Methodist Bishops Ask $2,500,000 For Aid in Africa

The Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church has asked Methodists to give a minimum of $2,500,000 to answer the urgent need for food, medicine, leadership and education in Africa. Methodists are asked to give their offering on Sunday, April 30.

The appeal of the Council of Bishops made by its president, Bishop Gerald Kennedy is as follows:

"When things are at their worst, the church should be at its best. We are called upon to be a part of the healing in the midst of much sickness.

"Where there is rioting, bloodshed and bitterness, ours is the high task of being present to restore good will, minister to the suffering, and witness to God's love.

"To this end we are calling for a special offering for Africa in every one of our 40,000 churches on Sun., April 30. Through our mission stations, we must answer the urgent need for food, medicine, leadership and education. A minimum of $2,500,000 is needed. We are asking Methodists to contribute generously to serve in this crisis.

"This is both our obligation and our privilege. Our Methodism stands in a strategic place for special service and influence."

Dr. Orris G. Robinson, superintendent of the Washington East District of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church made the following comment:

"In agreement with the Council of Bishops, I have every confidence that the Methodist people will respond generously because of our great concern for the people of the Congo. It is the people that we are concerned about more than the political maneuvering of the politicians or the establishment of the state."

Dr. Edgar W. Beckett, superintendent of the Washington West District of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church made the following statement:

"This appeal is a must. Africa will be the pivotal point around which the world will revolve in the next two decades. We dare not miss this opportunity to do something really big."

Alert Clerk Apprehends Woman on Check Charge

The alertness of a clerk in a local pharmacy Thursday morning, March 16, was instrumental in the apprehension of a woman charged with passing bad checks on the state's druggists the past week.

Arrested by Chief of Police Ernest Kohlman was Rita P. Wayne, of Pennsylvania, on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses. She was freed on a $2000 bail but will be tried later in Superior Court.

On Thursday morning, a woman giving the name of Mrs. R. Grant and claiming to be a nurse, was purportedly purchasing medical supplies for a Milton doctor. In payment, she presented a check for $25 drawn on a Milton bank and bearing the alleged signature of a Milton doctor.

The clerk, Mrs. Orrie Hobbs, being suspicious of the check, referred it to Thomas Clendening, owner of the pharmacy, for approval. Pharmacists in this area had been warned of similar occurrences in pharmacies in Middletown, Clayton and Milford.

Mrs. Hobbs was instructed to detain the woman until an investigation could be started by the police.

The bank was called immediately and it was determined there was no such account. Then, the local police were notified and Chief Kohlman arrived promptly on the scene. When interrogated as to her possession of the check, the woman replied it had been given to her by another person. This statement was checked and found to be false. Chief Kohlman then took the suspect to Milford where she was identified by Perry Ragains, proprietor of Ragains Drug Store, where she is charged with passing a $35-check.

The woman was placed in custody of Milford police. Police Chief William Short, Milford, said he expected warrants for her arrest from Kent and New Castle Counties.

Mrs. M. E. C. Hairgrove

On Wednesday morning, March 22, after the devotional service, the students and staff of Caesar Rodney School honored the memory of Mrs. Margaret E. C. Hairgrove, R. N., who died early Tuesday morning at her home in Camden following a period of ill health.

Mrs. Hairgrove has been on the staff at Caesar Rodney School for twenty years and was scheduled to retire on April 21.

She was cafeteria manager from 1941 until 1956, when she became a school nurse.

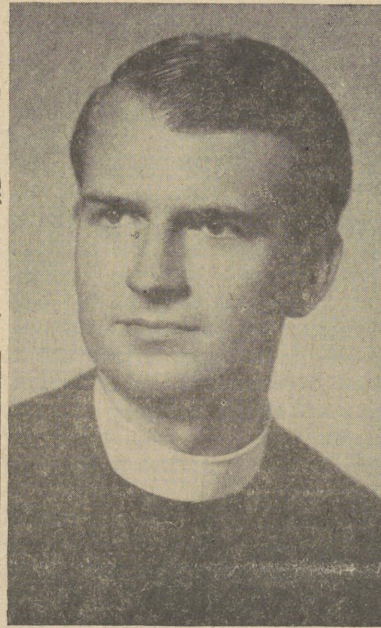

As cafeteria manager she was repeatedly honored by the Caesar Rodney Alumni Association for her excellent spirit of cooperation during the many banquets served by the organization. The Camden - Wyoming Rotary Club whose dinners she served for ten years considered her to be a culinary expert. Every hungry child without funds knew that in the cafeteria he would get something to eat, a job if he wanted it, plus motherly friendship and kindly advice. This same compassion for anyone needing help made her an ideal school nurse.

An outstanding project during Mrs. Hairgrove's cafeteria management was the successful operation of the canning center. Stated as a war food conserving project, the canning in tin at the school of fruits, vegetables, and meat became a major project, operating far into the night at its height.

Mrs. Hairgrove will be missed but never forgotten at Caesar Rodney.

The memorial service was conducted over the school "Intercom" system with the Hi-Y Club in charge. Frederic W. Brown was at the school organ. Scripture was read by Marianne Semonovick of the Tri-Hi-Y Club. A prayer was given by Rev. Frank W. Lucia. The service was concluded with the sounding of Taps by Jan Wubena. Appropriate poetry was read by Clifford Wright, President of the Hi-Y Club, and Edwin F. Englehart, Hi-Y sponsor.

