

Democrats to Vote On Committee Members

The Democrats will hold an election tomorrow for committee members with several contests in Kent County. Of particular interest locally will be contests in both election districts of the Ninth Representative District.

The election had been scheduled for last Saturday but was canceled because of bad weather. In the First Election District, George S. Graham, city manager, will oppose William Minner, with Mrs. Kathryn Simpson, incumbent committeewoman, opposing Mrs. Clarence (Eva) Raughey.

In the Second of the Ninth, Harry S. Hanson, former county comptroller, will oppose Maurice Adams. The incumbent, Walter Paskey Jr., has withdrawn from the race.

In other contests, Paynter I. Reynolds and Vinal Kirby will tangle in the First of the Tenth Representative District. In the Fourth Representative District, John Pearson and Irving Garton will attempt to unseat William Edward Robb and Fred M. Williams, and Evelyn Webb and Jeanette Darling will oppose Nellie Craig and Abbie Melton.

In the Second of the First, Walter Handsberry, Kent Coun-

Hearings On Budget To Start

The General Assembly's Joint Finance Committee Monday begins the job of trimming more than $4,000,000 from the proposed $84,179,035 fiscal 1962 state budget.

Chairman Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) plans to open the hearings with witnesses from state administrative offices.

Also scheduled to testify next week is the State Tax Department, headed by Commissioner Alex Abrahams, a Republican. The agency has requested a large increase in its budget to add skilled collection personnel and crack down on tax cheaters.

With estimated revenue for the year set at an optimistic $80,000,000, Hoey has pledged to trim the budget below that figure. This means that agencies will have to absorb cuts of more than $4,000,000.

Their requests already have been trimmed more than $9,000,000 by the Budget Commission. Hoey plans to conduct four days of hearings next week and four the following week. The hearings then will be recessed while the General Assembly meets to conduct some business.

Democratic leaders agreed Tuesday that the Legislature will stand in adjournment during the committee hearings. The Legislature quit Wednesday until Feb. 13.

Last year the budget hearings took 40 days. However, Hoey is hopeful of winding them up within four weeks this year, since many of the agencies were heard in detail last year and their budgets this year reflect little change.

Caouette Funeral In Maine

Mrs. Florence B. Caouette, 74, widow of Walter J. Caouette, died Tuesday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

She was a native of Maine, daughter of the late Nathan and Martha Jane Adams. She had resided in this vicinity for 10 years. Services will be held from the Conley and Fahey Funeral Home, Lewiston, Me., at the convenience of the family.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Edward M. Gray, here; Mrs. Frank C. Valente, Bayside, N. Y.; Mrs. Rudluff Choiney, Portsmouth, N. H.; and Mrs. Jewell Goudreau, Lewiston. Arrangements are by the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home.

Kent County Bond Sales Exceed Quota Higher Goal Set For 1961

Heavy purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds by residents of Kent County made it possible for Delaware to barely reach its quota assigned by the Treasury Department for 1960.

The total sale of Series E & H Bonds in Kent County reached a new high of $1,799,187 for the year which was $289,187 more than its $1,510,000 quota. With the total sales figures showing that Delaware just exceeded its quota of $1,740,000 by $17,309, the success of the program could well be attri-

The voting hours will be from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., it was decided last week at a meeting of the Kent County Democratic Committee. Previously, the hours had been set from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. Voting here will take place at the Fire House.

Jean Martin Wins Junior Miss Contest

Winners of the recent American Junior Miss Contest, sponsored by the Harrington Jaycees, were: 1st place, Miss Jean Martin; 2nd place, Miss Joann Cornish; and 3rd place, Miss Anna Mae Baker. The contest was divided into three parts, modeling sports attire, talent and modeling evening gowns. For talent Miss Martin modeled and described evening gown she had made, Miss Cornish spoke on art of baking and Miss Baker exhibited her talent with the baton. Club President Louis Bowden presented to Miss Martin a $25 savings bond and to Miss Cornish $10. All three winners are now eligible to participate in the state contest, which will be held at Seaford Jan. 31.

Despite the snow and ice, many attended the contest. Judges selected for the occasion were Earl O'Bier, Benjamin Hughes, and Clarence Black. During the intermission Melvin Brobst provided the following entertainment: Miss Sarah Moore, piano; Miss Cathy Masten, violin; Artie Taylor, clarinet; and Donald Wells, trumpet, accompanied by his father at the piano. Mrs. Wroten furnished flowers for the event. Assisting the girls were three Janecees: Mrs. Lobo, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Bowden.

Jaycees participating in this project included Louis Bowden, Dr. Lobo, Bob Quillen, Walt Lang, Norris Wooters, Dave Jones and Ed Webster.

See The First State — First

The advantages and pleasures of vacationing in Delaware will be made known to the estimated 250,000 persons expected to attend the sixth annual Pennsylvania Recreation and Sportsmen's Show at the Farm Show Building, Harrisburg, Feb. 6 thru 11.

Delaware's exhibit at this "Showcase for Outdoor Living" will feature color and black and white photographs of the state's recreation facilities, including its beaches, inland waters, parks and camping areas. Also displayed will be photographs of Delaware's many other interesting places, its museums and historic spots.

Maps and literature, locating and describing the states' many attractions for sportsmen and tourists, will be distributed.

The Delaware display, currently being prepared by David S. Hugg, information officer of the Delaware State Development Department, will occupy 200 square feet opposite the main entrance, and will feature a visual invitation to "See the First State - First in 1961". Mr. Hugg will set up the Delaware display the week-end prior to the opening and will also man the booth through Monday, the opening day.

Mrs. Raymond Coffman, a former Delawarean now residing in the Harrisburg area, will be in charge of the Delaware display from Tuesday through Friday. Representatives of "A Day in Old New Castle" committee are expected to be present one day to help publicize the annual commemoration of New Castle's founding, which this year will be observed on Sat., May 20. Visits from other Delaware groups are also anticipated, according to Mr. Hugg.

GOP Resubmits 'New Day' Bills

Senate Republicans have reintroduced seven reorganization bills which are slated to go nowhere in the 121st General Assembly.

The measures—revised version of New Day for Delaware reform legislation which got sidetracked last year—are generally opposed in the Democratic Party platform.

However, Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) said the bills were reintroduced to honor pledges in the GOP party platform.

Senator Reynolds du Pont (R-Greenville), working from behind a desk piled a foot and a half high with bills, led the six-member Republican minority in reintroducing the legislation.

Most of the bills would merge many existing state commissions and agencies into a Department of Public Works, a Department of Public Safety, and a Department of Finance. Others would create a state civil service program, set sharp limits and penalties for "payola," and require reporting of campaign contributions and expenditures by political candidates.

But while these bills to consolidate state agencies were being introduced, a powerful lineup of senators was sponsoring a bill to create a new commission—a Water Resources Commission.

GOP Senators Walton H. Simpson and William Wilgus, and Democratic Senators Curtis W. Steen, Allen J. Cook, John E. Reilly Sr., and Earl Tull introduced Senate Bill 13 to create a new commission with broad powers to regulate the use of Delaware's water resources from the

Mothers March At Harrington Tues., Jan. 31

The highlight of the 1961 New March of Dimes for the Harrington-Farmington district will be the Mothers March on Polio, Birth Defects, Arthritis and various Rheumatic diseases.

The march will be under the supervision of Mrs. Gladys Hurd, president of the Legion Auxiliary Unit. The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company will herald the beginning of the march by sounding the fire siren and have two pieces of equipment, including the ambulance, tour the city. Members of the American Legion will act as guides to marching mothers. Members of the Legion Junior Auxiliary will also assist.

It is expected that the citizen's porch lights will be burning to welcome the mothers with a contribution.

This will be the 16th campaign that the Callaway-Kemp-Raughey-Tee Post and its Ladies Auxiliary has sponsored the March of Dimes. The committee consists of Earl Sylvester, chairman; J. Leonard Horleman, treasurer; Mrs. Gladys Hurd, and Benjamin Emory.

Advance contributions will be accepted at the First National and Peoples Banks.

CYO Regional 'Get-Together'

When the CYO "get-together" was held last year in Our Lady of Lourdes Hall in Seaford, it was decided to hold the one this year in St. Bernadette's Hall in Harrington. This year's meeting of the teen-agers will be held on Sun., Jan. 29. Invitations have been sent to the CYO moderators in eight parishes in Delaware and to eight more parishes in Maryland. The ones in Delaware include those who go to the Chapel at the Air Base in Dover, Holy Cross Parish in Dover, St. Joseph's in Middletown, St. Edmond's in Rehoboth, St. Michael's in Georgetown, Our Lady of Lourdes in Seaford, and St. John's in Milford. The parishes in Maryland include the Sacred Heart in Chestertown, Our Mother of Sorrows in Centerville, St. Denis in Galena, Sts. Peter and Paul in Easton, St. Mary's in Cambridge, St. Benedict's in Ridgely, the Immaculate Conception in Maryland, and St. Francis deSales in Salisbury.

A three-fold program has been arranged. The first part will begin at 3:00 with the registration of all the guests. An address of welcome will be given by Miss Donna Murphy, the president of the host CYO. His Excellency, the Most Rev. Michael W. Hyle, D.D., Bishop of Wilmington, will address the group at this point. Because of other appointments in Wilmington, his Excellency will not be able to remain for any further portion of the meet-

UP IN SMOKE—These firemen were getting up in the world as they fought a blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winkler on the Frederica road Saturday evening. The picture was taken by Curtis W. Melvin about the time the fire was brought under control by the fire companies from Harrington, Houston, Felton, and Frederica. The local company was on duty for nearly five hours in the near-zero weather.

HABER REINSTATED BY HIGHWAY BOARD

The State Highway Department Wednesday night reinstated Richard A. Haber as chief engineer on the recommendation of its special committee which has been studying the Bove report.

The special six-man committee was also dissolved, at the committee's request. After meeting with Haber and his attorney, Herman C. Brown, during the afternoon, the special committee decided on its recommendation.

There was no indication that Mr. Haber planned to follow through on his reinstatement by resigning as chief engineer. Earlier reports indicated that this move had been suggested to him as a face-saver, but he was said to have turned it down.

Commission chairman J. Gordon Smith was contacted and he called a special meeting of the commission late Wednesday night at Alexander's Restaurant.

Attending were eight commissioners—five of the six members of the special committee plus Mr. Smith, Samuel J. Fox, and Thurman G. Adams. The commission has 12 members in all.

Commission members Dr. J. Draper Brown, Dallas D. Culver, and Robert D. Thompson were not able to attend. Smith was unable to contact the commission's vice chairman, Benjamin F. Shaw II.

