

HITCHENS RETAINS POST ON LOCAL SCHOOL BOARD

Roland Hitchens of Harrington beat back a challenge from former board president Luther P. Hatfield Saturday to retain his place on the board of education of the Harrington Special School District.

Hitchens chalked up 221 votes to 125 for Hatfield, who lost a bid for reelection last year. Both Hitchens and Hatfield are employees of the Diamond State Telephone Co.

At Laurel, in Sussex County, an entire new board of four members was elected. This was necessitated because of consolidation last year with the Bethel district.

Elected were incumbent president Ford M. Warrington with 923 votes; Otis P. Carmine, also an incumbent, with 835 votes; Rudolph N. Hastings, a member of the Bethel board, who received 802 votes and Clarence J. Evans, another incumbent, who garnered 612 votes. Losing candidates were William J. Gordy, James B. Windsor, R. James Mariner and William B. Moore. About a fourth of those eligible cast ballots.

Meyer Ableman, former deputy attorney general for Sussex County, defeated Albert F. Cosgrove 308 to 196 in the race for a seat at Millsboro.

Jesse M. Millman defeated James T. Carey in the Milton race by 321-223.

William B. Chandler, Jr., incumbent president of the board of trustees of John M. Clayton, garnered 453 votes to top Edgar A. Baker's 165.

William Tull defeated Millard D. Daugherty, 135 to 47 at Bridgeville and at Selbyville, Cashar W. Evans defeated incumbent H. Albert Murray by 168 to 78.

Senate Approves Basin Pact

The State Senate Tuesday passed legislation to make Delaware a full and equal partner in an interstate-federal compact for development of Delaware River Basin water resources.

The legislation (HB 205), passed by the House Monday, is certain to be signed by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

Delaware thus joins New York and New Jersey in approving the pact, leaving only Pennsylvania and Congress to sign.

The compact would set up an interstate agency to carry out a comprehensive plan for meeting the water needs in the four states around the basin.

While meeting future water needs for population and industrial growth, the plan also proposes long-range hydro-electric, flood control, and recreation benefits.

Not a voice was raised in opposition in the Senate, the roll call vote being 16- with one absent. Brig. Gen. Norman M. Lack, the Governor's adviser on water resources, told the Senate that after careful study of the proposed compact he could find that it could only benefit Delaware.

He said that, although the compact agency may eventually have a staff costing $100,000 a year, it has been tentatively agreed that Delaware's share will not exceed 10 per cent.

"We need a watchdog to find out what's going on upriver," Lack told the Senate. "With this agency we will know what's going on at all times."

Lack said the compact is the product of years of study and a $2,000,000 survey by the Army Corps of Engineers.

He said that, as far as he can determine, the only opposition comes from the U. S. Steel Company and several major oil firms which fear that the interstate agency will attempt to charge tolls on the Delaware.

"Nothing could be farther from the purpose of this proposal," he said. "In fact, this legislation expressly forbids it."

Lack and representatives of the engineers explained the compact at a joint session of the Legislature two weeks ago.

Senator Reynolds duPont (R-Greenville) promptly hailed the General Assembly action as "a tribute to the patient leadership of former Gov. J. Caleb Boggs."

Pat Hackett Awarded B. & P. W. Scholarship

The Harrington B.P.W. Club at its May meeting decided to give its annual scholarship to Miss Pat Hackett. Miss Hackett who is in this year's graduating class at Harrington High School, is planning to attend Goldey Beacom Business School next year and eventually to go into Christian work as a missionary. The Phyl Lyn Shop also offered to help Miss Hackett materially with her back to school wardrobe.

The club recently completed a course in "The Smith System of No Accident Driving." This is an everyone teach-one system of learning accident prevention.

Two new members were gladly accepted; Mrs. Bessie Boozer and Mrs. Amy Poynter. The new slate of officers for next year are: president, Grace Wanda Quillen; vice president, Blanche Cahall; recording secretary, Amelia Phetzing; corresponding secretary, Thelma Warren, and treasurer, Leona Dickrager.

Barber Bill Gets House OK

The bill to set up a Board of Barber Examiners with statewide powers was narrowly passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday after complex parliamentary maneuvering.

The present board controls barbering in Wilmington only. The proposed board would have power to admit barbers to that profession and to require its sanitary standards be maintained in barber shops.

Attempts have been made for some years to make the controls statewide, and these have met with downstate opposition based on the contention that private enterprise would be needlessly invaded.

The bill, HB 90, was brought up for a vote on May 3 and failed to get the two-thirds majority it then required. Tuesday the sponsor amended it so that it needed a simple majority only, and that majority—18 votes—was exactly what he got.

As originally written, the bill would have had violations handled by magistrates. Under a constitutional provision on powers of the minor judiciary a two-thirds vote was required. Tuesday the sponsor, Rep. James R. Quigley (D-New Castle Hundred) submitted an amendment (HA 4) to have the offenses tried in Superior Court. That was adopted on a voice vote. After that the bill required a simple majority.

But the downstate opposition was not yet quelled. Rep. Wilbert E. Hocker (R-Millville) presented an amendment (HA 5) to exempt three representative districts in Sussex County. It failed on a roll call vote—13 yeas, 12 nays, seven not voting and three absent—after a motion to table that amendment was defeated on another roll call.

Then Mr. Hocker made a motion (Continued on Page 8)

83 Licenses Revoked In March

A total of 83 motorists had their licenses revoked during the month of March, according to a report prepared by the Motor Vehicle Department which showed that 80 of the revocations were for drunken driving, two for leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and one for making a false statement.

Of the revocations, 48 were Delaware motorists convicted in this state, 30 were out of state motorists while 5 Delaware motorists were convicted of drunken driving in other states. 78 of the motorists were male and 5 were female.

On the drunken driving convictions, 69 were first offenders. 10 were convicted for the second time and one for the fourth time. In addition 11 motorists had their period of revocation extended for driving while their license was revoked.

The age group of 26 to 36 years lead the list of revocations with 28, while the 37 to 45 age group was a close second with 23. There were two revocations in the 16 to 19 year group, 6 in the 20 to 25 year group, 14 in the 46 to 55 year group, 5 in the 56 to 65 age group and one in the 75 year group.

Legal Issue Balks Senate Action on Turnpike Bill

Senate action on a bill to authorize a Delaware Turnpike was balked Wednesday night when Republican members challenged the constitutionality of a Democratic-sponsored amendment.

The Senate deferred until Thursday action on SB 48 in order to allow State Highway Department attorneys to testify on whether or not the amendment would be constitutional.

The bill would create a Turnpike Division of the Highway Department with authority to float revenue bonds to finance a $25,000,000 toll road from the Memorial Bridge to the Maryland state line.

The measure was defeated March 20 by a coalition of Republicans and downstate Democrats.

An amendment to limit the bill's provisions to New Castle County then was drafted in order to remove the objections of the downstate senators.

The amendment said the bill seemed assured of passage until Senator Reynolds du Pont (R-Greenville) took the floor to question the constitutionality of the proposed amendment.

