

BOSTON FIRM BUYS 3500 ACRES ON BAY EAST OF SMYRNA

Purchase options have been obtained by Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation of Boston, Mass., on approximately 3,500 acres of bay front property between Cedar Swamp and the Smyrna River.

Transactions for the massive purchase rights have been carried on by T. B. O'Toole, Inc., Wilmington real estate firm, over the past seven months and all are virtually complete.

Disposition of the holdings by the construction engineering firm has not been divulged however, it is expected to be another development in the industrial progress of Delaware in the petroleum-chemical field.

Persons familiar with plant location said the most likely use for the area would be for a "tank farm" where petroleum products would be received, stored and shipped by pipeline. A similar operation is planned for another area along Delaware Bay, north of Lewes.

It was pointed out that the bay front area in the southeastern corner of New Castle County has no railroad line, and that rail service is usually considered a must for large industrial plants.

Rail service to the area would require an overpass or underpass to get across the du Pont Parkway. This would cost an estimated $1,000,000.

The Boston engineering firm, whose construction options are nationwide in scope, approached the Wilmington real estate firm to obtain the purchase rights for an undisclosed ultimate holder.

Options has been proceeding quietly in the area resulting in agreement with holders of tiny parcels of ground as well as those who hold large acreage in agricultural use.

Actual landmark bounds of the area which have been optioned are the Delaware Bay, the Smyrna River or Duck Creek and Cedar Swamp and the Taylors Bridge to Flemings Landing Road. The section is locally known as the Deakynville area.

The Wilmington law firm of Richards, Layton and Finger is taking care of the legal aspects of the optioning agreements as representatives of Stone and Webster.

Ground strata study to determine the nature of sub-surface conditions and the water resources in the area are being made for Stone and Webster by the Schulte Engineering and Drilling Company of Woodbury, N. J., whose core test borings will probe to a depth of 2000 feet.

Representatives of the University of Delaware are supervising the geological survey work.

On several previous occasions others have made an attempt to obtain options on acreage in the same general area. However, the program now virtually complete, is reported to be of a substantial nature. It calls for options backed by funds of greater significance than the one dollar binder option fees which characterized past efforts in the area by others interested mostly in speculation rather than in actual development.

Holiday Safety Stressed By Safety Council

Common sense precautions on holiday safety can help make Christmas a time of joy and good will rather than a time of needless tragedy, the Delaware Safety Council declared Monday.

J. H. Tyler McConnell, council president, suggested some precautions to be taken in the use of Christmas trees and tree lights, and Christmas trimmings, and in the selection of toys for children.

The precautions on Christmas trees are designed to guard against letting the tree dry and become a fire hazard. Mr. McConnell suggested these four points on trees and tree lights:

1. Store the tree in a cold place until ready to set it up; then erect it away from radiators and other sources of heat. Never place it so that it will block an exit.

2. Make a fresh cut diagonally in the trunk at least one inch above the original cut, and keep the base in a water-filled container all during the holidays. Don't try to fire-proof your tree with chemicals.

3. Check the wiring of all tree lights for defects and loose sockets and avoid overloading circuits with this added illumination.

4. Turn off the tree lights when no one is in the room, and take the tree down as soon as it begins to shed needles or show signs of dryness.

GRACE ELLIOTT

IFYE Back From Israel

Miss Grace E. Elliott, Delmar, returned home last Friday, Dec. 9, from a six-month stay with farm families in Israel as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, according to James O. Baker, state 4-H Club leader, University of Delaware.

Miss Elliott stayed with farm people who owned their own farms and with others who were part of community operated farms. She worked with the people harvesting a wide variety of crops including olives, citrus crops, small grains, peanuts and livestock and with housewives in farm homes.

In one of her letters she said the people are fine poultrymen. There is a common joke in the country that the Israeli take better care of his chicken house than his home.

Miss Elliott had many opportunities to visit places famous for their religious background.

The IFYE exchange program is a people-to-people program carried on by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Agricultural Extension Service. Funds supporting the program come from 4-H Clubs, civic groups, businesses and private foundations.

Delaware 4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration clubs and the 4-H Links (the Delaware 4-H Adult organization), and the Delaware Farm Bureau, provided funds for Miss Elliott's trip.

Miss Elliott is a graduate of Hood College, Frederick, Md. She has been a 4-H member for 10 years and has received many honors and awards for her outstanding record, Mr. Baker said.

