Heirlooms and Keepsakes Shown At Club Meeting

Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr., presided at the regular meeting of the Harrington New Century Club on Tuesday afternoon. At the business meeting the club members voted to make a donation to the Endowment Fund of the State Federation in honor of Mrs. Fley E. Booth, Parliamentarian of the State Federation for many years. A contribution was also made to the Dollars for Scholars program.

Reciprocity Day at the Harrington Club will be on February 27 when members of the other Kent County clubs will be guests at the annual Sewing Contest and Fashion Show. Mrs. James Moore and her committee are already working on the arrangements to make this meeting a very special one.

Mrs. Floyd Nasser was in charge of the program for the afternoon meeting. She, with the help of her committee, had arranged for a membership participation day. Each member of the club had been asked to bring some heirloom or family keepsake to show to the group. A fascinating array of items was displayed on tables at the club house. From Grandma's quilts and Aunt Gertrude's silver spoons, to Grandpa's shaving mugs and spittoons, there wasn't an item that didn't interest the group.

The collection of books, pictures, and a gun from the Civil War years was very interesting, as was the lovely modern collection of Hummel figurines. It was an afternoon that could be repeated again in the future.

Assisting Mrs. Nasser with the program and the refreshments that were served later were Mrs. Thomas Clarke, Mrs. John Satterfield, Mrs. C. Tharp Harrington, Mrs. James W. Rash, Mrs. Walter Winkler, Mrs. Charles Rapp and Mrs. Albert Price.

'Silent' Alarm Trips Ferris Escape, 15

A burglar alarm installed in Donovan's Gun Shop after four robberies in less than two years alerted Dover police recently when another attempt was made to steal firearms.

Police shot and captured a 15-year-old Ferris School escapee when the alarm, fired to sound only at local police headquarters signaled that an entry had been made.

The youth, whose home is in Wyoming, walked away from Ferris Dec. 23, police said.

James C. Donovan, proprietor of the store, said he had the alarm installed after 21 pistols were stolen last November.

The youth was spotted about 5:15 a. m. by two patrolmen who responded to the alarm. Two shots were fired as a warning and a third hit the youth when he darted from the scene after police ordered him to raise his hands.

The bullet first went through a quarter-inch pane of glass and a plywood door. It was nearly spent by the time it hit the youth, police said.

The impact knocked the boy down but did not penetrate the skin. He was taken to Kent General Hospital, treated for a bruise, and released to the police.

The youth was spotted by two officers as they rode by in their car. One went to the front of the building, the other covered the rear.

The shots were fired after the officer had called to the youth to raise his hands. At the time the youth was at the pistol case, police said.

He bolted for the door with what appeared to be a gun in his hands, one of the officers reported. This was when the shots were fired by the patrolmen.

Police said the youth got into the store by breaking a pane of glass in a garage door and crawling through the opening. The boy also admitted breaking into three places in Salisbury earlier recently before catching a bus to Dover.

Police turned him over to Family Court authorities. He is charged with fourth degree burglary.

Motor Fuel Tax Receipts

Motor Fuel Tax receipts for the month of November totaled $824,040.14, according to a report compiled by Roy B. Kemp, Jr., Director of the Motor Fuel Tax Division.

These receipts, which were received by the Division during the month of December, was an increase of $79,004.98 over the amount for the month of November in 1960.

The taxes received for November represented the sale of 17,122,104 gallons of motor fuel an increase of 2,221,403 gallons over the amount sold during November of last year.

The report indicated that there were a total of 82 concerns bonded as distributors of motor fuel in this state of which 15 reported no sales for the month.

The report also disclosed that four concerns reported sales that accounted for $427,481.03, or about 52 percent of the taxes collected during November.

These concerns, with the amount of taxes reported by each, were: Atlantic Refining Co., $90,758.52; Gulf Oil Corp., $93,349.95; Humble Oil & Refining Co., $170,903.24 and Sun Oil Co., $71,469.32.

Humes polled 750 votes to capture the post now held by Roy E. Pettyjohn, who was not a candidate for re-election. Also seeking the seat was Councilman Brainard Poore, who received 332 votes.

Two new councilmen were also elected, David A. Clements Jr., winning the seat in the 2nd Ward and James Cannon capturing the post in the 3rd Ward.

Clements defeated Leslie Blades, 205 to 130. It was a close race in the 3rd Ward where Cannon polled 56 votes; Charles Bradley 49, and Harrison Lynch 48.

George Adams had held the council seat in the 3rd Ward but, like Pettyjohn, was not a candidate for re-election.

Humes is elected for a two-year term. Councilmen in Milford are elected for four years.

Widely known throughout Delaware, Humes is a former moderator of the New Castle Presbytery and a past president of the Presbyterian Men.

Clements, a native of Kent County, Md., has lived in Milford since 1928. He was graduated from the Milford High School and attended the University of Delaware.

He was Lions district governor in 1960 and 1961 and has been active in club fund-raising.

Humes and the two new councilmen were sworn into office Tuesday night.

Organizational Meeting to Be Held Monday Evening on Delmarva Chicken Festival

The grand jury late Monday afternoon brought in five indictments against Kermit Roland West, 25, in the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Whaley and the rape of Mrs. Whaley.

In addition to the two indictments for first degree murder and one for rape, indictments for robbery and burglary was also returned.

The five indictments contained 18 separate counts.

H. Edward Maul and John J. McNeill had been appointed defense attorneys for West. They said, following the indictments, that they would begin at once to plan their case.

The Whaley family sat in the courtroom through the day. West is confined to the New Castle Correctional Institution. No date has been set for his arraignment.

Lorenzo Byrd Whaley and his wife, Mamie Hester Whaley, were found at their farm home near Trap Pond on Nov. 1, shot with a 12 gauge shot gun.

West was charged by state police shortly after the discovery of the bodies and was said to have signed a six-page confession admitting the double slaying.

Before the grand jury went into session, Judge Albert Stifel appointed Wilson G. Boyer, Georgetown, as foreman. Five new members of grand jury were sworn in. They are: David Clements Jr., Milford; Harry W. Alexander, Seaford; Leon D. Short, Delmar; Margaret Layfield, Dagsboro, and Boyer.

Freight Policy For Six Sussex Towns Opposed

An announcement this week by the Pennsylvania Railroad that piece-meal shipments to six Sussex communities would be discontinued Feb. 1 has spurred a fight by merchants to cancel the move.

Harry S. Zerby, president of the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce, last week said a decision by the Pennsylvania Railroad to discontinue less than carload shipments to the towns could mean the end for some businesses.

Zerby said one Rehoboth merchant told him recently that if the change was made he would close his business and move elsewhere.

Towns affected by the proposal are: Lewes, Milton, Selbyville, Millsboro, Georgetown and Rehoboth.

A combined effort by the merchants in each of these communities, Zerby said, is being made. They will seek a hearing with the Public Service Commission at Dover to protest the railroad's plan.

Zerby also said that the PRR only notified one or two merchants about its plans. A notice of the change was posted in the local stations.

If approved, the change will mean that shipment of goods, that do not fill a freight car, destined for a single location will not be handled.

"Most of us just can't do without this service," Zerby said. Last week the Railway Express Agency notified Milton merchants that it was going to close their station there.

Zerby said he has received word that the transportation company has canceled the closing, and will continue the service.

An organizational meeting, for the Delmarva Chicken Festival to be held here in June, will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the First National Bank Building.