To support his stand, he quoted Article 2, paragraph 19 of the State Constitution, which reads in part: "The General Assembly shall not pass any local or special law relating to—the laying out, opening, alteration, maintenance, or vacation in whole or in part of any road, highway, street, lane or alley; provided however; that the General Assembly may by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House pass laws relating to the laying out (etc.) of any road or highway which forms a continuous road or highway extending through at least a portion of the three counties of the state."

DuPont and Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) contended that this means a bill dealing with highways must deal with all three counties and requires a two-thirds vote.

The legislation in question would grant board authority to the Turnpike Division to finance and construct toll roads throughout the state where financially feasible. At present, the only toll road considered feasible is the 15-mile stretch from the Memorial Bridge to the Maryland line paralleling existing route 40 and hooking up with the new Baltimore freeway.

Democratic senators—including the downstaters—had agreed to support the measure if the amendment were adopted during a meeting with the Governor Tuesday afternoon.

Legion to Install Junior Auxiliary Officers

Installation of Junior Auxiliary officers of the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tea Post No. 7, American Legion, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., at the post home. Legion and auxiliary members are invited.

A fried-chicken dinner will be served to Junior Auxiliary members at 6 p. m., said Mrs. Doris L. Dell, Junior Activities chairman.

Many of the fees would be upped 50 per cent—others much more. Examples: Advertising agency from $50 to $75; "amusement conductor," from $50 to $75; architect and attorney, from $20 of the floor, said he could not state with authority that the amendment would be constitutional. But, he said, it was his "understanding" that the proposal had been cleared with Department Counsel S. Samuel Arsh and Memorial Bridge Atty. James Latchum. Senate Atty. Sidney Balick said he could not give an interpretation on such short notice.

The proposal (HB 232) will have to be approved by the Senate and then approved by both chambers of the next General Assembly before becoming effective. It would make two changes.

The first would save the right to vote of any registered Delaware voter who moves his residence within the state too soon before an election to transfer his registration. Until he is eligible to transfer he would be given the right to vote in the district from which he has moved.

The second change would affect persons who moved into Delaware more than three months before a presidential election but who do not meet the residence requirement for voting here (one year in the state, three months in the county, 30 days in the hundred). If such a person was a registered voter in the state from which he came, he would be entitled to vote in Delaware, but for presidential electors only.

The bill was called up for a consideration on Monday, but did not get the necessary two-thirds majority. The roll call was tabbed.

Tuesday there were more than enough changes of votes to put the bill across. The final tally: 28 yeas; five nays (Annett, Baker, Best, Hocker, Snowden); and two not voting (Busker, Robbins). The five nays were from Republicans; the two not voting were Democrats.

Everyone from cesspool cleaners to textile renovators and public bath keepers should pay bigger fees to the state, it was suggested at Dover Wednesday.

The suggestion was in the form of two bills to boost occupational and professional licenses and taxes. One of them, HB 262, would raise the fees on a host of occupational licenses. The other, HB 263, would do likewise with the fees collected by the regulatory boards.

Both bills were introduced "by request" by Rep. Clarence E. Truitt (D-Dagsboro), chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The State Highway Department has advertised for bids on five projects that may have a total cost around $20,000,000, with only about $2,000,000 of that sum coming from state funds.

These projects are the ones involving the federal-aid funds which would have lapsed had they not been under contract by June 30th, and which were the subject of much discussion ever since the present session of the Legislature has been in session.

The bid will be received on June 7 and highway department engineers believe that the bids can be tabulated and approved by the Bureau of Public Roads in time to have the contracts awarded by June 30.

Three of the projects provide for land fill operations for interchanges in connection with the Interstate Highway System, for which the federal-aid is 90 cents on each dollar of cost.

The interchanges are located at Basin Road and in two marsh areas west of Farmhurst. It is estimated that almost two years will be consumed in completing these projects, with a number of concerns from other states expected to submit bids on the contracts.

The remaining two projects provide for the construction of bridges at Haven Lake for a continuation of the Milford bypass and also for the extension of Union St., in Wilmington, to Lincoln St., through the edge of Canby Park.

These are the first major projects that the highway department has advertised for bids in about a year and a half and they are also the largest projects ever undertaken by the department.

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT FOR CURBING OF STREETS

Carol Smith To Attend Science Camp

Miss Carol Smith, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and a student of Harrington High School, has been chosen to attend the Delaware Summer Science Day Camp at P. S. duPont School in Wilmington, June 19 to July 14.

Eleventh grade pupils in all the State High Schools are eligible to apply for this summer course. Carol is the fourth Harrington participant. Miss Ruth Walls attended the camp in 1958; William George Thompson in 1959 and Miss Sandra Tatman in 1960. Approximately thirty Delaware teenagers have been enrolled in the project each summer.

The Science Day Camp is sponsored by the Delaware Section of the American Chemical Society and by industries of the state.

All expenses are paid except a nominal registration fee. Overnight arrangements are made for young people who live too far away to commute.

To be eligible for consideration a pupil must show unusual interest and ability in the sciences, or mathematics or both. An applicant must write a statement of why he wishes to participate in the program, must furnish evidence of outside scientific reading and must be recommended by his teachers. All applicants are carefully considered, and only a certain quota can be accommodated. The final roster embraces a highly selected group of interested teenagers.

The camp emphasizes the broad scientific approach. It is designed to equip the student to plan and carry out programs in various fields of science.

Dr. Ruth E. Cornell, director of science education for the Wilmington Public Schools, is chairman of the program.

Field trips provide the young people opportunities to learn about some of the latest technological advances. A chartered bus is available each day for transporting the young scientists to points of interest in Delaware and near-by states.

Some outstanding places visited in past years are the University of Delaware, Marine Laboratories, the Hawk Mountain Sanctuary in Pennsylvania, Indian Cave Shelters, Hagley Museum, State Water Pollution Laboratory, Atlas Research Center, Conowingo Hydroelectric Plant and Haskell Laboratory.

Bill Bars Liquor Use By Minors

The bill to make it unlawful for a minor to possess or consume alcoholic beverages was passed Wednesday by the House of Representatives.

Later Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) who did not vote on the bill, declared it is poorly worded, and would make it illegal for a parent to give his own child wine in their home. He said this would, if enforced, interfere with religious ceremonies.

He said the bill (HB 248) is "unenforceable, and an invasion of religious freedom" and fails to specify which court would have jurisdiction in offenses. It should be rewritten, he said.

The bill would set up a fine of not more than $25 for anyone under 21 years of age found to have an alcoholic beverage in his possession, or who consumes it or is found to have consumed it.

Rep. William T. Best (R-Nassau) the minority leader, who sponsored the bill, said the fine was purposely made low in the hope that minors would be able Contract for curbing and encoutered no protests over the rezoning of a lot at a special meeting Monday evening.

The group will rezone a lot on Liberty Street, adjacent to the armory, from residential to commercial, to permit the erection of a building by the Delaware Power & Light Company. Any protests were to have been presented Monday evening.

In other business, the Council awarded a contract for curbing to Concrete, Inc., Milford, at $1.40 per lineal foot. The other bidder, Paul Scotten, bid $1.70 per foot. Work is scheduled to begin next week.

Streets to be curbed are Simpson, Short, High, Calvin, Simmons, and Liberty. Half of the cost will be paid by the City, with the property owner paying the other half.

