

PARKING METERS TO COME OUT ON TRIAL BASIS, COUNCIL SAYS

It was like old times at the February meeting of the City Council Wednesday evening in that the session lasted until 11 p.m., the way it used to do some ten years ago.

The Council acted on so much legislation it was difficult to determine what was most important.

It appointed Lester Tucker, 28, a farmer, for a probationary period of three months as patrolman, after the Police Commission had recommended his appointment. He replaces Donald Black, who resigned to become a constable.

City Manager George S. Graham was authorized to advertise for bids on a police car, bids to be opened at the March meeting.

In other business: Approved a transfer of $5000 from the water fund to the general fund.

Discussed with Grover Brown, of Brown & Brown, the City solicitors, revised ordinances, and to hold a special meeting Feb. 21, on the legislation.

Voted to declare all land, previously designated as farm land, and thus, nontaxable, as non-farm land and hence, taxable. Under the City Charter, the Council has this power. Mayor Peck thought the thing might be tested in court.

Turned over to the City solicitor an application from Herbert Denney for $150 for fire damages to a tract of land near the City Dump northwest of town. The city manager said the City does not burn trash and that signs at the dump forbid the burning of trash. The City had paid one such claim in recent years. The question was: Where did the fire start?

Voted to put a 4-inch water main on Shaw Avenue from halfway in the second of its two blocks to the remainder. The city manager said local help could do the work but he would have to order the pipe, which he thought would arrive in March.

Gave city manager authority to have some streets surveyed preparatory to improving. Streets included Hanley, Weiner Sts. (not Weiner Ave.) The city manager also recommended improving Thorpe Street and Thomas Alley. Mechanic Street will also be surveyed.

The City manager said he expected to get five or six men, from relief roles, to work next week cleaning up ditch banks and to do a little sweeping. The manager said the men could work 37 hours per month, and that, if they did not show up, they would be taken from relief roles by the State Welfare Department which recommended the workers.

Council approved writing of letters to the regional manager of the Chesapeake Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the State Highway Department asking improvement of railroad crossings.

Approved raising of assessment from 35 per cent to 60 per cent, to agree with county assessment, but tax rate will be lowered. Present rate is $1.40 per hundred dollars. Tax rate is still to be determined. Assessors O. T. Roberts and Mrs. Keith Burgess had practically completed the assessment on the previous basis.

Recommended suggestions of auditing firm be carried out in bookkeeping and insurance. The insurance agency handling city property will be asked to attend the March meeting.

Approved taking out of parking meters for one year and substitution of two-hour parking.

Mrs. Cora E. Wiseman
The funeral of Mrs. Cora E. Wiseman, 81, who died Wednesday, will be held Saturday at 2 p.m.

Service will be held at the Church of God in Milford with the Rev. William E. Tull, minister, and the Rev. Millard Benner, minister of Tressler Memorial Church at Greenwood, officiating.

Mrs. Wiseman is survived by nine children they are: four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Butler of Dover, Mrs. Edward J. Mackell of Baltimore, and Mrs. Norman Smith and Mrs. Burton Smith, both of Harrington; five sons, Fred of Wilmington, Daniel of Greenwood, Leonard and Gideon of Milford and Carlos of Lakeland, Fla.

Other survivors are a brother, William Beaman of Medina, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Richard Wellman of Akron, Ohio.

Friends may call tomorrow night at the Berry Funeral Home in Milford.

Action will have to wait for arrival of signs. Decided to check with city solicitors on move to increase city borrowing power from $25,000 to $50,000. State legislation would be required. Council thought it would be good if and when industry comes to town.

Motor Fuel Tax Receipts

Receipts for the first five months of the present fiscal year for motor fuel taxes showed an increase of $337,842.87 over the same period of the preceding fiscal year.

A compilation of reports of the Motor Fuel Tax Division of the State Highway Department for the period from July 1 to November 30, reveals total receipts of $4,376,877.15.