All civic organizations and groups and interested individuals are urged to be present, since a community-wide effort will be needed to stage the festival effectively.

On the agenda will be adoption of committees to arrange programming.

Charles L. Peck, Jr., is chairman of the Chicken Festival Committee.

State May Provide Trips To Moon For Fair Visitors

Delaware would take World's Fair visitors on an imaginary trip to the moon with a planetarium proposed as the center of a $1 million state exhibit.

A Delaware-made planetarium has been suggested as the major attraction of a proposed Delaware exhibit at the 1964-1965 New York World's Fair.

By that time, proponents believe, the United States may either have placed a man on the moon or may be getting ready to do so.

Whatever is going on at that time in the conquest of space could be depicted in the planetarium's show, which need not be limited to representations of the stars in the sky, it is suggested.

The idea originated with the State Development Department. It involves a planetarium to cost about $250,000, housed in a building which would bring the cost to more than $1 million.

The planetarium would be manufactured by Spitz Laboratories of Yorklyn, one of three firms in, the world making them. After the fair, proponents say, it might be given to the University of Delaware to be set up on the campus or at the Mt. Cuba Observatory.

Daniel D. Frelch of Greenville, a member of the Governor's World's Fair Advisory Committee, is exploring the possibilities of contributions toward the exhibit from industry.

He also will get in touch with the Recreation Promotion and Service, which has a planetarium committee.

Friel, who is a director of Mt. Cuba Observatory, said he thinks industry stands to gain from a successful promotion of Delaware at the fair.

The Governor's World's Fair Advisory Committee composed of 26 members, will make the ultimate choice on what type of building the Delaware exhibit will have. The committee will hold its first meeting within the next two weeks.

Although Delaware has reserved a site at the World's Fair, it could be canceled if plans fail to materialize for a Delaware exhibit. One of the prime functions of the advisory committee is to attract financing from private sources for the exhibit. The General Assembly will be asked to supply working funds for the committee.

3 Dover Base Officers Hurt In Felton Crash

Three Dover Air Force Base officers were injured early Saturday when their car ran off U. S. 13 a mile and a half south of Felton and hit a huge tree.

Taken to the base hospital by a passing motorist and the Harrington Fire Co. ambulance were 2nd Lt. Harry J. Van Voorhis, 22, the driver, multiple cuts of the face and scalp; Robert S. Inger, 20, severe cuts of the face and scalp, and David Denton, 21, broken ribs, dislocated left hip, and multiple cuts of the face and scalp.

The officers, who state police said were attached to the 31st Air Transport Squadron at the Dover base, were in fair condition Saturday.

Police said Van Voorhis was driving north on U.S. 13 about 2 a.m. when his car ran off the right side of the road, skidded back across the highway and onto the medial strip, then back across the road and hit a tree on the right shoulder.

The tree, which police said was about 4 feet in diameter, is one of only two trees near the highway within a mile and a half of the accident scene. The accident was shortly after a light snow began falling, police said.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

We have often come in contact with events on the sporting scene which contained some small note of interest but were of such brevity that it would be difficult to build a whole article around them. It is our idea to keep a notebook handy and jot these items down when they occur and publish them in column form from time to time. Perhaps we can compile enough data for one issue a month at least. For want of a better name we have chosen the above title. As many people know the writer, while a sports fan in general, is a track and cross-country devotee in particular. Hence, the last two sports will probably receive slightly more space. This is common in the sports writing field as each scribe naturally dwells more on pastimes with which he is more familiar.

Sheldon Hayman, a Journal employee who was a fine cager at Greenwood High a few years back, is second high scorer on the McGinnis Market basketball team of Magnolia. The Market-ers are in first place in the Dover YMCA loop. Hayman had 20 points when his team went over the century mark against Playtex. Delaware Institute of Banking, a Wilmington team, edged out McGinnis Saturday night after Hayman was rendered hors-de-combat after only two or three minutes of action.

Coach "Mac" McDonald still has the winning touch as evidenced by his two H.H.S. girls basketball teams. His varsity squad has won from the alumni, Air Base and Holy Cross while dropping a two point decision at Dover Air Force Base. Their last outing was a 51-8 win over Holy Cross High of Dover. Jamie Phillips and Christy Coady tallied 23 and 18 points respectively. Others who contributed to the win were Jeanie Thomas, Kenna Jo McKnatt, Linda Smith, Jackie Rummus, Michele Jack, Sue Brown, Marilyn Jarrell, Dawn Hopkins, Pat Richardson and Diane Greer.

The Junior high squad is unbeaten in three games with victories by 17-2, 21-2 and 20-7. In an effort to keep the score down McDonald used his entire 32-girl squad.

Jeanie Thomas had an unusual experience at Dover A.F.B. High when an opponent bit her. When the same teams met at Harrington, Jeanie may have been relieved to find that her toothy rival was stationed at the opposite end of the floor and therefore their paths would not cross.

We have watched many scholastic teams and athletes under-Masten, Charlie Morris, Fred Mike Mock's wrestlers get our vote as the best-conditioned of all. These kids are taking grueling workouts in stride with practically no complaint. While American youth is being assailed with some justification as being soft physically, these matmen are definitely exceptions to the rule. Pat Emeigh, a teacher at H.H.S., was a volunteer worker with the football team and is giving Coach Mock a helping hand with the gripsters.

Bob Favinger, state fire marshal, who was a former right-handed pitcher for Federalburg, Milford and other semi-pro clubs back in the thirties met with the Harrington Board of Education Monday night. He remembered playing with and against former local greats such as George Short, "Brit" Holloway, "Zip" Legates, "Townie" joy, an even 200 pounds. He is Lord, "Yam" Legates, "Slim Ryan, Maurice Hall, William W. "Pete" Shaw and others.

A male teacher at a high school north of here, who keeps in trim by jogging two miles every day rain or shine, related to us that sometimes during his daily jaunt he discovered that occupants of passing cars are favoring him with pitying glances while at the same time giving him a wide berth. A Baltimore physician told of a patient whose weight had ballooned from 215 to 255. The medic recommended plenty of exercise starting with small doses and gradually doing more and more. The 42-year-old office worker started with short sprints and eventually to his surprise was doing five and then ten miles at a clip. After running 100 miles in 13 days he scaled, to his great joy, an even 200 pounds. He is having a ball and is now planning to run his next 100 miles in 12 days or less.

Jeff Adams, local scholastic cager, is in fifth place in the Henlopen Conference scoring race with 67 points in five games for an average of 13 plus per contest. Bill Porter has been hitting more frequently of late and made the league listings with 42 points. Twenty-one players were named in the statistician's report and in foul shooting the two Lions were at the bottom with only 9 points between them or an average of less than one a game. Let's work on those foul shots, fellows. They are frequently the difference between victory and defeat. A few years back a Harrington High team with Jay Carson, Lewis Welch, Francis Quillen, and a few others we can't recall could not score against a strong Bridgeville team. The locals finally popped in a few, long, set shots and made 15 out of 15 fouls to win 29-27, although outgunned almost 2-1 from the field. Harold McDonald was the coach.

H.H.S. Grapplers Do Well In Georgetown Loss

Coach Mike Mock's Harrington High wrestling team were beaten 36-18 by Georgetown High's second team but gave a good account of themselves. The Sussex Countians have a large squad so the Lions were up against boys of comparable age. However, the winning squad held an experience advantage.

