Davis Takes Over As State Tax Head

E. Hobson Davis of 2205 Grant Ave., Gwinhurst, assumed his duties Tuesday as state tax commissioner.

He said announcement of his selection of a chief deputy and other assistants will be made in a few days.

As tax commissioner, Davis heads a department with between 100 and 125 employees.

He succeeds Alexander Abrahams, who has served in the post since Nov. 1, 1957.

Mr. Abrahams is leaving the post after 43 years in public life, including service as a city Councilman, state representative, Wilmington postmaster, city treasurer, and Mayor of Wilmington.

Davis took the oath of office Friday in Dover. It was administered by President Judge Charles L. Terry Jr., of the Superior Court. He had delayed assuming his new post until his work as chief accountant of the State Budget Commission was completed. The 1963 budget was sent to the printer last week.

Thomas L. Brand of 500 W. 26th St., Wilmington, took over as the Budget Commission's chief accountant Tuesday, succeeding Davis. He had served as Davis' assistant recently, and was a staff member under Davis during the first administration of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

In other public service he was chief accountant of the Veterans Military Pay Commission.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, class of 1926, Brand is president of Personalized Service, Inc., an accounting firm.

Miss Martha Alwilda Smith Becomes Bride of Charles Donald Miller Jr.

Miss Martha Alwilda Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt W. Smith of Harrington, became the bride of Charles Donald Miller, Jr., on Sunday, Dec. 31, 1961. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donald Miller Sr. of Bradenton, Fla.

The ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Harrington by the Reverend John R. Symonds, Jr. The church was decorated with poinsettias, chrysanthemums, and holly wreaths. A reception at the home of the bride's parents immediately followed the bride's and bridegroom's families were seated in pews marked with white ribbon bows.

As the approximately 200 guests gathered in the church, Mrs. William Miller, organist, of Harrington, and John Dunne, vocalist, of Richmond, Va., presented a recital of traditional wedding music.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was given in marriage by him. She was exquisitely gowned in a full-length white gown of tulle and chantilly lace over satin under-skirt with hand applied lace scrolls decorating the skirt. By Burnt Woods Council Plagued

The final meeting of the present City Council Wednesday night saw a brief but turbulent agenda. The municipal election Tuesday will change the personnel of the Council.

The Council authorized the appointment of Mrs. Townsend Masten and Mrs. Jonathan Hopkins as clerks in the election.

It authorized a letter to Herbert Denney asking him to write a letter to the Council stating his complaint and if he thought he had a legitimate one. Denney, who owns woodland near the City dump northwest of town, told the Council Wednesday three acres of his land had been damaged by fire and that a lumber dealer estimated the loss at $50 per acre. However, it had not been established that fire from the dump was the cause.

The City does not burn the dump. Instead, the State Highway Department bulldozes the place, since it is used by the public in general.

The Council authorized City Manager George S. Graham to erect signs at the dump, reading as follows: "Anyone Loitering or Starting Fires on These Premises Will Be Considered a Trespasser and Will Be Prosecuted As Such."

The City manager was authorized an extension of six months to collect the taxes.

The Council authorized interest payment of $472.50 on the 1955 water bond series.

It told Harry Farrow Sr., he would have to pay for making the driveway thru the curb to a house he owns on West Street.

HAYES WORKERS RETURN

Hayes International Corp. put a partial work force back on the job Tuesday as members of a United Auto Workers local ended a 2 1/2 month strike.

By late afternoon approximately 325 men had reported to the Hayes aircraft maintenance facilities at Dover Air Force Base.

A C-124 Globemaster was expected to be wheeled in Wednesday for heavy maintenance work. Five or six planes are undergoing maintenance at one time when operations are normal.

E. V. Startt, president of Local 123 U.A.W., said it will take about a week before all employees who intend to return to Hayes are back. Some have taken jobs elsewhere, he said.

A little more than 400 union members walked off their jobs on Oct. 17 in a bid for higher wages and changes in working conditions.

Although many issues were settled in a long series of talks in Dover, Baltimore and Washington the two sides were deadlocked last week. Then on Friday the union members voted overwhelmingly to return to their jobs. They pinned hopes of settlement of remaining issues on a survey to be made by a federal fact-finding board.

Startt said his members were strongly influenced by an Air Force statement that the C-124's were urgently needed.

Sam R. Fowler, Dover manager for Hayes, said Tuesday no conditions were involved in the return to work.

He said processing of the employees went smoothly. He could not estimate how long it would take to establish a regular work schedule.

While the strike was on, 10 Globemasters which Hayes would normally have serviced, were sent to Travis Air Force Base in California.

CARVEL SIGNS FIRE INSURANCE TAX HIKE

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel Tuesday signed a bill increasing the tax on fire insurance premiums from 2 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent.

He told the volunteer fire officials present at the signing that he did it "not for you, but for the people."

The hike will raise approximately $200,000 more to be divided among volunteer fire companies in the state.

If millions of dollars were added to present state budget it would just begin to pay for the service these companies provide, the governor said.

Passage of the insurance premium tax increase has been pushed by the state's volunteer firemen since 1955, when a bill providing for the increase was passed but was later ruled unconstitutional.

The governor had pledged he would sign the measure (HB-92) if it came to his desk.

Carvel had another bit of good news for the firemen Tuesday. The 1962-63 state budget just completed, he said, contains more money for the state fire marshal's office.

It is not all the volunteer firemen have been asking for he said. He declined to give the specific amount.

The governor also signed three town charter bills. They are HB 382 and HB 426, concerning Lewes, and HB 423, for Bowers.

Mrs. Clarkson Feted On Retirement

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clendenen held open house on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 31, in honor of Mrs. Virginia S. Clarkson on the occasion of her retirement after twenty-five years of faithful service in the Harrington Pharmacy.

