

Harrington Junior Football League's First Annual Banquet

The Harrington Junior Football League held its first annual awards banquet Thursday night, Jan. 11, in the school cafeteria. Two hundred and twenty-five people attended this gala occasion. The Rev. Shockley gave the invocation followed by a very delicious covered dish supper.

Pat Knight honored the group as guest speaker for the evening. He recommended all those who are responsible for a successful beginning in Little League Football. The community of Harrington should also feel proud as a supporter of such a fine community project.

Jeff Adams and Tim Strohl, co-captains of the '62 Lions' football team, were also distinguished guests of the evening.

The main event of the evening was the awarding of the trophies. Jack Swain and James Lobo, masters of ceremony, received much pleasure in awarding the following boys these trophies: best sportsmanship, Mike Staylor; best offensive player, Mitchell Godwin; best defensive player, Steve Welch; most outstanding player, William Dill. The Eagles' team was the recipient of the championship trophy coached by Tom Mulcahy, assisted by Ted Layton and Robert Taylor.

Before the opening game of the season each player had to write a prayer and an essay. A silver football medallion was awarded to the following boys for having written the best prayers: P. Ryan, Bears; R. Szmajda, Eagles; J. Swain, Colts.

The best essay writers, who also received a silver football medallion, were as follows: M. Godwin, Bears; J. Rash, Eagles; B. Garey, Colts.

Every football player and cheerleader received a gold football medallion with "Harrington Jr. Football, '61" engraved on the back.

It was most gratifying to all of those present to watch those boys and girls who had been a part of Harrington Jr. Football League have a most enjoyable evening.

Cancer Crusade General Chairman Appointed

The general manager of the Sears, Roebuck store in Wilmington, Martin A. Morrison, has been appointed general chairman of the 1962 Cancer Crusade by Peter VanWyck, chairman of the board of the Delaware Division, American Cancer Society.

In announcing the appointment, VanWyck said, "The experience of Mr. Morrison in fund raising activities in this community and his devotion to the cause of conquering cancer will give Delaware an inspired leader for this year's campaign. We are very fortunate."

Mr. Morrison is a member of the Wilmington Rotary Club and a member of the Boy Scout Executive Board. He was with Marshall Field Company for ten years prior to joining the Sears, Roebuck Corporation. Before coming to Wilmington, Morrison was active in the midwest and south for Sears.

In Washington, D. C. he has served as member of the business advisory board of the American Cancer Society and as general chairman of the Cancer Crusade.

Morrison is a member of the Delaware Division, ASC, executive committee, finance committee and publicity committee. He is also a member of the New Castle County Unit Board of Directors.

Carroll New Dover Mayor

Crawford J. Carroll, a 33-year-old auctioneer who kept up his campaign talk right through Monday's heavy rainstorm, is Dover's new mayor.

He received 560 votes in Monday's municipal elections to 333 for Emanuel D. Barros and 230 for Lester H. Thompson Jr.

Carroll takes over the capital city's top post while halfway through a third two-year term as councilman. Council will appoint someone to fill his 1st District seat at the new council's first meeting on Feb. 12.

Carroll succeeds Mayor W. Edward Haman, 68, who decided not to run after five successive two-year terms.

The new mayor is married to the former Roberta Pleasanton of Dover and the couple has three children, Crawford II, 6, Lawrence, 3, and Yvonne, five months.

In the council race, Randolph Hughes, state banking commissioner, led in the four-way race in the 1st District. Also Candidates in the 1st were Mrs. Jacqueline O. Feldmann, Zedoc A. Pool, and Townsend Tomlinson.

Carleton Walls was ahead of Douglas L. Harris in the 2nd District and George D. Hill Jr. led Rep. Charles F. Richard, R-Dover, in the 3rd.

Councilman William A. Hayes was unopposed for re-election in the 4th District.

The total number voting, 1189, was the highest since 1950, when 1800 voters were cast in a hotly contested race for mayor. Dover has approximately 2,500 eligible voters.

Yesterday's heavy rains kept an additional 200 voters from the polls, the new mayor estimated. Carroll stuck it out at his post in front of City Hall despite the downpour, greeting friends and voters before they cast their ballots.

Carroll was supported by Mayor Haman.

He was also actively supported Monday by his father, George B. Carroll Sr., who served on City Council between 1946 and 1952. For the last four years he was vice mayor under Mayor William J. Storey.

Carroll is associated with his father, and his cousin, Anthony Carroll, a State Highway Department commissioner, in the auctioneering and farm sales business.

He was first elected to council when he was 28 and is the youngest ever to hold a council seat. He is also one of the youngest mayors the city has ever had.

Public Utility Relocation Bill Signed

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel Tuesday signed into law a measure to require the state to pay the cost of relocating publicly-owned utilities disrupted by a highway project.

The new act (SB 324) supplements a similar law covering privately-owned utilities. The legislation was made necessary by an attorney general's ruling that under existing law the state was not responsible for the relocation costs.

The new law says that any alterations or relocation of municipally owned public utility facilities required by a highway construction or maintenance project "shall be made by and at the sole expense of the State Highway Department."

Facilities which may have to be moved in connection with highway construction include poles, manholes, and water and sewer pipes. Such facilities frequently extend beyond the limits of the municipality—as is the case with water lines of Wilmington and Newark.

Aliens Must Report Address By End Of This Month

Time is running out for some aliens, presently residing in Delaware, to report their current addresses, as required by Federal Law, advises the Delaware State Development Department.

The state information agency reminds all aliens that the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 requires that every alien in the United States, with the exception of diplomats and a few other special categories, shall, during January of each year, report his or her current address at the nearest Post Office or Immigration Service Office. The address must be reported during January even though there has been no change in residence during previous year.

According to the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, failure to comply with law pertaining to annual report of address can result in the imposing of severe penalties and adversely affect the status of the violator.

Address Report Cards may be obtained at any United States Post Office or Immigration Service Office advises the Development Department.

Rats to Be Battled After Dump Goes

The Barker's Landing dump area will be treated for the eradication of rodents after it is taken out of service by the State Highway Department on Feb. 1, it has been announced by the Department.

The plan, as outlined by William J. Miller, Jr., director of operations for the Highway Department, will provide for the area to be leveled off by the contractor in charge of maintaining the area.

When that is completed a preparation, recommended by the State Board of Health, will be placed at various points through the dumping area and renewed at the end of two weeks.

This preparation, according to the health authorities, is classed as a type of poison that is not harmful to dogs or cats, but it is suggested that their owners keep these animals clear of the dumping area.

The effects of the preparation on birds is not known. After this material has had an opportunity to work on rodents, the Highway Department will use their own maintenance forces to cover the entire dumping area with dirt.

Acting upon the request of the State Board of Health, which was made for health and sanitation reasons, the Highway Department ordered the dumping area to be closed for use, effective Feb. 1st.