Lewis Starkey and Bill Parker scored falls to score 10 points for Harrington. Paul Rash and George Bonniwell won their bouts by referee's decisions. Starkey, at 165 lbs, flattened Stellman 33 seconds after the starting buzzer opened the second round. Parker, a senior, pinned his rival, Hitehens, after 1 minute and 5 seconds of the second round of their 154 pound match.

Coach Mock also had words of praise for Dennis Rogers, Paul Callaway, Dick Schrieber and Ron Melvin.

Rogers weighing 127 pounds wrestled an opponent 20 pounds heavier since the Lion entry in the heavier class is temporarily out of action. Dennis wore his beifier rival down to a nub only to make a wrong guess and fall into a pinning hold with seconds left.

Calloway has been out for the squad only a short time but is already a much improved matman.

Schrieber lost a tight 3-2 decision, bowing only because of his lack of experience.

Melvin at 205 pounds found himself opposed to an undernourished lad who tipped the scales at a mere 275 pounds. Ron is getting more aggressive all the time and made a good showing in defeat.

Monday Smyrna will again come to Harrington. The Eagles bested the locals in the first match of the season. The Lions made a good showing at that time and are anxious to make the score even closer this time out since many of the rough edges have been smoothed over by constant practice and the two meetings with Georgetown.

Greenwood Downs Lord Baltimore

Carl Baker's Greenwood High School basketball Foresters exploded for 20 points in the third quarter against Lord Baltimore Friday night to take a big 18 point lead and went on to score a 47-39 victory.

The Eagles tallied 22 points in the fourth quarter but the Greenies refused to fold and held on for the win which gave them first place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference. A balanced attack did the trick as each Forester had either three or four field goals. Bruce Henry and Julian Woodall led with 13 and 11 points respectively. Finkbinder, Wright and Baker had 9, 8 and 6 tallies.

AT GREENWOOD

Winless H.H.S. Belts All-Winning Millsboro

A confident band of Blue Devils from Millsboro invaded Harrington Friday night to lay their unbeaten basketball record on the line against Jim Hawpe's hungry Lions. When the smoke cleared some two hours later, the crestfallen visitors had their first loss of the season and the home team was celebrating its first victory.

The final score was 45-43 in a game that was touch-and-go all the way. Millsboro led at the first quarter mark but the teams were all even at the half and at the end of the third quarter. The Lions froze the ball for most of the last three minutes to send their rosters home happy.

The triumph was a real team effort as the six locals to get in the game all played well. Jeff Adams and Tom Milspaw led the Lions with 11 points each while Bill Porter was right behind with 10. George Collins and David Brobst connected for timely baskets to keep H.H.S. in the running. Adams has been high local scorer in each of the four contests to date.

Harrington led by Milspaw, Adams, Porter and Wayne Colison out-rebounded their taller rivals.

Preston McCabe and Jeff Derrickson led the Blue Devils with 17 and 16 points respectively. Derrickson runs the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds and is one of the speediest scholastic athletes on the lower peninsula. Several times he was in the clear and on the way for an apparent easy bucket, only to be headed off by David Brobst. David doesn't have Derrickson's speed but has better acceleration.

Millsboro had the edge in foul shooting converting five out of ten compared to three out of ten for Harrington.

The locals tackle another unbeaten team tonight (Friday) when they travel to Milton. The Warriors may have the best quintet in the Henlopen Conference and are always tough on their small home floor. Other schools are used to much larger courts and have trouble adjusting their style of play to the smaller dimensions.

Tuesday night the Lions will start play with foes in their own Western Division of the Henlopen Conference. Since Eastern Division rivals are to be met only once, the Milton game will wind up that part of the schedule. H.H.S. will now play home and away contests with Bridgeville, Greenwood, Felton and Delmar.

Felton Loses at The Foul Line

Joe Kern's Felton High Green Devils matched John M. Clayton's Bears bucket for bucket but saw victory slip gradually away as J.M.C. converted 22 free throws to Felton's 8. The game was played at Dagsboro on Friday night.

Felton gave the Bears a good tussle and were never too far back, but were unable to get a good rally started that might have brought victory. John M. Clayton is unbeaten in four games. The Green Devils have been fairly close in some of their other losses so they may break into the win column at any time. Bill Young was high scorer for Felton with 9 points.

Watch Out For Frozen Water Tanks Says Agent

A puzzled farmer stood with the veterinarian looking at some hollow-eyed feeder cattle. "They have been off feed for two days now," he said. "I just can't understand it."

"Been off feed two days," the veterinarian thought; "This cold spell started just two days ago. Maybe it's the water supply."

A glance into the water tank proved his point. The water was frozen.

An inadequate water supply will force feeder cattle or sheep to go off feed, reports George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

Without water, the digestive system stops and the animal loses its appetite. Weight slips away. "And," the county agent adds, "it takes a long time to put that weight back on."

The amount of water animals need depends upon their weight, diet, and the weather. Cattle and sheep consume larger amounts than other livestock because their diet is bulky.

A 600 - pound feeder steer probably drinks seven to ten gallons of water a day. The amount may be slightly lower on winter days.

Because cattle and sheep need so much water, it should be available at all times, not just twice a day. Animals will drink more when water is always available.

In addition to being available constantly, water should be heated to 50 degrees, Mr. Vapaa warns. Colder water causes a temporary paralysis of the digestive tract. Again the animal loses its appetite, but for a shorter period than the animal suffering from lack of water.

Heating water electrically is the ideal way—provided the water tank is insulated so that the animals will not get electrical shocks.

Delaware Food Market Report

If you are having a bit of difficulty in getting some of the fresh vegetables you are accustomed to, this inconvenience is due to the recent cold weather in the Southern growing areas. The more tender vegetables have been damaged the most by the severe weather. Among them are sweet corn, snapbeans, squash and tomatoes. Prices are up on these vegetables. Curtailed shipments of lettuce are coming in from both Texas and California, where low temperatures have prevailed. Freezing temperatures in Texas have sent the price of onions up. Many growers are holding their onions for an even higher price and onions still standing in the fields are definitely damaged.

Regardless of the news above there are many vegetables in ample supply. Select such vegetables as old-crop Danish-type cabbage, eastern Katahdin potatoes, turnips and sweet potatoes. Several greens are plentiful—endive, exercele, kale and collards. Artichokes, mushrooms, broccoli, celery and radishes are all in good supply.

As far as fruits are concerned it now appears little damage was done to the citrus fruits in Florida, however, the recent freeze did damage Texas fruit. The greatest majority of the grapefruit sold in our local markets is shipped in from Florida, while California and Florida supply us with oranges. Therefore, the only effect we shall feel will be if some of the fruit from these two states is diverted to markets normally supplied by the Texas crop. No shortage is anticipated, but price increase may occur later or may not occur due to the larger crops of grapefruit and oranges.

Most local markets are well stocked with apples, limes, lemons, avocados, coconuts and bananas. To add springtime to your menu Florida strawberries are now available. So the situation is definitely not bad. There is plenty of good food to choose from at attractive prices too.

Minor Accident Rate Decreasing

There were 83 less accidents involving damages in excess of 100, on the streets and highways of this state during December than there were in the same months of the previous year.

Records of the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department reveal that a total of 854 of these accidents were reported to them during December as compared with 937 for December of 1960.

