

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED TO IDEA OF CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

In discussion of the referendum to be held April 15, the question has been raised several times as to what has happened to the central high school idea proposed for Felton, Harrington, and Frederica. This proposal was originally discussed in the fall of 1959 at which time state officials expressed the hope that the Kent County Vocational facility could be located in the area of these three schools, and it would be possible to combine such a facility with a comprehensive high school.

The boards of these three districts approved this idea. The Harrington Board qualified its approval with the understanding that such a central high school would be feasible only if the vocational facility was a part of the plan.

Funds to carry out such construction were in the 1960 School Bond Bill put before the State Legislature. No action was taken by the State Board of Education to approve this area request, and the State Legislature expressed its reluctance to approve funds for such a consolidated school. As late as August, 1960, the Harrington Board reaffirmed its stand toward a central high school and sent a letter to Dr. Miller backing such a stand provided that the school was located between Harrington, Felton, and Frederica, and providing the Kent County Vocational School was made part of this comprehensive high school.

The state took no action until the meeting of the State Board of Education in September. On September 23, Dr. George R. Miller, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, sent the following letter to Roland Hitchens, president of the Harrington Board of Education which stated:

"The State Board of Education wishes to commend the members of the Harrington, Felton and Frederica Boards for their interest and initiative in their study to improve the educational opportunities in Kent County, a study which has been characterized by the expenditure of countless hours and careful research procedures.

"The State Board after a very careful review of all the factors involved concluded unanimously that the plan of locating the sole Kent County Vocational facility in the Harrington-Felton-Frederica area could no longer be supported. This conclusion was arrived at for the following reasons: at the time of the acceptance of the proposed plan by the State Board, two vocational facilities were being considered, one in the Harrington-Felton-Frederica area, the other in the Middletown-Smyrna area. The former was to serve pupils in the southern part of the county, the latter whose in the northern section. With the withdrawal of the Middletown-Smyrna proposal a new problem was injected into the planning—a larger number of pupils would necessarily have to be transported greater distances to the vocational facility if it were located as originally planned in the Harrington area. All of the available figures and sound educational thinking indicated that the place where vocational facilities would serve the greatest number of pupils best and most economically lay somewhere in the Caesar Rodney-Dover area.

"The good faith of the State Board and the State Department was clearly shown by the inclusion of the proposal in the original omnibus school construction bill by members of the General Assembly.

"It is the Board's hope that you will understand that the members of the Board have a responsibility to view the state as a whole and to act in the interests of the greatest number of the boys and girls to be educated. This responsibility, they feel has been fully met in making this decision.

"The State Board of Education urges further careful consideration of the possible consolidation of the areas involved for high school purposes so as to provide broader educational opportunities for the young people."

In the meantime the State Legislature approved the School Bond Bill of 1960 after deleting any funds for a Harrington-Felton-Frederica Comprehensive (Continued on Page 8)

License Suspensions Increase in Kent-Sussex Counties

Almost one-half of the motorists who had their operator's licenses suspended for various periods of time during February, by the Driver Improvement Bureau, reside in Kent and Sussex Counties.

According to a report of the Motor Vehicle Department, a total of 124 motorists had their licenses suspended during February and of this number 61 resided in Kent and Sussex Counties.

The records reveal that 27 were from Kent County, including Milford, with five being in the general Dover area, while the remaining 34 were from Sussex County.

The suspensions were for various periods of time and were caused by infractions of the motor vehicle laws, including driving records, with speed causing the most suspensions.

Slaughter Beach Passes Million Dollar Mark in Property Valuation

The town of Slaughter Beach, Delaware's growing seaside resort has passed the million dollar mark in property valuation according to the 1961 assessment filed to the Town Board by zoning commissioner and tax collector E. C. Evans.

Since the 1960 assessment in use a complete revisionment of the town tax records has been in progress with the report filed showing a gain of $64,000. In real estate property being added for 1961, putting the assessed valuation over the million mark.

According to the Charter approved by the State Legislature, the Sussex County Assessment must apply for town taxation, while the rate per $100 of valuation may be raised or lowered at the discretion of the Town Board, the same rate of 50 cents per $100, as set by the County has been used.

While the returns from taxes is limited, trash collection throughout the year is maintained, street lighting has also been made a year round service, public rest rooms and a picnic pavilion has been erected, and placed at the public disposal with a paid attendant throughout the summer season.

A modern fire house with 3 units of equipment is in operation. A zoning code of several years standing controls the type of building permitted, and town permits must be secured before construction of any kind are permitted. The town water and electric system are privately owned, and operated. The Lincoln Ellendale Electric Company supplies the electric, and the Slaughter Beach Water Company the water. C.K.R.T. Post Celebrates 42nd Anniversary

The local American Legion Post celebrated its 42nd anniversary Saturday night with a spaghetti dinner at the post home.

Now known as Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tea Post No. 7, it was originally known as Fleming Post after a soldier who lost his life in France in World War I.

Of the charter members, two are alive—Benjamin Emory and Earl Sylvester. The latter attended the dinner Saturday night.

Post Commander Frank O'Neal told of the history of the post. It first owned what was known as Knox Apartments and later bought its present home on U.S. 13. The commander told of improvements to the building and of the building of a swimming pool last summer.

L. Gooden Callaway, commander of the Department of Delaware and a past commander of the local post, said the local post had also three other state department officials—Mrs. Clyde Tucker, president of the state auxiliary; the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr., state chaplain, and Mrs. Merle Roth, state historian.

Motor Fuel Taxes Show Decrease

The snow storms, and difficult travel conditions prevailing in this state during January, were reflected in the returns on motor fuel taxes for that month which showed a decrease of $17,374.23 as compared with the receipts for the same month of the previous year.

The total amount of motor fuel taxes for January, which were received during February, was $638,559.90 and while this was a decrease of $17,374.23 over the amount received for January of 1960, it was $1,542.76 more than was received during January of 1959.

The taxes received for January represented the sale of 12,771,197 gallons of motor fuel, a decrease of 1,946,509 gallons over the amount sold during the previous January.

A report covering the January sales of motor fuel, prepared for James J. Deputy, secretary of the State Highway Department and administrator of the Motor Fuel Tax Division, by Roy B. Kemp, Jr., supervisor of the Division, showed that a total of 52 bonded distributors reported on their January transactions.

Of this number four distributors reported sales that produced $334,214.63, or about 51 per cent of the taxes paid. They were Atlantic Refining Co., $77,396.76; Gulf Oil Corp., $78,960.37; Humble Oil & Refining Co., $126,460.23 and Sun Oil Co., $51,397.27.

Tarburton Loses Plea on Recount

The Delaware Supreme Court has turned down a recount bid by the only Democrat to lose a countywide office in Kent County last Nov. 8.

The high court dismissed a petition for a recount of absentee ballots filed by John G. Tarburton, who lost by three votes his bid for a Levy Court seat to Republican Fred B. Carey Sr.

Tarburton challenged the legality of some of the absentee ballots and sought to force the Board of Canvass to reconvene and recount the absentee ballots in six election districts.

The court emphasized that a special remedy is available in contested elections.

Harrington Heart Fund Hits New High

Lloyd R. Leslie, Delaware's 1961 Heart Fund chairman, announced today that local support of the battle against heart and blood vessel diseases had reached a record figure of $866.40. This is almost a 30 per cent increase over last year's total of $516.65.

"Mrs. Humes and her committee are to be congratulated for the enthusiastic and wholehearted support they generated for the drive and the effective job they did of presenting the aims and accomplishments of the Delaware Heart Association to the citizens of the Harrington area," Mr. Leslie said.

In order to increase the effectiveness of the Heart Fund Drive, Mrs. Humes recruited three persons to serve as chairmen for rural Harrington: Mrs. Frank Tharp, Mrs. Alvin Black and Mrs. James Coady.

While all the returns are not in, to date these areas have accounted for the following amounts: Mrs. Tharp, $59.73; Mrs. Black, $64.32; Mrs. Coady $23.72. The extension of the drive into the rural area of Harrington has thus accounted for $147.77 of the $349.00 increase.