The affair was quite a surprise to the beloved "Miss Virginia" or "Aunt Jenny", as some eighty guests gathered to pay tribute for a job well done.

The guests included Mrs. Clarkson's sister, Mrs. Anna Wyatt of Wilmington, brother William Moore of Wilmington, brother Walter Moore of Milford, daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Holland and children, Susan and Jackie, of Milford. Two nieces and five nephews were also among those present. Mrs. W. W. Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Chamberlin represented former employers.

It would seem that the spirit of the gathering is best expressed in the words of the Clendenen's seven year old grandson, Eddie, "The drug store will not seem the same without Mrs. Clarkson."

Firemen Answer Three Alarms

Firemen answered three alarms this week, only one of which was in town.

Late Sunday morning the firemen extinguished a fire in a car, owned by Roland Cashwell, near Potter's Store on Commerce Street. The blaze was attributed to a short in a generator and caused damage of $100.

Early Tuesday afternoon an alarm was answered to the farm of Jim Argo near Marvels Crossroads, or Coates Corner. A shed, valued at $25, and contents, valued at $75, were destroyed. Cause of fire was unknown.

Fire, caused by a faulty chimney, practically destroyed a house and contents near Rices Crossroads, east of Felton, early Tuesday evening. Harrington and Frederica firemen, assisted the Felton Fire Company. Damage to house was estimated at $4000 and to contents, $1500.

The two-story structure is owned by Mrs. Clyde Knotts, of Frederica, and occupied by the family of David King.

13 Harness Horses Die in Track Fire

Fire broke out Sunday night at the Buffalo Raceway, killing 13 to 15 harness race horses, police said.

There were no reports of human injuries.

The blaze destroyed one horse barn at the raceway on the Erie County Fairground and damaged another. Police said several animals were led to safety but 13 to 15 died in the flames.

A groom identified by police as Willie Mallone, saw the flames and summoned firemen. Firemen brought the flames under control within two hours.

Their head-dresses were circular bands covered with matching crimson velvet to which were attached small veils. They carried white velvet muffs adorned with a crescent of red carnations.

Little Cathy Ricker of Harrington, as flower girl, appeared in a short white dress with crimson accessories. She carried a miniature nosegay—a replica of the bride's flowers.

Clarence Wilhelm, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man. Ushers were Neil Sherwood, brother of the bride and Edward Sherwood, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sherwood wore a beige brocade dress with rose and black accessories and her corsage was of pink roses.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Welcome 1962. As I lay watching the TV New Year's Eve, I couldn't help thinking about the gay white way, known as Times Square.

No matter how many times you go down there, there's always something new and exciting. In fact, this past summer, on a Sunday evening, was my pastime.

So with all the crowd I wondered how so many people could possibly be in such small quarters. But anyone watching couldn't help but marvel at their spirit with the temperature down to 32. And the snow only helped the merry-makers more. For myself, I just watched the old year out and new year in on TV.

Things out here at the track seemed to be about the same way. Anyone that didn't have to go out celebrated (and I say that very low) at home. Now with the holidays behind the trainers out here things will begin to hum. For it won't take long before the early tracks will be opening. All too soon any more.

Whenever a fire breaks out at any track, it makes me feel so bad. Not only for owners that might lose everything they have worked and saved for to have a little enjoyment out of their horses but the poor animals that lose their lives. That has been many. This last fire at Hamburg, N. Y. sets you to wondering. Why do they happen? This is the second real bad fire up there.

Course, you hear so many different ways they start. But racing up there so many years I seem so close to that track and the trainers and horses that race up there.

When anything like that comes up you can't get any of the horsemen to talk about it. They just seem in a daze. Can you blame them?

Now for a little traveling news. New Year's Day I drove down to Tom Wingate's Farm. As usual I did alright till I hit Frankford. I didn't know which way to go. Stopped in a small country store to ask my way. Who says there isn't nice people left?

Some old fellow said, I'll be glad to show you. Started telling me all the towns and said oh, I'll just show you the way. Gosh, from where I was there were plenty of turns. But, he took me right to Tom's farm at Roxana.

Mr. Wingate took us down and showed us all his stock. And here is the lineup for his stables.

His son, Charles Wingate, has the stallion, Adorias Dream, 3-yr.-old; Archandy, 3-yr.-old trotter; Kim Sue, 3-yr.-old pacer; Diamond Coast, 5-year-old; Archanna, 8-yr.-old; Poplar Scott, 7 years; Coast-to-Coast, 3-yr.-old pacer, and Prim's Lad.

Tom Wingate has four of Joe Massilo's, (better known up in Westbury, N. Y. as "Greentree Joe") the following: Greentree Tony, Greentree Boy, Miss Greentree, and Greentree Girl.

Mr. Wingate has following of his own horses: Coast Dispatch, Toronto Coast, Bay Coast and Low Coast.

He has two good looking fillies also of his own one 2-yr.-old and one 3-year-old, which he has high hopes.

Mr. Wingate has two outside stables wintering at his farm this year. The good looking outfit in his large stable happens to be Gene Daisy with 12 head all in training.

Also Pat Ivone with 16 head. With all these horses stabled there, there's plenty activity going on.

Tom took us up to his house, overlooks his half-mile track (and it happens on an all weather track, Tom is very proud of it).

He looks of it it certainly is a gem of a place.

Personal den. A table lamp he had in the room.

Announcement was made that a study course "The Christian in Latin American Countries" scheduled to begin on Jan. 15 has been canceled in Harrington.

At the meeting, Mrs. Sam Wilcox announced she had obtained the purchase of a thermometer.

Me that's been I think on every road down in this part of Delaware some time or other. But I always enjoy the water so it was really nice trip to start the New Year.

