

TOLL ROAD BILL GOES TO CARVEL

A "Delaware Turnpike" from the Delaware Memorial Bridge to the borders of Maryland and Pennsylvania came a step nearer reality Tuesday.

The House of Representatives passed a measure which would authorize the State Highway Department to issue revenue bonds to finance construction of the turnpike.

The department could charge tolls to operate and maintain the turnpike and pay off its bonds, which would be tax free in Delaware.

On passage, seven Republicans (Baker, Best, Casey, Fifer, Hocker, Richards and Snowden) voted against the measure. They believe questions on it have been inadequately answered.

There were 21 yeas, two nays (Myers and Pawson), and five absent (Bartleson, Blendt, Downs, Keenan, and Kleinbach).

The bill, previously passed by the Senate, goes to the Governor for signature.

A move by Rep. William T. Best (R-Nassau), the minority leader, to change the wording of the Senate amendment on the bill was defeated on a voice vote. He contended that where the bill would require the general manager of the turnpike division to be a resident of "rural New Castle County," it could mean the manager had to be a farmer.

The House also approved in its fourth try a measure providing for use of the state's credit to provide buildings for industry.

The bill, SS 1 for SB 175, would create a Delaware Industrial Building Commission.

The proposed commission would use the credit of the state to guarantee bonds—up to $10,000,000 worth—to finance construction of buildings for industrial firms. The object: to help bring in new industry.

The commission would consist of five directors appointed by the Governor with Senate confirmation. Buildings financed by it would have to be "all-purpose buildings, suitable for rental to general manufacturing industry."

The buildings would be leased or sold to yield sufficient income in rental or mortgage payments to meet the principal and interest on the bonds issued for construction.

No single project guaranteed by the commission could involve more than $2,000,000.

Bill Would Up-Date State Voters Lists

Two Senate Republicans Tuesday moved to make it possible for both political parties to get up-to-date voter registration lists from the state election commissioner.

Senator Minority Leader James H. Snowden of Wilmington, and Senator Margaret R. Manning of Marshallton, co-sponsored legislation (SB 257) to appropriate $35,000 to State Election Commissioner Ernest E. Killen to hire a staff to get the lists in shape.

New Castle County Republicans have been balked in their efforts to obtain voter registration lists from Killen.

He claims he has neither time nor the staff to comply with the law requiring each county chairman of the two political parties be given eight copies of the registration lists.

County GOP Chairman Harry P. Maciary has threatened to go to court to force Killen to produce the lists.

Under the Snowden-Manning legislation, some changes in registration procedures also would be made. It would require each county Department of Elections to be opened eight hours a day Monday through Saturday of one week before May 31 in each year of a general election for the purpose of registering voters.

This would be in addition to the regular registration days on the fourth Saturday in July, August, and September preceding a general election.

The bill also would require the election commissioner to comply with a request for voter registration lists within 15 days, and at least seven days before the next general or special election.

The legislation also would require the county Department of Elections speedily provide the commissioner with information or records he might need to prepare the lists.

The $35,000 appropriation would be for the current fiscal year, and the assumption is it would become an annual appropriation.

Harrington League Softball News

There seems to be no stopping Greenwood in the Harrington Softball League this year. Thursday night the Harrington Athletic Club made a strong run at the Sussex Couintians but in the end the locals fell short by one run. Monday night the second place Moose nine was victimized also.

Stone's Hotel won games with Milford and Thompson's Raiders. These victories gave the Hotelmen the fourth and final playoff spot.

A few weeks ago an all-star team from the Harrington softball League split a double-header with a similar squad from the Hickman League. Friday night the same two teams met at the Moose diamond and two more close games resulted with the visitors winning each time.

House Rejects Gas Tax Boost

The Democrats failed Tuesday to produce sufficient votes in the House of Representatives to pass the motor fuel tax increase.

Not a single Republican voted for the proposal (HB 166) which would boost the gasoline tax from five cents a gallon to six. Fifteen Democrats voted for it, three voted nay, one was not voting, and one was absent.

The roll call was tabled with 15 yeas, 14 nays, one not voting, and five absent. Eighteen votes—a simple majority—were required for passage.

After a long Democratic caucus, at which the bill was debated, and it was made clear that some were opposed, the process of applying pressure was begun on the House floor.

The first step was to call up for consideration HB 49, the routine bill to appropriate $1,750 to every fire company in the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association. There are 52 of them.

Rep. William Paskey (D-Felton), the sponsor, said the companies usually have this money by July 1 and it is "very much needed." But "due to the fact, there is not enough revenue," he asked that action be deferred until a revenue bill is enacted.

Next, the revenue bill (HB 166) was called up for action.

A long debate followed, in which the Republicans called for governmental and fiscal reform before raising any more revenue. Rev. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) argued the tax hike would take away trade from Delaware service stations with out-of-state business.

Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) submitted an amendment to exempt from the tax the motor fuel used in intrastate buses operated by regulated public utilities.

Democrats voting against the bill were Shockley, Rep. Robert C. Davidson (Red Lion Hundred) and Rep. Chester Gove, Jr. (D-Townsend), while Rep. Thomas P. Murray (D-Wilmington) was not voting. Absent were Bartleson, Blendt, Downs, Keenan and Kleinbach.

The gasoline tax increase remains the administration's chosen method of raising the revenue needed to permit passage of the fire company appropriations, the hospitals' appropriation, and to permit signing of the bill to expand the state police.

A bill (HB 23) to give full credit on the salary schedule for out-of-state service of teachers can be signed whenever it is delivered, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel said meanwhile.

He declared the motor fuel bill present "a great opportunity for the Republican Party to provide the necessary financial support for the appropriations they have indicated they would like to have."