At the Monday meeting, a petition was presented not to improve Simmons Street, as had been requested by another petition until "a time when a greater majority of the property owners on Simmons Street will be in favor of any improvements whatsoever."

The petition also asked for a public hearing before any improvements were made on Simmons Street.

The Council voted to send letters to the signers of the dissident petition appreciating their interest shown, but, stating that because of the Charter the City will go ahead with the improvements as planned.

The Charter states a petition asking improvements must be signed by five or more freeholders. This was carried out in the original petition.

The Council also paid $3500 each to The Peoples Bank and The First National Bank on a note.

Knotts, Gillette, Porter, Set Track Marks

By Keith S. Burgess

Harry Knotts, Bob Gillette and Bill Porter set four new school records but the host Lions still bowed to Caesar Rodney by a score of 63-46 Wednesday afternoon.

The Riders won seven of thirteen events but actually won the meet with numerous second and third place points.

Knotts lowered his own record in the 880 from 2:09 to 2:06.4 as Dwight Hackett, in second place also bettered the old mark. Knotts' new standard in the mile was 4:38 compared to the 4:38.6 he clocked in winning this event in the Milford Invitational.

Gillette and Porter have bettered existing marks in the javelin and shot put in the past but couldn't be given credit for new records because they did not win the event as the rules state they must in order to become new record holders.

Wednesday Gillette hurled the javelin 148 ft. 11 in. to exceed George Pfeiffer's 140 ft. school standard. Porter tossed the 12 pound shot 39 ft. 11 inches to add one inch to the old record of George Balderson.

Pfeiffer was a double winner for the Lions as he cleared 5 ft. 4 in. in the high jump and sprang 19 ft. 9 in. in the broad jump.

In the mile relay, the most thrilling race of the afternoon, an H.S.S. quartet was timed in 3:50.7 just behind the victors' 3:50.4. Dwight Hackett ran the anchor leg for the Lions in 56.6 seconds. David Hitchens, Dennis Bradley and Clarence Hackett completed the local quartet. The school mark in this event is 3:49.

In the junior high meet Harrington triumphed by a score of 38-29.

Barry Fry took first honors in the broad jump, 220 yard run and ran on the winning 880 relay team with Richard Schriber, Lamar Beene and Charles Taylor.

Beene broke the tape in the (Continued on Page 8)

Harrington School Notes

Students in Mrs. Smith's sixth grade have been writing them about countries they would like to visit. Following are some of the best:

Why I Would Like to Visit Switzerland

I would like to visit Switzerland because of the snow in winter and flowers and goat herds in summer. I would like to visit the Alps.

Switzerland, as you know, is covered with mountains. They are known as the Alps. Here many echoes are heard as the bouncing of sound waves. It also has the cool, clean, and refreshing mountain air.

In winter there is a large amount of snow to fall. During this time, for recreation you can ski, sled, skate, and do many other things. You still have to beware of the glaciers slipping and sliding down a mountain picking up or crushing anything in its way.

In summer the mountains turn green and the flowers bloom. If you want the flowers to last the year round, you have to dry them as soon as they are picked or they will lose their color before night. On the green mountain slopes there are goat herders milking one goat from the herd that has been grazing.

Switzerland is also a winter resort. Here kings, queens, and other members of the royal family spend a little vacation for recreation. If you are able to visit Switzerland, you may be able to see one. I also think it would be a nice place to live.

Why I Would Like to Visit Egypt

If I could take a trip to any country, I would go to Egypt. It has one of the oldest histories and civilizations in the world.

In the days of pharaohs, many tombs, called pyramids and beautiful temples were built. The pyramids, of all the seven wonders of the world, are the only ones that still exist.

Archaeologists are finding out much about the Egyptian history from ancient relics which are being uncovered from the desert sands.

If I did go to Egypt, one of the first things I would do is travel with a camel caravan through the scenic desert. At night I would stop and rest by an oasis.

While on my way to the pyramids, I would stop at the village so I could see how the people dress, their customs, and how they live in such an arid place.

Why I Would Like to Visit Ireland

I would like to go to Ireland to see all my great-aunts and uncles. I have never seen them before.

My Aunt Birdie sent my aunt, who lives in the United States, a piece of the Blarney Stone. It is part of the Blarney Castle. I would like to kiss the Blarney Stone. They say whoever kisses the Blarney Stone has the gift of the "Blarney."

Another reason is I would like to see Peat, and two Irish men load a wagon of peat.

I would like to see the capital called Dublin. It is an attraction for tourists.

I would like to see the St. Patrick's Parade in Ireland, and hear the Irish people tell legends about St. Patrick.

Ireland is sometimes called the Emerald Isle. It got this name because the grass stays green all year round.

I would like to go to Northern Ireland to see their fine linen, and how they make it.

Kathy Fallon

Why I Would Like to Visit Siam

I would like to visit Siam or Thailand mostly because of the exciting scenes I could see.

First, I would like to see the farmers, who mostly raise rice. They work many hours to provide their families needs. They wear large, basket-shaped straw hats, while working in the muddy fields.

The women rarely wear shoes. They walk to market, where vegetables and fruits are sold.

I would like to see a sampan, which is a neat, but very small houseboat. The rivers are crowded with them.

If I went to Siam I would see temple dances, which are performed mostly by the women. The dancers are gaily dressed in jeweled-studded hats, and long, flowing gowns.

Most of all, I would like to see the trained elephants at work. They move heavy logs and do other work that men alone could not do. The elephant's master rides on his back and tells him what to do.

The cities in Siam are beautiful, with old fashioned buildings. I want to see the old balconies and the curving roofs.

I hope I have explained well enough, why I would like to visit the beautiful country called Siam.

S.B.A. Lending Program

William H. Harman, Regional director of the Small Business Administration, said last week that a step-up in SBA's local development lending program was anticipated following permanent extension of SBA's authority to make such loans.

Mr. Harman pointed out that the Area Development bill, now enacted into law, included a section providing permanent authority to SBA for local development company loans. Under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, this authority was due to expire on June 30, 1961.

With the extension of this authority, SBA can continue to make loans to local development companies for plant construction, expansion and modernization for small business occupancy.

In commenting on the extension, Mr. Harman said: "Local development companies already in existence may now make concrete plans to aid local businesses—and attract other seeking relocation—without the stress of meeting the June 30 deadline previously in force."

"Removal of the limitation of authority by the Small Business Administration to make such loans should banish any uncertainty in the minds of community leaders across the Nation about the future of the program," Mr. Harman said.

At the same time, he added, permanent extension of the lending authority should "encourage local development companies in the formative state and those planning charter revisions to meet SBA lending requirements to speed plans qualifying them for loans to aid small businesses in their communities."

Mr. Harman said that this program can be of substantial help to communities seeking economic growth and increased job opportunities.

Feed Grains Eligible For Support

Farmers should understand that there is a top limit on the 1961 corn production that may be put under the price-support program this year, George Vapaa Kent County agent, pointed out.

The amount of corn eligible for price support from each farm will be the bushels equal to the farm's assigned normal per-acre yield times the 1961 corn acreage as determined by the County ASC Committee, Mr. Vapaa explained.

Corn producers who take part in the 1961 feed grain program will thereby qualify for 1961 price support on oats, barley, and rye, as well as on the normal production of their 1961 corn acreage. However, there are no limits on the quantity of these other three grains which may be put under support by eligible producers.

