

PROMINENT DELAWAREANS FACING TAX ACTION

"I was shocked to learn that certain citizens had not filed returns," said State Tax Commissioner Alexander R. Abrahams this week after a personal survey of some prominent Delawareans' folders.

"Some of those assessed for delinquent income taxes have not filed tax returns to the state for six or more years," Mr. Abrahams declared.

"When they receive notice of the assessments against them they usually get someone to call me and endeavor to explain why they have not filed returns," he continued.

Abrahams listed some of the stock excuses, which he described as "pretty weak":

"I intended to file"; "I did not realize I was delinquent for so many years," and "Someone told me I didn't have to file."

"These people are always very anxious that the State Tax Department 'do a favor' by not notifying their employers that they have not paid; I would not want him to know anything about this," Abrahams said.

"All the information on assessments they have received has been furnished by the employers," Abrahams said.

All such delinquents are now being notified that they must pay the amount due in 30 days.

A confidential examination of the self-employed is being made to determine who failed to file returns.

As soon as the remaining income tax refund checks have been mailed out, all clerks in the tax office will be assigned to reviewing income taxes and getting out assessment statements to delinquents.

Abrahams explained that if adequate funds had been provided.

Harrington Races Will End Monday

The board of directors of Kent and Sussex Raceway, meeting Tuesday night, decided not to extend the present harness race meeting beyond the scheduled 30 nights.

The Delaware Legislature passed a bill granting Harrington 40 racing days, but according to T. Brinton Holloway, only 30 will be used this year.

"We are scheduled to close Monday night," said Holloway, "but if we are rained out any night between now and then we will extend the meeting to get in 30 racing days."

Dover Congo Airlift Slows to Standby

Participation by Dover Air Force Base planes in the United Nations airlift operation to the Congo has dwindled to a standby basis.

Dover planes began their Congo mission three months ago yesterday. At the height of the airlift 47 Dover-based C-124 Globemasters were involved.

It was the crew of one of these planes which was badly beaten up at Stanleyville on Aug. 27.

Twelve planes of the 20th Air Transport Squadron are based at Chateauroux, France, ready to

The first piling of the planned $200,000,000 Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel is scheduled to be driven into the bottom of the bay Oct. 26.

The ceremony is to take place about two miles off Chesapeake Beach on the bay's southern shore. The 17.5-mile structure will connect Virginia's mainland near Norfolk with the Eastern Shore near Cape Charles.

One of the bay ferries to be replaced by the bridge-tunnel will stand by at the pile-driving ceremonies. The Bridge-Tunnel Commission chairman, Lucius J. Kellam of Belle Haven, Va., will give the signal to proceed with construction.

FULL TEXT OF KENNEDY'S ADDRESS IN DELAWARE

The following is the text of Senator John F. Kennedy's talk in Wilmington Sunday.

Senator Allen Frear, Congressman McDowell, Governor to be Carvel, Mr. Potter, State Chairman, National Committee Woman, ladies and gentlemen: I want to apologize for keeping you waiting. I was not playing golf. We were over in New Jersey campaigning.

But I have come here for several reasons: First because I think the important thing that the citizens of Delaware return to the United States Senate Allen Frear, who has been a responsible Senator, and who I know will fight for this state and country once he returns to Washington as a member of important committees in the Senate. So I join with him today and hope that you will support him at election time, Nov. 8, and reelect him to the United States Senate.

And my friend and colleague in the House of Representatives, your Congressman from this state, who has served, as I did, on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who has brought to foreign policy a recognition that this country must begin to move forward, must extend its influence around the world with greater vigor, and I am confident that Delaware will reelect to the House of Representatives Harris McDowell.

And also reelect as Governor, the biggest Governor in the country and also from the state of Delaware send a Governor who will speak for this state and fight for it. I know you will elect again as you did in 1948 your next Governor, Governor Carvel.

And when you have done all that—Kennedy is the name. I come here today, and I must confess that I am finding greater difficulty running against Mr. Nixon than I had imagined. The reason is not because he is such a magnificent debater and it is not because he is using new lighting, but because his positions change so fast that it is very difficult to know where he stands and therefore it is very difficult to know what policy he is advocating for our country in the future.

For example, for ten days he took on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu an entirely different position than the President of the United States has taken since 1955. He attempted to involve us in a commitment of those islands as a matter of principle, when the fact of the matter is that the President of the United States and Mr. Dulles and Secretary Herter have never taken that position.

Now, if he agrees with the President and his view on Quemoy and Matsu, I agree with him, and have agreed with it for several years, and I am glad to have Mr. Nixon come back home. Mr. Nixon has campaigned around the country that parties don't mean very much; what counts is the tell you that if I am elected life will be easy. I think to be a citizen of the United States in the next ten years will require us to assume great responsibilities and great burdens. But I do believe that we have an obligation, not only to ourselves but to all those who wish to live their lives in freedom around the globe. During the American Revolution Thomas Paine said that the cause of America is the cause of all mankind. Now in 1960, in a very real sense, the cause of all mankind is the cause of America. If we remain strong here in this country, if we are building a more vigorous society, if we are meeting our responsibilities in this country and around the world, then we strengthen not only ourselves but we strengthen the cause of freedom. The reason that Franklin Roosevelt was a good neighbor in Latin America was because he was a good neighbor in the United States. It must move, that we must provide greater opportunity for our people, that we must build our strength, and in building our strength, we strengthen the cause of freedom all around the globe wherever it hangs in doubt.

Now the issue which separates Mr. Nixon and myself, and on this issue the people of Delaware must make their own sober judgment, and I believe the issue is quite clear, whether the United States now is at the peak of its power.

Mr. Nixon says and runs on the slogan "We've never had it so good." He says our prestige in the world has never been so high, that our strength relative to the Communist is increasing.

I hold a different view, and I

PROSPERITY 'RISK' SEEN IN KENNEDY

Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Wilmington Wednesday the American people "cannot run the risk" of entrusting their prosperity to a Democratic administration.

In a statement issued after his arrival in Wilmington early Wednesday morning, the Republican presidential candidate kept up his attack on the domestic programs advocated by Senator John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival.

Nixon said Kennedy offers the American people "retreads" of programs which produced a "dismal record of economic failure" during peacetime Democratic administrations.

He said Democratic economic policies were a "tragic failure" in solving the unemployment problem except in time of war.

The Democratic record, Nixon said, is one of "spend-and-spend, tax-and-tax, borrow-and-borrow, inflate-and-inflate."

Earlier, in brief remarks before a crowd estimated at 2,500 at New Castle County Airport, Nixon poked fun at Kennedy and predicted that Delaware will be in the Nixon column on Nov. 8.

Nixon said he would offer Kennedy an advantage in the fourth and last of the great debates over television Friday evening.

"He can bring not only his notes, but the Encyclopedia Britannica and all his ghost writers," Nixon told the cheering crowd which showed up for the mid-night arrival of Nixon.

He was referring to Kennedy's alleged use of notes during the third Kennedy-Nixon debate to directly quote President Eisenhower. Nixon called this a violation of the "ground rules" agreed to by the candidates.

Nixon outlined a broad program to "generate confidence, not fear, as to the future of the American economy."

"It is a program that will spur our economic growth, that will raise living standards and not merely living costs," he stated. "It is a program under which the American people themselves

Middletown Eleven Bests H.H.S., 25-6

By Keith S. Burgess

Harrington High's football team dropped its fourth game in a winless season on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. Middletown's Cavaliers were beaten by the Lions in 1958 and 1959 but were pointing for this one.

H.H.S. couldn't do anything right in the first half and were soon behind 6-0 soon after the kickoff. The upstarters recovered a fumble and scored a few plays later on an end run.