Off-campus students listened to the service from the cafeteria with trailer-housed students using the auditorium.

Speaker at St. Stephen's

The Rev. G. P. Mellick Belshaw will deliver the final in the series of Lenten sermons Palm Sunday at 7 p. m. in St. Stephen's Church. He is a graduate of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and the University of the South from which he received his bachelor of arts degree. He received a bachelor's degree in sacred theology from General Theological Seminary in 1954 and then became the vicar of St. Matthew's Mission, Waimanalo, Oahu, Hawaii, where he served until 1957. He returned from Hawaii to become a fellow and tutor at General Theological Seminary, New York City, where he remained to receive a master's degree in theology. He became the rector of Christ Church, Dover, during 1960 and has seen such amazing growth in the work there as to require an assistant. Mr. Belshaw is a scholar of renown, a preacher of great ability, and a most able pastor. The congregation of St. Stephen's is, indeed, proud to have him to conclude their preaching series, a church spokesman said.

Biddy Basketball Notes

The American Legion-sponsored Biddy Basketball League ended another successful season with Saturday's play.

Bob Jester's Celtics had led the league from the beginning and were finally tied last week by the Lakers. A lucky break in scheduling then placed these teams opposite each other on the final day of play. The Lakers coached by Walt Lekites then became champions by prevailing 15-10.

Tied for third place were the Hawks and Globetrotters. The Hawks were beaten by the Globetrotters, 33-12 which cost the losers undisputed possession. The Hawks bested the Warriors 30-26 in another outing. The Warriors then earned a share of fifth place with the Pistons and Eagles by shading the Falcons 19-18.

The Eagles also won from the Falcons. This tally was 35-17. Jack Dill's Pistons, like the Eagles, a late blooming outfit, won from the Birds by 12-9.

This was a very successful season. The games were often close and hard-fought. The re-

C-R. SCHOOL OPENS BIDS

Helco, Inc., of Wilmington, was the low bidder for the first 24-room elementary school when the bids were opened at the Caesar Rodney Administrative Office, Tuesday afternoon, March 21.

Wednesday night the Caesar Rodney School Building Commission authorized the signing of the necessary contracts as soon as the architects Bonner, Dollar, Blake, and Manning have completed checking the bids and sub-contractors.

The bidding indicated a high interest for the work with the low bid being about $90,000 below the amount budgeted. This will enable the Board to install a sewage treatment plant if the Camden-Wyoming project fails to get in action. The Board of Health has directed the Caesar Rodney authorities not to run any untreated sewage from the new school into Isaacs Branch.

The base bids were: Helco Engineering & Construction Co., Inc., $871,000.00; J. Roland Dashiell & Sons, $888,950.00; Clute Brothers, $899,222.00; Rupert Construction Co., $937,453.00; Ernest DiSabatino & Sons, Inc., $959,000.00.

The school, a two-story structure, will be located on Old North Road, one block away from the present plant, and will include a cafeteria, general purpose room, library, health room, administrative offices, and other auxiliary facilities, including ample parking areas. It is scheduled for occupancy in September, 1962.

The Board of Education expects a second elementary school to be authorized at the referendum on April 8 to be completed by September, 1963, when it is predicted students will be waiting to occupy at least 20 of its 24 classrooms.

In other action during a three hour session on Tues., March 21, from which member C. Fred Fifer was absent due to a death in his family, the Board of Education:

- 1) Heard John Charlton, director of Child Development and Guidance; Walter Kabis, supervisor of classes for handicapped children, and Joseph Jackowitz, a Caesar Rodney district parent explain the need for adequate facilities for handicapped children and recommend that the Caesar Rodney Board give its support to the same. President James R. Bennett assured the group that the board was sympathetic and would take positive action by the end of the month.
- 2) Heard a preliminary report from its assessors, Mrs. Ruth J. Walker and Mrs. Sarah Parks, who are making a house-to-house canvas in order to get a complete record of real estate, trailers, and persons eligible to pay capitation taxes. The assessors reported finding some properties not listed by the Board of Assessment.
- 3) Discussed scheduling problems with faculty manager of athletics, John C. Branner.
- 4) Approved advertising for bids on repairing and painting the exterior of the Dunn House used as the administrative offices for the district.
- 5) Authorized the development of a master plan for football and track facilities.
- 6) Heard teacher recruiters, Administrative Assistant Paul W. Wolfram and Principal George Benner, report on a week's tour of southern colleges. It was reported that of the people interviewed, 20 had been asked to come for interviews at Caesar Rodney with about a dozen expected, mostly in the secondary

SCHOOL DISTRICT ASSESSMENT TOPS SEVEN MILLION HERE

For the 1960-61 school year the assessed valuation of property in the Harrington Special School District totaled $7,493,723. In addition, there were 2950 persons eligible for a Capitation Tax.

In the spring of 1960, the Harrington Board of Education set a total tax rate for the 1960-61 school year of 55 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation, and a $7 Capitation Tax.

Of the Real Estate tax, 15 cents was to be used for Debt Service, and 40 cents for Current Expenses. Of the Capitation Tax, $6.20 was to be used for Debt Service and 80 cents for Current Expenses.

The Debt Service amount is the fund from which the annual principle and interest of the district's outstanding bonds are paid.

