

DR. W. T. CHIPMAN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Dr. William Thomas Chipman, 70, a physician here for 39 years and formerly active in the Republican Party, died suddenly at his home Saturday of a heart attack.

He was a past president of the medical board of Milford Memorial Hospital and was a surgeon for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He was a member of the State Medical Examining Board, the State Board of Health and was chief examiner for the Selective Service System here.

In 1928 he was a presidential elector when Herber Hoover was elected. In November 1946 he was elected a member of the Legislature, the second Republican to ever be elected from the Ninth District of Kent County.

He served as Speaker of the House of Representatives in the 114th General Assembly. He was a former member of the Republican State Committee, the Kent County GOP War Board, and the State Industrial Accident Board.

Dr. Chipman was vice president of the bank at the time of his death. He was the first president of the Harrington Chamber of Commerce. He was a past vice president of the Harrington Building and Loan Association, and a director of the Kent & Sussex Fair Association.

He was born in Laurel, a son of the late William H. and Sarah Emma Tomlinson Chipman. He graduated from the University of Maryland and spent a year practicing medicine in Detroit, Mich. He opened an office in Felton and spent six years there before returning to Detroit for another year. He came here in 1921.

In 1913 Dr. Chipman married Miss Ruth Elizabeth Berlin of Ohio. They were the parents of two children, Harrison Berlin, Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Eloise Payne of Baltimore.

His first wife died in 1921. Dr. Chipman later married Miss Pearl Parker of Salisbury, Md. By this marriage, they have one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Jones, of Guam.

Funeral rites were held yesterday afternoon.

Rites in charge of the Rev. Olin Shockley, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, were held from Dr. Chipman's late residence on Clark Street. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the William A. Berry Funeral Home, Milford.

Felton Senior Wins State D.A.R. Citizenship Award

Miss Margaret Chambers, senior at Felton High School, has been named state winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizens Contest for 1961.

The award was presented to her at a luncheon in the Du Barry Room of the Hotel Du Pont during the 53rd annual conference of the Delaware State Society DAR.

Second place honors were awarded to Miss Rebecca Jean Wilson, Seaford High School, and third place to Miss Madeline Jean McGee, Mt. Pleasant High School.

Winners from each high school in the state were selected by student nomination and faculty vote. State selection was made by a DAR committee and was based on the student's citizenship record in school and community, along with an original essay on the topic "For What Avail If Freedom Fail?"

Miss Chambers is an honor student in the scientific course, with a record of school service in the student council, library, music department, hall monitor, yearbook, and student teacher activities.

She has been active in her church organizations, the 4-H Club, and assisting in fund-raising projects of the local Ruritan Club.

Supervising Principal Howard E. Henry, commended her for "rare qualities of courage, self-reliance, and high standards of personal conduct."

She is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Chambers and the late James Chambers of Viola. Miss Chambers plans to enter nurse's training at Memorial Hospital in Wilmington following graduation from Felton High School.

Hoey Urges State Buy Own Dredge

The state should buy itself a dredge, Senator Walter J. Hoey suggested Monday, giving what he called a "farmer's opinion."

"We have enough dredging in the state to keep a dredge busy all year round," said the chairman of the Joint Finance Committee. At present, any dredging done for the state is handled by contract.

The matter of a dredge was pumped up by the committee, Monday, after it discussed the drainage problem. Rep. William T. Best (R-Nassau) declared that "beach erosion is a serious problem, too." He said the summer resorts are one of the state's greatest drawing cards.

Senator Hoey came in with his opinion on buying a dredge, and Richard A. Haber, chief engineer of the Highway Department, whose budget was being reviewed, pointed to a problem in financing beach erosion work. The state can work on the Delaware Bay beaches only with funds from a bond bill, but maintenance money can be used on the public beaches south of Rehoboth, or to protect a highway.

The committee was told that Lewes has lost about 25 feet of beachfront this winter and that at Broadkin Beach five cottages are close to being swallowed up by Delaware Bay.

Much money can be spent on beachwork, only to have it all undone by a big storm, the chief engineer said. He said the state should have spent more money in the past to protect its investment in what it did. Jetties, groins and sea walls should have been built to hold the benefits of the work done.

The questions of whether piling or stones makes the better jetty and the possible use of old concrete ships were discussed. Mr. Haber said it was found that the cost of transporting the old concrete vessels, or some barges that could be obtained as surplus, was too high.

Senator Hoey was for sinking some concrete ships off the beaches to improve the fishing. They would do that, and at the same time, diminish the force of the waves and protect the beaches, said Mr. Haber. But they cost too much to move.

It was pointed out that the State Park Commission is asking for funds to administer the beach lands. Mr. Haber said the Park Commission should take over that task and arrange to have the Highway Department handle capital improvements. "We should not be in administration of the ocean front lands," he said. The Highway Department handles those lands at present.

Diamond State Telephone Co.'s Annual Report

The Diamond State Telephone Company's plant investment reached a record high of $71,371,000 at the end of 1960 and construction expenditures for the year amounted to approximately $7,572,000, W. D. Gillen, president, states in the company's annual report published Wednesday.

Total plant investment increased during the year by $5,231,000 and construction expenditures during the year averaged $30,000 for each business day, Gillen reports.

Approximately $5,372,000 was spent during the year for expansion and modernization of facilities in Delaware and replacements necessary to maintain existing services cost an additional $2,200,000.

To meet the state's growing communications needs, the telephone company will spend more than $37 million more during the next five years, Gillen states.

Company earnings in 1960 declined slightly from the previous year's level, he writes. The 6.30 per cent return on the company's average plant investment was achieved in spite of increases in wage rates and material costs and is the result of higher operating efficiencies, automation and vigorous marketing efforts.

The telephone company's Delaware payroll, highest in the company's history, amounted to $7,893,000 last year. An additional stimulus to the state's economy was provided by $2,300,000 in purchases from 400 Delaware firms by the Diamond State Company and by Western Electric Company supply unit of the Bell System, he adds.

Net operating income for the year totaled $4,268,000, approximately $255,000 more than 1959, Gillen reports. Operating expenses increased by nearly $640,000 over the previous year to $14,921,000.

Commenting in the report on the slight decrease in company earnings, Gillen points out that pressures of inflation have not abated and the company's investment per telephone has continued to rise, as have expenses. "In an inflationary era, our demonstrated ability to keep rates low while providing an ever-improving quality of service for a growing population is unquestionably one of our most important contributions in serving the public interest," he states.

The number of telephones in service in Delaware increased during 1960 to 218,000, the report shows. The company's 36 central offices handled 936,000 originating calls on the average business day during the year.

The report reviews telephone industry accomplishments in the space exploration and national defense fields during 1960, including the Echo I communications satellite and facilities essential to defense establishments.

Among other important telephone developments are noted. Data-Phone service which makes it possible for modern business machines to "talk" with each other, Bellboy, a new selective signaling device, and wide area telephone service which provides flat-rate calling on a nationwide basis.

SURPLUS FOOD DISTRIBUTION AT FIREHOUSE TOMORROW

The distribution of government surplus food, provided for Delawareans in a bill signed last week by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, will take place here tomorrow at the Firehouse. Distribution will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The members of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company will assist. The regular date for distribution will be announced.

All eligible families will receive advance notice by mail of the place and time they must report to receive their food, according to Alexis Tarumian, business administrator of the Delaware State Hospital and director of the surplus food program for Delaware.

Distribution points for Kent County were selected by Tarumian with the co-operation of Charles W. Bostick, Felton, president of the Kent County Levy Court.

Approximately 7000 families, throughout the State, will benefit from the distribution. Commodities to be received are butter, rice, dry milk, flour, corn meal, powdered eggs, and lard.

The local setup was arrived at Wednesday night, Feb. 22, at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the fire company, of which Doug Mills is chairman.