Oh yes, before I end this little get-together, a little bird tells me, Mr. Vineyard has two of the most promising youngsters on the grounds. But don't ask Paul, he would only say, "Now who told you that," with that grin. But I happen to know something about this too, and I'll go along after watching them. What a pair Paul.

Anyway they will bear watching this spring.

But when its quiet and everyone is gone, I love to go over and pet my favorite "Bower Bohemia". I do get lonesome for the stable and all the work that goes with it.

I'll take over some carrots, sugar or an apple and cry softly to myself of by-gone days. Even if I do still have my Anna Day mare that raced here.

So into another year and see what it brings general a little of everything.

St. Bernadette's Church Notes

Give thanks for the gifts and graces of these past twelve months and make a promise to be more faithful, with God's help, to His life and duty. One of the great graces of his Nativity is a longing to be like our Lord, a longing to become less unworthy of our God. If one has that kind of love, then he will have an inner life of faith.

May God bless you; may God be close to you; may God give you much happiness in His service. And, as we all say, A happy, Blessed New Year to you.

Sunday afternoon, Dec. 31, the Rev. Corrigan led the parish in prayers for peace and the return to Godliness of people influenced by Atheistic Communism. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was offered for this intention. Following these services the annual children's Christmas party was held in the Parish Hall.

Christmas gifts were distributed by Father Corrigan to all the students of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and to the Altar Boys: Leon Kukulka, Mike Kohel, Billy Lord, David Murphy and Jacob Wroten.

A pageant was presented entitled "The Celebration of the Nativity," directed by Mrs. Joseph Brinster. The following students of the Junior High Religion Class made this a colorful and impressive performance: First Shepherd, Mike Kohel; second shepherd, Pat Coady; third shepherd, Leon Kukulka; first Pilgrim, Jacob Wroten; Second Pilgrim, James Rouse; third Pilgrim, Ray Dodenhoff; first peasant, Eddie Zvolenek; second peasant, James Cain; third peasant, Anthony Vogl; fourth peasant, Ernest Gallo.

Carols were sung in the background by the girls from the Junior High group, the chorus was directed by Mrs. Leon Kukulka.

The first grade gave several recitations of prayers with gestures, under the guidance of Mrs. William Kohel.

Community singing of Christmas carols was lead by James Lobo.

Refreshments followed the entertainment, which made the day one of enjoyment for all.

Spring Signup Dates Set For Feed Grain

The signup period for spring-seeded crops under the 1962 Feed Grain Program will begin Feb. 5 and will run through March 30, according to Jacob Zimmerman, state committee chairman.

The signup period in Delaware will apply only to 1962-crop acreages of corn and grain sorghum. Fall-seeded wheat and barley acreages were signed up under the programs during the period ended December 1.

Under the two programs, he explained, farmers help bring production into line with needs by diverting wheat and feed grain acreage to approved conserving uses. The early signup dates will give farmers and farm serving industries an opportunity to make early plans for the coming crop year.

As outlined by Zimmerman, the main provisions of the 1962 feed grain program are: (1) voluntary participation, (2) acreage diversion of not less than 20 percent of the base acreage (1959-60 average) as adjusted, (3) payments "in kind" may be made on acreage diverted from feed grains to soil-conserving uses, (4) "advance" payments, and (5) price support to co-operators on the normal production of acreages planted to feed grains.

Participants not double cropping may pasture acreage to be diverted until May 1 under both the wheat and feed grain programs. Double cropping participants may not pasture after December 31, 1961. Acreage to be diverted will be designated by participants at the time a check is made of compliance. Compliance checks will be made in an area when substantially all of the particular grain has been planted. Compliance checks are now being made on the fall-seeded crop acreage signed up under the programs.

USDA officials stated that substantial headway has been made toward achieving a more realistic relationship between supplies and needs in the important grain sector of agriculture. Under the 1961 feed grain program, production of feed grains was brought below utilization in 1961 for the first time since 1952, even though crop conditions were excellent.

Signup to date for the fall-seeded crops of wheat and barley shows a potential reduction of a substantial acreage in these two crops from 1961 levels. Winter wheat acreage signed up for diversion amounts to about 11.2 million acres, which is equal to about 25 per cent of 1961 winter wheat plantings of approximately 43.2 million acres. Even more significant, according to Department officials, is the fact that acreage diversion indicated in a major five-State hard red winter wheat producing area is equal to about 26.5 per cent of the area's 1961 plantings. This area produced 50 per cent of the total U. S. wheat crop in 1961 and 80 per cent of the hard red winter production. More than 80 percent of the U. S. wheat carryover is hard red winter wheat.

Fall-seeded barley acreage signed for diversion amounts to about 1.2 million acres, which is about 23 percent of estimated 1961 fall barley plantings of 5.2 million acres.

U. of D. Research Foundation to Meet Saturday

The annual luncheon meeting of the University of Delaware Research Foundation will be held tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. in Kent Dining Hall on the Newark Campus.

Some 160 members will hear brief talks on research in progress. Foundation president Samuel Lenher will preside, and University president John A. Perkins will speak.

Dr. Albert A. Branca, associate professor of psychology; Dr. James P. Hartnett, chairman and professor of mechanical engineering, and Dr. Fred E. Williams, chairman and professor of physics, will present papers on foundation-sponsored research.

Dr. Branca will discuss "Conditioning and Blood Sugar Regulation." Dr. Hartnett's topic will be "Recent Advance in Heat Transfer," and Dr. Williams will address "Luminescence of Crystals."

The foundation annually supports a number of projects in various fields, last year investing over $70,000 in ten investigations and two summer faculty workshops.

Some 12 exhibits will be displayed in the south wing of the building to show graphically the problems and results of university research projects. Music will be provided by members of the university choir.

Members of the foundation will be invited to a luncheon meeting. The committee reports will be presented at the meeting.