The Current Expense amount is used for the operating expenses of the district.

At the present time there are three outstanding bond issues against the Harrington Special School District. Effective June 30, 1961, the district will have the following bonds outstanding:

Issue of 1950	$112,000
Issue of 1951	80,400
Issue of 1954	45,000
$237,400

Interest and principle on these outstanding bonds for the 1961-62 school year will total $24,401. The minimum current expense necessary from local funds is estimated at $26,000. Assuming a new bond issue of $480,000 is sold at an interest rate of 4% and the bond mature over a 25-year period, an estimated outlay of $38,400 for the first few years would be necessary. This over-all total of $88,801 is approximately the amount it would be necessary to raise to cover present indebtedness, necessary current expenses and indebtedness costs by the new $480,000 bond issue.

Assuming the assessed valuation of the district and the number of caps remain the same, the following taxes would be necessary to cover the district's obligation. Leaving the Capitation

U. of D. Chosen Charter Member of Council on Graduate Education

The University of Delaware has received an invitation from Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, to become a charter member of the Council on American Graduate Education.

Invitations to prospective charter members have been sent to 100 leading American colleges and universities calling for an organizational meeting at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago.

President John A. Perkins said Tuesday that the University of Delaware is honored to join the select group of charter members. He also disclosed that Carl J. Rees, provost and dean of the school of graduate studies, will represent the university at the Chicago meeting.

The University of Delaware's stature in the field of graduate education has developed rapidly. The first graduate degrees were awarded in the fields of chemical engineering and chemistry in 1948. Since 1950, doctoral programs have been added in applied science, behavioral science, biological sciences, physics and history. Master's degree programs are offered by many other departments. In September, 1960, there were 1087 students enrolled for full or part-time graduate study and it is expected that both the number of degree programs and the graduate school enrollment will expand rapidly in the decade ahead.

The Council on American Graduate Education was developed as a result of the co-operative efforts of representatives of six organizations of graduate schools: the Western Association of Graduate Schools, the Association of Graduate Schools, the Land Grant Division on Graduate Work, the Midwest Conference on Graduate Study, the Southern Conference of Graduate Schools and the New England Conference on Graduate Education.

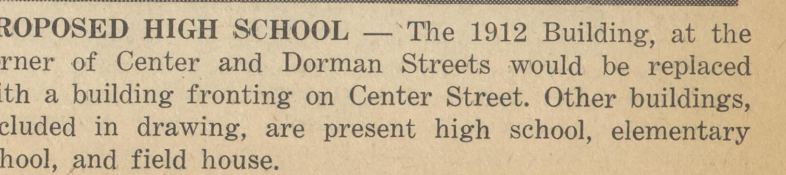

Ford Salesmen To Be Honored

Harry B. King, district sales manager, said 300-500 Club membership awards are presented for excellent retail sales performance. The Ford 300-500 Club was founded in 1950 to recognize the performance of outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country.

Mr. King added that the average 300-500 club member sold nearly 400,000 worth of automotive merchandise in qualifying for the national honors.

They are: Robert Burris, Ben Kates, Marten Jarrell and Mike Willen.

State to Observe Civil War Centennial

Delaware, a "border state," whose people were divided somewhat in their sympathies during the American Civil War, will officially open its observance of the Civil War Centennial, on Saturday, April 15, at 2 p.m., when a special commemorative program is offered at the State Armory, Tenth and du Pont Sts., Wilmington.

According to William T. Mahoney and Joseph O. Ferguson, co-chairmen of the New Castle County Civil War Centennial Committee, the April 15 program will include Civil War Era musical selections, both vocal and instrumental and a talk by Dr. John A. Munroe of the University of Delaware on "Delaware and the Coming of the Civil War."

The indoor program, to which the public is invited, will also constitute the April meeting of the Civil War Round Table of Wilmington, cosponsors, with the countywide committee, of the centennial observance in New Castle County. The mid-April date was selected to coincide with the beginning of Delaware's participation in the conflict, made in response to President Lincoln's call, on April 15, 1861, following the confederate bombardment of Ft. Sumter.

The four-year Civil War Centennial Observance began last January 8 with appropriate services in many of the churches in Delaware and throughout the Nation.

The 1961 observance of the Civil War Centennial in Delaware will be centered largely around historic old Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River approximately 12 miles south of Wilmington.

This huge pentagon structure of granite and brick served as a prison for Confederates captured during the War Between the States. More than 2400 died there and are buried in the Finn's Point National Cemetery across the river in New Jersey.

Fort Delaware will be open to the public on weekends and holidays from May 27 through October 1 and will be the site of several special Centennial events during the summer months. Among the events now being planned are a sham battle to be staged by the Hampton Legion of the North-South Skirmish Association of Philadelphia a concert of Civil War music by the Blue Rock V.F.W. Junior Drum and Bugle Corps; and a concert by a Wilmington vocal group.

The Fort was used as a prison from April, 1862, until late in 1865. Thirteen Confederate generals were prisoners there at different times and hundreds of majors and colonels were kept in the casemates of the Fort along with many political prisoners and others who had aroused the ire of the Federal Government.

The rooms in which the generals were kept, the large halls where other officers were imprisoned, and the dungeons in which recalcitrant prisoners were confined will again be opened to the public. These still appear pretty much as they did during the Civil War period.

