.

Dr. Tarumianz said he and his wife will leave in February for a six-week cruise of the South Pacific with Francis V du Pont of Cambridge, Md.

"In the meantime," he said, "my board will start to become accustomed to Dr. Bush and his ways."

Dr. Bush will report for work on a part time basis sometime next month and will be on duty from two to three days a week. He is expected to go on full time basis in December as deputy administrator of the three mental health institutions in the state.

Dr. Tarumianz is not subject to mandatory retirement because of a recent act of the General Assembly, supported by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, all the legislators and his board of trustees.

OYSTER MINING

"This looks like the beginning of the rehabilitation of the seafood industry," he went on. He said the availability of shells under the bay bottom unlocks the door to a new era.

"The oyster shells taken from Tangier Sound are from a vein just like a coal vein," Mr. Valiant said. "The contractor used a dredge that would go 30 feet below the bottom. At 30 feet they were still getting clear shells."

"Some of the areas are catching better than some of the others, but it's apparent from the spat that have caught on, these mined shells are doing an adequate job."

"If we put 4,500,000 bushels in seed, and say 2,000,000 bushels actually caught spat, you can see what would happen with each shell with anywhere from one to five."

"When these spat are of proper size, they will be replanted on public rocks in the Maryland waters of Chesapeake Bay and tributaries."

"It takes a maximum of four years for an oyster to mature; some do in three years, depending on the water temperature."

"There is no question that if it is properly handled the oyster industry could be rehabilitated to the point where production would be as high as it was 50 and 60 years ago."

"We've gone from 15 to 18 million bushels a year in the last century down to less than 2,000,000 annually in Maryland waters.

"With the good catch of spat that is apparent from Mr. Hammer's testing last week," continued Mr. Valiant, assistant to TFC Chairman Dr. H. C. Byrd, "we can pretty well be assured of a rehabilitated oyster industry."

"This, of course, is provided no serious blight comes to our area and if the legislature will see fit to allow the Department of Tidewater Fisheries sufficient regulatory power to allow nature to take its course."

"The brook stock, the seed area and the public rocks must be protected if we are to have successful rehabilitation of the oyster industry," concluded Mr. Valiant.

George E. Davidson

George E. Davidson, 76, a retired farmer, died Sunday at the home of Mrs. Martin Storey, where he was a roomer.

Mr. Davidson was born in Georgetown and lived in Delaware all his life.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frank Breeding, Ridgely, Md.; two grandchildren, and a brother, Clarence Davidson, Bridgeville.

Services were held at 2 p. m., Wednesday from the Torbert Funeral Chapel, Dover, with the Rev. Charles Burge, Magnolia Methodist Church, officiating.

Waterfowl Hunting on Game And Fish Commission Lands

The Delaware Board of Game and Fish Commission has announced hunting regulations for those waterfowl hunters wishing to hunt public lands under the jurisdiction of the Commission.

A Woodland Beach Wildlife Area, consisting of 3,200 acres of marsh land is located along the shore of Delaware Bay between the mouth of the Smyrna River on the north and the community of Woodland Beach on the south. Headquarters for the area may be reached by driving toward Woodland Beach from Smyrna on Route 6 for approximately five miles and then turning north toward Flemings Landing for one mile. Anthony Florio, District Wildlife manager for the Commission, is stationed at the Headquarters.

Duck hunters are advised that during part of each day the marsh goes almost completely dry for an hour or two hour period; also, during stormy weather portions of the marsh are exposed to strong winds and currents. All hunters who wish to hunt this area should arrange for seaworthy boats and outboard motors. Mr. Florio will assist persons to make such arrangements.

A public launching ramp adjacent to Roy James' boat livery, Woodland Beach, enables hunters direct and convenient access to the inner marshes and Duck Creek. This ramp is usable on all but the lowest tides.

1. Central Portion
Waterfowl hunting on this area is permitted only from state-constructed blinds on a "first-come, first served" basis. NO RESERVATIONS NEEDED.