Since an increase of one cent was added to the motor fuel tax on Dec. 15, the receipts for December, which are being received during January, will not be comparable with the same month of the preceding year because of the rate change.

A check on the gallonage sold during the month will reveal any increase or decrease in the consumption because of the tax rate change and this will not be available until later.

St. Stephen's First Minister Resigns

The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr. has resigned as vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Harrington, effective July 1.

Mr. Symonds was the first full-time minister in the history of the church that was consecrated in 1876.

He was ordained a vicar on June 2, 1956, and immediately assigned to St. Stephen's. He was ordained to the priesthood and the attendance grew so rapidly that the floor of the 83-year-old building collapsed at Christmas Eve services that year when a record 120 worshippers were standing while the choir marched in. No one was hurt.

A year later, excavation was begun for a new church and a bid was put in to be host to the 1959 annual convention of the Diocese of Delaware in May. Delays intervened but the mission was chosen for the 1960 convention, during which the new building was consecrated.

Mr. Symonds, called Jack by his friends, is a University of Delaware and Virginia Theological Seminary graduate and was an assistant chaplain in an Illinois' boys prison before his ordination.

For the last two years, he has been president of Friends of Youth Association of Delaware a group organized to help boys and girls in state reform schools. SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED FOR JUNIOR MISS WINNER

Car Kills Kent Official's Wife

Mrs. Anna Paskey, 72, of Felton, wife of William Paskey, a member of the Kent County Board of Assessment, was fatally injured when struck by a car Wednesday.

The accident took place on Route 13 near her home.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Mabel Collins, 53, of 2518 Jessup St., injured in an automobile accident in Wilmington, on Jan. 21, died at the Delaware Hospital.

The two deaths boosted the Delaware highway fatality toll this year to five as compared to three for the corresponding period of 1961.

Mrs. Paskey was the third pedestrian killed this year.

State police at Dover said Mrs. Paskey was attempting to cross the main highway about 1:15 p. m. and darted directly into the path of a car traveling north.

John M. Custer, 42, of Bridgeville, driver of the car, said the woman ran in front of his car so quickly that he had no time to stop. She was knocked several feet.

Her husband, who is active in Democratic circles in Kent County, is president of the Felton Community Fire Co., and is a former member of the House of Representatives.

William Torbert, coroner of Kent County, helped state police in their investigation. Dr. Philip J. G. Quigley, state medical examiner, was also notified and will perform an autopsy soon to determine the cause of death.

Mrs. Collins was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding struck a utility pole in the 1600 block Pine Street, last month.

Wilmington police said Mrs. Collins was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Jessie Brown, 48, of 201 E. 13th St. The vehicle failed to negotiate a turn, jumped the curb and struck the pole, police reported. Mrs. Brown was slightly injured.

Newest Ideas in Home Decor Presented in Color

A new 28 minute Technicolor motion picture called "Decorating Unlimited" is now available free from the Diamond State Telephone Company, it was announced by John Moore, local manager.

"It presents a wealth of the newest, practical up-to-date home decorating ideas of top decorators, and how they can be adapted to anyone's home and budget," the manager said.

Its aim is to help each viewer take away some one or more decorating ideas. The film was produced in co-operation with McCall's magazine. Here are just a few of the problems it answers:

How to decorate your hallway to give that first "good" impression.

How can you make a single bedroom peacefully livable for two growing boys of different ages?

How can a teenage daughter's bedroom be furnished to reflect her tastes and interests?

How can you check on your youngsters upstairs while doing kitchen chores?

How can you find out who's at the door, without leaving your housework?

Organizations can obtain this 16mm without charge by calling the local telephone company business office.

Rhodesia has the world's second highest divorce rate, exceeded only by America, a Salisbury commentator reports, "and soon may have the highest."

The Coca-Cola bottling companies of Dover, Wilmington, and Salisbury have announced that jointly they will award the winner of the Delaware Junior Miss Pageant a $500 scholarship.

