

CARVEL WOULD ACCEPT 7-MAN ROAD BOARD

Governor Carvel said Tuesday he would agree to a seven-man Highway Commission, as advocated by his Duffy Committee, if such a bill passed the General Assembly.

A bill to this effect has already been introduced in the General Assembly by the Republicans.

However, the Governor made it clear at his press conference that he is still personally advocating a nine-man commission (six Democrats and three Republicans).

The chairman of this commission would be the Governor's own choice and would serve as chairman at the pleasure of the Governor, but would continue on the Highway Commission if removed by the Governor from the chairmanship.

One of the major points of controversy in the Highway Department reorganization issue is the question of the chairmanship. Republicans insist that the chairman of the new commission should not only be the personal choice of the Governor but should also be his personal choice as a member of the commission and not subject to senatorial confirmation.

Governor Carvel said Tuesday that if this question becomes the only stumbling block in the proposed reorganization of the Highway Department, he would agree to a 10-man commission—three from each county and the 10th man to be appointed by him at large as commission and as chairman at the Governor's pleasure.

The Duffy Committee was the bi-partisan group appointed by Governor Carvel to look into the Highway Department situation, as revealed by Atty. Gen. Januar D. Bove Jr., and come up with recommendations.

It gets its name from William Duffy, Jr., Wilmington attorney, who was chairman and who has since been appointed a judge of the Superior Court.

The Republican proposal for a Highway Department reorganization virtually incorporates the Duffy Committee proposals.

The seven-man commission plan requires for passage nine votes in Senate and 18 votes in the House.

With full Republican support of six votes in the Senate, only three Democratic votes would be needed in the upper house. Three Democrats joining the 15 Republicans in the House would see the bill through to passage.

Tuesday's press conference was devoted chiefly to fiscal problems of the state. But the Highway Department reorganization popped up when Governor Carvel spoke of the importance of an early passage of a $26,660,000 bond issue bill for highway purposes.

He said that time is running out since the deadline is rapidly approaching when the Highway Department must get authorization to sell bonds, if Delaware is to enjoy the benefit of federal aid money at this time.

"People need work," Carvel said. He also said that many highway projects are necessary in Delaware.

It was at this point that reporters asked him for latest developments and his latest thinking on the question of Highway Department reorganization.

The Governor said he considers the nine-man commission proposal a compromise between what the Republicans are demanding and the continuation of the present 12-man commission system as sought by some leading Democratic legislators.

State Senator James H. Snowden, one of the leaders of the Republicans in the General Assembly, said Tuesday night the 10-man commission, which Carvel said he would accept, would not be acceptable to the Republicans because, as he put it, "it's just nothing at all."

Republicans are asking for a bi-partisan Highway Commission of three Democrats and three Republicans, with a seventh member being selected by the Governor, in their seven-man plan. The Governor said he is still holding out for the authority to reappoint at least three of the present Highway Commissioners. He has in mind one Republican and two Democrats, he said, but refused to name them because he hasn't talked with them about this.

Elmer L. Bullock of Harrington celebrated his 90th birthday Sunday, March 19, at his home with all his family. Approximately 110 people greeted him during the day. Ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Milford Gets New Post Office

The Post Office Department has announced plans for a new post office in Milford, to be built under the Department's commercial leasing program.

The new post office will be located at the southeast corner of Causey and Maple Avenues in the Sussex County community, Rep. Harris B. McDowell, Jr., said Wednesday in releasing the post office announcement.

The site will provide 28,358 square feet upon which to locate the building, which will have 4,900 square feet of floor space. The Department has obtained an option for the purchase of the site, which will be transferred to the successful bidder, who will then construct the post office, and lease it to the government on a long-term lease, McDowell said.

Under the lease plan, the builder owns the building, paying local taxes, and the cost of construction is repaid through rental, permitting the Department to limit its capital expenditures to postal equipment and furniture.

Details and specifications will be available about May 20, when the Department will advertise for competitive bids.

Out Red in '62, Carvel Says

"Delaware out of the red by June, '62."

This was promised by Governor Carvel at his press conference in Dover Tuesday.

"We expect and we predict that under present conditions," he said, "we will balance our state budget by June 30, next year."

According to the Governor, this can be done without any major increases in taxes.

"It is our desire," he said, "to get rid of our $5,000,000 deficit. We've been having this deficit now for five years and it's time to get into the black and out of the red."

A bill recently passed to curtail the part-payment of income taxes should mean $6,000,000 more coming in before the end of the current fiscal year, he said.

There were however, some "ifs" in the Governor's plan to get out of the red.

For example: He is counting on revision in the corporation franchise tax ceiling so that an extra $1,500,000 would be realized by the state.

If more money is needed, he anticipates a step up in taxes for the upper level income brackets.

If needs in Delaware continue, he said, there would be other "minor revisions in revenue fees and taxes that would not only produce substantial income for the state but would at the same time eliminate inequities in our revenue fee and tax structure."

In any event, the Governor is still strongly against a general sales tax.

Other plans of the Governor: 1. The establishment of the office of a budget director to serve at the pleasure of the Governor. The budget director would be a comptroller and perform the executive pre-audit duties now performed by the independently elected auditor of accounts.

2. The state auditor would be assigned the duty of post-auditing, a function now handled by the Budget Commission.

3. "A more effectively organized fiscal agency, constantly checking our spending agencies, should be able to avoid the flood of bills for supplemental appropriations that deluge the General Assembly near the end of the fiscal year."

4. The employment of a certified public accountant at $12,000 a year and an expert accountant at $8,000, to work on the income tax returns of corporations.

The Governor thinks this should bring in an additional $2,000,000.

In a prepared statement, Governor Carvel said:

"As we face the situation today, there are two aspects of this fiscal problem confronting us.

"The first is the predicted cash deficit of over $3,000,000 by June 30, 1961, that was part of the budget presented to this General Assembly by the previous administration. This cash deficit was about $2,000,000 in June 1959, and was carried forward at about the same figure for June 1960. Our early estimates supported the $2,000,000 figure.

"With the fine co-operation of the Democratic majority in the General Assembly, we have acted to meet this situation without resorting to any tax increase.

"The second fiscal problem facing us relates to the future generally, and to the next fiscal year in particular. We are certain that our rapidly growing population, overbalanced with families of school age children, will force school and other state government costs to increase more sharply than our normal increases in state revenue.

"We know that this problem can be quickly intensified by either an inflationary trend in our national economy or a recession that would cut into normal revenue expectations. It is this second problem which the administration is now preparing to meet.

"Our immediate hope is that (Continued on Page 8)

Levy Court. Both appointments are for three year terms from Feb. 25, 1960.

Further information as to the application of this new program is now available through the county and state agriculture stabilization committee," McDowell concluded.

GREENWOOD CRASH KILLS WOMAN, 69

The wife of a Denton, Md., minister was killed and five persons were injured in a two-car collision on Route 13 in Greenwood Tuesday night.

Mrs. Eunice Comstock Martin, 69, of near Denton, was killed. She was in a car driven by her husband, the Rev. William Thomas Martin, 71, who was not hurt.

State police at Bridgeville Troop said Martin was driving west on Route 16 and went through a stop sign on Route 13.

His car was hit by an automobile driven by Robert Conely, 16, of rural Greenwood, going south on 13.

Injured were: Conely, severe cuts of the scalp and possible concussion; Jane Conely, 15, his sister, abrasions and cuts of the face; Georgianna Jester, 57, of Denton, broken collar bones, and Nancy Aramita Martin, 42, Denton, broken right shoulder and abrasions.

Conely had picked up Armone, who was hitch-hiking, at Harrington.

All the injured were taken to the Nanticoke Memorial Hospital in the Bridgeville and Harrington ambulances. Armone was transferred to the Dover Air Force Base Hospital.

All those in the Seaford hospital are satisfactory today and Armone's condition at the base hospital is fair. He is not expected to be paralyzed, as at first feared.