George Pfeiffer, who was a one-man gang all day, then carried the leather from his own 36 to a first down on the 50. Middletown gained possession when a Lion fumble lost 9 yards and the locals had to punt.

Harrington contained the visitors offense on the next set of downs and got a break on fourth down when the Middletown center got off a bad snap. The Cavalier back could not kick and H.H.S. had the pigskin on the enemy 32. Pfeiffer gained 15 yards on a double re-

State Auditor Candidates Live in Harrington

An unusual aspect of the general elections, Tues., Nov. 8, will be that both candidates for state auditor are residents of Harrington. Following are the pictures and biographies of the candidates.

Wm. W. Shaw

Shaw's Statement
William W. "Pete" Shaw is your Republican candidate for State Auditor.

Pete Shaw is a native of Harrington who has been active in business, civic and government affairs for many years. He was elected to a 4-year term on the board of the Harrington Special School District in May, and is chairman of the Harrington Zoning Commission.

He is co-owner of Cahall's Gas Service Company in Harrington and is a member of the executive board of the Kent-Sussex Fair, treasurer of the Kent and Sussex Racing Association, director of the First National Bank, and trustee of the Milford Memorial Hospital.

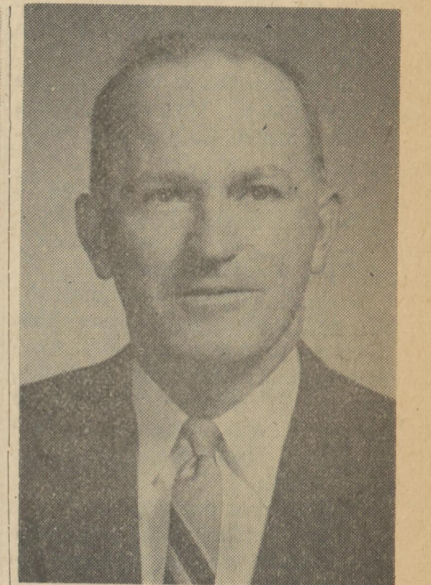

Pete Shaw, who is 46 years old, is a graduate of Harrington High School and the Goldey Beacom School of Business. His father, Benjamin Shaw, was elected State Auditor twice, in 1938 and again in 1946.

I have been wondering how many of the voters in this state would like to accompany me on a trip to California in a covered wagon? Even with our modern highways, it would not be a very pleasant trip, would it? How would you like to return to the days before electricity, giving up not only your lighting, but your television set, radio, iron, refrigerator, freezer, telephone, washer, dryer and those many other things that make modern living so pleasant? Would you agree to building a one-room school house system to replace what we have, or a return to a pony express mail service, or to scrubbing your clothes on a wash-board with soap you made yourself? You don't want any part of these suggestions, do you? But why not?

We have a state government right out of the era that featured such things. Yes, our governmental set-up is just as out of place in 1960 as a covered wagon on a superhighway. It is as old-fashioned as the one room school (Continued on Page 12)

Farrow, Quillen, Shaw Welcome Nixon

Harry G. Farrow Sr., W. W. Shaw, and Robert H. Quillen were members of the Welcoming Committee for Vice President Nixon in Wilmington, Wednesday.

Ernest E. Killen

Born and raised on a farm between Felton and Harrington near Killen's Pond.

Attended Felton Public School and Goldey Business College, after graduating from Goldey, his first job was as bookkeeper with Libby's at Wyoming. Soon, a friend of the family encouraged him to go into the life-insurance business which gave him a chance to meet many people throughout the state. He was also well known as a baseball player in the 30's.

In 1940, he married Emily Schwartz. The Killens have resided in Harrington since then. He has been active in the Democratic party since coming to Harrington, and in 1944 he was named on the county and state executive committees.

Killen resigned from both when he was named collector of internal revenue by President Truman on the recommendation of U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear.

In a statement, Killen said he had always given credit for whatever success he may have attained to his elders in the Democratic party, and when talking politics he liked to quote such oldtimers as Will Smith, Joshua Smith, Norris Graham, Jack Holloway, and Walter Paskey, Sr.

Fred Bailey, former state senator, was one of his strong supporters and had much to do with his start in politics, Killen said.

In 1953, the candidate for auditor was elected mayor of Harrington and served two terms. When he took his oath, he said to his councilmen: "There are many things to be done; let's start now," and they did, he adds.

He enumerates his accomplishments in this manner: "Soon the dirt streets were being paved, the old, antiquated light posts and street lamps were removed and a modern lighting system installed. Delaware Avenue was curbed and paved, in co-operation with the State Highway Department, and never a tax increase." Continuing, Killen said: "We must have a new water tank and improve our (water) lines. This meant a $65,000 bond issue. Many said the citizens could not stand the cost, but the may-

Kent Census Shows 1533 Farms

There were 1533 farms in Kent county when the 1959 census of agriculture was taken last fall, according to preliminary reports of the census bureau of the Department of Commerce. This is 401 farms less than five years ago.

The average size of farms was 164.3 acres, or an increase of 27.6 acres since five year ago. The decrease on the number of farms and increase in size is explained by one farmer buying out a neighbor in order to get a more efficient sized unit. 972 operators owned their farms, 329 were part owners, and 224 were tenants. Tenancy now accounts for only 14.6% of the farms in Kent County.

Farm operators seem to be older on the average too. They average 50.5 years, although 259 are 65 or more years old.

Of the 1533 farms in the county, 1050 were commercial or family farms. Of the 396 part time farms, 130 have part retirement operators, where the operator is 65 years old or over and sales are less than $2500 per year.

The report contains detailed statistics on crops, livestock and equipment with comparable statistics for 1954.

Copies of the state and county reports are available at 10 cents each from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.

Milford Jaycees Hallowe'en Celebration Now In High Gear

They will be guests of the Milford Rotary Club for dinner at 6:30 P. M., lead the parade at 8 P. M. to the judges' stand, review the parade, and be introduced to the assemblage immediately following the parade.

Many entries have already been received in all of the six parade divisions, bands, fire companies, mummers, club and fraternal commercial and auto dealers, with new additions every day. Start Feeding Grass Silage

Dairymen planning to feed grass silage should feed it early if they have a fall-freshening herd, says County Agent George Vapaa.

Research at Ohio State University indicates that milk production may fluctuate less when cows are started on grass silage close to freshening.

The amount of both hay and silage fed should be gradually increased until cows are on full-barn feeding, Mr. Vapaa said, because a gradual change-over keeps stress at a minimum and helps maintain production and health.

If both annual silage (corn or sorghum) and grass silage are to be fed during the season, feed both each day for a few days if possible. This also helps to maintain rumen microflora and avoids stress on the cow's system.

Many of these fryers are heavy fryers and are excellent for chicken pot pie, hot chicken sandwiches, chicken and dumplings, as well as delicious golden brown fried chicken.

What do you call pancakes? Is it wheateakes, flapjacks, hotcakes, battercakes or do you call them pancakes? Pancakes are called crepes in France, chappatties in India and Plattar in Sweden.

Reese Theatre Notes

Yes, Delaware and Maryland theatre fans are seeing the big ones at Movie Center. One big attraction seems to follow the other. With the coming of the new Allied Artists hit, "Hell to Eternity" with Jeffrey Hunter, David Janssen, Vic Damone, and Patricia Owens at the Reese Theatre, Fri., Sat., Sun., and Mon., Oct. 21-22-23-24, one should have every reason to believe the management has eclipsed themselves in their effort to present unusual presentations.

Notes

"Hell to Eternity" hits like a Marine assault-bomb, scorching and relentless. It's a power dive into the ultimate of drama. One critic says "It took guts to put this one on the screen." Another says, "Don't miss this entertainment drenched hit."