In other business, Mills announced the fire company had purchased a 10-horsepower, horn-type siren for $800 and that it is scheduled to arrive at the end of this month. He added the Delaware Power & Light Company would provide the installation for about $600. This would include a 70-foot pole, for radio, and a 60-foot pole for the siren. Mills said the horn-type siren would give better coverage than the one now in use.

1912 School Building Basement Floods

Rainy conditions of last week necessitated the evacuation of the two special classes now held in the basement of the 1912 building.

Whenever there is a serious rain, water covers the floor of these two classrooms and necessitates the removal of the boys and girls of those classes to whatever rooms are available for their work. This usually means that both classes are established in the school auditorium until the water subsides.

In addition to these two classes, there are eleven Junior-Senior classes scheduled in this building every period of the school day. This is the building about which the fire marshal states:

"The last inspection which I made has convinced me that the old portion of the school including the basement schoolroom and the shop building presents such a great hazard to the pupils that consideration should be given to closing those portions as soon as practicable as the expense involved in making it safe for use would in my opinion be prohibitive. Extreme caution should be followed to prevent any fire. This could very well lead to loss of life as evacuation would be extremely difficult in the basement portion."

The proposed building program which the Board of Education is presenting to the public and which will culminate in a referendum for public approval or disapproval, Sat., April 15, will eliminate the hazard to the boys and girls since the plans call for demolition of this building upon completion of additional classrooms, shops and laboratories.

Student Teachers Assigned By The U. of Del.

More than 50 University of Delaware students will be practicing teaching in Delaware elementary and secondary schools during the current semester, Dr. William O. Penrose, dean of the school of education announced today.

In explaining the university's policies with respect to student teaching, the dean said that the first consideration in placing student teachers is to see that the State of Delaware gets the greatest educational value from each tax dollar expended.

During the fall semester, 71 students were involved in student teaching. Co-operating schools for the year include:

Elementary: Arden, Greenville, Faulk Road, Carrofort, Anne P. Mote, Edge Moor, River Road, Silverside, Newark Central, Med-Jill, Jennie E. Smith, West Park Place, Manor Park, Wilmington Manor, Spruce Avenue, Colwyck, Rose Hill, Harlan, Shorlidge and George Washington.

Junior High: Mount Pleasant, Central, Ogletown, Stanton and Oak Grove.

Senior High: Dickinson, Alexis I. duPont, Brandywine, Mt. Pleasant, Newark, William Penn, De La Warr and John Bassett Moore.

Student teachers at the elementary level will work in the schools from Feb. 6 to March 17. The secondary level teachers will be active from March 20 to May 5. Each student teacher will be assigned to a co-operating teacher and will have a university instructor.

The report of the Committee on the Improvement of the State Highway Department recommended many improvements, it was revealed Tuesday at a press conference in the office of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel at Dover Tuesday afternoon.

The committee was headed by William Duffy Jr., and also comprised Bishop J. Brooke Mosley, Walter J. Beadle, Samuel B. Bird, J. Allen Frear Jr., William E. Matthews Jr., Warren C. Newton, and J. Reese White Sr.

Summarizing briefly the high points of the report, the committee recommended:

1. A seven-man commission representative of all parts of the State. Six of the members should be appointed by the Governor, with Senate confirmation, for terms of six years each. The seventh member should be chairman, who should be appointed by the Governor, without Senate confirmation, to serve at the Governor's pleasure. 3 Hurt in Crash At Farmington

Three people were hurt in a rear-end collision on Route 13 about a half-mile north of Farmington Monday night.

The injured are Mrs. Gwendoline Doris Vernon, 39, of Del Ray Beach, Fla., cuts of the head and concussion; Charles H. Moore, 64, rural Greenwood, bruises of the head and shoulder, and Grace Lewis, 11, near Greenwood, bruised forehead.

All were taken to the Milford Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Vernon was admitted. The others were treated and released.

State police said Moore was driving a pick-up truck north with the Lewis child riding with him. The car of Mrs. Vernon, also going north, rammed the rear of the pick-up.

H.H.S. Cagers Fall to Delmar And J. M. C.

Harrington High's basketball team lost another tough game by the slimmest of margins Friday night as they were edged by Delmar 51-50 on the local court. The Lions had beaten the Railroaders at Delmar earlier in the season. Milton nosed the Lions by one point at Milton on the tenth of February. These two one-point losses have made the difference between a good season and a fair one.

Harrington outscored Delmar in each of the first three stanzas and sported a nine point advantage entering the fourth quarter. The visitors had their most prolific frame while the H.H.S. game fell apart and Delmar prevailed in the last few seconds.

Walt Lekites again led the Lions in scoring as he racked up 17 points. George Pfeiffer and Sam Minner were next with 10 and 8 respectively.

The locals led in field goals so Delmar's victory came from their prowess in the free throw department.

Delmar's girl team bested the Harrington girl team 30-21. The Sussex County lassies have a strong team so the locals' showing must be rated as a moral victory. Phyllis Vincent with 12 and Christy Coady with 9 did (Continued on Page 8)

1961 Easter Seal Campaign Begins This Week For One Month

The 1961 Easter Seal Campaign, a month long campaign to raise funds for handicapped children and adults, begins this week in Delaware.

Letters containing sheets of Easter Seals have been mailed to the homes of 75,000 Delaware homes, accompanied by an appeal letter signed by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

The campaign extends from March 2 to April 2.

Foremost among the uses for Easter Seal contributions are care and treatment of crippled children and adults, education, and research.

James T. McKinstry, general chairman of Delaware's Easter Seal campaign, pointed out this week that "as public support of Easter Seals increases, so can direct services be expanded to help more crippled."

political parties.

2. The commission should be concerned exclusively with establishing policy for the Highway Department and with control of its fiscal affairs.
3. All administration of the department, except the state police and the function of comptroller, should be under a director of operations appointed by the commission.
4. An office of controller should be established for the Highway Department. The controller should be responsible for all accounting and fiscal control throughout the department.
5. Annual audits of the department should be continued, by certified public accountants if necessary, to assure an audit in depth.
6. A merit system should be established for all department employees, down to and including, the lowest supervisory level.
7. A management study should be undertaken by experts to review the functions of the department and its operating structure.

In general, these are the basic points made by the committee with respect to reorganization of the department.

"Now," Gov. Carvel said: "I have not had sufficient time to study and analyze the report of the Duffy Committee adequately. After I have given due consideration to the report and after consultation with leaders of the Legislature, the administration's proposal for reorganization of the State Highway Department will be submitted to the Legislature. This should take place in the very near future."

"Thereafter, the Legislature will have the matter of reorganization before it for deliberation and appropriate action. Based upon the varying opinions and diversity of thinking on the subject already expressed, it may be expected that debate on the topic may be protracted.

"As will be seen from the Duffy Committee Report, reorganization of the State Highway Department involves far more than the question of how many commissioners there shall be. The reorganization we will be considering is a reorganization in depth, involving reformation of the fiscal and administrative machinery of the department, as well as other improvements."

"This will all take time.

"Then, even after agreement has been reached on the nature and scope of reorganization, time will be needed to secure the best people available for all posts—and this will not be easy in view of the painful experiences of the incumbents during the past few months.

"Thus, all these time-consuming steps must be taken in order to assure the most effective and most desirable reorganization of the department.

"We will not permit ourselves to be rushed or compromised into any plan of reorganization which is less than the best available plan. We should take whatever time may be necessary to do the job right.

"In the meanwhile, we must not permit reorganization of the Highway Department and the Highway Bond Bill to be political 'footballs.'"

"A growing emergency confronts the State in connection with road construction and road repair.

"As I stated in the Special Message to the Legislature on Feb. 13, 1961, we cannot afford to wait for the time-consuming process of Highway Department reorganization before putting an end to the present paralysis of our road construction and improvement program.