Martin, arraigned before Magistrate Paul H. Faulk, Greenwood, on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle, was placed under $2,500 bail.

Police said Mrs. Martin was thrown 17 feet from the car.

Mrs. Martin's death brought the auto accident death toll for Delaware up to 12 for this year, seven fewer than in the same period last year.

Legislative Hall Repair May Cost $1 Million

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel Tuesday put price tag of $250,000 to $1,000,000 on his plans to renovate Legislative Hall.

Carvel announced at a news conference that W. Ellis Preston, Wilmington architect, is preparing plans for a refurbishing job on the state house on which final estimates will be based.

Under Carvel's plans, Legislative Hall would be air-conditioned.

The plans also include purchase of a new boiler to replace the existing 1930 vintage hand-stoked furnace, which Carvel said probably can't pass inspection again.

The building also would get its first elevator, a new paint job, roof repairs, new water fountains and plumbing.

Pending estimates on the permanent improvements, Carvel has ordered a rush job of emergency repairs by the grounds crew under the supervision of State Custodian James H. Woods.

Cracks in the steps have been patched, the cupola is being repaired, shrubbery and trees are being pruned and doctored, and a general clean-up of the building is under way.

School Pay Bill Cost Estimated

The teachers' salary increase bill would cost about $1,700,000 next year—double the appropriation proposed in the measure, the Joint Finance Committee was told Wednesday.

The bill is HB 171. It would change the salary schedule law enacted at the last session of the General Assembly by substituting a limitation of $850 a year for a salary boost instead of the present limitation of $150. The effect would be to speed up the time it will take teachers and other professional school personnel to reach the new levels provided in the law for their years of experience and their training.

The new estimate on the first year's cost of the bill was prepared by a staff of the Joint Finance Committee and the State Department of Public Instruction. They based the estimate on the number of employes in various categories who would be affected, and the average salary increases they would receive.

The bill proposed an appropriation of $850,000.

In home economics, while the equipment is up to standard, the size of the space available limits the number of items of equipment that can be provided. Evaluators for the accrediting agency in 1957 reported that a new room was needed if best result in home economics was to be achieved by pupils and teacher.

The shop space used by agriculture can accommodate very little in the way of farm equipment. Since the work in farm shop is practical work on maintenance and repair of farm machinery.

The conditions mentioned in the departments of school just discussed, as well as all other high school facilities, will be corrected under the building program proposed by the Board of Education. The boys and girls will have the room recognized as needed to carry on assigned

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

Easter has been called the most significant and beautiful day in the church and indeed it is. Often we hear people say critically that on Easter people simply go to church to see and to be seen. I heartily disagree with this thinking, personally I think that there is something magnetic about the glory and beauty of Easter that draws people, that creates a desire to worship and in some way to express our praise and thanks to Almighty God. Easter is a symbol of new life, the resurrection in Christ Jesus. There is an uplifting to Easter as we not only think of its spiritual meaning but also of the beautiful flowers and the new clothes that characterizes Easter. Spiritually, Easter celebrates the triumph of the great hope of everlasting life that shines through the gospel. As the eternal Christ rose triumphant over the bitter pain of the cross and the darkness of the tomb, we have the assurance that enables us to look behind the things of earth that pass away to find our joy and peace in God's infinite love. Each year at the close of a winter season when things tend to look dreary and perhaps bleak we have this blessed hope arising anew and afresh for us as Christians.

We invite you to the services at Asbury.

Delaware Food Market Report

Easter time is here and the time for dyeing gaily colored eggs has arrived. This custom of colored eggs dates back to the era of the ancient Persians, many thousands of years before Christ. These ancient people thought the world was hatched from an egg on the first day of spring, so red colored eggs (to denote force of life) were exchanged as good luck charms. The early Christians continued this merry custom of colored eggs at Easter and today we still have the Easter egg.

Here are a few suggestions given by the Poultry and Egg National Board for dyeing eggs. First, wipe the shells thoroughly with a moist cloth. Next either blow the egg out of the shell or hard cook the egg before tinting. A little borax in the cooking water will help condition the shells for best dyeing. Last, but most important, eggs dye best when hot and hot water dyes are fastest. Incidentally, brown shelled eggs color equally as well as white shelled eggs. The brown shells are excellent for the dark vivid colors; the white shells are best for pastels. You need not worry about these Easter egg dyes, they are harmless as they must conform to the regulations of the Pure Food and Drug Administration. So be sure you buy an extra dozen or two eggs when you shop—have plenty on hand for the weekend.

After Easter is over use the hard cooked eggs to make a delicious congealed egg salad or serve curried eggs in a brown rice ring. Perhaps eggs goldenrod would please your taste buds. Of course, deviled eggs are a favorite of both young and old, but for a change why not serve fried stuffed eggs. If you have blown the eggs out of the shells, then use them for cake, custard, pudding, etc. The raw eggs that are left over could be frozen and used at a later date. To freeze whole raw eggs, beat the eggs slightly with a fork, just enough to blend, then add 1/2 tablespoon of salt or 1/2 tablespoon sugar to each cup of egg, mix. For easy storage and quick freezing use a flexible ice cube tray. The cubes are easily removed when the eggs are frozen and each cube is approximately one whole egg. Store these cubes in a plastic bag or box. These frozen eggs can be kept in the home freezer as long as 6 to 8 months.

Turkey is a good buy this week, the smaller size turkey is made to order for the small family, but the big one is very economical. Other good buys at the meat counter are rib roast of beef, spring leg-o-lamb and, of course, ham.

Supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables are adequate with best buys being the following: asparagus, lettuce, celery, yellow onions, white potatoes, green peppers, bananas, grapefruit, pineapple and coconuts.

Century Club Notes

Conservation is defined in Webster's New World Dictionary as a protection from waste or loss. To the general public it refers most often to the protection of our forests, our watersheds, our wild life and our beaches. Another facet of conservation was demonstrated at the Harrington New Century Club Tuesday afternoon during the program of the day. The protection and preservation of household goods, in particular, furniture, was the case in point.

A film showing the cleaning of such goods was presented by Mr. Leon Porter, manager of Duraclean for Kent and Sussex Counties.

The program had been planned by Mrs. Fred Greenly Sr., Conservation chairman in the club, but in her absence Mrs. William A. Minter introduced Mr. Porter and others on the program.

Mrs. Leon Kukulka sang "Trees", accompanied by Mrs. Walter Winkler and Miss Elva Reese read an interesting paper on the most common birds in our state. Assisting with the program were Mrs. Horace Johnson, Mrs. Howard Thistlewood, Mrs. George W. Hanson, Mrs. Loren B. Harrington, and Mrs. F. Brown Smith. A great deal of information on the work in all kinds of conservation in the state was supplied by the Delaware Game and Fish Commission. Mrs. James Moore was the representative from the Century Club at the School Board meeting held recently. She brought back to the members information concerning the referendum which will be held in April on the school bond issue.

Mrs. Charles Peck Jr., president, reported on the two state board meetings that she had attended recently.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, April 4, and will be the Easter luncheon. Members may bring out of town guests. Each person will be asked to bring a covered dish, place settings and silver, and 25c to defray the cost of the beverage, dessert, etc. Mrs. Nelson Benjamin is chairman for the afternoon and will present the music program. The time is one o'clock.

The last meeting of the club year will be held the following Tuesday, April 11. This is also the time of the president's tea and the honoring of the new members. All members are urged to attend.

National Federation of Women's Clubs Week will be observed from May 21 to 27. Plans for the celebrating of the week have not been completed yet but will be published in this paper in the near future. Watch for the announcements.

Last Wednesday two of Beverly Vincent's classmates came home with her from kindergarten for a visit. They were Terry Kohel and Erma Schanding of Harrington.

Friday, Beverly accompanied her teacher, Mrs. Barbara Jones of Harrington, along with four other classmates to Milford for luncheon.