In other action the commission also clarified its position concerning a regulation adopted Jan. 11. The regulation concerning employment of persons holding salaried positions or offices with the state was not intended to affect any person now in the employ

HOEY WANTS BOARD TO HEAR HABER'S SIDE

State Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) said Wednesday he'll push in a resolution to force the State Highway Commission to give Chief Engineer Richard A. Haber a "full day in court" if he has to.

"I and my Senate colleagues certainly do not condone any wrongdoing which may have been committed in the department," Hoey, chairman of the powerful Joint Finance Committee, said, "but we want—in fact we demand—that Haber be heard by the commission."

Hoey said he is drafting a statement which he expects all 11 Democratic senators to sign later Wednesday urging the commission to schedule an opportunity for Haber to answer charges of "crimes and moral laxity" in the department.

Haber is on furlough with pay in the wake of Atty.-Gen. Januar D. Bove Jr.'s investigation of the department.

The Democratic senators, who have been quiet up to now, reportedly decided to get into the act when the Highway Commission offered to restore Haber to active duty and then allow him to quietly resign to take the heat off the commission.

The come-back-then-resign offer reportedly originated with the Highway Department's six-man investigating committee.

The committee, headed by Edward Kelly, Dover, met Wednesday afternoon at the conference room in State Police headquarters.

No reply to the offer has been received from Mr. Haber.

"The offer is not acceptable to Mr. Haber," Herman Cabbage Brown, his attorney, said Wed-

$8,000 Loss In House Fire

A fire which started near the chimney of an old three-story farmhouse near here, caused damage estimated at $8,000.

Firemen from four companies fought the blaze at the Walter W. Winkler property for 3 1/2 hours early Saturday evening.

Harrington Fire Chief C. D. Mills said the fire was "very stubborn," made more difficult by a flat metal roof and the 8-degree temperature in which firemen had to work.

Companies from Houston, Frederica, Felton, and Harrington, responded to the alarm.

March of Dimes Contributions Drop Sharply

Is the Harrington-Farmington District Campaign for the 1961 New March of Dimes doomed to failure after being at the top, in Kent County for fifteen years and having an average contribution of fourteen hundred dollars for each of these years? According to Earl Sylvester, chairman of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, sponsors of the 1961 campaign, this will be a fact unless the citizens of this community make their contribution to the First National and Peoples Banks before January 31st, the concluding day of the drive.

The New 1961 March of Dimes campaign for funds for the finish fight against polio, birth defects, arthritis and the various rheumatic diseases is an all-important reminder of the enormous task that remains to be done in this field.

Delaware did not have a single case of polio in 1960, but the unfortunate victims of former years, must have our aid. The inescapable fact is that National Foundation, in addition to its other good works against crippling diseases and care for polio victims, still has the major task of leading the United States to the final true victory over polio itself. This is the main goal of the new March of Dimes campaign, but not the only one. The National Foundation has become, through the air of your contributions, the largest voluntary health organization in the world, capable of achieving incalculable good against crippling diseases of

Firemen Answer
Two Alarms

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Company answered two alarms this week.

At 10:15 p.m., Monday, it extinguished a fire in the car of Helen Camper. The fire, started by a cigarette, did an estimated damage of $150.

At 11:50 a. m. Wednesday, the firemen put out a chimney fire at the residence of the Rev. Thaddeus Hackett. There was no damage.

H.H.S. Alumni To Meet Monday

A general membership meeting of the Harrington High School Alumni Association will be held in the School Cafeteria Monday at 7:30 p. m., to discuss plans for the annual banquet in May.

A proposed revision of the Constitution and by-laws will be presented by that committee for approval.

Senate Approves Bill Creating Judgeships

The State Senate passed and sent to the House four constitutional amendments designed to speed Delaware justice by creating new judgeships.

By a vote of 14 to 1, with two not voting, the Senate approved SB 8 to remove the ceiling of seven now placed on the combined number of judges on the Superior Court and Court of Chancery.

The Senate then adopted three other amendments to bring other sections of the Constitution in line with the first amendment.

Only Senator Leon Donovan (D-Harrington) opposed the amendments, which would clear the way for the General Assembly to add two judges to the five judge Superior Court and one vice chancellor to the two-judge

14th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival Goes To Seaford

Seaford, known as the "Nylon Capital of the World," will this year become the Chicken Capital of the World when it serves as site of this year's Delmarva Chicken Festival and the National Chicken Cooking Contest, it was announced today.

Harrington has been given the nod as Festival site for 1962.

Dates for the '61 Festival will be June 15, 16, and 17, according to James E. Davis of Seaford, president of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., the Peninsula's poultry association that sponsors the festival each year.

Bill Rodney of Salisbury, chairman of this year's Festival Committee, noted that the '61 Festival was once again scheduled as a 3-day event this year after an

Senate Bill Would Aid Correction Board

Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden teamed up with Senator John E. Reilly, Sr. (D-Wilmington) Tuesday to introduce SB 20, a bill to make a supplementary appropriation for the State Board of Corrections.

The bill would provide an additional $87,825 for operations, $50,000 for salaries and wages to accomplish a five-day week for all employees, $8,175 for repairs and replacements, $5,000 for architects and consultants fees for planning a new institution, and $4,000 for office expenses.

Senator Allen J. Cook introduced SB 24 to appropriate $35,000 to pay outdated veterans' claims for World War II and Korea War claims to the Delaware bonus of $15 a month for stateside duty and $20 a month for overseas duty.

Cook said some 300 veterans are affected. They failed to meet the original cutoff date for applications. The General Assembly appropriated $3,000 to get the machinery started last season.

Under terms of the bill, veterans who missed the bonus must apply to the Joint Veterans Claims Committee before next Sept. 1.

The Senate also passed Senate Resolution 19, introduced by Cook, to authorize payment to Joshua M. Twilley, secretary of the Senate in the 120th General Assembly, of $1,332 for preparing, compiling, and indexing the Senate Journal for that legislature.

Cook explained the matter was routine.

Senator Reynolds du Pont (R-Greenville) introduced a bill, SB 21, to exempt the Perth Community and Civic Association, Inc., from real property taxation. He also introduced SB 22, a bill to exempt lands and improvements of the new Women's Club of Claymont from assessment and taxation.

The Senate met at 1:40 p. m. for two minutes, then recessed until 3:40. After passing a series of bills and concurrent resolutions and receiving new bills, the Senate adjourned until Wednesday.

There is some belief the vocational school should be operated by a county board, as is William Henry Comprehensive School of Dover, but the consensus of the Harrington board was: "Let Dover run it."

Burglars who kept at their work despite the release of a tear gas tube robbed a safe of about $200 at Dover Tuesday night.

Dover police said at least two men broke into the Davis Auto Parts Company, Inc., on South Governor's Avenue. When they attempted to "punch" the combination of the safe a tear gas tube mounted inside the safe door was released.

The burglars dragged the heavy safe into a workshop in the rear of the building and ripped off its door. They used tools found on the scene.

The safe cracking was the third in less than two weeks in the Dover area. Two automobile agencies have also been burglarized. Police said the method used Tuesday night was similar to that used when the Schwartz Motor Company, Inc., was hit for $800. The Holden and Mundy automobile company on South Governor's Avenue, a short distance from the Davis firm, was robbed of about $300.

W. G. Davis, a member of Dover City Council, is president of Davis Auto Parts.

The regular meeting of the association had been scheduled for Feb. 3.

The architects are Buchart Associates, York, Pa.

At Wednesday evening's meeting, it was revealed that all members of the Board of Education had candidates for a steering committee, from the school district at large, to aid in selling the public on the idea of a referendum for high-school building. One referendum on the proposal had failed, it was thought, because the public had not been sufficiently enlightened.

Letters will be sent by the Board of Education to the school-district residents asking them if they would be willing to serve on the committee.

In other business Wednesday evening, the board divulged it was working on a booklet on the administrative policy.

It also was polled on its answers to a questionnaire from the Delaware School Boards Association, Dover. The survey is being made to aid in proposed legislation.

Daniel A. Banning

Daniel A. Banning, 44, of near Greenwood, died Thursday, Jan. 19, at his home.

Funeral services were held from the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. William Tull, pastor of the Church of God, officiated. Interment was in Oakley Cemetery, near Greenwood. There was a military funeral service at the cemetery.

Mr. Banning is survived by two brothers, Thomas N. Minquada; Linwood W. Milford, and two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Wiseman, and Mrs. Alice Wiseman, both of Milford.

Mr. Banning was a veteran of World War II and had received the purple heart. He was a graduate of Greenwood High School in the class of 1934.

Herman Legates

Herman Legates, 75, former caretaker of Harrington's Hollywood Cemetery, died Saturday in Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Legates had lived in the Farmington area all his life. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Hurd, Farmington; four brothers, Roland of Felton, John living in New Jersey, Charles of Harrington, and Jerry Legates of Milford; also several nieces and nephews.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Fleischer Funeral Home, Greenwood. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Harrington School Notes

Mrs. Marvel

Debra Theil is absent with chicken pox and Kathy Nelson with virus. We hope they will soon be well.

All of us enjoyed playing in the snow although it was very cold. Some of us had fun with our sleds.

Thursday afternoon it snowed and Harrington didn't have school. The snow plows came and cleared the roads and streets. Friday, Jan. 20, was inauguration day when President Kennedy took office. In the afternoon there was a parade for President Kennedy. After the inauguration Mr. Eisenhower and his wife went to their home in Gettysburg, Pa.

Recently, Mr. Adams and Mr. Feagan gave the Junior and Senior High Schools a lecture about bad behavior in the school.

Such topics were brought up as the throwing of food in the cafeteria, writing on bulletin boards, and littering up the building.

For a few weeks the students will walk through the halls in lines while going to the lunch room.

Now the conduct has improved and the building is looking better.

Jean Martin won 1st prize in the Junior Miss Contest Jan. 20 held by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Century Club. Anna Mae Baker and Jo Ann Cornish also participated. The girls came out in a type of sports clothing for the first part. They had to show one of their talents for the second part. Jean Martin showed her talent in sewing by wearing a gown that she had made. Anna Baker showed her talent in baton twirling and Jo Ann Cornish showed her talent in baking by baking a cake and giving the judges a piece.

All three girls will go to Seaford for the All-State Contest. If one of them wins this contest she will go to a western side for a nicer one.

The Harrington High School was closed Fri., Jan. 20, because of the snow. It was also closed Monday because of a heating problem. School was opened Tues., Jan. 24.

Wed., Jan. 18, the Junior High Girls' Basketball Team beat Greenwood by a score of 33-10. The boys' Junior High Team also beat Greenwood by a score of 35-20.

The high scorer for the girls was Susan McDonald with 14 points. The second highest scorer was Jackie Russum with 9 points.

The high scorers for the boys were Wayne Colison with 8 points and Barry Fry also with 8.

The exams set for Jan. 25, 26, & 27 were not moved back even though two review days were missed. Two days were cut out because of the snow and because of trouble with the heater.

