State Police Instructed on Foiling Bombers

Officials of the Delaware State Police and police chiefs of various towns throughout the state were instructed Thursday in methods of foiling "crank" bombers, during an all-day training program of the Intelligence and Explosive Ordnance Reconnaissance Division, State Department of Civil Defense. The sessions were held at the Army Reserve Center, Dover.

The lecture on clandestine devices and other subjects were given by First Lt. Richard H. McGlaun, commander of the 69th Ordnance Detachment of the U. S. Army, a bomb expert who is stationed at the Valley Forge General Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa. Lt. McGlaun is charged with the responsibility of training IEORD personnel in Delaware and 10 counties of Pennsylvania.

The trainees also heard a lecture on nuclear radiation and its characteristics and effects on man, given by Dr. William H. Lockwood, of the DuPont Company, who is chief of the IEORD for the State Department of Civil Defense.

Lieutenant McGlaun described involved types of home-made bombs, including those triggered by electric current, clocks or watches, ordinary contact and an ingenious device set off by beans swelling in a saucer of water.

The Army's bomb expert also displayed and explained samples of many types of explosives and their damage effects.

Other lectures presented by Lt. McGlaun were on such subjects as: "Nuclear Weapons Fire," "Nuclear Accidents and Accident Procedures" and "Discussion of Action in Nuclear Accidents."

In the lecture on "Nuclear Weapons Fire," the trainees were instructed to set up a control point upwind from the conflagration, to check individuals who have been exposed to radioactive contamination and evacuate the area immediately surrounding the fire.

In his discussion of clandestine devices, Lt. McGlaun warned his audience that materials for making home-made bombs "are all around." He also cautioned the trainees not to touch the device nor to place it in water.

Among those attending the sessions were: Capt. Burrill F. McCoy, of Delaware State Police, an assistant to Dr. Lockwood; Maj. George F. Schmalhofer, also of Delaware State Police; Sgt. Curtis Bupp, of New Castle County Police; Chief of Police Donald Campbell and James Nolan, of Elsmere Police; Sgts. Calvin N. Leighton, David W. Henderson and George H. DeGraw, all of Wilmington Police; Ernest Kohland, of Harrington Police; Ellridge Murray, of Ocean View Police; W. F. Peterson, of Bellefonte Police; Henry E. Snediker, of New Castle County Police; George Getty, of Newark Police, and William Short, of Milford Police.

The training session was endorsed by Col. John P. Ferguson, superintendent of Delaware State Police, in cooperation with the State Department of Civil Defense, Delaware City.

Fire Destroys Farm Building Near Farmington

Three volunteer fire companies battled a fire that destroyed a small grain and equipment storage building on a farm near Farmington Monday afternoon.

Farmington, Harrington and Greenwood firemen joined to fight the fire on a farm operated by Bernie Draper, two miles west of Farmington.

A Farmington fireman estimated damage to the building and seed, soybeans, and equipment inside at about $2,500.

Firemen fought the blaze for two and a half hours. A tin roof held the fire in but impeded firemen's efforts to get inside, said a fireman.

Stored grain, 1,700 pounds of clover seed, and 50 bushels of soybeans smoldered long after the wood frame building was a charred wreck.

Draper operates the farm but it is owned by Mrs. Mae Hopkins, Dover. The fire began when Draper burned grass on his lawn. He said he put the fire out and went inside his home. Somebody warned him within a few minutes that his yard was burning.

He rushed outside and tried to put out the fire but it leaped over dry grass to the storage building and began burning there. Firemen were then called.

There was danger at one point—with flames shooting skyward—that the fire might spread to a nearby barn and outbuilding. Draper said the building wasn't insured.

Budget Vow Repeated by Carvel

Gov. Carvel repeated Monday night that his administration will have a balanced budget as of June 30.

In speaking to 600 Democrats at a Kent County Democratic campaign kick-off dinner he made no mention of possible unsettling of the budget due to expenses of the storm two weeks ago.

Featured speaker at the dinner in the Caesar Rodney High School cafeteria was Henry Hall Wilson, Jr., one of President Kennedy's two administrative assistants.

Wilson whose chief function is liaison between the House of Representatives and the White House, outlined the broad legislative program of the Administration.

The press "understandably" focuses far greater attention on those measures the opposition sees fit to challenge than on those it feels it hasn't sufficient ammunition to damage," Wilson said.

Then he proceeded to bring his fellow Democrats up to date with details of the Administration's legislative program.

At a press conference before the dinner Wilson emphasized that "vital and important bills are constantly going through Congress, and are unnoticed because Republicans have nothing to attack."

At both the press conference and the dinner he stressed the "effective leadership" of Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D., Del., in Congress.

V. Blades Derricks, ticket chairman and treasurer, estimated the dinner raised between $1,500 and $2,000 for Kent County Democrats.

CHICKEN BASKET BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

The Chicken Basket, on U. S. 13, north of town, was badly damaged by fire Wednesday evening.

Harrington firemen, assisted by the fire companies of Farmington, Houston, and Felton, were on the scene from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Damage was estimated at $30,000. The blaze started upstairs, where the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boone, had living quarters. The upstairs were gutted, all furniture and clothes were lost, and water damage was done downstairs.

The fire, cause of which was not immediately determined, started in a front room upstairs while the Boone children were in a middle room.

With a brisk wind, the fire was out of control on the arrival of the firemen.

