Enhanced by more than half a million dollars worth of jewels and furs, ten pretty girls will vie for the honor to represent Delaware at the Miss Universe pageant in Miami Beach in a pageant at Rehoboth Beach, Friday and Saturday, June 9 and 10. According to Sheryl Jones, Wilmington, the pageant director, ten girls have been accepted as Delaware finalists. She said there is a possibility of one or two more young ladies being accepted for the competition.

Rehoboth Art League News

The annual Members' Exhibitions were opened to the public Saturday afternoon, June 3, 12:30 to 5:30 p.m., as they will be seven days a week until July 12. When painting classes begin on Monday, June 26, the studios will then be open from 9 a.m. on week days. Sculpture classes begin Saturday, June 10 at 10 a.m. 62 artist members are represented, sending 40 oils to be exhibited, 27 water colors and 19 other exhibits (they are entitled to have only one painting each in oils and in water color classes, though the crafts and sculptures are not limited.) Two awards by jury have been made. The Ethel P. B. Leach Memorial prize of $50 was awarded to Eugenia Eckford Rhoads (Mrs. Philip) of the Studio Group of Wilmington for her oil "Noank"; also an honorable mention was made in this class to an oil "Old Homestead" by Madge Rickards Wright (Mrs. Frank) of the Studio Group, Wilmington, who also has a home in Rehoboth Beach. The jury responsible for these judgments were Orville H. Peets of Herring Creek, Millsboro, Nance Hall Asher of Denton and Madeline Dunn of Laurel and Seaford. Later, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Asher with W. S. Corkran awarded a $25 anonymous prize for identified painting of an ocean, bay, or beach scene within 10 miles of the Studio. This was won by an Arlington, Va., artist, Marlin Fenical's water color "Lewes-Across the Canal." Seven other awards will be made by popular vote and will be announced at the end of the show in July. Camera Club awards will also be made later by jury. Today, we will announce the artist members who have contributed to the oils section, later will come the other sections of the exhibits. In oils, Nance Hall Asher, Norma Austin, LeNore, Marian Newman, Henryette S. Whiteside, Mrs. Wm. P. Livingston, Mrs. Wright, Frances Duan Ross, Katherine B. Griffith, Marlin E. Fenical, Ida J. Remley, Helene W. Coakley, Catherine Acko, Myrtle K. Conaway, Anne Winstead Woody, M. Vinyard Purves, Helen Kirtland Reagan, Anne T. Summy, Marjorie Fry, John Moll, Bill Weber, and Don Addor of Washington—all these have sent excellent examples. Anne Layton Scott of Wilmington, Henry M. Progar, Aleine E. Hurdle, Judith A. Ingram, Betty Burton, Margaret D. Schiavone, Mrs. Rhoads, Mimi Piel, Jeanne Sala, Hardy N. Dietz, Theodore Kane, Thorbjord Rostad, Mary Marshall, Edith Stiber, Nancy Werlich, Chesleigh A. Bonnie, Tom Ross and Jean Rupert have enriched this section by diversified contributions. This exhibition is both the largest this league has ever mounted, and is also of very high quality, expertly hung by Howard Schroeder; Mrs. J. Townsend Tubbs and her committee have completed a major task in presenting it. Almost 75% of all paralytic polio cases reported in 1960 were people not fully vaccinated or not vaccinated at all. Take advantage of this free service now. 1961 Wheat Marketing Quota Penalty Set. The marketing quota penalty on "excess" 1961-crop wheat will be $1.08 per bushel, Jacob Zimmerman, Dover, chairman of the state agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, announced Thursday. This is the same as the penalty on "excess" 1960-crop wheat. As directed by law, the rate of the marketing quota penalty is 45 per cent of the parity price per bushel of wheat as of May 1 of the calendar year in which the crop is harvested. The current parity price for wheat is $2.39 per bushel. As approved by growers voting in a referendum last July, marketing quotas are in effect for the 1961 wheat crop. Under a quota program, a farmer who did not comply with the wheat acreage allotment established for his farm is subject to a penalty on his farm marketing excess unless he harvest 15 acres or less or has signed an agreement permitting him to produce up to 30 acres of wheat for use as feed on the farm. Any farmer who receives a penalty is ineligible for price support on any of his wheat acreage, Zimmerman said.