Producers of barley, oats, and rye who did not produce corn in 1959 or 1960 and who do not produce corn in 1961 will be eligible for price support on these three grain crops.

Growers participating in the feed grain program will reduce their corn acreage by at least 20 per cent below their base acreages for the 1959-60 period, Mr. Vapaa said.

For diverting acreage under the program, producers will be eligible for special "diversion" payments in the form of negotiable certificates, redeemable either in feed grain or in the cash equivalent of the grain.

V.F.W. Marble Contest Starts Sunday

A new state marbles champion will be crowned this Sunday afternoon with completion of finals of the statewide competition sponsored annually by the Department of Delaware, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

With last year's champion, Walter Postles, Jr., of Milford ineligible for 1961 play due to having passed his fifteenth birthday, competition will be wide open Sunday when forty finalists knuckle down to serious shootin' on the large hard clay surfaced rings at Price Run Park, Wilmington.

According to V.F.W. State Youth Activities Director Roy Williams of Dover, all contestants and chaperones will meet with tournament officials at the General W. W. Atterbury Post Home, 26th & Carter Streets, Wilmington, at 12:30 p.m. for briefing and then proceed in a body to nearby Price Run Park. Mayor John E. Babiarz, a past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been invited to officially open the competition at 1 p.m.

In addition to receiving a handsome, suitably enshrined trophy and other prizes, the winner of Sunday's competition will receive an all expense trip to St. Paul, Minnesota, for the national finals that will begin there June 29.

Storm Damage Repairs to Roads To Begin Soon

Various contractors are expected to get started on the work of repairing storm damage to the highways in this State during the coming week, according to John McWilliams, maintenance engineer of the State Highway Department.

The work, which will have a total cost in excess of $633,000, has been divided into nine projects, three in each county, and contracts for the work were recently awarded by the Highway Department. The work is to be completed within 90 days.

A total of six contracting concerns will be in operation on the work which will be in progress on secondary roads in almost every section of the state.

The work will consist of removing the temporary material from broken places in the highways, replacing any base material needed, and resurfacing the damaged sections of the roads.

In addition to the contract work, the regular maintenance crews of the Highway Department are making the smaller repairs along some of the roads.

State Buying Land For Projects

The Right of Way Division of the State Highway Department is feeling the impact of construction funds becoming available for the department, perhaps more at this time, than any other division of the department.

During the period that construction was inactive in the Highway Department, the Right of Way Division was unable to procure the needed right of way for the projects on the construction list because funds to purchase the needed land were not available.

This condition changed with the advent of construction funds being made available and the progression the planned projects depends upon the progress made in procuring needed right of way.

Herbert L. Keene, right of way engineer for the department, reports that his staff is engaged in completing arrangements for procuring the needed land as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Keene reports that they have already learned that condemnation proceedings will be required to procure some needed land as outlined in the plans for the projects.

During the period that construction activities were being held in abeyance, a change in the right of way procedure was made which caused a change in handling this matter by the Right of Way Division.

Previously, on a federal-aid project, no federal funds were used for the purchase of right of way and this expenditure was made entirely from state funds. This procedure, which had been in effect with the Highway Department practically ever since federal-aid was instituted, permitted all of the federal-aid funds to be used in the construction of the project involved.

Under the changed system, federal-aid funds will also be used for the purchase of right of way, with the amount used for this purpose being deducted from the federal funds available for construction costs.

This change also means that the Right of Way Division must have the approval of a project by the Bureau of Public Roads before proceeding with negotiations for needed right of way for the project.

Another matter that is providing difficulty for the Right of Way Division is the procuring of agreements for the improvement of existing dirt roads, projects which cannot be considered until the right of way is procured.

There are numerous projects for dirt road improvement now being handled by the Right of Way Division for which all but one or two property owners along the road have agreed to give the needed land for the improvement.

At present there are no procedures for condemnation proceedings to procure right of way for dirt road improvements and unless this situation is changed, there will be a number of dirt road projects held in abeyance through the lack of right of way.

Mr. Keene indicated that his division expects to complete work on several projects on the program, in the near future so that they can be submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads for approval.

The question of using condemnation proceedings for procuring right of way for dirt road improvements, may be submitted to the new highway department for consideration.

H.H.S. Smashes Two Records At Dover Relays

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High tract Lions chopped more than 38 seconds off the records in the two distance events at the Seventh Annual Dover Relay Carnival on Saturday night.

In the two mile relay each man had to run a half mile. Dwight Hackett led off with a fine 2:07 half against Seaford's ace, Johnny Hollis, who clocked 2:05. Buddy Bonniwell ran his first 880 of the year and moved Harrington into the lead on his second lap. Clarence Hackett widened the margin and Harry Knotts sewed it up with a 2:06 stint for a combined time of 8:40. This outclassed the old record time of 8:57.4 set by Smyrna in 1957.

The medley relay calls for successive runners to negotiate a half mile, a quarter mile, 220 yards and a mile.

Dwight Hackett again led off and gave George Pfeiffer a lead of several yards. Pfeiffer ran the quarter mile and padded the margin. Freshman Barry Fry handled the baton capably for the 220 yard stint, and Harry Knotts ran an easy mile to breeze home well in front of second place Seaford. The time of 8:15 was 20.7 seconds better than the 8:35.7 meet standard, set by Harrington in 1958.

Pfeiffer and Hackett were also on the team that set the old record. Eight days earlier the Lions had captured the Section Three championship trophy at the Peninsula Relays in Wilmington. This triumph gave them cause to hope to be the first school other than William Henry or Seaford to win the Dover Relay crown. Bad luck in large doses denied the locals even a slim chance.

First, a crack dashman could not compete because of illness. Second, the meet was postponed from Friday to Saturday and three runners could not be reached to be notified of the change. Third, several more performers announced that their social calendars would not permit competition on Saturday night. Small wonder that many coaches are prematurely grey.

H.H.S. was forced to fill these many gaps with young and inexperienced junior high lads, who naturally could not hope to keep up with the much faster and older boys. The shorthanded locals could not compete at all in the 440 yard relay and were last in the 880 yard relay. Both these events were easily won in the Peninsula Relays.

Two points were picked up in the shot put relay by a quartet of Joe Taylor, Ron Melvin, Bob Gillette and Bill Porter. Porter had one toss of 42 feet, 7 inches, which is 2 feet 7 inches better than the Harrington school record.

In the hurdles Barry Fry, Richard Schreiber, Paul Rash and Jeff Adams accounted for two points.

Seaford won the team trophy with 28 points, followed by Dover, 22; Elkton, Md., 15; Harrington, 14; Wm. Henry, 13; and North Carolina of near Denton, Md., with 12.

H.H.S. at full strength would have been a cinch for second place with a fair chance to take home all the marbles. The other five schools have much larger student bodies than the Lions.

Sham Battle Feature at Fort Delaware

An elaborate sham battle with troops arrayed in blue and gray, firing muskets and cannon, will be staged at Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island Sun., June 4.

This colorful pageant which is sponsored by the Fort Delaware Society and the Delaware Civil War Centennial Commission will be this year's high point in the observance of the centennial.