2. North and South Portions
Sportsmen desiring to hunt these areas will have to build their own blinds and adhere to the following rules:
a. Hunting is to be from stake blinds or boat blinds only.
b. Maintain a reasonable distance between blinds. (500 feet minimum).
c. Observe area boundary signs.

3. Little Creek Wildlife Area, consisting of 2,251 acres of marsh and upland, is located on the Delaware Bay between Little Creek and Pickering's Beach. A small North Unit is located 2 miles north of Little Creek.

Rules for hunting the Little Creek Wildlife Area will be as follows:
1. Hunters will select their own blind locations and build their own blinds.
2. Maintain a reasonable distance between blinds. (500 feet minimum).
3. Do not build blinds on or too close to private lands.
4. Jump shooting will not be allowed, only on those areas adjacent to uplands and not from any dike.

C. Primehook Wildlife Area, consisting of 635 acres of fresh water marsh and upland, is located between Primehook Beach and Broadkill Beach approximately 12 miles southeast of Milford.

Waterfowl hunting on this area is permitted only from state-constructed blinds on a "first-come, first served" basis. No reservations needed. Duck hunters are advised that this marsh is almost impossible to walk. All hunters who wish to hunt this area must have a boat and motor, preferably a small, narrow marsh-type boat. Although not a necessity, a push pole would facilitate traveling the marsh considerably. Shallow-draft boats may be launched from a public landing on the area.

D. Other state waterfowl lands and waters without special hunting regulations.

Southeast of Bethany Beach. Follow signs to Camp Barnes from Delaware 14.
2. Garrisons Pond Wildlife Area (95 acres)

3. Appoquinimink Wildlife Area (35 acres)
On Delaware River at the mouth of Appoquinimink Creek. Tide tables and maps of the Woodland Beach hunting area are available at the Woodland Beach headquarters office. From the central Game and Fish of-

H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), on the one hand, and Richard A. Haber and William J. Miller, Jr., chief and deputy chief engineers, respectively, of the State Highway Department.

The argument centered around the department's accounting procedures, the Republican senators contending that by the department's own figures some of the $14,000,000 provided in last year's bond bill had been spent for other items. This, they claimed, was illegal.

Mr. Haber and Mr. Miller explained that the department's operation is "continuing, and revolving." Roads contracted for in one year are paid for in another.

It was also explained that the state does not receive federal assistance until the bills are paid, so that the state money must be paid out in advance to receive federal matching funds months later.

Finally, in answer to a question from Lt. Gov. David P. Buckson, Mr. Haber said that if the department got no more money, they would still ultimately be able to pay all the bills for the work on hand under last year's $14,000,000 bill, provided of course, that enough funds could be found to pay for the federal part of the projects which would be refunded in the future.

Finally, even Senator Snowden, chief critic of the department's bookkeeping, conceded that it is an extremely complicated operation, and said that at the moment he had no further fault to find.

ensure their future stability. Small business means jobs and for our growing population that is important.

"Small business also means additional revenues. I would like to see the drive to invite small business into Delaware made a day-by-day campaign."

Mr. Rollins also said that "it might be necessary to create a Department of Commerce for Delaware to help build this small business campaign."

The candidate indicated that he would devote one of his speeches to the value of a Department of Commerce.

"In this campaign," concluded Mr. Rollins, "I am talking about the future of Delaware. I believe our future will be bright and big and I want to help the First State keep a date with greatness. We may have to go back over some of our opponent's mistakes from time to time—but I prefer to look ahead and I see in the future a basic need for more small business."

Fort Society Receives $500

The Fort Delaware Society received a financial boost over the weekend to continue its work of establishing a museum within the Fort on Pea Patch Island, Delaware City.

A check for $500 from Tidewater Oil Company was presented to Miles L. Frederick, Society president, to further the program.

Tidewater officials said they felt that since they are neighbors of Fort Delaware, the contribution to the Society would be part of their community relations program for 1960.