Persons deposition garbage and refuse at the area following that date will be subject to prosecution under existing laws which provide a fine for dumping materials at other than prescribed places.

Bingo Rule Changes Approved

The Delaware Bingo Control Commission made three rule changes at its meeting Monday night in the State Armory in Wilmington.

One regulation, which becomes effective March 1, reduces the time for submission of sponsors' reports from 15 to seven days after games are played.

Another raises the number of games permissible on one night of play from the original maximum of 35 to 40.

A third change, which has been on a trial basis like the second, allows sponsors to provide transportation to games.

LeRoy Truitt of Bridgeville, newest member of the commission, was authorized to discuss with Gov. Elbert N. Carvel the need for legislation to permit changes in license fees from the present $7 per night of play.

Commission members, seeking to close the gap between income and operational costs, are in general agreement that fees should be based on attendance, with a sliding scale in effect. The aim is to make bingo regulation self-supporting. A license increase for all sponsors members feel, would impose hardship on operators in lightly populated sections.

Supplemental licenses were approved for St. Thomas' Church, Wilmington, Bethany Beach Fire Co.; Little Creek Fire Co.; St. Patrick's Church, Wilmington; Ladies' Auxiliary, Elsmere Fire Co.; Clayton Fire Co.; and Milton Volunteer Fire Co.

Interest on State Debts Is 21 Per Cent of Spending

Interest on Delaware's debt cost the state 21.7 per cent of the entire fiscal 1962 budget of $88 million, according to figures released Tuesday by the State Development Department.

The department for the first time in its history, issued a detailed breakdown of where the tax dollar comes from and where it goes.

Edwin C. Golin, department director, said his agency plans to prepare the detailed breakdown from time to time "to give the taxpayer a better idea of what his taxes are used for."

The report showed that 42 per cent of the entire state budget for this fiscal year went for education — the largest single item in the spending picture.

Debt service on school and highway bonds was the second largest item with 19 per cent. Added to the 2.7 per cent spent on the 1957 - 1961 debt, this brings the total debt service spending to 21.7 per cent of the entire budget.

Twelve per cent of the tax dollar goes for health and public welfare, 8.3 per cent for police, highways, and mosquito control, 3.4 per cent for pensions, two per cent for executive and financial functions, one per cent for judicial and legal functions, 6.9 per cent for regulation and enforcement, and 2.7 per cent for grants-in-aid.

Where did the tax dollar come from? According to the report, more than a third of all revenue (36.3 per cent) came from income taxes and penalties. Franchise taxes and penalties added another 15.1 per cent, bringing the total for these two items to more than half the revenue.

Other revenue: net motor fuel taxes, 11.8 per cent; corporation income taxes, 8 per cent; motor vehicle registration fees, 4.6 per cent; tax on pari-mutuel sales and admissions, 4.9 per cent; cigarette taxes, 3.7 per cent; inheritance and estate taxes, 3.4 per cent, alcoholic beverages, 2.4 per cent, and insurance taxes, mercantile licenses, and other taxes and fees 9.8 per cent.

The governor also announced the appointment of Mrs. James Wheeler Campbell of Laurel as the Sussex County member of the New Castle Historic Building Commission. She succeeds Mrs. J. Thomas Robinson of Georgetown. The term expires July 1, 1971.

Carvel's Statement On Building Act

In initially reporting the opinion of the State Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the Act to establish a State Industrial Building Commission, I expressed the fear that this opinion endangered the practical value of the Act and indicated that it would be referred to Attorney General Bove and Mr. Ernest Wilson, Jr. for study.

These two prominent attorneys are quite knowledgeable concerning the Act and the opinion since the Supreme Court because of lack of funds, asked Attorney General Bove to attack the Act and Mr. Wilson to defend it. The Court complimented both of them for their work on this problem.

Attorney General Bove and Mr. Wilson have already consulted on the effect of the opinion and have given me an optimistic report. They point out the following facts:

1. In attacking the Act, Attorney General Bove consulted the State Bond lawyers for ALL constitutional questions they might have, and which he then raised;

2. The effect of the opinion is to hold unconstitutional, but severable what the lawyers considered to be a minor provision dealing with an alternative method of paying any defaulting bonds;

3. The power of the Commission to pledge the credit of the State for the guarantee of Development Corporation Bonds is upheld;

4. The powers of the Commission in all other respects, including the issuance of revenue bonds, were held constitutional, with the provision that the full faith and credit of the State may not be pledged by the Commission, except with respect to bonds of Development Corporations guaranteed by the Commission;

5. Thus, the Commission may pledge the full faith and credit of the State for the guarantee of Development Corporation bonds, but may not issue general obligation bonds of its own. It may issue revenue bonds;

6. The Court upheld the view that the statute was for a public purpose and relied heavily on the declarations of the General Assembly contained in the Act.

I am, therefore, requesting the Attorney General to forward the Court's opinion and the statute to the State Bond Counsel for study and review.

Chemical Society To Meet In Philadelphia

A new compound that may help drug addicts, a new way to detect nuclear explosions, and new agents to improve octane rating in gasoline will be described at the American Chemical Society's Fourth Delaware Valley Regional meeting, to be held in Philadelphia Thursday and Friday, Jan. 25 and 26.

A firefly chemical that aids cancer research, brain sugar changes in mental disease, and a relationship between high blood pressure and hormone deficiency also will be described in the program of 160 scientific and technical papers, according to meeting chairman Adalbert Farkas of the Houdry Process Corporation, Marcus Hook, Pa. Sessions will be held at the Sheraton Hotel, Dr. Farkas said.

Solutions for the explosive problem of scientific literature, methods of training chemists to meet the needs of industry, and advances in rubber technology are other subjects to be covered.

Dr. Isaac Asimov, associate professor of biochemistry at Boston University School of Medicine and a widely known author of books on science and science fiction, will give the main address of the meeting at a dinner Thursday. His topic is "The Importance of Science Writing."

Chemical research on a fatal type of idiocy will be reported at a symposium on "Biochemical Aspects of Human Hereditary Diseases." The influence of blood sugar, hormones, and other natural factors on mental illness will be considered at the session by such authorities as Dr. Sidney Weinhouse of the Institute of Cancer Research, Dr. James B. Sidbury Jr. of Duke University Medical Center, and Dr. P. S. Gerald of the Children's Hospital Medical Center, Boston, Mass.

Dr. George Siemencow of Lafayette College will describe Russian methods of training chemical engineers. The education group has planned symposia on teacher training, documentation, and patents, and will hold panel discussions on education for the literature chemist and on the relation of curricula to the needs of industry.

A new use for plastics as sensors of nuclear explosions is the subject of a paper to be given by Dr. S. R. Sandler of the Borden Chemical Company. New lubricating oil additives, new heat-resistant materials of construction, and improvements in wrinkle resistant cottons are other subjects on the technical program.