Mrs. Humes, prominent local clubwoman and civic leader is the president of the Delaware Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and is co-owner of the Credit Security Bureau, Inc., and Harrington Homes, Inc., along with L. Gooden Callaway, Harrington's magistrate, who is chairman of the Heart Fund in Kent County and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Delaware Heart Association.

Mr. Leslie also commended the results of the Heart Fund Campaign in Felton where the record $319.81 was raised from an area having a population of approximately 450 persons. Mrs. Reynolds Sipple was the chairman in Felton responsible for this outstanding achievement.

Throughout Kent County the returns are not all counted as yet, but last year's total of $7,164.84 is almost certain to be surpassed. To date a total of $5,478.44 has been received. Persons who were not home when their neighbor solicitor called are urged to join the fight against this most universal health enemy by sending their contribution in the envelope left at their door.

To aid the government, oil firms in Venezuela agreed to prepay $100 million in 1961 taxes.

This scholarship is to be awarded yearly to students from the Harrington or Felton High Schools who wish to attend college and qualify for the award.

Eighteen Schools Entered in State Wrestling Tourney

The largest field ever entered in the Delaware Interscholastic Wrestling Tournament has been announced for this weekend's meet by Gene Watson, tourney director.

Eighteen schools will vie for state honors at Carpenter Field House Friday and Saturday, compared to 13 last year.

They are Dickinson, Claymont, P. S. duPont, Mt. Pleasant, Newark, Caesar Rodney, St. Andrew's, Millsboro, Delmar, William Penn, Milford, Dover, Brandywine, Georgetown, Tower Hill, De La Warr, Smyrna and Conrad.

Some 96 athletes have been selected, representing the top eight men in each of 12 weight classes, based on seasonal records.

Brandywine, the Blue Hen Conference champion, is the meet favorite on sheer strength of numbers. It is the only school that has had its whole team selected for the tournament. Newark High is rated runnerup with entries in all but one class.

St. Andrew's, the tournament champion since its inception five years ago, has only six men entered. The Middletown school was a pioneer in wrestling in the state and has found it increasingly difficult to hold its title as competition grows tougher each succeeding year. St. Andrew's won by only three points over Brandywine last year.

Seven 1960 champions return, but only one, Tom Stewart-Gordon, will be defending. He is first seeded at heavyweight. All others move up in weight class.

William Penn's Bob Watson, champion at 95 pounds last year will be at 103 pounds; Dave Jones, of Milford, last year's 103 winner, will be at 112; Bill Ford, most outstanding wrestler of 1960 at 133 from William Penn, is first-seeded at 138; Bob Harmer, of Newark, moves from 138 to 145; Gary Baker, of Brandywine, moves from 145 to 154, and Dick Nichols, of Mt. Pleasant, moves from 154 to 165.

Another 1960 champion, Ott Brown, of Newark, is listed as first alternate at 127 pounds, and will not wrestle unless someone is withdrawn from the meet.

All of the first-seeded wrestlers are undefeated in regular season competition, said Watson. In addition to Ford and Stewart-Gordon, they are Stan LeCates, Delmar, 95; Bob McDonald, Brandywine, 103; Joe Daniels, William Penn, 112; Brice Corder, Milford, 120; Randy Marshall, Brandywine, 127; John Hueberger, Newark, 133; Jim Weightman, William Penn, 145; Howard Allen, Milford, 154; Pete Hentschell, Tower Hill, 165, and Sam Fader, Newark, 180.

Preliminary matches will get under way on Friday at 7 p.m. Semi-finals begin Saturday at 2 p.m., followed by consolation matches and finals at 7 p.m.

The Institute is sponsored by the Distributive Education Service of the State Department of Public Instruction, Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce, U. S. This Institute will try to achieve this purpose.

Those persons desiring additional information are requested to contact Mr. Dodrill at REdfield 4-5711, Extension 234.

Getting Away From You?

Does money slip away from you, Dad? Maybe it's not the high cost of living. Maybe there's a hole in your pocket, says Janet Reed, extension clothing specialist with the University of Delaware.

If this is the case, just tell Mom that restitching is all that's needed to patching up small holes. But clue her in that this is only a temporary measure and soon a safer, longer-lasting repair job will be necessary.

Press-on or sew-on half-pockets are available for mending pockets that have worn thin at the bottom. Just cut off the lower part of the pocket and replace it with a half pocket. The sew-on variety may be a safer bet if your carry lots of coins. The iron-on kind may not hold up as well.

If the entire pocket has worn thin, break the news that the whole thing will have to be replaced. The procedure isn't so hard. Just cut off the old pocket close to the wool facing inside the pocket mount and then sew the new pocket to the old wool facings. Instructions come with the replacement pocket.

Girl Scouts To Celebrate 49th Anniversary

Girl Scout "forty-niners" are celebrating their anniversary week from Sun., March 12, through Sat., March 18, throughout the Peninsula Girl Scout Council.

These "forty-niners", 3 1/2 million strong, are members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. who will be observing the 49th year of Scouting since Juliette Low established the first troop in Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912.

The gold which 17,000,000 Girl Scouts have discovered since 1912 is not found in mines but in the Promise and Laws of Girl Scouting, a code of ethics which is meaningful to girls of every creed, race and national origin.

The spirit of adventure which inspired the gold-seeking "forty-niners" is still very much alive in Girl Scouting today. The Girl Scout program offers each girl an opportunity to explore a large variety of fields — everything from child care to space study. In the course of their exploration the scouts serve their communities as hospital, library, museum, child care and occupational therapy aides, to cite only a few areas of service. Some girls help to promote international friendship by assisting foreign visitors.

Many former scouts will tell you that it was during their scouting years that they discovered their future vocations and avocations.

As professional workers, as homemakers and as good citizens, Girl Scouts of yesterday serve our community, our nation and the world today.

We may well be proud of our Girl Scout "forty-niners" of 1961.

Johnson, so be sure to be there, receive benefits and enjoy yourself.

Please don't forget the Lenten communion breakfast for the men of the church which will be held in Calvary Methodist Church, Milford, Sunday, beginning at 7 a.m.

We are looking forward to the supper Saturday, in the Libby cafeteria, beginning at 4 p.m. This supper is being sponsored by the O.U.R. Price of tickets, adults $1.50, children, under 12 years 75 cents. The proceeds will go to the church budget.

Dr. Alpheus Ball, Rocketry Lecturer

Propellant Processing will be the topic of discussion tomorrow afternoon in the fourth meeting of the seminar on Solid Propellant Rocketry being conducted currently at the University of Delaware by the division of extension in co-operation with the Delaware section of the American Rocket Society.

Dr. Alpheus M. Ball, senior technical specialist in the chemical propulsion division of the Hercules Powder Company, will at 4:30 p.m. in 140 DuPont Hall on the university campus in Newark. His talk will deal with propellants based on nitrocellulose, which comprise nitrocellulose, oxidant plasticizers and fuel plasticizers in a wide variety of compositions and geometries. The more important processes in use will be described, and the talk will be illustrated with slides.

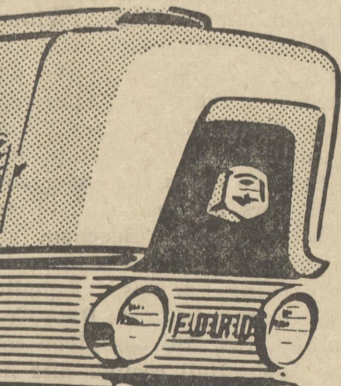

A graduate of the California Institute of Technology, Dr. Ball received his Ph. D. from Yale University. During World War II he was at the Radford Arsenal, and his initial assignment with Hercules was as technical director at the Wilmington Research Center. Before joining the chemical propulsion division, he was manager of the explosives research division.

Because of his long background of experience in propellant and explosives development, Dr. Ball is currently serving as consultant to numerous government agencies, including the office of the Secretary of Defense, the Naval Ordnance Test Station, Picatinny Arsenal and the Naval Gunpowder Factory.