In accepting the check, Frederick expressed the thanks of the Fort Delaware Society and said he hoped this would encourage others engaged in private enterprise to lend a financial hand so that the museum could present a favorable impression to visitors during the Civil War Centennial which get underway next year.

"It is our hope that by spring many more acquisitions of the society may be properly displayed in the museum for the education and entertainment of visitors, Frederick said.

The current season has been the most successful since the Fort has been opened weekends to the public, it was pointed out.

Through the co-operation of the Delaware State Park Commission, boats have been plying between Delaware City and Pea Patch Island all summer.

They will continue through the weekend of Oct. 1 and 2, with boats available from noon to 7 p.m. when the last one leaves the fort at the pier.

Boggs to Give Certificates At Dinner

More than two hundred reservations have been made for the fourth annual awards luncheon of the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped on Tuesday, Oct. 4, according to James H. Sears, Chairman.

The affair will be held at 12:15 p.m. in the duPont County Club with an outstanding program and speaker, Sears said.

Governor J. Caleb Boggs will personally present two certificates of commendation at the luncheon. One will go to the employed handicapped person who made the most progress during 1959-60. The second will be awarded to the firm or institution having an outstanding record in hiring the handicapped. A third surprise award is also listed.

Principal luncheon speaker will be Dr. Henry H. Kessler, director of the Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation, West Orange, N. J. Sears said that Dr. Kessler is a world authority on the subject of rehabilitation.

Many business firms have reserved tables for the luncheon, according to Sears, and there has been interest in the entire program this year, according to officials.

A report will be presented concerning the work of the Advisory Committee which meets monthly to interview handicapped people and find job opportunities for them. The Advisory Committee program is in effect throughout the state, Sears said.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you . . . and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. It cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford . . . beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look . . . beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am 22, the son of a World War II veteran who died of a service-connected condition, and am now in the Armed Forces myself. I'd like to go to school under the War Orphans Education program when I get out, but then I will be more than 23 years old. Can an exception to the age limitations for eligibility be made in my case?

A—Yes. War Orphans Education may be continued after age 23, if you were serving in the Armed Forces before that age. You must complete your schooling within five years from discharge. Your discharge must be under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q—A while ago there used to be a rule that VA benefits checks could not be forwarded, but I understand that's changed now. Can the Post Office forward my compensation check to me, at another address?

A—Yes. It is perfectly legal to forward VA benefits checks. Fill out a change-of-address form with your local Post Office. Also, tell VA that you are moving. Give your old address, and your new address.

Q—Is a veteran with a service-connected disability rated 30 per cent entitled to extra money from the VA because of dependents?

A—No. The law does not authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50 per cent in degree.

Q—Now that my right as a World War II veteran to obtain a GI loan has been extended to July 25, 1962, I intend to get one. What papers do I need to take to a lender?

A—You need only take your VA Certificate of Eligibility. This may be obtained at any VA regional office.

Current Figures On Conservation Reserve

With 306,182 Conservation Reserve contracts in effect, the total cropland acreage held out of production under this program throughout the country during the present crop season amounts to 28,659,973 acres, according to an up-to-date report on Conservation Reserve progress received at the Kent County ASC Office at Dover.

Under Conservation Reserve contracts, cropland is retired from production for periods up to 10 years and the reserved land is devoted to conservation uses. The contracts now in force have an average length of more than six years. Although no new land is being taken into the program at this time, the existing contracts remain in effect and will continue until expiration. The current reserve status, according to Lister V. Hall, Jr., office manager of the Kent ASC office, shows Texas in first place in acreage under contract, with 3.6 million acres, followed in order by North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Georgia. These are the only states with more than 1 million acres under contract. In Delaware, there is a total of 284 contracts in effect, covering total acreage of 18,420 acres, of which 85.6 per cent is in the form of whole farms. The Conservation Reserve rental payment for Delaware averages $16.66 per acre.