"In order to earn the right to represent 4-H and the United States as a foreign exchange delegate she had to exemplify the highest qualities of citizenship and leadership over the years. She has made an outstanding 4-H record as well as in community life," he said.

Miss Elliott was one of 108 young Americans visiting other countries in 1960. The program began in 1947 when 17 young Americans went to Europe and six Europeans visited farm families in this country.

Zwaanendael Museum Notes

The Christmas tree at the Zwaanendael Museum is in place and trimmed for the Christmas holidays. It is a local evergreen and is decorated with glittering homemade paper ornaments and old tinselled ones which have been presented to the museum or lent especially for this year's display. Sleigh bells tinkle as you enter and holly branches, running cedar and red ribbon bows add to the festive touch in keeping with the season.

A miniature iron fence, dated about 1860, is around the base of the tree and encloses toys that have delighted the hearts of children years ago. Lovely play dishes in a nearby case include a beautiful set decorated with blue and gold bands, recently presented to the museum by Mrs. William L. Hamilton of Rehoboth. They had belonged to Mamie Chandler, Milton, who died in 1881 at 13 years of age. A set of four cups and saucers, Staffordshire ware, c 1800, made by Adams in Tunstall, England, was presented by Mrs. Howard Cooke also of Rehoboth. Mrs. Amelia T. Ayres has lent a dainty porcelain set decorated with floral motifs accented with blue lines. Also included is the lovely Lowestoft tea set which had belonged to Jan Tilghman about 1820 and lent by Mr. Orville H. Peets of Indian River Hundred. Glassware in this part of the exhibit includes a child's condiment set, a salt cup, tall pepper and vinegar cruet which had belonged to Helena V. Maull, who died in 1892, lent by Mrs. Harry M. Maull of Lewes a miniature glass tub in "Block and Star" pattern and a staved pail in "Clam-Broth" glass.

Souvenirs recently brought from Holland by Mrs. Raymond H. Atkins of Lewes comprise the Dutch portion of this annual Christmas display. There are dainty Delft dishes on a wooden rack, jewelry, copies of paintings by famous Dutch artists, post cards and snapshots. Many of the items are from Hoorn, but our Dutch heritage makes anything from Holland an item of interest.

The regular museum visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, 12:30 to 5:30 on Sunday and closed on Mondays. However, the museum will be closed on Christmas and New Year's Day.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I get two benefits: my monthly training allowance, and compensation for a service-connected disability. Am I expected to report either of these when I file my Federal income tax report for 1960?

A—No. Veterans' benefits are tax free. Interest on GI insurance dividends left with VA on deposit, however, should be reported.

Q—Is a disabled veteran taking rehabilitation training allowed time off for days when he can't be in school or on the job?

A—Yes, the law allows such time off. However, trainees must report their classroom or other absences, using the special Certification of Training form for that purpose, and wherever possible, permission to be absent must be requested and approved.

Q—I am a World War One Veteran, eligible for pension under the new law, and I want to know if I have to figure payments from a fire insurance company as part of my income. We had a fire in our house last year and collected on the policy.

A—Fire insurance policy proceeds are not considered as income for pension purposes and you need not count them in applying for VA pension.

Q—I am the son of a peacetime veteran who died of the extraordinary service he was exposed to and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. But I'm not especially interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A—in addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level—technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields and junior colleges.

Christmas Seals Important In Fight Against TB

More than 500 Delawareans with tuberculosis have been rehabilitated through a cooperative program between the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society and the State Vocational Rehabilitation Division.

This was disclosed Thursday by Paul M. Hodgson, executive officer of the division, who cited the importance of Christmas Seal contributions in the tuberculosis program in Delaware.

"The in-hospital training program, available to the patients at the Emily P. Bissell Hospital, continues to play an important part in the vocational rehabilitation of persons who have had tuberculosis," Mr. Hodgson said.

"During the past year alone, 76 patients received some type of training and became satisfactorily employed.

"Christmas Seal funds have assisted greatly in the initiation and continuation of this important phase of the patients' return to a useful, productive life," Mr. Hodgson added.

He pointed out that personal adjustment and vocational training are provided patient in various objectives—cooking, sewing, beauty culture, barbering and woodwork.

Upon recommendation of the medical staff of the hospital, patients are referred to the Division counselor who interviews and counsels with the patients concerning training. A minimum of two hours of training a day is then initiated, and the length of time is gradually increased as the physical condition of the patient improves.

"Many of the patients, upon discharge from the hospital, are also provided with full time vocational training and other rehabilitative devices in order to prepare them for suitable employment," Mr. Hodgson said.