Persons interested in attending the 12-week seminar should have a competence in mathematics and the physical sciences equivalent to that of a senior undergraduate science or engineering student. Admissions to single meetings in the seminar, which will continue on Friday afternoons until May 12, is $1.50.

Pilgrim Holiness Church Notes

Sunday School 10 o'clock. Sunday, March 12, will be Bible Sunday with awards being given to the person with the oldest Bible, the person with the largest Bible, and the person with the smallest Bible.

Morning worship 11 o'clock. Special choir song by the Young People's Choir. The morning message will be delivered by our pastor, the Rev. William F. Miller. His sermon topic will be, "Our Beloved Bible." The message is given in the light of the fact that 1961 designates the 350th anniversary of the authorized King James Version of the Bible of 1611.

Pilgrim Youth Service 7 p.m. "Missions in Miniature" will be the topic. Evening evangelistic service, 7:45 p.m. A singspiration plus a message from the Bible. An inspirational service with an evangelistic appeal. You are invited to worship with us in our services where we endeavor to exalt Jesus Christ, not a creed.

The annual Sunday School attendance campaign is off to a good start with 246 attending our school the first Sunday in March. The campaign will continue through the month of March and lead up to our annual Easter Rally Service, April 2. The purpose of this Sunday School promotion is two fold; first, to reach new scholars who are not regularly attending Sunday School, and secondly, to bring back absentees who because of illness, or weather conditions, were hindered from attending Sunday School during the winter months. Each Sunday in March has been given a significant name with this coming Sunday designated as Bible Sunday. March 19, a guest will be present to address the Sunday School and to bring the message during the morning service.

Some extensive planning is developing for our Anniversary Sunday, March 26, as we celebrate the 5th year in the new church building on Delaware Avenue. If you do not attend Sunday School or your children do not attend Sunday School, please contact the Rev. Miller. You are cordially invited to attend our growing Sunday School. Robert Wix and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wervine, of Greenwood, are enjoying a vacation in Florida at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Maloney brought their new son, Patrick Scott, to Sunday School and to church this past Sunday.

Word has also been received that Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brown, of Dover, are the happy parents of a new boy. They are former residents of the Law's Church area and attended our church while in this area.

Mrs. Edythe Melvin, Mr. J. W. Mitchell, and Lester Moore are patients at Milford Memorial Hospital at this writing.

Of the Bible, Martin Luther said; "It is the only book to which all the books of the world are as waste paper."

This is Bible year. We are thinking especially of the authorized version, issued 350 years ago. May we read it, and learn it. May we take its teachings to heart.

Two chaplains will be employed (one a Spanish-speaking one), a child care center will be set up in Staytonville, and funds will be made available to the State Board of Education to conduct a summer school for migrant children.

Mrs. George H. Latham, president of United Church Women, is chairman for the migrant fund drive. Others on the committee are Mrs. John Birl, Georgetown, Mrs. William B. Hickman, Harbeson; Mrs. John Longbotham, and Mrs. Eldridge Pretzman, Milford; the Rev. Perry Hill, Milford; Mrs. Donald Maple, Seaford; Mrs. Harold Hinchman, and Mrs. H. History of Harrington Schools Outlined As Referendum Nears

The buildings of Harrington Special School District consist of areas built at four different times. The original building on the corner of Dorman and Center Streets, was built in 1912 and at the present time is used primarily for Senior and Junior High School Academic Grades.

The second section, known as the High School Building, is the next section to the north of the original building. It was built in 1929 and contains the few laboratories and homelike facilities which are available to the school.

The third section, built in 1962, consisting of the elementary wing and administrative offices, is connected to the High School Building and extends to the north. Grades one through five and the school cafeteria are located in this building.

In addition to the regular classes, Harrington provides three special classes. Two of these classes are located in the basement of the 1912 building, while the third, for trainable children, is located in the National Guard Armory.

For the past several years the Board of Education has realized the facilities at the Harrington School were totally inadequate for the school population. On November 8, 1958, the Board conducted a referendum to approve a bond issue of $400,000 as their share of a million dollar building program to provide new high school facilities for the district.

In the winter following the defeat of this referendum, the Board of Education formed a citizens' advisory committee and held several meetings with this group. Upon the recommendation of this advisory committee, the Board decided to go ahead with another referendum in 1959, and as a result of this decision, hired Buchart Associates to design elementary and high school facilities projected for at least ten years.

In the fall of 1959, it was decided that time did not permit a referendum on the bond issue which expired in December of that year. At about this time, the likelihood of a Kent County Vocational facility to be located somewhere in the Harrington area, was discussed. The Harrington Board met with the Boards of Felton and Frederica and suggested to the State that a comprehensive high school for the three school districts, which would include the Kent County Vocational High School, be provided. On the Bond Issue of 1960 funds for such a proposed comprehensive high school were included only to be later stricken by the legislators.

During the same period of time these efforts were being made as far as the High Schools were concerned, the Board was using equal efforts to improve the facilities of the Pierre S. du Pont School. Back as far as 1958 the Board requested $285,000 for renovation of this school. Late that year this figure was changed to $473,000 and in the Bond Issue of 1960, $430,000 was approved for the construction of a new school at this location with the entire cost to be borne by the state.

At Selbyville the Lions were without two key performers Bob Gillette and Bill Porter. This fact plus a hot Rebel squad was enough to bring the Sussex Countians home in front by a score of 66-38.

Lions End Hoop Season, Drop Two More

By Keith S. Burgess

The Harrington High basketball team dropped its final two contests to Rehoboth and Selbyville since the last writing. The Lions had a Henlopen Conference record of five wins and ten losses and a ninth place finish in an eleven team league.

Rehoboth came to Harrington on Friday night with a past history of unparalleled success in league play. The Henlopen Conference is just finishing its second basketball season and no league team has ever beaten the Seahawks. The visitors couldn't hit for the first three minutes but after that their well-oiled attack began to function smoothly.

Walt Lekites was the Harrington scoring leader with 12 points followed by George Pfeiffer with 8. Bob Gillette also did well. Harrington girls team were defeated by Rehoboth 34-19 although the locals outscored the victors in the second half.

of the price at which the government awards the major part of the contract, the bidders are invited to negotiate for the balance of the "set aside" portion, provided they will match the low price. Priority is given in such negotiations to small business firms in the distressed areas (those which do not employ more than 625 persons or, in the construction industry, do not have a gross over $5,000,000.)

If no bidders are found in distressed areas that are able to match the price for which the main contract was let, negotiated contracts are invited from bidders outside the area of unemployment.

However, a Pentagon procurement official recently was quoted: "Usually, we don't have to go beyond the first two or three firms that are eligible to find a contractor who will take the set-aside portion."

Sometimes, the set-aside part of the contract, if it is large, is divided among several plants in areas of unemployment.

Last year the Defense Department placed two billion dollars of contracts in areas of unemployment. Some went to those areas by low bids, but probably half, or about one billion dollars, went on the basis of "set asides."

Although the number of areas in which there is substantial unemployment has now increased to 168 around the nation, the classification for Kent County means that industries in this area, particularly small plants, have a much better chance at defense contracts than before.

Some government agencies, notably the Post Office Department which buys a large quantity of supplies, are under obligation to place their purchase contracts, wherever possible, in areas of unemployment. Thus, the whole picture of bidding on government contracts is improved for local industry.

In the event of tie bids for any government contracts, the tie is broken by awarding it to the bidder in an area of unemployment, according to Mr. Golin.

Delawareans, visiting Abilene, Kan., and that area's many tourist attractions, will find at the Delaware Room in Abilene's newest tourist facility, the White House Motor Hotel, reminders of "home" advises the Delaware State Development Department.

Mr. Haber was tendered a farewell luncheon by the staff members with all 27 in attendance, at Alexander's Restaurant Friday.

"You who have directed the execution of the plans made by the department for public improvements, can feel proud that your integrity remained unquestioned as a result of the Attorney General's investigation," said Mr. Haber.