Delaware Farm Labor News

Harvesting using more labor as potato digging increases. This crop should be in full production next week. Most growers working crews as peak. Market slow to improve but continues steady near the $1.50 mark in 50 lb. bags and $2.20 for 10 lb. Red skins somewhat higher. Light tomato picking. Lima beans, sweet corn, and snap beans heavy using all available labor. Blueberry and cucumber harvests completes. Sweet corn for fresh market and processing at peak.

Wilmington Area

Heavy digging of white potatoes in progress. Crews working at peak with some crews short handed. Harvest should continue heavy for another three to four weeks. Sweet corn harvesting and processing at high production.

Dover Area

Kent County's big potato harvest under way with all growers pushing harvesting as fast as crews can handle the crop. All crews working full time with many of them short handed. Market remains steady but price is slow to advance, little chance for any radical price change in view. Some government buying is stimulating digging. Sweet corn for fresh market and processing at peak with good quality and yield being generally reported. Most processing corn being frozen. Most track crops in good condition but a general rain is needed in most areas. Peach crop light, picking slow. Labor getting tight but no crews should come to the area without job commitments.

Georgetown Area

Sussex County is out of the potato production area but is the center of Delaware's big lima bean crop which is now being harvested. This crop is all harvested mechanically and little labor is involved aside from machine operators. Processing has also become highly mechanized eliminating the rise of many workers. Tomato picking is under way but it light to date. Light picking of peaches, mostly for road side markets. Blueberry and cucumber crops completed. No additional labor needed in this area as supply is in balance.

Migrant Labor

There has been little change in the number of migrant workers in the state. However, the work situation has changed for the better and most crew members have full time work. No change in labor needs is anticipated until the potato harvest is complete early in September.

Softball News

Coach Harold McDonald's softball team, the Harrington Belles, saw action at the Moose Wednesday evening, Aug. 2, after a week's idleness due to the fair.

The teams made up of the local school girls and Burrsville team, joined forces to try to best the Belles after both teams being defeated handily by the Belles earlier in the season. After nine innings of play the Belles were the victors with a score of 40-6. Good hitting, fine defensive play, and errors helped the host team to their victory.

Wednesday night, Aug. 9, at the Moose, saw the Belles match their skill against an all-star team from Denton, which had just completed their league schedule. Errors and good hitting all around with Dot Tipsword, catcher, leading the batters with four grand slams, with Emma Carroll and Bonnie Satterfield each adding a homer to help defeat the Denton All-Stars 37-0.

Fine defensive play by the infielders, Patsy Jack, Bonnie Satterfield, Janet Morris and Diane Morris, left the outfielders idle during the game and gave Leah Wheeler, pitcher, her first shut-out of the season. Satterfield, relief pitcher, took over in the last two innings and held them scoreless, by giving up only one hit. Others who aided in the victory were Lelia Matthews, Jeanette Harrington and Jerry Reed.

The Belles will again play the Denton All-Stars next Wednesday at the Denton School.

Assembly Runs Out of Gas

An excess of gas stalled the General Assembly in a cloud of smoky confusion Wednesday night.

Unable to round up enough votes to pass the gasoline tax increase, the House of Representatives recessed indefinitely.

The State Senate, after a few dark words from Lt. Gov. Eugene Lamont about both parties "goofing off" too much with the state's financial problems still unsettled, agreed to return Thursday at 1 p. m.

Six Republican senators, claiming they had cooled their heels too long, came out with a hot cry of "lock-out" after returning from dinner to find the doors locked and the lights out.

Democratic leaders in the House adopted the attitude they could decide what to do next without the daily expense of running the legislature.

The House recessed to the call of Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt, and the speaker said he will give "proper notice" that means about a week in advance.

The action was taken because Democratic leaders are at least two votes short of getting the motor fuel tax increase bill (HB 166) through the House.

Wednesday they could not budge the four Democrats who refused to vote for it, and they could get no support from the Republicans.

It appeared, therefore, that the House is in recess until:

1. The missing votes are found, or
2. The administration comes up with an alternate revenue program to supply the estimated $1,500,000 it hoped to get this fiscal year by raising the gas tax one cent.

No one knows yet what the alternative will be.

Wednesday Democratic National Committeeman William S. Potter and New Castle County Democratic Chairman, Frank O'Donnell, Jr., were on the telephone, trying to get the four reluctant members—all from New Castle County—to change their minds. Governor Carvel also did some talking.

But all to no avail.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate met Wednesday in the office of Speaker Tribbitt and decided that if they could not assure action on the administration's revenue measure in the House caucus, the best course would be to quit for a while and work on the problem without having the legislature meet.

The House went through with that plan—but not the Senate.

Senator James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington), his voice preceded by the gong of coins in a pay telephone as he called the Morning News, asked rather plaintively, "Could you tell us what happened to the Democrats?"

He said most of the Republican Senators arrived in Dover at 1 p. m., but nothing happened.

"We sat around in the Republican caucus room, the only place we could go, twiddled our thumbs, discussed legislation, and mourned over the sad financial situation of the state."

He said the Senate met at 6 p. m. and "there was an argument over a magistrate's appointment, and then they called a recess."

Snowden said the six Republican senators sent word to the president pro tem they "would be at dinner for an hour, or an hour and a half" but when they came back from dinner everyone had gone home.

The president pro tem, Senator John E. Reilly, Sr., (D-Wilmington), was questioned further about this by phone.