Dr. Farkas, the general meeting chairman, is assistant director of research at Houdry. Other local committee members are Dr. Maxwell Gordon, Dr. Eugene Garfield, Edwin B. Carton, W. R. Keck, R. Shultz, Mary S. Lyon, Ann L. Farren, and Dr. Medeleine M. Joulie.

James L. Jezl of the Avison Corporation, Marcus Hook, is chairman of the American Chemical Society's Philadelphia Section, which will be host to the visiting scientists. Other sponsors are the Delaware, Lehigh Valley, Princeton, Southeastern Pa., South Jersey, and Trenton Sections of the Society.

The ACS, with 93,000 member chemists and chemical engineers, is the world's largest association devoted to a single science.

New Castle Antique Show

The fourteenth annual New Castle Antique Show will be held April 11, 12, and 13. The exhibit will be shown in the Presbyterian Church House and the old Academy on the Green in New Castle, Delaware, daily from 11 A. M. until 10 P. M., except on Friday when 6 p. m. will be the closing time.

Twenty-five dealers from New England to Virginia will display items of interest to the casual visitor and the avid collector. All types of fine antiques, from the rough, Early American to exquisite formal pieces will be displayed in an effort to present a selection of furniture and accessories (including guns and jewelry) to suit every taste and purse. All of these seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth century articles will be for sale.

This "largest small antique show in the East" is unique in that it is held in the historic seventeenth century town of New Castle, against a truly colonial background. The old Academy on the Green was built by Peter Crowding, a famous Philadelphia architect, in 1798. The New Castle Presbyterian Church, which sponsors this event, was built in 1707, and its Church House, recently built, was designed to harmonize with town.

The colonial architecture of the Luncheon, dinner, and snacks will be served in the Church House. Snacks and beverages will be available throughout the show in the walled Secret Garden of the Old Academy Building.

Tips to Farmers

By Mortimer M. Caplin

2nd Article in a Series of 6 Filing Requirements

Let's discuss the returns a farmer must file. First of all, what farmers must file tax returns?

If you are under 65 years of age at the end of the tax year, you must file if you have gross income of $600 or more during your tax year. If you are 65 years of age or older, you must file if you have gross income of $1200 or more. These rules hold true whether or not any tax would be due on the return. In addition, you must file a return if there is any self-employment tax due. The self-employment tax is a tax imposed on farmers and other self-employed persons to give them social security coverage. Since there are special rules pertaining to the self-employment tax on farmers, I would prefer to leave any discussion of it to later. I might also emphasize that the basic requirements for filing, the $600 and $1200 figures mentioned previously, are based on gross income and not on net profit.

What tax return forms should farmers use?

The form 1040 is the one to be used by farmers. Form 1040A cannot be used as it is designed for persons whose income is solely from wages and a small amount of dividends and interest. Farm income and expenses should be listed on Schedule F. This is a separate schedule designed for farmers and is attached to and becomes part of the form 1040.

When is the tax return due? There are special rules for farmers; to qualify, two-thirds of your gross income must be from farming. For purposes of stating specific dates that returns are due, I'll use the year 1961 as an example. A farmer has a choice. If he does not wish to file an estimate of his tax, he can file his return and pay the tax due by February 15, 1962. Or he can file an estimate of his tax on Form 1040ES and pay this amount by January 15, 1962. If he does this, the Form 1040 and any tax owed on it will be due by April 15, 1962. Normally, the return is due on April 15, but that date falls on a Sunday in 1962. I certainly urge farmers and all other taxpayers to file their returns as early as they possibly can. With millions of returns being filed, we need the co-operation of those who are able to file early so that the returns can be processed as economically and as efficiently as possible.

Are farmers required to file any other tax forms?

Some of them are. If a farmer hires an agricultural employee for cash wages for 20 or more days during a year or pays him cash wages of $150 or more during a year, he must withhold the social security tax from these wages. He then must file Form 943 by January 31 of the following year and forward with this form the withheld tax and an equal amount representing the farmer's share. For wages paid in 1961, the amount to be withheld from the employee is 3 per cent of his wages. For wages paid in 1962, the amount to be withheld is 3 1/8 per cent. If you have agricultural employees, I suggest that you get a copy of our Circular A from your local District Director's office. This explains in detail the withholding provisions. Also, if a farmer pays $600 or more to an individual in the course of this business for wages, rent, or interest, he must advise the Internal Revenue Service of these payments by filing information returns. These are Forms 1096 and 1099. However, rent paid to real estate agents need not be reported on these forms.

When are the Forms 1096 and 1099 due?

They must be mailed so as to reach the District Director's office no later than February 28 following the year of payment. For each individual who received $600 or more, a separate Form 1099 must be prepared; one copy of this form is given to the individual and another is sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue. The form 1096 is a summary sheet on which to send the 1099's. However, it must be filed even if you only made these payments to one individual.

Market for More Broilers Topic for Farm and Home Week

"More Ways to Sell Delmarva Broilers" seems to be the theme of Poultry Day at the 1962 Farm and Home Week, Feb. 6, 7, and 8, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

Highlights of the all-day session on Feb. 6 include: H. D. Smith, University of Maryland economist who has some sound advice on "reaching the metropolitan markets of Washington, D. C., and Baltimore"; C. C. Warren, a member of the U. S. Department of Agriculture who has made a study of the "competition U. S. poultry faces on foreign markets"; W. C. Murray, a Delaware feed dealer who has some "ideas for promoting the broiler industry," and R. L. Bull, University of Delaware food marketing specialist who is going to explain "what the food retailers look for when they purchase broilers."

This "package" of broiler promotion ideas should be a big help to producers according to Mr. Vapaa.

Weather Conditions Halt Construction Work
Construction work on certain dirt road improvement projects has been halted by weather conditions, according to William J. Miller, Jr., director of Operations for the State Highway Department.

Preparation of the earth surface on some of these roads could not be continued because of the freezing condition of the road and their present condition will make travel somewhat difficult, according to Mr. Miller.

Roads in this condition are not numerous, said Mr. Miller who pointed out that persons desiring to travel over them might find it difficult.

As soon as weather conditions permit, construction operations will be resumed on these roads and they will be rushed to completion, added Mr. Miller, who said he was making this announcement so that any persons affected by the present conditions of these roads would understand the situation.

Time to Request Conservation Help

Kent County farmers who are interested in establishing soil and water conservation practices on their farms under the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program should file their requests as soon as possible, suggests R. Harry Wilson, chairman, Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at Dover.

Requests must be filed before work is started at the Kent County ASC office, 313 S. Gov. Ave., Dover, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday. The final deadline for the first sign-up under the program is January 25, Mr. Wilson points out.