Troops from four States, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey will participate. Following the sham battle there will be a parade of troops and an exhibition of equipment.

While no Civil War battle ever took place on Delaware soil, the program will feature a typical engagement and has been given the title "An Attack on Fort Delaware." It will consist of an attempt by Confederate troops to take the Fort which will eventually be repulsed by the Union Troops defending it.

Because facilities are not available for the transportation of huge crowds to the island for the program, tickets will be sold in advance and limited to 1500. This is about the largest number that can be taken to the island in the boats which will leave Delaware City starting at 10 a.m., June 4.

The troops will consist of members of the North-South Skirmish Association, an organization of Civil War buffs who will be equipped with full uniforms and accouterments.

The Confederate side will consist of the Hampton Legion of Philadelphia and the Third Artillery of Elkton. The Union side will comprise Company A of the Delaware Blues, a newly organized unit from this city, and the Third New Jersey from the Trenton-Camden area.

The program will begin at 2 p.m., with detonation of bombs in the wooded area of the island followed some five minutes later by the emergence of the Confederates led by officers brandishing swords who will then charge on the Fort defended by the Union troops who will advance to meet them.

The public will view the battle from an area southwest of the Fort. Visitors are urged to bring folding chairs. This area will be in full view of the battle but well away from the participants. All safety precautions will be observed.

Tickets will cost $1.50 for adults and $1 for children and this will include the cost of transportation to and from the island. The 50 cents increase over the usual fee will go to defray the expense of the exhibition.

The committee in charge from the Fort Delaware Society comprises Miles Frederick, President; W. Emerson Wilson, Colonel; Donald S. Dutton, William P. Frank, Mrs. John B. Ray, Mrs. Allen G. Schiek, and William E. Craven.

A number of civic organizations will assist in the program. The State Park Commission which has jurisdiction over the Fort and island has made both available to the Fort Delaware Society for this celebration.

GET ACQUAINTED DAY AT HARRINGTON SCHOOL

May 26 has been set aside as a "Get Acquainted Day" at Harrington School for pre-school children who will start to school in September.

Parents and children are invited to attend from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m.

FIRST GRADE—Mrs. Marvel

Larry Myers from Mrs. Greenhaugh's class showed us some tadpoles which he and his brother collected. Some of the tadpoles were very tiny with long tails, and some were larger with long tails and two back legs.

Angelika Larrimore has returned from a week's vacation with her parents to New York City and Niagara Falls. It was interesting to hear about her trip while she showed us pictures of the falls on a pocket-book her mother and daddy bought her.

Francis Welch told us about his trip to Valley Forge.

Don Newcomb had a nice visit to the Wilmington Zoo and he told us about the animals and their funny antics. He enjoyed the Children's Zoo, but he didn't like the skunks very much. He liked the geese and ducks like we were reading about Friday.

Beverly Reedy brought us some pretty shells for our science collection. We listened to some of them and it sounded like the roar of the ocean.

4TH GRADE—Mrs. Kramedas

Mrs. Kramedas' class has been playing a game in English class called limericks. This is a game of writing verses. Here are several limericks:

In summer it is very hot, And in summer we play with lots of tots.

We play with dogs every day, And we play on swings which swing and sway.

Summer is a time for play, I always wish it could stay. But it always has to leave, And when it leaves, I always get the coughing sneeze.

When it gets hot I will go swimming, And eat a cake with little trimmings. I have a little dog that has red spots, And he's always playing in paws.

It is very hot and warm, We don't have any storms. I have a little dog that's black, He was so cute I named him Mac.

I like to go swimming, And hear the water humming. And sounds like a tuba Saying tuba, tuba, tuba, tuba.

The past Friday our room put on a program for the other two fourth grades. One program included organ selections by Roberta Mason, choral reading by the class, three plays which were written and produced by members of the class, and two songs with dancing. We all had fun.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Spring has finally shown her face and many of the pupils in Mrs. Graden's ninth grade class have been taking advantage of it in several ways. Nancy Blades and Joanne Murphy have been bicycle riding with their friends. Christy Coady and Janet Anthony have been helping their parents plant tomatoes and weed gardens. Marilyn Jarrell spent Sunday in Ocean City, Md., where it was warm but misty.

SPORTS

The Harrington High School track team placed fourth at the Dover Relays Saturday night, May 13. The Lions broke the distance medley record by some 20 seconds. The team was as follows: 880, Dwight Hackett; 440, G. Pfeifer (57 sec.); 220, Barry Fry (25.1 sec.); mile, Harry Knotts (4:38).

D. Hackett, C. Hackett, George Pfeiffer and Harry Knotts broke the two mile relay record by 17 seconds.

The Lions were fourth in the shot put medley with a combined distance of 120 ft. This team was composed of Bill Porter, Bob Gillette, R. Melvin and Joe Taylor.

The team also scored in the shuttle hurdles.

CLASS WORK The ninth grade and tenth grade agriculture classes are studying the housing of chickens. The boys will learn how many nests to use, how much and what kind of litter to use, and about heating, ventilation, and about the different kinds of houses. The ninth grade science classes are studying "Solar Energy and Our Weather." They will study what weather is, what causes weather and air movements, and how air temperature and pressure and air humidity contribute to weather changes.

STUDENT COUNCIL NEWS

The Student Council officers were elected for the 1961-62 school year by grades seven through twelve on Fri., May 12. The new officers are as follows: Connie Biddle, president; Claudia Neeman, vice president; June Thompson, secretary; and Barbara Nielson, treasurer.

PROM

Harrington's Junior-Senior Prom will be given Fri., May 26. The seniors and juniors are allowed to bring guests and one pass was given to each junior to give to someone out of school or from another school. No junior is allowed to give his or her pass to younger students.

FUTURE NURSES VISIT STOCKLEY

On Tues., May 10, the Nurses Club visited the Stockley Hospital for the Mentally Retarded. The girls had a guided tour through the medical center and some of the other buildings on the grounds.

Most of the older group of girl inmates were outside practicing for Field Day.

The schools conducted are much unlike the regular schools because these students don't learn the "A, B, C's" as normal students do, but instead, they learn to care for themselves, such as feeding themselves and dressing.

Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Johnson went with the girls on the tour.

FRESHMEN SELL BAKED GOODS

Chicken salad—quarts of it—pies, cakes, doughnuts, fudge, potato salad, homemade bread, lemon butter, biscuits, and cookies helped to make the Freshmen Bake, in front of the Kirby and Holloway Sulky Shop a success on May 13.

In addition to all the good things to eat a few customers took home potted plants that were offered for sale.

By 2 o'clock all the wares were sold and the freshmen and their mothers who had turned out to help were able to go home.

It was encouraging to find that although only a few students had been scheduled to work at the booth, more than half of the 70 members of the class and a number of mothers came out to help.

The members of the class were greatly pleased with and grateful for the support of the public and the help of parents and friends.

SENIOR PERSONALITY

Katherine Holloway Katherine Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Holloway, was born October 30, 1943. Kathy, a senior at Harrington High School, is planning to attend Salisbury State Teacher's College in the fall to become an elementary school teacher. Kathy is taking a scientific commercial course, and her favorite subject is English.

