Taxpayers of the Felton school district have given overwhelming approval to a bond issue to finance the school board's share of a $390,000 construction and improvement program.

In a referendum Saturday, the electorate voted, 217 to 78, for a bond issue of $156,000. State funds will make up the remainder of the amount needed in the program, which calls for the building of an industrial arts shop, two science laboratories, seven classrooms, a conference and work room, toilets to existing building, renovations and alterations, and purchase of equipment and furniture.

Voters also gave their approval to a proposal authorizing a small tax levy for current operating expenses. The vote on this was 198 to 97. The tax rate for the coming year has been fixed at 40c per $100 assessed valuation of real estate, and a $10 capitation tax.

C. of C. Asks Improvements On Sidewalks

A face-lifting operation for Harrington's business district took a step forward Tuesday at the May meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at The Wonder R.

At that time, the Community Betterment Committee was authorized to proceed with the improvement program and to spend the necessary funds to obtain pictures of the business establishments. It is hoped that the photos will aid an architect in suggesting improvements. The committee comprises the following persons: Thomas E. Clendening, W. W. Shaw, J. Edward Taylor, T. Brinton Holloway, Arnold Gilstad, Charles L. Peck Jr., and Kesler M. Farrow.

City Manager George Graham mentioned bad sidewalks, that City ordinances needed changing, with some being abolished, and with the laws being published in pamphlet form for easier accessibility. The Chamber then motioned to ask the City Council to see that something be done about improving sidewalks.

The Chamber also agreed to ask the Council to write the State Highway Department to resurface Center Streets and Delaware Avenue and to curb where needed. These streets are state-maintained.

The meeting was then turned over to J. Edward Taylor, president-elect, who said present committees should continue to function until he could make revisions.

McDowell Backs Bill to Aid Disabled Veterans

Congressman Harris B. McDowell, Jr. (D-Del.), a member of the Veterans Affairs Committee, yesterday introduced H.R. 6653, to increase compensation rates for veterans with service-connected disabilities.

The measure is designed to carry out a recommendation which President Kennedy made to the Congress on April 27 this year.

The President wrote Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson that:

"In my recent message on budget and fiscal policy, I recommended that the Congress enact selective increases in compensation rates for veterans with service-connected disabilities to offset rises in the cost of living since the last increase in 1957 and to adjust rates in categories which are out of line. The American people have traditionally insisted that those veterans who were injured in the service of their nation be treated justly and humanely."

The McDowell bill gives the greatest increases to veterans most severely injured. It also provides $6,194,000 for dependents of disabled veterans.

Congressman McDowell said: "My bill provides increases in compensation for wartime disabilities. The increases would be on a percentage basis and would apply across the board to veterans who have qualified for service-connected disability payments. "There has been no increase for veterans in this category since 1957. The cost of living in these past five years has increased 5%. The increase in compensation which I am recommending in my bill would partially alleviate the hardships caused by the increase of housing, food, education and medical care."

May Good Month To See Delaware

The 1961 Delaware Tourist Season, now well underway, offers a full schedule for the remainder of May advises the Delaware State Development Department.

The latter part of May, according to the state information agency, not only offers Delaware's countryside, orchards and gardens at their loveliest, but also offers such eagerly awaited events as the current Museum-Garden tour at Winterthur; "A Day in Old New Castle"; outstanding exhibitions at the Delaware Art Center, Wilmington, and the Art League, Rehoboth Beach; Garden Days and flower marts at Wilmington, New Castle and Seaford; the annual Brandywine Rail Ramble; a variety of outdoor, public patriotic programs; and a varied offering of sporting events.

A current attraction having widespread appeal is the annual tour of Winterthur Museum and Gardens, which began April 25 and continues through May 27. A breath-taking array of spring flowers are to be seen in the acres of gardens, and thirty rooms depicting American culture and homelife from 1640 to 1840 may be seen in the Museum. Tour hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday (only the gardens are open on Sundays). Winterthur is only a few moments drive northwest from Wilmington on Delaware Route 52.

