

Suits Legalized Against Non-State Firms in Bilking

The State Senate Monday night passed legislation to make it easier for Delawareans to collect damages from fly-by-night out-of-state salesmen.

The Senate passed companion bills (SB 234 and SB 235) sponsored by Majority Leader Curtis W. Steen (D-Dagsboro), which would allow Delaware citizens to sue out-of-state corporations in Delaware courts. Both bills had failed to muster the necessary two-thirds vote last week.

Under present law, a Delaware citizen bilked in Delaware, must sue for recovery in the courts of the state in which the foreign corporation is located. In many cases, the expense involved prohibits a suit.

Steen had the roll calls on the two bills lifted from the table, and enough senators who had been absent or opposed last week switched their votes to "yes" to put the legislation over.

SB 234 was passed 14 to 1, with one not voting, and one absent, and SB 235 went through 13 to 1 with two not voting and one absent.

The Senate also passed legislation to require the New Castle County Levy Court to furnish school crossing guards where needed by local school districts.

Before passing the bill, however, the Senate adopted an amendment sponsored by Senator B. Walter Johnson (D-Bear), which requires that the crossing guards be screened for hiring by the school districts.

The Levy Court, although required by the legislation to pay the guards would be authorized to levy a special tax on the school district to pay the costs.

House Bill Would Put U. S. Egg Grades in State

Delaware would abide by U. S. Department of Agriculture standards in grades and sizes of all eggs offered for sale under a House of Representatives proposal introduced Monday.

Rep. Robert Snowden (R-Georgetown), is sponsor of the legislation. Included in the bill is the stipulation that only U. S. Grade A or AA eggs may be termed "farm fresh" or "fancy".

Four quality designations are listed in the bill as official department standards—AA, A, B, and C, determined by characteristics of the shell, air cell, white and yolk.

Cross Country Schedule Complete

By Keith S. Burgess

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High School Cross Country team will attempt to run its victory string to 13 in the season's opener at Milford on Friday, Oct. 6.

Recent events have tended to change the cautious optimism of two weeks ago to a somewhat more pessimistic outlook.

Bob Smith, who was dueling with Allen Wix for the No. 2 spot, suffered a bad ankle sprain in a football scrimmage and may be lost for the season. Smith had been running in high school and A.A.U. events since the first of April and was in great shape. Wix has lost his competitive edge, too, as a result of tonsillitis and a cut foot. Two other lads are playing football and only four of these have been able to get in a workout on the course. The football players can get in good enough shape to be a tremendous help if they will run in their spare time.

Cross country is unique in this respect. A lad can work out by his lonesome and still be a world beater.

Clarence Hackett, one of the best harriers in Delaware, has run the revised Killen's Pond course in 13:47 without pushing hard. oBb Smith clocked 15:12 with Wix close behind.

Hard-working Wayne Carson, a real surprise, has clocked 15:28 although he is a first-year man. Barry Fry and Bill Sollars turned in very good workouts in their first attempt at long distance running. Fry with 15:45 is a real prospect.

Dennis Rogers and Larry Bonivill have shown great improvement over last year. Both have run this year's longer course faster than they could negotiate last Autumn's shorter distance. Too, last year's time was done in actual competition when both were at peak form.

Milt Smadja and Dick Schreiber recently reported and turned in fine opening tuneups. Smadja's clocking was better than several Lion harriers with experience could do. He is a tall, thin boy with an ideal build for cross-country and may do very well.

Others on the squad at present are either football players or are harriers who are slow to reach a good competitive level. These are Jeff Adams, Frank Cain, Lester Minner, Charles Taylor, Ronald Broce, James Ralph, Roy Porter, Erwin Rogers, Don Rothermel, Kenneth Garey and Larry Garey.

The squad of 21 has enough talent to have an unbeaten downstate season for the third time in four Autumns. However, if this is to happen, the runners are going to have to want it to happen bad enough to stop making excuses and get into shape. Fifteen minutes a day per man would do it. Cross-country does not have the glamour or excitement or crowds that

Thurs., Sept. 28, Governor's Night At K & S Raceway

Thursday night, Sept. 28, will be Governor's Night at the Kent and Sussex Raceway at Harrington.

Delaware's Governor, Elbert N. Carvel will be the guest of honor that evening and invitations to attend the program have been extended to a large number of other guests, including members of the General Assembly.

Approximately, the feature race of the evening will be named the Governor Carvel Pace and the winning driver will be presented with a trophy by the Governor.

In Allan Myer of Bridgeville, and Wilbur Zendt of Millfintown, Pa., Harrington racegoers will witness competition between two of the leading harness race drivers in the East.

Myer, who campaigned successfully at Brandywine Raceway near Wilmington before moving on to Harrington, has established an enviable record in past years both as a leading driver and trainer. His brother, Ellis, also at Harrington this season, was the leading driver there during the 1959 season. Pat Hubbard of Harrington was the track's leading driver last year.

Zendt was the winningest driver at Ocean Downs in Ocean City during the track's 1960 and 1961 meets.

Harrington School News

English Classes Write News
Mr. Graden's ninth and tenth grade English classes will be writing the school news every week for the Harrington Journal. The students will be doing the writing until school is out in June.

Spanish Students Study News
Tenth grade Spanish students are studying Spanish newspapers such as: Lea, Ecran, Sucesos Para Todas, Lea is for the family, Ecran is for fans of the movies, and Sucesos Para Todas is for everyone, everywhere.

The newspaper study also correlates with newswriting the students are studying in English.

Students Study Cell
The cell has been the subject of study for Mr. Horst's 10th grade biology classes. The students had to learn the parts of the cell. Drawing had to be made and handed in. The students used the microscope to see the cells of the onion skin and of the lining of the mouth.

The student body of Harrington High will take a vote on whether the students want a mid-winter formal or a full length movie. Last year Harrington students enjoyed a mid-winter formal. Two years ago H.H.S. had a movie called "The Mating Game."

The Student Council will finance the project as it has done before.

Sports
Harrington High School had 34 candidates trying out for the football squad on the first day of school.

After the scrimmage with Dover on Friday, Coach Santo said that Harrington had a promising football team for 1961.