Zwaanendael Museum Notes

A special exhibit of relics from the Civil War has been arranged at the Zwaanendael Museum for the Centennial Celebration now being observed throughout the United States.

Among those who served from Sussex County was Dr. David H. Houston, father of the Hon. Robert G. Houston, deceased, and several items have been lent for display by his granddaughters, Miss Elizabeth Houston and Mrs. Mary Houston Robinson of Georgetown. Dr. Houston was born in Concord, Sussex County, in 1819, studied medicine under Dr. Samuel K. Wilson and Dr. Henry F. Hall, both of Lewes, and after graduating from Jefferson Medical College in 1842, practiced medicine in Lewes, living in the Col. David Hall house on Kings Highway. He entered the army in 1861 as surgeon of the Second Regiment of the Delaware Volunteers, and later was appointed Surgeon-in-Chief of the First Division of the Second Corps and served under General Hancock. The Museum is displaying Dr. Houston's dress sword with a decorated brass sheath, a wooden chest in which he carried his medical supplies or personal belongings, a silver fork given to him by General Hancock after raids had destroyed their supplies and equipment, a resolution of esteem presented to him at the completion of his service, and a meerschaum pipe with his name and rank engraved on a gold band, given to him by the members of the staff.

Mrs. Alden Hopkins, Sr., has lent an oilskin-covered military case which had belonged to her uncle, William Thomas Reynolds, of near Lewes. He served in the Third Regiment, Company Eight of the Delaware Volunteers and near the end of the war was killed in camp by a sharp-shooter's shot. The case was used to carry personal items and the printed advertisement, attached, claimed it contained writing paper, envelopes, pens, pencils, thread, needles, buttons, etc., could be used on horseback, carried in the coat pocket and that rain and dampness would not effect it.

Included are items presented by Dr. Harrison Manning of Seaford, which were from his grand-uncle, Dr. Anthony L. Manning, who also served in the United States Medical Staff. They are his elaborate dress sword and his brass-reinforced mahogany cases containing surgical instruments used in field hospitals and medical camps. In the display can also be seen a Fifty Dollar Confederate bill, a Civil War Token, used when coins were scarce, a small powder horn, a grand army of the Republic button, pictures, and a variety of swords.

It is planned that a Civil War exhibit will be continued during the Centennial with variations in arrangements as other relics, pertaining to Delaware's part in the struggle, are offered.

The regular visiting house at the Museum are Tuesdays through Saturdays, 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., Sundays and holidays, 12:30 to 5:30 p. m., closed on Mondays.

Delaware Food Market Report

Corned beef 'n cabbage - or ham 'n cabbage, either combination makes an exceptionally tasty meal. Plan on having one or the other often — and you can go heavy on the cabbage. The United States Department of Agriculture says cabbage is in plentiful supply now at most vegetable counters.

Prime quality heads of cabbage should be reasonably solid, hard or firm; heavy or fairly heavy in relation to size, and closely trimmed (stems cut close to the head and only three or four outer wrapper leaves remaining). Early cabbage need not be as solid or firm as that of the late cabbage. When further examining the cabbage you may find the base of some outer leaves separated from the stem with the leaves held in place only by the natural folding over the head. Such heads may be undesirably strong in flavor, or coarse in texture.

Cold temperatures and excessive rainfall have slowed the fresh vegetable market, since under such conditions growth and development of most vegetables is greatly held back. Forecasts now indicate that production of fresh vegetables this spring will be eight per cent less than a year ago. Among all of the leading spring vegetables, only cabbage and celery are in large supply.

The "best buys" at local Markets this week are carrots, spring onions, lettuce, radishes, cucumbers, cabbage and potatoes (both old and new). As soon as the weather gets warmer, look for large supplies of asparagus on all local markets. To round out your vegetable shopping list, why not take advantage of the many sales on frozen vegetables. All major frozen vegetables are in larger supply than a year ago, with the exception of green peas.

There are loads of watermelons in the markets, coming from Florida at an average price of six cents a pound. Strawberries are getting more plentiful as growing areas nearby begin to ship. Some Virginia berries are being picked, add these to supplies now coming from the Carolinas and California, and prices begin to weaken. Other fruits to check are grapefruit, bananas, rhubarb, and oranges.

The meat picture remains about as it has been for the past two or three weeks with beef and chickens being the outstanding buys. Again this week, check beef round (particularly rib roast and round roast), steaks and ground beef, broiler-fryers, turkey and spring leg-of-lamb. There are also a few good buys on veal.

Ever Ready Class Plans Flower Show

For the twenty-fourth consecutive year, the Ever Ready Class of Asbury Church School of Harrington will hold a Flower Show on Wednesday evening, September 13, in Collins Hall of the church. Early plans were made for it on Monday evening when the class held its annual covered dish supper followed by a business session when the president, Mrs. F. B. Greenly, presided. This was the last regular meeting of the class until September 18, five days after the show. Chairmen of the various committees were named and will be announced later.

It was decided to have an exhibit of paintings by amateur artists in conjunction with the Flower Show, and a different arrangement for the display of both paintings and flowers was planned.

Following that part of the program a short program was presented by Mrs. Howard Cooper and Mrs. P. C. Harrington, consisting of readings by Mrs. Clarence Kemp and Mrs. Cooper and an original and attractive questionnaire — "Who's Who in the Ever Ready Class" — was arranged and directed by Mrs. Harrington.

Baptists believe that because regeneration is the work of the Holy Spirit we can understand but imperfectly how it is brought about—we cannot trace the process, nor can we always know the time of regeneration. We can only know the manifestation. After a man has been born again his life shows that a change has taken place. Of this we can take note. He cannot always himself tell clearly the story of what has happened to him. Often a man whose heart is glad because of the new life within can do no more than repeat the confessions of the blind man, "One thing I know, whereas I was blind, now I see."

Tune-up For Barbecue Time

Delmarva barbecue champ, Frank Hennessy, gets some practice for the outdoor cooking demonstrations in which he will be featured during the Delmarva Chicken Festival next month at Seaford.

Hennessy, of Ruxton, Md., won the barbecue contest at last year's Festival in Selbyville. Along with Harold Weisberg of Hyattstown the 1959 champ, he will demonstrate some of the fine points of outdoor cookery June 15-17 at Seaford.

Hennessy's main ambition this year, however, is to graduate from barbecue champ to U. S. champ (indoor style) in the Senior Division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest at Seaford this year. If he makes it, he will be the first of his sex ever to garner the coveted trophy and the trip to Europe for two which goes with it.

Art Exhibit Festival Feature

Exhibiting work depicting the artists interested in the Eastern Shore or the nation's poultry industry will have their day again at the Delmarva Chicken Festival at Seaford, June 15-17, it was announced yesterday by Seaford's Mayor Joseph Williams, festival chairman.

The Festival Art Show launched at Denton in 1958 by Mrs. Nance Hall Asher, Maryland artist and art critic, will again be a feature of the Chicken Festival after a one year recess from the festival last June. Chairman this year is Margaret Martin of Seaford.

Radical change in the exhibit this year will see the prizes awarded entirely on the basis of popular vote by festival visitors attending the show. In previous years, there had been a prize for the popular award but the main judging of the show classes had been done by some of the East's most distinguished art critics.