Particularly attractive at this time of the year are the grounds of the Hagley Museum. Located on the Brandywine River just a short distance from Winterthur, the Hagley Yard, where the famed duPont enterprises were born, presently offers a profusion of spring flowers in natural settings. The museum, which features, in dioramas and displays, the early industry of this area, is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Knotts Sets Mile Mark in Milford Invitational

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Jim Hawpe's H.S. track team continued to perform in an impressive manner, despite the absence of several regulars, as they scored 23 points in the fifteen team Milford Invitational track meet.

State cross country champion Harry Knotts won the mile run in 4:38.6 setting a new meet mark. The old record was set by Knotts at 4:40.7 last year. Harry is unbeaten in the mile this season. He also was second in the 880 as Laurel's Mike Lyon set a new state record of 1:59.

Dwight and Clarence Hackett were third and fourth in the mile as each racked up new lifetime bests of 4:43 and 4:53 respectively.

Bob Gillette threw the javelin 142 ft. to win second place. This toss is 2 feet better than the H.S. school record.

George Pfeiffer was third in the broad jump and anchored the mile relay team to the year's best effort. Dennis Bradley, Clarence Hackett and David Hitchens were the other relay runners as the Lions bested Caesar Rodney for 4th.

The Lion 880 relay team of Paul Rash, Tim Strohl, Pfeiffer and Lekites were running strongly until Lekites was accidentally tripped. This mishap undoubtedly cost the locals some points as they usually score heavy in the half.

U. of D. Helping Teacher Shortage

The state's expanding need for additional teachers each year is being met, in part, by four post-graduate and graduate degree programs offered by the school of education at the University of Delaware.

Called "conversion programs," they are designed for graduates of accredited colleges and universities who wish to certify for teaching. Post-graduate programs those not leading to a master's degree, and the graduate degree programs are offered for both elementary and secondary teacher candidates.

Dr. Edmund J. Cain, director of conversion teacher-education, said some 200 students are currently enrolled in the four plans. The graduate study program has been in full operation since 1955, and the post-graduate programs since 1958. At least 100 have completed their studies and have taken jobs within the state during this period.

Most of the students entering the programs have completed their undergraduate work without education courses. Refresher classes or additional course work in a major field may be taken concurrently with the programs. Dr. Cain said the plans meet the certification requirements of Delaware and are accepted by most other states. Scholarships are available to those who have a strong undergraduate record and who meet state scholarship grant requirements. The cost to the individual, however, according to Dr. Cain, is considered lower than comparable programs at other institutions.

A variety of types of persons have taken advantage of the conversion programs. They include engineers, retired Army officers, housewives, business administrators, laboratory researchers, and teachers who wish to move from one field to another, for example, from elementary to secondary teaching.

Motives of persons already established in industry and business for switching to teaching are many according to Dr. Cain. They include the challenge of teaching, a desire to settle down after having been transferred by industry around the nation, supplemental income, and concern for the quality of American education in the cold war race with the Soviet Union.

"Conversion teachers" are often considered more desirable than recent bachelor degree graduates, because they are older, more mature, and have established family and friendship ties in the community. Experience has shown they are less likely to leave the field because of marriage or a husband's transfer to a new city.

Published material by the office of the Secretary of Labor has recommended the University of Delaware programs to women who wish to go into teaching. While the university has trained and is training a large number of teachers through the conversion programs, demand for certified teachers in the state still far exceeds the supply. According to Dr. Cain, the programs are geared to accept many more qualified applicants than currently are being handled.

Baptists believe that the Holy Spirit is the agent of the New Birth—Except by the act of the Holy Spirit there can be no New Birth. No one can act in His place. To no angel has such power been committed, nor is it within the power of any man.

No oak tree can change a shrub at its side into an oak; no man can change another man from the natural to the spiritual state. He can teach him, exhort him, admonish him, appeal to him and influence him by example, but he cannot impart to him a new spiritual life. This the Holy Spirit only can do.

Details of Feed Grain Certificate Redemption

William H. Brady, new state administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program announced additional details on redemption of feed grain certificates earned for diverting corn and grain sorghum acreage from production this year under the feed grain program.

Brady pointed out that the certificates, which are expressed as a dollar value, may be redeemed by farmers in grain or a cash equivalent of grain. Producers who wish to receive cash instead of grain for their certificates may ask the Commodity Credit Corporation to act as their agents in marketing the certificates. CCC will pay the producer the full face value of the certificate in cash through the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) office if it is presented within 30 days of issuance.