Harrington H. S. Cross Country team had their first practice meet in September. Coach McDonald stated that he would have a much better team if more boys would take an interest in this sport and come out.

Last year five of the best runners graduated from school and this leaves a fifth place opening for one of the small boys.

Music Department
"The first senior band rehearsal went well," said the director, Melvin Brobst, "both the marching and the playing."

The band's first activity was the Firemen's Parade Saturday, Sept. 16.

Ninth grade students will not take part in marching this year because of the lack of uniforms.

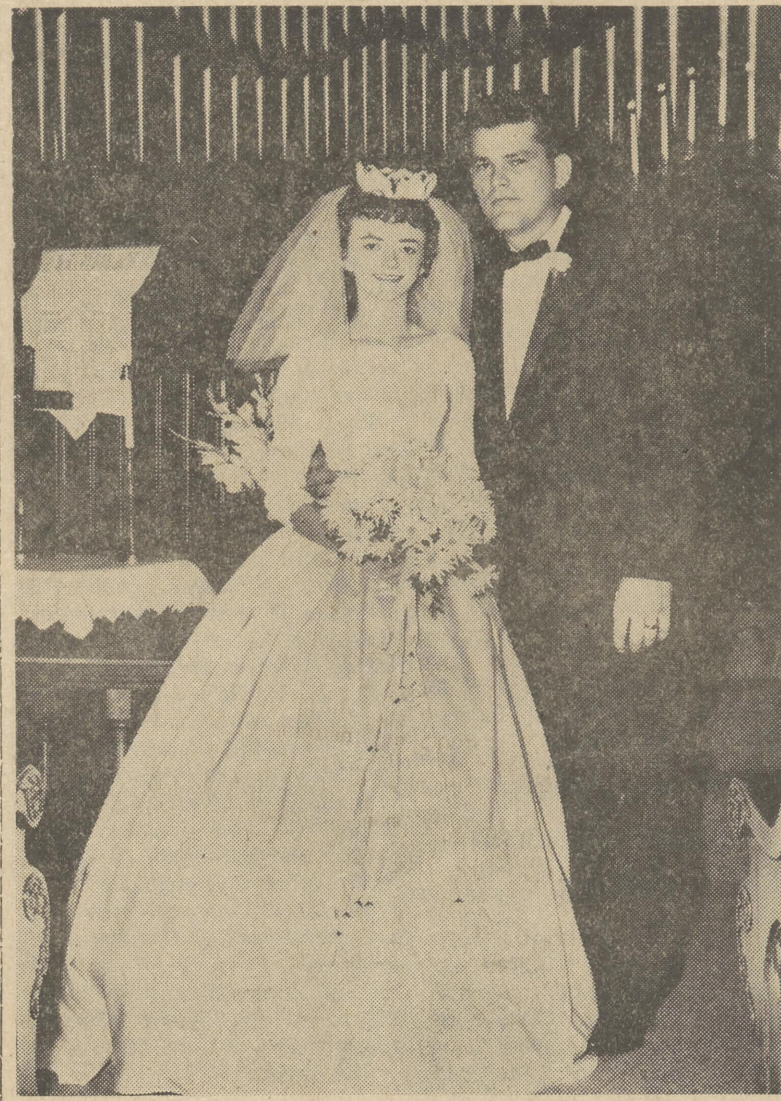

The band will play and perform at the first home football game of the season, September 23, on the Harrington Athletic Field. The band will be under the direction of the Harrington High School music teacher, Melvin Brobst. The music to be played has not yet been decided upon.

Seventy high school students reported to Melvin Brobst, Tuesday, Sept. 12 for try outs for

H.H.S. Football Team Hosts Bridgeville

Coach Bill Santo's Harrington High football Lions kickoff the 1961 pigskin season by entertaining Bridgeville's Mustangs Saturday afternoon at 2 P. M. The locals hope to better last year's 1-8 record, but figure to be underdogs against the more experienced Sussex Countians. Bridgeville has never lost to Harrington in football. Last year these two squads opened at Bridgeville with the Lions turning in a good first half before yielding in the final stanza.

Coach Santo, a master recruiter, has a much larger squad, numerically speaking, than had his predecessor, Bill Smith. Smith never had enough men to hold a scrimmage. However, size and experience are missing ingredients and only so much can be done with spirit and fight.

Scrimmages with Milford and Lewes helped point out the weak and strong points of the team. The forward wall is probably the area in which the Lions are strongest.

The schedule does not contain much in the soft-touch category. Lord Baltimore and Selbyville may prove to be the weakest of the nine opponents.

Navy Rate for Rate Enlistments and Reenlistments

Captain Thomas H. Bookout, U. S. Navy, commanding officer, U. S. Naval Air Station, Willow Grove, Pa., announced this week that a recent directive issued by the Chief of Naval Personnel permits individuals who were formerly enlisted in the Navy or Coast Guard to enlist or re-enlist in the Naval Air Reserve with Aviation Rates, Yeoman and Personnelman, in the same pay grade in which discharged. This includes individuals with prior active or inactive Navy or Coast Guard service. If qualified, even WWII and Korean veterans can enlist or re-enlist, regardless of time lapsed since last discharge.

One of the stipulations is that all enlistments or re-enlistments will be effected for the purpose of attachment to a selected reserve squadron provided there is an authorized billet for such rate if there is a vacancy.

A further stipulation is that 20 years satisfactory service, active and inactive, must be completed prior to age 60.

For further details visit the Naval Air Station Willow Grove, or call Osborne 5-7070 and ask for extension 222.

Harrington Motor Sales Staff Attends Pre-Showing of 1962 Chevrolet Line

Gayle B. Smith and the entire sales staff of Harrington Motor Company attended the pre-showing of the 1962 line of Chevrolets in Hershey, Pa., this week. The new cars were introduced to approximately 1500 dealers and salesmen in a spectacular musical show by a troupe of Broadway stars.

With 33 models in the 1962 Chevrolet line, the audience was enthusiastic and responsive to the entire two-hour production. The new Impala drew a standing ovation from the hundreds of automobile representatives from three states.