Sewing Success Comes from Choice Of Correct Pattern

The major problem for many women who sew is finding the best fitting pattern. Pattern companies provide a variety of patterns in many different figure types and size ranges.

The only guide given for choosing the correct pattern, however, is by bust, waist, hip and back bodice length measurements. This is a poor guide and works for very few women, according to Miss Janet Reed, clothing specialist at the University of Delaware.

If you find the correct pattern, alterations can be eliminated or reduced to a minimum, says Miss Reed. The best indication of pattern size is to try on a basic pattern and compare sizes and figure types.

U. D. Research Teams Keep Tab on Salt Concentration in Flooded Farm Soils

Research teams from the University of Delaware School of Agriculture are keeping a close watch on salt concentration in flooded crop lands in order to advise farmers on safe planting conditions.

The teams, which swung into action immediately after the storm, took soil samples from scattered fields between Smyrna and Oak Orchard. They found a wide range of salt concentration in the area south of Lewes. The lowest readings were in Northern Kent County with a general increase in salt concentration noticeable as the sampling proceeded south into the areas covered by ocean tides.

Cautious optimism was expressed by two of the team members, Dr. William H. Mitchell and Professor Leo J. Cotnoir, Jr., both of the University's agronomy department. Given normal spring rainfall, the salts should leach down through the soil enough to permit planting of most crops by normal planting dates. Light rainfall or drought conditions could change the picture considerably however, and the salt present in many areas could effect germination and yields under dry conditions.

Planting of peas is the operation most likely to be affected by present salt concentrations according to horticulturists Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse and Professor Robert F. Stevens. With the pea-planting season already at hand, many growers are anxious to get started. The two men will visit growers in storm-affected areas in the next few days to take soil samples on fields where peas are to be grown.

Testing for salt will be the chief combatant effort of the University to help farmers minimize the effects of salt on their crops. The regular soil testing laboratory in Agricultural Hall in Newark will process samples in whatever quantities are needed to meet the emergency. In addition, an auxiliary laboratory has been set up at the University's substation division at Georgetown to aid in processing expected large numbers of samples from Sussex County farms. Farmers are urged to have soil tests made of affected fields ahead of planting dates in order to have enough time to make alternate cropping plans if the tests show this to be necessary. The University has asked that all samples from flooded lands brought or sent in for testing be marked "salt".

Leadership for the field work is being provided by Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, associate director of the agricultural extension service. He is the agricultural representative of the special Disaster Recovery and Rehabilitation Agency established last week by Governor Carvel to assess storm damage in the State.

School of Agriculture Dean George M. Worrlow outlined the following additional steps the University will take in keeping the salt problem under surveillance:

- 1. Continue soil sampling, especially in lower Sussex County where salt concentrations are highest, to measure the rate of leaching.
2. Place rain gauges and infiltrometers at selected locations throughout the state to measure rainfall and test the effect of different amounts of rainfall in lowering salt concentrations.
3. Make germination studies with peas and beans in the University greenhouse to study the effect of present salt levels on germination and growth.
4. Observe the growth and development of crops that are produced on lands that were flooded in the storm.

School Construction

Construction work on the building addition is proceeding rapidly. The pouring of concrete floors and masonry work on the first-floor walls are beginning to make the form and location of the new rooms recognizable. Plumbing lines and electrical conduit are being installed as the construction moves along. J. Roland Dashiell & Sons of Salisbury is the general contractor.

Another project, the improvement of playground and athletic field, is about to get under way. Arrangements have been made with Earth Movers, Inc. to install 36" reinforced concrete tiles in two sections of the ditch which bisects the school grounds. When this work is completed, the entire area will be properly graded and seeded. The northwest section of the school property is being graded now as a temporary practice field for baseball. Varsity home games, however, will be played on the Frederica School grounds this year. In accordance with an agreement between the two schools, this courtesy has been extended to the Felton School by the Frederica Board of School Trustees and Administrators.

Play Festival Opened Thursday

One of the major theatrical events of 1962 will open on the University of Delaware campus tomorrow (Thursday).

The performance schedule in the school division of the 20th Delaware Play Festival has been announced by the program committee. Beginning at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, seven schools will offer their productions. Six more will follow on Friday. Evening sessions will be devoted to the offerings of community theatres.

Among the morning participants will be Newark High School with an abbreviated version of Oscar Wilde's popular comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest." Gunning Bedford High School of Delaware City will present another famous comedy, Chekhov's "The Marriage Proposal." John Dickinson High School's entry is a serious drama, "Sorry Wrong Number." Mt. Pleasant High will counter with a comedy, Susan Glaspell's "Trifles."

On Thursday afternoon beginning at 1:30 p.m. there will be performances of "Submerged" by Dover High School, Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" by A. I. duPont and George Kelley's "Finders Keepers" by Conrad High School.

Friday morning, also starting at 9:30, there will be "Triumph in Ashes" by Perryville High School, a first-time participant, "Two Crooks and a Lady" by John Bassett Moore High School of Smyrna, and "Early Frost" by Ursuline Academy of Wilmington.

The afternoon program will include "Seventeenth Summer" by Claymont High School; "Mankin and Minikin", by the William Penn High of New Castle, and "Three on a Bench", by Rehoboth High School.

The plays in the high school division are presented on a non-competitive basis, but each is given a critique by the critic judge, who appears on the program for this purpose regularly after the second and final performances of each section.