USDA officials expect that most farmers will present certificates to the county ASC offices and obtain cash, Brady said. County offices are now prepared to make such cash payments on certificates issued under the advance payment provisions of the program.

Certificates held by producers may be redeemed in CCC-owned grain stored either in CCC bin sites or in commercial warehouses, as determined by the county committee. Grain will be valued at the market price for redemption purposes.

Corn, oats barley and grain sorghum in the CCC inventory will be eligible for redemption as made available locally. Producer redemptions may be in CCC-owned grain in the county in which the certificate was issued or in the nearest county in which grain made available for redemption is stored. CCC will not ship grain into a particular county or make available specific stocks of CCC-owned grain for certificate redemption, Brady said.

Certificates issued to a producer may also be redeemed in grain put under price-support loan by that producer. Under this provision, CCC would take ownership of the loan grain and then redeem the certificate with that grain. This would apply to farm-stored grain under loan and grain under loan stored locally in commercial facilities. It would apply to current loans, resale loans, and extended resale loans. This grain also would be valued at the market price for redemption purposes.

On warehouse-stored loans, producers may not purchase less than the quantity of grain under one warehouse receipt. On farm-stored loans, partial purchase of grain will be permitted in those areas where partial repayment of loans may be made.

The certificates also are negotiable, but only producers who receive them for diverting acreage under the program can redeem them in cash. Producers can get cash for their certificates at county offices and use this money for their needed purchases.

If a certificate is not redeemed in grain or submitted to CCC for marketing within 30 days after issuance, storage and handling charges will be deducted from the face value of the certificate. This deduction will be at a rate of 1/25 of one per cent per day beginning on the 31st day after issuance and continuing until redeemed.

Feed grain certificates issued to producers for participation in the feed grain program reflect half or more of the dollar value of normal production on the acreage the farmer has diverted under the program. The dollar value is determined on the basis of the county support rate. Provision is made for producers to get approximately half of their payment in certificates when they sign up under the program this spring. Certificates issued to producers under advance payment provisions may be redeemed as outlined in this release.

Delaware Food Market Report

In between the showers, it's a patio time in Delaware—time for keeping a good supply of charcoal briquets, smoke chips, and lighter fluid on hand. As you shop for foods you'll find your mind going from inside to outside with the meat purchases you buy. There are many good buys in this department again this week — why not select your Sunday meat to be of the type your husband and/or children can cook. Make it a happy Mothers Day for all and let them help. In the beef line continue to check steaks (an ideal meat for outdoor cooking), rib roast, hamburger and round steaks for good buys.

In pork items a rack of loin can easily go outside. The important precaution to take is that the back bone is sawed through, so that the loin can be used in many ways. Good thick chops (about 1 inch thick) are fine for the grill. To keep the chops from drying out before they are completely cooked (which is essential for all fresh pork) have the coals approximately 10 inches away. It takes about 45 minutes to cook these thick chops. Turn them frequently and use a flavored sauce during the last 20 minutes.

Tender broiler-fryer chickens are one of the most delectable meats ever grilled outside. The secret is slow cooking, at least 10 inches from the coals. Prices are unbelievably low on this meat, so have plenty for everyone.

All of these meats are wearing attractive price tags this weekend and most of them are ideal for cooking outside. The methods for cooking them are quite simple, so do let the family help.

Such fresh vegetables as green peas, beets, celery, green peppers, squash and cucumbers join potatoes and green cabbage on the list of weekend specials. Since there has been such good growing weather in Florida and other growing areas, green beans are now plentiful and prices are very reasonable. They too are on the "thrifty buy" list this week. Be sure to check asparagus also, supplies are increasing and should be much heavier this weekend if the weather conditions are good for picking. Florida's supply of sweet corn is increasing, and prices are lowering. This is an ideal vegetable for outside eating. Corn on the cob, baked potatoes, and a big tossed salad would be a perfect combination for Mother's Day dinner if cooked outside.

Most changes in fruit prices are on the upward side this week, but be sure to check strawberries, watermelons and bananas this weekend. Grapefruit continues to be a good buy and the flavor is excellent.