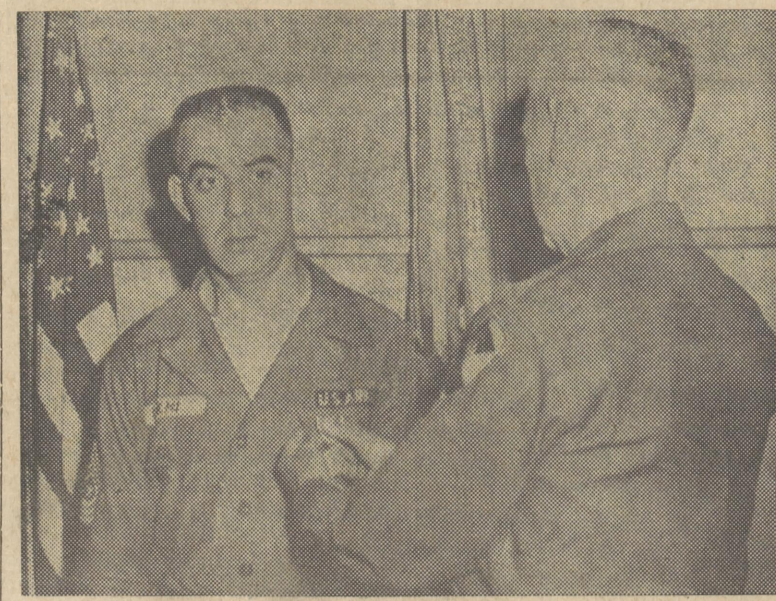

"That's right," he said in a reminiscent way. "Somebody did come in and mumble about somebody having dinner. I told him to see the president of the Senate, Mr. Lamont.

Snowden and the other GOP senators, said Senator Reilly, were in the chamber when Lamont called a recess of 20 minutes. At the end of 20 minutes, Lamont called a recess until 1 p. m. Thursday.

Lamont announced to the floor during the session, part of it executive, that there were at least two senators "against me" and that "as long as I am presiding officer, I will be in charge."

Reilly and Senate Majority Leader Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro) opposed Lamont on the matter, but failed. The Lamont motion to adjourn until Thursday was passed by voice without objection.

House Ok's Turnpike Bill, Industrial Building Board

Bills to permit the construction of toll roads and the use of the state's credit to provide buildings for industry were passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday afternoon, and five more Tuesday night.

The roll call was tabled—and lifted—three times. On the final tally there were 29 yeas, four nays (Bartleson, Clifton, Downs, Eskridge), and two not voting (Best, Keenan).

The House received and passed Tuesday—a bill to use $40,000,000 in bond money appropriated to Delaware State Hospital for a central heating system in the All Star Rehabilitation Center, being constructed with private funds at the Delaware Colony at Stockley.

The heating system would serve the center and some cottages to be built with bond money. The bill (HB 368) received 30 yeas with five absent.

One of the bills introduced Tuesday would set up penalties for selling various merchandise on Sunday. The bill would restrict Sunday retail sales "to provide a general day of community rest, relaxation and recreation . . ."

It would penalize the selling of clothing, furniture, housewares, appliances, hardware, tools, building supplies, jewelry, luggage, records, toys, and other items. Any incorporated municipality—such as Rehoboth in resort areas.

The roll call was tabled with 15 yeas, 14 nays, one not voting, and five absent. Eighteen votes—a simple majority—were required for passage.

After a long Democratic caucus, at which the bill was debated, and it was made clear that some were opposed, the process of applying pressure was begun on the House floor.

The first step was to call up for consideration HB 49, the routine bill to appropriate $1,750 to every fire company in the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association. There are 52 of them.

Rep. William Paskey (D-Felton), the sponsor, said the companies usually have this money by July 1 and it is "very much needed." But "due to the fact, there is not enough revenue," he asked that action be deferred until a revenue bill is enacted.

Next, the revenue bill (HB 166) was called up for action.

A long debate followed, in which the Republicans called for governmental and fiscal reform before raising any more revenue. Rev. Paul E. Shockley (D-Wilmington) argued the tax hike would take away trade from Delaware service stations with out-of-state business.

Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) submitted an amendment to exempt from the tax the motor fuel used in intrastate buses operated by regulated public utilities.

Democrats voting against the bill were Shockley, Rep. Robert C. Davidson (Red Lion Hundred) and Rep. Chester Gove, Jr. (D-Townsend), while Rep. Thomas P. Murray (D-Wilmington) was not voting. Absent were Bartleson, Blendt, Downs, Keenan and Kleinbach.

The gasoline tax increase remains the administration's chosen method of raising the revenue needed to permit passage of the fire company appropriations, the hospitals' appropriation, and to permit signing of the bill to expand the state police.

A bill (HB 23) to give full credit on the salary schedule for out-of-state service of teachers can be signed whenever it is delivered, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel said meanwhile.

He declared the motor fuel bill present "a great opportunity for the Republican Party to provide the necessary financial support for the appropriations they have indicated they would like to have."

Softball News

Coach Harold McDonald's softball team, the Harrington Belles, saw action at the Moose Wednesday evening, Aug. 2, after a week's idleness due to the fair.

The teams made up of the local school girls and Burrsville team, joined forces to try to best the Belles after both teams being defeated handily by the Belles earlier in the season. After nine innings of play the Belles were the victors with a score of 40-6. Good hitting, fine defensive play, and errors helped the host team to their victory.

Wednesday night, Aug. 9, at the Moose, saw the Belles match their skill against an all-star team from Denton, which had just completed their league schedule. Errors and good hitting all around with Dot Tipsword, catcher, leading the batters with four grand slams, with Emma Carroll and Bonnie Satterfield each adding a homer to help defeat the Denton All-Stars 37-0.

Fine defensive play by the infielders, Patsy Jack, Bonnie Satterfield, Janet Morris and Diane Morris, left the outfielders idle during the game and gave Leah Wheeler, pitcher, her first shut-out of the season. Satterfield, relief pitcher, took over in the last two innings and held them scoreless, by giving up only one hit. Others who aided in the victory were Lelia Matthews, Jeanette Harrington and Jerry Reed.