Wool Growers Reminded To Keep Lamb Sales Records

Chairman R. Harry Wilson of the Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee today reminded wool growers who marked lambs this fall of the importance of keeping adequate records of their sales. These records are needed next spring for use in applying for payments under the wool program.

"I want to urge strongly," Mr. Wilson said, "that growers get these fall sales records together now and either keep them in a safe place at home or file them at the county ASC office. Applications for payments on 1960-61 marketings must be filed by the end of next April, and may be filed any time before then."

The chairman added that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records on the length of time they have owned a specific lot of lambs. Lamb payments are made only to producers who have owned lambs 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain on the lambs during the seller's ownership.

The sales record for lambs sold must include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number of liveweight lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn." To encourage the customary practice of selling lambs with the wool on, lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn.

Magnolia

Mrs. Clyde Luton, accompanied by Mrs. Jack White of Magnolia Trailer Court, spent Wednesday in Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ule Kenton recently entertained a group of their daughter Patsy's classmates and friends to a skating party at the rink near Felton with approximately 35 guests present. This was in observance of Patsy's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hart and Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Luton and children, Lori and Skipper, were dinner guests of their aunt, Mrs. Amanda Williams, near Milford, Sunday.

Seems at this stage of the Christmas shopping and other preparations of the Christmas season, that the snow storm and severe cold has taken precedence over the Christmas enthusiasm. It has definitely curtailed travel and shopping.

During weather of this kind one has a constant fear of fire and sickness. Both experiences happened to this community when on Monday the ambulance from Dover Air Force Base answered a call to Magnolia Trailer Court and were hampered in their service by the heavy drifts. Tuesday the Magnolia Fire Company was one of the companies who tried to reach a fire in a trailer at the Whispering Pines Trailer Court but due to the storm they were delayed and as a consequence a family was made homeless.

You have an invitation to bring your child, or children, to the community carol sing and tree lighting on Friday night at 7 o'clock when Santa will be there with a treat for each of the children.

Saturday night you also have an invitation to a pie social in the Fellowship Hall of the church when the MYF will sponsor their annual social as a fund raising project. Come out and help this young group of the church in their effort.

Sunday evening "The Shepherds" a Cantata-Pageant will be given in the Magnolia church under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Roe and music under direction of Mrs. Fletcher Bryan.

Remember your contribution to the needy family to make a happier Christmas for several children of the community. There is a box placed in the vestibule of the church for your donation of either toys or food. If you would like any information on this you may get in touch with either the Rev. Burge or any member of the Methodist Young Adults.

Calendar of Events Seeks Material

The Delaware State Development Department this week warned that the deadline for acceptance of material for inclusion in the initial 1961 edition of the Delaware Calendar of Events is rapidly approaching.

According to the state publicity and promotion agency, notices of late winter and spring events must be received prior to December 19 in order to receive consideration for inclusion in the event calendars scheduled for distribution beginning January 1.

According to David S. Hugg, who compiles and edits the Calendar of Events material, the response to date has been good with notice of approximately 100 events received. However, Mr. Hugg feels that there are still other events of general interest that should be listed and hopes that information concerning these will be made available by the December 19 deadline.

The Calendar of Events and materials extolling the attractions of Delaware are mailed by the Development Department to thousands of out-of-state people who annually inquire concerning the tourist attractions and facilities offered by the First State.

These materials are also distributed through the Delaware Travel Council; at the Information Center, Delaware Memorial Bridge, and at travel information centers throughout the country.

Organizations desiring to list their events in the Winter-Spring edition of the Delaware Calendar of Events are urged to contact Mr. Hugg at the Delaware State Development Department at 45 The Green, Dover, (telephone RE 4-4966).

U. of D. Faculty Receive Grants For Research

Eleven grants totaling $243,242 have been awarded to the University of Delaware for research in chemistry, chemical engineering, geology, physics and education.

Sponsors include the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, the Army Chemical Center Procurement Agency, the National Science Foundation, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the U. S. Air Force and Research Corporation.

The largest single grant is $59,400 to Professor William A. Mosher, chairman of the chemistry department, for a two-year project under the sponsorship of the Army Chemical Center Procurement Agency. Dr. Mosher is studying organic chemical reactions, both old and new, in search of information which will clarify the mechanisms by which chemical changes occur.

The chemistry department also has received four other grants, including $37,802 to assistant Professor Conrad N. Trumbore from the Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Trumbore is investigating the effect of nuclear radiation on a variety of organic substances, a project which may lead to materials of greater resistance to atomic radiation and provide information on how certain chemicals in the body are affected by radiation.