Teacher Exam Application Deadline Jan. 12

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations to be administered by the State Department of Public Instruction on February 10, to submit their completed applications for these tests to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J., announced Dr. John G. Parres, director of Research and Publications and Examination Supervisor. Applications for the examinations must be forwarded so as to reach the Princeton Office not later than Jan. 12, Dr. Parres advised.

Applications for the examinations and bulletins of information describing registration procedures and containing representative test questions may be obtained from the Certification Office, State Department of Public Instruction, Dover, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, general culture, English expression, and nonverbal reasoning. In addition, each candidate may take one or two optional examinations which are designed to measure mastery of subject matter in the fields in which he may be assigned to teach.

All candidates will receive tickets of admission advising them of the exact location of the center at which they will be tested, Dr. Parres said. Candidates for the Common Examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. on Feb. 10, at the William Henry Comprehensive High School, Dover. The Common Examinations will be concluded at approximately 12:30 p.m., Dr. Parres advised. Candidates for one or two optional examinations will report again at the examination center at 1:30 p.m.

Those taking only one Optional Examination should complete this test at about 3:15 p.m. and those taking two Optional Examinations should finish their tests at approximately 4:45 p.m., according to the time schedule for these examinations which has been set up by the Educational Testing Service.

All candidates who plan to take the examinations to meet some of the new Certification requirements adopted by the State Board of Education must register for examination Center No. 509, William Henry Comprehensive High School, Dover, which is under the direction of the State Department of Public Instruction. Scores from any other examination center will not be accepted for certification.

It is urged that prospective candidates consult immediately with Dr. Elizabeth C. Lloyd, director of Teacher Education and Professional Standards, State Department of Public Instruction, in order to determine eligibility to take the National Teacher Examinations for certification purposes.

DP&L Establishes Scholarship Program at U. of D.

Delaware Power & Light Company announced the establishment of an undergraduate four-year scholarship at the University of Delaware open to high school students who live on the Delmarva Peninsula.

Under the company's program, the first Delaware Power & Light Company System Merit Scholarship will go to a qualified area student entering the University of Delaware in September, 1962.

The award will be based on results of the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test, which is available to all high school seniors as part of a national program.

Delaware Power & Light will award the scholarship on the basis of recommendations from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The winner will receive from $250 up to a maximum of $1,500 per year, depending on individual need as determined by the national organization. In addition an annual grant of $250 will be made directly to the University of Delaware.

Austin T. Gardner, president of Delaware Power & Light Company, said the company has undertaken the program as its contribution toward helping relieve a nationwide problem—the inability of many qualified high school seniors to continue on to college because they lack the necessary funds.

The Delmarva Peninsula, from which a student will be selected for the award, is the area served by Delaware Power & Light Company and its associated utility companies in Maryland and Virginia.

Program to Use Local Labor Underway

A program to ensure fullest possible use of local labor on Delaware farms was announced Thursday by Joseph A. Bradshaw, chairman-executive director of the Employment Security Commission.

A series of registration days for farm workers throughout the State has been scheduled for the week of Jan. 22 at which time all persons interested in either full time year round farm jobs or summer harvest work can list their availability with the commission's Farm Placement Branch. Specific dates and places are:

Middletown: Armory, Mon., Jan. 22; Smyrna, Armory, Tues., Jan. 23; Dover, Employment Security Office, Wed., Jan. 24; Millford, Armory, Thurs., Jan. 25; Laurel, Armory, Fri., Jan. 26; Georgetown, Employment Security Office, Fri., Jan. 26.

Colored placards announcing the registration program have been posted throughout the State and leaflets are being distributed at all major points of assembly, Mr. Bradshaw said. A series of "hiring days" is contemplated in late February at which farmers can meet and interview workers who have indicated their interest in farm jobs. In this manner the use of local labor can be fully planned before farmers place their out-of-state orders with the Farm Placement Branch in March.

"We recognize that by far the greater proportion of the agricultural harvesting and processing workers must come from outside our State borders," Mr. Bradshaw explained, "but we want to be sure that every possible use is also being made of local labor." "In early April," he continued, "representatives of the commission will interview crew leaders in Florida and other southern states and will arrange for migrant labor to come to Delaware in accordance with specific job orders. In addition, where appropriate, orders will be transmitted to the Puerto Rican government.

"It does not appear at this time," Mr. Bradshaw concluded, "that it will be necessary to bring foreign workers, such as Mexicans or British West Indians, into the state in 1962."

Dr. Van Name Publishes New Physics Textbook

An up-to-date, broad survey of atomic and nuclear physics written by a University of Delaware professor will be published next month as a basic college textbook for courses in atomic and electron physics.

"Modern Physics," second edition, by Dr. Frederick W. Van Name, Jr., will introduce many new topics with detailed treatment of sub-nuclear particles and particular emphasis on the special theory of relativity.

Designed for the junior or senior college student, the book will take the reader through various stages of elementary atomic physics, progressing from the study of individual particles in atoms and molecules to the discussion of extra-nuclear particles, and finally, sub-nuclear particles.

Employing a semi-historical approach to these subjects, "Modern Physics" is a completely up-dated version of an earlier edition written by Dr. Van Name in 1952. Many more and new problems and their solutions are presented.

The book will be issued in February by Prentice-Hall, Inc., which also published Dr. Van Name's "Analytical Mechanics" in 1958, as well as the earlier physics text.

Dr. Van Name joined the university faculty in 1957 and served as department chairman. He previously had served as associate professor and head of the physics department at Franklin and Marshall College, and as physics consultant at the Harrisburg Polyclinic Hospital.

He graduated with high honors from Swarthmore College and received his master's and doctor's degrees from Yale. During World War II he was aviation electronics officer in the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Van Name is a member of Sigma Xi, the American Physical Society, American Association of Physics Teachers, Institute of Radio Engineers and Sigma Pi Sigma. In addition to his three books, he is author of numerous articles for professional journals.