"Despite attempts in certain quarters to blacken the records of the Department, your actions have withstood the test and your accusers have found it impossible to locate some actions to support the charges that have been discussed rather freely by the persons who are denying badly needed highway improvements for the public."

Harrington A. C. Downs C.R. Alumni

Monday night the newly formed Harrington Athletic Club basketball team downed a weakened Caesar Rodney Alumni team 108-76. This was the first real game for the newly formed ball club. As the score indicates things went pretty well.

The A. C. team was paced by Phil Hodgkins and Sheldon Hayman, who tallied 31 and 22 points respectively. Hodgkins was especially good on defense, stealing several passes and then scoring. Bob Hoebee was the big man on the boards and he also tallied 16 points. D. Dernberger and S. Hayman were also grabbing off the rebounds. Lee Leyanna set up many scores with his sharp passing and ball handling. Roy Dill and Howard Thompson did very well as they each scored 10 points.

McCants and C. Dill paced C. R. with 24 and 14 points respectively. Caesar Rodney played without their ace, E. Joseph.

Travel Council To Hear New Jersey Official

Commissioner Salvatore A. Bontempo of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development will address the fourth annual dinner meeting of the Delaware Travel Council on March 22.

The dinner will be held at Hotel duPont, Wilmington, with a social hour beginning at 6:30 p. m., according to Harry B. Bissell, Jr., Council President.

The organization's Board of Directors will gather at 4:30 p. m., in the Hotel's Sussex Room for a business meeting, Bissell announced.

Among items on the agenda will be discussion of the travel industry survey now being conducted and meeting with officials of the American Motor Hotel Association.

Invitations have been extended to State officials from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland to participate.

Heading the First State guest list are Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, and Mayor John E. Babiarz of Wilmington.

Mr. Bissell said it was fortunate that Mr. Bontempo was available for March 22, since New Jersey has conducted annual surveys on its travel industry with which the commissioner is quite familiar. Bissell said he felt that since the neighboring states have so much in common, the evening would be well spent, and most informative for people in the industry.

Mr. Bontempo has been in the state's service since 1954. He was named administrator of the Spruce Run-Round Valley Project and appointed Deputy Commissioner of the Conservation and Economic Development Department a short time later.

Upon becoming Commissioner, Mr. Bontempo undertook a two-phase program based on wise utilization of existing state resources and the provision of proper planning for future development of the Meadowlands Regional Development Agency, a reclamation and development project comprising 15,000 acres of land.

During last year's political campaign, Mr. Bontempo served on President John F. Kennedy's Natural Resources Advisory Committee and he was also named to the advisory council of the United States Coast Guard in matters pertaining to boating and water traffic.

Mr. Bissell said that groups wishing to attend the dinner are invited to do so. He especially wants to see those promoting tourism, historic museums, and persons connected with the state's parks and natural resources at the dinner.

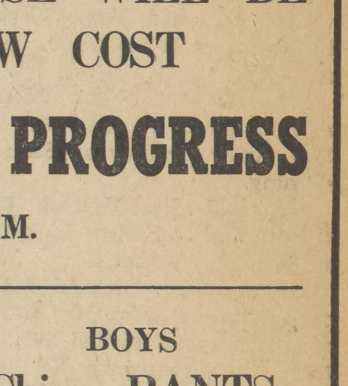

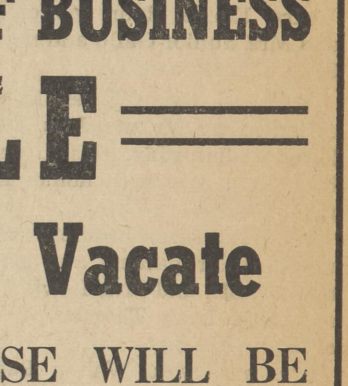

Bissell said his Board of Directors has plans to move forward in 1961 with a specific program of action to attract more travel business.

"We have authorized Dr. Dunn of the University of Delaware to serve as co-ordinator of a study which we hope will give us basic facts and a direction in which to go in determining what impact the travel business has on the state's economy," Bissell declared.

He said estimates vary, and only if the organization has some established facts can it hope to do the job intended.

The Travel Council was organized some years ago as an outgrowth of a conference sponsored by the Delaware State Development Department. There has been close liaison between the private and state agencies, Bissell said.

Caesar Rodney Honor Society Holds Induction Ceremony

The Caesar Rodney Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual induction ceremony at an assembly on Friday afternoon, March 3. Karen Wild led the devotions and the flag salute. Charles Shipley, president of the Caesar Rodney Honor Society, presented a resume on the purpose and history of the honor Society.

A student must first attain a scholastic average of 90.0 in order to be inducted. The high school faculty then considers all candidates for induction on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership and service. Membership in the National Honor Society is considered to be one of the highest honors that Caesar Rodney can bestow upon a student.

Bobby Murphy, Floyd Lovorn, Klaus Reichelt, and Virginia Field spoke on the ideals; character, scholarship, leadership, and service, respectively. Candles representing these ideals were lit by Patsy Raffray, Ann Kennedy, Judy Holland, and Sharon Weiss. Reverend Robert Duke, the guest speaker, gave an inspiring address on "Standards of Excellence."

The highlight of the ceremony took place as Jane Kesselring, Mary Ann Banning, Bonnie Bennett, and Alice Kraffert lit the candles of the nineteen new members. Dr. William B. Simpson, superintendent, administered the pledge and awarded certificates and pins to the following students: Seniors, Karen Collins and Karin Skjaeveland; Juniors: Lynne Sanborn, Kathy Faircloth, Janet McKnight, Priscilla Aubrey, Paula Floyd, Kenzel Vanderveende, Louise Wubbena, Sandra Wolleyhan, Barbara Lovece, Sandra Barnett, Christina Price, Evelyn Papan, Hayden Cuthrell, John Lottich, Horst Reichelt, Edward Hoover, and Edward Short. The ceremony was concluded as Charles Shipley extended his congratulations to the new members.

Mrs. Rita Ryan, sponsor of the group, greeted the parents of the members at a reception following the ceremony. Mrs. Dorothy B. Townsend, formerly sponsor of the Honor Society, assisted with the reception.

Baptist Church News

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages. This week we will be studying from John 14, "Our Ever-present Helper". This lesson points to the Holy Spirit as the answer to our need for permanent spiritual aid.

Our morning worship service begins at 11 o'clock. In the absence of our pastor, who will be assisting in a revival in Pennsylvania, our speaker will be Don Zimmer. At our Sunday evening service which begins at 7:30 our speaker will be Orville Smith.

March 25, the Harrington Baptist Chapel will present the film, "Going Steady," at 7:30 p.m. This is a look at the teenager's number one problem today. All teenagers and young people are invited to attend.

We will hold a revival April 9 through 20 at 7:30 each evening. Our evangelist will be the Rev. S. E. Byler, of McCaysville, Ga. The Rev. Byler was one time assistant to Dr. Robert G. Lee, one of the great preachers of the Southern Baptist Convention. Plan now to attend these services.

Bible study and prayer services will be held Wednesday evening at the church at 7:30. Baptists believe that God is revealed to men as the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. This does not mean that there are three Gods. Nor does it mean that the one God is three persons in the complete sense; strictly speaking, there is only one person. When we speak of the Godhead as including three persons, it is because our language is incapable of expressing the idea more clearly. It means that this One Person, whom we worship as the Father and the living God, is manifested in three characters, each of these being personal in nature, neither encroaching on the other, neither antagonistic to the other or morally capable of being so, and yet each being distinct and individual. (Wallace) If you are interested in a church with a gospel message, we invite you to come worship with us.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Church School 10 o'clock, Howard S. Wagner, superintendent. "Christ is With Us", is the theme of the lesson in the adult department.

Morning worship service 11 o'clock, conducted by the pastor. Special Lenten anthems will be rendered by the Crusader and Cathedral choirs. The sermon is entitled, "The Bearer of the Cross". A nursery for small children will be provided.

Evening worship service 7:30 o'clock at the Trinity Methodist Church. The Rev. Nelson Benjamin will preach. A good representation from our church is requested.