The Belles will again play the Denton All-Stars next Wednesday at the Denton School.

The five week program was designed to provide a fuller understanding of the American heritage. Fifty teachers from seven states participated. The school featured guest speakers, special forums, and visits to Winterthur, Independence Hall, and Valley Forge.

House Ok's Turnpike Bill, Industrial Building Board

Bills to permit the construction of toll roads and the use of the state's credit to provide buildings for industry were passed by the House of Representatives Tuesday afternoon, and five more Tuesday night.

The roll call was tabled—and lifted—three times. On the final tally there were 29 yeas, four nays (Bartleson, Clifton, Downs, Eskridge), and two not voting (Best, Keenan).

The House received and passed Tuesday—a bill to use $40,000,000 in bond money appropriated to Delaware State Hospital for a central heating system in the All Star Rehabilitation Center, being constructed with private funds at the Delaware Colony at Stockley.

The heating system would serve the center and some cottages to be built with bond money. The bill (HB 368) received 30 yeas with five absent.

One of the bills introduced Tuesday would set up penalties for selling various merchandise on Sunday. The bill would restrict Sunday retail sales "to provide a general day of community rest, relaxation and recreation . . ."

It would penalize the selling of clothing, furniture, housewares, appliances, hardware, tools, building supplies, jewelry, luggage, records, toys, and other items. Any incorporated municipality—such as Rehoboth in resort areas.

The bill was introduced at the request of several chamber of commerce groups.

Sapp Est. Building Hit By Fire

Firemen fought an hour before extinguishing a blaze early Friday evening in the Sapp Estate Building at Cain's Alley and Commerce Street.

Fire Chief Douglas Mills said the fire was caused by faulty electrical wiring at the head of the stairway leading off the alley to the former quarters of the Odd Fellows. Fire damage was confined to the stairs and that portion of the building adjoining the alley.

The chief estimated the damage at $500.

Trotta's Appliances, fronting on Commerce Street, suffered unascertained smoke damage.

Fishing Lines

Sailfish

Trolling on the open ocean has been exceptionally good for the past few weeks. Catches of tuna have been up with some boats bringing in 30. Marlin were hooked frequently but as yet none have been boated. One reason for the added interest in trolling is the fact that recently Captain Fred Wagner hooked and boated an Atlantic sailfish, considered by many to be one of the most important of the big game fish. Captain Wagner and party, fishing from the "Thomas E" were in search of white marlin when the sailfish took the marlin bait. Trolling was indeed exceptional, for prior to hooking the sailfish, a large marlin had been hooked and played for over an hour. Seconds after the marlin escaped, the 6 foot, 9 inch, 60 pound sailfish struck one of the remaining lures, and for an hour provided many thrills with its characteristic leaping in an attempt to dislodge the hook.

This is only the second sailfish to be landed at the Indian River Area. The first was taken 14 years ago by E. Scott Thompson. Both fish were caught during the month of July, one on fresh squid lure and the other on a large feather. This species of fish is found in American waters from Massachusetts to as far south as Brazil. Experts fishing for this game fish feel that strips of flesh taken from the belly of dolphin, mullet, mackerel, bonito or whole needle fish are the most productive bait.

Though life-savink Salk vaccine was introduced in 1955, millions of Americans have not yet taken advantage of it to protect themselves and their families against the dread crippling by polio. Especially among those who form islands of unvaccinated population in all cities and many rural communities, the threat of polio epidemics remains as strong as before there was a preventive vaccine.

Nationally, the Public Health Service, the American Medical Association and the National Foundation are cooperating in a renewed drive to end the menace of polio epidemics everywhere. In Delaware, the State Board of Health, the Medical Society of Delaware, Local Chapters of the National Foundation and many volunteers are working toward the same goal.

WANT-ADS

EXCEPTIONS:

These cars could deliver top performance with only 8 of Super Shell's 9 ingredients. But they'll soon need the ninth. Do you know why?

If car engines could stay clean as new, they'd get along fine without Shell's TCP additive. But harmful deposits start building up the moment your car leaves the showroom—and can soon cut power and mileage. TCP works to keep that from happening. Here's how.

THE ENGINE of every car on the road has combustion chamber deposits. Nothing can stop them from forming. They're the inevitable result of combustion.

If your car has only a couple of thousand miles on it you probably won't know the deposits are there. But once they've built up, they can be rough on performance. Fortunately, something can be done about that. Shell's TCP additive does it.

When certain types of deposits get hot enough, they can beat spark plugs to the punch and ignite the fuel themselves.

These premature explosions are forms of pre-ignition. They give your pistons a terrific hammering. Your power falls off. And so does your mileage.

Instead of purring smoothly, your engine falters—and costs you money.

How TCP prevents trouble

New, improved TCP in today's Super Shell gasoline literally alters these combustion chamber deposits. It "fireproofs" them so they no longer glow red-hot.

Result: top performance.

And as a little extra, new improved TCP can help spark plugs last up to twice as long.

NOTE: TCP can improve the performance of many older cars. Tests have shown that it helps restore power lost to harmful combustion deposits—and can add up to 17 miles per tankful.

9-ingredient formula

TCP is just one of Super Shell's nine ingredients. To get an idea of how all nine contribute to top performance, run your eye over the list at the right.

And try a couple of tankfuls yourself. If you do it soon, you'll get Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. It's specially formulated to give your car top performance in summer. And that's a reassuring thing to know when you're out driving on a sizzling day.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP®—for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix—for knock resistance.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock"
- #5 is Butane—for quick starts.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." Added when cold weather sets in.
- #8 is gum preventive—for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2889212.