Eggs are reasonable, averaging under 50 cents a dozen for Grade A large eggs. Also, be sure to check ice cream this weekend as many stores are featuring this favorite food as a "Mother's Day Special."

Wilmington Area Students Place in German Contest

Four high school students from the Wilmington area placed high in the nation-wide German contest administered recently by the American Association of Teachers of German.

Leonard Soltzberg, student at Mt. Pleasant High School, will receive a $100 scholarship from the University of Delaware as the top state student at the second-year level. Richard Vroman, of Brandywine High School, was second, and Faith Staley, of P. S. duPont, was third at the second year level. Anita Lowery, of P. S. duPont, ranked highest among the fourth-year students.

The University of Delaware was one of 150 test centers throughout the country. Over 4,000 students participated on the national level. National winners at the fourth-year level receive summer trips to Germany as guests of the Bonn government.

Other prizes, including sets of books, are awarded to national leaders in each of the three levels of instruction by the German Government.

One of the national winners who will receive a trip to Germany is Stewart Rorer, student at Central High School in Philadelphia. He was tested at the Delaware center. Dr. Elizabeth Bohning, of the modern language department of the university, administered the tests locally.

Guard Against Hidden Hunger With Soil Tests

Are there areas on your farm where crops show no deficiencies, but where top yields are seldom obtained?

If so, you need a good soil testing program to find out what the trouble is, says County Agent George K. Vapaa.

By following a regular program of soil testing, you can avoid low yields and low profits caused by hidden hunger, he explained.

"Before soil testing reached its present development," Mr. Vapaa said, "many farmers waited for deficiency symptoms to tell them they were running out of plant nutrient. This was an inefficient, dangerous method. When plants reached this stage, profits had been declining for some time."

Most farmers who use soil tests today are not interested in recommendations for average production, the county agent continued. They use soil tests because they are above-average farmers, interested in producing top yields of high-quality crops.

Such outstanding farmers soon learn that it costs more to produce 50 bushels of corn per acre than 80 bushels per acre. An average fertilizer application for corn usually does not provide enough nutrients for 80 bushels of corn.

To get top yields, he emphasized, farmers should have their soil tested regularly and use the recommended amounts of fertilizer to build up and maintain a high fertility level. Such a method will help adjust fertilizer use to the individual situation.

Letter to the Editor

Saturday, May 13, the people of the Harrington Special School District will decide their vote, the candidate who will best help promote the welfare of their school system.

I believe that we should give the administrative staff and the teachers our fullest co-operation. This will maintain conditions needed for the well-being of our school children and in so doing, benefit the entire community.

There are several ways in which these conditions may be maintained. 1. The plant facilities must be adequate to serve our need. The voters have recently expressed their overwhelming approval in this matter. It is my desire to help in continuing all of the necessary arrangements involving the completion of this program.

2. To be willing to evaluate and correlate ideas submitted by the administrator is, also, of prime importance. It is basically in this that your school board is able to effect improvement to benefit the student.

3. Renew our effort to support our teachers through understanding. We have for some time, been an accredited school. This is due, in part, to the high standard of teaching methods employed by this staff.

The above factors account for very little toward the continued contribution of progressive attitudes of the people.

This is your school—whatever takes place is a reflection of the will of the people. The responsibility of this decision lies with you.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a disabled veteran with 100 per cent service-connected disabilities and housebound. May I receive additional compensation for regular aid and attendance?

A—For severe cases of housebound disability such as you describe, an additional compensation allowance of $150 is granted. However, the total cannot exceed $600 a month in combination with other applicable ratings, exclusive of additional compensation for dependents.

Q—I am going to college under the War Orphans Education Assistance program. Can I get medical treatment or hospitalization at a Veterans Administration hospital?

A—No. Dependents of veterans are not entitled to medical treatment or hospitalization in VA clinics or hospitals.

Q—For two years, I have been receiving pension checks from the Veterans Administration. How can I find why I did not get my pension check on March 1?

A—Did you fill out and return the annual income questionnaire mailed to you last December? If not, the VA is required by law to stop your pension until your income questionnaire has been received. If you have not returned yours, fill it out and mail it to the VA at once.

Q—Should I get a lawyer to aid me in applying for veterans' benefits?