Communion breakfast will be served at the Calvary Methodist Church in Milford this Sunday at 7 a.m. Our men will meet at Asbury at 6:30 a.m.

The Mother's Auxiliary will meet Tuesday evening at 8 with Mrs. Fulton Downing. A 24 hour prayer vigil will be held in the chapel beginning Wednesday at 6 p.m. and concluding Thursday at 6 p.m. The purpose is to pray for the success of our coming evangelistic meetings, our community, nation, and ourselves. Trinity will join us in this adventure in faith and prayer.

The Junior Department of our Church School will hold a bake at Taylor's Hardware Saturday, March 18, beginning at 10 a.m. Our preaching mission will begin next Sunday, March 19, with the 11 o'clock service. Mrs. Coretta Mason will be our evangelist.

Altar flowers will be presented this week by Mrs. Smith Carson in memory of father. The Friendly Greeters this week are, Mrs. George Hanson and Mrs. Charles Rapp.

Folks had to be turned away at the Reese Theatre last week. It looks as if Delaware and Maryland theatre fans have gone "all out" in their approval of the "all family" shows being presented at Movie Center.

Another example of the "all family" presentation is the thrilling show listed for this Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11. The ever popular Jimmy Rogers is the star of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," the story read and loved by millions. Gordon Scott as Tarzan in "Tarzan's Greatest Adventure" completes this exciting presentation.

For downright laughter and frivolity, one can hardly afford to miss "The Marriage-Go-Round" with Susan Hayward and James Mason, listed for showing Sunday and Monday, March 12-13. Imagine a gal wanting to borrow Susan's husband. Then the fun begins.

The Reese Theatre will open on Thursday, March 16 and continue Fri., Sat., Sun., and Mon., March 16-17-18-19-20, five days for the special presentation of the world acclaimed "The World of Suzie Wong" with William Holden and Nancy Kwan, as Suzie Wong. Being adult entertainment and not recommended for children, a special children's matinee, "The Battle of Outer Space" and Randolph Scott in "Sante Fe" is listed for Sat., March 18, at 2:30 p.m. "The World of Suzie Wong" starts at 4:30 p.m.

This Is Egg Month

Nearly all segments of the egg industry are co-operating in a vigorous nationwide campaign to emphasize the many uses of eggs and their role as a key nutritional food. According to George Briggs, Georgetown, State chairman of the Egg Promotion Committee of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, March has again been officially designated National Egg Month.

Mr. Briggs said that this year's campaign, with the theme, "Eggs For Go Power" will place special emphasis upon eggs as an energy-serving food. During March, key agricultural personnel, national retail food organizations, home economists, extension specialists, college and university representatives and many others are co-operating with the Poultry and Egg National Board and the D.P.I.A. to bring the story of eggs to the nation's families.

The Poultry and Egg National Board, the egg industry's research, consumer information and promotion organization, serves as the nerve center for the gigantic promotion with the D.P.I.A. co-operating.

March is a month of high level egg production and the ideal time for American families to emphasize the consumption of eggs, one of nature's most versatile and complete foods. Mr. Briggs is also urging the co-operation of retail stores in calling consumer attention to the abundance of high quality eggs now on the market.

Farm Values Leveling Off - University Of Delaware Agricultural Credit Clinic

Dr. Howard G. Diesslin, associate managing director of the Farm Foundation, Chicago, told 150 Delaware bankers attending the Delaware Bankers Agricultural Clinic at the University of Delaware Thursday afternoon, that farm real estate values appear to be leveling off.

"For some years to come, we may look back to the March 1960 index of farm land values in the United States as the all-time high. Reports from around the country indicate that land values are leveling off in many areas, even declining appreciably in some areas. American agriculture has been faced with higher interest rates for some time now, along with rising taxes, as well as lower farm earnings. The result, as some point in time, must be lower farm real estate values. It appears that this point has been reached," Diesslin said.

George C. Simpson, chairman of the Delaware Bankers Agricultural Committee and director of the Peoples Bank of Harrington and Abram Z. Gottwals of the department of agriculture and public relations, First National Bank of Southern Maryland, Upper Marlboro, Md., were also on the program.

The program began after lunch. Dean George M. Worriolow of the University of Delaware school of agriculture, greeted the group and introduced Mr. Simpson who briefly explained the purpose of the "Delaware Bankers Agricultural Clinic" as an effort to point up the importance of the relationship between farmers and bankers.

Mr. Diesslin then spoke on "The Past and Future of Farmers' Capital and Credit Needs."

"The need for increased capital and credit as well as management capacity in American Agriculture will remain strong in the decade of the 1960's," Diesslin declared. "This will remain true even though total acres of crop land and farm workers in American agriculture will continue to decline. In an effort to further increase agricultural income, government programs will place a premium to continue mechanization and labor substitution at a rapid rate."

Mr. Diesslin, pointed out that net farm income declined approximately one-fourth while farm indebtedness doubled during the 1950's. Land values increased 50 per cent from the level of 1950 and are currently more than triple their 1940 value on the average for the whole country.

The financial implications of the farm situation, according to Diesslin, are these: (1) The earning capacity of a farm now becomes a significant factor in determining the debt-carrying capacity of the farm being financed. (2) The debt-carrying capacity of the upper one-third of our commercial farms has increased materially during the past two decades while the reverse situation holds for the lower-one-third of our commercial farms. (3) With each passing year, the finance problem in the non-commercial farm sector becomes more and more a problem of financing a nonfarm rather than a farm enterprise.

Mr. Gottwals followed Dr. Diesslin, discussing the "Mechanics and Techniques of Extending Agricultural Credit and Services." He said, "Delaware's agricultural business involves people, resources, action, constant change and progress. The production, processing and marketing of food, fiber, and forest products is one of the State's most important businesses. These changes have brought about a new approach to agricultural finance."

Mr. Gottwals said the banker must have a knowledge and appreciation for America's number one industry—that of feeding and clothing the people of this nation and the world—commonly referred to as "Agri-Business". He explained that it is important for the banker to have more complete records of each farm business.

In closing, Gottwals said agriculture is America's largest business and will continue to grow and will assume its proper perspective as its public relations improve.

The clinic ended with a panel answering questions from the audience. Panel members included Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics, University of Delaware, moderator; Marl Brown, vice president, Bank of Delaware and manager of the Seaford Office; Carroll C. Short, manager of the Delaware Trust Company, Middletown branch, and the two speakers, Diesslin and Gottwals.

The clinic, aimed at effecting better understanding of the credit needs of agriculture, emphasized the rise of new farming techniques which force the farmer to borrow in order to keep abreast of change.

McDowell Wants Intelligence Body

Congressman Harris B. McDowell Jr. (D-Del.) has urged the House Rules Committee to establish a Joint Senate-House Committee on Intelligence. The Delaware legislator, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, was testifying in support of his H. J. Res. 250 introduced in the House on Feb. 21, 1961.

The Delaware Democrat told Congressman Howard W. Smith and the other members of the Rules Committee that "the outrageously cynical practice of Government officials 'leaking' news items to reporters at Washington cocktail parties must be halted. The public through the press should have factual and forthright information, not a hodge podge of 'scotch rumors'."

Congressman McDowell reminded the Committee's members that President Kennedy called for a free flow of information from the executive branch of the government to Congress and the public.

In his first press Conference after taking office, President Kennedy said he was anxious to have a "maximum flow of information" compatible with national security.

President Kennedy said he did not believe the "national security" stamp should be put on mistakes of the administration which do not involve the national security. McDowell quoted from a speech by Ambassador Adlai Stevenson before the Pittsburgh Press Club April 19, 1956 as follows:

"The right of the people to know is basic to the preservation of our freedom and fundamental to our American way of life. The infringement of this right, whether by government or by groups or by individuals, no matter in what measure it may begin, will lead to tyranny, and to the death of liberty."

A Joint Congressional Committee on Intelligence was called for by the Task Force on Intelligence of the Hoover Commission, which declared that:

"There is always a danger that such freedom from restraints (as presently exist) could inspire laxity and abuses which might prove costly to the American people."