This scholarship grant may be used at any approved educational institution. The Harrington Jaycees, sponsors of the 1962 Delaware Junior Miss Pageant, is pleased to learn of the interest of the Coca-Cola Company in the Junior Miss program. In addition to giving recognition to the outstanding high school senior girls in the state, this pageant encourages contestants to continue their education.

Bobbie Brooks, Inc., will award a 10-piece wardrobe to the first runner-up in the contest, and a five-piece wardrobe to the second runner-up. Also, the Kodak Company will award $100 worth of photographic equipment to the first three winners. Other gifts will be awarded to all contestants.

This Delaware Junior Miss Pageant will be held at the Harrington High School at 8 p. m. Sat., Feb. 17.

David Jones, chairman of the project, reports that an interesting program has been planned and urges public support.

Soup Takes Spotlight in Winter Meals

By Miss Janet L. Coblentz

Cold winter winds and frosty days bring out the soup pots. Many homemakers rely on hot soups and chowders as an important part of family fare. There are so many different kinds that with a little imagination and variety, soup accompanied by just the right salad, sandwich or dessert can make a satisfying and adequate meal.

There's tempting flavor and aroma in soup made from meat bones. When you buy a cut of meat you pay for the bone at the same rate charged for lean meat and fat—and the wise shopper makes full use of it. Bones left from roasts, steaks, chops, ham or any other cut can be used to make excellent soup stock.

Chicken is also true of turkey and chicken bones. The neck, wings and other bony pieces of fowl are especially good for soup making. Bones give the soup flavor. Markets often sell knuckle bones, the traditional "soup bones", at low cost.

If you use large bones, crack them before you put them in the soup pot so the liquid can reach all parts more easily. Cover bones with water and simmer gently a couple of hours. If some tomato is added, the acid will help dissolve calcium from the bones.

And now for the flavoring and also nutrients which vegetables can add. Outer stalks and leaves of celery and onion, carrots, potatoes and other vegetables added to soup stock fill the soup bowl with nourishment. Vegetables give best flavor and more food value if added during the last half hour of cooking. Liquid from cooked, fresh vegetables or from canned vegetables also may be used in the soup stock mixture. Extra food value is provided by adding more meat and vegetables.

Just before you serve the soup, you might add croutons, chopped celery or parsley, toasted bread sticks, bits of chopped bacon or oyster crackers. Also, grated cheese sprinkled over the top, sieved egg yolk, or a dash of paprika can add just the right color and flavor to a bowl of soup.

New Pigs Need Heat Supplement

One of the surest ways to insure greater swine profits is to use heat lamps in the farrowing house, according to George Vapa, Kent county agent. As long as temperatures are below 40 degrees they should be used.

Each pig saved is worth 10-15 dollars at weaning time with little additional cost.

Observing a few simple safety rules in the use of these lamps will keep costs down and insure safety, the agent adds.

Infrared lamps should always be used with porcelain sockets. The bulb base gets too hot for rubber, bakelite or brass with paper insulation. Lamps should be well supported, preferably on a chain, for easy height adjustment and rugged suspension, according to the agent.