Board of Health Clinics

The Kenty County Polio Immunization Campaign sponsored by the State Board of Health, the State and County Medical Societies and the Kent County Chapter of the National Foundation began free clinics in Hartly on Fri., May 26. In Dover, clinics have been located at the Food Fair, Rodney Village, Carroll's Sale and the Acme Market at the Edgell Shopping Center. The remaining schedule for June in Kent County will give everyone a chance to start or continue the series of shots. Another opportunity will be offered before midsummer. It is important to get a shot now to allow time for immunity to build up. Four properly spaced shots are needed to be safe, but one to three offer much protection. Fire Precautions May Save Your Life

Our Spiritual advisors, in cautioning and guiding us towards a better existence, warn us of the danger of being eternally punished in the "fires of Hell". We heed them because we know eternity is inevitable. But the horrible tragedy of fire here on our earth is avoidable if we heed the admonitions given us by the people who are qualified to speak with authority.

Take the home as an example. The average household is equipped with dozens of labor-saving devices and appliances, all depending upon the use of electricity. All of these are designed with the utmost regard for their safe operation. But each one comes equipped with a set of instructions listing the "do's and don'ts" which will insure their most efficient, safe operation. Read and heed their instructions. They are not placed there merely to decorate the label—they are there for your safety. So many home fires could be prevented by periodically checking plugs and cords and outlets, etc. Not much time would be spent in checking these small things—not much time, that is, in comparison with years of regret if neglect caused a home fire which took the life of any member of one's family. Aside from the loss of life, comes the loss of property. You cannot quite place a price on your home possessions, because apart from the actual monetary value you have the pride of ownership which you would hate to have taken away. Then there is also the sentimental attachment to the things in your home. You can replace a chair, but can you replace your cherished baby pictures?

The thought of such things should send the householder scurrying to destroy all hazards. Accumulated paper or waste and piled up rubbish, oily cleaning cloths, etc. not in proper containers, matches and inflammable solutions left in the reach of children, smoking in bed and such things.

Much is said about the prevention of forest fires—and justly so—let's protect the forest that provides the wood to build our home, but let's go a step further and protect our homes also.

Industry has set before us a wonderful example of the results of attempts to prevent fires. All of our large industries have spent major sums of money to safeguard their investments and their employees by building places which are practically fireproof and then installing all types of extinguishing systems in case of accidental fires. Even our public lodging houses have periodic checks ups day and night to detect at once any sign of smoke or fire scare. We at home would be wise to do the same, and not let a circle of fire break up our family circle.

poultry specialist with the University of Delaware. More than 825 birds were entered. The top five groups of six birds each will be on display at the Delmarva Chicken Festival, June 15-17 at Seaford. All of the participants will be the guests of the festival sponsors, Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., at the event. Following the announcement of winners, some 400 persons who had gathered to hear the contest results, polished off 600 pounds of barbecued "Delmarvalous" chicken. Judges for the event were Richard Shockley, U. S. Government processing plant, Milford; D. Ernest Matthews, Salisbury; Matthews Brothers, Inc., Laurel; W. R. Jenkins, poultry specialist, Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Raymond C. Smith, dept. of agricultural economics, University of Delaware. The annual contest is sponsored by the Delaware Poultry Improvement association and the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Delaware. It is an educational project designed to teach youth how to raise high quality broilers. Hatcherymen, feed dealers, service clubs, vocational agriculture instructors, 4-H Club agents and several agencies co-operated in the program.