In addition, the 1962 program also provides for similar cost-share assistance to farmers in developing soil and water conservation practices beneficial to wildlife. Included are the establishment of wildlife food plots, or habitat and ponds which provide important soil and water conservation and wildlife benefits.

The Agricultural Conservation program is designed to encourage farmers to protect soil, water and woodland resources by sharing the costs of needed conservation measures.

"Without this assistance, most farmers simply couldn't afford to make this needed investment, particularly since the majority of these practices provide little or no immediate return," Mr. Wilson explained.

Welfare Night, Sho Nuff

Those who are entitled to welfare must suffer because of the abuse of the program. That is the lamentable aspect of the revelation of "welfare night," one of the more dissimulating aspects. What the term means is, that when checks are received numerous of the recipients have a night on the town.

The worthy recipients are bound to suffer from the abuse of funds unless the controls are tightened on the unworthy. To do this will warrant stricter requirements and the State Welfare Department may have to have more money to prove it can do the job. But the job must be done, and soon. Otherwise, the unworthy recipients will be numerous enough to vote themselves in for increasing hand-outs. This is a problem worse than communism.

Everybody Is In The Act

The appointment of Chester Dickerson, superintendent of Milford Schools, as a judge of the Juvenile Court, has caused many agencies to get in the act.

Under the complaint that Dickerson does not have a law degree, the Laurel Chamber of Commerce and the Laurel Junior Chamber of Commerce protest they have a candidate, just out of law school but not a member of the bar, for the post. The Sussex County Bar Association also has a candidate.

However, and justifiably so, Gov. Carvel is sticking by his man, and will recommend affirmation for him by the Senate.

THE LITTLE GREY JAIL ON THE HILL

As a boy I would come to grips with the world, I would spring, with a laugh, to the fight; I would ask for no quarter—supreme in myself, I would march up the road—to the height! But the years have rolled by—and the glamour has gone, And the winds of adversity chill All the dreams of my youth—and the road wanders back To the little grey jail on the hill!

American Legion Auxiliary News

January is Legislative month on the calendar of the American Legion Auxiliary. Because the Auxiliary is pledged to support legislative program of the American Legion, every unit needs to be informed of this program.

Mrs. Jarvis Hurd presided at the business meeting of the unit. A full calendar of events was noted for the members. First and foremost is the annual Mother's March of Dimes which will take place in Harrington Jan. 29 starting at 7 p.m. This has been one of the activities of the unit that has been most gratifying.

The Mid-Winter Child Welfare conference will be held Sunday, Feb. 4 at 1 p.m. in Dover at the Board of Health Building. Sun., Feb. 18, the Department of Delaware Americanism luncheon will be held in the Hotel DuPont at 1 p.m.

February is Americanism month. Mrs. William Smith, local chairman of this committee has announced the topic of the Americanism Essay Contest for 10th to 12th grade students. The topic this year is "American Freedom and What It Means to Me." Prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be awarded to the three best essays submitted.

Mrs. Frank O'Neal Jr. and Mrs. Clyde Tucker gave reports on the Area B. Child Welfare and Rehabilitation Conferences held early in December in Baltimore. They both attended the conference as representatives of the local unit.

Mrs. Don Dell, Junior Activities chairman, told of the two Christmases parties given by the Junior Auxiliary Unit during December. The first was a party for the children at the Mentally Retarded School, and the second was a party at the Legion Home for 17 children, less fortunate than themselves. Both parties were very successful, thanks to the generous donations of cookies, oranges and chocolate milk from several local merchants.

C.K.R.T. Unit No. 7, has filled their membership quota and gone over the top. In a letter, Department of Delaware president, Mrs. Lawrence Alfele of Wilmington, expressed her deep appreciation to Mrs. Hurd and the unit members for their reaching the membership goal. Her pledge of 1410 members from Delaware by the end of January will certainly be fulfilled.

The next meeting will be Feb. 20.

The enrollment ceremony will be performed by the Harrington Lodge No. 534 Degree Team. The enrollment will be at 8 p.m.

Lions Miss 1st Win By Narrow Margin

Harrington High's basketball team was beaten for the fourth straight time at Lord Baltimore Tuesday night but each time out the Lions get closer to victory. The Eagles pulled out a 42-38 win in the closing seconds. They were leading by 40-38 with time running out. H.H.S. had to gamble and foul a Lord Baltimore dribbler in order to have a chance to get possession of the ball. The gamble failed as the fouled player made two free throws to sew it up.

The Lions led after the first quarter 10-6 but lagged at half-time 20-16. The end of the game saw the teams still four points apart as both squads netted 23 markers in the second half.

Jeff Adams, one of the leading scorers in the Henlopen Conference, maintained his 14 points-a-game average as he once more paced the locals. George Collins with 9 and Bill Porter with eight helped keep the losers within striking distance. Wayne Collison and Tom Milsap also played well as the starting five played virtually the entire game.

Don Quillen led the Eagles from the Ocean View-Millville area with 19 points.

Greenwood Lose to J.M.C., 45-42

Greenwood's Foresters came mightily close to knocking John M. Clayton from the ranks of the unbeaten in a game played at Dagsboro on Tuesday night. Carl Bakers' charges outscored the winners over the last three periods but a first period 13-9 Clayton lead proved to be the decisive factor. Bill Wright led the losers with 17 points.

John E. Pratt died Tuesday at a nursing home near Harrington, after a long illness. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m., from the Berry Funeral Home, Milford. The Rev. George W. Bishop, Frederica Methodist Church, will officiate.

Mr. Pratt is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Pratt, and by a son, W. Wilson Pratt, Frederica; three daughters, Mrs. Lu Lu Wilkins, Frederica, Mrs. Ethel Seward, Felton, and Mrs. Betty Sherwood, Milford; and by a foster son, Thomas Govan, Frederica; a brother, Howard Pratt, Hillsboro, Md.; and five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Felton Is Bested At Selbyville

Joe Kerns' Felton five had a cold first quarter at Selbyville and never managed to get in contention although they played much better as the game progressed. Tom Williams, the Green Devils' leading scorer had a bad night as he managed only one field goal and five points. Tom is usually in double figures. Jim Blades took up some of the slack as he led Felton with 10 points.

Schools from Eastern Sussex continue to dominate play in the conference as Milton, John M. Clayton, Millsboro and Selbyville are unbeaten. Rehoboth and Lord Baltimore have one loss. However, several of the Eastern wins were by narrow margins. Next season the picture may change somewhat as the Eastern teams will play their single contests with each Western rival on the home floors of the latter.

Felton Scares Rehoboth But Loses 56-43

Felton's Green Devils made a strong showing against the defending Henlopen Champion Rehoboth High Seahawks as the Kent Countains led by 10 points at halftime. The Beachboys functioned more smoothly in the second half and finally clinched the decision in the fourth quarter. Tom Williams again was the big gun for Felton as he racked up 14 points.