To assistant Professor Robert H. Wood the National Science Foundation has awarded $18,700 for a three-year study of heat changes produced when materials are dissolved or diluted. This project will provide information on the forces which hold chemical substances together.

Grants of one year's duration have been awarded to Associate Professor John C. Wriston Jr., and Assistant Professor James A. Moore in the amounts of $9000 and $8000 respectively.

Dr. Wriston has received money from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Biology and Medicine for the acquisition of equipment to be used in a program of instruction on the use of radioisotopes in the life sciences—bacteriology, biochemistry, physiology and plant biochemistry.

Dr. Moore's exploration of new classes of organic compounds in search of materials with possible physiological activity is being supported by the Army Chemical Procurement Agency.

Dr. Charles E. Birchenall, professor of metallurgy, has received two grants from the U. S. Air Force. The first, covering an 18-month period, is to finance a study of the measurement of rates and mechanisms involved in the oxidation or tarnishing of metals. In addition to $41,000 for this project, he has received $35,000 for the acquisition of an electron Microprobe X-ray analyzer, a device for performing a quantitative chemical analysis on minute volumes of material down to one micron cubes. This equipment will be used to study the distribution of elements in the metal oxidation project.

Another project in the field of metallurgy is being supported by the Research Corporation and directed by assistant Professor Leonard Skolnick. A one-year study, it calls for an investigation of the intermediate phases in the dissolving of solids into liquid metals. It is expected that findings will help to explain the interaction between solids and liquids and also shed light on the strength of solids which are in contact with liquids. The grant is for $4000.

Three projects outside the chemistry and chemical engineering fields are being conducted by Professor Johan J. Groot, chairman of geology and State geologist; Associate Professor Charles B. Cooper, a physicist; and Professor John A. Brown of the School of Education.

Dr. Groot has received $15,240 from the National Science Foundation for a three-year study of fossil pollen and spores. The object of this work is to determine the age and environment of deposition of non-marine sediments of the Atlantic Coastal Plain. Pollen, now, and in the geologic past, is distributed by wind and insects in enormous quantities. Many of these tiny plant microfossils were buried in clays and are well preserved. Fossils of this type as old as 400,000,000 years have been discovered in some deposits.

The National Science Foundation is also the sponsor for the two-year study of an eroding process of artificial satellites being undertaken by Dr. Cooper. The grant is for $13,200.

As an artificial satellite orbits around the earth, one of the problems involved is the slow erosion of the satellite's skin as it passes through the earth's rare atmosphere. This eroding process, called "sputtering," is of practical interest in many other applications such as thermonuclear fusion devices. For this reason, a careful study of "sputtering" is important. A high vacuum mass spectrometer is the principal experimental tool.

A one-year grant of $1900 from the American Association for the Advancement of Science has been awarded to Dr. John A. Brown to study the concept formation and the nature of problem solving in teacher education. The three-fold objectives of this project are to train teachers in what is presently known about how thinking takes place and how this knowledge may be used in teaching; to instruct student teachers in a methods course on the nature of thinking; and to establish a situation in which all students may participate in learning more about the nature of critical, logical thinking.

are administered by Mrs. Ruth E. Seaburg, assistant research administrator, under the direction of Dr. Carl J. Rees, provost and dean of graduate studies.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Wednesday, Dec. 14, 8 p.m., the annual congregational meeting was held at the parish house. A covered dish supper preceded the meeting at 6:45 p.m. The yearly reports were distributed to all those present, with printed statements of the altar guild, the youth group, the church school, the vestry, coffee hostesses, junior choir, music and worship committee, the Women of St. Stephen's, the Men of St. Stephen's, etc.

The congregation extends love and sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson in the death of Mr. Nelson's sister, Mrs. K. R. Hermann of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left Saturday, the 26th for Syracuse and returned to Harrington Wed., the 30th.

Poinsettias are being ordered as memorial flowers for Christmas. Anyone wishing to give a flower as a memorial to make the church more beautiful during the holiday services is asked to notify the Vicar.

The first Cross and Crown awards of the new session of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church School will be announced Sun., Dec. 18. A pupil who attends classes and worship services for 13 consecutive Sunday is entitled to a pin. When he acquires the fourth award, a gold pin, he may work for the wreath to match the pin by attending church school for one whole session, with a few allowances for illness.

Flowers on the altar Advent Sunday were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of Susan Hill Opel by her grandmother, Mrs. John R. Symonds.