S. B. A. Notes

William H. Harman, regional director of the Small Business Administration, has received a progress report on the agency's activities during the first six months of 1961.

In releasing the report, John E. Horne, Administrator, said this was a period of unprecedented activity and that without exception the aid given small firms through each major SBA program was greater in January-June 1961 than in any comparable period since the start of the Agency.

Following is a brief digest of progress in major program areas: Business Loans—6356 applications for $403.9 million received, 3,068 loans for $154.17 million approved. A 47 per cent increase over loan approvals in first half of calendar 1960.

Government contracts—Proposed purchases set-aside for small business bidding were 81 per cent higher than in January-June 1960. Small business share of total military purchasing, however, continued to decline until early part of 1961.

S.B.I.C. program—128 additional small business investment companies were licensed, as compared with 48 licensed during the first half of 1960. Licensing procedures were streamlined and improved.

Development Company Loans—37 loans for $4.48 million were approved for local development compares during January-June this year as compared with 19 for $1.97 million during the same period last year.

Management assistance—All phases of this program showed substantial increases over first half of calendar 1960. SBA and 144 leading educational institutional co-sponsored 207 administrative management courses attended by more than 6700 small businessmen. 1,370,000 copies of SBA management publications were distributed.

Mr. Horne pointed out that the accelerated programs were instituted to help attain President Kennedy's goals of recovery for economically depressed areas, and more rapid growth of the national economy.

A copy of Mr. Horne's complete report may be obtained upon request to the Regional Office at 1015 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4-H Boy Receives $50 Scholarship

Vaughn Elliott, Rt. 2, Box 25, Laurel, has been selected as winner of the American Institute of Co-operation $50 Scholarship Award for excellence in cooperative farm business activities for Delaware, according to James O. Baker, State 4-H Club Leader. He will attend the A.I.C. Annual Institute at the University of Minnesota, August 20-23 to receive the award.

In making the announcement of winners, J. K. Stern, president of the Institute, said, "if farm youth hope to succeed in farming and other agricultural business careers, they must understand the American Economic system and learn the fundamentals of farm marketing, purchasing, and become familiar with businesses that serve farmers."

The A.I.C. Scholarship Award is designed to encourage study and participation in farm business activities in the 4-H member's home area, Baker said. This includes visits to local businesses, group study of farm business methods, cooperation in local community activities, and business dealings with cooperatives.

The cash awards, including certificates, will be presented Monday night, Aug. 21, in Northrop auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus before 3000 adults and youth attending the Institute's farm business conference. While in attendance at the Institute, the 4-H winners will participate in youth discussions on farm business, visit outstanding farms, food packing and processing plants in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, and meet farm youth and young farmers from all parts of the country and several foreign countries, Baker said.

Farmers Must File For Gas Tax Refund

"Farmers are losing a lot of money if they don't claim their federal gas tax refund," says Jerry Cole, acting Kent County agricultural agent. They are eligible for a four cent per gallon return on all gas used for farm purposes. Claims must be filed no later than Sept. 30.

Farmers who filed last year should get the proper form through the mail or they may be picked up at the County Extension office. Just ask for form 2240 gas tax refund. Claims should be filed for gas purchased between July 1, 1960 and June 30, 1961.

The gasoline on which a refund may be claimed covers that used for farming purposes and includes most normal production operations. Three exceptions, however, are noted by Mr. Cole. They are: gasoline used on the highway, (even though for transporting farm products), that used for processing, packaging, freezing, or canning operations, and; that used for non-farming or personal purposes.

Senate Passes Harness Races Breakage Bill

The State Senate Tuesday night voted to cut the state in on the so-called "breakage" at state harness tracks despite the frantic protests of Majority Leader Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro).

The Senate voted 12 to three with two not voting for HB 163, which would give the state half the breakage at harness tracks. At present the state gets half the breakage at Delaware Park's flat racing meet but nothing from the harness track.

Before passing the bill, however, the Senate first adopted an amendment sponsored by Senator Harry E. Mayhew (D-Milford) to exempt the first $3,000,000 of pari-mutuel handle from the breakage tax.

The vote on the amendment, which Mayhew frankly admitted was to exempt the Kent-Sussex Raceway at Harrington from the breakage bite, was 11 to 3 (McCullough, Reilly and Steen) with three not voting (Spicer, Watson and Wilgus).

The bill, as passed by the House, would have brought an estimated $140,000 a year additional into the general fund. It was more than a month before the Senate acted on it.

As amended by the Senate, the bill would bring in from $95,000 to $110,000 a year, depending on how the legal eagles interpret it.

The breakage at a track is the odd cents left over after a mutual payoff is calculated to the lowest ten cents on a dollar. For instance if a horse figured to pay $1.03 on a dollar, he would pay an even dollar and the other three cents would go to the track.

Senator Steen bitterly opposed the amendment. He contended that it was designed to favor Harrington Raceway over Wilmington's Brandywine Raceway and was "grossly unfair."

"If Harrington can't stand the grease, then let it get out of the kitchen," Steen said.

He contended that if Harrington "can't make a go of it" without special treatment, it ought to sell its days to another track as Sussex County does now.

A private Sussex concern now sells that county's 20 days of racing to Brandywine for a cut of the mutual take.

Mayhew pointed out, however, that while Sussex Counties make a profit from their 20 state-authorized days of racing Harrington Raceway has never made enough money to pay its $100,000 maximum rent at the Kent-Sussex Fairgrounds.

Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden (R-Wilmington) said there may be some legal question about whether the $3,000,000 exemption also applies to the Sussex County portion of Brandywine's meet and whether or not the bill could be made effective while a meet was under way.