The Greenwood Volunteer Fire Company and the Ladies Auxiliary wish to thank each and every one who helped to make the supper a great success. 1650 platters were served for the two nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Farrow entertained Mr. and Mrs. Webster Trivitts, of Wilmington on the weekend.

Don't forget to circle your calendars for the date of April 14, which is the date for the annual Beauty Contest to select "Miss Greenwood" and little "Miss Greenwood" to go to the Delmarva Chicken Festival which will be held in Seaford this year.

The contest as usual is sponsored by the Greenwood Lions Club, who report that plans are coming along nicely. To date we have nine girls signed for the older group and 12 for the small group. The girl who is chosen as Miss Greenwood will receive a $100 bond and the runner-up will receive a $50 bond. All who enter will receive a Surf-Tog swim suit and other lovely gifts. Little Miss Greenwood will receive a $25 bond and all children who enter will receive a 101 Walt Disney Dalmation dog.

Social Security Notes

The Dover social security office has some good advice for people who plan to retire soon and apply for social security benefits.

"To speed the payment of your first retirement check, bring the necessary proofs with you the first time you come in to file a claim for benefits," Edward F. Sullivan, district manager, said today.

A person applying for retirement benefits needs to submit proof of age and of his or her earnings for 1960, he explained. "The early part of each year is usually the peak time for retirement applications," Mr. Sullivan said. "People can help us during this rush period, and at the same time avoid delays in getting their first payments by having the proofs with them when they come to the social security office."

"The best evidence of age," he said, "is a birth certificate issued shortly after birth, but people who do not have birth certificates can prove their age in a number of other ways." Baptismal records, birth date records in family Bibles, marriage certificates, voting records, and other old documents may also be acceptable. Usually the social security office will be able to suggest some document that will be near at hand or reasonably easy to get, if you will phone in advance of your visit.

Persons who believe that their dependents may be eligible for benefits should also bring documents to show their relationship, such as proof of marriage or adoption, as well as birth certificates or other proof of age for the dependents. A wife age 62 or more, children under age 18, and disabled children over 18 whose disability began in childhood are eligible for dependent's benefits if the person retiring is eligible.

To furnish proof of his earnings in 1960, a person who has worked for someone else can use the W-2 form given him by his employer. A self-employed person should bring a copy of his tax return for 1960, and also some evidence that the tax was paid, such as a cancelled check. He should also have an idea of how much he may earn in 1961, if he believes that he will be doing any further work.

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

The holy season of Lent draws to a close with the observance of Holy Week, a time of recollection of the memory of our Lord's last days and passion before the resurrection.

On Holy Thursday, we share our memories with Christ as He instituted the Holy Eucharist at the Last Supper with His apostles. Services will be held at St. John's in Milford beginning at 7:30 and will consist of Mass, procession to the Repository where the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed until midnight and the stripping of the altar.

Good Friday, the day on which Christ died on the cross, is the most said and solemn of all the days of Holy Week. On this day there is no real Mass, the Mass of the Presanctified being chiefly a communion service. Services at St. John's will begin at 7:30 and will include the Reading of the Passion, Solemn Prayers, Adoration of the Cross and Holy Communion.

Holy Saturday, the vigil of Easter, is the most solemn memorial in the entire year, of the central mystery of our redemption: Christ's saving death and glorious resurrection. The vigil service consists of three main parts: (1) The Light Service; (2) The Baptismal Service; (3) The Eucharistic Service. At 11 p.m. these services will begin at St. Bernadette's as well as at St. John's. At this time will take place the blessing of the new fire, the blessing and lighting of the Easter Candle, the carrying and distribution of this burning candle through the church and the chanting of the Easter song, the Exultet. The second part of the Easter Vigil centers around the mystery of baptism, first by recitation of the Litany of the Saints, next the blessing of the baptismal water and then the renewal of baptismal vows by the congregation.

The Easter Vigil comes to its climax with the celebration of Holy Mass which will begin at midnight. At the Gloria, the bells are rung and the organ again sounds, having all been silent since Thursday. Images in the church which have been veiled for two weeks, since Passion Sunday, are now unveiled. Joy prevails throughout the church once again as we celebrate the solemn anniversary of Christ's Glorious Resurrection from the dead.

Mass on Easter Sunday morning will begin at 9:30. Confessions will be heard Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 and in the evening from 7:30 to 9. There will be no religious classes for the High School students Sunday evening.

Classes for the younger children of the parish will be held Tuesday afternoon at 5:45.

At the parish meeting last Thursday evening it was decided to have an Easter Party on the Sunday after Easter in the form of a covered dish supper beginning at 4 o'clock. Plans were also begun for a spaghetti dinner to be held in the near future, proceeds to be to help reduce the debt of the parish hall.

Easter Seal Campaign Closes April 2

James T. McKinstry, general chairman of the 1961 Easter Seal campaign, this week issued an appeal to Delawareans to give their support during the few days remaining in the charity's appeal.

"We must depend on the Easter Seal contributions to finance our program of aid to the crippled of our state in the twelve months ahead," he said. "Since our 1961 Campaign closes on April 2, we would like to call on those who have not contributed to join the list of donors."

McKinstry explained that Easter Seal contributions last year enabled the Delaware Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., to give aid to more than 350 Delawareans, including about 200 children.

In addition, the Society gave practical help to parents, families and professional persons who work with the physically handicapped.

Funds contributed during the Easter Seal Campaign in Delaware also help to support the national research program directed toward crippling conditions and improving methods of rehabilitating handicapped persons.

The broad scope of the services provided by the Easter Seal Society includes aid for persons crippled at birth, by accident or disease, and those with strokes, speech disorders and other disabilities.

16-Yr. Tests On Apple Tree Growth

A new bulletin, published by the University of Delaware's Agricultural Experiment Station at Newark, may help apple growers get faster tree growth and higher yields. The bulletin, "Effects of Apple Soil Management Practices Upon Growth, Fruitfulness and Fruit Quality", reports 16 years of experiments on Norfolk loamy sand soil in southern Delaware.

Nine different soil management systems were evaluated with respect to influence on tree growth, yields, nutrient content of leaves and several aspects of fruit quality on Golden Delicious, Red Delicious and Stayman Wine-sap apple trees.

Of the 9 systems studied, 2 caused considerably faster tree growth and larger yields over the 16 year period. One of these consisted of poultry manure, applied under the trees in conjunction with a summer cover crop of soybeans. The other was a heavy straw mulch in conjunction with a winter cover crop of rye.

A ryegrass cover crop in winter without mulch promoted less-rapid tree growth during the first 8 years, but by the age of 14 years, these trees were as large as any in the experiment.

Sod management delayed tree growth in comparison with all other systems. Soybean cover crops with two commercial fertilizer programs, and a double cover crop system of soybeans in summer and a combination of rye and vetch in winter, resulted in intermediate rates of growth.

Yields were closely correlated with tree size, except that yields began to lag behind the growth rate under the mulch system after the age of 12 years.

Fruit quality was not greatly affected by any of the 9 systems studied. Under the mulch, however, there was a tendency for increased cracking in the Wine-sap variety. Fruit size was depressed slightly under sod management without mulch.

Results of the 16-year experiment were published by Dr. V. J. Fisher, associate professor of horticulture at the university, Mr. E. H. Ralph, associate agricultural agent for Sussex County, and D. B. Williams, graduate assistant, department of horticulture. For a more detailed account of the experiment, write to the Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Delaware, Newark, Del., and ask for bulletin No. 336, "Effect of Apple Soil Management Practices Upon Growth, Fruitfulness and Fruit Quality."

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew West entertained at dinner Sunday after the christening of their little daughter, Pamela, at Concord Methodist Church, by their pastor, the Rev. Harold Spedden.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Covey Brown and Wesley and Mrs. Hazel Taylor of Denton, Mrs. Chester Fair and David, Misses Glanda and Rose Mary Mumford, and Kenneth Hudson of Ocean View, and Carolyn, Gail, Marty and Randy Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Parker and Billy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Nagel and Dale of Federalsburg were Sunday evening visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Noble.