The festival's community theatre competition this year includes the Wilmington Drama League, the University Drama Group of Newark, The Arden Players Guild, the Playcrafters of the St. Matthews P. E. Church of Wilmington, and the Kent County Theatre Guild.

One 75 cent ticket admits to all 18 performances at the two-day festival, making this one of the theatre bargains of the season. For information, interested persons should call the University Dramatic Center.

Delaware Food Market Report

March is probably the toughest month of the year to predict the weather. It blows both hot and cold, yet it has never failed to blow in spring. Signs of spring continue to come to local markets but may wear luxury price tags. Fresh dandelion greens from New Jersey are high priced—but are a harbinger of spring. Asparagus from California, fresh green peas from Florida, corn on the cob, lima beans and vine-ripened tomatoes are all signs that spring is here.

Due to the gale winds in Florida many vegetables are in small supply since harvesting was curtailed. Vine-ripened tomatoes are up 6 to 12 cents a pound. Squash, cauliflower, cucumbers, green peppers and lettuce are all up in price. Cabbage has once again gone on the luxury list and high winds whipped the tops off of corn thus whipping the price up a couple of pennies.

When shopping this week it wouldn't be a bad idea to check prices and compare. It might be better to buy frozen or canned vegetables. There are a number of very good buys to be found in both departments.

As far as fresh fruits are concerned, oranges, grapefruit, avocados, honeydew melons, cold storage apples and bananas are your best buys. The apples that are the most reasonable are Stayman, McIntosh and Rome varieties.

The change-over pace from winter dullness to the extra activity of spring will require foods that are extra nourishing. One such choice is cheese. Supplies of cheese are plentiful—as well as other dairy products—and supplies will probably be more plentiful than ever this year since the milk output promises to be even larger than last year's record.

At the meat counter there are many reasonable buys such as bacon, beef steaks and many lamb cuts. Be sure to check broiler-fryers and turkeys for both are in excellent supply and are wearing economical price tags.

Once again don't forget to buy an extra dozen or two of eggs. To get top quality buy only eggs stored in refrigerated cases as quality soon disappears when eggs are stored at room temperature.

Dance Company to Perform Saturday At U. of D.

The Jose Limon Dance Company, first group ever to be sent to a foreign country under the State Department's international cultural exchange program, will perform in Mitchell Hall at the University of Delaware on Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Featured work on the program, sponsored by the Artists Series will be "The Moor's Pavane," based on the story of Othello. It has become a classic favorite after presentation on the Omnibus television program in 1949, winning the Dance Magazine award for outstanding creation in the field of American, modern dance.

Limon, born in Mexico, but brought to the United States by his exiled family at an early age, formed his dance company following World War II. Their repertoire contains a good number of acknowledged masterpieces.

Limon has been invited by the government of Mexico to perform with his company in the Mexican capital, and to return on other occasions as choreographer and teacher with the National Academy of Dance. The State Department, through the American National Theatre and Academy sent him and the company on a cultural mission to South America.

Added to these distinctions and honors, his artistry has been recognized and rewarded by the Juilliard Institute of Music with commissions for dance works performed during their Festival of American Music, by the American Dance Festival at New London, Connecticut, and by the Empire State Festival, New York.

He and the company have danced with leading symphony orchestras with brilliant success. When not touring, he is busy preparing new additions to an already extensive repertoire, and teaching dance both at Juilliard and the Dance Player's Studio.

Tickets for the concert are available through the university bookstore.

Oil Sprays Control Scale Insect

Trees and shrubs around your home grounds can be seriously damaged by scale insects if these pests are not kept under control. Plant growth may be seriously retarded or even killed, according to Kent County agent George Vapaa. Oil sprays applied before growth can control the insects, he says.

Oil spray gives good control by cutting off the supply of air to the insect inside the scale. Don't use just any oil, but use 70-second miscible oil. If 70-second miscible is not available, use superior miscible oil. Mix the oil with water at the rate of five tablespoons per gallon of water.

Agent Mr. Vapaa gives a few precautions that must be followed if you use superior miscible oil. Spray only once and do not spray thin-barked trees, such as maple and nuts. These trees are easily injured by oil sprays. Do not spray if the temperature is below 45 degrees F. and do not apply superior oil after growth has started.

Capital Improvement Program

A capital improvement program for the fiscal year of 1962-63, and having a total estimated cost in excess of $32,000,000 has been approved by the members of the State Highway Department.

The resolution approving the program, adopted by the commissioners, directs that a request be presented to the Governor and General Assembly for an appropriation, through an authorized bond issue, of $15,000,000 to defray the State's share of the cost of the program.

As prepared under the direction of William J. Miller, Jr., Director of Operations for the Highway Department, the program includes provisions for the use of $16,652,000 of federal-aid funds which will be available to the State during the fiscal year.

The program provides the following allocations: Interstate Highway System, $16,020,000 of which $13,350,000 is Federal and $2,670,000 is State; Primary System $4,730,000 with $2,130,000 Federal and $2,600,000 State; Secondary System, $2,196,000 with $990,000 Federal and $1,206,000 State; Urban Streets, $182,000 Federal and $218,000 State.

Other allocations include dirt road improvements $2,500,000; for other projects paid 100 percent from State funds, $3,306,000; Suburban Development Improvements $750,000; for Engineering, Planning, Research, Advance Right-of-Way Requisition; Contingencies and Reimbursement to Public Utilities for Alterations and Relations, $2,000,000.