Enlisted men were kept prisoners in wooden barracks outside the Fort on Pea Patch Island. The disease and death rate was so high that Fort Delaware gained the unenviable reputation of being the "Andersonville of the North." The wooden structures have, of course, long since disappeared leaving the old fortress as the sole reminder of the stirring days of the American Civil War.

Boats for the island will begin leaving Delaware City, on the mainland, at noon on weekends and holidays during the 1961 season, and will be operated at approximately one-half hour intervals. The last boat will leave the island for the mainland at 7 p.m. A small nominal charge will again be made for the boat transportation.

The picturesque Fort drew visitors from 37 states and 7 foreign countries last year and was also the Mecca of numerous photographers, amateur and professional, who found that it provides many possibilities for photographs redolent of the Civil War period.

The Fort and island are under the supervision of the Delaware State Park Commission and the museum on the island is operated by the Fort Delaware Society.

Delaware's participation in the nationwide Civil War Centennial observance is spearheaded by a statewide Centennial Commission headed by Luther D. Reed, managing director of Eleutherian Mills, Hagley Foundation, Wilmington. In addition to the Civil War Round Table of Wilmington and the Fort Delaware Society, the following organizations are co-operating, or in some manner assisting in the observance: the State Government, through the Public Archives Commission, the State Park Commission, the Delaware State Development Department and the Delaware National Guard; the City of Wilmington; the Levy Court of New Castle County; the Town of Delaware City; the Historical Society of Delaware; the Civil War Round Table of Kent County; the Civil War Round Table of Sussex County; and various patriotic, veterans and civic groups.

Track Tyros Show Future Promise

By Keith S. Burgess
Coach Jim Hawpe has a promising group of younger lads out for track and field who hope to take over after Knotts, Dwight Hackett, Pfeiffer, Bonniwell, Le-kites and other experienced seniors are graduated.

Chief of these is Barry Fry, a freshman, who has already demonstrated that he can compete on the varsity level as a sprinter, middle distance runner, broad jumper and high jumper.

A hard worker who has impressed several of the older lads with his sincerity and thoroughness, is David Brobst. Brobst has developed a good takeoff in the sprints and is throwing the discus well.

Charles Taylor, of the eighth grade, ran cross-country last fall and is now a good sprint prospect. Joe Taylor, a junior high shotputter last year, gets more distance from the shot put than much larger lads by attempting to master all the technical fine points. Just such a lad, in 1960, was Delaware State champion, and broke a standard set by a Rehoboth youth who was 80 pounds heavier.

Frank Cain in the pole vault, and Charles Moore in the high jump are doing well. Both of these lads can run a decent half mile also.

Richard Black, Bob Smith, Larry Garey and Dennis Rogers are future running hopes. Rogers was on the heavier team last Autumn.

A powerfully built youngster who is impressing Coach Hawpe, is Lewis Starkey. Starkey is out for sports for the first time and is getting of some good throws with the eight-pound shot.

Two long-standing sophomores with talent are Bill Sollars and Ken Garey. Garey is a brother to Don Garey, a crack quarter-miler of the 1959 team. His running style is very similar to that of the elder Garey and he may provide valuable help in the 220 and 440 yard runs.

The season will open on Wednesday, April 6th. John M. Clayton and Delmar will meet Harrington on the local track. Neither of these schools are experienced in track and thus H.H.S. must be prohibitive favorites.

The Lions have never been beaten in the thinclad sport by a Henlopen Conference rival. Only Millsboro, in the league, appears to have a chance of accomplishing this feat, and the Sussex Countians lost more by graduation than did Harrington.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS
Q—What are "day centers?" I've heard that the VA is operating some of them now.

A—The centers are one of the newer developments in psychiatric care. Patients, often those who have been long hospitalized for schizophrenia, spend their time in various therapeutic activities at the centers and return home at night. The centers are located at VA outpatient clinic, and volunteers from the community play an important part in helping with the activities.

Q—What are the eligibility requirements for education or training under the Korean GI Bill?
A—At least 90 days of active service, some of what must have been between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955; and, discharge or separation from service under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q—I am a Korean veteran and have found an error in my service record. Can the VA straighten this out for me?
A—No. The veteran should make written application directly to the service concerned—Army, Navy, Air Force or Coast Guard.

Q—By authorization of Public Laws 382 and/or 724 the Federal government adds $6 a month to my civil service retirement check. In a year's time this $72 takes me over the $2700 limit to be eligible for a VA pension. Do I have to count that particular $6 a month as income?
A—No. The VA does not count as income that part of a pensioner's civil service retirement check which is a federal contribution for health and medical insurance.

Dover Miss to Represent State At Cherry Rally

When the Nation's Capital traditionally marks the blossoming of its Cherry Trees with its Cherry Blossom Festival, April 3 through April 9, the State of Delaware will be officially represented by one of its fair daughters, Miss Clara Louise Frear of Dover.

Selected as Delaware's 1961 Cherry Blossom Princess by the Delaware State Society of Washington, D. C., the 18-year-old daughter of former U. S. Senator and Mrs. J. Allen Frear Jr., of Dover and Washington, D. C., will participate in all of the events comprising the six day festival, including the Parade of Princesses, the traditional pageant and the crowning ceremony. Delawareans naturally hope that Clara Louise—or "Clara Lu", as she is more generally known to her many friends—will be the "center figure" when the last-named event occurs.