"In my judgment, there can be no proper price for the enactment of a Highway Bond Bill immediately. On the other hand, there will be a price, we may be sure, for our failure to take timely action—and that price will be the loss of much needed employment in these days of rising unemployment in our state, the loss of a general economic stimulant prescribed by the times, the loss of millions of dollars in otherwise available Federal funds, the loss of state prestige and progress in a new highway growth and a further deterioration of our road system which has suffered such heavy snow and ice damage in recent weeks throughout the state.

"This does not represent just my judgment; it also directly reflects the report of the committee for improvement of the State Highway Department. This report states, and I quote:

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

Most women develop early the habit of smart shopping. If it's not an economic necessity, then it's an exciting challenge to find "good buys"—items that are neatly priced and will do double-duty. Maybe it's a coat for Janie that will last several years. Or the one blouse or sweater for yourself that will go with everything. But these items are not easy to find. Shopping wisely demands long hours of looking and then careful comparison before making a choice. It takes both time and energy. Another, sometimes easier, way to get "good buys" is—as any needleworker knows—to make them. And today's design is a good buy: it's the "perfect" accessory... a sweater that will carry you wherever you want to go.

IT'S A KNITTED PRIZE, this lovely sweater-blouse, with its look of demure sophistication. The Peter Pan collar is always charming, and the lace insert gives a touch of glamor. Note the short sleeves: they mean you can wear it under anything. The yolk is knitted separately, then crocheted around and applied to sweater body. But remember—knitted lace is never an easy job! It takes time, and patience, and some past experience. But when it can produce an item as delicate and as special as this, it's worth the work!

DRAINS DRAIN ROAD FUNDS

Inadequate drainage throughout the state is costing Delaware millions of dollars in highway maintenance expenses, the General Assembly's Joint Finance Committee was told Monday.

The committee spent the afternoon reviewing the Highway Department's request for maintenance and construction funds and discussed such related items as drainage, beach erosion, snow, the administration of the state's beach lands, and the committee's favorite topics—the advisability of marking state cars and of not paying the lunch expenses of state employees.

Several legislators not on the committee attended the hearing. If they were expecting fireworks stemming from the attorney general's investigation of the Highway Department, they were disappointed because it was hardly mentioned.

Richard A. Haber, whose resignation as the road department's chief engineer is effective April 1, took part in the hearing, looking quite relaxed. Except for noting that he was appearing for "perhaps the last time" and thanking the committee "for listening to me over the years," he made few references to the highway controversy, in which he has been a central figure, and which led to his recent resignation.

Senator Walter J. Hoey, chairman of the committee, brought up the subject of drainage by announcing he intends to present a $1,000,000 bond bill to provide the state's share for part of the "gigantic" drainage project for the Nanticoke watershed already underway. He said it will "save the taxpayers millions of dollars."

The project, involving 147,000 acres, is being done by the Soil Conservation Commission. The senator said the project will affect all of Sussex County, much of Kent and part of New Castle County.

Mr. Haber, who said he had not previously discussed drainage with Senator Hoey, declared the senator is correct in stating that inadequate drainage is costing a huge sum on highway maintenance. "No matter what kind of job we do, the paramount single item is drainage—and most people won't recognize it," he declared.

Until the underlying drainage problem is solved, it is impossible to lead water away from Delaware's roads, he explained.

The Highway Department installs adequate cross pipes and ditches in building roads but, if the drainage ditches which are supposed to take the water to streams and rivers are clogged up, the water cannot run off.

The ditches essential for drainage in a large part of the state are not under the jurisdiction of the department.

The state should have an overall drainage plan, Mr. Haber said. He asserted that north of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal many suburban sections were built without adequate drainage arrangement. This has "placed a good many developments in the position where they are being damaged badly," he said.

Drainage, he continued "affects every penny of maintenance money. Probably the major problem is the cause of a major part of the maintenance" work that has to be done.

Later, Mrs. Haber explained that when water is trapped and is unable to drain off highway, it saturates the earth under the road, and causes the road to break up.

The lack of drainage contributes also to the damage that comes from a freeze after a thaw, the committee was told. At the opening of the hearing, Mr. Haber gave the committee the same assurance he has in the past, that the Highway Department is ready to operate on whatever amount of money the Assembly decides to appropriate.

He recommended that the appropriations for the maintenance division and the construction division, which have been separate in the past, be consolidated. He said it has been difficult to separate—for bookkeeping—what is maintenance from what is construction in many instances. An example is rebuilding a damaged section of road.

The totals requested are $4,647,527 for maintenance and $1,059,690 for construction. They add up to $5,707,217.

The Department will be $95,000 short in the salary and wages account of the maintenance division by the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, Mr. Haber said. William J. Miller, Jr., deputy chief engineer, said "drastic action" will have to be taken if the money is not obtained. This means a layoff.

The department has $67,000 in encumbered funds which could be used if the Legislature grants permission. The $95,000 needed is in addition to the $150,000 transfer provided in a bill awaiting the Governor's signature.

The department requested $2,692,000 for the salary and wages part of the maintenance appropriation for the next fiscal year. This is $12,000 more than funds available for this year, assuming the $150,000 and the $95,000 are provided.

Next Week Is 4-H Week

March 4-11 is National 4-H Week and will be celebrated in Delaware by the 1800 Club members active in the organization, according to James O. Baker, State 4-H Club leader.

Special activities during the week will include a window display contest with local 4-H Clubs putting up exhibits in the windows of co-operating stores. They will be judged and a winner selected in each county. The exhibit chosen as the best in the state will be displayed in the Agricultural Extension building at the Kent-Sussex Fair, July 24-29.

As another feature of the week, the University of Delaware 4-H Club is sponsoring a state-wide 4-H square dance in the Capital Grange Hall in Dover, starting at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 4.

Mr. Baker said that 4-H Clubs are groups of young people, 10 to 21 years of age, in rural, urban, and suburban communities who carry on a wide variety of farming, homemaking, community service and other projects. They raise livestock and poultry, grow gardens and field crops, conserve soil, sew, cook, preserve food, carry home improvement projects and work for community betterment.

Mr. Baker encouraged any boy or girl to join by agreeing to follow 4-H ideals and standards. The main requirements for 4-H club membership is willingness to learn by doing, which is the 4-H club slogan. The four-fold emphasis of the 4-H Clubs—head, heart, hands and health—reflects the clubs goals of character development and good citizenship.

The 4-H program is a part of the national education system carried on by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, state land-grant colleges and counties.

Elizabeth Schwarzkopf To Sing at U. of Del.

For the second time within the span of two months an outstanding soprano will perform in Delaware.

With the notes of Eileen Farrell still ringing in their ears, Delaware music lovers will now have an opportunity to hear Elizabeth Schwarzkopf, one of the most popular and versatile singers before the public.

She will appear in Mitchell Hall on the University of Delaware campus on Thursday, March 16, at 8:15 p. m. as one of the 1960-61 Artists Series performers.

Miss Schwarzkopf's opera range from Mozart's Countess to Strauss's Marschallin, and in recital, although her favorite songs are the lieder of the great German masters, her repertoire includes over 300 songs from every part of the literature.

However, there is one composer with whose works she seems to feel a particular affinity: Hugo Wolf, because she finds his songs so beautifully suited to her voice and temperament. She admires not only Wolf's music, but the poems he chose to set, and these, she says, should never be sung in translation. The German words and the music form an organic whole that cannot be separated without great loss.

Throughout her career, the songs of Hugo Wolf have held an important place in her recital programs. But on March 13, 1960, came a milestone in her association with this music: on that evening Elizabeth Schwarzkopf presented an all-Wolf recital at Town Hall to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the composer's birth. In spite of the formidable program, the house was packed, and the critics were unanimous in hailing her as the foremost interpreter of Wolf now living.