Keeping Cheese At Home

Many questions are asked on how to keep cheese at home, says Katie C. Thomas, Kent County Home Demonstration Agent. Homemakers ask whether to keep cheese in or out of the refrigerator, how to protect it from mold, and whether it can be stored in home freezers. One guide as to where and how to keep cheese is the modern food market. These are many shapes and sizes of cheese packages in refrigerated showcases. These varieties of cheese should be kept refrigerated at home. Cheese spreads sell from markets shelves. Once these jars are opened at home, these too should be kept in the refrigerator. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that soft, unripened cheeses—such as cottage, cream, or Neufchatel—are quite perishable and should be used within a few days after purchase. Ripened or cured cheese keep well in the refrigerator for several weeks if protected from mold or drying out. When possible, the original wrapper or cover should be left on the cheese. The cut surface of cheese should be closely covered with wax paper, foil or plastic wrapping material to protect the surface from drying out. If large pieces are to be stored for any extended time, the surface may be dipped in hot paraffin. Small pieces may be completely re-wrapped. Mold that may form on natural cheese is not harmful and is easily scrapped off the surface. The particular mold in the interior of such cheeses as Blue, Gorgonzola, Roquefort, or Stilton has been carefully developed to produce the characteristic distinctive flavor of those varieties as part of the cheese. Ends of pieces of cheese that have become dry and hard may be grated and kept in the refrigerator as a topping, garnish or accent for food. Cheese with a strong odor, such as Limburger, should be stored in a tightly closed jar or other very tight container. Because these cheeses are fast curing, they are best used within a reasonable time after purchase. Freezing is not recommended as a method of preserving all types of cheese because it may damage the characteristic body and texture and cause the cheese to become crumbly and mealy. But certain varieties in small pieces (a pound or less) not over an inch thick may be stored at zero degrees F. or lower for as long as six months. For freezing, cheese must be tightly wrapped in freezer foil or other moisture-proof freezer wrapping. Press the wrap close against the surface of the cheese to force out air and then freeze immediately. Varieties of cheese that may be frozen successfully this way are: Brick, Cheddar, Edam, Gouda, Muenster, Port au Salut, Swiss, Provolone, Mozzarella and Camembert.

It all starts with proper planting techniques, he says, and involves pruning, staking, mulching, fertilizing, and a few more good practices. Mr. Vapaa lists these steps to insure the success of your "little acorns." —Plant when the soil isn't frozen or too wet—any time between now and next April is all right. Container plants can go out any time—even in the summer. —Dig holes six inches deeper and 12 inches wider than necessary to accommodate the ball of soil or roots of the plant. Set the plant the same depth that it grew originally. Shallow-rooted plants are exceptions. Plant them slightly more shallow to allow for settling. —Water thoroughly. Shape the soil to make a saucer-shaped area around the plant. Water thoroughly once a week (five to ten gallons) during dry weather for at least the first two growing seasons. —Prune back the plant often, as much as one-third to one half. Roots are lost in digging and the plant should be balanced by removing some of the top. Chinese holly and pyracantha particularly should be cut back rather heavily since they are difficult to transplant. Boxwood and azaleas, on the other hand, need lit-

Farm Outlook Same for '62

By W. T. McAllister

In part one of this series, I attempted to forecast the situation for dairy livestock and poultry products. This week let's take a look at feed grains and vegetables and farm costs in general.

Feed Grains

Feed grain prices to producers probably will average a little higher in the 1961-62 crop year than in 1960-61. The higher prices will result from higher support price levels, a smaller total production, and a small increase in the number of livestock to be fed. However, the movement of a large quantity of corn out of storage under the provisions of the Feed-Grain Program could influence feed grain price levels during 1962.

Prices received by farmers for oats and barley are higher this fall than a year ago and higher than normal in relation to most other feeds. This situation probably will not change during 1962.

High Protein Feeds

Supplies of high protein feeds for 1961-62 are expected to be about four percent above last year—mostly due to a large soybean crop. Prices of protein feeds will be a little lower this year and will not show the sharp seasonal rise that occurred last year when the price of soybeans skyrocketed.

Soybeans

A record crop of soybeans was produced in Delaware and the United States in 1961. This large crop follows a year of unusual demand and prices, so there were practically no carryover stocks. The 27 percent increase in production is thought to be greater than domestic and foreign demand and that a carryover of 80 million bushels into the 1962-63 crop year is likely. These would be mostly soybeans taken over on loans under the 1961 price support program.

A large crop is expected again next year. Government farm programs which are uncertain at this time will play a major role in the number of acres planted and the price next fall.