The resolution sets forth that subsequent to the preparation of the Capital Improvement program now in effect, legislation was adopted providing for reimbursement of utility expense in changing facilities and this expense is included in the contingency allocation.

The dirt road improvement fund allocation provides $150,000 for New Castle County for improvement of 10.84 miles; $800,000 for Kent County for improvement of 50.07 miles; and $1,300,000 for Sussex County for improvement of 92.65 miles.

Veterans News

Possible loss of current pension payments plus retroactive repayment of pension money received during 1961 confront many veterans, and widows of deceased veterans, who have failed to return their annual income questionnaires, the VA said today.

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office pointed out the law makes it mandatory that completed questionnaires be received from each pension recipient to determine whether annual income from all sources exceeds the legal ceilings.

Mr. Fields expressed the fear that many veterans' or veteran's widows in Delaware, face loss of current pension and be forced to pay back all pension payments received during 1961.

Even though the announced deadline for returning the questionnaires has passed (January 31, 1962), the VA will still accept questionnaires sent in now to avoid hardship upon eligible pension recipients.

Prompt action will be necessary to avoid the termination of present payments and the demand for repayment of all pension payments received during 1961, Mr. Fields said.

Number of Feeder Pigs Weaned Determines Profit or Loss

The most important factor in the profitable production of feeder pigs is the number of pigs sold, according to Geogre Vapaa, Kent county agent. He says you must wean five pigs per litter to pay the costs of keeping the sow. Profit from a litter of pigs comes from weaning more than five pigs weighing forty pounds or more.

Mr. Vapaa clarifies this statement with a few simple statistics. A 12 percent profit is possible if you sell six pigs at $15.00 each—only one more than is necessary to pay for the sow's upkeep. But if you sell seven pigs at $15.00 each, your margin of profit goes to 100 percent.

To sell more feeder pigs per litter, the mortality rate from birth to weaning must be decreased, according to the agent. The average mortality rate today is about 33 percent, he says. The agent suggests the mortality rates can be greatly reduced by following proper management practices. Guard rails in the farrowing pen can prevent the sow from crushing the baby pigs. Adequate space, about seven feet by eight feet for the normal size sow, should be provided. Heat lamps to provide supplemental heat can save an average of 1 1/2 pigs per litter. This saving would more than cover the additional costs.

Remember, for increased profits in swine production, you should wean more than five pigs per litter, Mr. Vapaa concludes.

There is no lack of work, just the lack of capable and willing workers.

THE ILL WIND

There will be no limit to the labor needed, skilled and unskilled, to repair the Delaware coastline since the recent storm. People are now saying, "Why aren't the able-bodied on the welfare rolls put to work?" They also suggest that those receiving unemployment can find work at the beaches.

NIMROD MINNER

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Minner celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sylvester Oct. 20, 1951. Mr. and Mrs. Minner were married by the Rev. C. M. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist Church (now Trinity Methodist Church) on Oct. 21, 1888, in the parsonage at 112 Mechanic Street. The church, at that time, was on the site of the present Fire House. In fact, it served as a firehouse until the present one was built. Minner, the son of Nimrod Minner Sr., and Margaret Minner, was born near Harrington March 16, 1862. His wife, Mrs. Annie Minner, was the daughter of James T. and Wilhelmina Goslee Sylvester, and was born near Harrington Oct. 19, 1870. Mr. and Mrs. Minner lived in this vicinity all their lives.

Minner attended Powell School, at Powell's Crossroads, and remembers the late J. Wilbur Powell as his teacher. He later lived on what was later known as the Becker property, which eventually became part of the Harrington Airport which survived a few years after the war. Minner first worked in the basket factory of Franklin Brothers on the present site of the Harrington Lumber & Supply Company. The firm was owned by William H. and Omar J. Franklin who played a prominent role in the early history of Harrington.

When he was 25 years old, he went to work for the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1887, and worked 46 years and six months until his retirement from his position as baggage master 30 years ago.

Railroad in Early Days

When the veteran railroader went to work, there was only one track, as there is today since the railroad changed from double tracks to single a few years back. On the main line, the locomotive burned coal, and on the branchline, wood. A roundhouse was situated near what is now the Liberty Street Crossing. Passengers to Rehoboth and Lewes had to get off at the canal and walk the remainder of the distance.

In Harrington, there was a railroad crossing on Delaware Avenue where the freight station is now. (If the reader will stand on Commerce Street and look northeast, he will see that Commerce Street and Delaware Avenue are continuations of each other.) Richard C. "Dick" Dale was freight agent when Minner started working on the railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Minner, when first married, lived at the end of Hanley Street. They remembered well the serenade, a custom which prevailed soon after Harrington marriages until the Depression. At the serenade, called chivari in some parts of the nation, the young bloods of the town would beat on pots, pans, and old saws, and fire shotguns at night at the home of the newlyweds. The racket usually did not cease until the merry-makers had been treated with cigars, apples, cake, hard cider, or money. Among those at the Minner serenade were the late Louie Jones, the late William W. Sharp, and L. Booker Harrington.