The 1961 Delaware Cherry Blossom Princess is no stranger to Washington, where her father represented Delaware in the U. S. Senate for 12 years. Incidentally, Mr. Frear's successor, Senator J. Caleb Boggs initially recommended Miss Frear for selection as Delaware's 1961 Cherry Blossom Princess.

The blue eyed, blond haired Delaware Princess is a 1960 graduate of Dover High School and is presently in her freshman year at Florida State University at Tallahassee, Fla.

While in high school, Miss Frear was active in dramatics and was also a member of the school Glee Club. She is a past honored Queen of Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 7 of Dover, and has long been active in the Youth Fellowship of the People's Congregational Church.

Much interested in travel she has accompanied her parents on several trips abroad and on such occasions has added to her extensive collection of foreign dolls. Her father, who, in January, completed a second term as U. S. Senator from the State of Delaware, was recently appointed by President Kennedy to the Securities Exchange Commission.

A brother, Fred, is a graduate of the University of Miami and is now employed by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company at Wilmington.

"Present and rooting" for Delaware's Princess on April 3-9 will be the hundreds of transplanted Delawareans currently employed in the Washington area plus many visitors from the "First State." All in all, the 1961 National Cherry Blossom Festival will be something long remembered by the thousands who annually witness this outstanding event and particularly will be remembered by a pretty little Princess from Dover, Delaware.

Senator Manning Seeks Reapportionment

At the last meeting of the Camden-Wyoming Rotary Club, Senator Margaret R. Manning of Marshallton turned her charm and intelligence on the perhaps vulnerable Rotarians in an address pleading for support for reapportionment in the State Legislature. Senator Manning, who was introduced by Senator Walton H. Simpson, a Rotary past president, proposed a geographical distribution for the State Senate with seven members per county and an allocation of extra representatives to larger districts on a population basis, bringing the number in the House to fifty, based on the 1960 census. All of the districts qualifying at present for additional representatives are in New Castle County.

Several former members of the Legislature who are Rotarians were heard to privately agree that reapportionment was eventually inevitable. However, it was suggested that up-state members of the Legislature are, as a rule, more experienced and frequently find ways of out-manuevering their more numerous down-state cousins who more frequently are nominated on a rotation system, resulting in a large percentage of inexperienced members.

Senator Manning pointed out that there were some down-state veteran members of the present Legislature who are in positions of great influence.

Forest Industries Back Wildlife Week

Forest industries of Delaware joined with national and state sportsmen's groups in observance of National Wildlife Week this week (March 19-25).

Charles D. Murphy Jr., chairman of the Delaware Forest Industries Committee, hailed the theme of the observance, "Multiple Use, Balanced Conservation Planning for the Future," as a timely topic important to all citizens.

Among objectives of the week is to "alert the people of America to the need for multiple use of our resources."

Defining multiple use as "managing forest lands so as to provide a combination of uses or services," Murphy said, "forest industries have long advocated this principle."

"But if we are to meet the needs of our growing population for the more than 5,000 products made of wood, timber growing and harvesting must be the keystone of any multiple use program on the bulk of our forest land. Fortunately, timber harvesting is quite compatible with use of the forest for soil and water conservation, hunting, fishing and other uses."

Murphy added that watershed and game habitat values of the forest are often improved by proper cutting practices.

The National Wildlife Federation is nationwide sponsor of the week, while the Delaware Federation of Sportsmen and Conservation Clubs, Inc., are state sponsors.

Heifers Need Care At Calving Time

Your dairy heifers need help in making the big change from life in the pasture and open pen to the more rigid and confined life of the milking herd. County Agent George Vapaa says dairymen can help the heifer make this adjustment by making some of the changes gradually. He explains it's a good idea to move the heifer into the milking herd a month or so before she is due to freshen. In this way, she can become accustomed to routines of feeding, milking and other daily chores before she freshens. She should be treated and handled the same as the rest of the herd with the exception of being milked.

In this way, the heifer becomes accustomed to the milking machine with less confusion and fear. It also makes the task of "breaking in" the new heifers much easier for the milker.

District WSCS Meets at Milford

Mrs. W. Edgar Timmons, Millsboro, was re-elected president, with Mrs. Milton C. Manlove, Seaford, being re-elected vice-president. Mrs. Ira Doyle, Georgetown, was elected recording secretary, and Mrs. Ralph Swain, Georgetown, was elected treasurer.

More than 350 members heard Mrs. Adam D. Minnigh, secretary of youth work, Northeastern Jurisdiction, give the main address, speaking on "Frontiers That Call Us."

'Wackiest Ship' At Reese Theatre

Yes, it's a panic on the Pacific when the Army takes over a Navy boat. For a downright laughing time, says the New York Times, one can't afford to pass up the buckle-bustin laughs in "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" at the Reese Theatre, Fr., Sat., Sun., Mon., March 24-25-26-27. The co-feature on Friday and Saturday is Robin Hood in "Sword of Sherwood Forest", a great all-family hit. On Sunday and Monday the co-feature is "Please Turn Over," another whacky laugh spree by the producers of "Carry On Nurse".

A glance at the Reese Theatre program to be found in this newspaper will show one that the emphasis is put on happy entertainment.