A—No, a lawyer is not necessary. Personnel in any VA office can help you.

of this type in Wilmington last Friday night and at full strength would have a fair chance to repeat at Dover. However, Leonard Masten is not up to par physically and the Hackett brothers are singing in the All-State Chorus in Wilmington. With no chance for the team trophy, Harrington will enter only two events. With experienced runners such as Knotts, Lekites, Pfeiffer, Bonniwell and Bradley handling the baton the locals will still be tough to take.

In the junior high section Ron Melvin tossed the eight pound shot 42 ft. 3 inches for second place and a new personal best.

Barry Fry was third in the 220 yard dash as the first three finishers bettered the old record. He also tied for second in the high jump and anchored the heat winning 880 yard relay team. The 880 was won by Wicomico which bettered Harrington's time by one-tenth of a second in another heat as both schools bettered the old standard. Charles Taylor, Lamar Beene and Richard Schriber ran with Fry.

Bob Smith suffered his first defeat of the season in the 880 yard run but had the satisfaction of chopping 8 seconds off his lifetime best as he clocked 2:18.3. Nelson Reed with 2:23 and Wayne Carson each ran much better than ever before in the same event.

Set That Mower to Cut Two Inches High

A good lawn must have at least two inches of leaf surface, measured from the ground line, in order to remain vigorous and healthy, says William Mitchell, University of Delaware agronomist. It is a mistake to think you can keep a good lawn if you scalp or shear it any closer than two inches.

This is particularly true in the vigorous growing weeks of May and early June. A good lawn needs deep roots and a dense turf in order to resist ravages of dry weather and crab grass. The home owner who scalps his lawn can expect to reduce the root system as well, since grass depends on a larger leaf area in order to produce new growth of both shoots and roots.

Many people have a mistaken notion that it is easier to manage a short, sheared lawn. It may be if you want crab grass or no grass. But a mower set with the blade high is only slightly harder to push than one which is set lower. Remember, we're only talking about a difference of an inch or so in cutting height, says Mitchell.

The discussion on cutting height was a key point in lawn management stressed at the Twilight Turf Talk held at Dover by the Extension Service. More complete information can be obtained from the county agent George Vapaa at the Dover post-office, telephone REdfield 6-1448.

a wide range of activity choice with the 40th annual Wilmington Flower Market, a community-wide endeavor benefiting children, in "full bloom" at Rockford Park, Wilmington, on both the 12th and 13th; The Arden-singers' production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Ruddigore" at Gild Hall, Arden; scholastic track meets at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, and at the Dover High School, on the 12th; an Alumni Re-Union and baseball game at the University of Delaware, Newark, on the 13th; and New Castle's Annual Flower Mart, also on the 13th.

Sat. May 20, one may exercise a wide range of choice among such outstanding attractions as: Armed Forces Day observances at the Dover Air Force Base and at the New Castle County Airport; "A Day in Old New Castle", when Delaware's colonial capital traditionally recaptures its historic past and shares it with others; the Brandywine Rail Ramble, a nostalgic rail tour through the beautiful Brandywine Valley; the annual May Mart and Horse Show at Seaford; and the annual Hospital Benefit Fair at Milford. Large crowds, including many out-of-state visitors, are expected at New Castle where the residents of Delaware's colonial capital, in Dutch and early American attire, open their museums, homes—and arms to those who would renew acquaintance with or visit for the first time what has been described as one of America's best preserved colonial communities.

The approach of Memorial Day, which, incidentally, is appropriately marked by parade and outdoor patriotic exercises in many Delaware communities, also brings the opening of Delaware Park, one of America's most beautiful thoroughbred racing plants. A 54-day meet at the Stanton track gets underway on May 29.

May 27 marks the opening of the 1961 season at Delaware's bay and ocean resorts, and the residents of Lewes, Rehoboth Beach, Dewey Beach, Bethany Beach and Fenwick Island are getting ready for what is expected to be a record influx of early season vacationists.

Also beginning May 27, boat transportation will again be available, weekends and holidays, from Delaware City to historic Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River. This picturesque old bastion, whose principal claim to fame is based upon its having been used as a prison for Confederate prisoners during the American Civil War, is developing into one of the state's greatest attractions, according to the Development Department.