Sunday School begins at 10 o'clock with classes for all ages. Our lesson for this Sunday will be "Our Need Of God." Some of the things that will be discussed are; the soul's desire, the living God, and the joy in worship. Visitors are always welcome to worship God with us.

Last Sunday it was a pleasure to have as our speaker, Fred Monroe, Special music was by Dwight Hackett, who sang "Tis So Sweet To Trust In Jesus."

One of the most inspiring services in our Baptist churches is the baptismal service. Two of our young people, Pat and Clarence Hackett received this ordinance last Sunday night, when a joint baptismal service was held at the Greensboro Baptist Church.

This Sunday, will be a special day in our church. Our pastor, the Rev. H. R. Garland will be here for his first Sunday with us. For the past year God has supplied us with a speaker each Sunday morning. We would like to extend our thanks and appreciation to these men and all others who have helped us grow, so that we could call our own pastor.

Science Winner to Eye The Atom

Rhodes Vessels, a student at Lewes High School, left Wednesday for Chicago for the National Youth Conference on the Atom. The session will last through Oct. 22.

Rhodes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Allen Vessels of Lewes Beach, is one of four Delaware students to make the trip. The young men were accompanied by one of Lewes High School's science instructors, Warren S. Schneller, from Philadelphia International Airport by jet.

Over 600 persons attend from all parts of the country, including more than 300 high school science students chosen for their interest and excellence in the field of science and more than 200 outstanding high school science teachers.

The program will consist of talks and panel discussions by nationally recognized authorities, followed by group discussion sessions.

Sessions will be held at the Museum of Science and Industry. By means of bus tours, the participants will visit one of the Atomic Energy Commission's three principal laboratories and also the Dresden Nuclear Power Station.

The conference is sponsored by 62 electric utility companies serving at least 38 states; the Delaware delegates are sponsored by the Delaware Power and Light Company. Co-sponsors are the Future Scientists of America Foundation and the National Science Teachers Association.

Topics to be covered are: "Today's World of Science," "Electric Power from the Atom;" and "Atomic Frontiers."

Rhodes, a junior, was selected to attend the 1960 Summer Science Day Camp held four weeks in Wilmington last summer. The program was designed to give above-average students who had demonstrated interest in some phase of science or mathematics a topflight exploratory experience in science.

Rhodes has been a member of the Lewes School Band for 7 years, is a member of the National Honor Society, vice-president of the David Pieteron DeVries Chapter, Children of the American Revolution, and corresponding secretary of the state CAR.

H.H.S. Harriers Deal Greenwood 1st. Loss

By Keith S. Burgess
Coach Harold McDonald's senior-dominated cross-country team remained undefeated by scoring its third win of the season against Greenwood, 17-44.

The Foresters, under Coach Bill Santo had scored triumphs over Milford and Milton and are represented by some fine, new prospects.

Harry Knotts, as usual, was the individual winner, negotiating the Killen's Pond course in 12:45. Dwight Hackett, who did not compete in 1959 due to a sprained ankle, was second in 12:59 to become the third harrier ever to break 13 minutes here. Dwight's previous personal best was 13:04 in 1958.

Clarence Hackett was third and Robert "Buddy" Bonniwell making his first start of 1960 was fourth. Bonniwell did 13:07 here last year. He and Clarence Hackett (13:06) may soon break 13 minutes also.

Tom Campbell and Julian Woodall, the latter a former Harringtonian, captured fifth and sixth places for Greenwood with George Pfeiffer, Dennis Bradley and Jeff Adams taking the next three spots for the Lions. Pfeiffer was 21st in the state meet last year. He and Knotts (4th) Dwight Hackett (8th), Bonniwell (12th) and Clarence Hackett (16th) give the locals a powerful, balanced team that could be state champions this year provided all five are able to make the trip.

Many of the upstate runners who finished ahead of the Lions last year have since graduated. Included among these are the first second, third and fifth placers. Knotts, who was fourth last year, is in a good spot to bring home the first place individual trophy to add to his extensive collection.

Last week we wrote that Jeff Adams, who did 16:04 against Milford and Centerville, would probably improve his second trip on the local course. We had in mind 15:30 or thereabouts. Jeff came in in 14:36, a very fine performance indeed. It is a good thing for some of the more complacent veterans on the squad that this had no previous cross-country experience.

Dennis Rogers, Larry Bonniwell, Bobby Matthews, Richard Brown, Pat Coady and Donnie Draper, a group of junior high prospects, all set new personal records for the 2.4 mile grind.

USDA Publishes 1960 Agriculture Yearbook

Power to Produce, 1960 yearbook of agriculture, just released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, describes how the mechanical revolution on the farm has brought a better life to America.

THE '61 PONTIAC IS HERE!

It's All Pontiac! on a new Wide-Track!

New track-to-body proportion! The track is the width between the wheels. Pontiac has the widest track of any car. And now that we've trimmed body width, more weight is balanced directly between the wheels. You ride with greater poise, maneuver with firmer control.

More room, more comfort inside! Headroom, legroom and foot-room have been increased. Seats are higher, yet there's more clearance under the steering wheel. Doors are wider, swing open farther with no jutting barriers to bump as you get in and out.

Powered by the new, fuel-saving Trophy V-8 Engine! New fuel induction system gives this new free-breathing engine more air, makes gas go further. Eleven versions to select from. Horsepowers range from 215 to 348. For best economy, specify the Trophy Economy V-8. Its lower compression ratio lets you use regular gas. It's the Wide-Track way to travel! Try it!

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR! Pontiac has the widest track of any car. Body width trimmed to reduce side overhang. More weight balanced between the wheels for sure-footed driving stability.

POLITICAL ISSUES

Dear Bill:

We have been amiss in not informing the public on the political situation. This lack is particularly noticeable as the general elections loom.

Studying back over the years and listening to debates, we can see very little difference in the platforms. The remnants of the New Deal are still with us. It seems to us the Democrats and Republicans, nationally, at least, have the same ideas in mind but, perhaps, different ways of achieving them.

The blasting of the candidates, the accusations, and charges remind us of the ballyhoo of the shows on wrestling, years back, at the local fairgrounds. On the platform, a wrestler would flex his muscles, roar, and issue a challenge which would be accepted by a man in overalls in the crowd. Of course, both were traveling with the same show. Some individuals have compared the arguing of the candidates to that of lawyers in court; after the case is over, they go out to lunch together.

Something we have noticed are the complaints of organized labor about what it will do. It will not vote for Frear, for example. There is also the farm bloc. The leaders of the farm and labor blocs would have us believe they control the votes of their constituents. This is far from the truth.

No party catered to these blocs as much as did the Democrats. Nevertheless, Eisenhower and Boggs had no trouble in winning for two terms. The fact is, the Indians vote the way they please, regardless of what the chiefs say.

One thing we have noticed in national elections in recent years: there is always something brought up about what the parties will do for the small businessman. This is promptly forgotten after election.

Some persons say we are drifting toward a socialist state. This cannot be denied. Something must be done for medical aid for the middle-aged and elderly. We would prefer to see that it be paid for by a tax something like Social Security. We know of cases where the savings of a lifetime were wiped out in 15 months by the illness of an individual. And how about those persons who would have to be treated at the cost to the taxpayer?

An item seldom mentioned, if at all, is the welfare problem. It is about time that persons, physically capable, be made to give work in exchange for their welfare payments. It is time that the birth rate of illegitimate children be controlled—by sterilization, if necessary.

If we do not, in our lifetime we will see the grasshoppers ruling the ants.

We have noticed, too, that aside from some candidates for state offices, and all candidates for national offices, the remainder of the candidates have no platform. Yet, we believe the electorate should know the stand of a candidate before it votes for him or her.