Records indicate that at least a portion of the reduction may be assigned to the absence of storms, that interfered with traffic, particularly in the lower part of the state, during December, while in the same month of 1960 there were several periods when storms effected traffic.

Of the accidents reported during December, 688 were in Wilmington and New Castle County, a reduction of 3 over the record for December of 1960. Kent County had 83, a reduction of 54 while Sussex County had 83, a decrease of 26.

Of the operators involved in the accidents reported during December, 232 were from out of there were a total of 281 persons state and 196 had no insurance. Injured in these accidents.

Damages reported in connection with the accidents that were reported during December totaled $321,006, which was slightly less than the damages reported during December of 1960.

Veterans News

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office, reminded recipients this week that veterans or dependents who do not return their VA Pension Income Questionnaires by Jan. 31, will not receive any further checks and may owe the Government money. Mr. Fields said if the recipients did not submit this income information, they will be required to repay all pension received during 1961 and the first month in 1962.

Mr. Fields pointed out that the Questionnaire carries a printed warning which reads: "Important. Failure to return this card before January 31, 1962 will result in discontinuance of payment. You would also be required to pay back all pension you received last year."

Since the pension is paid only to those veterans, their widows, dependent parents or minor children whose incomes are below certain limits, the VA is required by law to receive an income report each year to justify the payments.

Mr. Fields asked that all blanks on the card be filled in wherever applicable and that the card be signed before it is sent back to the Veterans Administration.

Delaware Play Festival Celebrates 20th Year

The Delaware Play Festival, one of the oldest regional play festivals in the United States, will celebrate its 20th anniversary this year.

In continuous operation since 1940, except for three war years, the venture is jointly sponsored by the University of Delaware Dramatic Center and the Delaware Dramatic Association.

Dr. C. Robert Kase, chairman of the dramatic center, announced last week that this year's festival will be held March 22 and 23 in Mitchell Hall. Up to 16 school and eight community theatres can be entered.

Over 70 different schools and community theatres from throughout Delaware and neighboring communities have participated in the play festival over the 20 year span.

Regulations and entry forms have been mailed to all previous participants, according to Dr. Kase. Deadline for entries is Feb. 16. Applications will be accepted in order of receipt.

Further information may be obtained from the University Dramatic Center.

Speech Course Offered By Extension

Some critics say Americans are rapidly losing the art of letter writing and relying more and more on oral communication.

To help develop effective speech with grace and quality, the University of Delaware extension division, through the cooperation of the department of dramatic arts and speech, will offer area residents three separate courses in this field during the spring term.

Especially helpful in developing various qualities of the voice the course in oral interpretation of literature is designed to help students convey the thought, mood and feeling of literature and will feature analysis and reading aloud of selections.

Robert Henderhan, a new member of the department faculty, will teach the course in Wilmington Tuesday evenings. Offered for the first time through extension, the course will consider the types of literature that lend themselves to oral interpretation, the difference between acting and interpretive reading, and techniques of interpretation. Films and tapes will be used in instruction. Among the literary works to be considered will be "Antigone," "On the Beach," "1984," and poetry by Poe, Whitman and Longfellow.

A course designed to develop effective speaking for personal development, leadership and acceptance of social responsibility and providing practice in public speaking will be offered on Mondays in Wilmington and Dover. It will consider speech as a phase of communication involving speaker, listener and response.

Of particular interest to elementary teachers is a basic course in voice and speech to be offered in Seaford on Wednesdays. Formation of speech sounds and some work in phonetics and language will be included in the instruction. The course is designed to cover the basic principles underlying development of acceptable habits of speech.

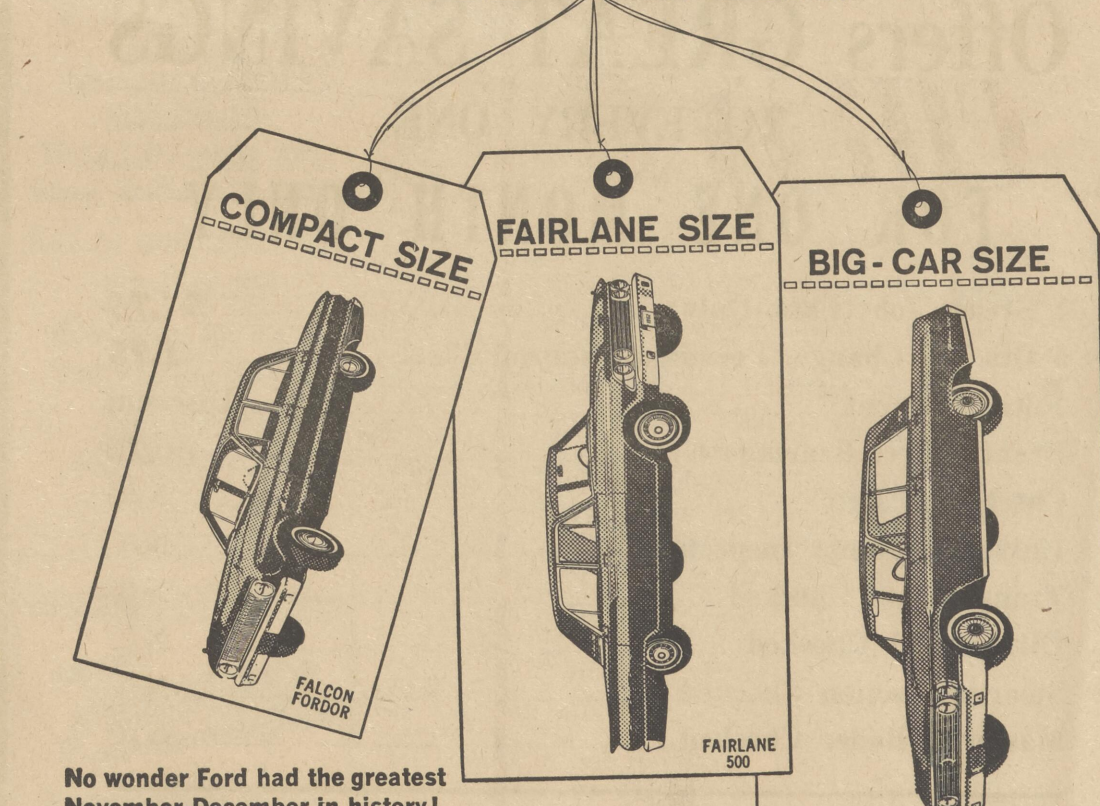

Registration will be held in Wilmington, Newark, Dover and Georgetown next week. Classes begin the week of February 5. Further information may be obtained from the university extension office in Newark.

HARRINGTON A FINE COMMUNITY

At a recent meeting of the Harrington Business and Professional Women's Club the topic was "Development of Community Resources."

The Program Committee had made a quick survey of our community's resources which showed much for which the citizens of Harrington can be thankful and for which they can exhibit justifiable pride.

We have adequate power at present — power which can and will be increased when the demand is felt. There is also a second source of power, one which rests hidden beneath the ground, a natural gas pipe line sufficient in size to fill this city's needs for years to come.

Each week, the classified ad section of this newspaper gives ample evidence of homes and apartments available at low cost or modest rental.

We have clothing, hardware, drug, furniture, grocery, and various other stores capable of filling nearly every shopping need and Two Fine Banks in which to store whatever is left after meeting those shopping needs.

Fairly good streets, clean, well lighted and paved, criss-cross between rows of neat and well-maintained homes, which are in turn, surrounded by attractive lawns and gardens.