Totally new for 1962, the Chevy II series was called the "intermediate compact" by many. Smith reported, "The Chevy II is America's new kind of car, a whole new idea in family trans-

Red ink may keep the Governor from using his pen on some of the two dozen appropriation bills now littering his desk.

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel's staff is trying to determine whether he can sign into law a batch of measures passed by the General Assembly before it quit indefinitely Tuesday.

The basic question: Is there enough revenue available to cover the appropriations?

Governor Carvel has estimated that the cigarette tax increase and the boost in motor vehicle fees, approved by the legislators, will yield an extra $1,190,000 during the current fiscal year. Delaware had only a paltry $23,000 available for allocation before the measures were passed.

With those figures in hand it would seem to be a matter of simple arithmetic to answer the question. But all of the appropriations are not fixed amounts. The computation is complicated by the fact that the hospitals' grant-in-aid bill calls for a variable amount, depending on the state of several hospital construction projects and when they will be finished.

The bill (HB 7) calls for grants ranging from $906,950 to $1,054,350 depending on how many new beds will be ready for use this year in expanding hospitals. A survey of construction projects will have to be made before that spread of $147,400 can be narrowed down.

A rough check of the grant-in-aid measures passed indicates they require $1,111,300 to $1,258,700, depending on the hospital beds. The amount available for appropriation is $1,213,000. It may develop, after the survey, that the Governor will be unable to sign all the appropriation bills delivered to him before the General Assembly returns and the Senate passes the motor fuels tax increase or something in its place.

The Governor is expected to proceed with extreme caution in signing the appropriation bills. He signed none Wednesday. He is expected to ink the cigarette-tax increase bill into law this week. It will be effective Nov. 1.

Higher motor vehicle fees go into effect when the bill is signed—which is likely to be that night of Sept. 29.

That would give the motor vehicle division time to prepare for the changes in fees, and would put first receipts from the new fees into October receipts. The Governor's estimate was based on that timing.

Kitchen Magic With Broiler Meals

By Miss Janet Coblentz

Won't you join me in a trip to the magic world of broiler meals? It's a fascinating world where you can select anything from bacon and cinnamon toast for breakfast to tasty kabobs for your dinner. The magic is you and your kitchen range. Just say the magic word: skishkabob—and a whole new world of eating fun opens up to you.

Broiling is nothing more than cooking food by exposing it directly to radiant heat. The source of heat is usually a gas flame or an electric unit. Glowing coals can also be used for outdoor cookery.

If broiler meals are to taste and look their best, certain rules should be observed.

Meats should be at room temperature (not refrigerator cold) before broiling.

Gash the fat edges of steaks and chops at one and one-half inch intervals to avoid unwanted curling.

Use a broad spatula and a knife to turn meat. Punctures with a fork result in loss of meat juices.

Brush meat, fish, poultry, vegetables and fruit with melted butter or savory topping to bring out flavor and prevent them from being too dry.

Here are the steps to good broiler meals:

1. Set oven heat control for broiling.

2. Arrange food on broiler rack. Bars or wires of rack may be rubbed with fat to prevent sticking. Dry meat or fish may be brushed with oil or softened shortening before cooking.

3. Set broiler rack in place under direct heat. The distance from the heat is determined by the food being broiled. Generally speaking, steaks and chops cook best at three inches or more from the heat source. Bacon, ham and sausages, two inches; fish, three to four inches; chicken, six to eight inches from heat source. Vegetables and fruits broil best two or three inches from the heat source.

4. Season meats and fish on both sides after they are browned. Season vegetables with salt and pepper and brush with melted fat before broiling. Brush fresh fruits with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with brown sugar before broiling.

5. As soon as broiling is completed, food should be placed on a hot platter and served immediately. A wise shopper has a utensil for broiling that can go from oven to table.

It is advisable to keep the broiler door open during the cooking period in an electric oven—the fat is less likely to catch fire. A little water in the broiler pan under the broiler rack minimizes smoking of the fat.

What to Broil
Foods for broiling should require only a short cooking period. Meats should be tender or should have been made tender by grinding, chopping or use of a meat tenderizer. Some of the foods that are well-suited to broiling include:

Appetizers such as small canapés and hors d'oeuvres.

Beef steaks—rib, club, tenderloin, T-bone, porterhouse, sirloin, top round (from high quality animal), ground beef.

Lamb chops—shoulder, rib, loin and English, and ground lamb.

Cured pork—bacon, Canadian bacon and ham.

Liver—calf, lamb and beef.

Kidney and sweetbreads—calf, lamb, pork.

Chicken—1-2 lbs. dressed and chicken livers. Also, ready-prepared, canned or leftover meat.

All kinds of fish.

Fresh, canned, or leftover vegetables.

Fresh or canned fruit.

Sandwiches.

Cake toppings.

What Not To Broil
Veal should not be broiled. It has too little fat, and requires slow moist cooking to make it tender.

Fresh pork is not suited because much of the pork flavor is in the fat; broiling melts away the fat. Also pork needs long slow cooking to develop full flavor. Moist, heat cooking is recommended. Less tender cuts of meat, such as round steaks either plain or cubed are usually braised. Broiling will not soften the connective tissues enough to make the meat tender and palatable.

Thin cuts of tender meat, if broiled, become dry and leathery. They cook through before brown enough outside. Thin tender cuts may be pan-broiled. Meringues become tough on top, in the high temperatures broiling requires. Brown them in your regular oven at a moderate temperature.

Your family will love a complete broiler meal and it's so easy to fix. Broiler meals are truly a "magic world" of cooking and eating fun.

For recipes and broiler meal suggestions, write to the Home Economics Department, School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

Infertile Bull - An Unnecessary Extravagance

You may be able to afford to keep a beef cow that is an irregular breeder, but what about an "irregular bull," asks George K. Vapaa, county agent. If a cow fails to breed, you lost the prospect of a calf but think what an infertile bull would cause. Not just one calf but maybe an entire calf crop. This could hurt, Mr. Vapaa says.

Many beef producers limit their calving periods by leaving the bull in the pasture with the cow herd for a short period of time each year. An infertile bull would disrupt this system completely. The result could be, calves being dropped at odd times of the year or failure to produce a calf crop altogether.