Table with columns: AT FELTON, Rehoboth, G, F, P. Rows: Mitchell, Lavachia, Jones, Messick, Stewart, Hudson, Newton, J. Williams, Steele, Totals.

J. M. Clayton Rally Defeats H. H. S.

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High basketball Lions made their best showing of the season Friday night but lost their third straight contest as John M. Clayton's Bears rallied in the second half to win 52-41. Harrington held a 17-16 halftime margin. Defensive lapses in the second half contributed to the Lion's downfall.

Jeff Adams again paced H.H.S. in the scoring column as he tallied 15 points. Adams has been in double figures every time out thus far. Bill Porter added 12 markers. Richard Black, a freshman, is an improving cager, who is helping the team in the rebound department.

Coach Hawpe at present has only seven men available for full time duty. An unusual problem has presented itself. Two or three of his charges are reluctant to shoot. Most coaches have several gunners and have to pressure them to get them to pass off once in a while. Bill Adams, a scrapper and good ball handler, should give the squad needed depth when he returns to action. Several other lads who have been on loan to the junior varsity squad will be used strictly for varsity duty after the jayvee schedule ends Friday night.

The Lions travel to Lord Baltimore Tuesday night and have a chance to break their losing streak since the locals are improving and the Eagles are not one of the Henlopen Conference's better teams. Millsboro will play on the local floor Friday night, January 19th.

Table with columns: AT HARRINGTON, J. M. Clayton, G, F, P. Rows: Timmons, D. Long, W. Long, Steen, Cash, Frey, Totals.

John T. Mitchell died Monday, 76, a retired farmer, died Monday night at his home on Route 13 near Dover. Survivors include a son, William Henry Mitchell, Wyoming; three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Farrand, Absecon, N. J.; Mrs. Edna Orvis, Dover; Mrs. Mildred Biggs, Felton; a brother, Louis Mitchell, Ridgely, Md.; a sister, Mrs. Nora Reed, Wilmington; 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Thursday afternoon in the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. The Rev. Larry Renner, a retired Methodist clergyman, officiated.

Greenwood Yields To Rebels' Hot Last Frame

Selbyville's Rebels were matched bucket for bucket by Greenwood's tenacious Foresters for almost three full quarters but finally broke the game wide open with a tremendous last-quarter 23 point charge. The contest was played at Selbyville on Friday night. Bruce Henry led Greenwood with 10 points. At the end of the first quarter and the first half the teams were all tied up.

The Foresters, coached by Carl Baker, upset Rehoboth last week and also hold a win over the Colonel Richardson passers from nearby Maryland.

The Caroline Countians are made up of the combined student bodies of the former Federalsburg and Preston High Schools. This represents an enrollment several times larger than that of Greenwood.

Felton led throughout the game, having scored 30 points at half-time. Fouls cost several points in the second half, but the Green Devilettes still managed to add 20 points to the score, leaving the final score at 50 to 44 in favor of Felton.

Mrs. Humes Gives 1962 Report of Felton American Legion Legislative Program

The following article is a report on the American Legion Legislative program for 1962 as presented by Mrs. William Humes, Legislative chairman of Callaway - Kemp - Raughley - Tee Unit No. 7 of Harrington.

Mrs. Humes received a national award from the American Legion Auxiliary for her Legislative program and report in 1961.

Legislative Program

When the Congress convened on January 10 it resumed work on legislation that was unfinished when it adjourned last September 27. It is only at the beginning of each numbered Congress that it starts with a clean slate. The present 87th Congress terminates at the end of 1962. Consequently a number of American Legion supported bills are still active.

It is of interest to know that 1962 will be the 44th year in which the American Legion has gone before the Congress in pursuit of legislation of benefit to war veterans and their dependents, as well as for the security and welfare of our Nation.

To list but a few of the major pieces of legislation which are being supported at this session, one of prime importance is a request that Congress and the President take appropriate action to close the gates to the flood of mail entering the United States containing communist propaganda. It has been estimated that during one week New York cleared seven million pieces of such mail and San Francisco handled 17 1/2 tons.

The Legion continues in strong opposition to any efforts to eliminate the Loyalty Oath or Disclaimer Affidavit from the National Defense Education Act. They see nothing distasteful in swearing allegiance to our Country or affirming that one does not believe in the unlawful overthrow of its government by force and violence.

In their never ending battle to combat Communism they support the continuance of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, the House Un-American Activities Committee and the FBI. They believe that the continued operation of these three Governmental arms is of vital necessity to our security.

Hearings of the House Committee brought out the fact that Communists have infiltrated our radio communication field. For this reason the Legion went on record as solidly supporting the Congressional effort to prohibit the issuance of a radio operator's license to anyone who wilfully fails or refuses to answer questions relating to communist activities when summoned before the proper federal agencies and to revoke a license, already issued, for the same reason. The danger of such persons being permitted to operate is magnified by the fact that our CONELRAD radio system is vital to our national security in case of enemy attack. A communist radio operator could wreak havoc by violating the CONELRAD system.

The Legion strongly recommends the formation of a Veterans Affairs Committee in the Senate, similar to that one now in the House of Representatives. Presently no Senate committee has primary responsibility in this field and considering the magnitude of the program in persons and dollars involved, it is their sincere belief that such a committee is not only justified but desirable so that the Senate can be in closer touch with the problems involved.

They are calling on Congress to supply adequate funds for the effective operation of the Veteran's Employment Service, keeping in mind that they shall be sufficient to provide for specialized employment services for the aging veteran.

They are seeking clarification of existing re-employment rights for veterans and urge sufficient funds to be allotted to the Bureau of Re-employment so that it can assist returning veterans with their re-employment problems in an efficient and adequate manner.

At their 1961 Convention the Legion adopted resolutions which urged; termination of all trade with communist bloc nations; opposition to the seating of Communist China in the United Nations or its diplomatic recognition by the United States; defense of Formosa and its environs; opposition to any effort of our Government to recognize East Germany as a separate political entity; United States jurisdiction over, and control of the Panama Canal Zone, and its ownership, control management, maintenance, operation and protection of the Panama Canal in accordance with existing Treaty provisions; our Government and friendly Western Hemisphere Nations to use all means at hand to bring to an end the existing threat to the security of the free nations of the Western Hemisphere as presented by the Castro regime in Cuba; retention of the Connally reservation; opposition to any form of world government; and, the adoption of the original "Bricker Amendment" to the Constitution.

During the past ten years the American Legion has made many attempts to win Congressional approval of new or enlarged National Cemeteries without success. Recent developments indicate that Congress is now becoming concerned over the National Cemetery shortage that daily becomes more evident. Senate Resolution 113 would direct that a complete study of all matters pertaining to National Cemeteries be made with a view to establishing a uniform national policy regarding same. Since this will help establish the Legion's views, this Senate Resolution has their support.