An example of this is the announcement of the coming of the screen's fastest, funniest, farce, "Carry On Nurse", on Sunday and Monday April 9 & 10. The star of this whing-ding is a "daffodill." If you never see another comedy in your life—you must see "Carry On Nurse."

Baptists to Show Teenage Movie

"Going Steady," dramatic sound motion picture on life in a modern American high school, will be shown Saturday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m. The film is being sponsored by the Harrington Baptist Church, 116 Fleming Street, Harrington.

As a companion feature to the popular youth film "Seventeen," this release is also being offered free-of-charge to high schools across the United States and Canada. The co-leads, a chap named Greg and a girl named Barb, take a frank look at the purity problem facing modern teenagers and find, through a gripping stream of events, an enduring answer to the complexities facing today's young people.

Greg, interested in science as a future career, meets Thorny, a whimsical lad whose scientific prowess blossoms from nonsense gadget to a rocket which makes an uncheduled launching in the school lab. A young vixen by the name of Pam complicates Greg's problems, with an assist from her ex-steady Rick, but Barb's quiet faith and Thorny's basic common sense pilot Greg through some rough waters to a dynamic understanding of life's true meanings.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

The Right Reverend J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of Delaware, visited St. Stephen's on Passion Sunday, March 19. It was, indeed, a happy occasion for many members and friends of St. Stephen's, as well as for interested visitors. The Reverend John R. Symonds Jr., vicar, presented the largest class of candidates for confirmation in the history of St. Stephen's.

Mrs. Granville Hill was chairman of the coffee hour hostesses on last Sunday. Attractively iced cakes of various kinds and punch were served to a large gathering in the parish hall, following the morning service. Many members of the congregation had the opportunity to greet the Bishop and to congratulate the newly confirmed at this informal reception. Sunday, March 19, Gale Edward McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Novelle McReynolds, was baptized at St. Stephens. The Rev. Joseph S. Hinks of Milford conducted part of "The Ministration of Holy Baptism," and the Reverend John R. Symonds Jr. concluded the ceremony. Sponsors present at the font were Mr. and Mrs. O. Clyde Perry.

A new Bible and set of markers for the church seasons were blessed and dedicated by Bishop Mosley, on Passion Sunday, at the conclusion of the confirmation service.

The memorial plate in the Bible reads: "This Bible and Markers given to the Glory of God and in loving memory of Arthur Williams, 1891-1959, by his family and friends."

Flowers on the altar last Sunday were given to the Glory of God by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Clendening.

On last Sunday afternoon the Right Reverend J. Brooke Mosley, the Rev. John Symonds and Archie Feagan were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brobst.

The Church School Festival and Mite Box Presentation service at St. Stephen's will be held on Easter Sunday at 4 p.m. There will be no church school session at the usual hour of 9:30 a.m., but the afternoon service will take the place of the regular morning session. All pupils are reminded to take their mite boxes to the church on Easter Sunday, 4 p.m. There will be an egg hunt and party, preceeding the missionary offering and service.

Cause of Poultry Condemnation Cited

Dr. Morris S. Cover, chairman of the department of animal and poultry science, University of Delaware, reported the results of a survey on poultry condemnations at a research conference on poultry health at Jefferson auditorium, Washington, D. C., March 20.

Cover said the co-operative survey by the Universities of Maryland and Delaware, showed the following management factors to influence the rate of broiler condemnations on the Delmarva Peninsula.

1. The use of only one stove for a large number of chicks tended to increase the rate of condemnation.
2. Condemnations were less among broilers raised in narrow houses (4.38 per cent) than in wide houses (6.98 per cent).
3. Houses with solid partitions between pens had condemnations averaging 3.32 per cent while houses with open partitions averaged 7.87 per cent condemnations.
4. A definite sanitation plan such as litter removal and broiler house disinfection between flocks showed a reduction in condemnation rate. Of the washed and disinfected houses, 86 per cent had less than 4 per cent condemnation.
5. The average condemnation rate on flocks receiving the recommended vaccination program was 2.39 per cent while flocks receiving other vaccination programs varied from 3.56 per cent to as high as 9.23 per cent condemnation.

Dr. Cover told the research scientists that the survey does not produce conclusive evidence, but it does show trends which indicate that good management and disease control practices reduce condemnation rates.

Another survey, now nearly completed, shows the same trends, and the results have encouraged more vigorous sanitation and management programs in the Delmarva broiler industry.

Dr. Cover was also on Tuesday's program with a report on prevention and control of Chronic Respiratory Disease (CRD).

He emphasized that sound management practices are a must. Antibiotics cannot replace good management.

The meeting was developed and sponsored by the U. S. Department of agriculture to bring together research workers and scientists concerned with poultry problems from public agencies and industry all over the country.

Topics covered disease, environmental, and management factors related to poultry health. Discussion also was aimed at finding practical means of overcoming current difficulties in the poultry industry through joint action by scientists, State and Federal regulatory workers, and poultry producers and processors.

Handle Infrared Lamps With Caution

Farmers who use infrared lamps for heating pig or chicken brooders or milking parlors need to exercise caution, depending on the type of bulb they use, says County Agent George Vapaa.

The 250-watt R450 bulb is the most commonly used infrared heat lamp on farms. These bulbs come in two types of glass—ordinary white of soft glass and hard or Pyrex glass.

Because they are cheaper, many farmers buy the regular or soft glass bulb which breaks more easily, the agent explains. These soft glass lamps can be broken by a sow's nose, a wet glove, water dripping from a roof, or chicken droppings.