The breakage on $3,000,000 is about $30,000 - or one per cent - which means the Mayhew amendment cost the state revenue of $30,000 if it applies only to Brandywine and Harrington or $45,000 if it also applies to the 20 days allotted to Sussex County but sold to Brandywine.

The bill now goes back to the House.

Food Is a Bargain Says Economist

Food is a bargain, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist, Department of Markets, University of Maryland. People find it hard to believe that food prices have not risen steeply, because most of them are actually spending more dollars at the grocery store than ever before.

Just after World War II (1947-49), the family grocery bill was about one-fourth of our take home pay. Today it is less than one-fifth even though food prices have gone up.

Our food bill has risen fifteen percent in the past ten years and all of the increase was in the cost of marketing. All together processing, transporting, and distributing takes sixty one cents of our food dollar. The farmer gets thirty-nine cents, about ten cents less than he got a decade ago. In this same ten years period the cost of housing rose 32 per cent, transportation climbed 46 per cent, medical care grew by 57 per cent. The average take home pay jumped 59 per cent.

Ten years ago an hour's work bought one of the following: 2.3 pounds chuck roast, 1.8 dozen eggs, 6.5 quarts milk, 9.6 loaves of bread or 24 pounds of potatoes. Today one hour's work is worth 3.3 pounds chuck roast, 3.6 dozen eggs, 8.1 quarts milk, 10.1 loaves bread, or 29 pounds potatoes.

Here are a few reasons for the increase in the total cost of the consumers grocery dollar spending. They may be buying more and better quality foods. They may be finding a larger family and growing children. They may be buying many items at supermarkets that previously were bought elsewhere, items like hosiery, kitchen utensils, towels, and other soft goods, drugs, cosmetics, light bulbs, cigarettes, magazines, toys, garden supplies and dozens of other non food products. These items are added up at the check out counter along with regular groceries and are paid for all together. Folks can mistakenly think of the total as a food bill reflecting supposedly higher food costs.

Junior Fishing Rodeo Scheduled For August 19

Youthful Delaware fishermen, between the ages of six and sixteen, will be afforded an opportunity to engage in their favorite pastime and, at the same time, compete for worthwhile awards, notes the Delaware State Development Department in calling attention to the fourth annual Delaware Junior Fishing Rodeo scheduled for Sat., Aug. 19, at lakes and ponds throughout the state.

According to information provided by the Development Department by James F. Godsey of New Castle, executive secretary of the sponsoring Delaware Junior Fishing Rodeo Association, more than 3000 youngsters are expected to participate in this year's contests, and, for the first time, state winners will receive educational awards as well as trophies.

The competition, which is open only to Delaware residents under 16 years of age, will be held simultaneously from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at thirteen different locations.

The contest rules provide that participants must furnish their own fishing gear and bait; the latter may be any legalized form of live or artificial lure. All types of fresh water fish, except eels, may be counted, with the weighing and measuring being done by representatives of the State Game and Fish Commission.

Numerous prizes will be offered in each of the regional contests and local fishing "kings" and "queens" will be chosen. A fitting climax to the statewide competition will be provided by the annual recognition banquet which will be held at the Treadway Inn, Dover, Saturday evening, Aug. 26. All regional winners will be guests at this affair. Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, and U. S. Senator J. Caleb Boggs will assist in the presentation of awards and the crowning of the 1961 Junior Fishing King and Queen.

Additional information may be obtained from the Delaware Junior Fishing Rodeo Association, P. O. Box 106, New Castle, Delaware, advises the Development Department.

Members of her group performed a modern dance during State 4-H Club Week at State Teachers' College, Bowie. Mrs. Cottman assists in staging the state talent show, a highlight of the week's program.

Rodulia Spence, Somerset County, a member of the dance group says, "Mrs. Cottman has taught me to listen to music to hear the story it tells. Then I feel the motion that best interprets the music."

In addition to recreation with members of the club she leads, Mrs. Cottman assists the members with their regular club program under the guidance of Mrs. Omega Jones, assistant home demonstration agent in Somerset County.

Mrs. Cottman has lived in Somerset County for nine years. Prior to moving to the Eastern Shore, she worked in Washington, D. C. and there organized a recreation group at the Franklin Nash Methodist Church. For two years, she served as Director of Recreation, Arts and Crafts of the Young Adult Delaware Conference.

She did her undergraduate work at Morgan State College, Baltimore in Health and Physical Education. She has done graduate study at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa.

Md. 4-H Leader Uses Recreation To Reach Community Younsters

"Recreation work has always appealed to me," says Mrs. Samuel Cottman, Jr., a resident of Westover, Md., and an instructor in physical education at Moton Junior and Senior High School in Easton.

With a recreation program in the Tindley's Chapel 4-H Club in Somerset County and good project instruction, Mrs. Cottman has increased the club membership from 12 to 30. She's a local leader and provides supervised recreation for the young people in her community each Friday night. Members of the Tindley's Chapel 4-H Club decorated a building the church purchased for use by the young people in the community. They bought paint, venetian blinds, and used their energy to create an attractive place to play.

Mrs. Cottman teaches games and dances, stages pageants and talent programs with young persons in her group. Recently, they sponsored a record hop and bazaar to raise money for transportation to State 4-H Club Week. Seven of her members attended this year. The club has sent representatives to Club Week each year and have participated in the talent program for three years. She brings ideas, records, and costumes to Club Week.

Snowden, Carvel Jab on Prices

Governor Carvel (Democrat) and State Senator James H. Snowden (Republican) continued their verbal duel Wednesday—each using the same ammunition: "fiscal irresponsibility."

This particular round had to do with the Governor's proposal to increase the state gasoline tax by one cent.