Flowers on the altar the 2nd Sunday in Advent were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of their parents, by Mr. and Mrs. George R. Johnson.

Walter Winkler has recently been elected to the vestry to serve for two years.

Mrs. Arthur Williams substituted for Mrs. Walter Winkler, organist at St. Stephen's Sun., Dec. 4. Mrs. Williams played the communion service, Mr. and Mrs. Winkler, John and Billy, visited friends near Albany, N. Y., in the Katskill Mountains.

Members of the youth group who went to Dover last Sunday hoping to her "The Messiah" presented at the high school auditorium were Carol McNally, June Thompson, Charles McNally, Gary Porter, Robert Eastman, Mrs. Robert McNally, Mrs. Clyde Perry, Mrs. Arthur Williams accompanied the group.

Our traditional "Hanging of the Greens" service will be held Friday, Dec. 23 at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in participating in this effort to beautify our church with Christmas greens should wear old clothes and bring a pair of work gloves with him.

Our Christmas Eve communion service will, as per usual, be held Dec. 24, at 11 p.m. Everyone is invited. Both choirs will participate, the procession will be by candlelight and the Vicar will offer greetings in a brief Christmas message.

Christmas Day our usual 9:30 Church School sessions, 8 a.m. Holy Communion service and 7 p.m. Evening service will not be held. There will be two services offered—an 11 a.m. morning prayer service and Holy Communion at 12:15 p.m. for those unable to receive it at the Christmas Eve service.

The vicar, vestry and congregation extend a note of extreme gratitude to Messrs. Leon Porter, G. Robert Quillen, and Thomas E. Clendening, who on Wednesday night completed a term or partial term as members of the vestry. They served during the very difficult and trying days of the building of our church and struggled with the many problems involved in moving into it. For a difficult job done exceedingly well, we salute you and look forward to many more years of equally devoted service.

Asbury Methodist Church News

Church School 10 o'clock, Howard S. Wagner, superintendent. "The greatest Servant", is the theme of the lesson in the adult department. The purpose of this lesson is to show in what ways Jesus was the greatest servant and why we should follow his example. This is one part in the life of our Lord that most of us for convenience sake had rather ignore. It is a part of our selfish unregenerate makeup to want to be served rather than to serve. This adds to our ego, however, our Lord is very clear at this point, if we are to be important in kingdom work, then we are to forget self in kindly concern for the well being of others. What a wonderful world we could have if all of us would be willing to do unto others first what we want them to do unto us.

In the children's department, Santa Claus will visit each child and present him with a gift. The morning worship service 11 o'clock. This total service will be dedicated to the great music of the church for the Christmas season. The Cathedral Choir under the direction of Mrs. William Kramedas, will present the Christmas Cantata, "Wise Men and Shepherds." The organist for the service is Miss Charlott Rapp and the soloist is Mrs. William Kramedas.

A nursery for the children will be provided. The evening worship service at 7:30 o'clock. This will be our traditional candlelight service. The music will be presented by the Chancel Choir, directed by Melvin Brobst and the Crusader Choir, directed by Mrs. William Kramedas.

The Chancel Choir will present: "My Christmas Prayer," by Holton; "From Heaven Above," by Luther, with Lois Larimore as the soloist; "Infant Holy," a Polish Carol with Roger Betts as the soloist; "Carol of the Bells," a Ukrainian carol; "The Song of the Magi," by Holton; "Cantique de Noel," by Adam; "Birthdays of a King," by Neidlinger, with Bonnie Dickerson as the soloist, and "Gloria," by Farmer. The Crusader Choir will present: "It Is Christmas Time," by Barnes; "Silent Night," by Gruber; "Holy, Holy, Holy," by Schubert with Jerri Jarrell and Marianne Clark doing the duet; "On Christmas Eve," by Holton.

During this service the Rev. Shockley, will share with us thoughts on the fact that Christ was and is the light of the world. At the close of the service each person will light his candle in symbol of the Christian's influence as a believer, on the darkness of unbelief that surrounds us and at times threatens to engulf us. This service is open to the public.

If you are new to the community of Harrington or without a church home, we cordially welcome you to the services and activities of Asbury. We would be proud to welcome you to the fellowship of our church and make available to you the ministry and many services of our church.

Asbury is invited to attend the Christmas Eve Service at Trinity Saturday evening, Dec. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

With the weather being so terrible wasn't able to get out for much news this past week. Another thing as Dave always said, "Pat you are a lousy mud and snow driver." I just seem to sit and spin. So I decided walking was better.