Legion representatives when appearing before the appropriate sub committees of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees will support legislation concerned with providing the Armed Forces with adequate manpower and hardware to keep the United States militarily strong. They will urge that there be no diminution of the ROTC programs in our colleges and universities and that attendance in the basic ROTC programs be compulsory in all land-grant colleges and universities.

The title, "Rehabilitation" does little to describe this activity of the American Legion which has always been its foremost and largest program. Primarily, it is directed to the relief of human suffering and needs and the complexities are many. Out of experience gained come requests for changes in law and regulations governing medical and hospital care for ailing and disabled veterans; for reasonable compensation and pension, and for death benefits for widows and minor children and dependent parents. Through such requests, over the years, The American Legion has made very substantial contributions toward the enactment of laws which authorize and provide the funds for the benefits available today. There are many bills to provide relief of existing inequities which the Legion will attempt to secure a favorable vote for at this session.

The American Legion is reaffirming its position in support of legislation that would grant a one year opportunity to veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict to obtain National Service Life Insurance up to an aggregate of $10,000 if they meet proper health standards. Service connected disability would not be a bar to eligibility. The veteran would pay the administrative cost in addition to the regular premium. The Senate has approved this type legislation on several occasions and although to date it has failed to win House action, efforts are being continued to get a favorable vote on this measure.

While the foregoing may be considered the highlights of the major program this year, there are many many areas in which the Legion takes a position in the forefront in an effort to maintain and preserve for ourselves and posterity that heritage of freedom to which we as Americans have given so much.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Today I took a trip down to Sugar Hill Farm in Greenwood. Mostly to see Adios Harry. I remember him being broke right here on the grounds.

Gee, he is certainly in good shape. And so very good natured. I was in his stall. He seems to enjoy all the attention he gets. Sorry I didn't take along a little sugar or something.

Noble Dean, Luther Lyon's other good stud was turned out in the pasture.

Myrtle Wade, who has charge of the breeding and young foals tells me that 40 new youngsters are due any time.

Luther has 12 head of his own in training with three outside horses. Another one is Gravel Daughters Boy, owned by Bobby T. Rauch up in Hamstead, L. I., by Mr. Tobin.

Mr. Wade said that anyone that would like to visit the farm, they would be more than welcome. And what could be more pleasing in about six weeks to go out to the farm and see all the mares with these lovely little foals by their sides.

Be sure and take your cameras with you. For anyone not knowing the road, here is a pretty good idea.

Go to Greenwood, turn left across dual highway to first road to your right and turn right. Then the first road you make another right and then on to Sugar Hill Farm.

While I was out in Greenwood I drove by the Bohemia Farms. You can hardly tell now there was ever a fire. They certainly are going to town on a new modern brick barn.

Here at our track, several small stables have arrived. If the weather will just stay nice you will soon see some real speed going on.

Was out to the Liska Farm last Sunday and this is a real nice farm. Plenty paddocks and fresh water. Blue mud for their feet.

Marion sure has a cute filly and her name is of all things "Darlin". Will follow you like a little dog. Really a pet. This little yearling is by Vernon Elkington.

I enjoyed it for I love pets, and they have some really nice ones out there.

Gee, that was a nice cake you baked, Marion Lee. Did you do it all by yourself?

Sorry Dell, for your stable; there was only 3 head you had. Better this time with 30 head. For that many you're so lucky to have good help.

Mrs. Pat (Romona) Hubbard, we are all so sorry out here at the track to hear of your mother's illness.

Rode over to "Churchill, Md., this past week. There doesn't seem to be many horses in training at the Cape Pine Farm. And rather a nice farm.

It seems like so many of the horsemen are buying their own farms any more and putting in a track. Well down here that's no problem, the land being so flat.

Will visit down in Virginia and some other horse farm next week. If the weather will just hold out.

Bobby Hobbs, you don't seem to mind the cold.

That's Bobby Carter our track man for fixing our road where our cars could get in and out. Sure is one mess when it rains.

But that's one thing out here, we have swell track employees.

Talked to Betty Cain and Betty, it doesn't seem right for you not in furniture store, instead of the gas department.

Oh well, we all get tired once in a while.

As for me, how I'd love to take a trip down to Gary's Duck Inn on Orange Blossom Trail, south of Orlando, Fla.

Ran into Fred Greenly Jr. in town and forgot to ask him when he was going to Florida. But I bet not before long.

Felton Home Fire Linked To Bad Flue

Fire that started around the chimney between the attic and second floor caused an estimated $4,000 damage Sunday to the home of James E. Saulsbury on the Canterbury-Magnolia Road.

Fire Chief J. Barratt Simpler said the blaze might have started from a defective flue.

Felton firemen, aided by men and equipment from Magnolia, confined the fire to the attic. The rest of the home was damaged by water and a new roof is needed, the chief said.

There was one bright note in the fire as far as Saulsbury was concerned. He had started to remodel his seven-room home and had finished the living room. That was the only room which wasn't water-damaged.

A Felton fireman, Woodrow Krouse, fell from the second story level when his ladder collapsed. He was taken to Kent General Hospital but released.

The chief said Krouse was shaken up but unhurt.

Saulsbury had insurance on his home, the chief reported. Mrs. Saulsbury turned in the alarm about 1:30 a.m. The Saulsburys live about five miles from Felton.

Newspaper Clippings Reveals Bear Dinner At Kent Jail in 1938

Motorists who have regularly traveled over the State highway between Dover and Harrington during the past several years have noticed a big black bear in a cage at a service station, just north of Harrington.

During recent months, however, they have noted the absence of the bear and for some of them the disappearance of the bear became a mystery. They need not wonder about the bear's disappearance any more.

Tonight more than a hundred State, county and city officials together with numerous other Democrats will assemble at the Kent county jail to enjoy a dinner with the Harrington bear being the main item on the menu.

Sheriff and Mrs. Levi L. Everett, Jr., have arranged the dinner and the bear is being provided by Deputy Sheriff Norris Adams, a former Mayor of Harrington.

Tonight's dinner will provide the scene for the first important gathering of Kent County Democrats in the 1938 campaign and it is expected that practically all who received invitations will be on hand.

Sheriff Everett, who, together with his wife, has a long established reputation as a genial host, explained that invitations were issued for as many as it was possible to take care of and he expressed regret that it was not possible to issue more invitations.

Editorial Note: The article appeared in a Wilmington newspaper Thurs., Jan. 20, 1938. In honor of the event, the late J. Harvey Burgess, publisher of The Harrington Journal, wrote the poem, "The Little Grey Jail on the Hill."