Vegetables

The total quantity of canned vegetables available for markets into mid 1962 are moderately larger than a year ago, and substantially above the 10-year average. Supplies of frozen vegetables are substantially above last year's and the largest on record. Acreage of vegetables harvested was somewhat larger in 1961 in a 10 percent increase in production.

Supplies of canned and frozen peas are smaller for the 1962 marketing year but green bean stocks are moderately above normal. The pack of sweet corn was substantially larger than 1960 while the tomato pack is only slightly above that of last year. Prices on canned vegetables have held the level of last year or slightly above but heavy supplies of corn, green beans, and sauerkraut have caused lower prices on these items.

Processors will be cautious because of heavy supplies and low prices with costs continuing to rise.

Potatoes

Heavy supplies throughout 1961 kept the potato market depressed. Winter and early spring crops were above normal. The summer crop from the Carolinas to New Jersey was below average but heavy supplies from the West kept prices under pressure. The fall crop was the largest in several years and prices have been very low.

A cutback in total production has been recommended by USDA in their annual "Acreage Planting Guide." They suggest a three percent cut in the early spring crop and a 10 percent reduction in the late spring and summer crop. It is likely a substantial cut for the fall crop will be recommended also. If acreage cuts of this proportion are made, 1962 will be a better year for potato growers. There is some pressure for the potato industry to adopt marketing orders as a means of keeping production in balance with market needs.

Farm Costs

Production costs rose in 1961 about one percent over 1960 and are up 27 percent since 1950. Another increase in farm costs can be expected in 1962. Manufactured items that farmers use in production such as farm machinery, farm supplies, and building and fencing materials tend to go up some each year. An exception to this has been fertilizer which has changed very little in price the last few years. Interest rates, taxes, farm wage rates, and the cost of services such as machinery repair, plumbing, and electrical work will be higher in 1962.

Next week we'll take a look at what this means to Delaware farmers and what they can do to adjust to the situation.

Delaware Food Market Report

Things are "looking up" at local markets as sizable increases in supplies of fresh vegetables come to the stores wearing lower price tags. Quality has improved along with the increase in volume, however, select carefully to get the best since all vegetables are not top quality as yet. Fresh snaps, squash and cartoned tomatoes, all down, show the greatest price reduction. Other vegetables in good supply are the root vegetables which include carrots, green onions, Eastern potatoes, radishes, turnips and rutabagas. Kale, cabbage, cauliflower and Florida vine-ripened tomatoes are also more plentiful this week.

The best buys in fresh fruits are Stayman, McIntosh and Rome varieties of apples, grapefruit and oranges. Limes are an excellent buy now and Florida strawberries are fairly reasonable. Michigan frame grown rhubarb is as low in price as it will go. Be sure to check Western pears for prices are quite reasonable on this fruit.

Markets will feature large supplies of beef, pork and lamb during the month. Many choice cuts of beef will reach their low price for the year at this time, so take advantage. In pork, smoked ham, lamb and pork roast, beef roast, some steaks, and of course, turkeys, stewing chickens and broiler-fryers.

Fresh fish is in good supply. Choices include cod, butterfish, porgies and whiting from New England waters, bluefish, King mackerel and red snapper from southern waters. There are many good buys on frozen fish so look for filets of cod and flounder and halibut, salmon and swordfish steaks.

These twisting times have stimulated a major packer of frozen foods to present a new potato treat — "Tater Twists" — crinkle cut French fried potatoes.

For those of you with can opener troubles, the American Can Co. has created a new ham can designed especially for women. It has a rim with a rolled edge instead of the old knife-sharp edge. It also has an easier-to-open tear strip with a coil that will not spring back and a distinctive key that fits a feminine hand. Most meat packers have started to pack hams in this revolutionary new can and by Easter they should be available everywhere.

Why You Should Join 4-H

Why? So you can take advantage of the many opportunities offered by the 4-H program, says Marion MacDonald, Kent County 4-H Agent. Through 4-H you can become a better citizen and help others to be better citizens. The 4-H program is for young people who take part in many activities. As a member, you learn by doing. You learn to apply the latest scientific ideas to many of your projects.