The Republicans in the General Assembly, supported by a few Democrats, are against it.

The Carvel-Snowden duel was conducted at long distances. The Governor spoke at his press conference in Dover. Senator Snowden later replied in Wilmington, basing his rebuttal upon newspaper reports.

Expressing disappointment that the House of Representatives had not passed his gas tax bill Tuesday, Governor Carvel nonetheless was optimistic that he would ultimately have victory.

However, he blasted away at Senator Snowden, charging him with "fiscal irresponsibility" in that he said the Wilmington Republican has called for money for certain state agencies but has refused to vote for measures to produce the necessary revenue.

Later in the day Snowden fired back. In effect he said, "Yes—it is fiscal responsibility but on the part of the Governor. I oppose anything like the Governor is proposing on a piecemeal basis."

Snowden referred to his futile effort Tuesday to have the Democratic controlled State Senate pass a resolution calling for a bi-partisan conference on the state's fiscal policy.

The Governor has defended his gas tax as a logical tax, to be paid for only by those who use the highways.

"We have the biggest highway improvement program in the nation—considering our population," said Governor Carvel. "I've studied this gasoline tax problem since 1945 and I am convinced it is a fair tax. I don't think we'll lose gasoline sales. On the other hand, it'll produce an extra $1,500,000 which we need very much."

In reply, Snowden wondered how the Governor had tagged the several Democrats in the House who Tuesday had refused to go along with the gas tax. Snowden: "Had he pinned them with 'fiscal irresponsibility'?"

The fact is that the Governor has been asked just this at his press conference. No—he would not tag them as "irresponsible" but rather said he was sure they would change their minds.

Snowden: "I would say that Governor Carvel and his aide, F. Earl McGinnis, show a great deal of fiscal irresponsibility—so much so that it's quite frightening."

He referred the Governor to the bi-partisan fiscal policy conference proposed by the Republicans in the Senate, but which was voted down by the Democrats, except State Senator John E. Reilly of Wilmington.

During the press conference, Governor Carvel was asked for his reaction to a letter sent him by Snowden, asking for support of the Youth Services Commission's $4,500,000 bond issue for a consolidated training school for juvenile delinquents.

Snowden is chairman of the commission.

The Governor said he is not against the proposed consolidated school but he thinks the state should wait until the current survey of prison problems is finished and studied.

Governor: "Mr. Snowden knows about this survey. In fact, he and his commission approved it. We should await its results."

Snowden: "Who's talking about prisons? We are concerned with juvenile delinquents, any further delay in getting this new school—in view of the hazardous conditions at Ferris School particularly, is dangerous. There is no time for delay."

"Yes—we approved the prison survey, but, if the Governor remembers, with the understanding that it would not interfere with nor delay our plans for a new training school."

Governor: "I am against selling one square foot of Delaware-owned land until we find out from our proposed planning committee how we can best utilize state-owned land."

The Governor was referring here to the plan of the State Youth Services Commission to sell the Ferris, Woods Haven and Kruse School properties, and apply the money toward cutting down the cost of the $4,500,000 consolidated training school.

Milford Hospital Changes Visiting Hour Policies

In its continued efforts to upgrade the quality of patient care given to the members of the community, the Milford Memorial Hospital has found it necessary to make some revisions in the visiting policies. The new visiting hours are as follows:

Children's Ward—afternoons: from 2 to 3 o'clock; evenings: from 6 to 7 o'clock, parents only. Maternity—afternoons from 1 to 2 o'clock and 4 to 5 o'clock; evenings, from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Husbands and grandparents only. No visitors permitted while babies are being fed.

All other floors, 12 noon to 8 p.m. Children under 14 years of age are not permitted to visit due to the increased danger of infecting the patient thru possible carrying of childhood diseases.

The visiting hours in the Children's Ward have been liberalized to include one hour of visiting, restricted to parents only, from six to seven o'clock in the evening. This change has been made to afford an opportunity for working parents only to keep to a minimum the number of visitors in the evening when the children are preparing to retire for the night.

The Maternity hours have been reduced as far as possible, to coincide with the feeding times of the babies. For medical reasons they have also been restricted to the husband of the patient and the maternal and paternal grandparents of the baby to avoid excess contact with people outside the immediate family. During the days immediately following delivery, the mother and baby are more susceptible to possible contact with other diseases and, traditionally, visiting is restricted in most hospitals.

Since all visiting regulations are established for the best interest of the patient, the hospital authorities request members of the community to adhere voluntarily to the above listed visiting regulations. In this way the patients stay in the hospital will be greatly benefited.

Shell Refinery Ruling Should Come By Sept. 1

A decision on the Shell Oil refinery zoning petition is possible by Sept. 1 despite the mass of testimony that must be studied.

The key is the speed with which the New Castle County Levy Court can review the evidence—much of it highly technical—and study transcripts of more than six hours of testimony Tuesday.

A lot depends on how fast court reporters can assemble the transcripts. Friday or Monday seems the earliest.

After the transcripts are available, attorney for Shell and Delawareans for Orderly Development will have 10 days to file additional briefs. A decision could come any time after that, possibly at Levy Court's meeting Aug. 29.

More than 60 witnesses spoke Tuesday afternoon and evening. Levy Court President Harry H. Lambert pledged the earliest possible decision.

But Lambert indicated it might take as long as six weeks. Shell options on land in the 3,300 acre site for its proposed $80,000,000 refinery begin to expire in early September.

A Shell spokesman said the company has not yet taken any action to extend its options. One of the most dramatic points made was by Edwin P. Neilan, president of the Bank of Delaware.

He charged that opposition to Shell's efforts to build a refinery near Taylor's Bridge had cost Delaware another new industry which would have employed 8,000 to 10,000 persons.