Two Nicknames

The late Ben Harrington, a railroad conductor, gave Minner two nicknames. One of them—Cod—persists. Just why he was called this name, Minner does not remember, but he remembers how he got his second nickname—Barney. "When I lived on the farm, we had a horse named Barney. He (Harrington) got hold of it somehow and that's how I got the name," explained Minner.

C O D

We all call him Cod Minner but his real name is Nimrod we know
So Cod it was, and Cod it is And to us it will always be so.
We don't have to tell you who know him

Rehoboth Beach To Have Easter Promenade

Rehoboth Beach will have its Easter Sunday Promenade April 22—as scheduled.

This was the word that came out of the Atlantic Coast resort this past weekend as Rehoboth Beach, "the Nation's Summer Capitol", continued to dig out from under the debris and sand left by the storm of March 6-7.

Inasmuch as the boardwalk was a casualty of the storm and will not likely be replaced prior to April 22, the name of the annual outdoor fashion show, which traditionally opens Delaware's Springtime tourist season, has been shortened by eliminating all reference to boardwalk.

Anyhow, Fred Karl, president of the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce has already selected his committee for the April 22 event and this committee, in turn has already completed some of the plans for this year's promenade.

Ralph R. Pierson, a local pharmacist who has served as general chairman for several of the highly successful promenades of previous years, is again heading up the Easter observance committee.

Mrs. Mae Hall McCabe, a prominent realtor who has arranged for the annual Easter Sunrise Religious Service ever since inception of this phase of program eleven years ago, is again in charge of this event which is tentatively scheduled for 5:13 a. m.

Mr. Pierson will direct the Fashion Promenade which this year will be held on The Green near the eastern end of Rehoboth Avenue, beginning at 1:00 p. m.

Mrs. John J. Williams of Millsboro, and Washington, wife of Delaware's senior U. S. Senator; Mrs. Raymond S. Goslee, prominent club woman and civic leader of Millsboro and Rehoboth Beach; and David S. Hugg, of Milford, information officer of the Delaware State Development Department, have been re-appointed as judges for the Promenade. Mrs. Williams has served in this capacity for the past ten years. This will be the fifth year that Mr. Hugg has served as a judge and the third year for Mrs. Goslee.

As in previous years, prizes will be awarded the best dressed persons in ten different categories. Possession of the John Wanamaker Cup will go to the lady chosen as "best dressed woman."

The annual Easter Egg Hunt, traditionally held on Easter Monday, will again be the closing feature of the two-day observance. Present plans are for the Easter Egg Hunt to be held Monday, April 23, from 10:00 a. m., on the Rehoboth High School Football Field. In previous years, this Easter Monday event was held in what was once a sandy beach area near the northern end of the former boardwalk. Mrs. Ann Huntley will again be in charge of the Easter Egg Hunt.

Although the Chamber of Commerce has "ordered" pleasant weather for the Easter holiday period, Sunday, April 29, and Monday, April 30, have been designated as alternate dates in the event that "unseasonable" weather should prevail on aEster Sunday and Easter Monday.

Feed Grain Signup Reported

Farmers of Kent County have signed up to divert 5,964 acres from corn and grain sorghum production under the 1962 feed grain program, R. Harry Wilson, announced today at Dover. The diversion is from base acreages, 1959-1960 average plantings, on 264 farms in the county.

Chairman Wilson pointed out that it is not too late for farmers in the county to participate in the 1962 feed grain program. The signup period, which started in the county on February 5th, will continue through March 30th.

Nationally, 168,468 farms had been signed up during the first 10 days of the signup period, calling for the diversion of 3,522,500 acres from the production of corn and grain sorghum, according to a report issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. About 3,017,900 acres of corn acreage will be diverted from 5,769,400 acres of corn base established for farms signed up. And about 504,200 acres will be diverted from the grain sorghum base of 1,063,700 acres on farms signed up.

The 3 million corn acres signed for diversion is more than 52 percent of the base acreage of signed farms.

The Chairman also revealed that $76,794 has been paid to farmers in Kent County as advance on payments that will be earned by putting the diverted acreage into approved conservation uses. Farmers who participate in the program may receive up to about half of the total payment at the time of signup.

The advance payment features of the program is designed to boost the farmer's cash-in-pocket at a time of year when his expenditures are likely to be heavy and his income less than at harvest time. Chairman Wilson pointed out that most of this money is spent locally by farm families, so the "advance payment" feature also benefits local merchants and farm machinery and seed dealers.

The 1962 feed grain program is similar in operation to last year's program. The principle success of the 1961 program was in cutting the national feed grain surplus for the first time in 9 years. Mr. Wilson said the goal this year is to continue the trend to bring about a better balance between feed grain production and needs.

For details of the program, farmers are urged to get in touch with their local ASCS County office, 313 S. Governor's Avenue, Dover, Delaware, phone RE4-3078.

The 1961 wool program incentive payments, to be made this summer, will cover only wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1962, R. Harry Wilson, chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, reminded growers this week. That is the closing date for the 1961 program, which extends from April 1, 1961 to March 31, 1962. Growers will have 30 days after the closing date in which to file their application for the payments.

Payments to producers for the 1961 marketing year will follow the same methods used in previous years. Shorn wool payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's cash returns from wool sales. The percentage - to be announced later will be that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool during the marketing year up to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the national average incentive payment per pound of shorn wool.

The chairman emphasized the importance of keeping adequate records on sales, which must support the information on payment applications. Thus, producers, sales records for shorn wool should show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal marketing deductions.