In addition to the number of registrations listed in operation, there are also 2495 exempt registrations not included in that total. These represent public owned vehicles, fire trucks, ambulances and other emergency trucks.

Of the registrations in operation, 125,340 were in New Castle County and Wilmington, an increase of 2945; Kent County had 47,286, an increase of 2,270 and Sussex County had 38,449, an increase of 1,875.

Dear Boys:

The old Plymouth (1946 model) owned by C. H. Burgess and then W. C., now has 175,000 miles on it. Still runs good. Took a 300 mile trip in it Sunday to see Bill and Norma. Am okay, and everything is ok. Roger and I now have our own apartment. He's the cook and I'm the dishwasher.

Would like to come up and see you all for a few days. The weather here is nice. We had a high of 80 degrees three days this week.

Bonniwell, Melvin Pin Foes; H. H. S. Loses To Smyrna

George Bonniwell and Ron Melvin won their matches by pins and Charles Taylor prevailed by referee's decision as Smyrna High School defeated Harrington High School 34-13 in the first wrestling dual meet in the local school's history.

Coach Mike Mock's Lions were short-handed in the Wednesday night match because two regulars were suspended for breaking training rules. This necessitated a realignment of the H.H.S. troops and forced Nelson Reed and Dick Schrieber to give away between 20 and 30 pounds.

The bouts were held in the local field house before a fairly good crowd. Russ Perry, athletic director at the new Dover Air Force Base High School, was the referee.

Rick Jester decided Gale McReynolds 7-2 in an exhibition match between two Harrington seventh - graders. Flowers of Smyrna decided H. Mullins 6-0 in another exhibition.

Bonniwell showed plenty of speed and strength as he was in command all the way. He pinned his foe at 1:32 of the third and final two minute round.

Melvin wore his foe down gradually then applied the crusher at 1:34 of the third round. Nelson Reed's opponent outweighed him by at least 23 pounds and to compound the issue was also a clever grappler. Reed turned in a great performance as he not only avoided a pin but kept the score reasonably close as he bowled to the Eagle 5-2.

Harrington showed a tremendous improvement over their initial effort in the Milford Invitational. At Milford the Lions were frequently getting pinned in the first round. January 18 Georgetown will host the Lions. The County Seaters were second in the eight-team Milford Invitational and are rated as the toughest foe on this year's slate.

Summaries: 95 lbs.—Crossley-Smyrna, decisioned Ellwanger 4-1; 112—Dixon-Smyrna, pinned Greenley 1:51 third round; 120—Bonniwell-Harrington, pinned Fortney 1:32 third round; 127—Myers-Smyrna, pinned Martin 1:14, first round; 133 — Taylor - Harrington, decisioned Chase, 5-2; 138—Sydel-Smyrna, decisioned Reed, 5-2; 145—Leager-Smyrna, pinned Rash, 1:56, 1st round; 154—Severson-Smyrna, pinned Schrieber, :39, 2nd round; 165 — Ipenki-Smyrna, pinned Starkey, 1:06, 2nd round; 180 — Robertson-Smyrna, decisioned Strohl 13-2; Unlimited — Melvin-Harrington, pinned Moore, 1:34, 3rd round.

Telephone Co. Plans Outside Plant Facilities

John D. Moore, local manager of the Diamond State Telephone Company, pointed out that Bell plans to invest approximately $300,000 during 1962 for the construction of outside plant facilities, such as cable lines, in the area served by the Avenue, Deerfield, Exeter, Garden, Gypsy, Myrtle, Olive, and Redfield central offices.

There are now more than 30,100 telephones served by the eight local offices, Moore said. Some 1900 telephone are expected to be added in this area during 1962.

Last year, customers served by these offices originated more than 90,000 calls on the average business day. This figure is expected to grow to 93,000 a day in 1962. Approximately 9,000 of these daily calls will be long distance calls, Moore stated.

More than 72 per cent of the families in this area have telephone service. By the end of 1962, the company anticipates this to grow to 74 per cent, he said.

Shorter Report Form For Labor Unions

A vast majority of the approximately 5000 labor organizations in the Philadelphia area which must file financial reports to the Department of Labor may now use a new, simplified, one-page form, John B. Flanagan, acting area director for the Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports, announced today.

The annual financial reports are required by the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959. It is expected that approximately 80 per cent of the over 52,000 reporting labor organizations in the country will be able to use the newly revised form.

Labor organizations whose total receipts, regardless of source and without any exceptions, were less than $30,000 in the 12-month period covered by the report and were not under trusteeship at the end of their fiscal year may use the new form. Formerly, unions could use a short form report only if their receipts were under $20,000.

The format and content of the reporting form were worked out under the direction of BLMR Commissioner, John L. Holcombe.

The revised form, a one-page snapshot with extra copies and carbons included replaces a previous 2-page financial report form. To eliminate the necessity for filing another form, space for information formerly required on the Amendment to Labor Organization Information Report is included on the new financial form.

Flanagan, whose area covers Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware, said that to help union officials fill out the new form his office and the BLMR Regional Office at New York will hold several financial reporting clinics during the next three months. In addition, Flanagan said there are people available at his office, located at 437 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., to assist union officers.

McDowell Marks 16th Year National Lunch Program

Congressman Harris B. McDowell, Jr. (D-Del.) Thursday marked the 16th year of the National School Lunch Program by saying he was "highly pleased" that the U. S. Department of Agriculture had acted favorably on his January 1961 recommendation to use frozen chicken and other agricultural products in the National School Lunch Program as well as in the expanded surplus foods distribution program to the needy of Delaware and of the nation.