Mrs. Carrie Bowdle spent part of last week with Mrs. Grace Bowdle of Denton.

Mrs. Mary B. Camper, 72, 206 Hanley Street, and widow of Howard T. Camper, died Saturday in the Milford Hospital, following a heart attack.

She was the daughter of Peter and Harriett Reed Callaway.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon from the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home. The Rev. Nelson Benjamin, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. Camper is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Wilbur Pearson and Mrs. Potosi Moore, both of Harrington, and Mrs. Clarence H. Talley, Gwinhurst; and one brother, Loarn V. Callaway, Harrington.

CR Board Wants Tax Loopholes Plugged

Should all house trailers be taxed? The Caesar Rodney Board of Education strongly feels that they should and has adopted a resolution requesting representatives from the district in the General Assembly to get the trailer tax law changed to close the loopholes now existing.

The assessors for the district have reported to the Board that in one trailer court, 70 out of a total of 83 trailers were claiming exemption from the $15 annual fee on the basis of the Federal Soldier and Sailors Relief Act which exempts personal property of military personnel from local taxation.

The Caesar Rodney Board, while sympathetic toward the hardships created by military service, feels that if a serviceman must pay the real estate tax if he owns a house he ought not to be exempt just because his house is on wheels. It was also pointed out that many of these portable homes were as costly as stationary homes and just as livable.

A second problem noted by the Board with the present trailer tax law is the difficulty of levying on delinquents. Once a trailer is moved out of the district, collection is very difficult. It was suggested that one means of assuring the payment of trailer taxes would be to make the owner of the land on which the trailer was parked legally liable for the amount of the tax by a licensing system.

For the year ending June 30,

1960, the Caesar Rodney District received income from 188 trailers in the amount of $2820. It is estimated that with corrective legislation this amount will be more than doubled. The total local tax income from the District for the year ending June 30, 1960, was $80,458.40. Of this total $10,000 is allocated for current expenses and the remainder is for use in paying the interest and bond retirement expenses of the district.

Both Representative Harvey P. Fifer of Rising Sun and Senator Walton H. Simpson of Camden have assured the Caesar Rodney Board of their aid with the solution of this problem.

Beans Are Big This Year

High soybean prices in recent weeks apparently have spurred interest in this crop if the attendance by 200 farmers at a recent soybean meeting at the Georgetown Substation of the University of Delaware is any indication.

Kent County Agricultural Agent George Vapaa has several information sheets about soybean production which he will be glad to send to you on request.

One publication, "Growing Soybeans," has just been revised so the newest varieties are listed along with information on the particular areas and conditions that are best for each of the recommended varieties.

He also has information on plant population, seeding rates, chemical weed killer control and other cultural practices.

The agent is also interested in working with cooperative farmers on a research project sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Delaware Crop Improvement Association.

Soybean farmers are being asked to try several different practices so that yield samples and other information can be collected at the end of the year which will indicate practices that produce the highest yield.

Contact Mr. Vapaa by phone at REdfield 6-1448 if you are interested in soybean information or in cooperating in this project.

Baptist Church News

This Lord's Day in Sunday School, which begins at 9:45 a.m., our lesson will be, "Christ, Our Living Lord." Our morning worship service begins at 11 o'clock. At this service our pastor's theme will be "He Is Risen." At the evening service, he will speak on "What Will Happen At The Great White Throne?" Training Union will be held at 6:30 Sunday evening.

Our Stewardship course, sponsored by the Training Union was well attended last week.

Don't forget our revival, which will be held April 9-20, with the Rev. S. E. Byler. Plan now to attend these services.

Vacation Bible School will be conducted in our church one week after school is out. All who can help in the school this year, please let the pastor know.

The response to our Youth Rally was so good last Saturday night that we plan to have another one soon.

The three-hour Good Friday service will be held in Asbury Methodist Church.

Baptists believe that it is in respect to holiness that a man can be nearest to God—He cannot have power like unto the power of God; God is almighty and the might of man is limited on every side. He cannot share in the majesty of God; God is supreme in glory, and man is little and humble. He cannot share in the sovereignty of God; God is the King of kings and Lord of lords, while man is numbered among servants. But while man cannot have and need not seek to have, a part in the power, majesty or sovereignty of God, he is both invited and commanded to seek the holiness of God.

If you are seeking a church home with a gospel message, we invite you to come worship with us.

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. A simulated piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit of additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete
—with a revolutionary new formula which fights
the five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research reveals five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car. All five work silently and unseen.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid and cooling system leaks.
Read how new Shell X-100® Premium fights all five internal troubles.

New Shell X-100 Premium.

Trouble #1—additive ash
Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber. All other premium motor oils still have the same snag. The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt
All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine. Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash. Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant, called Alkadin.

Trouble #3—temperature changes
Many motor oils tend to become too thick when cold and too thin when hot. New Shell X-100 Premium is an all-year oil. Here's how it works. Alkadin has a molecular structure that resembles a basket of eels. When the oil is cold, Alkadin's eel-like molecules curl up as if for comfort. In effect, they take up less space in the oil—and the oil flows freely through the tightest bearing, even on cold nights. Conversely, when the Alkadin in new Shell X-100 Premium is hot, its molecules uncurl. They take up more room. And the oil resists thinning. Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid
All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble. One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens. The neutralizing effect of alkaline oil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely. Then your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection. Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new way. Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption." "Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5—cooling system leaks
Tiny leaks of permanent anti-freeze can play nasty tricks with many motor oils. These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill.

Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off. The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?
If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade. Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Good Friday services include 10 a.m. morning prayer and Litany; the Union Good Friday Service, 12-3 p.m. at Asbury Methodist Church; 5 p.m. Evening Prayer and Litany.

The Rev. Joseph S. Hinks, rector of St. Stephen's for many years and rector emeritus of Christ Church, Milford, was celebrant at the service of Holy Communion on Palm Sunday, assisted by the Rev. John R. Symonds, Jr.

A reception for the Rev. Mr. Hinks followed the 11 o'clock service. The celebration was to mark the occasion of the 46th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. A large cake with appropriate lettering and with other decorations was added to the usual coffee hour refreshments, in honor of the special occasion. Coffee hour hostesses scheduled for Palm Sunday were Mrs. Thomas Clendening and Mrs. Ernest Killen.

Among the acolytes who assisted at the services on March 26 were Charles McNally, Gary Porter, Dennis Bradley, Billy Porter, Walt Rogers, Frank Welch and Robert Eastman, Roy Porter, Tim Strohl.

Flowers on the altar Palm Sunday were given to the glory of God and in loving memory of John R. Symonds by Mrs. John R. Symonds.

The Rev. G. P. Mellick Belshaw of Christ Church, Dover, was guest preacher at St. Stephen's Sun., March 26, for the service of Evening Prayer.

Messrs. Thomas Clendening, Ernest Killen, Billy Porter, Clyde Perry, LeRoy Strohl, and Walter Winkler were ushers last Sunday.

All junior choir and senior choir members, and all acolytes are invited to a breakfast, which will be served in the parish house on Easter Sunday morning at 9:15 a.m.

During the Lenten season, church school pupils at St. Stephen's have had the opportunity to see "Cathedral Filmstrips," in color narrated with musical background. The series is entitled "The Passion Story," including "The Last Supper," "Gethsemane," "Arrest and Trial," "Judgment and Crucifixion," "The Resurrection."

Palm Sunday the pupils also saw a film entitled "Giving is Growing," geared to encourage young people to make greater missionary contributions through their mite box offering.

St. Stephen's Church School Easter Egg Hunt and Mite Box Presentation Service is scheduled for 4 p.m. Easter Sunday. The egg hunt will precede the church service and the missionary offering. There will be no Sunday School session at 9:30 a.m. next Sunday but there will be the usual service on the following Sunday, April 9, at 9:30 a.m.