College graduated with degrees in agronomy, horticulture, agricultural economics, animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, vocational agriculture and home economics are also in demand in many countries, particularly in Latin America.

Countries that have requested farmers and agricultural specialists include India, Malaya, North Borneo and Sarawak, Philippines, Thailand, Trust Territories in the South Pacific, El Salvador, Colombia, Bolivia, Brazil, Venezuela, Peru, Tunisia, and the Ivory Coast.

The Peace Corps provides all expenses for men and women who are accepted for service. This includes transportation, housing, clothing, food, medical care, vacation, and incidentals. Volunteers also receive $75 a month for each month with the Peace Corps, or a total of $1800 after two years' service.

All persons in Kent County interested in serving aboard with the Peace Corps should contact the county agent George Vapaa at his office on the second floor of the Dover postoffice, Telephone RE4field 6-1448.

Wheat Growers Cautioned

Farmers who have excess wheat acreage were reminded today that failure to dispose of the excess in accordance with program provisions could have a number of adverse effects—on the farmer's pocketbook and on his farm's acreage history.

R. Harry Wilson, Kent County Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said that such a wheat grower not only would be ineligible for price support and any payments he might otherwise have earned under the 1962 wheat stabilization program, but he also would be subject to marketing quota penalties which are much higher for 1962 than in former years, and his farm's future wheat allotments might be reduced.

Regarding marketing quota penalties on "excess" wheat, the chairman pointed out that legislation enacted last year made material changes regarding excess wheat of the 1962 crop. The penalty has been raised to 65 percent of parity as of May 1, 1962 (instead of the previous 45 percent), and the amount of wheat subject to penalty will be twice the farm normal yield on all the acres in excess of the allotment. If the proved 1962 actual yield is less than this amount, a reduction in the amount of the excess, based on actual production, will be made if a request is filed before a set deadline.

Mr. Wilson explained that "excess" wheat results when the grower does not comply with the farm wheat allotment (or the marketing quota exemption acreage, if this is larger). The marketing quota exemption acreage is the smaller of (a) 13.5 acres or (b) the highest acreage of wheat on the farm in any of the crops years 1959, 1960, or 1961.

Twist Contest Great Success

Fun and hilarity, along with Twisters demonstrating their art to the popular tunes of "Hey, Let's Twist," "Twist U S. A.," filled the stage of the Reese Theatre, during the recent "Twist" contest conducted by many Harrington merchants and Movie Center, the past Sunday and Monday, March 18 and 19.

With the theatre almost filled to capacity with patrons from Delaware and Maryland on Sunday, six combatants showed their activated agility in their interpretation of the new dance craze.

Beverly Jenkins and Ralph Wooters emerged the winning couple on Sunday, and received special prizes from Taylor's Hardware and Cahall & Shaw. The runners-up received pens from Clendening's Pharmacy and tickets for the Reese Theatre.

On Monday Joanne Murphy, of Harrington, and her partner, Doug Johnson, of Milford, won the top laurels and were awarded a prize by Collins' Clothiers, Wollaston's, Trotta's TV, and the Harrington Hardware Company. Randy Knox and Kathy Hopkins placed second and were awarded cash prizes by the Reese Theatre.

Of much interest was the Juvenile Contest, with Sharon Motter and Gary Messick carrying off the honors for first place, with Jimmy Eastman and Joanne Short making up the runner-up spot. Cash prizes were awarded to the winners and Movie Center tickets to the remaining contestants.

Higher Red Clover Yields for Future

Chesapeake, a new high producing variety of red clover, is now recommended throughout Delaware reports George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

In numerous trials at the University of Delaware Substation at Georgetown, Chesapeake has produced high, maintained constant yields, and has good seedling vigor. In general, it has outperformed Pennsco and Kenland, currently our most widely grown varieties, he says.

In addition, Mr. Vapaa points out that Chesapeake is resistant to cold weather and anthracnose, a disease which shortens the life of red clover stands.

Red clover plantings should be completed before the "freezing and thawing" period ends, the agent says. This is an important factor since red clover is broadcasted on top of small grain seedings and is worked into the soil by this freezing and thawing action. Red clover should be seeded at the rate of six pounds per acre. Normally, fertilization is not necessary unless the soil is especially low in potash or phosphorus.

Because of the anticipated short seed supply of Chesapeake, Kenland and Pennsco, imported red clover seed is being sold in some areas. The agent warns these seed are inferior to domestic seed in total yield and disease resistance. Imported red clover seed can be easily recognized as 10 percent of it is stained red. If recommended varieties are not available, well-cleaned, high-quality Delaware grown seeds are preferred to imported ones.

What's New In Men's Fashions

The "tall look" for men is being introduced this year. Of course, no suit exists that can give the five footer the appearance of a six foot basketball center.

There are tricks of line and design, however, that slim down and stretch out the well-fed figure of less than towering height. This is accomplished by both design of the suit and choice of the fabric. First the silhouette is minimized, excess padding is omitted and the "long-line" emphasized. The point where the lapel meets the collar is placed high, the lapels are well-proportioned — not so narrow that they add expanse to the chest and not so wide that they nullify the vertical effect. Unnecessary fullness is taken out but the suit is not tight. The trousers are cut so there is ample room for comfort but pared down from the old side ripples.

Fabrics range in color from mediums to medium darks. Blues, olive blends, grays and blacks are all used.