Miss Schwarzkopf will include numbers by Wolf in her concert, together with works by Schubert, Brahms, Strauss and Mozart.

Tickets are available for the concert at the University of Delaware bookstore in the Student Center and may be obtained there during regular school hours or by mail. A sellout crowd is expected.

Some Farms Are Bigger, Others are Gone

Delaware farms are getting larger and the farm business is expanding. Delaware farms now average 11.6 per cent larger than 5 years ago, according to the latest census figures.

By counties, the differences look this way: Kent County farms are 20 per cent larger than 5 years ago; Sussex County farms increased by 8.6 per cent and the New Castle County farms by 15.2 per cent during the last 5 years.

University of Delaware farm management specialist W. T. McAllister, explains the trend this way: "First of all, the cost-price squeeze with reduced margins means farmers must sell more to maintain the same level of income. Also, increased labor cost has pushed farmers to more mechanization, which in turn, demands more land to justify the investment in equipment." "McAllister cited bulk milk tanks as an example. Installing a bulk milk tank often means adding more buildings, another silo, raising more crops, acquiring more land and expanding the cropping system. This is a chain reaction, inevitably leading to more and larger equipment and eventually getting back to adding more cows. And more cows probably was the reason the bulk tank became necessary in the first place!

Larger farms are not necessarily more efficient nor do they necessarily make more profit, but they have this potential because a large-size unit, under good management, can have low costs and a high sales volume, McAllister said.

U. of D. Offers Aid Program To Students

Capable young Delawareans have many opportunities to receive the financial assistance required for their education at the University of Delaware, according to Donald P. Hardy, assistant dean of students at the university.

In a memorandum recently distributed to superintendents, high school principals and guidance officers, Dean Hardy asks help in informing teachers, parents and students of the university's aid program consisting of scholarships, grants-in-aid, loans and part-time campus employment.

"We have tried to keep guidance counselors informed about our aid program," Dean Hardy writes, "but a wider acquaintance with it appears essential."

The dean's memorandum continues. "You should be aware of the extensiveness of our aid program. It is designed to insure that no qualified individual will fail to enter the university, or once here drop out, due to lack of funds. During 1960-61, almost 30% of our students hold university awards which have an average value of $520; the total value of all awards exceeds $350,000. These awards are made on the basis of the financial need and the merit of the student. In addition, approximately 175 of our students hold awards given by non-university or private sources which have a total value in excess of $70,000.

"Two programs, generously supported by the people of Delaware via appropriations by the General Assembly, are particularly worthy of your attention. They provide needed assistance to approximately 300 students. The Teacher Training Scholarship program assists almost 140 students who are pursuing programs which will prepare them for teaching careers. Students accepting such awards are expected to teach in Delaware following graduation. The Delaware Right to Education Grant-in-aid Program helps about 170 students to meet their educational expenses. This program is designed to assist needy Delaware students who might not qualify for scholarships administered on the usual combination basis of intellectual merit and financial need."

"Your assistance in bringing to our attention those able young people in your communities who will need dollars in order to continue their education will be greatly appreciated. Descriptive booklets and University of Delaware financial aid application materials have been sent to all our Delaware high schools. We will be glad to provide and additional supply, or arrange for a staff member to visit your school to discuss the program. Please do not hesitate to contact the office of the Dean of Students if we can be of further assistance."

"It is our earnest desire to insure that the greatest possible number of our qualified Delaware young people continue their education beyond the high school," Dean Hardy concludes.

Posture Pointers

Good clothes don't necessarily make the woman but good posture helps the woman look well in her clothes, according to Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing specialist at the University of Delaware.

Miss Reed explains that clothes are designed for women with good posture and that a slumped-over figure throws the lines of a garment out of wack, distorting the original design.

Developing good posture is a 24-hour-a-day job that involves holding your head erect and level, pulling your chin in so it's parallel with the ground, and keeping your chest high. Your shoulders should be level so your arms may swing freely. Keep your tummy flat and your lower back tucked under. Legs should be straight with your knees relaxed. Keep your feet parallel with the floor and your toes pointed straight ahead.

As you walk maintain this same body position, pointing your toes straight ahead, keeping your feet parallel and close together. Keep your knees slightly bent so your body can move easily and gracefully.

Maintaining good posture when you're sitting is just as important as when you are standing or walking. Sit well back into your chair, keeping your back straight. Your head and shoulders should be balanced over the hip section of your body. Keep your knees together and your feet flat on the floor or crossed at the ankles.

How you stand, sit and walk reflects your attitudes, your state of mind and the amount of pride you take in your appearance. Though poor posture habits may have been developed in childhood, it's still possible to correct them. This change requires a knowledge of posture faults, a strong desire to correct bad habits and the persistence to work at developing posture until it improves.

Plants Need A Balanced Diet Too

Plants have appetites, just as humans and farm animals do. But unfortunately, Kent county agent George Vapaa, says plants can't vary their available foods at will to match their appetites for a balanced diet.

This is where you, as an alert farmer can enter the picture. You don't have to wait until your crops are ring-streaked, speckled, and spotted with blotchy discoloration. You can get help beforehand by having a soil test made to detect nutrient deficiencies before you plant your crops.

Mr. Vapaa said that a soil test will help you determine how much and what kind of each fertilizer element you should add to produce a heavy, healthy yield of any crop.

The county agent explained that many crops in the county are forced into "overeating" certain elements but are on a starvation diet for other nutrients they need for healthy, steady growth.

He emphasized that a major soil fertility problem in the county is an unbalanced supply of plant nutrients. Eating only one food source each day is unhealthy for people—similarly, he pointed out, no one morsel of a certain fertilizer element can keep plants well-fed.

The county agent urged all farmers to ask themselves two questions: (1) Are you sure you know the fertility condition of the soils of the farm? (2) Do you know what kind and amount of fertilizer to use on your crops for top yields and profits?

If you can answer these questions, he said, you are on the road to more profitable farming. But if you can't be strongly suggests that you obtain the right answer by having a soil test made right away on each field of your farm.

For details on how to take good samples, and bad samples are worse than none, call the extension service on the second floor of the Dover postoffice, telephone RE4field 6-1448.

"The Boy Friend" To Be Presented At U. of D.

Theatre Party sates for the E 52 University Theatre's production of "The Boy Friend", to be presented in Mitchell Hall on March 9, 10, 11, 17 and 18, prior to touring Europe this summer, are larger than had been anticipated.

Already several hundred tickets have been ordered under the theatre party plan. The plan is being utilized by high schools in Delaware and Maryland, church groups, and individuals who have planned after-dinner theatre parties. There are still plenty of seats available under the theatre party plan, however. Seats which sell individually for $2 can be purchased at $1.50 for groups of 10 or more, and $1.25 for groups of 100 or more. Rates for high school students are $1.25 for groups of 10 or more.

"The Boy Friend," although not the lavish spectacle of last year's "Carousel", promises to be an extremely enjoyable evening in the theatre. The madcap antics of youth (and age) are hilariously presented. Some of the most delightful aspects of what has been termed "the lost generation" have been recaptured in this show.

Ticket orders are being taken by telephone and mail. The Mitchell Hall box office will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., beginning Wednesday, March 1.

Persons interested in the theatre party plan are advised to submit their orders early since they will be filled on a first come-first served basis.

Certified Seed Is Cheap Insurance

How can a farmer be certain he is planting the variety of a crop he wants? How can he be certain of clean seed which will germinate well? According to Kent county agent George Vapaa, the answer to both questions is "certified seed."

The biggest difference between certified seed and ordinary seed is that certified seed can be traced back to the original breeders' seed and can thus be identified. Certified crops are inspected in the field and laboratory to insure high quality. Uncertified seed may not be true-to-type and have the desirable characteristics of the farmer needs for his farm.