The Task Force urged a "reliable, systematic review of all Federal intelligence agencies and their operations."

Legislation similar to the McDowell bill has been introduced by a number of members of the Congress, among them Representative Edna Keyyp (D-N. Y.), chairman of a subcommittee on intelligence activities of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Both Congressman McDowell and Mrs. Kelly pointed to the civilian committee established by President Eisenhower in accordance with Hoover Commission recommendations.

They said the Congress "is shirking its responsibilities" in not carrying out the Hoover Commission recommendations regarding a Joint Congressional Committee on intelligence.

They cited the Geneva disarmament collapse, the Suez War, the Hungarian uprising, the downgrading of Stalin, Russian sputniks, the Cuban revolution, and the fact that the American ambassador was on vacation when the Hungarian revolution broke out as the kind of facts which the Government and the people should have been prepared for and would have been if the Government's intelligence officers were on the job.

The fact that there was no warning from the Government to prepare the country for such developments demonstrated the need for an authorized, responsible agency in the Congress to make available the information needed by the American people for an intelligent appraisal of world events.

Condition Ewes for Better Lambing

Ewes gaining weight going into lambing season will raise more lambs than ewes in poor condition, County Agent George Vapaa says.

A good many lambs can be saved each year by a little extra feed prior to lambing time. Ewes that are strong and gaining in weight will drop vigorous lambs and furnish plenty of milk. Farm flock owners doing supplemental feeding in late winter should pay particular attention to the condition of the ewes. Most ewes are carrying a three-quarter fleece of wool and may look to be in good condition, while actually losing weight. Poor quality roughage requires some protein supplement, but more important would be the addition of one-half to three-quarters pounds of concentrates the last six weeks of pregnancy. "Keep this up during her lactation period too," Mr. Vapaa said.

University of Delaware Summer School Session Offers Varied Apportunities

A number of institutes, workshops and conferences will be held in conjunction with the 1961 summer school session, scheduled for eight weeks, June 19 through August 11, at the University of Delaware.

A special program of Asian studies, a conference on recent developments in Africa, a series of lectures on economic issues in modern Latin America and a workshop on the troubled and the troublesome child are among the summer offerings.

Also scheduled are a summer language institute, an institute for teachers of science and mathematics and a conference on instruction.

The program of Asian studies is for students interested in developing their understanding of world affairs, particularly of the non-Western world. Ten scholarships of $50 each are being provided by the Asia Foundation and the Japan Society. Professor Roy Jumper, director of the Asian studies program at Wake Forest College, will be program co-ordinator.

A distinguished authority on African affairs, Professor Vernon McKay of the School of International Studies at Johns Hopkins University, will present three lectures on recent developments in Africa. Professor Marshall Knappen of the university's department of political science is arranging for this timely program.

Dr. David H. Shelton, of the department of economics and business administration, is co-ordinating and will participate in the lecture series in Latin America. Guest lecturers will be Dr. Robert J. Alexander, Rutgers University, and Serafino Roumaldi, executive secretary of the AFL-CIO Inter-American Affairs Committee. The conference will be held July 10-12.

Dr. Harold H. Mosak, a clinical psychologist on the staff of the Alfred Adler Institute in Chicago, will be director of the workshop on the troublesome child. Two hours of graduate or undergraduate credit will be granted to those who successfully complete the course which will run from Mon., July 17, through Fri., July 28.

The Summer Language Institute has been established for the second consecutive year at the University of Delaware by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Language Development program under provisions of the National Defense Education Act. Its programs are designed to help secondary school teachers of French and Spanish become more effective in their teaching and to enable elementary school teachers to incorporate languages instruction in their courses. The institute will be held from June 22 to August 11. A maximum of seven credits may be earned by qualified participants. Dr. Max Kirch is Institute director. Dr. John A. Brown of the university's school of education heads the Institute for teachers of science and mathematics which is being offered under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation. The Institute will be composed of 60 selected candidates who are currently teaching science or mathematics in secondary schools. The students will register for one compulsory seminar and two electives chosen from courses in biology, chemistry, physics of mathematics.

The Conference on Instruction has been planned for professional educators, especially those who need to guide schools in their own projects on instruction. Dr. Ole Sand, director of the NEA Project on Instruction, and Dr. Richard I. Miller, assistant director, will act as directors of the conference. It will be held on the university campus from July 10-14.

In addition to these special programs and events, will be the full-scale course offerings of the regular summer school program.

The summer session is designed to meet, so far as financial considerations permit, the defense needs of the nation as well as the requirements of the teachers of the state and the full-time undergraduate body.

Dean William O. Penrose, dean of the school of education, is summer school director for 1961.

Delawareans Are Busy Inventors

While Delaware is next to the bottom of the list of states in any comparison of size, its citizens rank first in the Nation for inventiveness advises the Delaware State Development Department.

Basing its observations on a tabulation made recently by the U. S. Patent Office, the state information agency points out that, in 1960—for the second straight year—Delaware lead the Nation in patents per capita with an average of one patent for each 1209 residents. The national average was one to every 3273 persons.

While the more populous and larger states naturally produced a greater number of inventors, no one of them topped Delaware percentage-wise, notes the state information agency. New Jersey, according to the Patent Office tabulation, was second to Delaware with an average of one patent grant to every 1701 persons, while Connecticut was third with one to every 1783 residents and Illinois fourth with an issuance of patent to one person out of each 2586 people.

A total of 41,979 patents were issued during calendar year 1960 to residents of the United States as compared with 46,937 patents for the previous year.

Acree-Marketing Guides Call for Cut in Summer, Fall Potatoes

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today recommended that Delaware growers reduce their total acreage of summer and fall potatoes this year by 2 per cent, or to 10,750 acres.

In issuing its acreage-marketing guides, USDA recommended specifically that growers:

Cut acreage of early-summer potatoes by two percent from last year; make no change from last year in acreage planted to late-summer potatoes; cut acreage planted to fall-crop potatoes five per cent from last year.

If growers get average yields on the recommended 1,202,300 acres of potatoes, their summer and fall crops combined will total 213 million cwt. This would be four per cent smaller than the 1960 crop, but almost equal to the 1959 crop.

For all the potato-growing seasons of 1961 (adding winter and spring to these summer and fall crops), USDA's recommended guides total 1,396,450 acres of potatoes, which is four per cent smaller than 1960 plantings. At average yields, this acreage would produce a crop of 245 million cwt.—a marketing guide which is 5 per cent less than last year's large crop.

Consumption of potatoes, per person, during the 1961 marketing year is expected to continue at about the same levels as in 1960 and 1959. However, the U. S. population continues to increase, and total consumption of potatoes for food in 1961 is expected to be up slightly from 1960. Accordingly, USDA has upped its marketing guide to 245 million cwt. for the year. This guide, 3 percent higher than the 1960 guide, is expected to supply all the potatoes the market needs, but not more than they can use.

The acreage-marketing guides are prepared and issued by USDA to help potato growers take the guesswork out of planning their production. This program is completely voluntary and growers make their own decisions as to whether to plant according to the Department's recommendations.

Magazine Sales Campaign Ends

The annual magazine campaign sponsored by the bands of the Harrington Special School District came to a close last week with the goal reached and passed by over four hundred dollars. The profits derived therefrom will go into a fund for new band uniforms for the Senior High School Band which now has reached $1300.

Melvin Brobst, director of the bands, wishes to publicly thank all student salesmen who helped in this project, as well as the citizens from this and other communities who supported this drive. It was the most successful magazine campaign ever held in the Harrington School.

Prizes for high salesmen went to Bobby Winkler who outsold all student salesmen who helped in this project, and was followed in respective order by Arthur Taylor, Stewart Greenberg, Donald Melvin, Jackie Abbott, Linda Layton, Nancy Callaway, Joan Smith, Barry Fry, Wayne Hendricks, Judy Burgess, Earl Coates, David Brobst, Billy Jester and Jackie Hopkins.