Precautions, as follows, should be taken to protect soft glass from breakage as well as to assure most satisfactory service: 1. Hang lamps by a light chain or wire so that they cannot fall.

2. Protect bulbs with deep reflectors so that they cannot come in contact with water or other materials which break them.

3. Suspend lamps at a height where livestock being brooded cannot reach them.

Seminar Held For Broiler Industry

Twelve "instructors" from nine different states traveled a total of 10,000 miles last week to bring Delmarva's top poultry industry executives an up-to-the-minute picture of the current U. S. economic situation as well as reports on new technology in the production, processing and marketing of broilers.

The occasion was a special seminar for broiler industry top management held at Wilmington's Hotel du Pont March 13-16. The meeting was sponsored by the area broiler industry's trade and promotional organization, Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., in co-operation with the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland.

The industry leaders listened to lectures and took part in group discussions about current problems facing their business. Economic outlook, marketing trends, personnel development and sound business management programs were among the topics on the program. More than two dozen executives took part, representing hatcheries, feed manufacturers, equipment companies, vaccinating services, broiler growers, processors and marketing groups.

In the background was concern about increasing competition from other broiler-producing areas, mounting costs and uncertain effects of new farm programs being developed in Washington, D. C.

The seminar's opening speaker, Dr. Cliff D. Carpenter, traveled the greatest distance. The poultry industry consultant from Laguna Beach, Calif., told the group that increased plant efficiency, automation, and the adoption of new technology are "musts" if the poultry industry is to survive and thrive on the Peninsula.

"Time and motion studies are needed in every branch of the industry. The goal should be total plant efficiency, with savings at every step and in every motion," he declared. "Research is needed to develop new ideas, new markets, new products. We must develop more ways to using broilers—faster ways to prepare them; ways to make them more convenient to cook—especially for working women," he said.

He cited freeze-drying as an innovation in food processing that has application of the broiler industry, and urged the executives to lose no time in investigating it. Freeze-drying is a process in which food products are placed in a vacuum and the moisture removed from them by sublimation.

Other speakers were: Dr. Robert Dinco, University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.; Lawrence C. Murdock, Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia; Harold Snyder, Arkansas Valley Industries, Dardanelle, Ark.; William A. Haffert, Jr., Garden State Publishing Co., Sea Isle City, N. J.; Patrick B. Comer Associates, Greensboro, N. C.; William B. Clements, Frick Company, Waynesboro, Pa.; Joseph P. Wertz, Bank of Delaware, Wilmington; John J. Pearce and Co., Wilmington; L. T. White, Cities Service Co., New York, N. Y.; Dr. John Kurtz, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.; and William Oncken Jr., Richardson, Bellows, Henry and Company, Inc., New York, N. Y.

Commenting on the session, James E. Davis, Seaford, president of Delmarva Industry Inc.,

said "With the ever-increasing competition in this important branch of agriculture, it is essential that our broiler industry leaders keep abreast of new developments. The Delmarva peninsula can continue to hold its top position among the major broiler areas of the country only if we produce and process more efficiently, market more aggressively and manage our individual businesses more wisely—than our competition elsewhere," he declared.

Baptist believe that if there were no standard of righteousness there would be no occasion for justification. Justification presupposes that there is a standard by which things or persons can be tested, and into line with which they ought to be brought.

For example, in printing, the type is said to be "justified" when it is brought into line with other type already in the right line.

When type is taken out of the wrong line, and put in the right line, it is said to be "justified." Now a man who is condemned by the law of God is on the wrong line.

Before he can become the recipient of the blessedness which is provided for righteous men, he must be justified. All charges against him as a sinner must have been disposed of wholly. There must be no one on the earth and no one in Heaven who can show that this man ought to pay any penalty because of anything he has done or has failed to do.

If you are looking for a church with a gospel message, we invite you to come worship with us.

Thomas L. Hobbs, son of Mrs. Orie G. Hobbs of Rt. 3 Harrington, has been promoted to the rank of Technical Sergeant.

A graduate of Harrington High School in June of 1950, Sergeant Hobbs entered the Air Force two months later. He was assigned to Dow in May of 1960.

A member of the 341st Bomb Squadron, Hobbs is Gunner on the B-52G. This 240-ton aircraft is the Strategic Air Command's intercontinental jet bomber which flew non-stop around the world.

The "G" model on which Sergeant Hobbs flies is the most versatile system in the Free World's inventory of deterrent weapons. Equipped with "Hound Dog" air-to-surface missiles, it can simultaneously attack separate targets hundreds of miles apart without ever going in range of enemy defense systems.

Dow also has the KC-97 aerial tankers which give SAC bombers their ability to strike a target anywhere and return to a friendly base without landing to refuel.

Both pastor and people extend a cordial invitation to all who attended the first service on March 26, 1956 to be present with us this Sunday. Our attendance goal has been set at 300.

This past Sunday, five of our scholars qualified for the honor roll in our annual Sunday School attendance campaign by having at least 4 visitors present. They are: Mrs. Mildred Morris, Greg Smith, Mike Griffith, Peggy Tibbitt, and Carolyn Miller. An excellent attendance was reached on a rainy day with 255 present.