The Kennedy-Nixon debates are a step in the right direction. The gubernatorial candidates in Delaware have also had debates. We would like to see the other candidates, in the state, at least those that make policy, involved in these debates. As it is now, the voter can only assume how a candidate will act once he or she gets into office.

We would like to see a primary, in Delaware, for all state and national officials. As it is now, the average voter has practically nothing to say as to whom his candidate will be. The delegates elect these candidates at the party conventions in Delaware. The delegates are elected at the primary. The voter elects the delegate but has no assurance as to what he will do. We favor the direct primary.

In recapitulating, we would say the voter is not getting the respect he should be getting. Partly, it is his own fault. He has to be begged to go to the polls and is more interested in whether the Pirates or the Yankees won the world series than whether Carvel or Rollins becomes governor of Delaware.

The businessman is lax, in politics, too. He doesn't take the part he should because he thinks he is too busy, or that his business will be hurt. If he doesn't participate in politics, or the science of government, he is going to be hurt anyway for we will have a government whereby the capable will be governed by the incapable.

In other words, it is a case of "root hog or lose your tater."

Yours, The Harrington Journal

P.S. We believe no candidate should be listed as pro this and anti that. His platform should be that everybody be treated fairly and impartially.

KENNEDY'S ADDRESS

believe it incumbent upon all of us who bear any position of responsibility that we state the facts. I do not believe our position is at a high, I do not believe our prestige is steadily growing. I do not believe that our strength is relative to the Communists steadily increasing. I believe we have to do better.

It is the great question which you must decide yourselves after looking here in this state and country, and making our own judgement of the stream of events around the world, you must decide. Do you think we are secure? Do you think we are doing enough? Do you think our prestige is higher than it has ever been? Do you feel the balance of power in the world is shifting in our direction? Do you feel that the Communist threat is disappearing? Do you feel our position in Latin America is stronger than a decade ago, or that the balance of power in Africa is moving with us, or that we are meeting the problems of people all around the globe in expressing ourselves with vigor? Are we meeting the problems that we face in this country when we have 50 per cent of our steel capacity unused? When nearly 35 per cent of our brightest boys and girls who graduate from high school never see the inside of a college? When the Soviet Union which, in 1950, was producing half as many scientists and engineers as we are now produce twice as many, and its economic growth is three times ours? And ours is less not only than the Soviet Union, but of France, Germany, Italy.

I believe the United States moves through a difficult time. I believe we can move through it successfully, but I certainly do not believe we can do so if we have leaders who do not tell us the facts, who say, as Demosthenes said 2,000 years ago, to the Athenians, "Our peril comes from those who seek to please us, rather than serve us."

I believe on this occasion we serve the people. Can you possibly say that our power is increasing when you know that next winter and next spring the United States will face a most serious crisis over Berlin, at a time when our strength is not rising in relation to that of the Communists? Do you feel that this administration has solved the problem of unemployment, when we have more people out of work now, this fall, than any time except for the three post-war recessions? Do you feel that your children are going to get jobs when you realize that we have to find 25,000 new jobs a week for the next ten years in order to provide employment for our people?

I believe this country can meet its responsibilities, to its own citizens and those around the world, but I think we are doing to do better than we are doing, and that is the issue. Do you agree? I think you do. I think as Americans you do agree.

This country is, as I said, the hope of freedom, but unless we show vigor, unless we show foresight, unless we are able to develop in the minds of people around the globe an image of ourselves as a society, which is on the move, then it seems to me we have lost a most important struggle. Do you realize that the United States has not had a program in the voice of America in Spanish to Latin America any time in the last eight years except for the three months of the Hungarian crisis? Do you realize that we brought more foreign students to study in the United States ten years ago than we do today?

Do you realize that we got less votes at the United Nations on the admission of Red China than ever before in our history and that in all of Africa only two countries voted with us ten days ago? Mr. Nixon points to the votes at the UN as evidence of our high prestige. Two countries voted with us on the question of the admission of Red China, Liberia and the Union of South Africa. Every other country either voted against us or abstained.

Yesterday the New York Herald Tribune said we had given up hope that Laos would remain an independent country out of the Communist orbit. Mr. Nixon says he is going to spend the next three weeks talking about Quemoy and Matsu. I am delighted to engage him in discussion if it serves a national purpose. But I want him to address himself to the problems in this country, to our problems in Cuba, to our problems in Latin America, to our problems around the world and tell us how he is going. I am interested in engaging in foreign policy debates in order to gain a partisan advantage. But as I said a week ago I say today, those islands are not worth the bones, and I quote Admiral Yarnell, of a single American soldier.

The United States will meet its treaty commitments. I support the position of the President. Mr. Nixon says he does, too. Now, Mr. Nixon, let us talk about some of the real problems that this country faces. How are you going to move this economy ahead and provide employment of our people? How are you going to build the homes which need to be built? How are you going to provide for the implementation of the Supreme Court decision of 1954?

Mr. Nixon sent Senator Goldwater through the South saying he does not mean anything he says on civil rights, and Senator Scott of Pennsylvania through the north assuring the Negroes that he is with them all the way. He gives a commitment to the repeal of the Connally Amendment and then when Senator Goldwater objects he puts forward new reservations. I stand where the Democratic Party has always stood, and I stand to make it very clear that I stand with pride as a Democrat in 1960.

I stand where Franklin Roosevelt stood in 1932, and where Woodrow Wilson stood in 1912, and where Harry Truman stood in 1948. (Applause) I stand there because I believe that after 8 years, after the last eight years, the United States is preparing, I believe, another great movement forward in our history, and I believe as we release our energy as a nation, the Democratic Party, with all of its vitality, with all recognition that it is an old party, I believe in 1960, the Democratic Party fits the needs of our time. We need progress, and I believe that progress is our most important commodity. I think we stood for progress and we stand for it in 1960. (Applause)

So I come here today and ask your help. The Democrats have a majority in the State of Delaware but we have not always carried Delaware. Now, this year, I come up here and ask your assistance in this campaign. I do it not merely because I am the candidate, but because I really believe that this country is worthy of our best efforts. I really believe that we have a chance to serve the United States. I really believe that it is possible for us in the next four years to so indicate our vitality and strength to set before the American people our unfinished business, so that people around the world will once more feel that we are on the move again.

They stand today on the razor edge of decision, trying to decide whether the future belongs to us or to the Communists. I believe it belongs to us. But if it is going to belong to us, if people around the world are going to decide to follow our leadership, we must lead, we must set an example, we must meet our own problems, we must hold out a helping hand to them. That is our opportunity. I cannot believe that given that free choice the American people are going to stand still. I think they are going to move. And I can assure you that if we are successful in this campaign we will give leadership to the country and the United States will move forward again. Thank you.

verse but there the threat died. Bill Porter, in the second quarter, made a last-ditch tackle on the 19 but a play or two later the score was 12-0.

Just before halftime, Middletown recovered another fumble on the home 13 and made the distance to the double stripe on two line plays. A pass made the score 19-0 at intermission.

The Lions came out with a roar for the second half and turned in their best showing of the season. Were it not for a couple of doubtful calls by the arbiters in the second semester, H.H.S. would have outscored the visitors in the second semester.

On the kickoff three Middletown players were needed to block out Pfeiffer, but this fiery competitor bounced to his feet, raced to the other side of the field and assisted on the tackle.

Harrington recovered a fumble and began a scoring drive. Pfeiffer carried five consecutive times to reach the Middletown 22. He then faded to the 35 and rifled a pass down to the right hand corner of the end zone. He could not see Leonard Masten, but he knew that the glue-fingered pass catcher should be there. Masten made a fine catch for the tally.