A full-time police force patrols those streets to bring safety, comfort and protection to all of us.

Handsome new churches and older churches, reflecting the architecture of our area, combine to give our people an exciting, vigorous and worshipful experience in terms of the eight denominations they represent.

A school—proud and filled with the traditions of many generations—is being increased to meet the growing demands of a growing school population.

We may laugh occasionally at a sign which calls Harrington the "Hub of Delaware" but only until we look at a map. When we do, we see that Harrington is not only the hub of Delaware but is, indeed, the hub of a large part of the Delmarva Peninsula. Located at the crossroads of Route 13 and Route 14 (which is scheduled to be dualized in the future) we are the transfer point of two bus lines—the rest, food and service center for thousands of travelers each year, the distribution point for several industries. In addition, we Harringtonians have easy access to all the metropolitan areas of the East Coast.

Basically a rural community, we enjoy supplies of meat, poultry, dairy, fruit and vegetable products grown on fertile land, blessed with what is usually sufficient rainfall and a temperate climate such as to make our land extremely productive.

Our bodies and belongings are cared for by the able services of two physicians—a modern hospital within a few minutes drive—a well trained and equipped fire company, and nearby recreational facilities such as to suit the taste of everyone.

With clean air and pure water, with reasonable taxes and the opportunity to participate in free elections, with freedom of speech and religion,—WE OF HARRINGTON DO NOT HAVE TO PURSUE HAPPINESS HARD OR FAR TO FIND IT.

The question asked was, "If all this is so, where is there room for betterment in this happy, peaceful and adequate community?"

"Can there be resources which remain untapped?" Yes, there are untapped resources in our community—several hundred untapped resources—several hundred people who refuse to use their talents for the welfare of all—several hundred people who refuse to make an interested, intelligent and vigorous use of our franchise, the priceless treasure sought by all men in all places and at all times,—our heritage as free people—people with the freedom to carve their own destiny in the society of man."

New Poultry Feeding Bulletin

A new technical publication released by the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Delaware indicates that pullets reared on a nutrient-restricted diet are capable of laying more eggs during the laying year than pullets fed a normal ration.

Technical bulletin 337, The Effect of Nutrient Restriction of Pullets during the Growing Period, on Subsequent Laying House Performance, by A. E. Tomhave, professor emeritus, department of animal and poultry science, gives the findings of an extension test of restricted feeding of pullets in both range and confinement situations.

Pullets fed the restricted diet ate more feed but weighed less than the control birds. However, the feed cost per bird was actually lower because the nutrient-restricted diet cost less per ton.

Professor Tomhave's study also indicates that a higher percentage of eggs produced by the nutrient-restricted birds graded 22 ounces or more per dozen.

The publication is available free. Interested persons should write to the mailing room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark. As for Technical Bulletin, 337.

COOKING UP A STORM!

Two champion chicken cooks ring in the 1962 National Chicken Cooking Contest for Bill Rodney, of Laurel, Del., the Delmarva poultry industry's general chairman for the 1962 Delmarva Chicken Festival to be held at Harrington, June 14, 15 and 16.

They are 14-year-old Charles Jones of Georgetown, who in 1959, was National Junior Chicken Cooking Champion, and Mrs. A. L. Karlik of Salisbury, who was U. S. Champion Chicken Cook 14 years ago when the first such contest was held.

Scene of the picture is the test kitchen at the Eastern Shore Public Service building on Route 13 just north of Salisbury, which is similar in most details to the custom-designed "dream" kitchen being offered by the Westinghouse Electric Co. to the man or woman who becomes 1962 U. S. Chicken Cooking Champion in the contest finals in June. Occasion was the autographing of the first 1962 cooking contest entry blank for young Charles. He will try for the outdoor division championship this year.

Preliminary state cooking contests are being held in at least 15 to 20 states this spring, according to the Poultry and Egg National Board, co-sponsors of the National Chicken Cooking Contest. Top winners from these states, as well as winners of best recipes from other states not holding special cook-offs, will compete at the national finals in Harrington.

Entry blanks for Delmarva cooks will be available in food stores after February 1st. Entries close March 17. They can also be obtained by sending a postcard request to Poultry and Egg National Board, Dept. NCCC, 3 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago 3, Illinois.

Record Production Of Honey

There's lots of honey on the market this year—thanks to billions of busy bees who worked overtime last summer in fields and forests. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service, this year's honey crop totals 276 million pounds. This is 33 million pounds more than average.

Honey is at its best uncooked—as a spread, topping, or beverage sweetener.

But it also adds special goodness to many baked products, says Katie Thomas, Kent County Home Demonstration Agent. Honey may be used in preparing puddings, custards, pie fillings, baked apples, salad dressings and cinnamon toast. Brushed or drizzled on ham during the last half hour of baking, it adds extra flavor and a beautiful golden glaze.

Cakes and cookies made from honey remain moist in storage. Usually it's best to use a special recipe. But, you can use honey for part of the sugar in standard recipes if you follow these suggestions:

—in cakes, simply substitute honey for one half the sugar.

—in cookies, the amount of honey that can replace the sugar varies with the type of cookie. For gingersnaps, honey can substitute for no more than a third of the sugar. For brownies, you can use as much as half honey, for fruit bars, up to two-thirds.

—In both, the honey should be mixed thoroughly with the other ingredients. Combine honey with either the shortening or the liquid.

Winter Care of House Plants

House plants need special attention during the winter, reminds County Agent George Vaipaa. They need protection from cold drafts or injurious gases. Remove plants from window shelves when outside temperatures are low. Watering must be done carefully. Avoid over-watering, but provide ample moisture and humidity.

Modern heating systems tend to keep the air dry. Most house plants feed on high humidity. To help improve the dry condition, place pans of water on radiators. Plants can also be placed on top of gravel in pans in which water just covers the gravel. Group plants in one area to help humidity. Plants that require high humidity and are kept in a dry room may be helped temporarily by placing in a plastic bag for a few days or even weeks.

Since daylight is reduced in winter, keep flowering plants at points where maximum light intensity and duration exist. (A south window). Supplement daylight with artificial light if you are interested enough to go to the trouble and expense.

House plants do not need to be fed as much in winter as in summer. Apply only half as much fertilizer just as often. Give plants a quarter turn each time they are watered. Use tepid water for all watering and feeding.

House plants require different growing conditions. Study the needs of each type and try to provide the best conditions possible.

Tips to Farmers

By Mortimer M. Caplin

Third in a Series of 6 FARM INCOME

What types of income are taxable to the farmer?

Generally, all income is taxable. Amounts received for sales of crops, livestock, poultry and dairy products, for sales of gravel, sod and timber, soil bank payments, and other government payments must all be included in income. Some of these items receive special treatment under certain circumstances.

I'd also like to emphasize the fact that all nonfarm income is also taxable to farmers unless specifically exempt. For instance, income such as dividends, interest, rents and royalties, and other business income is taxable to farmers just as it is to nonfarmers.

You mentioned that some income is exempt from taxation; what income is exempt?

There are a number of items; among the more common are social security payments, interest on state, county and municipal bonds, gifts and inheritances, loans and the repayment of loans owed to you, war veterans' pensions, Federal income tax refunds, and life insurance proceeds received because of death. There are others, of course.

You also mentioned that some farm income receives special treatment under certain circumstances?