But been so lucky on my way out to the track. Mr. Vinyard picked me up one day, then Kenny McNut took me to town. Another day Mr. Knox came along so I climbed in and that was really a break as you could hardly see. He was on his way to see about some of the Cahalls trucks.

Always someone from track restaurant coming in so I was lucky again to ride in with Mr. McNutt.

I'll certainly have to return all these nice favors. Course all the boys are nice out to the track. But in bad weather you really appreciate it.

And this has certainly been the coffee weather. Lucy at our track restaurant said she had sold gallons of it and I'll bet that's so. Good warm place to hang out. Place is crowded. Lucy was supposed to have the horsemen's dinner this week but as weather like it is may be held next week.

Something I thought was rather cute. Dot, Lucy's sister said, there's always a little good in all kinds of weather. (At least they had time to try out the electric potato peeler.

Lucy said she even had to walk to work. Maybe I'm not the only one.

Lelia, did you have to walk up to the newspaper office or did you drive?

Mr. Shockley our blacksmith who has been on the sick list is able to be up and around. Met him this morning in track restaurant reading the Harness Horse. Feels just fair.

While you are sitting around chatting over a cup of coffee you can sit and listen and pick up a lot of news. Always hi Pat, when they come in.

Ford says he has 8 head in training at the present time and this weather that's enough.

Pat Hubbard (one you really can have loads of fun with) for what you kidded me about is water over the dam. That's for sure. Unless you go in and count Pats horses he might tell you he has 40. Pete Loosey is with the Hubbard stable for how long he doesn't know.

The Colleen Acres Stable have 6 head in training. Next week they have a nice colt that I'll have some news on it. They seem very high on it.

Don Sanders who used to take care of "Air Record" for Frank Ervin till they sold her, has joined Del Manges stable.

Tic Wilcutt has moved in 32 head with some turned out. That's one busy place.

See Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Griffith but always we are coming or going out to the track. Just a hand wave.

Stopped in Cahalls and had a few minutes chat with Betty Cain. Took one of the boys in to ask for some cardboard for their tack room. She certainly was nice to them.

For once I was able to have a few minutes chat with Ernest Killen, our feedman. Since he is up in Dover in the Capitol working we don't see too much of him out here at his office at the track.

But he certainly has one modern feed place, good service and prices not too bad.

After Christmas things will start to hum around here. The club house is really a busy place about 25 or 30 cars there every day.

Honestly I had so many horse notes written down but guess I lost them in the storm or somewhere on the road. Lucky I didn't get lost.

I am thrilled to death with my little stud colt (just a natural born trotter) reminds me so much of "Speedster" in his slow easy going ways. Nothing bothers him. Lead him around like a pony. Will be only a year old in January.

Look him for his first trip to the blacksmith shop to get his feet trimmed. Mr. Kephart said he was certainly the most behaved little fellow he had in this fall. Stood like an old timer. Thanks for the Christmas present Kepy.

Guess it was the first time he had ever seen snow. For his little head was in every direction, looking. If Dave were living he would be his dream. Just a natural. They come once in a lifetime.

Hope I don't have the experience I had a few years ago. I put wreaths on each horse door with beautiful red ribbon bows. Of all the horses my own had to eat his up. All you could see was the red drooling from Volo Bohemia's mouth. He sure looked cute. He was the one with me that Carrington ran on the front page I think at Christmas time. Pat and Volo.

Guess you shouldn't get attached to horses. But if ever you should go to Canada, for sure the boys up there love their horses.

Mr. Clukey has a Canadian boy Noel, that was with the Miron stable in Ponce-de-Leon Raceway last winter along with Mr. Dosties' three and several at the main track, reminds you that you are back in French country. I go over to Dosties just to hear them talk and so bashful too. They seem to really like Harrington.

Freddie Parks seems to be the talk here of stables yet to come. One good thing our track sits right in town only a few minutes from anywhere. After Christmas I'll visit the southern tracks as I've been invited to Spring Garden, Seminole, and Ben Whites. Will try to get down to The Van Lenep Track and chat about Speedster. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ervin wanted me to spend Christmas with them. But I don't know yet.

For one thing I can't feature Jimmy Laurent wintering up in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Most of the trainers are buying their own farms. Several are here too. This is such a level place to build a track with no trouble at all.

However, Mr. Walsh at Ben Whites said he had stalls there which was on his line up he sent me. Maybe about January these northern trainers will head south.