Kent County now has a Kent County Band. Pupils from Milford, Felton, Dover, Caesar Rodney, and Harrington have tried out for it. Two pupils from Harrington School have been accepted—Dwight Hackett, and Carole Wirick.

Services were held in the Boyer Funeral Home yesterday. The Rev. Olin J. Shockley, pastor of Asbury Church, officiated and interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

A Family Fun Night was held at St. Stephen's Parish House, Saturday evening 6:30 to 10 p.m.

After everybody had enjoyed a covered dish supper, the following stunts were given by various church groups or organizations:

Duet of the Lost Sheep, song by younger members of the Sunday School, A Successful Operation, The Human Ford, Movies, Blizzard of 1960, Miss Popularity by Episcopal Young Churchmen, Womanless Wedding by the Men of St. Stephen's, a monthly meeting of the Women of St. Stephen's imitated by the Vestry, musical selections by St. Stephen's Troubadours.

Members of the committee for stunt night thank all those who co-operated so gladly to make the program a decided success, including participants in the between-act musical numbers that added a great deal to the entertainment.

The annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper planned, cooked, and served by the Men of St. Stephen's will be held Feb. 14, 4:30 to 8 p.m. Tickets are available from all men of the parish. The whole community is invited to attend.

The 176th annual convention of the Diocese of Delaware will convene on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 24, and continue through Wednesday afternoon. St. Stephen's will be represented by Robert H. Creadick and G. Robert Quillen, delegate and alternate, respectively.

Ushers last Sunday were Messrs. Thomas Clendening, George Johnson, Earl McColley, Clyde Perry.

The third Sunday after Epiphany, Jan. 22, was also Theological Education Sunday. The offering used exclusively for the support of the Church's eleven seminaries, will, it is hoped, furnish funds for at least one-third the cost of educating each man for the Episcopal priesthood. At St. Stephen's the offering received will be sent to the Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, where the vicar of St. Stephen's, the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., was graduated.

Acolytes who assisted in the services last Sunday were Dennis Bradley, Franklin Fowler, Frank Welch, Walter Rogers, Roy Porter.

Jan. 17, an important meeting of the Del-Mar Migrant Committee of the Council Churches of Delaware and Maryland was held at St. Stephen's Church, Harrington. Among those attending the session were the Rev. Donzel C. Wildey, Baltimore, Executive Secretary of the Maryland Council of Churches; Mrs. Thomas Herlihy Jr., chairman of the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor; the Rev. R. Jervis Cook, Wilmington, Delaware Superintendent of the Wilmington District of the Methodist Church; the Rev. W. F. Dunkle Jr., Wilmington, president of the Delaware State Council of Churches; the Rev. Chad P. Combs, Princess Anne, Md., chairman of the Delaware Migrant Council; the Rev. S. A. Snyder, Westminster, Md., National Council representative; the Rev. Perry O. Hill, Federalburg; the Rev. A. J. Blundon, Oxford, Md.; Charles H. West, Milford; Mrs. Robert McNally, Harrington; the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr., Harrington.

A committee of the Women of St. Stephen's served luncheon to approximately twenty persons attending the meeting.

The 75th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington, Feb. 17.

The vicar, vestry and congregation were saddened during their fun night celebration upon learning of the loss by fire of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Winkler.

Walter is a member of the vestry and Joan is the church treasurer and organist. We of St. Stephen's, together with their many friends in Harrington, stand ready to assist in any way their rebuilding and refurbishing plans. We trust that it will not be long before they are re-established in their home.

Mrs. George P. Jones

Mrs. Ethel Abbott Jones, 66, widow of George P. (Joe) Jones, died Sunday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a 11 day's illness following a heart attack.

Since her husband's death in 1957, she had resided with her son, C. Frank Jones, of Harrington. She was a member of Asbury Methodist Church and its Ever Ready Sunday School Class. She was born near Felton but had lived in this community most of her life.

In addition to her son, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Irene Jones Ranft, Dover; nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held in the Boyer Funeral Home yesterday. The Rev. Olin J. Shockley, pastor of Asbury Church, officiated and interment was in Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Is it necessary that a Korean veteran receive vocational counseling from VA before he begins vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894?

A—Yes. The law requires that disabled veterans desiring training under the vocational rehabilitation act receive this counseling to determine the need for this training to overcome their handicap, and in order to help the veteran in choosing a program best suited to him.

Q—A non-veteran friend and I want to go into business. As a Korean veteran, am I entitled to a GI loan on this partnership business?

A—Yes, if otherwise eligible. But, the amount of the loan on which VA's guaranty is based will be in proportion to your own interest in the loan, and will not cover any portion of the loan constituting the non-veteran's contribution to the business.

Q—As a "peacetime veteran," am I eligible for VA hospitalization?

A—Only under these two conditions: (1) If you were discharged under other than dishonorable conditions for a disability incurred in line of duty, or (2) If you are receiving compensation for a service-connected or service-aggravated disability or disease.

Q—My World War II GI insurance policy, on the endorsement plan, matures soon. May I receive the proceeds of the policy in monthly installments for the rest of my life?

A—No. You may choose one of two payment plans: (1) lump sum, or (2) equal monthly payments ranging from 36 to 240 installments, in multiples of 12.

Alfalfa Weevil Control

Many Delaware farmers have been seeking advice on control of alfalfa weevil during the coming season, according to Dr. Dale F. Bray, extension entomologist with the University of Delaware.

Dr. Bray said that, unfortunately, it's too late now to treat alfalfa fields with Dieldrin, the most effective chemical authorized. Dieldrin could only be applied up until Dec. 1 because of residues. Application after Dec. 1 can result in residues showing up in milk or meat of livestock consuming the treated alfalfa.

The only thing farmers can do now is to wait and make spray treatments after the weevil goes to work on the alfalfa in the spring. Survey work indicates that the weevil population this season will be about the same as last year, Bray said.

Malathion and methoxychlor can be used for spraying weevil. Timing of the spray will be of utmost importance. Applications should be made when feeding by small larvae becomes noticeable but before heavy damage occurs. If the timing is right, within a three-day period, one application will do the job. Application must be at least seven days before cutting however.

Farmers can get the right spray date from "Late News About Insects and Diseases," a news letter published each week during the spray season by the entomology and plant pathology departments. The right spraying time varies radically from locality to locality, Bray said.

To get "Late News" write to your County Agricultural Agent or the department of entomology, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

It's the end of December and the winter stretches out in front of us. January, February, and indecisive March. . . These can be long months, and we sometimes find ourselves thinking—won't Spring ever come? Well, here's an idea that may help hasten it along. Why not crochet yourself some wishful thinking?

FLOWERS AT YOUR FEET

Make these charming shell slippers with the nosegay at the heel. You can't look at them without thinking of Spring. We've tried them in canary yellow with fudge brown sole and lilies of the valley for the nosegay. They're simple to make, with only minor changes for the larger sizes. And you can wear them so many places—shopping, to the beach, on trips with the children; and, of course, comfortably at home.

A PRETTY PRESENT

When your friends and relatives see your pair of shell slippers, I guarantee they'll want some, too. In fact, why not spend free moments during the winter anticipating some of the interest; and make several pairs as gifts. You can change the nosegay to match favorite flowers. Sizes come Small, Medium, and Large. Get your free directions now by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper. Ask for SHELL SLIPPER, No. PC-9512.

University of Delaware Defines Admissions' Policies

Dr. William G. Fletcher, director of admissions and records at the University of Delaware, has issued a statement clarifying several recent changes in the university's admission policies.

In December, 1960, the university announced two changes in its regulations pertaining to the deposit fee which every student is asked to pay upon receiving notification of acceptance. In previous years a fee of $25 was refundable up to June 15. The revised policy calls for a $50 non-refundable fee which must be paid within three weeks of the notification of acceptance by the university. As in the past, the deposit is credited to the student's first semester bill when he enrolls in September.

The advantages of the deposit to the student are the guarantee of a place in the freshman class and dormitory accommodations, if desired. There are also benefits to the university, for the receipt of deposits enables officials to plan with reasonable accuracy for instructors and facilities required to serve the incoming students.

Delaware residents who do not wish to pay the deposit at the time of notification may withdraw their application, but have it reinstated up to the time of the September registration. Withdrawal means the loss of the priority advantages of immediate payment, however.

Dr. Fletcher pointed out that in 1960 about 200 Delaware students withdrew from the university after notification of admission, a number sufficiently large to cause serious problems in plans for staffing and student housing.

"For example, 200 students means seven sections of freshman English which, in turn, involve the services of about two full-time faculty members in English," Dr. Fletcher explained. "We need to provide for academic staffing early in order to assure ourselves of competent personnel. We cannot find such personnel late in the summer should such a situation suddenly confront us nor can we discharge faculty once they have been placed under contract to teach for the coming year.

"Our housing facilities, too, are limited. We must have a firm basis, such as a substantial deposit binder, on which to assign rooms to Delaware admittees.

"It is hardly fair to expect the University of Delaware to serve as an insurance policy for students who are seeking admission to other institutions or bargaining for scholarships elsewhere," Dr. Fletcher said. "We have tried to provide every possible assurance to Delaware residents that students sincerely interested in enrolling here will be accommodated. We cannot, however, deny accommodations to one student while another is awaiting notification from some other institution. Such a student will simply have to take his chances and apply later in the year."

Several years ago the University decided, as a special accommodation to Delaware students to grant them notice of acceptance at the close of the junior year of high school, thus providing early assurance of a place in the freshman class of the following year. The university also has established programs for the early matriculation of superior students and admission with advanced standing to students with outstanding high school records. Delaware high school graduates may apply for admission up to the time of registration in September, Dr. Fletcher emphasized.

Baptist Church News

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a. m. with classes for all ages. This Sunday the lesson in the adult class will be "Why Is Christ Our Authority?"

L. P. Barnette, our association missionary, will be the speaker at our morning worship service this Sunday, which begins at 11 o'clock.

Our pastor was ordained in gospel ministry in the Baptist denomination Friday evening in the Greensboro Baptist Church.

Bible Study and Prayer Services Wednesday evening at 7:30. This week we will begin the study course book, "Soul—Winning Doctrines," by J. Clyde Turner.

Choir practice Friday evening from 8 to 9.

Our Sunday School Convention will be held in the University Baptist Church in Baltimore on Feb. 13-14.

A further word about Baptists, and how they differ from other denominations: Many of the denominations have creeds which are binding on the churches. These creeds are formulated by ecclesiastical councils and become authoritative in the churches. Baptists have no such authoritative doctrinal formula. They recognize no human authority as having the right to frame articles of faith, laws, canons, or rites for the local churches." Baptists have their confessions of faith, setting forth some of the doctrines commonly accepted by them, but these confessions are not binding on any church or individual. The New Testament alone is the creed of Baptists.