Yes. One is loans obtained from the Commodity Credit Corporation. Normally, a farmer would report the income from sales of commodities in the year of the sale. However, the law allows the farmer receiving a loan on a commodity to elect, if he so desires, to report the loan as income in the year received. If any amount over the amount of the loan is received in the year of sale, the excess is taxable in that year. I might add, that once an election is made, it is binding on future years and succeeding loans must also be reported in the year the loan proceeds are received.

Under certain circumstances, the sale of timber owned for more than six months constitutes the sale of a capital asset, and any gain on the sale would receive the more favorable capital gains treatment. Similarly, the sale of livestock held for draft, breeding, or dairy purposes can result in capital gains under certain circumstances. A word of caution on the sale of livestock; we've had quite a number of farmers misapply the law and take capital gains on sales that did not qualify. Of course, we had to correct those returns.

I'd suggest that any farmer having sales of these types refer to the Farmer's Tax Guide to see if those particular sales qualify. This guide is prepared by the Internal Revenue Service, and a copy may be obtained free from the district director's office or from the local county agricultural agent.

Are proceeds from crop insurance taxable?

Any amount received for damage to crops constitutes taxable income.

Then are losses on uninsured crops deductible?

No, and let me explain the reason for this. The farmer, of course, loses income which he anticipated he would get for the damaged crops; however, this income has never been reported on his tax return. Since it has never been reported, no loss is allowable. If such a loss was claimed, it would reduce the actual income received and would be entirely incorrect.

The expenses of raising such damaged crops are, of course, deductible.

Willie and Ernest View Farm and Home Week

This is the story of two farmers: Willie and Ernest. They live on adjoining farms. Willie is a "hard luck" farmer who never seems to get his hay baled before the rain or his corn harvested before time to start breaking ground the following spring. He lost several pigs once because of hard luck. Seems they fell through a hole in the ice on a pond. Willie thought they'd be able to drink from that big hole he chopped.

On the other hand, Ernest is a hustler. Everything he does seems to come out right. Some call it "luck". Like the time the price of hogs took that extra jump one spring and Ernest happended to have several truck loads ready to go. Of course he spent a long winter day a year earlier studying outlook and pig crop reports. And he saved back extra gilts for breeding stock.

Willie and Ernest aren't much different from many folks. Some seems to be "lucky". Willie farms the way his father taught him and he isn't much interested in changing.

Ernest, however, picks up every bit of new information he can. He reads farm magazines, extension bulletins, and the farm page in his local newspaper.

One of his best friends is the county agent. He goes to see the agent often to get the latest research information on the crops he produces. He also attends commodity meetings, short courses, field days and other events designed to keep him abreast of new developments in agriculture.

Such an event is coming up soon—"Farm and Home Week" at the University of Delaware in Newark. And all of the "Ernest's" in the state will have a good opportunity to get first hand information on a variety of farming problems.

The agronomy department will offer an outstanding program on weed control. Dr. William Mitchell, University of Delaware agronomist, says, "We're planning to tackle this problem of weeds from all angles—tillage methods, sprays, and granules." Dr. Richard Cole will report on several chemical controls in corn and soybeans.

Wednesday afternoon, dairy farmers will hear a panel of dairymen debating the "future of dairying in the Delaware Valley." Other topics on the dairy program include feeding, loose housing and "what makes a cow tick."

A wide range of other farm topics will be presented during the three-day event. Poultry, vegetables, fruit and home gardening will receive emphasis in addition to agronomy, dairy and livestock.

Technological advances and practical knowledge will be presented in each of these areas by researchers, teachers, farmers and businessmen.

The sessions start at 9:45 a.m. daily in Agricultural Hall, Newark.

Felton School Notes

Referendum Scheduled

Felton School Trustees are making plans for the referendum scheduled for Sat., Feb. 3, to authorize expansion of the current school building program. Voters of the district will be asked to approve the use of funds already available to build four more elementary classrooms than had been included in the original plans. The present elementary wing now accommodates only the first four grades. The building, if enlarged accordingly to the proposal, will meet the requirements of predicted enrollment for the next six years.

P.R.R. Appoints Regional Manager

George M. Smith has been appointed regional manager of the Chesapeake Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Baltimore. He succeeds John D. Morris who was promoted to the position of director, special services, at the company's headquarters in Philadelphia.

Mr. Smith, who has been superintendent of transportation for the railroad's Pittsburgh region, comes to Baltimore with over 26 years of broad railroad experience. At one point in his career he was selected to manage the entire operation of the Panama Railroad in the Panama Canal Zone. For a period of three years, he was also responsible for maintenance and engineering construction at the Union Station facilities in Washington, D. C.

Born in Petersburg, Va., and a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, he comes to the top managerial post on the Chesapeake Region with a broad knowledge of railroading. Following graduation from V.P.I. in 1935, as civil engineer, he started his career with the Pennsylvania as an engineering apprentice. He advanced through a number of positions of increasing importance in the maintenance of way department at several points in Ohio and at Johnstown and Altoona, Pa. In 1948 he was assigned to the Union Station operations at Washington and after three years at that point he returned to the Pennsylvania as division engineer at Harrisburg. He subsequently was advanced to important transportation posts at Chicago and Fort Wayne, Ind.

Recognized as a highly capable railroad operating officer, Mr. Smith was selected in June, 1957, for his assignment to the Canal Zone and the operations of the Panama Railroad. In 1958 he returned to the United States and resumed his career with the Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh.

Mr. Smith is married to Nellie Elizabeth Price, who was born in Blacksburg, Va. They have two children, Carol and George, Jr.

Mr. Morris, a native Marylander and graduate of the University of Maryland, leaves his post as regional manager at Baltimore to take on broadened responsibilities at P.R.R. headquarters in Philadelphia. He will be director, special services and in his new post will be responsible for continuing research in the general transportation field, including assistance in the direction of activities and studies involving the railroad's suburban services. His primary responsibility at this time, however, will be to head up for the Pennsylvania Railroad the co-ordination of studies with representatives of the New York Central to develop a suggested plan of operation for the proposed new Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Company, and to assist in determining the economies that can be produced.

Harry S. Smith Again Receives Recognition

Delaware's Insurance Commissioner, Harry S. Smith, of Georgetown, has again had recognition beyond his home state. He has been singled out by a national insurance publication, the United States Review, and given a half page editorial complimenting him on saving "the taxpayers of the State of Delaware nearly a quarter of a million dollars annually by co-ordinating the state's insurance purchases." Commissioner Smith was highly complimented for utilizing the professional services of local agents and brokers and their companies engineering facilities in drawing up this program which was effected by insuring State-owned buildings under the new Public Institutional and Property Plan; by combining all State-owned vehicles into a single, experience-rated fleet; by similarly consolidating coverage on such equipment as steam-tanks, heating and hot water boilers and the like, and by consolidating all insurance appropriations in a single budget under his own control.

Home Gardeners' Short Course Planned

University Library Bids Due This Week

Bids were asked Tuesday for a new University of Delaware library, completion of which will give Delaware students and faculty one of the most modern facilities for study and research in the nation.

Plans for the new building, to be located on South College Avenue between Hullahen and Robinson Halls, have been in progress for three years under the guidance of a point trustee-faculty committee chaired by Dr. John M. Dawson, director of libraries.

Funds for the library, cost of which is estimated at $3,127,000, were appropriated by the 121st General Assembly. It will contain 119,000 square feet of floor space on three floors, exclusive of the basement. The building will have a capacity of 1,000 readers and approximately 650,000 volumes.