There is no way to look at a bull and tell whether or not his sperm are capable of reproduction. However, it is possible to have a bull tested and thus know in advance if he is capable of settling a cow. Many veterinarians have a machine called an electro-ejaculator, which aids them in collecting a semen sample. This sample is placed under a microscope and evaluated. This test enables the cattleman to know in advance whether or not his bull is a "calf-getter."

A survey made at Texas A&M College involving 1,369 bulls in all areas of Texas showed that 84 per cent were satisfactory breeders, 9 per cent were questionable and 7 per cent had cull semen. These seem like pretty good odds and the cattleman could gamble, but what if he lost?

Look at the question carefully, says Mr. Vapaa. Suppose it costs $80 per year to keep a cow, and $10 to have the bull tested. This places the cow cost up to $90, but the cattleman has a chance to get his and more back if the bull is fertile. On the other hand, if the bull is not tested and proves infertile, the cattleman is out $80. In other words, by not having the bull tested, the producer is betting the upkeep cost of the entire herd against the price of a test. These are not very good odds, according to Mr. Vapaa.

Status of Science Teaching in Public School in State

"More students are enrolled in science courses in the public schools of Delaware than ever before," declares Dr. Howard E. Row, assistant state superintendent in charge of secondary education. He also states that "although all schools have made a noticeable improvement in science offerings and teaching during the past several years, some high schools are still too small to do the kind of job that is needed today."

These are three of the conclusions found in the survey of science teaching in Delaware public schools which was recently completed. The results of the survey are reported in the publication, "Status of Science Teaching in Public Schools of Delaware." The study covers the public elementary and secondary schools of the State outside the City of Wilmington.

"It is the function of this report," says Dr. Row, "to give a statement concerning the status of materials and equipment, the number and certification status of teachers, and general commentary on the program of science as it was carried out during 1960-61 school year."

At one point the report says: "Every school in the state has made an effort to enhance the quality of its science program. In every case there has been improvement differing only in degree. Some schools have programs which rank among the very best. Some of the larger schools are falling below the norm of improvement."

The survey points out that "professional leadership and supervision of the science program is needed primarily because of the rapid change and growth in science offering these days." This deficiency is now being remedied with the appointment of a full-time supervisor of science.

From questionnaires presented to science teachers and visits made to all secondary schools, the survey found the following specific conditions:

1. Sixty per cent of all students in Grades 9-12 were enrolled in science courses in 1960-61 as compared with 56% in 1957-58.

2. Science courses are believed to be improving generally due in part to the purchase of additional facilities with federal matching funds.

3. Many of the smaller schools, both elementary and secondary, are too small to offer adequate science programs for today.

4. In the junior high schools about one-third of the science classes have no science laboratory facilities, and about one-fourth of the science teachers reported a lack of science equipment.

5. Relative to certification to teach science, 110 of 168, or 65% of the science teachers meet State certification requirements.

6. A number of high schools are offering advance science courses at the 12th grade level.

"The survey shows," state Dr. Row, "that there are indications that in at least some of our high schools the science work is as good as any in the country."

One part of the survey gives some of the comments made by science teachers on the questionnaire. Many of these teachers make the same plea: "Give us fewer pupils and more time." Such a statement probably stems from the fact that science teachers cannot do an effective job when they must meet between 150 to 200 pupils per day. "This is too many pupils for the type of program that is expected of the modern high school," states Dr. Row.

The survey was conducted by Virgil B. Wiley, retired supervising principal from Bridgeville School District, who last year held the position of State Supervisor of Science on a temporary basis.

"This study is the first comprehensive survey of science education in Delaware public schools," according to Dr. Row, "and will become a base point for further evaluation in the future."

Empty Pockets and A Dying Lawn

By John A. Covert
If you're like a lot of folks who've just bought a new home, you're faced with a couple of big problems, a flat pocketbook and a lawn that needs attention.

When the ryegrass that the contractor planted dies this fall, the lawn is apt to start washing away. Don't turn your back on this or you'll wake up some morning and find your topsoil in the neighbor's yard. Then you're faced with the problem of buying it back.

If at all possible, start your permanent lawn this fall. It may cost some money that you hadn't allowed for but it will be a good investment. A good mixture to seed is Kentucky bluegrass, 75 per cent, and Pennlawn creeping red fescue, 25 per cent. Use 2 1/2 to three pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn area.

It's wise to sit down right now and plan what you are going to do with your yard. The first step is the lawn, then the trees and last shrubs and flowers. With a plan in mind, you can accomplish all this over a period of years.

It might be well to plant your trees this fall if this isn't stretching the pocketbook too much. It takes so long for trees to mature that every year counts. Some favorite shade trees include: red and sugar maple, locust, red oak, white oak, sycamore, linden and ash. You can afford to wait to plant the shrubs. It might be wise to wait rather than plant cheap stock.

When deciding where to plant trees and shrubs remember these five uses: (1) screen off unattractive views, (2) give shade, (3) give background and enclosure, (4) frame the house or views, and (5) enhance the building.

Drilled Corn for Silage No Advantage to Close

If you're thinking about boosting next year's corn silage yields by planting in narrow rows forget it, says George Vapaa, Kent County agent. Research conducted in the heart of the corn belt by the University of Illinois hasn't found any advantage to this system.

"The old way still looks the best," says Mr. Vapaa. "After all total yield and rate of gain on the calves is what you are after."

"Sure you've seen some sensational stories about this system," says Mr. Vapaa, "and you may be thinking about trying it next year." Don't do it he warns.

Here's what the Illinois researchers found out, according to Mr. Vapaa. Silage from close-drilled seven inch rows that had received a heavy nitrogen application produced less than a pound of daily gain on beef calves. Reg-

Statement From Secretary of State Elisha N. Duker

Just eight months ago, the Democratic administration inherited a financial disorder resulting from eight long years of Republican management. The citizens of Delaware were faced with the prospect of a $4,500,000 cash deficit by the middle of 1961. To add more clouds to the ever-darkening financial picture, the new administration was presented with a budget report compounded by this same Republican administration that stated in part "... disbursements and commitments will exceed funds available ... making a total deficit by the end of the next fiscal year (June 30, 1962) of about $6,738,363.71, according to present estimates and my (Governor Boggs) recommendations."