The 4-H motto is "Make the best better." In doing so, the 4-H program develops talents, promotes friendships and learning, helps many to decide their life work, creates better homes for better living, builds health, plus many more achievements.

Mrs. MacDonald points out that the 4-H Club is not a small organization set up by a few people. Do you realize that more than 2,200,000 youngsters served by more than 380,000 volunteer leaders in over 90,600 groups scattered throughout the United States and Puerto Rico participate in 4-H club work?

Every 4-H member makes the 4-H pledge, the pledge that is the basis of their clubs' work to develop heads as boys and girls learn to think and plan. They promise to improve hearts as they learn to be kind, sympathetic, and co-operative. Their hands become skillful when Oliver Reed of Harrington, governor of our Lodge, explains that the funds will be raised through lodge fund raising activities.

He adds, however, that contributions to the fieldhouse fund will be welcome from any members of the lodge who wish to give.

Plans for the new fieldhouse were revealed by Director General Paul P. Schmitz during his annual report to the fraternity at the 73rd annual international convention of the Order at Memphis, Tenn.

The proposed fieldhouse will seat 3,500 persons. Therefore any scheduled outdoor activities could be moved indoors in case of inclement weather.

Harrington Cagers Lion Cagers Defeat Felton Lose in Overtime

Jim Hawpe's Harrington High basketball team recorded its second win of the season Friday night as the Lions took the measure of the Felton High Green Devils by the score of 39-27.

Both teams were way off in their shooting as Felton never had a field goal in the first quarter. Harrington did not score a close-in basket until the fourth period. The losers' sliding zone defense kept the middle clogged up and the Lions missed every push and jump shot attempted from either side of the net. Jeff Adams hit from the outside to break a 1-1 tie soon after the opening minutes. George Collins caged three long ones and Wayne Collison added another to give the home team a 11-1 first quarter bulge that held up till the finish.

In the second stanza Adams, Porter, Fry and Adams again, hit for four outside buckets. Felton looked better but were behind 22-8 at halftime.

Shortly after the fourth quarter opened the Lions finally managed to get in close for three or four layups. Felton made a late surge against H.H.S. reserves to make the final tally respectable.

The visiting Devils were hurt by the early fouling out of their tiny floor man Bill Green. The officials called a very close game. They have undoubtedly seen some of these neighborhood rivalries result in rough, heated battles. Apparently they decided the way this they did.

The contest showed some of the smallest varsity cagers in captivity in Green and the Harrington trio of Bill Adams, George Collins and Allen Wix.

Jeff Adams and George Collins had 15 and 13 points respectively to pace the winners.

Bill Young led the Felton scoring with 9 points.

Felton's girls' team broke out of a 16-16 halftime score and went on to win the prelim 36-32. Josephine McCloskey netted 24 points to lead the winners. Jane Phillips had 15 for Harrington.

Jim O'Neal is heading up a movement to start an officially sanctioned Little League program in Harrington. The locals have been competing in an unsanctioned league in the past. Four teams would be organized. Milton started a community Little League schedule last year.

Lewis Wroten and Bob Wix, postal workers and basketball fans, caught the undefeated act of the North Carolina High Bulldogs Tuesday night at Denton. The Bulldogs draw students from Denton, Greensboro and Ridgely. They took the measure of a good Cambridge squad. The Marylanders hold a practice game win over also all-winning Dover High.

Tim Strohl, wrestling co-captain, football center and track sprinter, will be moving to Chicago soon. He's the third athlete to move out of the Harrington district this term.

A recent obituary mentioned a Mardela, Md., restaurant owner named Jack Stant. The age given was 48. A strong Federalsburg baseball team that waged some memorable battles with Harrington town team had a pitcher-outfielder by that name in the thirties.