What do Baptists believe about other denominations?

Baptists most cheerfully extend to all men the right to believe and practice what they please, as long as they do not interfere with the rights of others or menace the common good. Baptists may endeavor to lead others into the truth as they see it, but they will never try to force any man's conscience or compel him to practice that which he does not believe. Baptists seek to live in Christian fellowship with other denominations but reserve the right to hold their own convictions without compromise. They are ready to co-operate with others in every good work but are opposed to any organic union.

We will not hold services next Sunday evening so that we may attend a special service in the Asbury Methodist Church.

Reese Theatre Notes

Friday evening at Movie Center is rapidly becoming known as "School Night." Being the end of the school week, young folks from all the surrounding schools may be found enjoying the Reese Theatre weekend presentations.

Nothing less than a miracle in pictures is "The 3 World of Gulliver," in color and super-dynamation, the top hit listed for Friday and Saturday, Jan. 27-28. Kerwin Mathews and Jo Morrow are the stars of this top Columbia hit. Robert Clark in "Beyond the Time Barrier," is the entertaining co-feature.

One of the finest hits of the year is scheduled for this Sunday and Monday, Jan. 29-30. 20th Century Fox presents, John Wayne in "North to Alaska," with Ernie Kovaks, Fabian and Stewart Granger. The management at Movie Center heartily recommends "North to Alaska," as the top entertainment hit of the season.

89 Handicapped Men and Women Find Employment

A total of 89 men and women found partial or full-time work in 1960 through the efforts of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

In his annual report, James H. Sears, chairman, said that awareness of the value of handicapped persons on-the-job is growing throughout the state, and that continued efforts should be made to seek jobs for these people.

Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association, Dover Air Force Base, and Joseph Bancroft and Sons were leaders in hiring the handicapped in 1960, Sears pointed out. Many other companies and organizations accepted handicapped employees for the first time last year, he asserted. The full Governor's Committee held ten meetings during 1960 while the Employers Advisory Committee met eighteen times to evaluate persons who were seeking jobs.

Mr. Sears pointed out that each county has an employers advisory committee. New Castle County committee held nine meetings to evaluate 43 people; Kent County, one meeting to screen four people; and Sussex County had 8 meetings to check 26 men and women. A total of 111 representatives of the employers advisory committee sat in on the total of 18 meetings.

During 1960 six new companies were added to the Sussex County Employers Advisory Committee; Bank of Delaware, Seaford; Bunting Nurseries, Inc., Selbyville; Burris Food Distributors, Milford; Frank S. Parker & Company, Millsboro; Mumford Sheet Metal Works, Selbyville; and Parsons Brothers, Seaford.

There were two additions to the New Castle Committee—Wilmington Dry Goods Company and Wilmington General Hospital.

Mr. Sears said that during the year three members of the Governor's Committee were lost through death. They were Dr. Raymond W. Heim, MacSumner Mullin and Mason E. Turner. Two were lost through resignation—James W. Brown and Thomas B. Egan.

Five new members became affiliated with the Governor's committee. They are Elmer F. Cunningham, News-Journal Company; Bryan Field, Delaware Steeplechase and Race Association; Philip F. Guerke, Delaware State Chamber of Commerce; Richard R. Leclair, Delaware Society, Crippled Children and Adults and Dr. A. Vinograd, Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mr. Sears reports that National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week was observed with good response in the state, and the second annual essay writing contest drew 99 entries. The winner was Miss Ann Marie Casey of Padua Academy.

Sessions of the President's Committee and the White House Conference on Children and Youth in Washington; the eighth World Congress, International Society for Welfare of Cripples, in New York, and many other meetings of national scope were attended by the chairman. He was present at a total of 41 meetings and conferences; gave three talks and visited three workshops during the year.

Mr. Sears was acknowledged nationally for his work. He was appointed chairman of the Steering Advisory Board of the President's Employers Committee and a member of the Disabled Veterans Committee of the President's Committee.

In order that Governor Elbert N. Carvel may designate his own officers, Mr. Sears reported that both he and secretary Edward A. Mulrooney had submitted their resignations to Delaware's new chief executive.

Felton Avon Club Notes

Mrs. Leland Price, president, presided at the regular meeting of the Avon Club on Jan. 18. She announced the names of Mrs. Barratt Simpler and Mrs. William Eliason as chairmen of the annual sewing contest. She reminded members of the Board meeting at Dover on Jan. 26. After some discussion it was decided to have a reciprocity program on State Guest Day, March 15.

The program was on legislation with Mrs. Charles Bostick Sr. as chairman, she was assisted by her committee, Mrs. Walter H. Moore, Mrs. Richard Hardy, Mrs. Lower Harrington and Mrs. Leland Price. The guest speaker was Charles Rodriguez of Felton, who is an attorney practicing in Dover and is also United States Commissioner at the Dover Air Force Base. Mr. Rodriguez discussed many items of legislation which will come before our legislators, both state and federal. He also gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Making a Will." A social hour followed this very enjoyable program. Miss Nellie Hughes announced a program on international relations for Feb. 1st, when several foreign students will be on the program.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. George Bringhurst of Viola, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith Jr. of Wilmington, and Mrs. Donald Lynch and children of Selbyville, who spent the weekend.

Thursday evening the Greenwood Kiwanis Club held its Ladies Night at which time also, Lt. Gov. Ellis installed the officers for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hubbard spent Sunday in St. Michaels, Md., visiting Mr. Hubbard's brother and family.

Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith entertained "The Crowd" at a dinner party. Those present were Mrs. Lena Barwick, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ocheltree, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conaway, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Graham, and Mr. and Mrs. James Smith.

Miss Bonnie Yeako was a weekend guest of Miss Ellen Hatfield.

The Greenwood School cafeteria menu for the week of January 23-27 is as follows: Monday: beef stew, mashed potatoes and gravy, tomato juice, hot bread and butter, chocolate pudding, milk. Tuesday: cheese rarebit on toast cubes, buttered stringbeans, celery stick, hot yeast roll and butter, jello, milk. Wednesday: hamburger on roll, tossed salad, buttered corn, and beans, fruit cup, milk. Thursday: oven fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, buttered kale or harvard beets, bread and butter, applesauce, milk. Friday: cream of tomato soup, grilled cheese sandwich, jello and milk.

The Greenwood Lions Club will sponsor the Heart Drive for the Greenwood Area this year. Collection will be made Sunday, Feb. 12.

Cub Scout News

The Cub Scouts of Pack 76 have recently moved into a new headquarters. The new headquarters is a building donated to Harrington by the late Horace Quillen, which recently has been used by the Girl Scouts. Previously the Cub Scout dens have been meeting in the den mother's homes. Now they can meet in a body and pool their resources, projects, and talents. There have been joint meetings with the Girl Scout and Cub Scout leaders discussing arrangements. Extensive work of carpentry, painting and general fixing up has been done. Appreciated donations towards the building and equipment have been made. Naturally there still are increased expenses to be met. Therefore the Cub Scouts have a full program of activities to raise money.

A skating party will be held Tues., Feb. 7, starting at 8 p.m. The Cub Scouts will be selling tickets costing 50 cents.

A bake sale will be held Friday, Feb. 3, starting at 6 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 4, starting at 10 a.m. in front of Taylor's Hardware Store.

Fri., Feb. 27 there will be a Pack meeting at the school cafeteria starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 1, will be a Pack Committee meeting at the home of Mrs. Alvin Thompson starting at 7:30 p.m.

Sun., Feb. 12, the Cub Scouts will worship in a body at the Pilgrim Holiness Church for the 11 a.m. service in observance of Cub Scout Sunday. The William H. Miller will officiate.

Entered as second-class matter August 16, 1946, at the Post Office at Harrington, Delaware, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

TO ALL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS:

This is an era when teenage terrorism has become so common-place that the American public has virtually built up a shock resistance to vicious murders, rapes, assaults, robberies, and, in fact, the entire spectrum of atrocious crimes committed by young people.

I have long felt that the term "juvenile delinquency" is a misnomer since the depredations of young criminals start at home and can more accurately be attributed to "adult delinquency."

Daily I am appalled by news items and reports which come across my desk revealing the disgusting and sordid picture of acts almost too obscene to be attributable to those who are still in the second ten years of their lives.

Last summer, for instance, I read news accounts of five youthful gangsters between the ages of 15 and 18 who committed some of the most barbaric acts imaginable. Like a snarling wolfpack, the gang attacked two families in a park in a midwestern city. Beating both husbands into insensibility with baseball bats, stabbing them with switch-blade knives and robbing them, these vicious thugs then turned upon the two mothers, aged 23 and 27 and both pregnant, ripped their clothes from their bodies and savagely ravished them while the two children of one mother—aged 3 and 1 1/2—watched, weeping and horrified.

This shocking tragedy was compounded by the fact that just 12 hours before, a judge had released two of the attackers who had been arrested and charged with auto tampering. His action was taken despite the vigorous protests of the office of the State's attorney. The probation officer of one of the pair also protested, to no avail. One of the ringleaders was on probation and another of the pack was a parolee from a state reformatory.

Meting out justice firmly, a righteously indignant judge sentenced four of these thugs to two concurrent 65-year sentences, and the fifth was given one 65-year term and one 50-year term. He recommended that they never be paroled.

(Reprinted from the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, January, 1961)

Surely such bestial actions by teenagers, demanding the harsh punishment they rightfully received, could never fall into the category of the lame, almost flowery term "juvenile delinquency."

Yet, there are still among us muddleheaded sentimentalists who would wrap teenage brigands in the protective cocoon of the term "juvenile delinquency" with emphasis upon all of its connotations of youthful prankishness.

There must be a line drawn between the mischievous pranks of young people, which may indeed be called juvenile delinquency, and the depraved deeds of teenage bandits which are nothing less than youthful criminality.

As a representative of law enforcement, I would like to see the term "juvenile delinquency" banished forever from our language as a description for vicious acts. Such teenage gangsterism should be labeled for exactly what it is—"youthful criminality."

Very truly yours,

"Dairymen Urged To Sign"

Dairymen wishing to receive maximum benefits from Delaware's re-vitalized Mastitis Control Program are urged to sign the "Mutual Mastitis Assistance Pact." This is simply an agreement whereby the Department of Poultry and Animal Health supplies continuous technical assistance and advice to dairymen who, in turn, agree to cooperate fully in carrying out the Mastitis control recommendations. This agreement is not binding; either party may terminate the "pact" if the expected results are not obtained and there are no extra fees for this service.

The primary purposes of this agreement are two-fold:

(1) To utilize our limited personnel to the fullest as we are concentrating our efforts on helping only those dairymen that are either in serious difficulties or are sincerely interested in controlling the disease.

(2) To insure a higher degree of success that was not obtainable under our old program of infrequent testing and too much treatment.