Trailing 19-6, Pfeiffer started an aerial barrage that soon had the Cavaliers reeling. The quarterback hit Masten for gains of 11, 12 and 27 yards to advance to the Middletown 18. Masten made a diving, circus catch on the last pass. He was shaken up and had to leave the game. The drive fizzled out on the 13. A score would have made it Middletown 19; Harrington 12 or 13 and could possibly have changed the entire complexion of the game.

Late in the game the gents in the striped shirts made a ruling that is still being discussed. Farrow of Middletown was trapped behind the line of scrimmage attempting to pass. While in the arms of a tackler, he threw the ball forward. It hit another Cavalier and fell to the ground apparently an incomplete pass. One of the victors picked up the ball and unheeded ran to the Lion 10-yard line. Despite protests, the play was not called back and Middletown easily scored against the demoralized Harringtonians. Pfeiffer led the locals in rushing with a very fine average of 8.5 which was made on 93 yards gained on 11 carries. He completed 4 passes to Masten for another 97 yards to account for most of the local offense.

Tom (write something nice about me) Layton again was a tower of strength on defense with a team-leading total of 10 tackles. Tim Strohl and Bill Porter were next with 7 each. Jeff Adams had 5 tackles and several times helped knock down a back with fine blocks.

Saturday the Lions travel to Shiloh, Md. for the rubber match with North Dorchester. The Lions won 27-14 in 1958, but lost by 2 touchdowns to 1 in 1959.

The Scientific Exploration of Space

By Dr. John P. Hagen

The United States has embarked on a program for the peaceful uses of outer space. Among the goals in this program is a desire to explore the other nearer parts of the solar system, to determine their true nature, and to investigate the possibility that their use might help to expand and improve our civilization. In carrying out the mission of the NASA, capabilities for immediate improvement of our way of life have come to light. For example, the meteorological satellite has demonstrated the feasibility of making a great improvement in our abilities to gather data about the weather and its structure, and I am sure will, in time, lead to vastly improved long-range weather forecasting. The experiments conducted with the ECHO satellite make it clear that long-distance communications between points on the earth is feasible using space vehicles. As the population of the world increases and as our mode of living becomes more complex, the demands for communications channels will exceed existing capabilities. The possibility of communicating by way of space vehicles comes at an opportune time and can help to solve a problem of great importance to us as a nation and to the world.

Our national program to date has been heavily weighted in the area of the scientific investigation of the nature of the outer part of the earth's atmosphere and the nature of the radiation and particle emission of the sun as it can be seen only from outside the atmosphere. It has been concerned with the magnetic, the electric, and the gravitational fields of the earth and of the energetic particles trapped in these fields. The scientific program has also looked out at other objects in the solar system and the universe and is beginning to make significant contributions in astronomy. This scientific program is designed to give us the background information needed before we embark on deeper penetration of the solar system.

We have also started our preliminary work in preparing to put man into space. Much of the exploratory and scientific work on the moon and planets can be done in vehicles that rely entirely upon automatic devices to obtain and to relay the information back to the investigators. However, as times goes on, man must play a significant role in any exploration or use of the other parts of the solar system. Our first step in this process is to investigate the ability of a man to withstand the stress of living in an orbiting vehicle close to the surface of the earth, yet exposed to all the stresses of life in a space vehicle, such as weightlessness. Our early experimental work will determine the ability of man to function and to observe under these strange conditions and will guide us in a proper use of man at that later time when we have the capability of sending him to the more remote parts of the solar system and safely returning him.

Our active space program began with the International Geographical Year (IGY), with the first launchings of satellites occurring early in 1958. In late 1958 NASA was established and the country embarked on a full-fledged program of space exploration. Since the beginning, 24 satellites and two deep space probes have been successfully launched. The scientific results obtained through this program and in this relatively short time have been reassuringly great. Significant discoveries concerning the nature of the particle radiation in the outer part of the atmosphere, concerning the density variations and concerning the size and shape of the earth, among other things, have been made. It is my purpose to review this situation and to discuss what our next steps in this explorations of space could be.

LUCKY DAD SAMPLES PRIZE BREAD

Ruth McClure of Chula Vista, California, has her Dad eating out of her hand and with good reason. The bread she's feeding him won her the grand prize in Seventeen Magazine's latest annual recipe contest for teen-age cooks.

Ruth added a unique blend of herbs and spices to a basic bread recipe to create her prize-winning Herb Bread. The recipe is especially easy to make, requiring no kneading or shaping; it is also quick-rising. Its savory goodness makes it the ideal bread for those remarkable sandwich combinations that teen-agers go for.

HERB BREAD 1 1/4 cups warm water 2 teaspoons salt 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed 1 1/2 teaspoons fine herbs 2 tablespoons shortening 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 2 tablespoons sugar 1/2 teaspoon ground sage 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add shortening, sugar, salt, herbs, nutmeg, sage and half of the flour. Beat at medium speed on electric mixer for two minutes. Stop heater and scrape sides and bottom of bowl. Beat another minute. Add remaining flour and blend with spoon until smooth. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Beat down with 25 strokes of spoon. Turn batter into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes. Bake at 375° F. 45 to 50 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Brush top of loaf with margarine or butter; do not slice until cold. Makes 1 loaf.

Dr. Hagen joined NASA as chief of the NASA Vanguard Division Oct. 1, 1958, when the Vanguard Project he had headed at the U. S. Naval Research Laboratory was transferred to the new civilian space agency.

Born in Nova Scotia in 1908, he earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree at Boston University in 1929; a Master of Arts degree at Wesleyan University in 1931 and a Doctorate in Astronomy at Georgetown University in 1949.

Dr. Hagen joined the staff of the Naval Research Laboratory in 1935. Much of his research there was directed to improving radar techniques. For his early work in radar, he received a Presidential Certificate of Merit. At NRL, he also helped develop an automatic ground speed indicator for aircraft.

After World War II, he headed NRL's Radio Physics Research Group. This group developed, in 1950, the world's most precise radar telescope—the same one used to discover absorption of hydrogen clouds in our galaxy. Dr. Hagen also led eclipse studies of the sun, both optically and by radio.

In 1954, he supervised a broad program of upper atmosphere and astrophysical research as chief of the U. S. contribution to the International Geophysical year. A former lecturer at Georgetown University, he is a fellow of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the American Astronomical Society, International Astronomical Union, Washington Association of Sciences, International Radio Scientific Union, and Sigma Xi fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Hagen, the former Edith Soderling, have two sons, Peter and E. Christopher. They live in Arlington, Va.

At 10:30 a.m., Fri., Oct. 21, at North East Elementary School, Claymont St. and Todd's Lane, Wilmington, the Science Section of the Delaware State Education Association's annual meeting will feature Dr. Hagen as guest speaker. David R. Snow, President of the Science Teacher's Section of the D.S.E.A., presiding.

Platform guests will include Dr. Peter E. Frankenburg, chairman, Education Committee of the American Chemical Society, Delaware Section; Dr. Carl J. Rees, professor of mathematics at the University of Delaware; Dr. Henry S. Rothrock, assistant to the director of research at E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company; Dr. Sidney Steele, director of public relations department for the former serves as deputy assistant Secretary of Defense in Washington in 1953-54, will introduce the speaker.

TAX ACTION

(Continued from Page 1) ed, the work of preparing assessments on delinquents would not have to wait for the mailing of refunds. Only a few assessments on income taxes have been sent out in the last two months, while the staff was working on refunds. Some refunds were mailed last Friday and more will go out this Friday. Abrahams is also investigating small corporations, often one-man concerns, which have failed to file corporation tax returns. He also said those who have ignored bills for business license fees will be hauled into magistrates' courts.