A spring card party, sponsored by the Women of St. Stephen's, will be held at the parish house on Raughley-Hill Road, April 5, Wednesday, 8 p.m. Everyone is invited.

The Women of St. Stephen's are taking part in a statewide campaign now being carried on by the Council of Churches of Delaware to raise money for the betterment of migrant workers. These people come to the state annually to help harvest the crops. It is hoped that a chaplain can be provided, a child care center supported, and other educational needs be met. This campaign is a challenge to the local churches to include these seasonal neighbors in their concern.

Veterans News

Veterans and their families in Delaware received a total of $12,248,277 in cash benefits and services during the fiscal year of 1960, Leon Fields, manager of the VA Regional Office, announced today.

Actual distribution of this sum is outlined in the 1960 annual report of the VA, now on sale at the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., Mr. Fields said.

In Delaware, compensation for service-connected disabilities and pension for total and permanent nonservice-connected disabilities were paid to 5,811 living veterans in the amount of $4,602,742.

Death compensation and pension were paid to the dependents of 1,550 deceased veterans in the amount of $1,327,295.

Certain G.I. insurance dividend and indemnity payments totaling $1,971,880 were made to veterans and their beneficiaries.

An average of 7 disabled veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict in Delaware trained during the year under the vocational rehabilitation act to overcome the handicaps of their disabilities. They received $11,545 in subsistence, tuition, supplies and equipment.

An average of 328 veterans trained during the year under the World War II and Korean G. I. Bills. They received $366,134 in cash allowances.

The remainder of cash benefits, services and other VA expenditures in Delaware during the year totaled $4,148,681.

These cash benefits and services included war orphans' educational allowances, hospitalization, loan guarantee and direct loan programs, automobiles for certain disabled veterans, wheel chair homes for the seriously disabled, administrative costs and miscellaneous benefits.

Unmarried minor children of deceased veterans may be eligible for pension payments even when their mother, the veteran's widow, is not eligible, Leon Fields, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Wilmington said today.

Cases in point are where the widow is ineligible due to having remarried or due to having income in excess of established limits. The ineligibility of the widow does not affect the eligibility of the minor children.

Mr. Fields pointed out that when a widow and children are already on the pension rolls, the subsequent ineligibility of the widow poses no problem. Pension payments to the children are continued after the mother's name is removed from the rolls.

However, in cases where the widow has never applied for a pension, or whose application was not allowed, due to her remarriage or excessive income, the VA may have no record of any minor children to which payment should be made.

Unmarried minor children of deceased veterans may be eligible for pension until they are 18, or 21 if attending school, provided their own personal incomes would not bar them.

Full details may be obtained at any VA office.

Girl Killed, Boys Hurt In Crash

A 16-year-old girl was killed and her three 17-year-old boy companions injured when their car struck a pole near Milford late Saturday night.

Donna Kaye Kurzynowski of Milford was the girl killed. Her death brought the auto accident death toll for Delaware this year up to 11, eight under the count for the corresponding period last year.

State police at Georgetown said the car, driven by Thomas E. Mills, 17, of Milford, was going west on a curve on Route 443, just north of Griffith's Lake, at 11:15 p.m. Mills lost control of the car. It struck a tree and then a telephone pole, snapping it off.

Miss Kurzynowski was thrown out of the vehicle. The girl was pronounced dead at the Milford Memorial Hospital. Mills was admitted with multiple injuries as was Fred Workman, 17, of Milford. Robert Warren, also riding in the car, was treated for cuts and abrasions and released.

Church Women Set Spring Card Party

Mrs. Hewitt W. Smith is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Clendening, Mrs. Ernest Killen and Mrs. L. S. Strohl.

Mrs. Thomas Clendening may be contacted for tickets by calling EX 8-3683. The public is invited. Tickets can be bought at the door.

D-Day For Termites

D-day for the termite menace has arrived. And without adequate control measures the insect invasion may become a full scale war, warns Dr. Dale F. Bray, chairman of the University of Delaware's entomology department.

Warm weather arouses the termites after a long winter lull and the critters are mighty hungry, says Dr. Bray. The first place they look for food is in your house.

Early detection is still the best termite control measure. Look for mud-like tubes on the foundation walls of your house. The tunnels are the termite's front door entrance to your home. If you discover a tunnel, break it open. If you find small white insects inside, then brother, you've got a termite war on your hands!

Using an ice pick, probe for cavities in the wood where it meets the ground or where concrete slabs meet the walls of the house.

Swarms of flying termites in the spring are another good sign (bad sign rather) that termites are around. Flying adult termites don't do any damage themselves, but if they are around it probably means there's a colony of white worker termites nearby. Flying termites often are confused with flying ants. If the critter has a pinched waist, it's a flying ant; the termite's body is not as curvaceous.

If you find sawdust-like materials being pushed out of the wood in your house, chances are you have some other kind of insect. Termites seldom break through the surface of the wood in which they're having a hearty meal.

Once satisfied, the termites will leave your house the way they came in and go back to their colony for an after-dinner snooze. All they ask is a safe route to and from the dining room. But they'll be back as soon as they get hungry again.

If you discover termites invading your castle, consult a professional pest-control operator, Dr. Bray suggests. This is particularly true if you have concrete floors.

Don't push the panic button, Bray warns. Termites work slowly so take your time and ask the pest control operator for references and then check them out. Also ask him if he's a member of a national or state pest control association. Members of these organizations usually do a good job.

The University of Delaware has a free fact sheet on termite control. Ask your county agent for a copy or write to the University of Delaware, School of Agriculture in Newark.

The Bean In Delaware's Future

Delaware is showing signs of being taken over by soybeans. At least acreage has been increasing steadily over the last few years due to several reasons. Soybean acreage hit 134,000 acres last year, up from 153,000 acres in 1959.

Soybeans require little labor and therefore fit in very well on a farm that has other high labor requirement crops or is simply short on labor.

Soybeans also require very little capital so many farmers operating with limited working capital like soybeans. It costs about $40 to plant an acre of soybeans according to University of Delaware agricultural economists. In comparison, it costs about $53 to grow an acre of corn.

But even at the low $40 cost many Delaware farmers are making very little, if any, profit from their soybeans. The average yield in the state last year was 24 bushels. Prices at harvest time were about $2. This adds up to $48 on an average yield. Of course, many farmers failed to grow the average yield.

On the other hand, many farmers hit 40 bushels per acre yields. What makes the difference? Management. The answer is not in added investment but rather in selecting the right variety, soil testing to be sure the soil is not too acid or under fertilized, and planting the right plant population with the right plant spacing, at the right time, along with effective weed control practices.

Just picking the right variety can make a difference of several bushels in your yield.

According to Frank B. Springer, agronomist with the University of Delaware, the following varieties are the best under the various conditions found in Delaware:

Hood soybeans are a good full-season bean for use in Sussex County. They take 140 to 145 days to mature and yield very well.

Hill soybeans are the best intermediate variety. They require 130 to 135 days to mature which is just right for Kent County or for late planting in Sussex County.

For short-season planting, (requiring 125 to 130 growing days), Clark, Kent and Wabash are all good varieties. Kent is the best because it is high yielding and is resistant to pod and stem blight. However, it is a new variety and seed is not yet widely available. These varieties are best for New Castle County and for late, second-crop planting in Kent and Sussex Counties.

Bethel, another short season variety requiring 125 to 130 days of growth, is a new variety intended for use on soils infested with rootknot nematodes. Bethel is resistant and will produce well on nematode infested soils that will seriously reduce yields with other soybean varieties. As a rotation crop with other nematode susceptible crops such as cantaloupes, cucumbers, watermelons, and peppers, Bethel soybeans will starve the nematodes so they won't be a problem on the high-value crops. For most satisfactory control, Bethel should be grown two years.

V. C. F. Ruritan Holds Banquet

Ruritan members attended the annual Felton F.F.A. Parent & Son Banquet on March 24.