They couldn't do much better than here in all ways. I have loads of horse friends in and around Saratoga as we raced there 6 years. Jimmy used to help Dave and I. He certainly has come a long ways since then. Guess I'll call and kid him about staying up there in the mountains. Bet Paul, his father, who was judge up to Blue Bonnets and Richelieu Raceways will go to Orlando.

Will give my car another try. Poor me I don't seem to do any good in snow. So it sets. I'll walk. Next week this will be about "people, places and things," as John Daley says.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

It is really true, many people have to come to church early in order to get the back seats! As a result many people find their church cold because they insist on sitting in 'Z' row. The real tragedy is that many church people insist in taking a 'back seat' in all of the affairs of their church. These good people have no particular quarrel with the church or the preacher; they do not affirm or disavow the great creeds of the church; they are the great host of the church population of whom Jesus said, He would that they be hot or cold; that they take one position or the other. O, how our church today is burdened by this vast host of her people who are merely indifferent to her program, who literally take the back seat in the conducting of Kingdom business.

What the church needs today are people who will "Come forward," stand up and be counted." What is your relationship with your church? Are you content to sit in 'Z' row? Your church is calling you. Trinity Church needs you—come forward next Sunday.

The O.U.R. Class will hold its annual Christmas party and covered dish supper on Saturday evening, 6:30 in the chapel room of the church. Members are asked to bring a covered dish and an inexpensive gift for exchange.

Sunday, Dec. 18, 9:45, Church School, William Jester, general superintendent; Virginia Shultie, Primary supt. Classes for all ages. Everyone welcome. We are indeed pleased with our increase in church school attendance over the past few weeks. Let us keep up the good work.

This Sunday the annual Christmas treat will be given to our church school children in the regular church school hour.

U. of D. to Test Teaching Machines

Within the next several months, University of Delaware faculty and students will test the exciting new theories of "programmed education."

The University has purchased six teaching machines from Feringer & Company, Inc., of Rockville, Md., one of several companies marketing these experimental educational aids. At present, four are assigned to the school of arts and science and one each to the schools of engineering and education.

Acknowledged leader in the field of machine teaching is Harvard psychologist B. F. Skinner who presented his theories to the University of Delaware's deans and directors at a special meeting more than two years ago. Other pioneers in the field are Dr. James G. Holland, also of Harvard, and Norman A. Crowder, a former Air Force psychologist now employed by U. S. Industries' Western Design Division at Santa Barbara, a producer of teaching machines and machine programs.

The new device, which already has proved successful in experimental trials at both high school and college levels, is about the size of a portable typewriter. In the machine are several small windows, one which shows a question, another which permits space for the student's answer. After the student has written his response, a flick of a lever reveals the correct answer and, if successful, the student proceeds to the next question. Most machine programs presently available are designed to stimulate the student to continued achievement through successful responses, each correct answer offering encouragement and leading him at his own pace to the next problem.

Best results in machine teaching thus far have been achieved in basic courses in English, mathematics, foreign languages, logic and spelling. For the professor this means relief from routine instruction in fundamental areas which the student can grasp for himself. For the student, the incentive to master routine material at his own greatest possible speed is the important factor.

Foremost among the problems facing educators at all levels is the lack of course material already developed for such machines. Only a few courses have been adapted for the machines and threaded into them. Development of an effective course is far more demanding than the conventional classroom approach to the same material. It must be done or the chimes stand idle.

The University of Delaware points Harvard, Oebring, Earlham, Hamilton and other forward-looking institutions in testing the merits of this newest educational experiment. It is expected that a number of worthwhile course programs will be developed here.

Dr. G. Bruce Dearing, dean of the school of arts and science, has indicated that programs in spelling and grammar, as a part of Freshman English, already are being developed for Delaware undergraduates under the supervision of Dr. Edward H. Rosenberry, associate professor of English. The department of modern languages, which has enjoyed great success in using tapes and records in its language laboratory, also may develop machine programs. Other course programs will be prepared for the machines by the departments of mathematics and philosophy.

With a critical shortage of teachers facing higher education in the decade ahead, every device that will assist the professor must be utilized. Although teaching machines and their programs are still in the experimental stage, preliminary reports are encouraging. It already has been demonstrated that they enable the classroom teacher to be more productive and efficient by putting aside repetitious and routine responsibilities for more challenging assignments.

Poultry Disposal Pit Fact Sheet

Poultrymen who are considering building a disposal pit can get a how-to-do-it sheet from George Vapaa, Kent County extension agent, by calling RE-6-1448 or stopping at his office.