Here's an illustration: Several state agricultural experiment stations ran field trials on a number of sample lots of alfalfa seed. All the seed was labeled Ranger—and plant breeders can tell true Ranger by certain growth habits. The experiment stations found that all but one lot of Certified Ranger was true-to-type. Approximately half of the non-certified seed was either mixed or not Ranger at all.

"Always keep in mind," Mr. Vapaa said "that the blue tag of certification indicates pure, high quality seed of an identified variety."

48 Closing Events Scheduled For Saratoga Raceway

While still processing nominations to the 88 early-closing features of the June 8-Sept. 2 summer meeting at Saratoga Raceway, Racing Secretary Hap Haswell is announcing a program of 48 early-closing events for the Sept. 4-Oct. 14 fall meet at the Spa trotting track.

Haswell, who'll soon be reporting the figures on the summer nominations, has planned a fall program headed by twelve $2500 events, half for trotters and half for pacers. Nominations to the 48 fall events will close March 15.

Meantime, Haswell says the Saratoga dates have been set for the new New York Sire Stakes. At the summer meet, it will be Aug. 2 for the two-year-old trotting stake and Aug. 3 for the two-year-old pacing stake. At the autumn meet, it will be Sept. 13 for the juvenile trotting stake and Sept. 14 for the Freshman pacing stake.

The two Spa Raceway meetings and the six other night harness racing tracks in the state—Yonkers, Roosevelt, Buffalo, Vernon, Monticello and Batavia — are sponsoring the New York Sire Stakes, the first edition of which is expected to gross nearly $300,000 in purses by the time all its events are raced at the participating meetings in 1961, 1962 and 1963. Those nominated for New York Sire Stakes No. 1—234 in all are eligible for juvenile events this year, three-year-old stakes in 1962 and four-year-old stakes in 1963.

The sire with the most foals among the 234 nominees for Stake No. 1 is Bonny Brook Dean, with 21. Bonny, a former Saratoga Raceway star, stands at Rummynede Farm here.

Chance Pick, voted Saratoga Raceway Two-Year-Old Pacer of the Year in 1960, has been critically ill with pneumonia at Orlando, Fla., and his owner, Robert Metzner of Albany, isn't sure the colt is yet out of danger. Meantime, a report from Orlando says the colt has responded to care and medication and that he recently kicked his trainer, Pete Dailey, breaking one of Pete's ribs. Chance Pick won 16 of 21 dashes as a juvenile.

Junior Broiler Program Begins

Delaware 4-H Club members and vocational agriculture students have been invited to enter the 1961 Junior Broiler program by Ray Lloyd, extension poultry specialist with the University of Delaware. The annual contest was entered by 128 young people last year.

The Delaware Poultry Improvement Association sponsors the program each year and offers cash prizes for the first 20 winners and certificates of merit to the first four winners.

First place award will be $25 and a trophy, second $20, third $15, fourth $10, fifth through 10th $7.50, and 11th through 20th $5.

In announcing the contest, Mr. Lloyd outlined the following rules:

Contestants from 10 to 19-years-old, as of Jan. 1, 1961, may enter by filing entry blanks with County 4-H Club agents or vocational agriculture instructors not later than March 17.

Each contestant is permitted to make one entry of chicks. An entry is 50 straight-run chicks, although more may be raised in the same flock. All chicks will be wing-banded.

Contestants are encouraged to obtain their own chicks, keeping in mind that they should be meat-type birds from a pullorum-typhoid clean source. Chick donations from hatcheries and service clubs may be requested for contestants who cannot obtain birds. Chicks must be hatched between March 27 and 29.

Each contestant will select seven cockerels for dressing, judging, and displaying at the close of the project, and will be responsible for delivering the birds where designated. The seven birds will become the property of the program committee and be used to help cover expenses.

Training meetings will be held in each county to discuss equipment needed, caring for chicks, selecting birds for program finals, rules and the schedule of events for the program.

The final contest birds will be delivered to the dressing plant on May 31 with the display of all entries, award presentation, and a chicken barbecue to be held at the Kent-Sussex Fairgrounds on June 1.

Legionnaires Participate In 42nd Anniversary of American Legion

Legionnaires of Delaware will participate in the observance of the 42nd anniversary of the American Legion, March 15-17, Department Commander L. Gooden Callaway announced Saturday. Focal points of the Legion's anniversary celebration in Delaware will be the special birthday parties by the 36 posts in the State during the weeks of March 12 to 25. Each Post Commander will appoint a special Legion 42nd Birthday Committee to plan the observance, which will coincide with parties by some 17,000 posts from coast to coast and 28 territories and foreign countries.

In connection with the posts birthday celebrations, Department 1st Vice-Commander George F. Foster is urging an intensive 1961 membership campaign. Department membership chairman Foster advised all posts to "extend a warm invitation to every eligible veteran in the local community to enroll in The American Legion during the 42nd birthday celebration."

The American Legion was founded March 15-17, 1919, at a caucus of delegates from the first AEF in Paris, France. It includes today eligible veterans of World War I and II and the Korean Conflict.

"In its 42 years of existence, The American Legion has grown and registered successes far beyond the fondest dream of its founders," Commander Callaway declared. "Today, it is the largest veterans organization in all history. Its good works in Americanism, Child Welfare, Rehabilitation, National Security and countless acts of community service have earned The American Legion the high esteem of the citizens of this nation."

In joining with the National Department to celebrate its birthday the C.K.R.T. Post has decided to have a spaghetti dinner, followed by an evening of games, card playing and dancing, March 4, at 7 p.m.

Past and present members of both the Legion and its auxiliary are invited.

Delaware Farmers Compete For Haymaking Title

The Northeastern Hay Drying Association will decide at its annual winter hay show meeting March 24 at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, N. J.

From now until March 22, last day for entries, farmers may enter samples of their hay in any of 13 classes, ranging from first cutting alfalfa to mixed. Mr. W. H. Hosterman, U. S. Department of Agriculture hay specialist, will be the judge.

Besides announcement of winners and comments by the judge, the meeting will include talks suggesting ways to improve hay.

Among the speakers will be John E. Baylor, extension agronomist at Penn State; Nolan Mitchell, vice president of the Aerovent Fan Company, Lansing, Mich.; William J. Roberts, extension agricultural engineer at Rutgers, and Charles Hovey, Eastern States Farmers Exchange, East Springfield, Mass.

Farmers who want to enter can get a copy of the rules and a list of classes from their County Agricultural Agent who will also collect the samples.

Mrs. Norman Oliver Sewing Contest Winner

Mrs. Norman Oliver of the Harrington New Century Club was selected as the local winner in the Fashion Sewing Contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Vogue Pattern Service. The contest was held following the regular meeting of the club on Tuesday, Feb. 28, in the club house. She participated in the senior division contest. In the junior division contest, Miss Dawn Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins of Harrington was the winner.

Each contestant was required to make her costume from a Vogue pattern, in a style that she considered the ideal costume for the clubwoman's wardrobe. Mrs. Oliver selected a one piece sheath dress with jacket outfit. The fine black wool with taffeta lining and black and white accessories proved to be a winning combination. In the Junior division, girls in the 9th to 12th grades, now studying home economics or who have had at least one year's course in home economics were eligible. Miss Hopkins' outfit, the ideal costume for the high school student's dress-up wardrobe, was also a dress and jacket combination. The dress was a simple sheath style in lilac cotton and cupioni short waist-length jacket of a with the short waist-length jacket of a matching lilac checked cotton and tulle. Her accessories were a hat and bag covered with the checked material, short white gloves trimmed in the same fabric and white shoes. 2nd prize was given to Miss Marilyn Jarrell and 3rd prize to Miss Jeanne Martin.