After taking over the reins of government, it was discovered that the Republican Budget Commission had not installed proper accounting systems in the various state agencies, and that this same Commission had not conducted the required audit of certain state agencies for as long as three years.

This present administration is in full agreement with the need for a reform of the fiscal policies of the past eight years. We do not intend to mislead the citizens of our State into thinking that the hollow shell of a different Finance Department, built as a monument to those who desire to cover up the inadequacies of the previous administration, will produce fiscal reform or same money.

Financial reform has been quietly and effectively in operation for the past eight months, and Delaware citizens are already receiving the dividends in the form of more efficient and responsible government. There are many examples.

Under the leadership of the Democratic administration, the State Highway Department was completely reorganized to assure more efficient highway construction. Furthermore, this administration is giving constant attention to the solution of the more difficult accounting problems of this vital state agency.

The new Budget Commission immediately turned its attention to the task of performing the neglected State agency audits of the previous administration. These audits will be entirely up to date in the next few months.

One of the most irresponsible deficiencies of the past administration was its failure to comply with the Delaware Code and install adequate accounting systems in the State Board of Education and the multitude of school districts that spend fifty percent of our entire annual appropriation. The Budget Commission has initiated investigations into both the General Fund and School Construction expenditures. Over $90,000 of illegal school salary expenditure has already been saved for the State, and we are now in the process of recovering over $300,000 of illegally expended school construction funds.

The major reform task facing this new Budget Commission is the installation of adequate accounting systems in the other State agencies. We have all the legal authority needed to do this job, just as the Republican administration had before us. Preliminary investigation is underway and the General Assembly has been requested to appropriate $50,000 to further this project.

In brief, we believe that the task of restoring fiscal responsibility in the Administrative branch of our government is primarily a matter of the initiative of our elected officers and employees, and not structural theory. We deplore any attempt to mislead the people of Delaware into thinking that the weaknesses in our State fiscal management during the past eight years of Republican administration could have been avoided by a new or different finance department.

The current Republican minority will have to answer to the people of Delaware for its financial irresponsibility of unbalanced budgets and resistance to necessary new revenues for the service it so piously calls for.

It is the intention of this administration to complete the fiscal reforms we have initiated. It is also the intention of this administration to balance the budget for fiscal 1962 and eliminate the nearly seven million dollar deficit handed down by the previous Republican administration.

Thus far, in cooperation with the Democratic Majority of the General Assembly, we have been successful in accomplishing these goals. We plan to complete the objectives of fiscal reform and balanced budget.

Teachers Sabbatical Leave Bill Passes House, Sent to Governor

The House of Representatives Monday passed and sent to the Governor a bill permitting school boards to grant sabbatical leave to profession employees.

The measure (SB 35 with SA 1), originated by the Delaware State Educational Association, would permit leave for reasons of professional improvement or for recovery of health after a prolonged illness.

Leave could be granted after seven years of service, with at least five consecutive years in the employ of the school board granting the leave.

Duration of the leave would be from one-half to one school term. The professional employee would have to agree in writing to return to service of the same school board for at least one full school year after completing the leave.

As long as the employee returned the service, the period of the leave would count as a period of salary increments and pension eligibility. The employee on leave would receive no salary.

The House passed HB 379 to give the John M. Clayton School at Dagsboro $5,768.83 "for operational expenses," and HB 380, to give the Blades School $1,222.94 for fuel oil, custodial supplies, textbooks, light and power and emergency repairs. In this year's budget at the John M. Clayton School received $220,690 and the Blades School, $33,600.

The bill to pay a claim against the state arising from a 1955 highway accident got through the House Monday. The measure, HB 68, would appropriate $61,416.83, the amount of judgment against the state, plus interest from June 15, 1959, to the beginning of this year, and costs, for a total of $67,295.27.

The claim arose from a three vehicle collision involving a Delaware National Guard vehicle. Injured persons collected from another vehicle in the crash, owned by Coastal Tank Lines, Inc. The bill would reimburse the firm for the state's share of the judgment.

The vote on the bill was 18 yeas, eight nays, three not voting, three present, three absent.

The House Monday debated and then deferred action on a bill (HB 321) to boost hunting and fishing license fees by 95 cents to add to the funds of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners. Some members objected to the fact that the board gets the money directly rather than through general fund appropriations. An official of the board is to be called to answer questions.

Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington) reported to the House that in the course of the administration of the laws on fishing he was fined $10 and costs for fishing when he was merely sitting in a boat with an angler—"a health officer with his uniform and badge on." The health officer also was fined for having failed to have his license renewed.

Rep. Ralph S. Keenan (R-Wilmington) summed up the situation: The representative did not have a hook in the water, but he sure got hooked."

Bill Asks Oath By All Patients Unable to Pay

An oath declaring they can't pay would have to be signed by patients before the hospital could be paid by Levy Court, under a proposed House of Representatives bill.

Duration of the reimbursable hospital stay would be limited to 42 days except where the attending physician files a statement certifying the patient cannot be safely removed and that on retreatment is required. The bill would permit the county comptroller to hire an investigator.

The measure (HB 411) was introduced Monday by Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington). It is designed to end what New Castle County Comptroller William Smith, Jr., has charged is the misuse of county funds.

An investigation by his office, Smith has claimed, showed the funds were being used to pay part of hospital bills of persons he regarded as not being indigent.

The hospital has no proper basis for determining indigency, according to Smith, who had the bill prepared to clarify who is entitled to the hospital care for which Levy Court partially reimburses the hospitals.

Levy Court has budgeted $225,000 for the program this fiscal year.

The bill would define an indigent sick person requiring hospital care as one who has been a resident of Delaware at least six months and of New Castle County at least three months, has been certified by a physician to require hospital treatment, and who has signed an affidavit certifying he is wholly or partially unable to pay for the treatment.