All students participating and brought in over ten dollars are eligible for the drawing. Other prizes include an ice cream treat, certificates of achievement from the Curtis Circulation Company, sponsors for the campaign, statuettes named "Oscars," and the winning team which in this case was the Senior High School and had all its participating members receiving a free ticket to the Reese Theatre. Daily prize for high salesmanship was a silver dollar.

Once again we wish to thank all who co-operated with this recent project by the three bands.

Recognition Dinner For Scouts Sunday

"Doctors, Lawyers, Indian Chiefs"—perhaps not Indian Chiefs, but nearly fifty different professions and vocations will be represented at the Del-Mar-Va Council's Annual Eagle Scout Recognition Dinner, March 12.

A record group of 83 young men attained the Eagle rank throughout the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula during 1960. Each Eagle will have a host for the dinner who is associated with the career in which the Scout has expressed interest. In addition to the dinner, the boys will spend one day "on the job" with these men.

Otis H. Smith, President of Fish Products Company, and Mayor of Lewes, will be the principal speaker. Smith is a trustee of the University of Delaware, and has traveled extensively throughout Europe in his capacity as Delaware State Chairman of Radio Free Europe.

Dorsey B. Kinnamon, Council Advancement chairman, has announced the program will include a demonstration of the Delaware State Police dogs under the direction of Trooper T. H. Everett. A presentation on "What the Eagle Badge Means to Me" will be made by Eagle Scout Thomas Davies, III, of Troop 56, First Presbyterian Church, Newark. Davies' host, the Rev. Donald C. Wilson, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, will give the invocation.

Dr. Carl W. Shuster of the University of Delaware and an active Scoutmaster will introduce the Eagle Scouts and their hosts. Also participating in the program will be Eugene R. Perry, president, and Forrest J. Sadler, Scout Executive of the Del-Mar-Va Council.

Council Training chairman George B. Fitzgerald of Salisbury, will be master of ceremonies for the event being held at the Treadway Inn, 5:45 p.m.

Nowadays, it's too easy to go into a store and buy something exactly like Mrs. Jones is going to buy, or just like Mrs. Green got last year. We want to live in homes surrounded by things that speak for us—that say this is mine—this is me—this is the way I am. Well, one sure way to get this individuality is by making the items yourself. You can devote either full or spare time, and get lovely effects for your home—effects that will be personal, and certain to gain appreciative comments from those around you.

GARNISH A GUEST TOWEL

Take this handsome towel, for example. The crocheted insert is about six inches wide and very simple to make. If you don't already know the chain, and single and double stitches, it won't take you long to master them... then, on to this pattern of centered flowers. Pin the finished work in place on the towel; then cut away excess material in back. Add a 1/4 inch hem on both edges and sew insertion in place. Result? Still a standard-sized towel, but what an elegant difference!

WONDERFUL GIFT

This gift will bring distinction to any bath. And it makes lovely giving—perfect for thank-you note or bridal shower. So get your directions now and put your spare time to good use on this quick and easy design. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlecraft Department of this newspaper, and ask for Towel Insertion Leaflet No. PC-1214.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

A group of the Men of St. Stephen's attended a lecture by the Venerable David R. Thornberry, Diocese of Southern Ohio, at Tower Hill High School auditorium, Wilmington, on Thursday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. The subject of Mr. Thornberry's talk was "Overseas Missions of the Episcopal Church."

Many clergy, Vestrymen, and interested laymen of the Diocese attended the meeting and heard the lecturer's "timely and unique report on a major task the Episcopal Church will face in 1961." The lecture was arranged by the vestry visitation committee of the Department of Promotion, Diocese of Delaware.

Those who attended from St. Stephen's were Messrs. Thomas Clendening, Granville Hill, Robert Creadick, Ernest Killen, Robert Nelson, Clyde Perry, George Thompson, and the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr.

Acolytes who served last Sunday were William McColley, Gail McReynolds, Walter Rogers, Frank Welch, Tim Strohl, Dennis Bradley, Charles McNally, Roy Porter, Robert Greer, Robert Eastman.

Flowers on the altar the 3rd Sunday in Lent were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of Mrs. Almira Hill by Mr. and Mrs. Granville Hill.

The Rev. A. Hugh Dickinson, rector of St. Philip's Church, Laurel, was guest preacher at the service of evening prayer Sunday, March 5.

The Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of Delaware, will visit St. Stephen's on March 19. He will administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation at the 11 o'clock service.

At the Holy Communion service, 11 a.m. last Sunday, four stained glass windows, memorials to loved ones, were dedicated by the vicar: St. Andrew window given by Amy English Stone in memory of Lindsay E. McVey; St. John window given by Amy English Stone in memory of Rachel A. Cohee; St. Matthew window given by Amy English Stone in memory of Joseph H. Cohee; Agnes Dei window given by George Robert Quillen in memory of Christopher D. Quillen.

Ushers last Sunday were Messrs. Robert Creadick, Thomas Clendening, LeRoy Strohl, and Walter Winkler.

The Women of St. Stephen's ask everyone to keep in mind the spring card party planned for April 5. There will be a high prize for each table, also floating prizes. All are welcome to attend.

The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. attended a meeting of the Migrant Fund Committee at First Presbyterian Church, Dover, on Tuesday, Feb. 28, 10:30 a.m. The meeting was sponsored by the United Church Women of Delaware, a department of the State Council of Churches.

The group made plans to secure funds for chaplains, for child care centers, and for summer schools. Chaplains are needed to give pastoral counseling, referrals to community agencies, supervised recreation, religious services, Bible study and prayer group supervision.

Funds are needed for the support of the one child care center at Staytonville and for another child care center not established yet.

Because migrant children miss so much time from school, moving so often, their training is interrupted and many have fallen far behind in school work. The State Board of Education is willing to set up a summer school program, if money can be supplied.

Council presidents include Mrs. William F. Dunkle Jr., Wilmington; Mrs. J. C. Hastings, Newark; Mrs. Raymond Best, Dover; Mrs. John Longbotham, Milford; Mrs. John Birl, Georgetown-Millsboro. The vicar and congregation of St. Stephen's extend their love and sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Killen and other members of the family on the death of her mother, Mrs. John Schwartz. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. from St. Stephen's Church, Monday, March 6, 1:30 p.m.

Delaware Food Market Report

Lenten meal planners will find good news at all local grocery stores this weekend. Egg prices are down, more fresh fish is available and many fresh vegetables are selling at reasonable prices.

A sharp decline in prices at the farm level has brought Grade A large eggs down as much as 5 cents and Grade A medium sizes down 4 cents a dozen. Grade B large eggs are down 3 cents a dozen, also. Some stores are offering eggs at even lower prices during weekend sales.

Fresh fish supplies are picking up as the warm weather enables more boats to go out. Good supplies of porgies, butterfish, filets of cod, flounder haddock and bass are now on hand. It is expected that this will be the picture for the next few weeks. The following shellfish are the ones to shop for during the coming weeks: clams (both hard and soft) shrimp, crabmeat and scallops.

A long list of fresh vegetables cost a little less this week. Snapbeans are down 2 cents on the pound; broccoli, down three cents; cheaper and carton tomatoes cost two cents less. Other thrifty buys are lettuce, celery, green cabbage, and white potatoes. Don't forget to check the root vegetables, which are in good supply; beets, rhubarb, asparagus, sweet potatoes and turnips.

Only a few penny changes downward showed up in fresh fruit prices this week, and choices remain somewhat limited. Among the most economical this week are grapefruit, apples, D'Anjou and Bosc pears, avocados and hot-house rhubarb.

Meat supplies are good. Beef is still the outstanding buy. Specials continue on rib roast; round roast and steaks; T-bone, Porterhouse and sirloin steaks, potroast and stewing meat. Although pork supplies continue to be light, features on smoked ham will continue.

March may well be one of the best months of the year in which to buy lamb. The supply is top quality and big enough to make this meat one of the best buys. This is an unusual situation for this time of year.

Do You Have Sick African Violets?