Congressman McDowell declared that the program had given a "significant lift to Delaware's poultry industry." The Delaware Congressman praised the work of the Congress and the U. S. Department of Agriculture during 1961 to expand and improve school lunches for the 14 million school children who benefit from the program.

The National School Lunch Act was enacted in 1946 "to safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural products."

Congressman McDowell said: I am greatly encouraged by the increased Federal contributions of funds and money to this program; millions of school children today are eating nutritiously balanced school lunches. Moreover, an ever-growing local market for farm foods has been created in Delaware and other food producing states since about four-fifths of the food used in school feeding is bought by the schools from local suppliers."

In reviewing the Federal contributions to the program, Congressman McDowell said: "Federal contributions under the National School Lunch Program will total nearly $280 million in cash reimbursements to be spent locally for food, foods worth $70 million bought with school lunch funds by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to help schools meet lunch requirements and over $100 million worth of commodities donated from Government price support and surplus-removal stocks."

"Overall, the school lunch program is the largest single food service industry in the nation. It is a billion dollar operation involving some $800 million for food and at least $200 million in local services."

Congressman McDowell went on to say that: "Among a broad variety of farm foods bought so far this fiscal year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to help 64,000 participating schools meet the nutritional requirements of the Act are 40.7 million pounds of ground beef, 37.7 million pounds of frozen chickens, and quantities of such canned fruits and vegetables as sliced apples, apricots, apricots, cherries, grapefruit sections, peaches, tomatoes, green beans and corn. Purchases of canned pork and gravy, amounting to 20.2 million pounds through December have continued."

Under surplus-removal actions, Congressman McDowell observed that: "Some 60 million pounds of frozen turkeys and 10 million pounds of fresh cranberries have been bought and distributed for school lunch use. Quantities of lard, peanut butter and dry beans have also been made available to schools, and out of price - support stocks, butter, cheese, rice, nonfat milk, wheat flour and cornmeal are donated in quantities that can be used effectively."

Congressman McDowell concluded: "It is extremely important that the Congress and the people continue to seek improvements whereby the National School Lunch Act can further contribute to a priceless resource of the United States, namely, the health and well-being of our school children."

Reese Theatre Notes

One of the most unusual presentations of the season is coming to the Reese Theatre this Friday and Saturday, Jan. 5-6. The only picture ever produced giving the audience their own opportunity to judge and conduct their own punishment poll. To see William Castle's "Mr. Sardonicus" and by the way, his face could stop a heart, is a unique experience wrought with thrills extraordinary. As the co-feature, Universal presents, "Wings of Chance," with Jim Brown and Frances Rafferty.

On Sunday and Mon., Jan. 7 and 8, another great experience is in store for Reese Theatre patrons. Edgar Allan Poe's "The Pit and the Pendulum" with Vincent Price in Panavision and color, has commanded movie goers all over the country to witness this type of relief entertainment. As a co-feature "Everything's Ducky" with Mickey Rooney and Buddy Hackett adds up to a program of solid enjoyment.

Fish & Game News

Off the Press

The winter issue of the Delaware Conservationist is off the press and being distributed to 4,500 families according to the Delaware Game and Fish Commission. Feature articles include one by Ned Davis on fox hunting, another on Augustine Beach by Ay Pione, a pictorial story on "Getting Along with Landowners", and a tribute to Bill Baxter, veteran conservationist.

First issued in 1956, this quarterly publication serves as a voice of the Commission on a variety of natural resources issues. Occasionally its pages are opened to members of allied agencies on such questions as water pollution control, soil and water conservation, and park development.

The Commission is still adding names to its mailing list. Interested persons should write to the Delaware Game and Fish Commission, Dover, Del. There is no charge.

The Ghost Deer Again

The albino deer, first reported to the Game and Fish Commission last month, was sighted again recently by Gilbert Muzquiz, of near Chapeltown in Kent County. Apparently it is a doe as no antlers were readily visible. Several persons have asked the Commission to request hunters not to shoot this deer. Albino are quite uncommon. This one should be spared, at least until a legend of the "ghost deer of Chapeltown" is fully established. The deer hunting season is January 12 and 13.

Duck Banding Underway

As part of a continental-wide research program, personnel of the Game and Fish Commission have begun their annual duck banding. Of particular importance is the banding of Delaware's only concentration of canvasbacks which winter at Silver Lake, Rehoboth. Canvasbacks have been in a rapid population decline and protected from all hunting over the last two years. Much information on their migration, production and mortality can be determined by banding. More than 400 of these birds have been caught and released in the first week of operation.

In some years over 3,000 ducks and geese are caught throughout the State. The species, sex and age of each waterfowl is determined and a band attached to its leg. All banding records are kept on IBM cards at the Patuxent Research Station of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, near Washington, D. C.

Hunters in Delaware returned 112 bands last year. Of this number 40 were banded in this state and 92 banded elsewhere. The number of waterfowl banded in Delaware and recovered in other parts of North America last year was 134.

Delaware Food Market Report

January starts the year off right with a continuing abundance of food. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture economists, the forecast for this new year, 1962, is quite optimistic. This is what they say:

Food will continue to be a bargain.

Food will be abundant.

New food products will be available.

We can expect only a small rise in average retail food prices in 1962, possibly not as much as one per cent. Since expanded economic activity points to a continued rise in consumer incomes, food should remain a bargain. Some people say each time they buy food it seems to cost more yet today it takes only a fifth of our take-home pay, whereas just after the war the family food bill took about one-fourth.

Meat and eggs are major items in our food bill, in fact they take about 39 per cent of our food dollar. When I say meat I include poultry and fish also. The forecast is for slightly more red meat in 1962. Look for more pork and beef but supplies of veal, lamb and mutton will be about that of 1961 or not quite as large.