The Levy Court would continue to set its own rate per day for reimbursement of the hospitals, but the bill would fix the maximum at $8. The court was using $4 a day last year and

The bill to pay a claim against the state arising from a 1955 highway accident got through the House Monday. The measure, HB 68, would appropriate $61,416.83, the amount of judgment against the state, plus interest from June 15, 1959, to the beginning of this year, and costs, for a total of $67,295.27.

The claim arose from a three vehicle collision involving a Delaware National Guard vehicle. Injured persons collected from another vehicle in the crash, owned by Coastal Tank Lines, Inc. The bill would reimburse the firm for the state's share of the judgment.

The vote on the bill was 18 yeas, eight nays, three not voting, three present, three absent.

The House Monday debated and then deferred action on a bill (HB 321) to boost hunting and fishing license fees by 95 cents to add to the funds of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners. Some members objected to the fact that the board gets the money directly rather than through general fund appropriations. An official of the board is to be called to answer questions.

Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington) reported to the House that in the course of the administration of the laws on fishing he was fined $10 and costs for fishing when he was merely sitting in a boat with an angler—"a health officer with his uniform and badge on." The health officer also was fined for having failed to have his license renewed.

Rep. Ralph S. Keenan (R-Wilmington) summed up the situation: The representative did not have a hook in the water, but he sure got hooked."

Teachers Sabbatical Leave Bill Passes House, Sent to Governor

The House of Representatives Monday passed and sent to the Governor a bill permitting school boards to grant sabbatical leave to profession employees.

The measure (SB 35 with SA 1), originated by the Delaware State Educational Association, would permit leave for reasons of professional improvement or for recovery of health after a prolonged illness.

Leave could be granted after seven years of service, with at least five consecutive years in the employ of the school board granting the leave.

Duration of the leave would be from one-half to one school term. The professional employee would have to agree in writing to return to service of the same school board for at least one full school year after completing the leave.

As long as the employee returned the service, the period of the leave would count as a period of salary increments and pension eligibility. The employee on leave would receive no salary.

The House passed HB 379 to give the John M. Clayton School at Dagsboro $5,768.83 "for operational expenses," and HB 380, to give the Blades School $1,222.94 for fuel oil, custodial supplies, textbooks, light and power and emergency repairs. In this year's budget at the John M. Clayton School received $220,690 and the Blades School, $33,600.

Bible study and prayer each Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. Our fall revival begins on Oct. 2 and continues through Oct. 11 with the Rev. Marvin Ford, pastor of Oglethorpe Baptist Church, Newark.

Baptists believe that the word "church" designates a company of people called out from others and joined together in a body by themselves—they further believe that a gospel church is composed of people living on the earth, and so related as to form a company which can be seen of men. When men die in the faith of Christ, and pass on into the blessedness of the eternal reward in heaven, they are still separate from sinners. They are still of the company of the elect. They are still associated with Christ, the great Head of the Church. But they are not visible to men. The invisible world is as much a reality as the visible; but our part in life is with the visible. It is the visible church which we see working the will of God upon the earth. It is to this church that we become joined by the grace of God. It is to the church here that we owe allegiance.

are associated with football. Thus, by its very nature it must be a voluntary sport. A coach is forced to put up with absenteeism, lame excuses, lazy lads, etc., in order to have a full squad. Later, when competition starts, many of these laggards suddenly catch fire and start to put out and find that the harrier sport can be fun, interesting and rewarding, too. To drop a lad of this type, too early is to deny him a choice to see the light at a future time.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION IN DOVER SPECIAL SCHOOL DISTRICT
 NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special election will be held on October 14, 1961, in Dover Special School District in Kent County in the State of Delaware, pursuant to the resolution adopted on September 20, 1961 by the Board of Education of said school district in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 21 of Title 14 of the Delaware Code of 1953, to permit the voters of said school district to vote for or against an issue of bonds of said school district of the aggregate principal amount of $1,276,178.

The voting districts and the school buildings designated as polling places therefor are as follows:

(1) Dover Central School (Central Elementary Activity Room), Delaware and Pennell Avenues. All voters residing in the area bounded by Lockerman Street on the south, persons residing on Governor Street will vote at South Dover, the southbound lane of U.S. Route 138, the west side of Queen Street and Fairview Avenue on the west side of U.S. Route 213 plus the area west of the State Street and North to the southbound lane of U.S. Route #13.

(2) East Dover Elementary School on South Little Creek Road. All voters residing in the area of all of that part of the Dover Special School District that is east of the northbound lane of U.S. Route #13 with the exception of that portion which is west of the St. Jones River.

The bonds are to be issued to finance a part of the cost of a school construction program which it is estimated will cost $2,445,445 of which $1,523,978 is to be paid by the school district and $2,295,467 is to be paid by the State of Delaware. At a special election held on April 1961, a majority of the qualified voters of the school district approved the issuance of $252,800 of bonds of the school district to finance a part of the school district's share of the cost of a school construction program and the proposed $1,276,178 of bonds are to be issued to finance the remainder of the school district's share of such costs. The State Board of Education of the State of Delaware has determined such school construction program to be necessary in and for the school district. Said school construction program provides for the construction of a new comprehensive high school to include about 10 classrooms, general and administrative offices, gymnasium, assembly room, music facilities, science laboratory, vocational facilities, boiler room and other basic facilities; purchase of furniture, equipment, and supplies; purchase of about 40 acres of land; grading, paving, landscaping and improvement of site, and renovations, alterations, and additions to existing high school building; modernization of heating, ventilation and electrical system; modernization of field house by adding new locker room; alterations and modernization of gymnasium by adding locker rooms and enlarging floor space; improvement of site; purchase of furniture and equipment.

Delaware Food Market Report

Turkey is the feature food this week, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The production of this meat is at a record level, quality is high—all sizes are available—and prices are very reasonable. A large turkey is more economical since there is a larger percentage of meat, allowing generous servings with plenty left over for sandwiches, pot pies, casseroles and salads. For a whole turkey, under 13 lbs. (ready-to-cook weight) allow 3/4 to 1 lb. per serving; for a turkey 12 pounds and over, allow 1/2 to 3/4 pound per serving. For delicious soups and casseroles that are as quick as snapping your finger, combine diced, cooked turkey and condensed soups. (cream of celery, mushroom, and tomato or vegetable soup)

Broiler-fryer supplies are outstandingly plentiful and prices are at an all-time low. This is the predicted picture for the next month as supplies continue to be above normal.