Classes this year are divided among professional and amateur with entries welcomed in painting, permanent sculpture forms, graphic arts and crafts. Details for entry are listed in a folder available free from the Chicken Festival Committee, Seaford.

Prizes range to a top of $100 in cash to the top popular prize. Entry fees are $1 per exhibit. Deadline for entries is June 10. Exhibits may be priced for sale if the artist desires.

Judges Named For Solo And Ensemble Festival

Four adjudicators have been named for the solo and ensemble music festival at the University of Delaware on Saturday. Some 100 music students are expected to participate.

The judges are David Stone, chairman of music at Temple University, and Stewart Gordon, member of the faculty of University of Maryland, piano; Jane Sheppard, associate professor of music at West Chester State College, voice, and Harry C. Smith, first trombonist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, instrumental music.

Competition will begin at 9 a.m. in three locations on the campus, and is expected to end about 3 p.m. Vocalists will perform in East Hall, pianists in Mitchell Hall and Old College, and instrumentalists in Old College. The public is invited to attend.

Presented under the joint sponsorship of the department of music and university extension, the festival is designed for any regularly enrolled student in the state's public or private schools with at least intermediate ability in voice, piano or instrumental music.

Dr. Stone has held his position at Temple for ten years. He studied piano with Sascha Gorodnitzki, Josef and Rosina Lhevinne and Isabelle Vengerova. A graduate of Syracuse and Harvard Universities, he held a teaching fellowship at Harvard under Archibald T. Davison, and has taught at Fisk College and American University.

During the week the annual convention of the Women's Clubs will be held in Dover on Wednesday and Thursday, May 24 and 25. Delegates from the Harrington Club will be Mrs. Peck and Mrs. William A. Minner, with Mrs. Ridgely W. Vane and Mrs. Theodore H. Harrington serving as alternates.

Soil Testing

Questions Answered

What is a soil test? Many people ask George Vapaa, Kent County agricultural agent, this question often.

A soil test is a scientific method to determine the fertility needs of a particular area in your field. A representative soil sample is analyzed by chemical means to determine the soil reaction (pH), the magnesium, phosphate, and potash content. On the basis of results from this soil analysis, lime, phosphate, and potash are recommended. By using fertilizer according to recommendations, you will produce the highest economical corn yields.

Why make soil tests? Why should you check the soil in your car or truck? You must know whether oil is needed. A soil test is simply a fertility gauge for your farm. It tells you (1) how much phosphorus and potash you have in your soil; (2) what grade and ratio of fertilizer is needed; and (3) how much phosphorus and potash to use. It will also give you the pH of your soil and tell you how much lime is needed.

How to take samples? A soil test is accurate as the sample sent to the soil testing laboratory. Therefore, it is very important that a representative soil sample be made. Take at least 20 samplings from scattered areas over the field being tested. 1. What you need for taking soil samples.

a) Shipping boxes, instruction sheets, and information sheets. These you get at the county extension office, or the second floor of the Dover Postoffice.

b) Shovel and tablespoon or soil tube. If you use a tube you will need a bucket for mixing the soil.

2. Taking the sample a) How to take the sample by shovel and spoon method: Make a hole 5 to 7 inches deep with the shovel. Start at bottom of hole with tablespoon and scrape up side of hole. Put this in a pint box.

Do this at 20 points located in zigzag pattern in area being tested. At pointed 2, 8, 12, 19, did down into the subsoil and take a subsoil sample by scraping with the spoon along the side of the hole up to the line of the top soil. Keep topsoil in one box and the subsoil in another but keep them correctly labeled.

b) How to take sample with soil tube: Follow same steps as with shovel method except that you drop each core of soil into a bucket. When you have taken cores of soil at 20 points in zigzag pattern you mix them well in the bucket. Fill the pint carton, label it, and throw away the rest of the soil in the bucket.

3. Information sheet. Fill out the information sheet describing past cropping history, previous liming and fertilizing, type of crops to be grown on fields tested, and all other information requested. The soil testing laboratory must have this information to determine accurate lime and fertilizer recommendations.

Where do I send it? Bring the soil sample and the filled out information sheet to the county agent's office. The county agent will furnish mailing instructions, or you mail them to the Soil Testing Laboratory at the University of Delaware, Newark.

How much does it cost? No charges. When should samples be taken?

A soil sample can be taken at any time. However, it should be sent to the Soil Testing Laboratory at least one month before planting date of the crop to be grown. This will allow sufficient time to obtain the results of the soil test and to purchase any necessary lime and fertilizer.

For spring plantings, take samples in October, November, December and January. For fall plantings, take samples in June, July and August.

How accurate is soil testing? Soil testing is as accurate as the sample sent to the soil testing laboratory. If the soil sample sent in is truly representative of the farm field, the recommendations will correct any deficiencies and the result should be an economical crop yield.

However, soil testing does not take into consideration the field's physical condition, such as poor or excessive drainage and hardpans. If these physical factors are limiting plant growth, fertilizing will not correct them. Nor can testing change other factors which may limit crop yields, such as weather conditions, insects, nematodes, and diseases.

Soil testing is a valuable tool if used properly and the result interpreted correctly. It is the best method to determine the lime and fertilizer needs of a particular farm.

BARBER BILL

tion to lift from the table HA 2, which would exempt all of Sussex. The motion to lift was adopted on a roll call (24 yeas, six nays, two not voting, three absent), but then the amendment failed to get enough votes (10 yeas, 16 nays, six not voting, three absent).

Another amendment to omit Kent County was lost when the bill was considered May 3.

Then Mr. Quigley asked that the roll call on the bill, as amended be announced. Rep. Norman Eskridge (D-Seafood) the majority leader, suggested there should be a new vote because the bill had been amended since the original roll call. The House agreed.

The new roll call produced 18 yeas; 14 nays (Baker, Blendt, Busker, Clifton, Davidson, Exley, Fifer, Gove, Hoeker, Moore, Paskey, Prettyman, Shulties, Truitt); and three absent (Keenan, Pawson, Robbins).

The bill and its amendments had more roll calls than any other piece of legislation the House has considered this year.

Another important amendment was among the new measures offered Tuesday. This was HA 1 to HB 240, the merit system bill. The amendment would exempt non-professional school employees from coverage. School nurses, custodians and secretaries have been active in opposition to the bill; the amendment may therefore remove the most vocal opposition. It was offered by nine legislators (Myers, Ehinger, Snowden, Gove, Paskey, Truitt, Blendt, Fifer and Robbins). It was put in committee with the bill.

BILL BARS

to pay it themselves instead of their parents. He said State Police at present are powerless to act when they stop a car of teenagers and find liquor or beer bottles.

Rep. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington), who has an interest in a liquor store, said the bill is "long overdue." He said "a minor can walk down the main street of Wilmington with a bottle sticking out of his pocket," and the police can not take action against him, but if they find out from him where he purchased the bottle, they can take action against the liquor store operator.

Rep. Dawson H. Shulties (D-Willow Grove) said he has been in respectable homes and has seen parents offer drinks to children aged 19 or so, and he thought there is nothing wrong with that.

Frank Shoemaker, assistant chief clerk of the House, who is secretary of the Monaghan Columbus Club, was called on.

He said the bill would help assure legitimate clubs they will not be jeopardized by minors who falsify their ages.