Other contestants in the senior division were Mrs. Joseph Konesey, Mrs. James Moore, and Mrs. Francis Winkler. In the junior division the other participants were Miss Becky Moore, and Miss Nancy Taylor. Each of the outfits was outstanding and the judges, who were Mrs. Marion MacDonald and Mrs. Robert Osborne of Dover, expressed their difficulty in reaching a decision. The prizes in the senior division on the local level is a subscription to Vogue Pattern Book for one year. Mrs. Oliver will also compete in the state contest to be held at the Student Center at the University of Delaware in Newark on April 6. The state winner will receive a cash award of $100 and an Honorary Plaque will be given to her club. The national prize is a three week trip to Europe for two (or $1500 in cash), plus a trip for the winner to the 1961 GFWC convention in Miami Beach. The sponsoring club will receive $500.

The Junior winner received a $5 cash prize and the right to participate in the state contest on April 6. The state level prize is a golden tumbler on a charm bracelet, plus an honorary plaque for the sponsoring club and one for her high school. The national winner will receive a $1000 scholarship or cash with a cash prize of $500 for club and school. Each of the junior division contestants received a small gift from the club.

The judging was based on the following scoring system: 25% on appropriateness of costume for a variety of occasions; 25% on becomingness to wearer, 25% on over-all fashion effect, and 25% on workmanship.

Mrs. Floyd Nasser served as narrator, describing each fashion and also explaining the rules of the contest and the prizes to be awarded. Mrs. Nelson Benjamin was the pianist, and Mrs. Samuel Williams and Mrs. Robert Creedy assisted the models. Jewelry was supplied by Mrs. Frances Smith, of Milford, representing the Sara Coventry Line of costume jewelry.

Biddy Basketball Notes

Tuesday night at the Harrington High field house the second place Lakers defeated the Falcons, 17-7.

Friday night in an added attraction to the Harrington High Delmar contest, Bob Jester's Celtics remained unbeaten as they took the measure of Bill Minner's Warriors, 19-14. The following afternoon these two teams met again and had practically the same score, 19-15, except that the Warriors were the victors and they handed the Celtics their first reverse of the campaign. The Irish held on to the league lead however, as the erstwhile runner-up team, the Globetrotters, were bested 17-14 by the Lakers. The Lakers are in second place as a result of this encounter.

Last week we predicted that Jack Dill's Pistons, who had been losing by one and two points to the loop's top teams, could be expected to win soon. This became a reality as they defeated the Hawks, 20-16, for their first success.

In another contest the Eagles prevailed by 14-2 over the Falcons.

Bully Your Blooms

Twigs and branches from trees and shrubs that flower naturally in the spring and summer may be forced into bloom inside during the winter, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Forsythia and pussy willow are good selections for forced blooming and make attractive, interesting flower arrangements at a time of year when anything green or blooming is appreciated.

The method of forcing is easy, Mr. Stevens points out. Select branches or twigs with interesting shapes that are well supplied with buds. Flower buds are usually larger than leaf buds.

For best results the branches should not be over a half-inch in diameter. Cut the twigs on a mild day and place them in a container filled with lukewarm water. Set the container in a room or cellar until the buds are plump then bring them into a warmer room to bloom. Trim the twigs and branches to suit the vase or container you plan to use.

Trinity Methodist Church News

We hope that all of our people are remembering to pray for the coming United Preaching Mission. We should pray for: Mrs. Mason, our evangelist, that God will greatly use her as she comes to our churches; ourselves, that we might be in a place where we too might be used in this revival effort in our churches, Trinity and Asbury.

The Preaching Mission can only be as successful as we want it to be. We all must do our part if this is to be a successful mission.

The United Lenten Services will be held the next two Sunday nights, March 5 and 12 at Trinity Church. The Last two services will fall during the preaching mission and because of the problem of seating space, these will both be held at Asbury Church March 19 and March 26.

Remember all of our united services and pray for God's continued guidance in all that we undertake to do toward the building of His kingdom and the conducting of kingdom business.

Sunday, March 5 — 9:45, Sunday School hour. William Jester, general superintendent; Virginia Shultie, Primary superintendent. Our attendance has been picking up from Sunday to Sunday. Let us all continue to make the effort to increase our Sunday School attendance. Invite someone to come to Sunday School, offer to bring someone with you.

Everyone welcome—Classes for all ages:

The Rev. Benjamin will conduct during the Sunday School hour, for the next four weeks, a class in church membership. These classes are open to all interested persons. Those who are interested should contact the Rev. Benjamin by Saturday, March 4. The classes will be held in the parsonage.

11 o'clock, morning worship. The greeters and flowers will be by the O.U.R. Class.

Music will be by the Senior and the Junior Choirs.

6:30 o'clock the Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet for their regular weekly meeting. The Rev. Benjamin will lead the group.

7:30 o'clock, the United Lenten Service. Music will be by the Intermediate Choir under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin. Mrs. Mary Ann Draper will sing a special solo number. The Rev. Olin J. Shockley will preach.

The Loyal Workers Bible Class will hold its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Lelia Hopkins on Vernon Road, Monday evening, 7:30 o'clock.

The O.U.R. Class will hold a businessmen's luncheon on Tuesday, March 7. The price of the luncheon is 75 cents and tickets are available through class members or at the parsonage. The menu will be: Beef soup, sandwiches (ham and chicken), pie and coffee.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service will be held in the chapel room at 7:30 on Tuesday evening.

The mothers of the Intermediate Choir wish to thank all who helped in any way to make the hat sale of Friday night a success.

At the meeting of the Official Board Monday evening, the Rev. Benjamin reported that the Sacrament of Baptism would be performed during the worship hour on Palm Sunday, March 26. Also he reported that reception of new members would take place on Easter Sunday, during the morning worship service.

At a joint meeting of the commission on membership of Trinity and Asbury Church, Monday evening, final plans were made for the coming preaching mission. Plans were set for a united 24-hour prayer vigil to be held on March 15 and 16 (Wednesday and Thursday) before the mission starts.

Baptist Church News

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a. m. with Howard Sutcliffe, superintendent. The lesson in the adult class this week will be "A Test of Discipleship," taught by William Pritchett.

Morning worship begins at 11 o'clock. This Lord's Day, the pastor will speak on "The Power of Prayer". At our evening service which starts at 7:30, he will speak on "What Will Happen On Earth After The Church Is Gone?"

Bible study and prayer service Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., at the church.

Choir practice Friday evening at the parsonage at 8 o'clock.

Baptists believe that salvation is the state of being saved. He is saved who has been removed from the evil or dangers which threatened him. The common Bible use of the word salvation relates to moral and spiritual things, from breaking the divine law and from the consequences of its breaking.

This salvation deals with what a man is as well as with what he does. A saved man is a man who is changed within himself. He is changed in respect to God. He is saved from the consequences of sin. Salvation changes a man's character. It changes also his prospects.

If you are looking for a church home with a Bible message, we invite you to come worship with us.

R. E. Anderson, Jr., To Speak at U. of Del.

Ross E. Anderson, Jr., executive vice president of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, will be one of four keynote speakers at the annual Education and Reading Conference at the University of Delaware next Friday and Saturday.

The 1961 conference is devoted to the theme, "Aiding the Retarded Reader," and is sponsored by the reading-study center of the school of education.

Mr. Anderson will speak at a Saturday luncheon session at Kent Dining Hall, on the topic, "Business in Education—Education in Business."

Throughout the two-day conference, panels and speakers of interest to primary, elementary, intermediate and junior high and senior high school teachers will be presented. Materials on reading and testing will be exhibited and publications of the proceedings of previous conferences will be on sale.

Other speakers will be Dr. Ralph J. Staiger, director of the reading clinic at Mississippi Southern College; Albert J. Harris, of the educational clinic of Queens College, and Dr. Jules Abrams, director of the Reading Improvement Institute, Philadelphia.

Prior to his appointment recently in Delaware, Mr. Anderson has been with the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce since 1954 as assistant to the executive vice president and director of the service department.