Lamb and beef are both in large supply and prices are reasonable. Both of these meats are excellent in quality, making them even better buys.

A big apple crop is shaping up here in the state as well as nationwide. Both Red and Golden Delicious are available this week. The quality is excellent as far as eating is concerned, the color however is a bit off due to the hot summer we had. The late crop of apples is expected to be excellent in color and in quality if the cool weather continues. Regardless of color apples once again, should be a No. 1 choice at all fruit counters. Bartlett pears are plentiful and quality is good. Bananas, grapes, lemons, honeydew melons, cantaloupes, and California oranges continue to be good buys again this week.

The vegetable outlook this week remains about the same—quality good and at attractive prices. Check the following for your best buys: local tomatoes, potatoes, squash, corn cabbage, beans, broccoli, celery and carrots. More sweet potatoes, turnips and rutabagas are arriving and prices are beginning to edge down.

Veterans News
QUESTIONS and ANSWERS
Q—Because of my late husband's military service, I received some $3,600 in death gratuity payment. Is this money subject to federal income tax?
A—No.
Q—My husband is a war veteran and since his discharge from active duty, he has worked under social security. In planning our insurance program, we would like to know what burial allowances would be payable.
A—It appears that a burial allowance in your case may be payable by either the VA, the Social Security Administration, or both. The VA pays up to $250 to the funeral director, if he has not been paid, or to the person who pays the burial expenses. The Social Security lump sum payment equals three times the worker's benefit, but not more than $255.

Q—My father, a World War II veteran, died recently from causes not connected with his military service. In order for me to be eligible for a VA pension, since I am unmarried and not yet 18, what service requirements must my deceased father have fulfilled?
A—Your father must have had at least 90 days service, part of which was during wartime. During World War II the wartime service dates are December 7, 1941, to December 31, 1946. He must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Q—Has the GI loan guaranty re-use provision been extended for World War II veterans, and if so, how long?
A—Yes, Public Law 84 by the 87th Congress extended the restoration privilege until July 25, 1967, for World War II veterans, and until January 31, 1975, for Korea veterans. The VA must have been completely relieved of liability and no claim may have been made against it for the previous loan, if restoration is to be granted.

Instructor Billy Reynolds (turning front wheel) and Shell dealers check out a car at one of Shell's 123 training centers.

HOW TO SPOT TROUBLE:

Shell instructor Billy Reynolds reveals 10 trouble signals he tells Shell dealers to watch for. You should know about them too. They may help you spot trouble before it starts.

1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push your brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If the pedal feels soft and sinks all the way to the floor board, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away. Could be a leaking wheel cylinder. Or, more likely, a leaky master brake cylinder. A well-trained Shell dealer can track down brake troubles quickly.

2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably at fault.

3. Jiggly front end. Put your foot on either bumper, and shove down hard. If your car bobs up and down for a long time, ask your Shell service man to check your shock absorbers.

4. Decrepit tail pipe. If your tail pipe is rusted through in spots, it should be replaced. Same thing for your muffler. A worn-out exhaust system can make your car roar like a wounded hippo. Worst of all, you run the danger of exhaust fumes seeping into the passenger compartment. Your Shell dealer can take care of the whole problem.

5. "Bloated" radiator hose. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked or swollen, they can fail at any time and cause your engine to overheat. Replacing hoses is a simple task for any Shell dealer.

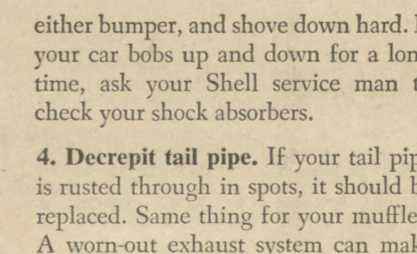

6. Marred windshield. Feel the blades on your windshield wipers. If they're hard, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can streak it. Ask your Shell dealer to check the spring pressure on your wiper arms too. If the blades rest too lightly against the windshield, they can blow away from the glass and let the rain sweep your view.

7. Strange noises. Listen for squeals, squeaks, rattles and other mysterious noises. Strange noises are often warnings of troubles on the way. So, don't be afraid to ask your Shell dealer about sounds you haven't heard before.

8. Under-the-hood clues. You can learn a lot just by looking at your engine. Watch for oil, fuel or water leaks. Even tiny leaks can lead to big trouble later on. You can also make a quick visual check of wiring and electrical connections. If wires are hanging loose—or insulation has worn away—see your Shell dealer.

9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, an inspection of your electrical system is in order. A run-down battery is usually the cause of starting problems. But the real trouble may be elsewhere. Something as simple as a loose battery connection can do it. Or your voltage regulator may need a minor adjustment. Play safe and tell your Shell service man.

10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. It may take a bit of back bending, but it's worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see—the side facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. Could be a leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels. Both can be serious. Any trained Shell dealer knows many more trouble signals than the ten listed here. Ask him to give your car a bumper-to-bumper inspection next time you stop in for a Shell lubrication—or any service job. One last tip: when you've got your car in top condition, keep it ing in the U. S. Navy during World War II. Upon return from military duty he served as dean of administration, director of summer school, and co-ordinator of veterans' affairs at his alma mater.

Corn and Soybean Open House Planned

Delaware farmers will have an opportunity to see the latest developments in corn and soybean production and harvesting at an open house at the University of Delaware Substation, near Georgetown, Sept. 28. Some excellent demonstration plots and research projects will be on display, according to Dr. William H. Mitchell, University of Delaware agronomist.

Guided tours will be conducted through the corn and soybean plots starting at 10 a.m. After lunch visitors will see a four-acre demonstration plot with 22 different hybrids being grown under six levels of fertilization. The demonstration will cover grain and silage yields and shelling percentages, according to Mitchell.

The latest in harvesting equipment will be shown and demonstrated. Corn picker will be operated in and out of adjustment and the field losses computed right on the spot. "I think it will surprise a lot of farmers to see what a difference a little adjustment will make," he said.