Regional Poultry Meeting Attended By 250 People

A standing-room-only crowd of about 250 broiler industry people attended the Delmarva Regional Poultry meeting at the Centenary Methodist Church at Laurel, Sept. 21 to hear a program primarily aimed at reduction of broiler condemnations.

Dr. Morris S. Cover, chairman of the department of animal and poultry science at the University of Delaware opened the meeting with a report on a survey of grower management practices in relation to poultry condemnations on the Delmarva Peninsula.

The survey, carried out cooperatively by staff members of the University of Maryland and University of Delaware, showed that broiler growers following the recommended vaccination and sanitation programs had a lower condemnation rate on their birds than did the other growers studied, Cover said.

The survey covered 61 growers and involved 930,642 birds. Other results of the study indicated that narrow broiler houses and houses with solid partitions also decreased condemnations.

Dr. Cover said that a very high number of birds on the process processing lines showed evidence of intestinal coccidiosis. Although this does not mean the bird is condemned it does indicate the seriousness of the coccidiosis problem because the disease certainly causes poor feed conversion by the bird and weakens it for other diseases.

Dr. Harry Love, head of the department of agricultural economics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, gave a presentation on the basic economics of agricultural marketing.

Otis Esham, Willards, Md., reported on his recent visit to broiler growing areas in Maine, Georgia and Arkansas.

After a Delmarvelous chicken dinner, research reports were given by representatives from the University of Maryland, the University of Delaware and V.P.I. Agricultural engineer Howard C. Hoyt, University of Delaware, reported on his work on a new processing method for whole, unextracted soybeans.

Feeding trials with expanded, whole soybeans, with 1,000 broilers, resulted in an average weight, at eight weeks, of 3.05 pounds and a feed conversion of 2.10 for the 500 birds on the expanded material. This compared to an identical average of 3.05 pounds for the 500 birds on conventional feed but a feed conversion of 2.15 showed up. This means .05 pounds of feed per pound of broiler produced was saved with the expanded corn-soya mixture, Hoyt said.

Frank A. D'Armi, poultry researcher at the University of Delaware Substation Division at Georgetown, reported on his study of feeder space.

He said the study on the relationship of feeder space per 1,000 birds showed that feed was more efficiently used and, in general, it was more economical to use 10 five-foot feeders per 1,000 birds rather than the 20 five-foot feeders per 1,000 birds now being recommended.

The return, above feed and equipment costs, for the birds grown in the 10 feeders per 1,000 bird pens, was $13.82 per 1,000 more than the return on birds grown in the 20 feeder per 1,000 pens, D'Armi said.

Dr. William C. Krauss, University of Delaware, discussed a recent test of a new killed Newcastle vaccine. He said the new killed vaccine gave 91 per cent protection of the birds as compared to 20 per cent protection for the live virus vaccine.

The low rate of protection with the live vaccine was due to high parental immunity, Dr. Krauss said.

James Nicholson, extension poultryman with the University of Maryland, reported on the advantages and disadvantages of growing male and female broilers separately. He also discussed the recent test regarding the comparison of crossing the popular male strains with various female strains.

Dr. A. T. Ringrose, V.P.I., discussed the status of condemnations of broilers in the Virginia area.

A panel discussion on what measures should be taken to reduce condemnations ended the meeting. Service men, growers, research men and poultry inspectors were all represented on the panel.

Delaware Food Market Report

The art of cheese cookery has captivated food fanciers for many, many years—with new and exciting uses for this food being created daily. The United States now is the largest cheese-producing nation in the world, thus the October Cheese Festival is a fitting tribute. Production of this food is larger this year than last, and stocks are up. Because of this, the consumer can expect not only generous supplies and a wide variety of cheese at the market, but also many "specials".

Another plentiful October item is beef, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's food list. Supplies of Good, Choice and Prime grade will be about the same as in recent months, but there will be considerably more of the leaner type beef. The cuts, which cook to mouth-watering tenderness by braising, stewing or cooking in liquid will be excellent buys. Generously-sized cubes of chuck for stews—arm and shoulder roasts for pot roasting—ground beef for hamburgers, Salisbury steaks, casserole dishes and meat loaves—briskets and plates for cooking in liquid, and serving with boiled cabbage and whole potatoes are a few suggestions for menus.