He has been in Chamber of Commerce work for 14 years in various locations, including Kalamazoo, Mich., and Streator, Ill. In both cities, Mr. Anderson was instrumental in getting the chambers on a sound operating and financial basis for community projects.

At Streator he successfully organized campaigns that called for new elementary schools, and instituted there "Business-Education Day." Before leaving Missouri he served on a board of education.

He is a graduate of Baker University in business administration, he has taken advanced work in management seminars at Southwestern Institute and the University of Houston, and in 1959 he was an instructor at Houston.

Warm Chicks Pay Dividends

"Baby, it's cold outside" has been the chick's theme song this winter.

Fuel costs have gone up, along with mortality of chilled chicks and morbidity from disease outbreaks. Poor ventilation and wet litter will aggravate conditions says Ray Lloyd, Extension Poultryman, University of Delaware.

Adequate heat and ventilation pay big dividends in healthier chicks that grow better and continue to produce, the specialist continues. It is better to spend money on fuel than on medicine. Some broiler growers made the mistake of keeping windows closed to reduce costs. This results in wet houses and usually outbreaks of respiratory disease and heavy losses through condemnation.

If gas stoves are used, it is suggested that some type of supplementary heat be provided during very cold weather to raise room temperature, dry out litter and improve air circulation. One coal or oil stove to each two gas stoves makes a good combination for winter brooding under extremely cold conditions.

Whatever the type of heat used, just be sure there is enough to

1. Why are farmers not looked upon today as a lower class as the medieval farmers were?
2. In the Middle Ages a bright man could acquire nearly all of the knowledge of his day. Is that true today?
3. Can you think of any hindrances to trade today between nations?

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

What more pleasant way is there to show off family ties than to wear something that says, "We're look-alikes!" It's a wonderful feeling to be with someone you care about—not only in what you do, but sometimes in what you wear. It explains the steady request for mother-daughter dresses. And it's responsible for some of the loveliest sport clothes making the rounds today. Take a look, for instance, at this

CABLE CLASSIC
Our picture shows only the male version of this turtle neck standard. But it comes in women's sizes, too. You'll need two pairs of needles, and some time. The pattern is not difficult to knit, though; as long as you can master stockinette and cable stitches. The turtle neck, cuff and bottom edge are done in quick knit-one, purl-one ribbing; and the sleeves have the easy raglan line. You'll find your knitting-time well-spent when you take a Saturday walk together, or have friends over for a casual snack—you'll be conversation-getting twins.

SO ORDER NOW

This is a sweater welcome all through March and even April's brisker days. But you'll have to hurry if you're going to meet weather's deadline for both sweaters. So send a stamped, self-addressed envelope along with your request to the Needlecraft Department of this newspaper. Ask for Leaflet No. B-166. (Women's sizes come 12 through 20—Men's 36 through 44.) Incidentally, you'll find other exciting designs in the new booklet, "Easy-to-Knit Sweaters for the Family," available at the notions counters of most department stores.

Decisions In the New Home

Ground-breaking time is not far off for families planning to build a new home this spring. This means that selection of materials for the kitchen floor and counter tops must be made soon, according to Miss Patricia A. Middleton, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

"Shop carefully for counter-top and floor covering materials", advises Miss Middleton, "because they differ greatly in cost and appearance, making quality hard to determine." Durability, ease of cleaning, resistance to heat and stains, as well as cost, are important criteria to use in making your selection.

Materials such as linoleum and vinyl may be used for both floors and counter tops.

Linoleum is durable, easy to maintain, inexpensive, and very resistant to grease stains. However, it scorches with heat, is attacked by mildew and its colors fades in sunlight. Look for linoleum that has the color and pattern extending through to the backing, this insures longer lasting, attractive appearance.

Although relatively expensive, vinyl floor and counter covering materials have a smooth luxurious appearance and are resilient, extremely tough and resistant to grease, cleansers and solvents. It is somewhat susceptible to cuts and scratches.

Asphalt tile and rubber floor-covering materials also should be considered before making a final selection. Though inexpensive and attractive, asphalt materials lack dent-resistance and are not as easily maintained as other covering materials. Regular asphalt tile is softened and discolored by grease, oil and solvents. There are better-quality grease-resistant asphalt tiles available for the money, however.

Underfoot comfort and dent-resistance are the outstanding properties of rubber floor-coverings. They are durable and easy to maintain, but care should be taken to select a type that is resistant to oil and grease. Rubber floor-coverings are more expensive than the other materials with the exception of pure vinyl.

Cork floor-coverings are very resilient and absorb noise, but like all wood products they are damaged by water; so are better suited for use in bedrooms, halls and family-activity areas.

When selecting counter-top materials, laminated plastics such as formica, micarata, textolite and panelyte should be considered because of their hard, smooth surface and high resistance to heat and stain.

Ceramic tile, used as a counter-top covering, is not affected by heat, stains or mild scratching, but it does crack under sharp impact.

"Remember when you're shopping, that no floor or counter-top covering material possesses all the characteristics you might desire," Miss Middleton point out. "So determine the best material for your new house by considering your needs, activities and interests."

Feed Grain Survey To Get Under Way

A survey of all farms in Delaware which produce feed grains will get underway in the next day or so, according to Paul W. Mitchell of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

The survey is being conducted throughout the "major feed grain producing areas" (which includes all Delaware counties) as an advance step in connection with proposed feed grain programs now under discussion. The proposals would include adjusting the 1961 acreages of corn and other feed grains.

To put such a program into operation for 1961 crops in a manner which would be fair to all growers, accurate data must be obtained immediately for the possible establishment of feed grain base acreages for all farms in the major feed grain producing areas. Such information will include the acreage history of corn, grain sorghum, barley, and oats, as well as the acreage devoted to other crops and land uses, for all farms in the area where one or more of these feed grains were produced within the past two years.

In other counties—called the "minor" feed grain producing areas, such data will be obtained for each feed grain producing farm for which a request is made by the owner or operator of the farm.

Mr. Mitchell explained that it is the intention, as far as possible, for some worker from the county office to interview each farm operator or owner in each county whose farm has produced feed grains either in 1959 or 1960.

Delaware Food Market Report

Menu planning during March is always a challenge, for traditionally this is the month when variable weather tends to create variable appetites. To satisfy the ravenous but also attract the appetites, this month's list of plentiful foods is made to order. Lenten menus planned with an eye on the "plentiful" will be nutritious, taste-satisfying and good, also.

The feature foods according to the United States Department of Agriculture are cabbage and canned ripe olives. Cabbage, so rich in vitamin C, has been plentiful during the past two months and will continue to be during March. The versatile vegetable is a joy to serve in a variety of ways. As a vegetable it may be quartered, sliced or coarse-to-finely shredded-boiled, baked, fried, steamed or sauteed. In salads, it may be the base upon which gala-toned molded salads, fresh, frozen and/or canned fruits and vegetables rest. Cabbage can also be fashioned into a variety of elegant-to simple cole slaw.

When cooking cabbage, remember it takes only a few minutes to steam to perfect serving tenderness—over-cooking tends to destroy much of the characteristic goodness of cabbage, for both flavor and vitamin C are lost.

Now is the time to give eggs heavy booking on the menu. Supplies are increasing to their yearly peak, the large sizes are becoming increasingly abundant, and prices are falling to their annual low. Large-size eggs are an economical choice at this time. Although egg prices fluctuate, you can determine approximately the "best buy" by using the following rule—when there is greater the 7 or 8 cents difference in price per dozen between the large size egg and the smaller egg, the smaller egg is a better buy on a cost-per-pound basis.

Other plentiful for March are milk and dairy products, peanuts, and peanut products, cranberry products, rice, and California fresh dates.