Felton School News

Playground Improvements

Tile is being placed in a new ditch to carry the water from the stream, which bisects the school property. When this work is completed, the entire low area adjacent to the ditch will be filled and the ground leveled and seeded with grass. This project will permit the use of an additional fourteen acres for playground and athletic field, will protect the health and safety of the pupils, and will add beauty to the school campus.

Enrollment Climbs

Since the opening of school, enrollment has mounted still further. Elementary pupils now number 340, secondary pupils 321. This gives a total of 661 pupils, an increase of 43 pupils or seven per cent over last year's October enrollment.

Teacher Shortage

The Felton Board of School Trustees is seeking two teachers to complete the high school faculty. Vacancies still exist for a high school mathematics teacher and a junior high school English teacher.

Hockey Game

The Felton girls were defeated in their hockey game with Harrington Oct. 13, with a final score of two to one. It was an aggressive game, and the girls were in Harrington's striking circle several times. Barbara Postles acted as captain for this game.

Fifteen other salesmen will receive Curtis achievement certificates for selling more than $30 worth of subscriptions.

The Felton High School Student Council wishes to thank all those who helped to make this campaign a success by buying magazine subscriptions.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Whiting Williams says that the dominating motive of men is "the wish for worth," the longing to feel that they are essential to something or someone. Church attendance does make us feel that we do count for something, that what we do is important—just as the Master said so often, "Are ye not worth more than all of these?"

We find in church attendance our rightful kinship with God, that makes us feel the worth that our Heavenly Father feels for us. You are essential to the program of Trinity Church. It is vital that you take your rightful place in the church pew Sunday morning. No one else can fill the place for you.

Start this Sunday to make church attendance a habit and begin to feel the worth in which your Heavenly Father hold for you.

Sun., Oct. 23, 9:45 — Church School. Classes for all ages. Everyone welcome. William Jester, general superintendent and Virginia Shultie, primary superintendent.

11 o'clock—Divine Worship—The Senior Choir will sing under the direction of Mr. Brobst. The Intermediate Choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin. The Rev. Benjamin will continue the sermon series "Our Faith."

The flowers in the altar vases will be placed there to the glory of God by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilcutts and family in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. George Swain.

6:30—Methodist Youth Fellowship. The M.Y.F. will meet in the chapel room with Mrs. Lorraine Redden, their counselor.

7:30—Evening Vespers. The evening vespers service will be held in the church auditorium. The Junior Choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Mackert. The Rev. Benjamin will bring the message.

The Official Board will meet Monday evening, Oct. 24, for its regular monthly meeting. This meeting will be concerned with many plans for church anniversary and ground-breaking for the new building. All of our officials are urged to be present at this most important meeting of the board.

The choirs will practice on Thursday at the usual time: Intermediate at 6:30; Junior at 7:00, and the Senior Choir at 8 o'clock.

Friday evening, Oct. 28, at 7:30 o'clock, the choir mothers of the Intermediate Choir will hold a hat party in the church annex. Mrs. Norman Talley of Wilmington will be on hand with a large selection of the latest style fall hats. The proceeds from the sale will go into the general fund of the Intermediate choir for their expenses. The public is invited. Come, bring a friend and buy a hat.

H.H.S. Downs Centreville In Cross-Country

By Keith S. Burgess Monday afternoon the Harrington High School cross-country Lions journeyed to Centreville, Md., and defeated the host team, 33-23.

Harry Knotts paced the locals to their fourth win in four starts. Knotts lowered the 2-mile Centreville course record from 12:10 to 11:16. Harry is unbeaten in this area since teammate Dwight Hackett bested him at Milton in 1958. He holds or has held course records at Harrington, Centreville, Easton, Milton and South Dorchester, Md.

The Hackett brothers, Dwight and Clarence, were second and third, easily under the old record, despite losing several seconds when they got lost on the heavily wooded obstacle course. George Pfeiffer, Dennis Bradley and Jeff Adams were 8, 9 and 10 to be the last Lions to figure in the scoring.

Tom Milsap was his best showing to date when he outkicked Cissell of Centreville on the homestretch in a battle for 12h place. Only 10 days ago, Cissell beat Milsap by 34 seconds at Harrington.

The remaining locals all did well especially Allen Wix and Larry Bonniwell. Wix, who normally would run No. 6 for Harrington, has been out of competition for several days with a twisted ankle and is trying to get the injured member back in shape. Bonniwell is the youngest and smallest Lion but bested seven of the 24 starters.

Monday at Killen's Pond, the Lions face their keenest area rival, also unbeaten North Carolina, of Denton, Md. Federalburg and Millsboro will run too in the quadrangular meet. Starting time is 4 P. M.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

Today we have a Christmas gift suggestion for the "woman who has everything." For, we're willing to bet, she doesn't have a bedspread like this one, an authentic reproduction of an early American quilt. In the early days of our country, this pieced design was considered so difficult that only the most expert quilt-makers would attempt it. Now the charming crocheted adaptation can be fashioned, easily and expertly, by any woman who enjoys needlework.

"COUNTY FAIR"
The name of the design is "County Fair," and the pattern draws its inspiration from the morning sun which promised fair weather for the rural festivities. The joyful sun colors are faithfully imitated in a combination of white and tan, a brilliant orange. The bedspread, which measures 70 by 105 inches for a single size, 90 by 105 inches for a double size, is done in squares which are then sewn together. The rays of the sun, once pieced painstakingly with 185 patches, are now fashioned simply with double crochet stitches for a realistic, raised effect. When the entire piece is completed, fringe is added for a pretty final touch.

START TODAY

Begin this bedspread now, and you'll have it completed in plenty of time for Christmas giving. Free directions are yours for just a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Needlework Department of this newspaper. Ask for "County Fair," Leaflet No. A-110. Instructions will be mailed to you promptly.

McDowell Takes Position on Social Security

Congressman Harris B. McDowell, Jr., Democratic candidate for re-election, said this week that his Republican opponent takes no position on Social Security, old-age health insurance, or medical research. McDowell said: "The small group of Republican Party bosses who arranged the nomination of my opponent in the State Republican Convention are not interested in these major domestic issues of the campaign."

Congressman McDowell continued: "The record clearly shows that progress in these fields can be made only with a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress."

"If I am re-elected to Congress I will work for this program:

1. Increased retirement benefits under social security.

2. Action to raise the present $1200 ceiling on what a worker may earn while still drawing social security benefits.

3. Senator Kennedy's old-age health insurance plan, under the Social Security system.

"In the field of medical research, I will vote for increased funds for the National Institutes of Health, for accelerated research on such dread diseases as cancer, heart ailments, and arthritis. All programs of this agency are designed to obtain new medical and scientific knowledge in order to control the major killing and crippling diseases of today.

"Private foundations do much valuable work in medical research, but they do not have enough resources to do the whole job. Medical researchers look to the National Institute of Health for more than one-third of their funds.

"The Republican Administration has consistently reduced funds for this important work, even when the money has been appropriated by Congress. This short-sighted practice will be reversed by a Democratic Administration and Congress."

"The Democratic Party's position on such great issues as Social Security, old-age health insurance, and medical research proves that it is the party that cares about people. These problems do not appear to interest the men who run the Republican party."

ty in Delaware, or their captive candidate for Congress."

Greenwood Youth Killed in Auto Accident

A 16-year-old Greenwood youth was killed and a neighbor injured when their car ran off the road and struck a tree Monday near Bridgeville.

The youth, Edward William Drummond, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Nanticoke Memorial Hospital at Seaford at 3:50 p.m.

According to Dr. John Rawlins, Drummond died of a crushed chest, severe head injuries, and multiple internal injuries.

His neighbor, Ralph J. Dennis, 20, sustained abrasions and lacerations of the head and a shoulder injury. He was released following treatment.