The First State's more than 50 well-stocked lakes and ponds, and the briny surf of the Delaware coast beckon to those who prefer fishing to sight-seeing or other forms of May activity.

Wherever one goes in Delaware during May, or for that matter, any time of the year, a warm welcome will accompany the invitation to "See the First State-First" concludes the Development Department.

from the City Hall to pursue their following. Cost of permit is $5 per day. Petitioners on Hanley Street wanted their street curbed and blacktopped and agreed to pay one half of the curbing. Petition was filed in order of acceptance.

The City is seeking bids for curbing and blacktopping the following streets: Simpson, Simmons, Calvin, Liberty, Short, and High. It is expected that bids will be opened soon at a special meeting.

Railroad News

When I was young and fancy-free, I had no notion what I'd be. Until I heard an old steam whistle, A freight train roaring through the thistle.

Then I knew just what to do, So I joined the railroad just like you.

They put me at a lonely tower, Where I heard that whistle hour on the hour,

And I enjoyed every minute, Cause my blood had railroad in it.

They made a Supervisor out of me, Why they did, I could never see. They put me in an office-post, Away from that whistle I liked most.

And as those wheels went clicking by, A happy tear came to my eye.

Now I'm retired and had to leave, But while I'm around I'll never grieve, And don't regret the railroad beckoned,

Because I loved it every second.

Don't mind it now like I did before, Cause that old steam whistle blows no more.

A check of the crew board at the yard office yesterday shows that a lot of diesel horns have also quit blowing the past few weeks. Howard Williams says the past month of May was the worst since he came to Harrington 24 years ago and, with exception of February when heavy snows wiped out other means of transportation, there has been a continuous decline in car loadings ever since the grain season.

This situation however, is more or less general and due to falling off in business everywhere. Everywhere except space travel and the jet-minded baseball world, where they can play a double-header in Los Angeles today be in New York for another one tomorrow.

In the opinion of the writer, who had the good fortune of seeing transportation-power advance from wood-burners to coal then to gas, oil, electric and now to jet, too little regard is placed on life.

Today the sports writers are criticizing Jackie Jensen, outfielder of the Boston Braves for quitting a $50,000 job because he does not want to die in a plane crash. His position and my own can best be summed up in the little story about the boy who asked his dad "why old men always drive slow," the answer; "that's why they are old."

TV commercials give almost as much time to air transportation as the one man in four who wants the full taste beer and then tells you to drive safe over the long weekend.

They might say "travel by air and save funeral expenses." Only "time" will prove this point but the results can be just as appalling as the loss of the U.S.A. Olympic skating team.

Reese Theatre Notes

Yes, undoubtedly there is going to be a rip-roaring big time at the Reese Theatre this Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 12-13-14-15 when MGM's rip-roaring sensation "Where The Boys Are" graces the silver sheet of this popular theatre. It's an invitation to be young again. Maybe it's true that the Fountain of Youth may be found at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. A spring vacation of hilarity and hijinks is in store for theatre fans and here is relaxing entertainment at its best.

No greater news could be on the agenda than the coming of the one and only "CiMarron" with Glenn Ford and Maria Schell. New in its entirety, "CiMarron" is the story of a raw, rich land and the brawling thousands who claimed it. The story of a man called "CiMarron" and Sabra, who loved him so recklessly—the story of the glory that was the West.

"CiMarron" plays at the Reese Theatre, Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, May 19-20-21-22.

S.B.A. Makes Its 100th Loan

William H. Harman, regional director of the Small Business Administration, Monday announced the 100th loan to a development company and the first in Pennsylvania's anthracite coal region under the four per cent interest rate effective in substantial labor surplus areas.

The loan for $60,000 was made to the Greater Hazleton Community-Area New Development Organization, Inc. (CAN DO, INC.) to construct a tunnel and conveyor system between two buildings constructed by CAN DO, INC., for lease to General Foam Corporation, manufacturer of latex rubber.

General Foam already occupies one of the two buildings and will lease the other to produce rubber foam on fabric when the 160-foot tunnel and conveyor system is installed to transport urethane foam from one plant to the other.

The Small Business Administration share of the loan is $54,000 at four per cent. The Northeastern Pennsylvania Bank & Trust Company, Hazleton, has agreed to take 10 per cent of the loan, and will service the loan under SBA's bank participation program.