Plans are already underway for our Easter Egg Hunt to be held on Saturday, April 1, at 1:30 p.m. All scholars in our nursery, beginner and junior classes are included in the plans. Vocational Studies Are Part Of Local Educational Program

Under present day standards, industrial arts, vocational agriculture, and home economics are a basic part of our educational program. Home economics and industrial art courses are a part of a student's work in grades 7-12, while agriculture is usually limited to grade 9-12. Since these courses play so important a part of the child's school life, certain standards should be met to insure proper training is available in these fields.

In industrial arts, practice has shown that definite space allotments for students and machines must be made. In home economics arrangements, facilities should be such that a continuing up-to-date program can be presented. In vocational agriculture, in addition to work in agriculture theory, practical work is necessary in a farm shop program.

At present the Harrington School has very sub-standard facilities to carry on instruction in these fields. In industrial arts there is adequate space for but four students each period. If all the machinery recommended for a first-class industrial arts program was to be made available, there would not be room for any students to work with it. Since our classes in this field average 18 students, the program that can be offered is very limited in scope.

In home economics, while the equipment is up to standard, the size of the space available limits the number of items of equipment that can be provided. Evaluators for the accrediting agency in 1957 reported that a new room was needed if best results in home economics was to be achieved by pupils and teacher.

The shop space used by agriculture can accommodate very little in the way of farm equipment. Since the work in farm shop is practical work on maintenance and repair of farm machinery, the shop program has to be limited as to the items of machinery and equipment that can be worked on in the shop area.

Conditions in these three departments will be corrected under the building program proposed by the Board of Education. Adequate and modern facilities will be provided for class work and practical work. Sufficient space will be available to accommodate up-to-date equipment and machinery. The boys and girls will have the room recognized as needed to carry on assigned work.

It has been suggested that the need for home economics, agriculture and industrial art areas will no longer exist should a county vocational school be erected. This is erroneous thinking since each local school will continue to provide these three subject fields. Home economics, agriculture and industrial arts as provided by each local school are not a part of the program for a vocational-technical facility. Such a school might provide advanced courses along these lines, but the basic work would still be required locally.

H. H. S. Starts Baseball Practice

By Keith S. Burgess
Coach Bill Smith's Harrington High baseball Lions have begun working out in preparation for the forthcoming season. Most of the schedule will consist of contests with Henlopen Conference foes.

Jim Temple and Ron Collison, a pair of graduates who left gaping holes in the pigskin and cage lineups, were also the most valuable baseball players to finish school last year. They made up the battery and these are key positions on any team.

Experienced hands are available at most of the remaining seven positions. Walt Lekites, the team's leading hitter of 1960, is back at first base. Walt also wants to pitch and has enough speed if he can find the plate with his fast one. David Hitchens played shortstop last year. He and Jeff Adams, a transfer from John M. Clayton, are slated to be the keystone combination with both being tried at second base and shortstop.

George Pfeiffer is at third base except for those occasions when he will see duty on the mound. Barry Wix is listed to occupy third base when this occurs, and outfield at other times. Don Rothermel, a promising lefthander, will pitch and play the outfield.

Sam Minner, erstwhile infielder, will attempt to pitch a little and also to don the mask, protector and shinguards. Ken Hoffman, Allan Wix, Roger Brown and Jim Carter are down for outfield positions. Hoffman played several games last spring.

George Collins and his brother, Dick, are the third and fourth sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collins to show promise in the horseshoe sport. George can play infield or outfield. Dick is a pitcher-outfielder. Warren Bader is the other catching candidate, while Roger Wix may play first base while Lekites is on the hill.

Back in 1938, a lefthander named Walter Taylor, and a righthander named Leonard Masten, made Harrington High one of the most feared scholastic baseball squads in Delaware. This pair turned out no-hitters and low-hitters with regularity. Two games were lost by one run to mar what would have been an unbeaten season. Felton, which had been slaughtered 25-2 at Harrington, won by 3-2 at Felton. This came about with neither of the aces in action on the mound, since it was felt that it was time to prepare a younger pitcher for service the following year, and also our neighbors to the north were not supposed to have much of a team.

Unfortunately, Jim Bohannon and company did not stick to the script. The other deficit came 6-5 at Dover. This game had inadvertently been scheduled for the Monday following the return of the senior class from their senior trip to Washington. The boys were very tired but Dover had to go into extra innings before they could prevail.

The 1961 H.H.S. unit will also have a righthanded pitcher named Leonard Masten. He is the son of the 1938 hurler. Like his father, he is also the regular center fielder. However, this will be his first attempt as a moundsman. It is hoped that he has inherited home of his father's skill.

SCHOOL ASSESSMENT

Tax unchanged at $7, an increase in the Real Estate Tax of 33 cents per $100 assessed valuation would be necessary.

For each additional dollar the Capitation Tax would be increased, the amount of Real Estate Tax could be reduced by four cents. Thus, with a dollar increase in Capitation, the increase in Real Estate Tax would be 29 cents. A $2 increase would make the Real Estate Tax increase 25 cents; $3, 21 cents, and $4, 17 cents.

In order to equalize the increased tax rate between the Real Estate Tax and Capitation Tax, the Board is proposing that the increase in taxes to cover the new bonded indebtedness not be over 17 cents per $100 Real Estate Tax, and $4, Capitation. This would mean an over-all tax structure in the Harrington District of 72 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, and $11 Capitation Tax.