The new building has been designed for flexibility to meet changes in function. Open stacks throughout will reduce the barriers between users and books which exist in the present library, yet provide a quiet, comfortable building with a variety of seating accommodations. Provisions has been made for expansion of the building should future needs dictate additional space. The centralized library services of the new building will serve the entire campus and eliminate the need for small school or departmental libraries in various campus buildings.

Special features of the new library will be small reading rooms scattered throughout the stacks, many individual study carrels, group study rooms, typing rooms, faculty studies, music listening room, several smoking lounges, a central tape recording radio facility, a microfilm reading room, a bibliography room, controlled reserve book stacks and a public elevator.

The building, which will be one of the largest on the campus, was designed by Howell Lewis Shay and Associates in restrained contemporary style. Bids will be opened on Feb. 23 and construction will begin shortly thereafter. Completion is anticipated by May, 1963.

The interior of the present Memorial Library, one of the best known landmarks on the University campus, will be renovated to provide much needed classroom and office space for the school of arts and science.

Members of the library planning committee, in addition to Dr. Dawson are: Walter J. Beadle, J. Bruce Bredin, Henry F. duPont, George B. Pearson Jr., and Ernest S. Wilson of the board of trustees; Professors Morris S. Cover, Walter Kirchner, Russell G. Stauffer and Frank Zozzora; Dr. Bruce J. Partridge, vice president for business and management; and H. Eugenet Pierce, director of physical plant.

The family requested that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the Harrington Asbury Methodist Church Building Fund.

Wm. J. Miller, Jr. Speaks at Conference

"The acceptance of the need for uniformity in traffic control devices has been recognized by many public officials over many years," William J. Miller, Jr., director of operations for the State Highway Department, told a regional conference of State Highway officials recently in Washington.

Mr. Miller appeared before the conference at the request of the Bureau of Public Roads and during his address he cited that Delaware has been following patterns on traffic control devices presented in the manual prepared by the Bureau.

"A joint action leading to procuring uniform traffic control signals, and their locations, as well as uniform traffic signs will be an improvement for the motorist, the highway, the designer and the engineer," stated Mr. Miller, who dwelt at length on the benefits from uniformity to be derived by the motorist traveling from state to state.

Now—
Ford frees you forever
from the expense and bother of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here—
and only the cars from Ford have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

Fairlane, you don't have to drive with one eye on the odometer to make sure you're not forgetting an oil change or a grease job or other servicing. Ford's twice-a-year maintenance saves you time, saves you money. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves. Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

With the weather permitting it won't be long before you can sit out here as a railbird and your stop watch and see the progress being made.

Several trainers have already turned their horses. Time is really creeping up on them. If the temperature will just stay half way and no snow, everything will be okay.

With all the rain, snow and freezing weather I don't think we are behind the boys farther south.

When the boys get cold out here at the track they just dash over to Lucy's Restaurant for a hot cup of coffee and out they go. Spin a yarn or two. There's always a chuckle over there.

Then there's the "Club House," it's always a busy spot. Now there's Mrs. Earl Thomas so busy with papers stacked to the sky in front of her, I go in for one lone sheet of paper just so I would have the heading of the Kent and Sussex Raceway on it.

Sure Pat, be glad to get it for you. Or Mr. Simpson flying to town but with a hello there and on his way.

And Virginia, don't you get tired of me asking is there a phone call for me?

Well, the crowd goes along with me. We have nice office personnel.

Jack Boring has moved in with 8 head with 3 to come next week.

Mr. Vineyard, no wonder you have an extra spring in your step and an added smile these days. Watching your 6 colts, you have with their manners (and may I say speed, I'd be happy too. You will recall that song, "High Hopes," it certainly fits in your thoughts. And you certainly have that right. I've had several say to me they should really go far. We'll keep our fingers crossed and wish you the best in the coming year.

Wonder how many remembers when I had that pet goose out here at the track? Well ole Jake's still living, his age must be 7 years at that. I gave him to some friends of ours in Milford. He was about as mean as a goose could get. Course, everyone teased him.

Bob Freck, why do you call my work on? And I don't mean my work on? And I don't mean by Buick.

Now for a real cut saying. I happened to be in the Acme Market when a small youngster asked me where was the Wagon Train. His mother had sent him to get that dog food called Gravy Train. You could tell that little fellow had been watching the TV western, with Wagon Train on his mind.

Wish I'd thought to ask his name.

I asked our milk man, Mr. Tatman, why don't they put out egg nog every day. Now don't get me wrong I like it just as a plain drink.

Was over to see Mrs. DeLong's Boston Bull Kennels. She sure has some wonderful show dogs.

Ran into Emil Adams the other day, he tells me they expect the largest sale ever in March at the Rudnick Sale in Dover.

Emil, who is buying all those new sulkys and carts I see on your truck?

And Gene Anderson, don't slip in here at the track in that blue car. We're used to your red and white station wagon.

Mrs. Reese Harrington aren't you kept pretty busy on that phone? But a wave as I go by.

And Mr. Trotta, I'm still figuring how I can put that beautiful organ in my trailer. It has the most wonderful tone.

Hope this little get-together will sound alright for it certainly hasn't been my day.

Went to Dover, place was closed, on to Milford and they didn't have the ribs I always get. On my way home the windshield went out and gas was almost out. So ended my day, and what a day.

Smyrna Staggers Middletown; Milford On Top in League Race

Milford High's chances to repeat as Diamond State Conference titlist took on new dimensions Wednesday, but the pill was a hard to swallow in the upstate Middletown camp, which saw its slim hopes shattered Tuesday night by an aroused Smyrna quintet that handed the Cavaliers one of their worst setbacks of the campaign.

Milford climbed into sole possession of first place with a hard-earned 47-39 decision over a game with Caesar Rodney five. The win was the fifth in succession for Coach Tee Haincock's unbeaten aggregation and lifted them into the top spot ahead of pressing Seaford (4-0) and Dover (3-0).

Smyrna held Middletown's ace, Bill Clark, the leading downstate scorer, to a meager two foul conversions in crushing the Cavaliers 58-26. The loss left the new conference entry with a 2-2 log and all but eliminated them from the title race.

Milford built up a 28-17 first half margin that proved the difference in its match with the Riders. Sparked by the scoring of Don Mears and Russ Wright and the outstanding rebounding of Don Masten, the front-running Buccaneers vaulted into an early 12-8 lead they never relinquished.

Mears topped all scorers with 21 points. Wright tossed in 12 and Masten added 6 to top the Milford attack. The triumph was the Bucs' sixth in seven overall starts.

Hayden Cuthrell, John Broughten and Jim Quirk spearheaded a Caesar Rodney rally in the second half that closed the margin to 6 points midway through the fourth stanza. Each ended the evening with 9 points.

The setback was the Riders' third in four outings and dropped them into eighth place in the conference standings.

Playing its best ball of the season, Smyrna buried unwary Middletown with an 18-point first period barrage that powered it to a lopsided 36-12 advantage at intermission. The Eagles jumped into a 9-0 edge before Clark converted a foul toss to put the Cavaliers in the scoring column.

Biggest factor in the Eagles' success was their defending of the high-scoring Clark. Employing a four-man zone and deploying Guard Allen Haley man-to-man on Clark, Smyrna reduced the Middletown scoring threat to a minimum. The Cavaliers managed only 3 points in each of the opening and closing quarters.