CAN DO, INC., has previously built nine industrial plants for lease or sale to industry in an effort to create industrial employment for the Hazleton area, hard hit by declining employment in the anthracite coal industry.

Clean-Up for Spring Advises Agent

"With the coming of spring, the earth takes on a new clean-up look which means that we should help nature by making it clean-up time around the farm," stresses County Extension Agent George Vapaa. "A few hours spent now to clean out the hazards may result in the savings of many days during the busy season later on," he explains.

"A well-maintained farm does not just happen. It's hard work and takes careful planning and co-operation by all the persons who call it home. Even where there is a place for everything and everything is always kept in place, a thorough spring clean-up is needed."

Such a program will pay dividends in several ways, according to the National Safety Council. If you do a shipshape job, you can lessen fire hazards . . . cut down your chance of accidents . . . and promote the well-being of farming in general.

H.H.S. Wins Group III Title In Wilmington Relay Carnival

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High track team won the Group Three or small school section of the 14th annual Peninsula Relays held in Baynard Stadium, Wilmington on Friday night. In five years of track the local Lions have had many successes on a local or sectional level. Friday's triumph was the first on a statewide level. A handsome, engraved trophy was received by Coach Hawpe and is now on display in the library at the school.

Cross-country veterans were prominent as H.H.S. won four out of six events and broke two carnival records in the process.

Dwight Hackett ran the finest half-mile of his career in the two-mile relay. He blazed the first quarter mile in 58 seconds and clocked 2.07 for the half. This is 4.1 seconds under his previous best. Harry Knotts ran the anchor leg in 2.05 as he erased a sizeable lead held by the Tower Hill anchor man. The final clocking of 8:46 broke the carnival record of 8:50.1 set by H.H.S. in winning this event last year and was also faster than the old record for this event in Group 2. This latter group is made up of schools with a much larger student enrollment than those in Group 3. Dennis Bradley and Clarence Hackett were the other two members of this record-breaking quartet.

Clarence Hackett led off in the medley relay. He handed off the baton to Ken Garey who ran the quarter. Tim Strohl and Harry Knotts handled the 220 and mile legs as H.H.S. led all the way to win by a tremendous margin in 8:27.3. This shattered the old standard of 8:37.4 set by the locals in taking this event in 1959. Two years ago Knotts, Dwight Hackett, John Taylor and Bob Bonniwell were the Lion runners.

Bob Winkler, Leonard Masten, Walt Lekites and George Pfeiffer captured the 440 relay as Winkler leading off gained several yards on the St. Peters and Without a doubt, both rural and urban dwellers have an interest in the use of our natural resources, particularly the soil. This interest goes beyond the present use of our land. It must take into the consideration the demands that will be placed on the land by future generations, and the obligation that man has to those who will follow him.

After all, to whom does the land really belong? To you? To me? Isn't it a fact that it doesn't belong to any of us at all? Are not we really just stewards of the land as well as everything we acquire in life?

We come into the world with nothing and leave it the same way. For we return to the land from whence we came, and what we leave behind us we leave to those who come after us.

Perhaps this is hat makes us feel a close kinship to the earth. Or it may be that the earth is that part of nature that the poet and philosopher Samuel Taylor Coleridge spoke of as the "agent" between God and man. Whatever the reason, each of us has a feeling of closeness to the land and through the land to the Creator of it. And with that closeness we are struck with the impact of the permanence of the land. Then we realize that although we may live a hundred years, the land will be here long after we are gone.

Soil Stewardship Is Everyone's Job

This is why the care of the land become so important to us.

BE WISE — ADVERTISE SHOP and SWAP In the WANT ADS

Soil Stewardship Week, May 7-14, is an important time for people throughout America, both rural and urban, for it is a time for emphasizing the importance of the earth in the lives of people everywhere.

Soil Stewardship Week is a time for renewing awareness of man's responsibility to the land. It is not a reminder to the farmer alone, but a reminder to everyone who would put a spade to the soil. The contractor with his housing development, the engineer with his highway, the lumberman with his sawmill, and even the gardener with his plot of ground, share in the responsibility this week emphasizes. It is a week also of acquainting the city dweller with the role good

Wool Pool Here June 17

It's time for sheepmen to start thinking about shearing their flock, according to John H. Shropshire, Extension Service livestock specialist with the University of Delaware.