State police at Bridgeville said the victim was traveling south on County Route 583 which is also known as Church Street Extension. The road leads from Bridgeville to Greenwood.

Investigation disclosed the car, driven by Drummond, ran off the right side of the road, continued for some 78 feet and then crashed into a tree. The car, police said, bounced back about a foot.

Police said Drummond's chest bent the steering wheel and his head went through the windshield. Dennis, who was riding up front, also struck his head against the windshield, his shoulder smashing against the dash.

Drummond, police said, quit school about a year ago and was employed in a nearby store. They said they found no evidence of "excessive speed" of the car during their investigation of the accident. At the present time, they were unable to determine why the car ran off the roadway.

T.B. and Health Society to Expand Study of Disease

The Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society plans to expand further into the general field of respiratory diseases in the year ahead.

This was announced by Dr. Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Society.

In 1959 the Society decided to broaden its program to include other respiratory diseases as well as tuberculosis. At the annual meeting last spring, the name of the organization was officially changed from the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society to the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society.

This expansion represented the first basic change in the operational structure of the society since its inception more than a half century ago. The move was preceded by general endorsement from the National Tuberculosis Association as well as legislation by the Delaware General Assembly providing for the treatment of tuberculosis and other chronic pulmonary diseases at the Emily P. Bissell Hospital. Dr. Beatty pointed out that the additional emphasis on other respiratory diseases is practical since control of tuberculosis itself demands a broad field of operations, overlapping in many instances the procedures necessary for the detection and control of other respiratory diseases totally unrelated to TB.

Respiratory diseases as a group are one of the most serious health problems confronting the nation today. They rank fourth as a cause of death. Furthermore, acute respiratory disease are responsible for about 65 per cent of all acute health conditions, according to a recent survey by the U. S. Public Health Service. Chronic respiratory diseases are responsible for millions of chronic illnesses annually.

Skimpy Hog Rations Costs Money

Some hog producers mistakenly try to cut ration costs by skimping on vitamins, minerals and antibiotics, according to extension service livestock specialist, John H. Shropshire, University of Delaware.

This actually cost more money in terms of reduced gains, he said. Skimping on vitamins, minerals and antibiotics is a poor way to save because they cost relatively little whether purchased in a mixed supplement or bought separately in the ration.

ately blended on the farm. Shropshire said soybean meal is a commonly used protein supplement. Although it contains an adequate balance of amino acids, it is low in several vitamins and minerals that hogs need. Adding these items, plus antibiotics, to a mixture of corn and soybean meal will greatly improve the performance of your hogs, he said.

Producers will get poor results if they neglect any needed nu-

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I pay my GI insurance premiums quarterly and usually get a reminder from VA before the premium is due. This quarter I did not get one, and the premium is about due. Should I pay it, or wait until VA send me a reminder notice?

A—By all means pay your GI insurance premium when it falls due. Premium payment is always the policyholder's responsibility, and failure to do so means risking policy lapse. Do not wait for VA reminders. It is the actual premium due date of your policy which should be observed.

Q—A friend of ours is a World War Two veteran whose service-connected disabilities have previously kept him from entering on vocational rehabilitation, but whose condition has lately somewhat improved. Can he still take training or has the deadline for that benefit come and passed?

A—The deadline which until recently would have applied to your friend has been extended. World War Two veterans too seriously disabled to begin rehabilitation earlier now have until 1965 to complete such training.

Q—I am 17 years old, the daughter of a deceased veteran and eligible for a pension under the new pension law. In computing my income for pension purposes must I include money I earn for myself on a job?

A—No. The law says that a child may not have an income of more than $1800 annually. However, money you yourself earn as wages is not counted as income, nor is profit from self-employment.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran and currently unemployed. Does the VA administer the unemployment pay program?

A—No. Unemployment benefits are administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through States. Job-finding, help, consisting of counseling and placement services, is offered by the U. S. Employment Service.

Cover Crops Make Money

Delaware farmers can't afford not to seed cover crops after harvest this fall, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agricultural agent.

Cover crops keep soil in good condition by supplying organic matter that makes soil granular and easy to work. Cover crops fertilize the soil, too.

"It's like money in the bank," Mr. Vapaa said.

A legume cover crop eight to 10 inches high in the spring, will add about 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre, when it's plowed down. This will mean a fertilizer saving of about $12 an acre, two or three times the usual cost of cover crop seed.

Cover crops also take up left-over fertilizer that would be washed away by rain. When plowed down in the spring the plant food will be available for the new crop.

Anything that will grow and make a green cover on the soil over winter is a good cover crop, he says.

Crimson clover is good and should be seeded at 20 to 25 pounds per acre. If mixed with ryegrass, 12 to 15 pounds of crimson clover should be used with 10 to 15 pounds of ryegrass. Used alone, ryegrass should be seeded at 15 to 20 pounds per acre.

Vetch is also a good legume cover crop. It is usually seeded with rye. The rate per acre is about 15 pounds of vetch and five pecks of rye.

Wheat, barley and winter oats are good cover crops and are often used when the farmer has his own seed, Mr. Vapaa says.

Seeding should be 1 1/2 to 2 times that generally used for grain seedings. One advantage of grains as cover crops is that they may also be used for late fall and early spring pasture.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

MANNER OF VOTING

When a voter presents himself for the purpose of voting, the election officer shall ascertain whether his name is upon the register of voters, and if his name appears thereon and is not challenged or a challenge be decided in his favor, one of the election officers to be stationed at the entrance of the voting machine shall announce the name of the voter and permit him to pass through the entrance to the booth of the voting machine for the purpose of casting his vote. Each judge shall then stamp or write the word "VOTED" in the column opposite the name of the voter in the Books of Registered Voters in his possession. No voter shall remain in the voting machine booth longer than three minutes, unless for good and sufficient reason he be granted a longer period of time by the election officers in charge. When the voter has cast his vote the voter shall at once leave the room. If he refuses to leave after a reasonable period he shall be removed by the election officers. No voter after having entered and emerged from the voting machine booth shall be permitted to re-enter the same on any pretext whatever. Only one voter at a time shall be permitted to enter the voting machine booth. Added 49 Del. Laws, Ch. 18, § 1. eff. Mar. 20, 1953.

NUMBER OF PERSONS PERMITTED IN BOOTH AND VOTING ROOM; CONVERSATION IN ELECTION ROOM

Not more than one person shall be permitted to occupy any voting booth at one time. No person shall remain in or occupy a voting booth longer than may be necessary to prepare his ballot and in no event longer than three minutes. No more than one person for each booth in the room, other than the election officers, shall be permitted to enter or be in the election room at any one time, except as in this chapter provided. No voter or person offering to vote shall hold any conversation or communicate with any other person than an election officer while in the election room, except as in this chapter provided.

No election officer, challenger or any other person within the polling place, during the election or counting of ballots, shall electioneer or engage in any political discussion.

CHALLENGERS; APPOINTMENT AND POWERS

Each of the political parties, acting through their respective county committees, may appoint and credit some suitable person as a challenger to stand without the door or entrance of the room in which the election is to be held, and by the side of the passage. If any political party fails to appoint a challenger, the Inspector and Judges shall make such appointment. The challengers shall be changed and their places filled in like manner during the day. The challengers shall be protected in the discharge of their duty by the election officers. The challengers, chosen for any general or special election, shall be peace officers of this State and shall have the same powers for preserving the peace as election officers have.

PERSONS PERMITTED TO STAND WITHIN 30 FEET OF ENTRANCE

One challenger designated by each political party shall be entitled to stand at the side of the passage and near the entrance to the room. No other person shall remain within 30 feet of the entrance except as provided in this chapter.