This year as in past years the V.C.F. Ruritan Club sponsored the F.F.A. Parent & Son Banquet. In attendance with the V. C. F. Ruritan members was the Del-Marva District Governor, Olin Gooden, Past District Governor, Herb Ewell and National Secretary, Tom Downing. Tom gave a short speech to the F.F.A. members in which he explained how a group of farmers and towns people got together in Holland, Va., in 1928 and organized Ruritan. The whole idea being to get the farmers and business men in the small communities together and thus make the rural areas a better place in which to live. Tom further explained that since the Ruritan organization in 1928 it has grown to be the sixth largest civic organization in the United States. He also expressed the point that the F.F.A. and Ruritan, since both represent the small communities must work hand in hand in order to make the community in which they function a better place in which to live.

Although Tom will not admit that he is the organizer of Ruritan it is quite evident from his record. The records show that Tom was very active in getting Ruritan started. He served as Ruritan National President in 1936 and has served in the capacity of National Secretary since 1945.

Meeting On Felton School Referendum Scheduled

The Felton Board of School Trustees has scheduled a public meeting on Thurs., April 6, at 8 p.m. to discuss questions pertaining to the May 6 building referendum. Building plans and sketches will be displayed and complete information given on the need for additional school facilities.

The need for a local current expense fund will also be explained and questions answered concerning the cost of both proposals. The voters will be asked to approve a bond issue to finance the district's share of a $490,000 building expansion along with a small tax levy for current expenses purposes.

Voters who were unable to attend the first meeting on March 20 are urged to attend this session in order to become informed on the issues involved.

Sussex Soybean Session Scheduled

Kent County farmers are invited to another soybean session which is scheduled for March 30 at 8 p.m. at the Georgetown High School according to George Vapaa, Kent County Agricultural Agent. This meeting is not a repeat of the meeting held earlier on soybeans, but more new information and different speakers from the first overflow meeting earlier this month.

Ernest Scarborough, University of Delaware agricultural engineer, will discuss such topics as: Minimum tillage, planter and cultivator adjustments, fertilizer placement, use of the rotary hoe, irrigation and harvesting.

University of Maryland agronomist, Dr. Robert Lefel will present his research data on row widths, date of planting and rate of seeding or soybeans. Dr. Lefel is considered an authority in this field.

To summarize the meeting, Frank Springer, Delaware agronomist, will give his formula on "How to Grow 40 Bushels of Soybeans." Mr. Springer's discussion will include both his research and field experience on the subject. His subjects will include the varieties recommended in Delaware, soybean seed treatment, fertilizer and lime research, chemical weed control and crop management.

Mimeograph recommendations will be available at this meeting and questions are encouraged. Anyone who did not get these at the last meeting will have another chance to do so. The last session was so crowded that two simultaneous sections were held. There will be ample room this time, Mr. Vapaa included.

Agent Urges Use Of Soil Tests

Like everyone else, farmers must spend money to make money, and this certainly applies to the use of lime and fertilizers in Kent County.

County Agent George Vapaa says our soils are among the most responsive in the nation to good management and sound soil fertility practices.

A soil test is the best method to increase the fertility status on individual farms in the county, he declares. But just additional fertilizer or more lime is not the answer: the question is which kind of fertilizer.

On some soils the greatest returns may result from lime. On other soils the greatest return may be from nitrogen, phosphate, potash or a combination of these elements in complete fertilizers. Which one and in what amount?

Mr. Vapaa says more lime and fertilizer could be profitably used in this county, but it must be applied in a sound and intelligent way to obtain greatest results. His answer to this practical problem is: "Don't guess—Soil Test."

Call him at REDfield 6-1448 for detailed information on how to take good samples.

Examinations for Spanish Contests To Be Given Soon

Examinations for entrants in the 1961 Delaware High School Spanish contest will be given in P. S. duPont High School on Thursday afternoon, April 13, at 3:15 p.m., Dr. A. Valbuena-Briones, state contest chairman announced Wednesday.

Dr. Valbuena-Briones, professor of Spanish at the University of Delaware, said that in accordance with previous practice, the Delaware contest is being administered as a part of the National Spanish contest of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese. Examinations used will be those prepared by the national headquarters and will be divided into three parts: aural, grammar and reading. The tests will be given to second, third and fourth year students.

All members of the Association in Delaware have been invited to submit the names of students to be entered at each level.

Teachers who are not members of the Association also may enter outstanding pupils by communicating with Professor Valbuena-Briones before Sat., April 1.

Del. Has Much To Offer The Springtime Visitor

Spring and the 1961 Tourist Season will arrive together in Delaware and "The First State" will, as usual, have much to offer the Springtime visitor, advises the Delaware State Development Department.

The Delaware Tourist Season traditionally opens on Easter Sunday with the annual fashion promenade at Rehoboth Beach, and the Chamber of Commerce and "City Fathers" at this increasingly popular Atlantic Coast resort are now getting everything in readiness for this April 2 event.

A springtime attraction that has widespread appeal is the annual tour of Winterthur Museum and Gardens, which, this year, begins April 25 and continues through May 27. A breathtaking array of Spring flowers are to be seen in the acres of gardens, and thirty rooms depicting American culture and homelife from 1640 to 1840 may be seen in the Museum. Tour hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday (only the gardens are open on Sundays). Winterthur is only a few moments drive northwest from Wilmington on Delaware Route 52.

Particularly attractive to the springtime visitor is the Hagley Museum on the Brandywine River just a short distance from Winterthur. Here, early water-powered industry is shown through dioramas and displays in an old textile mill since converted into a museum. The Hagley Yard, where the famed duPont enterprises were born, also offers a variety of Spring flowers in natural setting. The Museum is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Sundays.

The Development Department also recommends a visit by the springtime visitor to The Old Town Hall, Wilmington; The David Wilson Museum and The Corbit House, Odessa; the Delaware State Museums, at Dover; and the Zwaanendaal Museum, Lewes.

At Dover, extensive preparations are already underway for observance of "Old Dover Days", traditionally held the first Saturday and Sunday in May. Restored seventeenth and eighteenth century homes and gardens will again be open to the public, May 6-7. Priceless heirlooms and old silver will also be exhibited.

Receptions by Delaware's Governor and Dover's Mayor; traditional dances on historic Dover Green; and May Day exercises on the Wesley College campus are other high-lights of the two-day program.

Among the historic buildings to be seen in the Dover area are the "Old State House," second oldest in continuous use in the Nation, and the John Dickinson Mansion, the restored home of the "Penman of the Revolution." Delaware's annual statewide observance of the Festival of the Arts gets underway on May 1 and continues through the month. Included are special displays at the Delaware Art Center, Wilmington, and at the Art League Studios, Rehoboth Beach. Festival attractions also include Wilmington Garden Day, the annual Clothesline Art Fair, and annual Flower Markets at Wilmington, New Castle and Seaford.

The Garden Day observance on Saturday, May 6, will consist of a tour of more than 20 gardens and estates in and near Wilmington. The Clothesline Fair, featuring works of the artists of the area, will again be held on the steps of Wilmington's Public Building facing Rodney Square, May 1 through May 6.

Saturday, May 20, historic New Castle, the state's first capital, will again observe "A Day in Old New Castle." New Castle, today, is one of the Nation's outstanding colonial-type communities. Preserved or restored seventeenth century homes open for the occasion include the "Dutch House", believed to be the oldest house in Delaware. Visitors who tread the cobblestoned Strand on May 20 will be greeted by residents resplendent in Colonial and Dutch garb of two centuries ago.

The approach of Memorial Day, which, incidentally, is appropriately marked by parade and outdoor exercises in many Delaware communities, also brings closer the opening of Delaware Park, one of America's most beautiful thoroughbred racing plants. A 55-day meet at the Stanton track gets underway on May 29.

Beginning Memorial Day, boat transportation, on weekends and holidays, will again be available from Delaware City to historic Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River. This picturesque old bastion housed Confederate prisoners during the American Civil War and during the current Civil War Centennial undoubtedly will develop into one of the state's greatest tourist attractions.