The roll call produced 28 yeas, with one nay (Shulties), two not voting (Dineen and Livingston) and four absent (Pawson, Prettyman, Robbins and Snowden). The bill now goes to the Senate.

Mrs. Mary C. Bullock

Mrs. Mary Cahall Bullock, 69, widow of Joshua Bullock, died Monday after an illness of several weeks.

She is survived by one son, Joshua, Jr., an assistant engineer with the Pennsylvania Railroad offices in Chicago; one sister, Mrs. Georgia E. Moss, and a brother, H. Clay Bullock, both of Wilmington.

Funeral services were held from the Boyer Funeral Home yesterday morning with the Rev. Olin J. Shockley, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, of which she was a member, officiating. Interment was in Gracelawn Memorial Park, Wilmington.

The deceased was a member of the Ever Ready Sunday School Class of Asbury Church and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Harrington Fire Company.

BUSINESS FEES

to $75; "deadly weapons merchant," from $50 to $75; chiropractor, from $20 to $75; incorporation, from $20 to $75; osteopath, from $20 to $100; physician or surgeon from $20 to $75; undertaker, from $20 to $75.

The classification "stallion or jack keeper" in the present law would be stricken. Apparently no one is keeping stallions or jacks; and if they are, they would be able to do it for free.

Many new occupational classifications would be added by the bill, which supplants an earlier bill to boost the fees. Examples: Airline company, $200; art school or barber school, $50; broadcasting station, $150; cesspool cleaner, $20; dancing school, $50; florist, $25; hotel, $5 for each room and $10 for each suite; trailer park, $2 per trailer; tree surgeon, $20.

Many of the fees charged by the regulatory boards would do away with the job of boat inspector, a post formerly filled by the same man who was executive secretary of the Shell Fisheries Commission. The bill is HB 265, by Rep. T. Lees Bartleson (R-Brandywine Hundred) and Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington).

Fire vehicles belonging to volunteer fire companies would not have to be brought to inspection lanes for the annual motor vehicle inspection under a bill introduced Wednesday by Rep. Dawson H. Shulties (D-Willow Grove). The Motor Vehicle Department would go to the fire houses to conduct the inspection, under HB 267.

Three bills dealing with the special licenses for buying a stock of liquor for a gathering of people and for an individual's purchase of a large quantity of liquor were introduced Wednesday by Rep. Thomas P. Murray (D-Wilmington). One of them, HB 268, would triple the quantity an individual may purchase for his own use. Another, HB 270, is a companion bill, for the same purpose. The third, HB 269, would have the quantities of liquor for a gathering purchased at retail rather than wholesale.

Harry Morris

Harry Morris, 66, died Wednesday following a heart attack.

A retired produce broker, he was a veteran of World War I and an honorary member of the Harrington Fire Company.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home. The Rev. William Miller, pastor of Pilgrim Holiness Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Mr. Morris survived by his wife, Mary Timmons Morris; three daughters, Mrs. Ethel Rash, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Minner, all of Harrington; a son, Wilson Morris, Milford; four grandchildren; a brother, Isaac, Harrington, and two sisters, Mrs. Geneva Tucker, Harrington, and Mrs. Elsie Ward, Wilmington.

Limited Licenses Voted

Limited occupational licenses will be issued in extreme hardship cases to persons whose drivers' licenses have been suspended if the Governor signs a bill passed Wednesday by the House.

Under the "hardship license" bill (SS 2 for SB 103 with SA 1) a driver whose license has been suspended—but not revoked—would be able to apply for an occupational license effective during the period of suspension if he swears that the suspension has "created an extreme hardship in the conduct of business transacted by the applicant."

Only one occupational license could be issued to a person within 12 months, and after more than three suspensions no occupational license could be granted.

Anyone who violates the restrictions placed on an occupational license could be fined $25 to $200.

The proposed work license applications would be considered by a bi-partisan committee of four members of the Highway Department, appointed by the chairman.

The bill was passed in the House with 30 yeas, three nays

(Davidson, Kleinbach and Richards) and two absent (Pawson and Robbins).

The House discussed the lack of uniformity in the salaries, financing, and status of the judges of the various courts of common pleas before putting through a bill to boost the Sussex County judge's salary from $12,500 to $17,500.

The Sussex Common Pleas judge is on a full-time status, while the two such judges in New Castle work part time and are permitted to engage in private practice. A bill (HB 175), to put the Kent County Court of Common Pleas on a full time basis, at a salary of $12,500, has passed both branches of the Legislature, but has not yet reached the Governor.

Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt commented: "Probably Kent County will be back for a raise" now that Sussex is getting one. He said, "Each county has a different system and a different salary," and suggested there should be uniformity.

It was also pointed out that the state pays the salaries of the Kent and Sussex judges, but New Castle County pays the salaries of its own.

Rep. Wilbert E. Hoeker (R-Millville) said: "We can find $5,000 for a judge or to raise other salaries or put more people on the payroll, but we can't seem to take care of those prisoners on guards and other people working in the prisons."

The roll call on the bill brought 19 yeas; 10 nays (Bartleson, Blendt, Busker, Davidson, Eskridge, Fifer, Livingston, Paskey, Prettyman, Richards); four not voting (Casey, Dineen, Murray, Tribbitt); and two absent (Pawson and Robbins).

New Castle Coroner's Pay Is Boosted

Senate Democrats Wednesday beat down GOP objections and passed legislation to boost the pay of New Castle County Coroner William Doherty from $3,600 to $7,000 a year.

The bill (SB 144 as amended) was the latest in a series of pay raise measures for Democratic county office-holders to come before the General Assembly.

In addition to almost doubling the pay of the coroner, the bill also would take from the Levy Court the authority to set the pay of the chief deputy coroner. The bill would set the pay at no less than $6,000 a year.

Vote on the measure was 10 for (all Democrats, six against (all Republicans), and one absent (Johnson).

Before passing the bill, the Senate adopted by an identical vote an amendment raising the pay boost. Originally the bill called for $4,500 for the coroner and $3,750 for the chief deputy.

The bill's sponsor, Senator Calvin R. McCullough (D-Holloway Terrace), explained that he had learned Doherty handled more than 700 cases in a year.

"That convinced me he was worth at least $7,000," he said. Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) took the floor to state that "these two men aren't worth $13,000 to the state."

Senator Reynolds du Pont (R-Greenville) moved that the bill be deferred for further study, but McCullough objected.

The motion was defeated 10-6 on straight party lines.

Senate Minority Whip Walton H. Simpson (R-Camden) got up to ask whether or not the post was a part-time or full-time job. "Do you know any coroner that works full time?" McCullough shot back. (Doherty runs a funeral home.)

"No, but I don't know of any that make $7,000 either," Simpson countered.

A bus that went on, hit and killed a boy in Calcutta. While he lay on the street, a crowd attacked the driver of the next bus on the same route that came along. Police intervened.

A 14-foot-long hovercraft has been built and tested by J. C. Blundell, a farmer, in Auckland, New Zealand. Powered by a Volkswagen engine, he thinks it will lift 1400 pounds.

Guided evening strolls through Copenhagen have been started for tourists and residents. People are led through the older districts on Mondays and Thursdays, for a small fee.