These colors are further embellished with vertical patterns which include a wide array of stripes and self-weave effects—all of which run up and down and add to the tall look.

THE "SATURDAY SUIT"

This season's new idea for men is the "Saturday Suit." This includes a closely coordinated sport jacket and slacks—related in fabric, pattern and color. For instance, a solid color, crepe weave worsted sport jacket is paired with miniature check slacks that pick up the color of the coat. The coat, in turn, has a lining that repeats the check in the slacks.

SUITS

Suits will be lighter in weight than in color. However, new color underscores spring sportswear — everywhere, in every way.

The news is blues for suits. The revival of the indigo hue is seen in all shades ranging from black-blue through navy-blue and blue-grays. Olives, grays and blacks will still be popular. These are well established colors in the wardrobe of fashion conscious men.

Two-button suits are also on their way back into the limelight. The present two-button models are distinctly different in character than those of recent years though. The latest style of this model is rather conservative. In some instances, they actually are modified versions of the natural shoulder suits.

The classic natural shoulder model continues to climb in popularity. This style seems to hold its fans as the years go by. The American Natural model with its very conservative lines continues to be a national favorite. Its modified natural shoulders, three-button front and moderately trim trousers has appeal to most American businessmen.

In all models, the trend continues to be toward a look of slimness. Even the "tailored" shoulders have been freed of excess padding. Stripes are due for a strong comeback and they are shown in many varieties. Double-breasted suits are also scoring well as a fashion factor for the new season.

SHIRTS

Short sleeves, tab collars, new lightweight fabrics and an assortment of colors and patterns emphasize the spring and summer business shirts.

The button-down collar styles remain most popular, many of which are made in the newer, slightly shortened length.

The look and feel of summer is achieved by the "hair-conditioned" batiste weights. More blues and linen-tones will be worn in the solid colors. Soft yellows are the latest addition. These colors, plus the familiar grays and tans, are used in a wide range of stripes.

Wash-wear business shirts can now be put through all of the washing machine cycles, including spinning, and emerge dry, ready for wear without a wrinkle.

NECKWEAR

Currently ruling the roost in neckwear is the striped necktie — and they're packed with variety. There are stripes, regimental stripes, woven stripes and printed stripes.

Among the latest are stripes worked on combined fabrics. For instance, there's the cloth that combines a textured shantung weave with a slick satin weave.

Blue-green color combinations are due for success. They'll look well with the popular blue suits.

USDA Lists Vegetable Acreage Guide

The USDA recently recommended that Delaware vegetable growers reduce their acreage of most vegetable crops in 1962.

In issuing its acreage marketing guides, USDA recommended specifically that growers:

Reduce acreage of lima beans for canning 10 per cent and for freezing 15 per cent.

Plant 10 per cent fewer acres to lima beans for canning and 15 per cent fewer for freezing.

Cut acreage of sweet corn for canning 10 per cent and for freezing 20 per cent.

Reduce acreage of cucumbers for pickles 10 per cent.

The USDA report suggests that growers increase tomato acreage five per cent over last year's crop.

Green peas for canning should be increased five per cent, according to the report, while acreage for freezing should be reduced 10 per cent.

If growers follow these guide recommendations, they can expect supplies of processed vegetables available in 1962 to be moderately less than those available last year, the report indicates.

In 1961, according to USDA Statistical Reporting Service, Delaware producers grew for processing, 21,500 acres of lima beans, 6,800 acres of peas, 5,600 acres of snap beans, 5,300 acres of sweet corn, 1,700 acres of tomatoes and 700 acres of cucumbers. They also planted 10,000 acres to potatoes.

Storm-Damaged Homes Need Qualified Electricians

Homeowners in storm-damaged areas of Delaware were advised today to have a qualified electrician check the wiring and perform electrical clean-up and repair services rather than to attempt these jobs themselves.

Professor Ernest W. Walpole, agricultural engineer with the University of Delaware School of Agriculture, pointed out that the average person is neither equipped or qualified to make electrical tests and repairs required after flooding. The homeowner should be aware of the dangers involved and make certain that the switch remains off until it is turned on by a qualified electrician.

Walpole pointed out that power companies are responsible for delivering electricity to the meter. The company normally will disconnect the house from service if it has been shifted or is otherwise visibly damaged. In such cases, the wiring must be checked by an electrician and then re-inspected before service will be restored.

The main cause of damage to electrical systems and appliances are water, mud and other foreign matter. When mud is packed around electrical terminals, it can cause short circuits, Walpole said. This mud must be washed out and the parts dried out completely before the current is turned on. Electric motors are particularly sensitive to internal moisture and they are likely to short circuit and burn up unless they are thoroughly dried. Physical damage such as frayed or broken wires also may cause short circuits.

Wires damaged in this way are particularly dangerous if they come in contact with appliances or an electrical conductor. This can cause a nasty shock to a person who touches the "hot" object, he pointed out. Even if your home has suffered no apparent damage, Walpole believes it's a good safety precaution to have an electrician check the wiring. He can clean out the fuse boxes, switches and receptacles; check for frayed or damaged wires; test circuits for leaks; check the grounds; rehabilitate your appliances — and do these jobs safely.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Don't forget the Little League baseball organizational meeting Monday night at 8:30 on the second floor of the First National Bank building. Harrington has sent a half dozen players into pro ball. Let's give our present day youth a chance to master the national pastime.