A planning expert called by Delawareans for Orderly Development contended industrial land in Delaware would ultimately become so valuable—ranging in price from upwards of $10,000 an acre—so that Delaware could pick and choose among the industries it permitted and could afford to wait until a plan for comprehensive industrial land use was developed.

Professor Malcolm D. Little of Georgia Institute of Technology, a consultant on land use, argued that the Levy Court did not have sufficient information to make an immediate decision in the Shell case.

Little was one of the six witnesses called by William Prickett, Jr., attorney for Delawareans for Orderly Development, to present his case against the proposed refinery.

They followed six expert witnesses called by Henry M. Canby, Shell Oil Company's attorney, all of whom attempted to block DOD's contention a refinery was undesirable, would commit lower New Castle County "irrevocably" to heavy industry, preventing effective long-range state planning, and would constitute a serious threat to the state's fisheries and game preserves.

More than 200 persons in the audience were intensely and openly partisan pro and con. Most of them stayed from 2 p.m. until the hearing began until the end at 10:30. Levy Court President Harry H. Lambert kept them under tight control.

There was only one outburst of applause, which Lambert checked by threatening to clear the hearing room in the County Engineering Building on the Kirkwood Highway.

For most of the hearing all seats in the small hearing room were occupied and there was standing room only in the lobby.

There were cars lined up for half a mile on either side of the Kirkwood Highway and jammed into the Engineering Building's parking lot.

John Dukes, Taylor's Bridge farmer and leader of DOD contended that the "checkerboard" pattern of the 3,300 acres optioned by Shell would effectively make 4,000 more acres "captive." Granting Shell's rezoning petition he said, would effectively rezone these "captive" acres and force owners to sell to Shell.

Dukes was the last witness called by Prickett. At the end of his testimony, after referring to what he termed "pressure" brought up residents of the Taylor's Bridge area by Shell representatives, Dukes said he had been offered a farm products and chemical distributorship.

Shell concentrated on its ability to "be a good neighbor." It claimed advances in refinery design would make its proposed $80,000,000 refinery nearly odorless, free from the danger of serious oil spills, and the refinery would contribute to Delaware's economy.

DOD, with its six witnesses and through others subpoenaed by Levy Court, hewed closely to Prickett's three main points.

In his opening statement for Shell, Canby said DOD's case was a series of "continuous, irresponsible scattergun attacks." He attacked the press for alleged partisanship.

Prickett, who had not planned opening remarks, was stung by the sharpness of Canby's attack. He said building the refinery would be a "disaster."

Boeing Plant Loss Claimed

Delaware reportedly has already suffered the loss of an industry with large employment potential as a result of resistance to the Shell Oil Company's effort to locate here.

This was claimed in hearings before the New Castle County Levy Court on Tuesday, in which the president of the Bank of Delaware, Edwin P. Neilan, testified on behalf of Shell in its efforts to have a site in Blackbird Hundred rezoned for industrial use — for a proposed refinery and petro - chemical complex.

He said Boeing Aircraft Corporation, one of the giants of the industry, had been eyeing a 1000 - acre plant site in New Castle County and optioning arrangements were underway when the trouble broke over Shell's plans.

Transcribed records of the hearing on Tuesday, which were in the hands of all interested parties by Wednesday morning, record that Neilan told about a communication from Boeing's top officials saying that they had lost interest in bringing a plant here in view of Shell's experience.

The Boeing plant would have turned a 1,000-acre site to industrial taxation. The testimony of Tuesday related that the entry of the manufacturing concern would have meant about 8,000 to 10,000 jobs. The plant would have had a laboratory as a part of the overall installation.

This type of industry has been touted by opponents of the Shell heavy installation as the type which should exist in Delaware. The record of the hearing claims that by blocking Shell efforts to have its site rezoned the opponents have turned aside an industry of the very type they have been claiming should come here.

As in the case of Shell, pre-advent surveys and land optioning had been under way by a company experienced in engineering and industrial surveys. In the Shell case it was Stone and Webster and in the Boeing case the Austin Company.

Northern State House OK—Carvel

A "State House" in the Wilmington area to house the various state agencies in northern Delaware was characterized by Governor Carvel Wednesday as a very good idea.

It is worth a study, he said to see how much money could be saved and how, putting many of the state agencies under one roof would increase the efficiency of service to the public.

He agreed that the same idea for Sussex County, where a state agency sprawl is developing, might also be explored.

This question was raised at the Governor's press conference when he was asked to give his thoughts on the proposed addition to the State Highway Department building in Dover—or another building behind the present headquarters of the Highway Department.

The Highway Commission recently approved, in principle, the plan to bring together at least three segments of the Highway Department now housed in rented quarters in Dover.

The Governor said he was sure money could be saved through this plan.

Wilmington has a number of state agencies sprawled throughout the city area, chiefly in rented quarters.

The Governor's press conference ran the gamut in topics from aid to aged indigent people to Civil Defense, from highway safety to gasoline taxes; from hopes for a strong juvenile delinquent training program to appointments on the State Board of Corrections.

The administration, in cooperation with Rep. Paul Shockley, the General Assembly, the Welfare Council, the State Department of Public Welfare, the Delaware Hospitals and the Levy Courts, is working on legislation to secure additional medical assistance for the indigent aged of Delaware.

The state grants about $1,000,000 annually to the various hospitals of the state. The Levy Courts contribute additional sums.

The administration proposes to earmark a portion of both the State and Levy Court contributions for medical assistance for the indigent aged and the medically indigent aged in order to secure available federal matching funds.

Carvel said the appropriation plans a six-month experimental program, beginning Jan. 1. This will bring to the state about $100,000 of additional federal funds during the six months.