The publication gives some of the many reasons for having a disposal pit and goes into detail on how to build one.

A disposal pit is a cheap, safe, clean way to dispose of dead chickens, Mr. Vapaa says.

Disposing of dead chickens immediately is an important disease prevention measure. If dead birds are left out where they can be eaten by other chickens, rats, dogs, flies, mosquitoes, or other birds, you will often spread the disease to your neighbor's flock as well as maintaining it in your own.

If you need a disposal pit, stop in and ask for the fact sheet titled, "Poultry Disposal Pit," the agent says.

U. of D. STUDENTS

Our seniors scored higher than 66 per cent of their norm group. Seniors majoring in biology, chemistry, English, economics, physics, psychology and electrical engineering made particularly good showings.

Last year's testing was a preliminary step in the university's projected self-study which will continue for the next three years. The University of Delaware, and all others, must be more concerned than in the past about the certainty, quality and nature of its educational impact upon graduates, Dr. Perkins asserts. He calls for a measurement of the university's students in three major areas.

"First, we want our graduates to have grown in knowledge, especially within a chosen field on concentration such as biology or art."

"Secondly, both through formal courses and curricular requirements and through the especially enriched environment of the campus—lectures, art exhibits, concerts, foreign films—we expect students to emerge as men and women of considerable culture when compared with their backgrounds upon admission."

"Thirdly, we want to graduate people who will be corner-posts in our Democratic society, citizens who have a greater-than-usual sense of responsibility to work for the common good, and who will voluntarily participate in worthwhile and necessary civic activities."

To test and measure our product, Dr. Perkins declares, is exceedingly expensive.

"Only in this way, however," he explains, "can a university be appraised whether its efforts are sufficiently productive and worthwhile. So guided, it can shift about its limited resources from less fruitful activities to more productive ones in order to forward its objectives. This is what we mean to do at the University of Delaware if we can find the research funds to do it."

HOLIDAY SAFETY

dry it is a veritable tinder-box of trouble. When it catches fire, it burns so readily it is virtually impossible to halt the blaze by methods ordinarily available.

1. Greens should be placed away from heat and all possible sources of sparks. Just as with a tree, as soon as they become dry, they should be removed.

2. Look for fire-proof or fire-resistant labels on the decorations you buy. Take advantage of all that the manufacturers have been able to accomplish to make your Christmas a safe one.

3. Never use lighted candles near greens or other possibly flammable decorations, and never set a lighted candle in a window where curtains may blow into the flame.

4. Clean up after Christmas gift opening. A cigarette spark can turn the leftover wrappings into the starting fuel for another Yuletide fire tragedy.

5. If you are having a party or a family get-together, be sure there are plenty of ashtrays conspicuously available; and avoid overcrowding your home with guests.

Terry Receives Honorary Post For Inaugural

Max Terry, Dover attorney, has been appointed honorary chairman of the 1961 State Inaugural Committee.

The committee will handle arrangements for the inauguration of Gov.-elect Elbert N. Carvel on Jan. 17 at noon at Dover.

Details of the plans for the inaugural events were to be discussed Wednesday night at a meeting of the Democratic State Policy Committee. The meeting was canceled because of slippery road conditions. A new date has not been set.

Mr. Terry was appointed by the governor-elect.

The inaugural will include the noon swearing-in ceremony, followed by a reception in Legislative Hall, where light refreshments will be served. These will probably consist of tea, sandwiches and coffee.

There will be an Inaugural Ball in the evening. Both the reception and the ball will be open to the public and no tickets will be required.

Democratic preparations for running the House of Representatives will be made at a caucus of Democratic members to be held Tuesday in Dover. Rep. Sherman W. Tribbitt (D-Odessa) who will be speaker of the House, said new members will have an opportunity to learn about rules and procedures and the Democrats will finish the job of naming their attaches.

Tribbitt said such details as seating arrangements, rules, and legislative procedures will be discussed.

"It's probably the only time we'll get together before the General Assembly convenes next month," Tribbitt said.

The House at a caucus Dec. 5 decided that each of the Democratic members could name two attaches while two would be appointed at large by the legislators of each geographical division—Kent County, Sussex County, rural New Castle County, and Wilmington.

Under agreement reached by the Democrats, Kent County will name one House attorney, the chief clerk, and the reading clerk; Wilmington will name the House Chaplain; rural New Castle will pick the bill clerk, and Sussex County gets the assistant chief clerk and the assistant reading clerk.