To accompany this plentiful beef there will be good supplies of white potatoes. Quality is good to excellent and prices remain a bit higher than usual, but perhaps as supplies increase prices will drop.

The latest reports are that this year's Cranberry crop will set another record for size which means big supplies of the fresh, red berries as well as such popular processed items as canned cranberry sauce and jelly and bottled cranberry drink. At latest estimates, this year's Cranberry crop will be 4% larger than last year's record crop of 29% above average.

Other foods listed are tender young chickens and turkeys (all sizes—not just the large ones). Broiler-fryers will continue in heavy supply during October at prices the consumer cannot overlook. October will also be a month for Turkey dinners and for selecting a Thanksgiving turkey to store in the freezer. Retail prices should be low enough to make turkeys one of the outstanding buys of the month.

Finally, there will be a large supply of rice. This food will go with or combine with all the other plentiful items listed to make a variety of delicious dishes.

Soybean Yield Contest

Farmers are invited for the seventh straight year to submit entries in the soybean yield program of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, says George Vapaa, the Kent county agent.

This program is also known as the 40 bushel Soybean Contest because all farmers who achieve a measured yield of 40 bushels or better per acre on their best five acres receive recognition at the annual awards banquet held in Dover during Thanksgiving week.

The purpose of the program is to search out, recognize and give credit for those fertilization, management and cultural practices which contribute to the most profitable yields. For example, the Clark, Hill, and Hood varieties have all gained acceptance because of their superior performance for farmers in Delaware.

Soybeans have become the most important cash crop in Delaware with a total of 188,000 acres for 1960. Hurricane Donna has hurt the yield prospects this year by blowing down the lush green vines in many places, and also by leaving shallow ponds in low fields. In spite of this, many people look for some Delaware farmer to exceed the record yield of 62.2 bushels per acre.

Nine Kent County farmers produced 40 bushels per acre or better last year. Their names and addresses are: Frank Winkler and Sons of Harrington, Ernest Council and Fred Goldsborough of Smyrna, Homer Torbert of Felton, Sal Schepens of Marydel, David and Fred Martin of Harrington, John F. Wilson of Harrington, David Robbins of Milford, Francis Thomas of Marydel, and Roland Garrison of Dover.

Anyone interested in taking part in the program this year is asked to call Mr. Vapaa at Redfield 6-1448 or visit him on the second floor of the Dover post-office.

There is no corn yield contest this year. The early corn harvest demonstration replaced it, he includes.

THE TELEPHONE STORY

A Tale of Double Standard in Price and Wages)

Our Communities enjoy the most advanced type of telephone service.

The know-how of the Telephone Worker and the Science of the Diamond State Telephone Company make this possible

- BUT - WHY?

— and this is of utmost importance —

Our Communities and the Telephone Worker suffer from a double standard of prices and wages dictated by the Telephone Company.

Do you know that—

1. Each telephone user in our Communities pays to the Telephone Company exactly the same amount of money as a telephone user in Wilmington to get a phone installed.

But—The Telephone Installer in our communities gets from $5.50 to $10 a week less than the installer doing exactly the same work in Wilmington.

2. Each telephone user in our communities pays to the Telephone Company exactly the same amount of money as a telephone user in Wilmington to get a color phone, or an extension, or a long distance call.

But—the Telephone Operator in our Communities gets $5. a week less than the Telephone Operator doing exactly the same work in Wilmington.

3. The new Princess Telephone is beautiful. The cost to install it and the monthly charge is the same for you as it is for anyone in Wilmington.

But—the Telephone Workers who put the Princess in your home and who service it every minute of every day get from $5.50 to $10. a week less than the telephone workers who do exactly the same thing in Wilmington.

UNITED TELEPHONE WORKERS OF DELAWARE

The Telephone Company here and in Wilmington is the same company.