Years of experience has taught us that Mastitis problems decrease in herds with well-planned and well-executed control programs.

Heifer Raisers Must Test

In order to maintain a negative or tuberculosis-free status, farmers raising dairy heifers for future sales as dairy replacements must continue testing these young animals for tuberculosis every year just as though it were a dairy herd.

Recently, several men have attempted to obtain interstate health charts on young cattle only to find that their herd had no official status and the animals were not eligible for interstate shipment. So, test your calves and heifers every year for tuberculosis.

Life Saving and Water Safety Course Offered By Extension

The increasing importance of public and private swimming pools in the recreational programs of cities and suburban communities and of boating and water sports in the Delaware-Chesapeake Bay area, has prompted the University of Delaware extension division to offer a course in life saving and water safety this spring.

The 15-week non-credit course is designed for competent swimmers and offers the unique opportunity to those who successfully complete the course to qualify for American Red Cross senior life saving and water safety instructors.

Instructor will be Harry W. Rawstrom, assistant professor of physical education and coach of the Delaware swimming team. The classes will meet on Wednesday evenings beginning Feb. 8 from 7:15 to 10 p.m. in Taylor Pool on the university campus. Enrollment will be limited to 25 students.

Prospective students should be able to swim one quarter-mile or obtain consent of the instructor to register. Cost for the course is $25 and information on registration may be obtained from the extension division office.

If sufficient interest is indicated, it is proposed to offer a related course, "Teaching Swimming and Diving," during the fall term, 1961-62, according to Dr. Gordon C. Godbey, director of university extension.

Bacteria, Mold, And Chicks

An Anderson Air Sampler has been obtained by the Department of Poultry and Animal Health for the purpose of making bacterial and fungal counts in hatcheries. This equipment is expected to be very useful in increasing the quality of chicks produced by our poultry industry.

Farm and Home Week Poultry Program Features Research Results

Elmer Guinea, chairman of the invitational committee, says, "Come to Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware, Feb. 7-9."

The effect of heat stress on chickens is just one of the research topics on this year's Farm and Home Week poultry program, Feb. 7, at the University of Delaware in Newark, according to George Vapaa, county agricultural agent.

Dr. Robert L. Squibb, head of the poultry science department at Rutgers University, and Dr. G. B. Beloff, CIBA Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., will both have topics dealing with heat stress, Mr. Vapaa said.

Dr. Beloff will explain how tranquilizers effect heat stress. Dr. Squibb will discuss recent research on the effect of environmental changes on both growth and egg production. He will also discuss trends in environmental control over birds and how these trends may affect the poultry industry.

Both speakers will be on the morning program along with Frank D'Armi, University of Delaware researcher at the Georgetown Substation division, who will explain his recent work on "How Much Feed and Water Space for Broilers?"

The afternoon poultry session will feature two topics of particular interest to egg producers. Professor Robert C. Baker, Cornell University, will offer some "New Ideas for Selling Eggs," pointing out some of the new egg products being market-tested. He will also describe some of the new handling and packaging procedures that can improve egg sales.

Dr. J. M. Snyder, director of research for the Beacon Milling Company will discuss questions involving "Caged Versus Floor Birds." Dr. John C. Hammond, O. A. Newton Company, is the third speaker. He will explain "The Feed Ingredient Situation for Delmarva" and how variation in feed quality can effect efficiency of broiler production.

All egg and broiler people should attend the Feb. 7 sessions to get the latest research information, Mr. Vapaa said.

The agronomy program on forage production and harvesting will be held on the same day so you may want to attend some of those sessions, too, he added.

There will also be home economics programs in the morning, afternoon and evening, as well as a general session featuring Frank Teuton, U. S. Department of Agriculture, with an entertaining presentation called "Research on Parade." So bring the little woman, Mr. Vapaa suggested.

Vegetable Summary 1960
Fresh Market: Production of four vegetable crops for fresh market in 1960 totaled 403,000 cwt., 13 percent below a year earlier. The combined acreage of these crops was 16 per cent under 1959. These declines were mainly the result of a smaller harvested acreage and production of watermelons, cucumber and tomato production was also down, while the output of cantaloupes showed a significant increase. The price farmers received for each of these crops was less than in 1959. The value of production at $807,000 was nearly 41 per cent below last year.

Processing: The 1960 tonnage of Delaware's vegetables for commercial processing totaled 81,400 tons, up 21 per cent from 1959. The acreage harvested was only slightly above the previous year, but yields of 5 of the 7 crops estimated were higher. Tomato production, at 27,200 tons, was 59 per cent or 10,100 tons above last year. Tomatoes set a new record yield of 16.0 tons per acre. Other crops showing increases were green lima beans—up 47 per cent; snap beans—up 19 per cent; and cucumbers for pickles—up nearly 8 per cent. Partially offsetting were production declines for asparagus—off 5 per cent; sweet corn—off 9 per cent; and green peas—off 4 per cent. The value of production of these processing crops was $5,744,000 compared with $4,614,000 in 1959.

New Castle County Rested
On December 30, 1960, testing was completed in New Castle County, leading to the reaccreditation for tuberculosis and certification for brucellosis. During the twelve month period immediately preceding this date, ninety-two percent of the herds and ninety-nine percent of the cattle were tested for tuberculosis by private and regulatory veterinarians. In making the blood test for brucellosis, ninety-four percent of the herds were tested. As usual, only adult animals were blood tested; the percent of cattle tested was only seventy-four percent. The rate of infection for tuberculosis in the area was only 0.11 per cent which is less than half the national average. On the blood test, 0.22 per cent were reactors. All possible angles of disease spread are being investigated in an attempt to completely eradicate both of these animal diseases.

Nurserymen Battle Misleading Ads For Trees and Shrubs

The Federal Trade Commission plans to crack down heavily on fly-by-night operators selling trees and shrubs and other plants to consumers through false and misleading advertising claims, warns the American Association of Nurserymen.

The association, with the cooperation and approval of the Federal Trade Commission, lists the following safeguards for home owners purchasing plants.

1. Beware of outlandish advertising claims relating to growth, flowering, or fruiting of trees and shrubs. The clue to practically all misleading advertising is heavily exaggerated claims.

2. When advertisements for plants make exaggerated claims, before purchasing, check with established nurserymen, the Better Business Bureau, State Extension Service, State Board of Agriculture, or other reliable sources of information.

3. Question claims of tremendous bargains. This can be done by writing the firm for its retail catalog in which you can check regular prices.

4. If you have any doubt about the age, size, grade, or quality of the plant, before purchasing, write and inquire about it. Established nurserymen will supply this information.

5. Pay particular attention to guarantees. For example, the nature and extent of the guarantee and how it will be honored should be disclosed fully. The advertiser's identity and mailing address should be fully given.

Fly-by-night operators advertising plants usually concentrate on one product a season and push it hard through direct-mail advertising, radio, and large ads in newspapers as an "amazing, new discovery," or a "fabulous value," when it may be nothing more than a very small plant or even a weed.

Every effort is being made by the entire nursery industry to protect the public from unscrupulous operators. Dealing with nurserymen who have long been established is your best guarantee of satisfaction.

Legion Asks Support For Legislative Program

It is desirable and necessary that every member of the American Legion Auxiliary, in fact, every member of a veteran's family whether or not they are affiliated with a veteran's organization, lends support to the Legion's legislative program. It is usually not until it is necessary to apply for a benefit that the average person realizes the true value of the existing laws which in most part were hard fought and won only through the persistent efforts of the American Legion, its Auxiliary and other veteran's organizations. It is when it is brought close to home that one realizes how vital it is for everyone to respond when requested for help to pass a particular bill. However, it is to be hoped that the ensuing information will serve to alert us all before a time of personal necessity.

The big questions at present are what can the veteran expect from the new administration? From the new Veteran's Administration? From the new Bureau of the Budget and from the 87th Congress?

The old administration with the power of the President's veto hanging like the sword of Damocles was notoriously opposed to adding to veteran's benefits, and indeed, it was a struggle to retain those already achieved. Although President Eisenhower was a career military man himself he was certainly not sympathetic. The rule of thumb that was injected in all veteran's legislation was the element of need. When a man has subjected his life and limb in his country's service, our position is that it is not necessary for him to be a pauper in order to gain certain advantages but rather they are his by right. It is noted that immediately following all our successful wars there is a period of public hysteria during which nothing is too good for "our boys" by the people who have safely stayed at home, snug by their own hearthside. Then, in about ten years, the picture changes, and instead of being "our boys" they are treasury robbers. The first real veteran's legislation was fought for and won by the Veterans of the Spanish American War. They set the pattern that has been taken up by the veterans of our more recent wars.

Through the farseeing thoughtfulness of the American Legion World War I Veterans a program was ready for the veterans of World War II before the brief "hysteria" following the war had worn off.

There was a government compensation helpful toward maintaining life for the period of adjustment following discharge; there were GI business loans available; there were GI home loans; there were GI educational programs set up, both academic and vocational as well as many other benefits. The critics of these benefits point to the relatively few who abused their privileges but the overall result was that there was less confusion, less adjustment necessary on the part of the returning veteran from that war than from any previous one. These are some of the things which support of our Legislative program has provided.

We can hope that President Kennedy, a citizen soldier, will more fully realize the meaning of years being taken from a career; the results of war injuries as they affect not only the veteran but his family and the other obligations of a nation such as ours to these men and women. President Kennedy's attitude will be reflected down to the Veteran's Administration, to the Bureau of the Budget and most certainly to Congress which is controlled by a Democratic majority. For the first time in many years we will have one party in control of both the Legislative and the Executive branches of our government. This can prove to be mighty important. For one thing we will not be subjected to the same type of political hassles which have prevailed in the past. For another, there will be one party's door to whom either the credit or the blame will accrue.

Our Congressman from Delaware, Harris McDowell, has in both his previous terms, expressed not only his willingness but his desire to further the cause of the Veteran. He has been described as "one of the veteran's best friends." We are, therefore, in a fortunate position in that our requests will fall on receptive ears in the House.

Our new Senator, Caleb Boggs, a veteran himself, has demonstrated also that he favors beneficial veteran's legislation, both when he was a representative and as Governor of Delaware.

Not personally being familiar with Senator Williams' record I contacted Tom Egan, our Legion Service Officer for this many years past, knowing he has closely followed the legislative picture. He tells me that Senator Williams, being economy minded has expressed himself in opposition many times with regard to expanding veteran's benefits.

Most recently he spoke on the Senate floor in opposition to what has become Public Law 86-211. Fortunately for the widows and orphans affected it was passed despite his opposition.

From this brief analysis of our national legislators it would appear that when we are asked to write requesting a favorable vote on a bill, it is most important that we put it rather strongly to Senator Williams, both from the standpoint of wording and that of numbers of letters. He must know how many of his "home" voters favor it. This, of course, does not mean that we shall not continue to let Congressman McDowell and Senator Boggs know our desires too.