Poultry supplies, generous in the past year, are expected to continue to be large and prices are and will be very reasonable. Egg production is expected to be larger this year than last. We can expect to pay less for eggs during the first quarter of this new year.

The prospects are favorable for other items in the food bill too. For example, dairy supplies will continue to be plentiful, more fresh and processed fruits will be available this year. Heavy supplies of canned, frozen and fresh vegetables are in the picture for 1962.

For this week there are many good buys to be found at our local markets. Be sure to check the following items. At the vegetable counters: eggplant, yellow onions, potatoes, green peppers, carrots, cabbage, leafy greens, broccoli, beets, snap beans and celery. Citrus fruits are top choice at the fruit counter. Avocados and cranberries are also abundant. Beef and pork are top meat selections this week.

Oh, My Aching Pocketbook

By W. T. McAllister

Unlike the many TV commercials there is no quick relief for the farmer's "production cost headache" during 1962.

The ever-increasing farm production costs will reach a record level this year.

Feed prices for the last three quarters of 1961 were up two percent over the previous year. There will be about eight percent less feed available in 1962. The exception to this is protein supplement which should be more plentiful and a little lower in price.

Production of feed grains in 1961 is down about 12 per cent. These reduced supplies of feed grains and greater livestock numbers will likely increase feed costs. Future feed costs, however, will be influenced greatly by government programs.

Hay and seed prices are expected to be higher in 1962.

Prices paid for feeder cattle and calves were about two cents per pound higher last fall than in 1960.

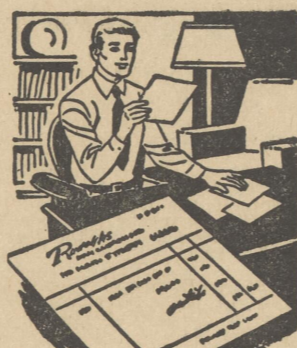

Beef cattle numbers will continue to increase. Prices for feeder cattle and calves are expected to average about two cents per pound less in 1962.

Dairy replacement heifers should cost about the same or even less than in 1961. Baby chick prices are expected to remain steady for commercial laying purposes, and increase for broiler purposes.

Fertilizer sales for 1961 were about the same as in 1960, but prices advanced one percent. This pattern will probably repeat itself in 1962. Fertilizer sales will be affected, of course, by government programs.

Following a trend of recent years sales of farm machinery and building supplies should increase during the coming year. ... 1960, and June, ...

Kent Home Doings

How do you treat your pots and pans?

With good care your cooking utensils will last quite a long time. Poor care will shorten the useful life of pots and pans considerably.

Aluminum cooking ware is often pitted because foods or liquids containing salts have been left standing in it for a period of time. Discolorations result from cooking alkaline foods in the utensil. Many of these discolorations can be removed simply by cooking acid foods in the pans. Wash the utensil in hot water, rinse in clear hot water and dry thoroughly. If necessary, use a fine cleansing powder for highly polished finishes and soap-filled fine steel wool pads for scouring other aluminum surfaces.

Copper requires regular care since exposure to air and cooking heat causes discoloration. Special metal cleansers, or salt and vinegar or lemon help keep copper clear and bright. The tin and chromium linings of copper utensils usually need only soap and water for cleaning.

Pottery or earthenware utensils usually need only hot sudsy water for cleaning. After the pot or pan is cooled, burned-on foods may be soaked loose. Pottery needs to be protected from sudden temperature changes, blows, harsh abrasives, and scraping with sharp instruments. Glass utensils need to be washed in warm soapy water and thoroughly rinsed. Boiling vinegar and water in the utensil should remove hard water mineral deposits. Soaking with water and baking soda helps remove scorched foods. A mild abrasive may be used if necessary. Most glass utensils must be protected from sudden changes in temperatures, although pyroceran is impervious to temperature changes.

Warm, sudsy water is usually sufficient to clean stainless steel utensils. Burned-on foods may be soaked loose or removed with special powders or stainless-steel scouring pads. Permanent heat stains on stainless-steel result from the use of high heat.

To take the best care of your cooking utensils, you must know of what materials they are made and act accordingly.

Cross Fund Opens March 1

A goal of $315,042 has been set for the 1962 Red Cross fund drive in Delaware opening on March 1, it was announced by Lamont duPont, Jr., chairman of the state chapter.

The quota this year is $4,957 higher than last year's target of $310,085 and will provide for $171,772 or 54.52 per cent to remain in Delaware to defray the costs of the Red Cross program. The remaining $143,270 or 45.48 per cent will be allotted for National Red Cross needs.

Funds last year were distributed between $167,340, or 51.5 per cent for state, and $142,935, or 45.52 per cent for national.

N. McDowell, a member of the chapter's board of directors, who headed the 1961 drive, serving as campaign chairman again this year.

Mr. duPont appealed for a generous response from all Delawareans and urged increased gifts in line with suggested standards of fair-share giving. He said solicitation must be pushed in every area of the campaign so that the goal may be achieved.

The cost of providing Red Cross service to Delawareans increased," Mr. duPont said. Contributions go to continue Red Cross services and expand the program so that it may be served in every area.

Mr. duPont said the campaign will be a year-long effort to raise funds for the Red Cross.

Mr. duPont said the Red Cross here in Delaware has an important job to do day in and day out to help members of the armed services, veterans and their families; to provide training in first aid, water safety, small craft safety and home disaster relief; and to provide children through High School and Junior Red Cross and its youth activities to become the nation's responsible leaders of tomorrow.

Mr. duPont explained that the program of disaster relief carried on by the Red Cross includes food, clothing and maintenance; repair and rebuilding of homes and other buildings; replacing household furnishings; payment of doctor and hospital bills, and supplies, equipment and tools needed by workers to earn a living.