High School Students to Meet Research Scientist

Twenty high schools in Kent and Sussex County are co-operating in an ambitious program that will give their students an opportunity to meet research scientists. This program is being coordinated by the State Department of Public Instruction and the American Institute of Biological Science.

Under the plan scientists will spend a day with the students visiting classes in the morning and speaking to selected groups in the afternoon. The first visiting scientist will be Dr. John M. Hirst, medical entomologist with the Naval Medical Research Center. Friday, Jan. 26, he will meet with classes at Georgetown High School and Wm. Jason High School. In the afternoon selected students from all the schools in the two counties will meet with Dr. Hirst at Lewes High School to hear him speak on future research in his field.

Scientists will visit other schools later in the year. They will talk on topics such as molecular biology, animal behavior, photosynthesis, symbiosis and diseases of wild animals. The present emphasis is on biology but will be expanded to include physics and chemistry.

Dr. Howard E. Row, assistant state superintendent in charge of Secondary Education, states, "I am very enthusiastic about this new program being brought to our boys and girls. I think it is quite important that high school biology students hear from a prominent and competent biologist. It is also important to our schools and to our state in general that we are able to draw upon financial and academic resources outside our state. This program is being sponsored by the American Institute of Biological Sciences at not cost to the state or the local schools."

Row went on to say, "This activity is just one of the many activities that will occur in the coming months and years because we have recently expanded the Department of Public Instruction service to the schools by the addition of supervisors to give leadership in the fields of science, mathematics and modern foreign languages. This is the first school year during which we have had these three services. Mathematics and language were part of our program for a part of the last school year as well. I look forward to the time when our state will see fit to provide this kind of service in other subject areas also, particularly English and social studies."

Kappa Alpha Members

James Ashby, 400 Riblett Lane; Russell Dennis 400 Beaver Valley Rd.; Ronald Szymanski, 1234 Lancaster Ave., all of Wilmington; Bill Rahn, 47 East Park Place; Merle Taylor, 284 East Main St., both of Newark, and Vernon Manuel, 286 Richard Bassett, Dover, were initiated into Kappa Alpha, national social fraternity at the University of Delaware.

Farm and Home Week to Stress Consumer Buying

Whether you're buying a house, planning a home garden, or just worried about getting your money's worth from the food you buy, you'll find something of interest at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week, February 6, 7, and 8, according to Dr. M. S. Cover, associate dean of agriculture and chairman of the event.

This year's program committee has planned sessions to include a wide range in interests. "There's something for everyone," reports Cover. Special areas included in the three-day event are poultry, agronomy, home economics, dairy, fruit production, home gardening, livestock and vegetables.

Special sessions are planned on Buying and Selling a House and Planning for Delaware's Future—a detailed study of zoning and community planning.

The session on Buying and Selling a House will be Tuesday evening, February 6 at 8 o'clock. First hand information on how to finance a home, how a real estate salesman can help and how to avoid legal problems, will be presented by men who earn their living in real estate, according to Cover.

Another evening program will be held Wednesday, Feb. 7. A joint program with the Delaware Rose Society will be held at Agricultural Hall starting at 8 p.m. Roses for show will be discussed by Harold H. Allen, a prominent rose authority from Columbus, O.

Also on Wednesday evening, a program for the light horse enthusiast will be presented in Carpenter Field House. The University of Del. Equestrian Club will participate in hunterhack competition followed by a dressage demonstration with commentary by Brigadier General F. F. Wing, Jr., USA (Ret.) Peapack. N. J., executive vice president of the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc.

Featured speaker at the General Session on February 8, will be the Hon. Harris B. McDowell, Delaware Congressman, speaking on the United States Stake in Foreign Affairs.

Dr. John A. Perkins, president, University of Delaware, will discuss the Centennial Celebration of the Landgrant Universities at a general session on Feb. 6. "A Century of Service" will be the theme of his discussion.

Cracked Eggs Cost Money, Agents Warned

Don't count your eggs before they reach the market, warns George K. Vapaa, Kent County Agent. Seven per cent of all eggs produced in Delaware are cracked before they reach retail outlets. Some of these eggs are completely list. Others are sold at a big discount.

Improper nesting facilities, overfilled gathering baskets, infrequent gatherings and rough handling during cleaning, grading, packaging and transplanting processes cause most of the damage, according to Mr. Vapaa.

A new publication, "Cracked Eggs Are Costing You Money" by Ray Lloyd, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, outlines the steps to solve this problem.

Included in Lloyd's suggestions on reducing egg breakage are: at least one nest for each four layers, collecting eggs four times a day; and the use of plastic-coated gathering baskets. This helpful pamphlet is available from the county extension office in the Dover Postoffice the agent adds.

Armed Forces Notes

Second Lt. James J. Behen III, son of Mrs. Mable D. Daniels, 9 Delaware Avenue, Dover, recently was assigned to the Engineer Command at Army Chemical Center, Md.

Lieutenant Behen entered the Army last October.

The 22-year-old officer is a 1957 graduate of Dover High School and a 1961 graduate of the University of Delaware in Newark. He was employed as technical staff assistant by Merck & Co., Danville, Pa., before entering the Army.

Washable, Wearable, Wool

By Miss Janet C. Reed, U. of D. Something new is happening to wool. Now you can wash it and it won't shrink. Wear it and creases and pleats stay put. Hang it up and wrinkles disappear. This describes today's new wool.

Wool has an important place in your family's wardrobe. It is especially good for cold weather wear because it helps hold body heat. The fabric also protects against sudden changes in skin temperature. Wool fabrics absorb moisture without feeling cold or clammy or sticking to your skin.

Research has made it possible to do more with wool than ever before. Now you can make it mothproof and stain repellent. Mothproof treatments can be carried out either before the wool material is put on the market or at your dry cleaner's. Scientists also are trying to combine mothproofing with a shrinkproofing treatment.

Shrinking, once a problem with wool, can now be controlled. U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists have discovered ways to shrinkproof wool fabrics so they can be washed safely. Wash-and-wear wool is prepared by coating the fibers with a very thin chemical film. The new treatment has proved successful for shrinkproofing wool suits, knitted wear, blankets and other goods. Treated garments go through machine washing, dry cleaning, and much wear, yet keeping their original size, color, softness and resilience. And, they dry without wrinkling, which means less work for you.

Shrinkproof treatments can be combined with the USDA-discovered method of putting permanent pleats and creases in wool fabrics. Sharp creases remain through long wear, exposure to rain and high humidity and machine laundering.

Wool is naturally wrinkle-resistant. Casual wrinkles, such as those caused by sitting, usually come out as soon as the wearer changes position.

Ind. Sewing Machine Operator Courses To Start Soon

Information regarding sewing machine operator courses is being made available to those persons interested in taking classroom instructions in the operation of power sewing machines through the Georgetown Office of the Delaware State Employment Security Commission. These classes are to be held at the Sussex County Vocational Center, Georgetown.