The American Legion 1961 Legislative program includes many resolutions. These are not all, by any means, only for the benefit of the veteran and his family but are based on the idea that it is necessary to keep America strong and to maintain the peace which was so dearly won.

To cite them briefly. There are seven approved under Americanism which includes opposition to the deletion of the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavit; support of denying issuance of passports to Communists; opposition to the weakening of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act and urging the continuation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the Senate Internal Security Committee. These two committees have done much to smoke out the subversive groups among us and show them up for what they really are despite their high sounding names in many cases.

Seven resolutions to do with Child Welfare including continued payment under the Social Security Act for children aged 18 to 21 enrolled in approved schools; provide funds to combat juvenile delinquency; support retroactive payments to date of application under certain section of the Social Security Act and support of Veterans' Children Scholarship Act.

Ten economic resolutions; to modify and extend GI home loan program; oppose any attempt to weaken or reduce veteran's preference rights in Federal employment and provide adequate funds for Veteran's Employment Service.

Internal affairs brought only one resolution, one concerning the enlargement of Arlington National Cemetery. No doubt you know that all honorably discharged veterans are entitled to burial in a National Cemetery provided there is room. For the past several years room has been the problem. For instance, if a veteran in Philadelphia dies, and that is a city of nearly three million people with a proportionate number of veteran, and that veteran requests burial in a National Cemetery, the nearest one available is in New Jersey. This is a deplorable situation and it is fast becoming similarly critical in the largest one of all, Arlington. May this last resolution find favorable response in this 87th Congress.

There are nineteen resolutions having to do with rehabilitation including reopening National Service Life Insurance to World War II and Korean Veterans for one year; opposition to injecting the element of need into the service connected disability compensation program; increasing the rates of disability and death compensation; appropriation of adequate medical and hospital funds for the Veteran's Administration; provide for expansion of Veteran's Administration medical care for the aging and the aged; revision of Public Law 86-211 regarding disability pensions to veterans and death pensions to dependents as well as a $100 monthly pension for Congressional Medal of honor winners.

One under Legislation to provide for the establishment of a standing committee on veteran's affairs in the United States Senate.

Under National Security, 25 resolutions including support of the manned aircraft program; support of the development and production of supersonic nuclear powered aircraft, effective fall-out protection for Americans; the support of programs and necessary funds to assure United States leadership in the conquest of space; perfection of a single supply catalog system; recommended levels of personnel strength in all branches of the armed services and opposition to general staff concept for the armed forces.

Under Foreign Relations twelve resolutions including opposition to foreign court jurisdiction of United States servicemen; renouncing of diplomatic, cultural and trade relations with all countries aiding the Communist conspiracy; retention of the Connally Reservation re World Court matters and support of the Republic of China.

The foregoing gives you a picture of the scope and power of the Legion Legislative program which we are organized for and pledged to support. As calls come through for action on our part for any or all of these which may be drawn up into bills, I trust that each of you may be depended upon to do your part.

Sanitizing Dairy Equipment

Sanitizing dairy equipment is necessary, but sanitizing should only be done to clean equipment and at the proper time, says County Agent George Vapaa.

Sanitizing means killing off the bacterial population that landed on the equipment during storage, or handling prior to use.

None of the sanitizing agents will clean the equipment entirely, Mr. Vapaa warns. The cleaning is done by using proper washing compounds designed for cleaning.

There are three types of sanitizing agents in the chemical field: chlorine, the quaternary ammonium compounds, and the newer iodophors. All of these will do an ideal job if given the chance.

Clean equipment properly and thoroughly, then store it under clean conditions. Dairy equipment should be sanitized just prior to use, and then only, according to the manufacturers directions, he says. Immersion, sloshing or spraying the sanitizing agents are the methods used.

Because the sanitizing compounds are chemicals they require contact for several minutes with the metal, rubber, plastic or glass material to effectively do the job.

Don't rinse the sanitizing agent from the equipment. Drain the utensil or container before placing any milk on, or in, the equipment.

Mr. Vapaa adds that when properly used, at the right time, in the right strength, and on clean equipment, sanitizing agents will provide a better milk supply for consumers, and will not have a

What pictures does the word "winter" bring to your mind? What smells and sounds does it recall? The other evening some friends of mine were over at the house; and someone asked me that. I really couldn't answer. But everyone said try—just close your eyes and say what you see. So I did. "Winter," I said. And then the words popped out. "Apples." "Wind." "Snow." "Fire." "Sweaters."—And when today's design reached my desk I couldn't help remembering that evening. For how warm this sweater looks! How completely it seems to be a part of a winter evening in front of the fire. And what a fine gift it would make for one person in particular!

Trinity Methodist Church News

Don't you love to daydream about the wonderful things you could do if you had a million dollars? The things you could do for yourself, your family, your friends and your church. If only you had a million, wouldn't you have fun making people happy, and wouldn't folks in your Church sit up and take notice of you.

But, have you ever stopped to realize that Christ never gave anyone any money? The riches of the world were for His taking, and His to give away; yet when the poor and hungry came to Him, He didn't give them money, and He rarely gave them food. He gave them love and service, and the greatest gift of all—Himself.

Let's stop wishing for that million dollars! Let's stop day-dreaming of the wonderful things we could give to our loved one, and to our church.

Let us give what we have: our talents, and our time, our energy and our enthusiasm, our love and our lives. And let us offer them without waiting to be asked.

Your church needs you, if you have no church home, Trinity Church needs you. Come and study and worship with us this week.

Sun., Jan. 29—9:45 Sunday School. Classes for everyone. Everyone welcome. William Jester, general superintendent; Virginia Shultie, Primary Supt.

11 o'clock, Morning worship. This Sunday we will observe Methodist Student Day at our Morning Worship Hour. Several of our young people will assist the Rev. Benjamin in the conducting of the worship program and all of our High School students are invited to sit in a body during the service.

The arrangements for the Methodist Student Day Program are being made by Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, the Dover District Sect. of Youth Work and by Mrs. Lewis Slaughter, our local section of the work in the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The flowers and greeters this Sunday are by the Loyal Worker's Bible Class.

6:30—The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet in the chapel room. The Rev. Benjamin will have charge of the program.

7:30—The Evening Vesper Service will be held in the sanctuary. The Rev. Benjamin will preach special music also will be offered by the Intermediate Choir under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin.

The Commission on Membership and Evangelism will meet with Mr. Ellwood Gruwell, chairman, on Monday evening, 7:30 in the chapel room of the church.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference will be held by our District Superintendent, The Rev. Dr. Tawes, Wednesday evening, Feb. 1, 7:30 p.m. Our Woman's Society of Christian Service will hold a covered dish supper at 6:30 on the evening of the conference. All church members and friends are invited to the supper and the quarterly meeting. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish and the needed amount of place settings.

The choirs will practice at their usual time Thursday evening.

Registration For Extension Classes Begins Today

Registration for University of Delaware spring extension classes will be conducted at three locations this week beginning today at Georgetown. Registration may be completed by mail for non-credit courses.

Students in Sussex County may register at the agricultural station, four miles west of Georgetown on Rt. 23. Residents west of Rt. 113 are asked to report at 6:30 p.m., and residents east of Rt. 113 at 7:30.

Dover area residents may register at Dover High School on Thursday, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The final registration will be conducted at Carpenter Field House, Newark, on Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students may register at any location for any of the more than 175 courses offered. A $10 late fee will be charged students who fail to register this week.

Course work through extension may be applied to any of the university's undergraduate, graduate and associate degree programs. Students wishing graduate credit must be enrolled in the graduate school and must register on the graduate extension form.

Late registrations will be accepted until Feb. 18 at the records office on the Newark campus during the day, or in the evenings at P. S. duPont or Dover High Schools.

Extension classes begin next Monday at Georgetown, Dover and Wilmington.

Nursing Graduates Take Instructor Roles At Delaware Hospital

Four recent graduates of the University of Delaware and the Delaware Hospital School of Nursing are serving as instructors in course work offered at the hospital.

The talented and attractive quartet consists of Jean Hastings, Kay Bulger, Winifred Hall and Mrs. Harleen Vickers, all 1960 graduates with the B.S. degree in nursing. A fifth graduate formerly enrolled in the cooperative nursing program offered by the university and the Delaware Hospital is Mrs. James F. Leathrum, who now resides in New Jersey.

Miss Bulger, recipient of the highest average of all nurses in the State of Delaware on her State Board examinations, is serving as an instructor in microbiology. Miss Hastings is teaching chemistry and physics. Miss Hall's subjects are anatomy and physiology and Mrs. Vickers teaches classes in psychology.

The cooperative program in nursing requires three years of academic work at the university, two intervening summers at the Delaware Hospital and a final 15 months of professional training and experience, also at the hospital.

Students who enroll in the nursing program must be high school graduates who have attained the certifying grade of their high school and are recommended by their school. A personal interview and good health record are required.

Desirable age limits for applicants are 17 to 35. Out-of-state students must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Examination Board and this test should be completed, at the latest, in January of the senior year.

In 1955 a fund of $50,000 was established by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society to provide scholarships with stipends up to $750 per year for students enrolled in the program leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. Originally limited to residents of Delaware, the scholarship program has been expanded to include students from adjacent counties in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic merit and financial need and may be renewed if the progress of the student is satisfactory. Continuation of the scholarship program is subject to annual review by the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Scholarship applications should be submitted to Donald P. Hardy, assistant dean of students at the university.

To date, seven students have received their degrees in the cooperative program and 42 are currently enrolled. Applications for admission should be made in duplicate to Dr. William G. Fletcher, director of admissions and records, University of Delaware, Newark, Del., and to Mrs. Alberta M. Trunk, director of nurses and principal of the Delaware Hospital School of Nursing, Wilmington.

Harrington School Safe Robbed of $50

The safe of the Harrington High School was smashed open with crow bar and sledge Saturday night. Thieves obtained $50. Entrance to the school was gained through an unlocked door. State police detectives at Bridgeville said. Damage was confined to the safe.

FRANK TUETON
Farm and Home Week Speaker

Untechnical Research At Farm and Home Week

"Research on Parade" is the name of a fast-moving program for non-scientific people to be presented the first day of Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware, Feb. 7. Mr. Frank Tueton, research information officer with the U. S. Department of Agriculture will make the presentation at a general session meeting at 11:15 a. m.

Tueton will show and demonstrate more than 100 different items—all products of research: Flame-resistant and linen-like cottons, wrinkle resistant wool, stain resistant fabrics, plant-regulating chemicals. He will also give the latest information from U.S.D.A. on new foods, feed, fibers and flowers. Several pretty Delaware girls will assist him with the show and model garments made of new and improved fabrics developed through research.