He said this year's annual Wool Pool at the Kent-Sussex Fairgrounds is scheduled for June 17. Anyone with wool to sell can participate in the pool, he said. Last year the average price for the 23,000 pounds of wool sold at the pool, was 51 cents a pound. This is much better than the 35 to 40 cents generally paid by buyers at the farm.

The fact that the wool is present in greater quantity at the Wool Pool brings in more buyers and reduces the buyers' costs so higher prices can be paid for the wool.

Shropshire suggested that it's time for sheep producers to get their shearing gear in shape, if they do their own shearing, or line up someone to do the job.

To qualify for top prices, fleeces should be tied individually with paper twine. You can lose two or three cents a pound if a fiber twine such as baling string is used. The fibers get into the wool and cannot be removed. This, of course, reduces the value of the wool.

Tags and short pieces should be bagged separately, Shropshire said.

Social Security Notes

A change in the social security law makes it possible to pay monthly benefits to disabled workers at any age provided the worker is severely disabled and meets certain length of work requirements. This and several other changes were announced by Edward F. Sullivan, district manager of the Dover Social Security office.

A second major change substantially reduces the amount of work under social security which is required in order to draw benefits. Many people who have previously been told that they were not eligible for benefits may now qualify because of this change.

Beginning in 1961, people already receiving social security checks will benefit from the third major change. These beneficiaries who work and have earnings over $1200 per year, will lose less of their social security benefits than they would have under the old law.

These major changes and the other more minor changes are explained in more detail in a pamphlet entitled "Social Security Amendments of 1960." Free copies are available at the Dover social security district office. Simply ask for pamphlet No. 1960-1.

In his talk, "The American Farmer Today," Wilkerson said "Today's farmer is a businessman who has earned a measure of public disfavor for doing too good a job. Many people have the idea that farmers are only interested in producing food to sell to the government. Actually most people don't have the facts that are necessary to make a fair appraisal of the present agricultural situation," he continued.

BULLETIN:

Chemical "policeman" in today's Super Shell guards against gum-fouled carburetors —to give your car top performance

One special ingredient among the nine in today's Super Shell gasoline is a gum preventive.

Like a policeman dealing with a mob, it works to keep unstable elements from clotting together. Hence no gum problem. Result: top performance.

IMAGINE an ingredient so effective that only one thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a gallon of gasoline.

This tiny drop is all today's Super Shell needs to stave off gum troubles that can hamper your car's performance.

Gum forms when even the purest gasolines are held in storage. Unstable elements in the fuel combine chemically with oxygen and with each other. The latter is what scientists call polymerization (a good thing if you want to make plastics, but not if you want top performance from your gasoline).

Shell tackles the situation with a special inhibitor that is designed to keep gum from forming.

Where the trouble strikes

Gum usually ends up on sensitive carburetor parts, where it can foul the automatic choke and raise hob with a car's air-fuel mixture.

Too rich a mixture can waste gallons of gasoline. Too weak a mixture can burn valves. Either way, gum troubles cost money.

In extreme cases, gum can even stick your intake valves. This means a rough and noisy engine—lost power—and perhaps an expensive repair job.

To say that Super Shell's chemical "policeman" protects your pocketbook is an understatement.

How the "policeman" works

Shell's special anti-gum ingredient is an oxidation inhibitor. It helps keep unstable elements in the gasoline from sticking together—just the way a skilled policeman prevents trouble by keeping a crowd from forming.

As a result your engine is cleaner—for maximum power, maximum mileage. All of which adds up to top performance.

This is just one of the special

You can forget this ugly picture if you fill your tank with today's Super Shell. It shows the gum that could form in your fuel system if you didn't use a gasoline with an efficient gum preventive.

this high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

#7 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

#8 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

#9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars'

Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather.

Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year. In winter, Shell scientists just increase the dose.

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

NOTE: Speaking of controlling knocks at high speeds, remember that car engines frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7. Think of this next time you pass another car.

#5 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than 100-octane aviation gasoline. This is energy that shows up as extra mileage.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.