Grain drying equipment will also be shown. Visitors will have a chance to find out the best way to use a dryer and the type most suited to their needs.

Mr. H. C. Godshall, product research engineer with the John Deere Company in Baltimore, will do some "crystal ball gazing" and forecast what's ahead in corn and soybean harvesting and processing machinery, according to Mitchell. He will discuss ear versus shelled corn, corn combines versus picker-shellers, and commercial drying as opposed to on-the-farm drying.

"It should be a very worthwhile day for Delaware farmers interested in keeping pace with the latest developments in corn and soybean production, harvesting and marketing," he said.

Wheat Growers Cautioned on Acreage

Wheat producers who have grown less than 15 acres of wheat in the past three years may be subject to marketing quotas—and penalties—under provisions of the wheat stabilization program for 1962, according to Jacob Zimmerman, chairman, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Under previous programs, farms that had less than 15 acres of wheat, or farms that did not produce more than 200 bushels of wheat annually, were not subject to marketing quotas even though they had allotments of 15 acres or less. The 200-bushel exemption has been repealed, and the 15-acre exemption is no longer applicable under the new program.

For 1962, the marketing quota exemption for those who planted 15 acres of wheat during any one of the three years 1959, 1960, or 1961, and whose allotment is less than 13.5 acres, will be reduced to 13.5 acres. Exemption for growers who planted less than 13.5 acres of wheat will be the highest planted acreage in any one of these three years if the 1962 allotment is less than such highest acreage.

In addition to these quota requirements, some small producers may also be subject to marketing quota penalties under certain conditions, Zimmerman pointed out. For example, farmers who have not grown wheat in any one of the past three years and who grow wheat for harvest without an allotment in 1962 will be subject to marketing quota penalties on the entire production.

Another group of producers who will also be subject to wheat marketing quota penalties are those who have grown 13.5 acres or more in one of the three years, 1959, 1960, or 1961 and whose 1962 allotments are 13.5 acres or less and who grow for harvest more than 13.5 acres in 1962.

Penalties may also apply to small producers who exceed their 1962 allotment when that allotment is greater than the acreage planted for harvest in any one of the years 1959, 1960, or 1961.

On farms where these is excess wheat acreage, the amount of wheat subject to a marketing quota penalty would be twice the normal yield of the excess acres multiplied by 65 per cent of the May, 1962 parity price for wheat. Downward adjustment in this determination may be made if the producer furnishes evidence of his actual production. In those cases where a producer exceeds the exemption, the penalty is figured from the allotment rather than the exemption.

Approximately two-third of the wheat producers in the United States grow less than 15 acres of wheat, yet these small producers raise about one-sixth of all the wheat grown in this country, Zimmerman explained. By reducing the wheat marketing quota exemption, these growers now have an opportunity to make a greater contribution in the national effort to bring wheat supplies more nearly in line with demand.

Fish & Game News

With squirrel and dove seasons opening Sept. 15 hundreds of hunters are out to try their luck and skill. To most hunters it has been a long wait through the spring and summer months and they were anxious to get back in the field for a day of hunting.

The Delaware Game and Fish Commission would like to call attention to the importance of safe hunting and handling of firearms. With the foliage still on trees and bushes one should be extremely careful before shooting. Make sure you see your game clearly and there is not another hunter within your range. There have been more hunting accidents in Delaware in the past years during squirrel hunting season than any other open season. This is largely due to the dense foliage and anxious hunters, out for the first open season of the year. Many accidents have been investigated in the past and practically all of them were caused by carelessness or excitement. No game bird or animal is worth a human life. So for your own safety as well as that of the other person, be sure before you shoot.

Vets Having "W" Insurance Policies To Get Dividends

Approximately 393,000 Korean veterans, who have converted or exchanged their "RS" Insurance Policies for "W" Insurance, will receive a special dividend as a result of a Law signed by the President Sept. 13, John S. Gleason Jr., administrator of Veterans Affairs, said last week.

An additional 234,000, who have not yet changed from "RS" to "W" Insurance, may become eligible for the dividend if they convert or exchange their policies for the new type "W" Insurance within two years from the date the Law was signed.

Some $65,000,000 is available for distribution in this special dividend, Gleason said, to liquidate a surplus built up in this non-participating "RS" Insurance. The payments are expected to average approximately $90 for each policyholder, depending on the size of his "RS" policy and the number of months it was in force.

"RS" Insurance was issued as five-year term policies to Korea veterans discharged between April 25, 1951 and December 31, 1956. They could not be converted to a permanent plan of insurance and were not eligible for dividends. A new law effective January 1, 1959 established the new type "W" Insurance and made "RS" Policies eligible for conversion or exchange for this insurance on either a permanent or five-year plan.

Payment of the dividend is automatic and application for payment is not necessary. Policy holders who have already converted to the "W" Insurance will receive their dividend early in December. At the same time, Korea veterans who still hold "RS" Policies will receive application blanks for conversion or exchange for "W" Insurance and notices advising them of the amount of their dividend should they elect to make the change.

The Veterans Administration urges those eligible for the dividend, as well as those who may become eligible, by converting to "W" Insurance, not to write or call the Veterans Administration with individual inquiries. Such requests will only delay payment of the dividends, the Veterans Administration pointed out.

This is a one-time only dividend payment, the Veterans Administration explained. It is not a regular annual dividend; "W" Insurance is non-participating and not eligible for regular dividends.

Fall Calendar of Events Being Distributed

There will be much to see—and do—in the First State during the remainder of 1961 and the Delaware State Development Department.

Basing its observations upon information contained in the current edition of its Delaware Calendar of Events, the state information agency notes that Delawareans and visitors to the state may exercise a wide range of choice of activity during the next three months. The Fall Calendar, now being distributed, lists 182 events which is assumed to be a new record.

Also listed are twenty-three of Delaware's "permanent attractions."

The information appearing in the new edition of the Events Calendar was compiled by information officer David S. Hugg, who reports that he received splendid co-operation from organizations sponsoring Fall events of public interest.

Hugg is now compiling similar information for inclusion in the Winter-Spring edition which will make its appearance in late December.