Delaware's bay and ocean resorts—Rehoboth Beach, Lewes,

Dewey Beach, Bethany Beach and Fenwick Island—are getting ready for an early influx of vacationists. The banging of hammers and swish of paint brushes currently being heard throughout the coastal area is an indication that these resorts will be "ready for business" when the Delaware beach season opens the weekend prior to Memorial Day.

Fishermen are already dropping their lines in the briny surf or in the more than 50 well-stocked Delaware lakes and ponds — and reporting sizeable catches.

Wherever one goes in Delaware this Spring a warm welcome will be found with everyone joining in extending an invitation to "Have Fun in '61—See the First State First!" concludes the Development Department.

Crabgrass: Public Enemy No. 1

Public enemy Number One, at least for subdivision dwellers, is crabgrass. But crabgrass is going out of style for people who use weed killers containing Zytron or Dacthol, according to Professor Claude E. Phillips, chairman of the agronomy department at the University of Delaware.

Professor Phillips explains that these weed killers will snuff out 90-95 per cent of the pesky crabgrass. But you have to get it on in time—before the crabgrass starts growing. This means getting it on soon, at least by the middle of April, and the sooner the better.

After crabgrass gets started, other remedies are called for, Phillips says. A weed killer containing disodium methyl arsonate or ammonium methyl arsonate should be used on crabgrass after it gets a foothold in your lawn. If you don't get started by the time the crabgrass is 2 inches high, you may as well resign yourself to having it the rest of the summer.

The only problem with this after-the-fact method is that, for good results, 3 applications are necessary at 7-10 day intervals. If the chemicals are put on in dry form, they'll work better if the grass is wet, or at least damp, when they are applied. They can be applied early in the morning while the grass is still damp with dew, or after the lawn has been watered.

Both these arsenate chemicals contain arsenic, so keep the kids and dogs off the grass until the chemical seeps down into the soil. This will take about two weeks or until after a good rain or sprinkling.

How much of these weed killers do you need? Professor Phillips says a 50 pound bag will do about 2,500 square feet of lawn. Information on the bag should tell you what setting to use on your spreader.

While Professor Phillips agrees that fertilizer and lime can be put on at the same time as the crabgrass killer, he recommends putting the fertilizer and lime on first.

If you have some bare spots in your grass and want to plant grass seed, wait 6-8 weeks after seeding before applying a crabgrass killer.

So if you're interested in doing as little work as possible to knock out crabgrass, the Zytron or Dacthol method will do just that if you'll get at it right away.

Egg Nightmare!

Did you ever have an egg nightmare? Egg producers do. And we don't mean the hens. We're talking about the fellow who owns the hens that lay the eggs.

About this time of year, hens hit the panic button and start pouring out eggs, according to Ray Lloyd, extension poultryman with the University of Delaware.

And the boss starts to sweat, and collect eggs, and worry, and clean and candle eggs, and turn and toss in bed. If he sleeps at all, he dreams of great piles of huge, rolling white eggs coming at him like a giant tidal wave.

In an effort to save egg producers from having such egg nightmares, the U.S. Department of Agriculture designated March as National Egg Month.

For his part, Governor Carvel says he eats two eggs for breakfast every morning.

If you will help out by eating just one or two more eggs every week, just think how much it would ease the mind of your local egg producer! Remember also that eggs are your best nutrition buy. So come on now, get out there and eat eggs!

Just think about all those eggs, rolling in, getting bigger and higher and closer.

Reese Theatre Notes

A glance at the Reese Theatre program, to be found in this newspaper assures one that every effort has been put forth to provide top entertainment for the Easter holiday season.

For this Friday and Saturday, March 31 and April 1, Marlon Brando is the star of "The Wild One," an action-laden epic of the prevalent motorcycle craze.

Especially requested is the Bowery Boy in "Dig That Uranium," a fast moving laugh riot sure to appeal to the entire family. An added feature to this fast moving program is a Tom & Jerry Cartoon Circus. It's a glorious spree for the action and comedy fans.

Everybody has heard of "The Great Imposter," the true life tale that makes fiction look tame. Adapted from the book of the same name Tony Curtis rises to great heights in this picturization of the man who fooled the world through his impersonations. Based on the facts of the sensational best seller, a great treat is in store for those who see "The Great Imposter" at the Reese Theatre, Sunday and Monday, April 2 and 3.

The picture everyone is talking about is "Carry On Nurse" with a daffodil as the star. Scheduled for showing at the Reese, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, April 9-10-11, theatre fans will see by far the screen's fastest, funniest farce comedy. The first five hundred ladies will be presented with a daffodil.

Check Pastures Before Turning Cows Out

A thorough check over pastures before cows are turned in to them can be time well spent, says County Agent, George Vapaa.

"Trash, broken glass and wire," he says, "may produce nasty udder and foot injuries. Remove it or bury it. Nails sticking through boards may produce serious puncture wounds in the feet. Old farm implements should be hauled away; cows seem unable to resist stepping through old disks or harrows, often with disastrous results."

Loose fence wires need to be securely fastened, and old rotten fence wires should be carefully cleaned up. A magnet may be a big help in picking up nails and bits of wire.

Bury old bottles and tin cans. A rubber jar ring, for example, if tramped into by a cow and drawn above the hoof can cut off the hoof within a few days.

One old paint bucket may furnish enough lead to kill half a dozen cows, Mr. Vapaa says. "They like the taste of lead paint so much that they will struggle each other to get as much as possible from an old paint can."

"Fertilizer and fertilizer bags are deadly; especially those containing nitrates. Cows will eagerly kill themselves eating it."

"In spite of our laws, we still have a few people who will pitch a bagful of junk out of their cars while they drive along our highways. A cattleman must be ever mindful of this and try to remove this stuff before his cows get to it."

"Time spent in removing such material from pastures might save you a cow or more."

Delaware State Seeks More Funds

Officials of Delaware State College Wednesday asked state funds to maintain the college's accreditation.

Dr. Luna I. Mishoe, president told the Joint Finance Committee of the General Assembly that the college will get a full scale evaluation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools next February. Funds are needed to raise teacher's salaries.

"We know that the Middle States has been watching our progress over the past four years and that we are expected to show some improvement in this area," Dr. Mishoe said.

The college president said there also is a problem in holding good and well-qualified teachers. "We are specifically faced with the problem of losing our college staff members to the public schools of Delaware purely on a salary basis."

Funds also are needed, he said, to strengthen the college library staff, another point important to continued accreditation.

The college officials requested $495,000 to run the college next fiscal year. This is $85,000 more than state funds appropriate for this year.

Dr. Mishoe also asked $715,000 in capital funds to build a women's dormitory to house 100 students and to enlarge the dining room.

At present the college has one women's dormitory accommodating 112 students. Total enrollment for next year is expected to exceed 400 students, half of whom will be women. He estimated the cost of a new dormitory at $252,000.

The present dining room has a capacity of 150 students — less than half the present number of boarding students. Refrigeration equipment is inadequate. Needed: $190,000.

After the presentation of the budget request Senator Walter J. Hoey, chairman of the Joint Finance Committee declared: "I think that the request is reasonable—and I haven't said that to many."

Much more money was involved in the request submitted by the Wilmington Board of Education, which asked $5,361,165.72. This year the board has the use of $5,292,650.99 in state money.

The Board based a large portion of its request on the unit system, but also asked for some funds beyond the amount available to it under that system. Wilmington schools are entitled to state support for 604 units, based on the September enrollment. This is four fewer than last year.

Some of the extra money was requested because of a change in bookkeeping. Certain salaries formerly put in the State Board of Education budget were omitted from that agency's request and transferred to the request of the Wilmington board.

Dr. Ward I. Miller, superintendent, asked for salary money for some employes, particularly specialists aiding teachers, not called for under the unit system. Wilmington does have some problems that other school districts do not have—that is our justification for asking for these," he said.