The Telephone Workers here must have the same training and skill as the telephone workers in Wilmington to render the same good service.

Why should they get so much a week less here than in Wilmington?

Why should the Telephone Company have one price zone but three different wage zones for Delaware?

What Does This Double Standard Mean?

It means that—family for family—the Telephone company takes as much money out of our Communities as it does out of Wilmington.

But—man for man—the Telephone Company puts back into our Communities much less per employee in the way of wages and spending power than it does in Wilmington.

This is not fair to the Telephone Company Worker and it is not fair to our Communities.

We ask your support.

Help us eliminate the unfair wage zones and the unfair double standard.

Harrington School Notes

A photographer will take school pictures Monday and Tuesday. Pre-school pictures will be taken Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. If these are not completed Monday afternoon, the time will be Tuesday afternoon at 3.

Papers have a definite bearing on the children's progress and grades will be sent home by the student for the parents information and acknowledgment by their signature. All parents have been requested to make every effort to see that these papers are returned to school as soon as they have been reviewed. Parents will also be notified by mail whenever possible if a child's marks are on the decided decline over those received the previous six-week period.

Arrangements are also under preparation for each grade to hold a conference with the parents of all children in that grade. At these conferences the progress and goals for the year will be discussed, together with homework procedures, testing procedures, and any other information the parent should have concerning the work of the children in the grade for this year.

Parents are also urged to make use of the period between 3:30 and 3:50 each day when members of the faculty will be available for consultation.

The following grading system will be used:
 A—92-100 (Inclusive)
 B—85-91 "
 C—75-84 "
 D—70-74 "
 F—Failure (any grade below 70)

For a student to be on the honor roll all grades in major subjects must be an A except in one major subject, which may be a B. No one failing a subject can be on the honor roll.

Organization of clubs got underway in Harrington High on Wednesday, Sept. 21. Officers were elected for the clubs as well as for each home room.

Those chosen are as follows:
 Science Club—President, Christy Coady; vice president, Carol Warrick; treasurer and secretary, Jack Reed.

Drama Club—President, Iris Lee Warrington; vice president, Delores Brown; secretary, Kenna Jo McKnatt; treasurer, Carol Ann Moore.

Commercial Club—President, Mary Ann Messick; vice president, Brenda Banning; secretary, Audrey Lord; treasurer, Viva Reed; press agent, Margaret Teed; party chairman, Bertha McMullen; roll call, Joyce Pearson; Equipment, Jean McFarland; entertainment, Anna Mae Baker; messenger, Eddie Layton.

Girls Varsity Club—President, Barbara Jones; vice president, Nancy Blades; secretary, Priscilla Nielsen; treasurer, Phyllis Vincent.

Harrington's Jr. High team won its first game yesterday when it defeated Millsboro 9-0. The game was well played by both teams.

Harrington scored early when a swarm of tackles smothered a Millsboro ball carrier behind the goal line for a safety and two points.

Later Barry Fry, who proved to be a very hard runner, crashed over from the seven yard line for a touchdown to make the score 8-0.

Bill Adams ended the scoring when he made a fine catch of Randy Knox's pass in the end zone for the extra point making the final score 9-0.

Millsboro never threatened to score as Harrington's defense proved too strong for the visitor. The next Jr. High game will be against Delmar here at Harrington Monday afternoon Oct. 10.

HERE! '61 CHEVY TRUCKS

WITH WORK-PROVED INDEPENDENT FRONT SUSPENSION!

Chevy's '61 fleet swings in with a ready-made reputation as the trucks that are worth more because they work more... the latest editions of the haulers that scrapped the I-beam axle and proved the important advantages of independent front suspension!

You'll find new models for '61—long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive units—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on owner reports) that Chevy's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel fight and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Check the latest specs with your Chevrolet dealer: capacity, power teams, options. Then, by all means, drive a '61. Once around the block and you'll never be satisfied with a front axle truck again!

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!