REMOVAL OR DESTRUCTION OF ELECTION SUPPLIES OR EQUIPMENT OR VOTING MACHINE

Whoever, during the general election—(1) removes or destroys any of the supplies or other conveniences placed in the booths or delivered to the voter for the purpose of enabling him to prepare his ballot; or (2) removes, tears down or defaces the cards printed for the instruction of the voters; or (3) destroys or removes any booth, railing or other conveniences provided for such election; or (4) tampers with, disarranges, defaces or impairs in any manner the use of or destroys any voting machine or the ballots on the face of a voting machine, shall be imprisoned not less than six months nor more than one year.

INDUCING ELECTION OFFICERS TO VIOLATE ELECTION LAWS

Whoever induces or attempts to induce any election officers to violate any of the provisions of this title, whether or not such election officers violate or attempt to violate any such provisions, shall be imprisoned not more than 5 years.

INSTRUCTING VOTERS ON ELECTION DAY

Any voter requesting instruction shall be given such instruction by an election officer with reference to the sample ballots posted in the polling place.

In case any voter, after entering the voting machine booth, shall ask for further instructions concerning the manner of voting, two election officers of opposite political parties shall give such instructions to him; but no person assisting a voter shall in any manner seek to influence his vote. After giving instructions and before such voter shall have registered his vote, the persons assisting him shall retire and such voter shall then register his vote in secret. Added 49 Del. Laws, Ch. 18 § 1, eff. Mar. 20, 1953.

DETERMINATION OF RESIDENCE OF VOTER

In all questions of residence arising under the provisions of Article V of the Constitution of this State, if any person, having resided within this State, actually removes to another place out of this State, with an intention of remaining there for an indefinite time, as a place of present domicile, he shall lose his qualifications of residence within this State, notwithstanding he may entertain a floating intention to return at some future period. The same principle shall be applied to removals from one place to another within this State.

ASSISTANCE TO BLIND OR PHYSICALLY DISABLED VOTERS

Any person who shall be physically unable to operate the voting machine by reason of defective eyesight, or the loss of the use of one or both hands, or inability to walk with safety without assistance, as manifestly renders him or her unable to operate the voting machine, or to reach the polling place alone with safety, shall be permitted to bring with him or her into the election room and booth any elector or two electors, if the nature of the disability manifestly requires more than one, such as a total disability to walk to the polling district for the purpose of rendering the necessary assistance to vote. Fish & Game News

A sportsmen's field day will be sponsored by the Delaware Game and Fish Commission at the Petersburg Conservation and Recreation Center, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 5.

The program will feature outstanding local and national figures in all phases of dog handling, shotgun shooting, archery and various aspects of game management.

The outdoor show is being scheduled a few days before the opening of the upland game and waterfowl seasons to give Delaware outdoorsmen an opportunity to meet informally on a person to person basis individuals who can give them the best advice available on their favorite sport.

The Conservation and Recreation Center is located on the Petersburg Wildlife Area 11 miles southwest of Dover. Visitors are advised to leave Route 113 at Canterbury, proceed to Viola and then follow the road signs to the area.

Beginning at 10 a.m. there will be a demonstration of hunting dog work followed by a variety of exhibits and demonstrations of law enforcement and other game management techniques, wildlife movies, and live animal displays.

At noon the Commission will be host to refreshments for all attending. Warden Bill Wideman is planning the menu and he has advised that some pleasant surprises will be forthcoming.

Promptly at 1 p.m. there will be a shooting clinic. There will be scheduled guided tours of the 2800-acre Petersburg Wildlife Area for those who would be interested in seeing some of the oldest game plantings in Delaware. The field day will conclude with archery demonstrations beginning at 3 p.m.

The entire family is invited. The commission urges persons to come early and enjoy the entire day. There will be no charges or fees of any kind.

or personally contacted the larger taxpayers and property owners and got assurance they would support his program. On the day of the referendum, there were very few dissenting votes. Again no tax increases for man. And yet yesterday he went to Arizona and in the heartland of Senator Goldwater he said he is supporting the Republican ticket from top to bottom, and if there was a single Republican he could not support he would get out of the party. He is in the party. He is in the party and so is Mundt, Curtis, Dirksen and Goldwater, and they are the people with whom we have a very sharp disagreement, a disagreement about the problems of our country, about what must be done if this country is going to remain secure.

I do not run for the office of the Presidency, and I don't come to this community or state and Harrington. The bonds are being paid by the increased revenue the water system is earning."

Listing his other accomplishments, Killen says the one big thing he did for the City of Harrington, and all municipalities in Delaware, was his work on the Municipal Aid Bill, being one of the three original members of a committee to write a bill to give each incorporated city and town a part of the gasoline tax money for aid in building and repairing streets.

The committee, Killen pointed out, received no compensation for its work and, in some places, very little praise. It took more than two years to get the bill passed by the Legislature. Each year, since its passage, the City of Harrington received approximately $25,000 as its share. This is based on the miles of city-maintained streets and population of a community.

Killen's other activities are as follows: Former president of the Lions Club, past president of the Harrington Better Business Club (now the Chamber of Commerce), director of the Kent & Sussex County Fair, Inc., and the Kent & Sussex Racing Association, former director of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, member of Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post No. 7, American Legion, and the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company.

As present state auditor and commissioner of elections, Killen serves as a member of the Permanent Budget Commission, the Board of Pardons, the Board of Post Mortem Examiners, and as a member of an advisory committee, with the governor and insurance commissioner, on state insurance.

He has been in the grain, feed, and farming business 12 years, which business is managed by his brother, Howard Killen.

Killen is a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church and a member of the Executive Council on Budget and Finance for the diocese of Delaware.

house. The Democrats, in spite of all their talk and promises, don't want our state organized. They are old fashioned. They can't understand or are afraid of new ideas. It is one thing for our state to grow old in majesty and with a glowing history of having changed with the times, and it is quite another thing for it to grow old and grow stagnant at the same time. It is sad but true, that the Democrats have fought a very hard battle to maintain a stagnant status quo.

To keep pace with the times, to change to meet changing needs, Delaware must have its antiquated governmental structure radically reorganized. Governor Boggs' New Day for Delaware is a must for Delaware, and the first of the proposed departments to be established must be the Department of Finance. The reasons why are very simple. Delaware is in the red and has no hope of anything but further indebtedness or bankruptcy if we continue with our present structure. There are two ways we can "get out of the red" and achieve solvency. One way is to continue to increase taxes. The other way is to enact such reforms that the tax monies now being paid by you can be spent with a better value in services and products received. We must never give consideration to tax increases as long as your money is being wasted or recklessly spent.

The Republican Platform calls for reforms before taxes. If elected your Auditor, I shall do all in my power to urge those reforms, to see that your tax money is wisely spent and to resist taxation without reforming our government. In other words, I shall dedicate myself to achieving such changes as will give us a 1960 kind of government for the 1960's.

Sweetbread Salad Delight
A salad which combines sweetbreads and fruit is an unusual party dish suggested by Reba Stagg, home economist. Sweetbreads are similar to brains in tenderness and texture and are prepared and served in the same way.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup dairy sour cream
Lettuce cups
2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds
Cover sweetbreads with water. Add lemon juice or vinegar and 1 teaspoon salt. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Drain and remove membrane. Break sweetbreads into pieces and marinate in French dressing for 2 hours in refrigerator.

1 pound sweetbreads
Water to cover
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup French dressing
1 cup diced red apples
3/4 cup green grapes, cut in halves
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 oranges, peeled and sectioned

tor. Remove sweetbreads from marinade and combine with apples, grapes, celery and half of the orange sections. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to sour cream and mix lightly with sweetbread mixture. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with remaining orange sections. Sprinkle with almonds. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.