Donald R. Hyland, manager of the Georgetown Employment Security Commission Office, asks that all interested applicants are requested to register at that office.

After satisfactory completion of the course, participating trainees will be referred to the various garment manufacturers in this area for job placement. With the expansion of the garment industries now underway, chances for employment are excellent upon completion of the course.

Arrangements regarding the time of the course and length of the course are now being worked out by a committee of representatives of the Garment Industry, the Employment Service, Vocational Education, and the U. S. Department of Labor.

Applicants will be placed on the list in the order they are received.

Immediate contact with the Employment Security Commission Office is recommended.

Season for Virus Pig Pneumonia Here

Watch out for virus pig pneumonia, warns John H. Shropshire, Extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware. It will probably cost livestock producers close to $100 million this year, he says.

Virus pig pneumonia doesn't cause heavy deaths but it can be a heavy "profit taker" by reducing the rate pigs convert feed into meat. This slow down can be as great as 30 per cent resulting in heavy financial losses, Shropshire adds. "Once it gets started, the infection rate may be as high as 50 per cent of the herd."

Symptoms of virus pig pneumonia include coughing, scours, listlessness, sneezing and loss of condition.

The disease can be confused with swine flu and with lung-worm infection, so a veterinarian should make a diagnosis if symptoms appear.

Shropshire lists these safeguards in protecting your herd. Farrow sows in isolation; keep sow and litter isolated until weaning time; keep coughing pigs isolated.

The practice of exchanging breeding stock is a possible means of spreading the disease.

'62 Goals Outlined for Egg Producers

Egg producers must become businessmen as well as poultrymen if they want to compete effectively in 1962, according to Raymond Lloyd, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware. They must be able to deal intelligently with their feed company, equipment source and other suppliers.

A good bank rating is as important to a successful poultry operation as to any other big business, according to Lloyd. "To be able to borrow from a bank and pay cash for feed and supplies is just good business," he says.

In outlining 1962 goals for market egg producers, Lloyd suggests:

5,000 layers per man as an optimum size operation. This means three men should handle a 15,000 bird flock; 225 eggs per hen housed; mortality of less than one per cent per month or 12 percent annually; feed conversion of four and a half pounds of feed per dozen eggs; 95 per cent of the eggs produced grade A or better; and, less than five percent cracked eggs.

Lloyd suggests every producer be enrolled some form of flock record program. "This is the only way to tell if you have reached these goals." He also suggests studying market and outlook reports, poultry publications and bulletins, and attending poultry meetings.

Seek the latest, unbiased knowledge you can get, he adds. In short, be modern — know what's going on and be prepared to meet the changes.

Gardener's Hints For January

Plant an Amaryllis bulb for colorful winter blooms. Amaryllis, Cladium and Gloxinia are usually started in January and February. With good cultural care, beautiful foliage and flowers are produced. Bulbs are available from local florists and farm supply stores. For detailed directions on planting and care of these plants, request a direction sheet titled "Winter Planted Bulbs" from George Vapaa, Kent County agent, located on the 2nd floor of the postoffice in Dover.

Check Bulbs Now is the time to check your stored tubers and corms. Gladiolus corms and Dahlia tubers dry out in low humidity and heat. Check them now to be sure that they do not dry out too much and die.

Still Time to Apply Mulch If you didn't have time to mulch your garden last fall, there's still time. Your old Christmas tree boughs are excellent for this purpose. Perennial flowers especially appreciate a mulch. Oak leaves, hay, straw, and similar materials are good mulching materials. Alternate freezing and thawing cause plants to be heaved out of the ground and killed by drying winds and sun. This is especially true of newly set plants.

Take Cuttings of House Plants Days are getting longer now. House plants will grow faster. Now is a good time to take cuttings of some of your house plants to include in the garden outdoors this summer. Make cuttings 3 to 5 inches long and root them in vermiculite on sand, covered with a plastic bag. As soon as the roots are about an inch long, plant them in pots.

Delaware State Fair

Forty years have I been called The Kent and Sussex Fair, But now the honored name Of our beloved State I bear.

The Old Blue Hen was restless, She with her little chicks three, Two were tucked away under her wing, The third cried, isn't there room for me.

Now he is all cuddled Safe in that downy nest, There was plenty of room for him, Under her wing with the rest.

Old Father Time he marches on, His pace, no man can stay, What seemed the best a decade ago Might not answer for today.

It was a generous, yes a noble thing, The Harrington folks have done, They laid aside, a little personal pride, And our admiration they have won.

Come one, Come all, from far and near, To this spot on our Eastern Shore; Visit our Delaware State Fair this year You will find fun and pleasures galore.

Deaware's Deer Harvest

During Delaware's eighth shot-gun season for white-tailed deer, hunters bagged 485 animals. On Friday, January 12, 216 and on Saturday, January 13, 269 deer were checked through the four checking stations by Commission technicians.

In the final tabulation 252 bucks and 233 does were taken. The largest deer, with a dressed weight of 199 pounds, was killed by C. Byler, Dover, on a farm near Hartly. This deer would probably have weighed 210 pounds before shedding his antlers. Deer begin shedding their antlers about this time of year and the process is pretty well complete by the end of February.

As in former years southern New Castle County and Kent County provide the bulk of the kill. However, the number of deer killed on the west side of the state has increased while the kill on the eastern fringe has fallen off somewhat.

New Whitetail booklet Released

Fresh from the printer is "The White-Tailed Deer," the third booklet in an annual series of profiles on North America's most important game birds and mammals issued by the Conservation Department, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Authored by John Madson, the booklet concisely summarizes current knowledge about white-tails, how they are born, live, and die. With excellent photographs and effective examples, Madson charts life history details, outlines problems and opportunities for whitetail management and conservation, discusses equipment and methods for deer hunting, field care of animals that are bagged, and the outlook for deer in the future.

Single copies of "The White-Tailed Deer" are available without charge from the company's Conservation Department at East Alton, Illinois. Olin's previous booklets on cottontail rabbits and mallard ducks were exhausted quickly even though large numbers were printed.

National Conference On Land And People

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Clark represented the Delaware Game and Fish Commission and the American Association for Conservation Information at a National Conference on Land and People called by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman on Monday, January 15, in the Jefferson Auditorium, Washington, D. C.

Over 600 key conservationists had been requested to participate in the problem of finding new uses for over 50 million acres of good productive land which is producing crops which already are in excess supply.

The importance of acquiring outdoor recreational areas now or losing them forever was dramatically emphasized during the morning session by Governor Gaylord A. Nelson of Wisconsin when he presented Wisconsin's 10-year program for resources development and outdoor recreation.

In addressing the group, both Secretary of Interior Udall and Secretary of Agriculture Freeman stressed the importance in planning a sound conservation policy during the crucial 60's.