He pointed to the changing population of the city, the wide range and the diversity of racial groups and cultural backgrounds among the children. The Wilmington schools, he said, face some very severe problems.

In this connection, Dr. Miller noted that 58 per cent of Wilmington's elementary pupils are Negroes, and that by 1965 more than half of all the students will be.

Chairman Hoey wondered if this means that integration turns out to be expensive to the schools. Dr. Miller said integration does not make much difference—that there would be the same diversity, and the pupils should be grouped according to ability whether they are integrated or not.

The Board's financial request includes $98,000 for the Brown and Howard Vocational Schools submitted with the thought that if the state is going to provide separate support for the new Sussex Vocational Center to open at Georgetown it should provide similar county vocational schools.

The higher amount requested this year, as compared with last, is due to that figure, plus scheduled salary increases, and a few other items.

With Wednesday's activities, the Finance Committee finished this year's scheduled hearings, except for one. It will listen to the budget request of the Labor Commission Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. Later the committee wants to hold a week of executive sessions in which to make its decisions. After that the staff will produce the budget bill.

Our Federal Administration will restore the national economy. We must plan to meet normal predicted state government costs for the next several years.

"Action must be taken on every possibility of increased efficiency in our agencies. Our proposed reorganization of the Highway Department is a prime example. "Other examples: A monthly, rather than quarterly expiration of automobile registrations, might more efficiently spread the workload in the Motor Vehicle Department.

"If the needs continue to grow, there are other minor revisions in revenue fees and taxes that would not only produce substantial income for the state, but would at the same time eliminate inequities in our revenue fee and tax structure.

"Let me cite as examples the absence of any scaled license fees for hotels or motels the less-than-cost fees for special services of the Motor Vehicle Department, and the absence of income tax brackets above $8000 of net taxable income.

"These, and similar minor adjustments in revenue fees and taxes should bring the State of Delaware the money that we will need in the foreseeable future without any major tax program such as a general sales tax, a State property tax or a gross income tax.

"We hope that increased taxes will be unnecessary. But in the final analysis, the needs of our people and our State must come first. We cannot continue living from hand to mouth; we must be able to afford our needs and to fulfill the ever-passing requirements of our many important departments and commissions.

"May I repeat—I do not favor any major tax increases at this time, but upon substantial indication of any serious threat to the general economy of our State and the proper and efficient functioning of its governing agencies, I shall be the first to inform you if major tax increases are needed. This I will do with full realization of the public and political consequences involved."

Auxiliary to Sussex County Medical Society Meets

The March meeting of the auxiliary to the Sussex County Medical Society was held in Lewes, simultaneously with the Physicians Society at the Beebe Hospital.

The Women's Organization convened in the Jean Ellen duPont McConnell Nurses Home. Mrs. C. Aubrey Smoot Jr., president, conducted the business session. After routine reports of minutes, treasurers message, and old business transactions, the members voted to renew their contributions to the American Medical Education Foundation and to make an allotment per person to the Nursing Scholarship Fund.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Thomas Tobin, of Milton, she presented an interesting civil defense talk on "How To Be Safe." This version of defense was aimed at the individual and family preparedness. Literature was distributed to each listener and the hope expressed that the instruction given therein would be followed in preparation for emergency disaster. Civil defense is overlooked in so many instances, and this vitally essential program should be practiced in the home. Undoubtedly, the need to act in an emergency will most often occur in the home.

After adjournment of the meeting, the members of the Auxiliary joined the Physicians of the Sussex County Medical Society in an hour of conversation and refreshments.

Baltimore Firm Buys Cannery

Lord-Mott Company, Inc., has purchased the Bramble Canning Corporation of Greenwood, Del., Lord-Mott's president, David S. Johnson, announced Wednesday.

The purchase includes the Bramble Company's three canning plants at Greenwood and at Rock Hall and Galestown, Maryland.

"We have been greatly hampered in our plans for expansion by lack of space in our Baltimore plant," Johnson said, "but with the acquisition of the Bramble properties our production facilities will be increased fifty percent immediately. The Greenwood plant is one of the most modern canneries in the country and we expect to double production there in the near future."

Johnson also announced that Henry Koenig, until recently treasurer of the Buck Glass Company, has joined Lord-Mott as assistant to vice-president, Henry C. Engel. C. E. Porterfield of Lord-Mott's Baltimore office has assumed the duties of assistant treasurer of the Bramble operation at the Greenwood office.

County Assessment Protested by 2

A protest as to the reassessment system was heard by the Kent County Levy Court at the regular meeting Tuesday.

Two residents of the Fourth District, west of Dover, appeared to point out that it wasn't fair for properties in their area to have their taxable values increased while those in other areas remained unchanged.

The Levy Court commissioners pointed out that it would be impossible to change all the assessments during one year. But they took no official action on the complaint.

Walter Handsberry, secretary for the Levy Court, said Wednesday that the three assessors in the county are making a gradual reassessment of all properties. It started last year and is continuing.

Earle N. Faulkner, secretary for the Board of Assessments, declared he had no idea how much of the county had been processed so far.

He said he took office on Jan. 10th and had seen no records indicating the progress made.

But he said that the three assessors, William Paskey, Edgar Kates, and Ervin Voshell, divided up the ten Levy Court districts in the county and usually worked in their own areas.

But he said he was sure that no discrimination was being shown—"they are working each district on this reassessment project as they get to it."

Routine business featured the Levy Court session Tuesday. Only appointment made was that of Carl Conley as constable for the 3rd District at Clayton. He succeeds Arthur Thomas who did not apply for reappointment.

Mental Health Professions Seek To Interest Youth

A crash program to interest Delaware teenagers in selecting one of the mental health professions as a future career was announced yesterday by Fred G. Singer, president of the Mental Health Association of Delaware.

The local project is part of a nationwide program to meet one of our country's greatest health emergencies: shortage of trained professional workers in the mental health field.

Mrs. Louis Levinson of Mid-dletown, a member of the Mental Health Associations Board of Directors, and past president of the Delaware Chapter, American Association of University Women, has been named chairman of the Association's newly-established Careers Committee.

As a first step in its new careers campaign, the Delaware association is offering a new, illustrated, 16 page pamphlet for teenagers. Entitled, "Because You Like People—Choose a Career In Mental Health," the pamphlet discusses the opportunities and advantages of a career in the field. Specific details are also given about the professions of psychiatry, psychology, psychiatric social work, psychiatric nursing, occupational therapy, recreational therapy and the work of the psychiatric aide.

A copy of the pamphlet, which is now available, may be requested free of charge from the Mental Health Association, 1505 N. Franklin Street, Wilmington 6, Delaware.

In addition to the new publication, the overall careers program will include close co-operation with local schools, youth groups and clubs, the supplying of films, posters, speakers and the providing of complete information on job qualifications, training required and qualified schools.

"Shortage of trained personnel continues to be the Achilles heel of the nation's fight against mental illness and according to Dr. George Albee who has surveyed the situation for the Joint Commission on Mental Illness, the present crisis will be like the seven fat years in Joseph's dream, in comparison to anticipated conditions years from now, should present population trends continue, and should the demand for psychiatric services continue at the present rate of growth," said Mrs. Levinson.

"The country at large, for instance, has less than one half the number of physicians that are needed in mental hospitals. Were this an academic question we would be content with waiting and hoping that the condition could eventually right itself. But this is no academic matter. Clinics, psychiatric services in general hospitals, counseling and guidance services are not coming into being because of this manpower shortage — and millions of children and adults are without needed care.

"We know the situation is critical and we hope to do something about it," continued Mr. Levinson. "But we also are hoping to help young people who previously may not have thought about these professions. There are many of us who believe the excitement and challenge, the chances of discovery and research in the mental health field today are equal to any other this Space Age Offers."

Ghana is establishing its first television network from Accra. Thailand plans to build 600 miles of new highway in the next six years, Bangkok reports.