The program will feature many attractive visual aids plus audience participation and other methods of maintaining interest.

Pilgrim Holiness Church Notes

Sunday School 10 a.m. If you are new in the community or have no church home, you are invited to study the Word of God in our growing Sunday School. Lesson topic this week: "Why Is Christ Our Authority?"

Morning worship service 11 a.m. Young People's Choir will participate in the service. The sermon by the Rev. Miller will be "Are We Living Up to Our Names?"

Pilgrim Youth service 7 p.m. Roland Melvin Jr., will be in charge of the youth service. All young people are given a cordial invitation to participate in these programs geared to the needs of this day.

Evening Evangelistic Service 7:45 p.m. An inspirational service with an evangelistic appeal. Always special songs, good congregational singing of the hymns, and favorite gospel songs.

The Rev. Mark H. Bowman, district superintendent of the Eastern District of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, conducted the mid-week service this past Wednesday evening and later met with the members of the official board of the local church. Among the items of official business that were discussed and transacted, a committee was appointed to study the immediate needs for an educational unit and a parsonage. The members of this committee are: Carlton Goodhand, Homer Sherwood, Sr., Harold Mervine, Jr., and Rev. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mervine Sr. have announced the wedding of their daughter, Joann, to John Robert Collins of Greenwood. The wedding is to take place on Feb. 11 in the local Pilgrim Holiness Church.

National Youth Week, Jan. 29 through Feb. 5, will be observed by our church with various activities including: Youth at Prayer meeting, Youth Visiting, Youth Fellowshiping, and Youth Evangelizing.

Delaware Food Market Report

Once again bad weather makes the headlines and makes smudge pots necessary in most citrus groves in Florida as heavy frost and freezing temperatures hit this growing area. So far it is not known what effect this had on the quality and quantity of oranges, tangerines and grapefruit. Prices, however, are a bit higher this weekend and it is necessary for you to look carefully since some fruit has been damaged in shipment due to near zero temperatures. Also at the fresh vegetable counter, lettuce, spinach and some leafy greens show signs of being partly frozen. When vegetables are wrapped it is necessary to look even more closely since the artificial light in the stores makes it most difficult to see the actual quality of the vegetable inside. Sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes decay rapidly after being frozen. If they are bagged, be sure to use your nose as well as your eyes, since decay is readily smelled.

Cold weather or winter vegetables continue to be the best buys this week. Cabbage is excellent in quality and prices are ranging from 5 to 7 cents a pound. Yellow turnips are reasonable and so are carrots selling for two bags for 19 cents. Other vegetables which are reasonable this week are Brussel Sprouts at 25 cents a pint; endive and escarole 19 cents a head, and tomatoes. These tomatoes are coming from Ohio and are arriving in good to excellent condition. This weekend you can buy vine ripened tomatoes as low as 19 cents a pound. The carton ones are selling two cartons for 29 cents. These prices are almost like summer time.

Remember the ladles full of delicious soup that came out of the steam kettle on the old wood stove in Grandma's kitchen. Well homemade soup is back on the stove again. These soup bones are on sale this weekend for around 20 cents a pound and the other makings are available at fairly reasonable prices. Besides, making vegetable soup is an excellent way to use up many leftovers. When buying your soup bones why not buy some suet for the birds. It is selling for 10 to 15 cents a pound and a pound will go a long way to help feed the birds in this bad weather. All you have to do is put a string through it and tie it to a tree branch or a bush.

As far as meat is concerned, there will be a few steaks on sale, chuck roasts, broiler and fryers and some fresh pork.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Church school 10 o'clock, Howard S. Wagner, superintendent. We invite all out to our Church School to study with us about spiritual things. This quarter we are studying from the Gospel of John and the title of our lesson this week is, "Who is Jesus?" The whole of Christianity, at least for you, depends on the answer that you make to this important question. Is He God, is He man, is He a teacher or is He a medical doctor, pending on your answer to this all important question, is your faith in Christ Jesus? Come and study with us and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we pray that Christ will be revealed to us fully, to be the Saviour that He is.

Morning Worship Service 11 o'clock, conducted by the pastor. Special anthems will be rendered by the Cherub, Cathedral and Crusader choirs. The sermon will be given by the Rev. Shockley.

Evening worship 7:30 o'clock, a quiet period set aside at the close of the Lord's Day for prayer, meditation and fellowship.

This will be our traditional family night service. The whole family is invited and urged to attend in a body. A nursery for small children will be provided. Special music will be provided by our teenage Chancel Choir, directed by Melvin Brobst. The guest speaker will be Dr. Gene Adrian, a former Roman Catholic Jesuit priest, who was brought from Italy to America. The ladies of the Deborah Circle under the direction of Mrs. Carroll Welch, will serve refreshments to all in the Collins Auditorium after the service. The public is cordially invited.

The altar flowers will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Downing in honor of Mrs. Downing's mother and in memory of Mr. Downing's mother.

The friendly greeters will be Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor.

A special trustee election will be held Sunday immediately after the morning worship service at 12 noon.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference will be conducted Tuesday evening, Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. Roy L. Taves, district superintendent of the Dover District, will preside. This meeting is open to all members of the church.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will hold a roast beef supper Saturday evening, Feb. 4, beginning at 4 p.m. The price is $1.35 for adults and 85 cents for children.

Beginning Sunday evening, Feb. 5, and continuing each Sunday evening through Feb. 19, a special temperance study will be conducted at Asbury and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Course In Solid Propellant Rocketry Offered By U. of D. Extension

A seminar on solid propellant rocketry will be sponsored jointly during the spring term by the University of Delaware division of extension and the Delaware section, American Rocket Society.

Dr. Bruce C. Lutz, associate professor of electrical engineering at the university, will moderate the seminar scheduled for Fridays beginning Feb. 17, in room 140, DuPont Hall, at 4:30 p.m., on the Newark campus.

Dr. Lutz has marshalled a team of 11 speakers from industry and the university, all of whom are intimately acquainted with the development and production of solid propellants that are of the greatest importance in modern rocketry.

Registration for the non-credit seminar will be $15 for the series of 12 meetings. Admission, at the door to single lectures will be $1.50. Registration information may be obtained from the office of university extension.

Persons planning to enroll in the seminar should have a competence in mathematics and the physical sciences equivalent to that of a senior undergraduate science or engineering major.

Among the topics to be covered are fundamentals of rocketry, propulsion chemistry, propellant processing, propellant charge design, materials of construction, inert parts design, testing, analytical aspects of rocket design, data acquisition and other propulsion systems.

The seminar will end May 12 with a panel discussion, "Where Do We Go From Here?", a discussion of the challenging problems to be met today in the field of rocketry.

United Nations In Action Offered Through Extension

An opportunity to study closely the United Nations as a forum and provider of world-wide services from a firsthand observer will be offered by the extension division of the University of Delaware this spring in co-operation with the political science department.

"The United Nations in Action," a public lecture series, will be presented by Dr. William J. Bruce, special assistant to the secretary general of the United Nations, Mondays at 7:30 p.m. beginning Feb. 20 at East Hall on the Newark campus.

Resident and extension students may obtain credit for work performed in conjunction with the lecture series through the school of education or the political science department. The public may register for the series on a flat fee or individual lecture basis.

The series of ten weekly lectures, ending May 1, will include the following topics: purposes and objectives of the United Nations, the United Nations family of international organizations, promoting better standards of life in larger freedom, fundamental human rights, filling a sacred trust, the peaceful settlement of disputes, United Nations action with respect to threats to peace, disarmament, the development of the rule of law, and an appraisal of the United Nations in world affairs.

Students registering for credit in education will be required to attend the lectures and take an examination. Political science students will be required to supplement the lecture series with a program of independent study with readings and examinations to be determined by the department. Regular extension rates apply to those students wishing credit for the course.

A native of Portland, Ore., and a graduate of the University of Oregon, Dr. Bruce received his Ph.D. at Stanford University. After a teaching career which included positions at St. Helen's Junior College, Oregon and Stanford, he became principal economist for the U. S. Bureau of the Budget. Later he served as chief of the business enterprises and co-operatives division of the War Relocation Authority.

His United Nations assignments date back to 1945. He has lectured extensively throughout the country on the United Nations. He appeared at the University of Delaware in March, 1960.

Further information on the lecture series and registration procedures may be obtained from the office of university extension. Registration for classes will be conducted next week in areas throughout the state.

kind. It should be supported whole-heartedly in all its undertaking. The local committee is quite disturbed by the fact that one of its major contributing projects of 1960 amounted to $181.20 and in 1961 the total is less than $30 to date. The sponsoring organizations urgently request the citizens of the Harrington-Farming district do everything possible to meet their obligations in this great fight for humanity.

Paul M. Hodgson, assistant State Superintendent in charge of vocational education and secretary to the State Board for Vocational Education, will be the principle speaker at the membership meeting of the Delaware School Custodians' Association in the Dover High School, Dover, Sat., Jan. 28, at 1:30 in the afternoon. Earl Tate, president of the DSCA, said Mr. Hodgson will at that time introduce Dr. John S. Carpenter, who is the newly appointed Director of Trades and Industrial program for the Board of Education in Delaware.

Also at this meeting Saturday will be Frank M. Forstburg, State Supervisor of Trades and Industries in charge of for man training, Charles Harris, secretary of the Delaware School Education Association, and Mr. Harris' assistant, Ted Pidus.

The meeting has been called to review and project the basic aims of the DSCA, while at the same time introducing Mr. Hodgson and Dr. Carpenter to the Delaware School custodians, most of whom have not as yet met either of the two men.

Court of Chancery.

Donovan explained that the legislative process—which took only three days from introduction to final passage—was too quick for him to understand the bills.

Senator Harry E. Mayhew (D-Milford) said he would confer with House leaders in an attempt to press for prompt action by the House. If the House passes the bills by the required two-thirds vote, they will become law.

Senator Walton H. Simpson (R-Camden) put Superior Court President Judge Charles L. Terry Jr., on record as opposing any need for more than three judges.

In other action, the Senate passed: S. Con. Res. 6—By Mr. Steen. Providing for the adjournment of the General Assembly until Feb. 15.

SB 21—By Mr. Cook. Electing J. Paul Pepper clerk to the minority leader, Helen Looney secretary to the minority leader, and G. Francis Downs a sergeant-at-arms.

SB 22—By Mr. Cook. To authorize payment of $1,125 to Clifford E. Hall, accountant of the Joint Finance Committee, for services rendered in the 120th General Assembly.

Bills introduced: SB 26—By Mrs. Manning. A bill to authorize an appropriation of $85,000 for construction of flood control measures along Little Mill Creek in Christians Hundred from Route 2 to South du Pont Road.

SB 27—By Mr. Reilly. To appropriate $415,38 to the State Board of Corrections for payment of a workmen's compensation premium not paid through "unforeseen circumstances."