Coach Ebe Johnson credited much of the Eagles' success to Haley, who syndicated Clark without a field goal. "We played good heads up ball," remarked the Smyrna pilot, "with each boy contributing to our best game of the year."

Gary Harvath and Bob Pritchard supplied the scoring punch, hitting for 19 and 16 points respectively. Gary Simendinger's 9 topped the losers.

The victory was the second straight for Smyrna in league competition and elevated it into a deadlock with Lewes for fifth place. Smyrna will be out to balance its overall log at 4-4 Friday night when it travels to Camden to do battle with Caesar Rodney.

The boxscores: MIDDLETOWN Clark 0-2-2; Price 0-2-2; Simendinger 2-5-9; Branner 3-1-7; Barr 2-0-4; Myers 0-2-2; Copper 0-0-0; Gouge 0-0-0. Totals — 7-12-26.

SMYRNA Pritchard 7-2-16; Busker, 0-0-0; Jones 1-5-7; Roth 0-0-0; Harvath 6-7-19; Dunnack 1-0-2; Haley 2-0-4; Pleasanton 1-0-2; McCoy 2-0-4; Powell 1-2-4. Totals — 21-16-58.

MILFORD Mears 8-5-21; Burris 1-1-3; Greenlee 1-1-3; Wright 4-4-12; Masten 1-4-6; Loper 0-2-2. Totals 15-17-47.

CAESAR RODNEY Cuthrell 4-1-9; Spencer 1-0-2; G. Cox 1-1-3; Broughton 3-3-9; B. Cox 1-1-3; O'Brien 1-2-4; Quirk 4-1-9. Totals — 15-9-39.

Traffic on Increase in December

Traffic on all main highways in Delaware showed increases during the month of December, over the same month of the previous year, according to a report of the Planning Division of the State Highway Department.

It is estimated that some of the increase was caused by the absence of storms during December that were present during December of 1960 and retarded traffic during that month.

Along Route 40, at a point west of Bear, an increase of 23.68 percent was recorded with the daily average of vehicles counted being 22,448, an increase of 4,398 over December of 1960. The largest single day was December 22nd when 34,626 vehicles were counted.

An increase of 13.58 percent was listed along Route 13 north of Smyrna with the daily average being 10,792, an increase of 1,280, and the largest day was December 22nd when 13,583 vehicles were counted.

Along the Concord Pike, Route 202, north of Talleyville, the increase was 8.43 percent with the daily average being 12,188, an increase of 948 and again December 2nd was the largest day with 15,507 vehicles counted.

The Kirkwood Highway, east of Newark had an increase of 18.8 percent, with a daily average of 15,398, an increase of 2,428, and December 15th was the largest day with 19,180 vehicles counted.

An increase of 5.87 percent was recorded along Route 113, north of Milford, with the daily average being 5,515, an increase of 306 and December 15th was the largest day with 6,880 vehicles counted.

At a point south of Greenwood, Route 113 had an increase of 13 percent, with a daily average of 5,692, an increase of 656 while December 22nd was the largest day with 8,013 vehicles being counted.

U. of D. Installs Microfilm Reader-Printer

The University of Delaware scored a "first" yesterday in providing new equipment for student-faculty research.

While company representatives hovered about like a group of expectant fathers, the first Thermo-Fax "Filmac 300" Reader-Printer was installed in the microfilm room of the university library.

Dr. John M. Dawson, director of libraries, was responsible for the purchase of the new device, a handsome, 220 pound unit which is 26 inches high, 21 1/2 inches wide and 46 inches deep. It will make prints of microfilm materials of all kinds up to 11 x 14 inches, including 16 and 35 millimeter film, aperture cards, jackets and film sheets.

The machine's optical system projects an image on an 11 by 14 inch screen and two projection lenses provide variable enlargement from 8 to 20 diameters. Copies of single lines, columns or entire newspaper pages can be reproduced in a matter of seconds, saving the student or faculty member the laborious job of taking notes or copying entire passages by hand.

Supervising the installation of the reader-printer were R. C. Buckman, George Kelly and John Smythe, all of the Wilmington Office of Thermo-Fax Sales, Inc. and Donald Derhan and Robert Hyde, Eastern and Southern area representatives respectively, of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, the parent organization.

According to Dr. Dawson, the new equipment should be of particular value to scholars involved in research whose efficiency and speed will be aided by the reader-printer's special advantages.

Besides his son and daughter, he is survived by one brother, Joseph Kotlaba, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Tlapak, both of Little Ferry, N. J.; two grandchildren, one great-grandchild.

Mr. Kotlaba was born in Czechoslovakia, son of the late Joseph and Barbara Beick Kotlaba and came to the United States at the age of 12 years. He was employed for several years by the County Maintenance Dept. of New Jersey; the Erie Railroad in New Jersey for fifteen years and after moving to Delaware, was engaged in farming near Harrington until his retirement a few years ago.

All Spiders Aren't Bad

Spider webs you see in the dark, undisturbed corners of your home are not as bad as they appear to be. George Vapaa, Kent County agent, says spiders feed on the insects that are trapped in the webs, so in this way can be considered beneficial. However, the webs also collect dust and dirt and can be unsightly.

Most housewives hate the sight of spiders, Mr. Vapaa contends even when they know they're harmless. The black widow is the only species of spider in Delaware whose bite is poisonous to humans, but this spider is seldom found.

Temporary cleanup can be obtained by sweeping down the webs, but new ones will soon be formed if the spiders are not destroyed. Mr. Vapaa explains an effective way to kill spiders is to spray infested areas with 0.5 percent Lindane or 3.0 percent malathion household-type spray. These materials can be purchased ready to use. One application will usually give satisfactory control of the spiders.

Pesticide Previews For '62

Will you be using or selling agricultural pesticides in Maryland in 1962? Plans for the 8th Annual Pesticides Conference will cover what's new and give previews for '62! Two separate conferences have been programmed, the first on February 7 at the Elks' Home, Salisbury, Md., and the second on February 9 at the Winchester Hall Auditorium, E. Church St., Frederick, Md.

The Eastern half of Maryland will be for the Feb. 7 conference and the Western and Central areas of Md., will be concerned with the Feb. 6 conference.

According to Dr. L. O. Weaver, plant pathologist, University of Maryland, "These meetings are designed primarily for all University of Maryland County Agents and for anyone interested in the sale or use of agricultural chemicals. This means commercial company representatives, salesmen, local cooperative representatives, farmers, hardware dealers and others who supply pesticides."

Speakers will be University of Maryland faculty members from the Extension Service and the Experiment Station. They will center their discussion around agricultural pesticides for the control of plant diseases, weeds, crop insects, nematodes and animal insects. Since the use of agricultural chemicals is "big business," the volume of agricultural pesticides is very important and necessary for high yields of quality fruit, vegetables and agronomic crops. "This adds up to an abundant supply of food and fibre for the United States and other countries and many of our crops are now grown under the protective shield of fungicides and insecticides," states Dr. Weaver. He continued by saying, "Control of nematode diseases by soil treatment is a standout example. Seed treatments with chemicals and soil treatments with chemicals and soil treatments have controlled seed and seedling rots. Good emergence is normal." The array of inorganic and organic fungicides, herbicides and insecticides is vast. Thus, the problem of specific recommendations is created and this will be discussed primarily at these meetings, together with the problems of application and residue.