Hegari Sorghum Variety Would Count Against Feed Grain Acreage

The Hegari variety of sorghum, a crop that can be used either for silage or grain, would count against permitted corn acres on farms enrolled in the federal feed grain program. The ruling was announced by William H. Brady, state administrative officer of the agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, after consultation with University of Delaware agronomists, who pointed out the dual-purpose nature of the crop. The ASC ruling means, in effect, that farmers who wish to grow Hegari sorghum must reduce their acres of corn by an equal amount, in order to stay within their permitted feed grain acreage and maintain their eligibility in the feed grain program. The ruling applies regardless of the use intended for the sorghum—even if for silage. "Under any circumstances, before a farmer enrolled in the feed grain program decides to plant the Hegari variety, it would be well for him to check with his county ASC offices", Brady said.

Why Not Test Your Soil?

Why not begin soil testing on your farm for your crops? Top farmers throughout the county depend on soil tests to guide them in the use of fertilizers, according to County Extension Agent George Vapaa. Delaware's laboratory in Newark has the latest and finest equipment available for making soil tests. Professor Clinton W. Woodmanson, an outstanding chemist, is in charge of the laboratory. Other staff experts on fertilizing fruits, vegetables, turf grasses, flowers and shrubs help in making recommendations for fertilizer treatment. Why guess about fertilizing your crops when you can get this fine soil testing service without charge? See Mr. Vapaa for detailed information on how to take samples or contact him at REDfield 6-1448 if you have other questions. El Salvador will sell sugar to the United States in 1961 to help cover the Cuban deficit. Princess Dmitri Alexandrovich is having rabbit trouble in her London home. Her pet rabbit recently ate 12 roses sent to her. A silver-plated ebony elephant studded with jewels, was presented to India's Prime Minister Nehru by Ceylon, Colombo reports. individual record as he flung the 12 pound shot 39 ft. 11 inches. Others who shared in the record-smashing efforts but not previously mentioned were Bob Bonniwell, 880 and 2 mile relays; Walt Lekites and Leonard Masten, 880 relay; Dwight Hackett, medley and 2 mile relays; Clarence Hackett, 2 mile relay and Barry Fry, medley relay. The Lions won the Section Three championship trophy at the Peninsula Relays in Wilmington. This was the team's best effort of the year. At the Dover Relays the locals had two tremendous victories when they shattered records in the two long distance relay events. A total of more than 37 seconds were lopped off the old marks. Needless to say these were exceptional performances. H.H.S. will be hard hit by graduation. Missing next year will be such veterans as Harry Knotts, Dwight Hackett, George Pfeiffer, Bob Bonniwell, Bob Winkler, Bob Gillette, Walt Lekites, Leonard Masten, David Hitchens, Dennis Bradley and Ken Hoffman. Some of these lads were on the first H.H.S. Team in 1957. Another undefeated junior high squad will help fill the holes but it appears that it will take until 1963 before the locals are back on top in track and field.

Irving R. Williamson
Irving R. Williamson, 68, died Thursday, June 1, in the Messick Nursing Home after a long illness. He was the husband of the late Eleanor F. Williamson. Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Walter Banks, Georgetown; Mrs. Howard Ennis, Newark; Mrs. Louise Abbott, Felton; Mrs. Robert Valdesere, Harrington; a son, James, with the U. S. Army in Germany, and 16 grandchildren; also three half-brothers, Frank Morris, and Charles Owens of Ellendale, and a half-sister, Miss Sally Owens, of Ellendale. Services were held Sunday afternoon in the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home. The Rev. William R. AVOID SLUMP some type of shade for the dairy herd on pasture. Cows will graze very little during the heat of the day, and if they spend this time in the shade they'll be more comfortable and produce more milk. It's a good idea to give the cows some hay or silage while they are in the shade too. Be sure your cows have plenty of drinking water. The moisture they get when they eat lots of succulent pasture forage is reduced when pasture is mature and short. A cow producing 50 pounds of milk a day may need from 17 to around 40 gallons of water per day, depending on her size and on the temperature, Mr. Vapaa says.