If the leaves of your African violet plants are sick and dying, the solution to your problem may be as simple as putting aluminum foil around the rim of the flower pot, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

This condition often is caused when the leaves come in contact with the rim of clay flower pots. Clay pots absorb salts from soil, water and fertilizer and form a deposit around the rim of the pot. When the leaves and stems come in contact with this deposit they wither and die. So, Mr. Stevens explains, the problem, called petiole rot, can't be blamed on insects or plant diseases. Covering the rim of the pot with a continuous strip of aluminum foil or enclosing the whole pot in foil, keeps the stems and leaves away from the salt deposits," Stevens says.

High School, and after including funds for a vocational high school for the Dover Special School District.

At a meeting of the Harrington Special School District Board of Education on September 28, all of the studies regarding a comprehensive high school with Felton and Frederica were reviewed. The activities of the State Legislature were discussed and the letter from the State Board of Education was studied. The Board realized that the entire question of jointure for Felton, Frederica, and Harrington was left in a very undetermined state. The advantages and disadvantages of a full consolidation of the three districts, and the advantages and disadvantages of the question of Junior-Senior High School by and for the Harrington Special School District itself were explored and analyzed. The Board then unanimously approved the building of facilities for a Junior-Senior High School for the Harrington District. Some of the facts that led to such a decision were:

1. The failure of the State Board of Education to any longer support a Kent County Vocational facility in the Harrington, Felton, Frederica area.

2. The failure of the State Legislature to even consider appropriating funds for a comprehensive high school in the 1960 session.

3. The uncertainty that in the 1961 session the State Legislature would have any different reaction than it had in 1960.

4. The realization that only a full consolidation under one Board and one administration would ever prove practical, and the question as to whether any one of the three districts would approve full consolidation in a referendum.

5. The fact that the State Legislature in 1960 appropriated in the Bond Bill funds for school construction for the Harrington School.

6. The critical need for classrooms in Harrington as soon as possible, and the knowledge that failure on the already approved funds for Harrington would necessitate delays of one or more years and even then with the uncertainty that any other program would ever be approved by the state.

7. The announced State Board policy that serious attempts would be made that all school districts contain grades one through twelve, and the elimination of districts other than in this category.

8. The uncertainty through discussion with citizens of Harrington as to the over-all reaction toward a central school.

The Harrington Board did not believe it advisable to wait upon the next session of the Legislature to attempt to receive funds for a comprehensive school with the uncertainty of the Legislature's reaction, and the uncertainty of the reaction of the citizens of Harrington toward a central school located three or four miles from town limits.

Since the state had already provided money for a Junior-Senior High School, and since many people in Harrington had expressed the desire to keep the high school in Harrington, and after a warning from the fire marshal that the 1912 building was a definite fire hazard, the Board unanimously decided to request the people to support a construction bill for a Junior-Senior High School in Harrington.

Basketball

Barry Fry and Wayne Collision, who were members of the Junior Hi basketball team for the 1960-61 season, finished the year playing with the varsity.

Barry showed up well in the Rehoboth game, Fri., March 3. Friday night the Harrington High Lions Varsity Basketball team was defeated by the Rehoboth Seahawks by a score of 55 to 41. Although the team lost, the effort of the boys kept the score to a minimum.

Since the Seahawks are in first place in the Henlopen Conference, the Lion's score, even though on the short end, is not considered too bad. The Lions led only once early in the game but due to much taller opponents the game was a lost cause. This was the last scheduled game, but on Monday, March 6, the team traveled to Selbyville for a make-up contest.

The Junior Class sponsored a dance after the basketball game Fri., March 3. Members of the Rehoboth team, Harrington's opponent earlier in the evening, were guests.

FROGS

(W. P. A. Pennsylvania)

The sound of frogs is like a tinkle of sleigh bells, or trill like a robin. Other frogs sounds are cricket sound. You may have heard a sound of a frog, but you think it is near, but it is far away.

A frog has five toes like us. And a frog has four fingers on a hand. A frog is two inches long. And it can jump twenty times as far as his own length. The frog's colors are red, yellow, or menthol colors.

The frog can stay in water longer than a person. If the frog stayed in water all the time he could never live. So he can live on land and water.

The frog looks like a fish in the face. Sometimes you can't tell what a frog's face looks like.

RACHEL JACKSON

(Cristine Noble Govan)

Rachel Jackson was the wife of Andrew Jackson, one of the Presidents of the United States.

As a girl growing up she had great adventures. Like the time she was going to Tennessee. The Negro that was poling the boat along passed out and Rachel had to do it.

She had three sisters and six brothers. They were Mary, Catherine, Jane, Sam, Severn, John, William, Stockley, and Leven.

Rachel had a very best pet. His name was Old Sobber.

Rachel at first lived in North Carolina, then she moved to Tennessee. While in Tennessee she met Andrew Jackson whom she married later on.

In days like these we need to strengthen our spiritual defenses. There is no substitute for church attendance as a means of strengthening your spiritual defenses. Man has yet to discover a substitute for church attendance; Jesus Himself could find none. It was said of Jesus, "And He, going up to the synagogue as was His custom—" Jesus needed spiritual strength that can be found only in the worship of God. How much more, do we stand in need of this spiritual strength.

We hope that you will accept this very personal invitation to share in the services of Trinity Church. If you have no church home, please come worship with us this week.

Preliminary Wrestling Matches Open at U. of D. Friday

Preliminary matches of the Fifth Annual Delaware Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament open tonight (Friday) in Carpenter Field House at the University of Delaware at 7 p. m.

Eighteen high schools, the largest field ever, will be represented by 96 wrestlers, eight in each of 12 weight classes selected on the basis of seasonal records.

Survivors of tonight's matches will meet tomorrow in the semifinals at 2 p. m., to be followed by the consolation and final matches at 7 p. m.

Brandywine High School champion of the Blue Hen Conference, is favored to unseat four-year state champion St. Andrew's School. Brandywine is the only school with a full team entered, including a 1960 champion and two other first seeded in their weight classes.

Newark High has a strong entry, with men in all but one class, also including a past champion and two first-seeded men. Milford, Delmar and William Penn also loom as contenders. St. Andrew's with only six men entered still is expected to provide keen competition.

William Penn is conceivably the best of the outside choices for the championship. The Colonials have returning champions at 103 and 138 pounds, and first-seeded men at 112 and 145.

Other schools entered in the meet are Dickinson, Claymont, P. S. duPont, Mt. Pleasant, Caesar Rodney, Millsboro, Dover, Georgetown, Tower Hill, De-La Warr, Smyrna and Conrad.

Real battles for individual championships are seen in almost every weight class. At 103 pounds Bob McDonald, Brandywine, is first seeded but must get by Bob Watson, William Penn, 960's 95-pound champion. William Penn's Joe Daniels will be vying at 112 with Dave Jones, Milford, a champion at 103 last year. The Colonials' Jim Weightman will be out to beat Newark's Bob Harmer at 145, with Harmer the 138 champion of 1960.

Gary Baker, of Brandywine, last year's 145 winner, will vie with Milford's first-seeded Howard Allen at 154, and Mt. Pleasant's Dick Nichols, returning 154 champ, will test Tower Hill's first-seeded Pete Hentschel at 165 this year.

None of these men will be paired tonight, but the outcome of their matches with other opponents will determine tomorrow's semi-final pairings. If any of these contenders should be upset, it would seriously affect their team's championship hopes.

an area high school for New Castle County and that it has been excluded from the provisions of the tuition law. About half the pupils at Brown are from out of the city, he said.

The Sussex institution will be unique in Delaware in that its pupils will be brought to it for part-time instruction in vocational work, but will get their academic training in their home high schools throughout Sussex County. The pupils will graduate from their home high schools. And they will be considered as part of the enrollment of their home high schools when it comes to figuring out the units—the basis for state appropriations to the schools.

Altogether—after making several adjustments during the long hearing — the State Board of Education asked for about $3,137,000. This includes $458,043 for new or additional services, the Sussex school, 10 supervisors, and other items.