SB 28—By Mr. Steen. To appropriate $60,000 to the State Highway Department for construction of a dam, water control structures, and highway drainage structures at Portville Pond in Sussex County.

SB 29—By Mr. Steen. To increase the penalty for motorists failing to obey a police officer's signal to stop or endangering the operation of a police vehicle. The bill would provide a first offense fine of up to $1,000 of up to six months in jail. Each subsequent offense would bring up to $2,000 and 18 months in jail.

SB 30—By Mr. Reilly. Exempting earnings of $85 a month and 60 percent of earnings over $85 a month from a blind person's income for purposes of computing state public assistance payments. Also limit payments to $60 a month or less.

ing. After the Bishop's address, panel discussions will be held and will deal with subjects suggested by the teen-agers themselves. Reports of these discussions will then be given by the various panel leaders. A full hour will be allowed for these reports and for any further discussion that may be elicited by these reports.

The second part of the program will be the religious portion and will consist in the recitation of the Rosary, led by the Rev. Charles J. McGinley and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The celebrant at Benediction will be the Rev. Alex F. Gorski, the Diocesan Director of the C.Y.O. He will be assisted by the Rev. Leo F. Montgomery as the Deacon and the Rev. Howard T. Clark as the sub-Deacon. This portion of the program will be held in St. Bernadette's Church.

The final portion of the program will consist in a buffet supper followed by dancing to the music of an orchestra.

Guard to Graduate Officers in July

Delaware's National Guard Academy will graduate its fifth officer candidate class next July during the annual summer encampment period at Bethany Beach.

Thirteen cadets are expected to become second lieutenants during graduation ceremonies between the first and second week of the 15-day training span, according to Major General Joseph J. Scannell, Delaware adjutant general.

Forty-nine officers have received commissions since the Academy was founded in 1956.

"The Academy has definitely improved the calibre of the officers in the Delaware National Guard," said General Scannell. "Ours is one of 46 state officer candidate schools, most of them established within the past four years. Nationally, the schools have greatly increased the effectiveness of the Guard's junior officers."

The training period for the cadet parallels that of the officer candidate school of the regular Army, according to Major Michael F. Riley, academy commandant. Accepted applicants begin their training during a two-week summer period of active duty. This is the first of three phases.

After satisfactory completion of summer training phase, the cadet begins an 18-day program of classroom instruction, which is given on nine weekend during the year, in the academy building at the New Castle County Airport. The cadet reports to the Academy at 7:30 A. M. on Saturday morning. From the reporting time until 5 p.m. on Saturday, he undergoes inspection, physical training, participates in drills and ceremonies, has classroom instruction, sits in on conference periods, attends church, eats in the Officers' Club and studies. Each man is assigned sleeping quarters at the academy for Saturday night.

Major Riley points out in describing the progress of a Delaware Academy cadet that the time devoted to becoming an officer is his own, and he must also attend the regularly scheduled drills of his own unit.

"From the first two-week summer encampment," explained Major Riley, "the cadet fills the role of an officer. In his own unit, he is called upon to act as a leader and teachclasses. He wears cadet rank insignia instead of his actual rank. He is continually evaluated by his unit commander and other officers."

After graduation, the new officer can choose any of the four branches of service found in the Delaware National Guard, Artillery, Medical Service, Transportation and Ordnance.

All examinations taken by the student are prepared and graded by the Army at Ft. Benning, Ga., where the Army's largest OCS is located.

Major Riley said future plans of the Academy call for the expansion to include special courses for present officers and non-commissioned officers.

Delaware Turkey Growers to Up Production

If plans of Delaware turkey growers materialize, more Delaware-grown turkeys will grace the Nation's tables on Thanksgiving, Christmas and other festive occasions in 1961 than ever before in history, advises the Delaware State Development Department.

Basing its predictions on a survey made recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the state information and promotion agency advises that as many as 287,000 turkeys will likely be raised in Delaware this year or at least that is the intention of the state's turkey growers as made known to the U.S.D.A.

Inasmuch as Delaware farms produced an estimated 244,000 turkeys in 1960, an 18 per cent increase in turkey production for 1961 is indicated.

According to the U.S.D.A. survey, Delaware growers in 1961 will again give priority to lighter breeds, the so-called "apartment birds", that are popular with smaller families.

For 1961, the state's turkey growers plan to raise 194,000 of the lighter bird, as compared with the 155,000 sent to market last year, and 93,000 of a heavier bird, as compared with the 85,000 "Big Toms" raised on Delaware farms in 1960, notes the Development Department.

designed to place the Democratic party on trial.

The 11 Democratic Senators in effect declared a "sit down strike" on Department reorganization legislation until Attorney General Bove justifies the charges and answers some questions himself.

"We feel that many questions in our minds regarding the intent, motive, and procedures employed in presenting this report must be answered to the satisfaction of this Legislature before we can proceed with any changes in the law," the senators "manifest" said.

"We further question the political intent of this report since it places the Democratic Party on trial without once mentioning the Republican Party," they said.

The senators also "deplore a U. S. Senate speech by Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.)" bringing to national attention a local problem before hearing both sides.

"This action is magnified by the fact that one of the basic grounds for criticism, namely the loss of federal funds, has since proven to be incorrect and groundless," the 11 senators said.

The Bove report said that Delaware might have received about $7,000,000 more in federal road grants with better management of projects. U. S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell (D-Del.) subsequently was told by a federal roads official that no funds were "lost" to the state as a result of Highway Department irregularities.

The senators' statement, drafted after two days of feverish activity and two reported meetings with Haber, failed to live up to advance billing. Its wording was not as strange as had been promised, and an expected demand that Haber be given a full-dress hearing before the commission was not included.

pond to the ocean.

The bills include: SB-15—A bill introduced by Senators Simpson and DuPont which would sharply regulate conflicts of interest in awarding of state contracts—better known as "payola"—and provide penalties of up to $500 fine or one year in jail for violations.

SB-19—Introduced by Senator Wilgus (R-Ocean View), it would require every candidate for public office to file with the state a detailed accounting of expenditures and contributions. The bill would sharply limit the areas of expenditures.

SB-23—Co-sponsored by Senator Margaret R. Manning (R-Marshfield) and Simpson, the bill would put teeth in the state's weights, measures, and standards laws and provide sharp penalties for violation.

SB-14—Introduced by Du Pont, the bill would create a Department of Public Works, which would absorb most of the functions of the State Highway Department and consolidate them with other public works functions of other state agencies.

SB-15—Establishment of a Department of Public Safety which would absorb the State Police and many functions of the Highway Commission with respect to licensing and highway safety. Introduced by Du Pont and Senator Harvey B. Spier (R-Georgetown).

SB-16—Introduced by Wilgus, Spier, Du Pont, and Snowden, the bill would set up a merit system of personnel administration of state employees—or a civil service system.

SB-17—Introduced by Wilgus, Snowden and Du Pont, the bill would create a Department of Finance to coordinate the fiscal affairs of the state and to absorb the financial functions of most of the various state agencies now existing.

The bills all were considered during extensive hearings on former Governor Boggs' New Day for Delaware program in the last session.

Delaware Park Announces Purses

An all time high in purse and stake distribution at Delaware Park of more than $2,100,000 was announced today by Donald P. Ross, for the 54-day meeting opening on May 29 and continuing through July 29. Delaware Park, which annually has ranked among the leaders of the nations in money distribution, has maintained the overnight purses and increased the features and stakes events. Jumping will be renewed after a lapse of a year, with the Tom Roby, the Indian River and the Georgetown overnight features at $10,000 each, and the Spring Steeplechase carrying a $7500 purse. The added money in the 14 stakes events on the flat aggregates, $420,500.

The championship filly and mare trio of races - Oaks, New Castle and Delaware Handicap - will be contested on the final three Saturdays of the meeting. The response by breeders and horsemen to the Special January Triple Entry opportunity has been wholehearted. The seven field representatives, gathering special January nominations, are still in action in various sections of the country. The triple nomination for $250 expires January 31st, after which date the regular nomination fees that aggregate $1050 will prevail. The final compilation of nominations to the advantageous early closing has not been completed, but the filly and mare champions of last year already have been made eligible. As in previous years, outstanding fillies and mares developed late in the season, may be made eligible at the regular July closing time for the quarter-million dollar "Distaff Big Three" series. However the fee will be greater in July.

While the "Distaff Big Three" is the highlight of the stakes schedule, there is a diversified stakes program embracing races for all age groups, and including major grass course tests. In addition there will be especially endowed overnight grass features.

The stakes program, and program of features for jumping follow:

ful, he may reapply in another six months.

Among first-time parole applicants are Glendon Loatman, 46, serving five years for burglary; James F. Brinkley, 19, three years for burglary, car theft, and violating probation; and John F. Roberts, 20, three years for burglary and probation breach.

Loatman, who lived in the 1400 block East Twenty-ninth Street, Wilmington, at the time of his Feb. 6, 1959 sentencing, was then told by Superior Court Judge James B. Carey: "Jail seems the only place where you can keep out of trouble."

On Oct. 9, 1959, Judge Andrew D. Christie of the same court said he was sending Brinkley, a Middletown area resident to jail despite his youth "in order to protect New Castle County from the crimes you commit."

Roberts, who hails from Georgetown, was sentenced Aug. 17, 1959. He and other prisoners get credit for time spent in jail before sentencing.

Serving a two-year term for burglary and probation violation is Leo J. Pierce, 21, of Canby Park, Wilmington.

The term of another applicant, John J. Harabosky, Jr., 26, of 1300 blast East Twenty-eighth Street, Wilmington, is two years for a Dec. 19, 1959, burglary at Braunstein's Store in the Merchandise Mart.

C. of C. Members Attend Meeting of State Chamber

The following members of the Chamber of Commerce attended the annual dinner meeting of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening at the DuPont Country Club, Wilmington; W. W. Shaw, William Taylor, Gayle Smith, Ernest Killen, Fulton Downing, J. Edward Taylor, Kenneth Aiken, and Thomas Clendingen.

14 to Seek Parole on Friday

A Dover man accused of violating parole and a Marylander previously jailed for that offense are among 14 cases before the State Board of Parole today. The board will decide the applications at New Castle Correctional Institution.

Tracy Butler of Dover was paroled last October after serving part of a two-year term for burglary. Recently convicted of driving a car without the owner's consent, Butler faces a charge of parole violation and possible recommitment.

George W. Moore, 46, Federalsburg, Md., was put back as a parole breaker last October. Moore was paroled to New Jersey in October, 1959, after serving the required half of a lengthy term for robbery and escape from Sussex Correctional Institution at Georgetown in 1952. His parole was revoked, however, after conviction of drunkenness and disorderly conduct in Millville, N. J.

Under parole board rules, Moore may first apply for release three months after recommitment. If his bid is unsuccessful.