Continue to expect liberal supplies of beef, lamb, and veal on local markets for the next several weeks. Beef marketings are 4 to 5 per cent larger than a year ago which accounts for the plentiful supplies we now have. Check the following meat items for good buys this weekend—beefsteaks, rich roast, round and chuck roast; lamb—leg of lamb, shoulder roast, lamb patties and the 3 in 1 combination package; veal-roast and a few steaks. At the poultry counter check turkeys, ducks, and broiling and roasting chickens. Broiler-fryers are plentiful also. Citrus fruit, apples, bananas, and rhubarb are leading fruit choices. Bulk apples, mainly the McIntosh, Cortland, and Rome varieties are reasonably priced. Bananas from Central America are increasing seasonally and prices are low, quality high.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—In a medical emergency, how should one go about getting a veteran admitted to a nearby VA hospital and getting an ambulance to take him to the hospital at Government expense?

A—The veteran's private physician should telephone the hospital and discuss the veteran's condition with the admitting physician of the hospital.

Q—I am the unremarried widow of a World War II veteran who never used his home loan guaranty benefits. Is it true, as I've been told, that I may be eligible to apply for VA guaranty on a home loan?

A—An unremarried widow of a World War II or Korean Conflict veteran is eligible for this benefit only if her husband died in service, or following separation from service, he died of a service-connected disability.

Q—I am a Korean veteran and have recently become unemployed. Am I still eligible for unemployment compensation, and if so, how much?

A—States vary on the rate of payment and on the length of time, following discharge from service, that military service will be included in the "base period" in establishing eligibility. Contact your nearest State Employment Service office. Take along your separation papers, Social Security card and a record of employment, both before and after military service.

Q—Can I be admitted to a VA domiciliary on short notice?

A—The veteran should not go to a VA domiciliary expecting to be admitted. The veteran should not be sent or taken to a domiciliary until prior approval for his admission has been received.

GEORGE BURNETTE

(Continued from Page 1) about the importance of the Delmarva poultry industry in lower Delaware, the eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia, it is questionable that there would be any growth in allied industries. At least 50% of our business can actually be credited to the poultry industry and we feel the full impact of this industry and there is no question in my mind that all allied industries are affected in the same way.

GOV.'S COMMITTEE

"It is generally agreed that Delaware has not 'lost' any Federal-aid money. . . . It is also generally agreed that Delaware is currently among the slowest states in the Union in obligating Federal moneys. . . .

"In this situation, we conclude that we can do not more than set out some of the facets of the problem. It is certain that the program is lagging. It is certain that Federal Funds will be lost to Delaware July 1, 1961, unless positive action is taken immediately.

"As we have previously noted, funds apportioned to Delaware in the fiscal year 1960 must be obligated by June 30, 1961. Our investigation indicates that funds from this year totaling about $5,400,000 have been obligated, but funds totaling roundly $13,600,000 have not been obligated. The fact is that this sum of $13,600,000 must be obligated for specific projects by next June 30 or it will be lost to Delaware. And obligation takes time.

"The last step in obligation is the signing of a Project Agreement with the Bureau of Public Roads. Before such an agreement can be signed there must be a signed construction contract. And before such a contract can be signed, the plans and specifications must be completed, the project must have been cleared through the Highway Department, the Bureau of Roads must have been received, and contracts must have been awarded. And as a practical matter, the State will have to have the funds with which to pay the contractor as work proceeds. There is no time to lose."

"For these reasons," the Governor pointed out, "it is my hope and urgent request that the Legislature will as first order of business upon its return March 13, again take up the matter of a Highway Bond Bill and will enact a suitable Bond Bill without any further delay. In so doing, they will be responding to the critical needs of the people of Delaware and the recent call of President Kennedy who stated, in a wire to me dated Feb. 16: 'I urge prompt consideration of specific action at every level of government in this country to invigorate our economy, including acceleration of state and local projects that are genuinely useful and will provide immediate jobs and business help. I also personally want to emphasize the fact that the Federal Government has released for obligation this month $724 million for the Federal Aid Highway Program—Use of these funds is now largely dependent on state and local action. I will appreciate your cooperation to speed these and other needed public programs to strengthen the economy in your area and throughout the Nation.'"

"Let each be considered and decided on its merits. If this is done, I am confident each will be accomplished on its merits and our people will be best served."

Dr. R. C. Staiger to Keynote Reading Conference

A remedial teacher who takes an interest in his pupils is more likely to succeed than one who does not.

This statement will be developed by Dr. Ralph C. Staiger, director of the reading clinic at Mississippi Southern College, in his keynote address at the opening session of the annual Education and Reading Conference on Friday afternoon at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Staiger will be one of four principal clinicians at the conference which will continue through Saturday under the sponsorship of the university's reading-study center.

The conference, devoted to the theme, "Aiding the Retarded Reader," will offer speakers and panels of interest to primary, elementary, intermediate and junior high and senior high school teachers.

Dr. Staiger in his talk, "The Role of the Remedial Reading Teacher," will attempt to point out that remedial teaching is more than just caring, and that setting professional standards is not enough. He will describe and explain the many things that the teacher must be.

The speaker is a former teacher in elementary and high schools in New York, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and was supervising principal of the Portland, Pa., Schools before embarking on a full time study of reading and other language arts. He holds degrees from Columbia University Teachers College and doctorate in education from Temple University, where he was supervisor in the reading clinic laboratory school. He has taught in summer programs at Rutgers, Cornell and Syracuse, and has been active speaker at reading conferences throughout the country.

Dr. Staiger has been active in the affairs of the International Reading Association as a director, and is member of the executive committee of the National Reading Conference.

Other conference speakers will be Dr. Jules Abrams, director of the Reading Improvement Institute in Philadelphia; Ross E. Anderson, Jr., executive vice president of the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Albert J. Harris, professor of education and director of the educational clinic at Queens College.

3rd Production of Season Set at The Univ. of Del.

The Boy Friend, third major production by the E 52 University Theatre during the 1960-61 season, will be presented in Mitchell Hall on the University of Delaware campus, March 9, 10, 11, 17 and 18.

Although different in style from Carousel, the musical spectacular presented last year, the show promises to be a delightful evening in the theatre.

The Boy Friend is a lampoon of the entertainment patterns of the madcap decade that starred Babe Ruth, Texas Guinan, speakies, flat-chested flappers and men in plus-fours. It parodies the songs that delighted the era—thin, mechanical jazz, silly but elaborate lyrics that rhyme "necessity" with "confess it he," and the amusing banal love songs. It also is a travesty of the plot and dialogue styles of the musicals of that period.

Its plot is, of course, a Cinderella story about a wistful, lonely, rich girl who falls in love with an attractive messenger boy, whose station dooms their romance. But just when the heroine's heart is about to break, she learns that her lovely beau is none other than the eligible son of a British peer.

For sub-plots, the heroine's three girl friends in boarding school also have their frustrating romances, and a long-separated older couple experience a tentative fanning of their old flame for each other.

As pointed out by Brooks Atkinson, New York Times drama critic, when The Boy Friend first scored its hit on Broadway, the show's racy caricature of the 'twenties accounts only for a part of its success. "In an elusive fashion," he said, "The Boy Friend is also charming."

Among the quaint songs that neatly represent the era of the 'twenties are "Won't You Charleston With Me?" a love ballad, "I Could Be Happy With You," a production number, "Sur Le Plage," a song of longing, "A Room In Bloomsbury," and a humorous ditty, "It's Never Too Late to Fall in Love" Nearly all carry the atmosphere of the tea-dances among potted-palms in smart hotels that were the fashions of Fitzgerald's novels.

Jack Erthal and Sara Hinman have the leading roles of the hero and heroine. Helen Poore, Barbara Mateyka, and Sandra Williams will be seen as classmates at the boarding school and Katherine Ann Salvatore will be the headmistresses. Other members of the cast are Ken Shelin, Elizabeth Stiff, Allison Ford, Thomas Lackman, Carol Matthes and James Marmon.