Henlopen Conference individual scoring statistics released after Friday's games showed Jeff Adams of Harrington in 4th place with 106 points in 8 games for an average yield of 13 per contest.

Geo. Collins, another Lions, is 14th with an average of 10 points an outing.

Bill Porter also was listed giving H.H.S. three names out of twenty-one.

Greenwood's Foresters were represented by Bruce Henry, Julian Woodall and Dick Finkbinder, who were in 13th, 15th and 21st places respectively. Henry and Woodall are averaging 10 points per contest.

Coach Mike Mock's Harrington High wrestling Lions were beaten 33-18 in a match at Dover High on Monday night.

The Lions showed good form as they captured four matches and tied another out of the 12 weight classes even though the locals did not have the services of co-captain Paul Rash, Bill Parker and Charles Taylor. These three lads are rated as comers and all have tasted victory in this their first year of grappling.

George Bonniwell and Ron Melvin won by pins. Paul Callaway and Lewis Starkey were awarded victories by referee's decisions. George Jerread looked good in wrestling to a draw with Morrison in the 138 pound class.

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High Lions journeyed to Delmar Tuesday night for a chance to get back into the thick of things in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference. The locals lost in overtime as the Wildcats Gary Nichols, who had played through four periods with nary a point, caged two baskets in the extra period.

The Lions led most of the way as Delmar rallied to tie at the end of the second and fourth quarters.

George Collins led the Lions with nine points although weakened by a virus. Bill Adams aided with six points.

David Brobst and Wayne Collison continue to improve. Collison was rebounding well off both boards.

Tonight (Friday) the Lions take on the Alumni. It is doubtful if the grads will have much of a chance at this stage of the campaign since the high school five is in fine condition after playing some 12 or 13 games.

Tuesday night Greenwood will play here. This game may go either way depending on which team has the hottest night.

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Former local coach Dick Jeffers is having a banner year as mentor of the De La Warr Lions of the Blue Hen Conference. His charges have beaten league-leading squads two weeks in a row.

They are now tied for second in the loop with an 8-2 log and are unbeaten in their last six starts.

A Harrington cage fan several weeks ago told the De La Warr leader that he would be up to watch the team. Dick recommended that the Harringtonian catch the Lions in action against Wilmington, Wm. Penn, Conrad or Dickinson. These are the bottom four clubs in the Blue Hen Conference. Incidentally, Jeffers and astronaut John Glenn are both graduates of Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio.

Jim O'Neal is heading up a movement to start an officially sanctioned Little League program in Harrington. The locals have been competing in an unsanctioned league in the past. Four teams would be organized. Milton started a community Little League schedule last year.

Lewis Wroten and Bob Wix, postal workers and basketball fans, caught the undefeated act of the North Carolina High Bulldogs Tuesday night at Denton. George Bonniwell and Ron Melvin won by pins. Paul Callaway and Lewis Starkey were awarded victories by referee's decisions. George Jerread looked good in wrestling to a draw with Morrison in the 138 pound class.

Harrington observers felt that Lewis Starkey had pinned Hodges in the 165 pound class but the referee didn't agree so the promising local freshman had to settle for a lopsided 9-0 decision.

Ron Hughes in the 145 pound class and Clyde Mullins at 154 did well though dropping hard fought matches.

Tim Strohl at 180 drew a real tartar in Dover's Marvel. The latter formerly wrestled for a Philadelphia high school in the unlimited class but now can make the weight in the lighter class.

TWO WRESTLERS—Tim Strohl, left, and Paul Rash, co-captains, are two members of the wrestling team of Harrington High School which is having its first season.

NEW PIGS

One lamp may not be enough during farrowing, the county agent explains. Chilling danger starts around 40 degrees F, and for each 15 degree temperature drop in the house, another 250 watt lamp should be added. Suspend the lamp six inches above the sow's back. Twelve to 24 hours after farrowing, move one lamp to a pig creep in one corner of the pen, and suspend the lamp 24 inches above the litter.