Mr. duPont offered the following breakdown of local chapter expenses, with figures representing the percentage of the whole:

For service to armed forces and veterans, which includes financial aid, counseling service, emergency aid and subsistence loans to those in the armed forces, to veterans, and to their families through Home Service division, $52,935 or 30 per cent.

For disaster services preparedness and relief, which includes preparations to meet the demands of any disaster — fire, flood and hurricane — with food, clothing, shelter and medical supplies, and being ready to meet the needs of any family left homeless because of flood, explosion, etc., $28,232 or 15 per cent.

For the care of the aged, providing care of the aged, First Aid and other services for police and fire safety, nurse emergencies, first aid, and the highways, $28,232 or 15 per cent.

300 "New" Farmers Goal of '62 ACP In Kent County

A goal of 300 "new" farmers to participate in the 1962 agricultural conservation program (ACP) was announced by R. Harry Wilson, chairman of the Kent County ASC committee. By new, he meant those who for one reason or another have not been active with soil conservation work in the last three years. There were 469 co-operators in 1961 in Kent County.

Farmers may earn federal cost-shares to establish or improve seedings of grasses or other cover, for protection against erosion, and for controlling water reserves, he said. The major purpose is to demonstrate sound land use management and further, to encourage the conservation of our natural resources which benefits the public.

Mr. Wilson also said that newly elected community committeemen will be trained to explain and recommend the above conservation practices to their neighbors. All farmers in Kent County should have received a listing of suggested practices in the mail in the last few days together with instructions as to how they might qualify, he added. The county committee feels that this more personal approach should bear more fruit than have previous more general methods.

Farmers may sign as co-operators in the ACP at the county office at 313 S. Governors Avenue in Dover, or may call Lister V. Hall Jr., the office manager, at REdfield 4-3078.

The first sign up period to qualify for federal cost-sharing ends January 25th.

There are a number of other functions of the local ASC office. Basically they are farm stabilization and conservation programs involving governmental controls. They include the wool incentive program, the acreage allotment program, the wheat stabilization program, the feed grain program, the conservation reserve (soil bank), storage facility loans, price support programs, commodity purchases for school lunch programs, and emergency defense functions. Farmers may participate in any of these for which they qualify, and can get more complete information from their committee member or the local office.

Civil Defense Facts

The four basic principles for protection against radiation are: distance, time, shield or shelter, and decontamination. The objective of each is to prevent or minimize ionization of biological systems, which destroy tissues.

Distance is the first natural protection. The farther away you are from the source of radiation, the less radiation exposure you receive.

Time is another natural form of protection. The total radiation hazard begins to decrease the moment it is formed. Some radioactive elements decay rapidly, losing their strength in seconds, hours or days. Others require months or years.

Decontamination, the third protective principle, involves mechanical removal of radioactive materials to a less hazardous location. Radioactive fallout is dust like and thus produces surface contamination.

Food can be protected from radio-active fallout by keeping out this dust like material. If this can be accomplished, the food or feed may be irradiated but will not become radioactive and will be safe for consumption.

The fourth protection is shelter. The primary object is to place as much mass as possible between you and the source of radiation. As gamma rays pass through materials, they are absorbed. The more material, the more absorption.

For example, the first floor of an ordinary wood frame house in a fallout area could provide a protection factor of about one-half. That is, you would receive about one-half the radiation dose in the house that you would receive if outside without protection.

In the cellar of the same building, exposure would be about one-tenth. An underground shelter with a covering of 3 feet of packed earth, such as a root cellar or storm cave, would provide highly effective protection.

SHERWOOD WEDDING

The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece pink lace dress with pink and white accessories and her corsage of white rosebuds. Following the ceremony, there was a reception in the New Century Club of Harrington. The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and bridegroom wreathed with smilax. White tapers flanked the cake.

Mrs. Daniel Sherwood, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Robert Ricker presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Robert Smith, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. William K. Fry, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Taking charge of the guest book was Miss Phyllis...

SMITH-MILLER

The bride was a graduate of the Academy of Eastern Pilgrim College, Allentown, Pa., Class of 1959. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Eastern Pilgrim Academy of Eastern Pilgrim College, Allentown, Pa., class of 1957.

After the rehearsal Friday, a dinner was given for members of the bridal party in Dover by Mr. and Mrs. John Wilhelm, the bridegroom's parents.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. A. A. Will, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. C. Donald Miller, Bradenton, Fla.; Mrs. W. H. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Appleford, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hillman all of Elkton, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price and son, Newark, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pardee and son, Sherwood Park, Wilmington.

Four Inches of Snow Here

A four-inch snow came up from the South and invested this area New Year's Day. Its fury diminished, in its northward flight, and faded out entirely at the canal.

The State Highway Department got to work at once and early Tuesday morning the main thoroughfares were passable, but slippery, from Harrington to Smyrna. There was no snow north of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal.

By Tuesday afternoon traffic conditions were in good shape, coming south, to a point south of Dover. Thereafter, there were slippery spots but the highway department was on the job and primary and secondary roads were in good shape Wednesday. Absence of any appreciable wind was a big help.

B.L.S., Dept. Labor Redesignated As Del. River Area

The Philadelphia office of the Bureau of Labor Standards, U. S. Department of Labor, was redesignated as the Delaware River Area office for the administration of safety and health provisions of the Federal Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Act, Bureau director Arthur W. Motley announced this week.

The office, with headquarters in Philadelphia (811 Lafayette Building), will continue under the direction of the present District chief, Warren P. Wright. Wright will report directly to the bureau's central office in Washington instead of reporting to the New York area office as heretofore.

Mr. Motley stated that the new arrangement reflects the growing importance of Delaware River ports, and is being made in the interest of more efficient administration and to provide improved service to the maritime industries and their workers.

The bureau's accident prevention program is under the direction of Robert D. Gidel, Chief, Division of Safety.