Clarence Hackett, former H.S. track star, is already reaping the benefits, athletically speaking, of his move to Wm. Penn High at New Castle. Here, he could not develop quite as fast since only one trackman in the lower Peninsula area has the speed to make him extend himself. At the upstate school he is working out with Kent and Purnell Jones, two experienced distance runners, who give him more competition every day at practice, than he could get all season here. Wake Forest College's track coach is watching the former Lion with covetous eyes. He hopes to see Clarence matriculate at the Winston-Salem, N. C. campus after graduation.

Sheldon Hayman, local printer, who is finishing his first season in the Dover YMCA basketball league, was chosen on the league all-star team. Bonnie Satterfield, Pat Jack and Gerry Reed played for Consolidated Industries in the Women's Y League.

McGuinness Market, Hayman's team, is now engaged in the league post-season playoff competition.

Trackmen working out ahead of official starting time at H.H.S. include Bob Smith, Wayne Carson, Tim Strohl, Artie Taylor, Gerry Garey, Ron Broce and Dan Adams. An early start could mean the difference between failure and success.

After watching De La Warr High's Blue Hen Conference Champion team in action this winter, Tom Peck and the writer agreed that the best scholastic crew we had ever seen was still the 1938 Milford High quintet. Don Holzmueller, Joe Griffith, "Nehi" Wilkins, Fred Maxwell, Tom Palmer, et al, were undefeated and clobbered a very good Harrington team something like 45-15 and on the local floor at that. The H.H.S. team featured Bob Smith, who had tossed in 35 points in one game for the best state scholastic effort ever, Harry Quillen, Bill Minner, Leonard Masten, Elmer Harrington and Ted Layton. Ted jumped center and leaped high enough on rebounds to give taller pivot men a lot of trouble. The locals had no one taller than 5 ft. 10 in. but made up for that by lots of speed and hustle. In almost any other year H.H.S. could probably have been downstate kings. If our memory is correct Harrington finished with a 10-5 log that season. Smyrna came down with a powerhouse team and won two close contests from Paul Hawk's boys. Smyrna's only losses in 1938 were two narrow defeats by Wm. Penn's undefeated New Castle bunch. Seaford surprised Harrington late in the season after H.H.S. had easily outpointed the downstaters earlier.

Harrington's 1938 jayvees were a tough crew also. They had 13 victories and 2 defeats. The losses were administered by an undefeated Smyrna outfit that hadn't lost in years. Rumor had it back in the days that Smyrna's fantastic cage success was due to a practice of starting basketball workout in September instead of playing a fall sport like soccer.

Hayward Quillen, Gus Raughley, "Ears" Raughley, Ernie Derickson, Edward Legates and George Brainard were jayvees on that fine team. Walt Lekites, a forward, had 25 points in the first quarter against Milford. The Bucs didn't score until the fourth quarter.

Don Mears, No. 1 on Milford's cross-country team, was the leading scorer in the Diamond State Conference Basketball race. He was almost 100 points ahead of the runnerup. Many cage mentors like to see their prospects go out for the harrier sport. This enables the lads to report for basketball sound of wind and limb and able to plunge right into the fine points of the game rather than waste precious weeks in conditioning drills.

H.H.S. Nine Preps For Opener

Coach Jim Hawpe's Harrington High baseball team is now practicing outdoors after a week in the gym. This year's schedule calls for ten contests. All of these will be with Henlopen Conference Schools. Dover and Air Force Base High School decided not to play the locals after working hard to schedule the Lions.

The 1962 lineup at H.H.S. is short on heavy hitters, so Coach Hawpe is hoping to mold a good defensive unit. Then if his charges can muster a few timely base knocks they will be in a position to win a few games.

Returnees from last spring are George and Dick Collins, Jeff Adams, Allen Wix and Don Rothermel. George Wix and Rothermel are the only seniors. This indicates a young team which may be a year away from maturity.

Rothermel is the most experienced hurler with Adams, Dick Collins and Barry Fry also being counted on for mound duty.

Infielders are George Collins, Rusty Jack, Fry, Glen Smith, Wix, Adams, and Tom Brown.

Outfielders are Tom Lord, David Brobst, Richard Black, and Dick Collins.

Joe Taylor is the only catcher at present. Warren Bader, an experienced receiver, may be available also.

Golf Date Set For Tournament

The third annual Berlin Milling Company Golf Tournament will be held at the Ocean City Golf and Yacht Club April 28 and 29. This tournament, the largest on the Shore, will once again lead off in a series of invitational tournaments sanctioned by the Delaware Peninsula Golf Association.

The 1961 Berlin Milling Company Tournament had a field of 213 entrants, with 144 qualifying for the two-day test in six flights.

B. Quillin Chandler and Edgar Quillin are co-chairmen of this year's tournament. Other officials include William Phillips and O. Sheldon Chandler, Jr., qualifying; Samuel Bromley and Herman Sorin, scoring; John Pigman and Eugene Carstens, starting; Edward Phillips, grounds; E. Bowen Quillin and O. Sheldon Chandler, Sr., trophies; William Esham, refreshments and entertainment; Frederick Brueckmann, photos and William Engel, publicity.

George Gumm, greens superintendent and Mus O'Linger, club pro, expect to have the Ocean City 18 hole championship course in top condition for the tournament and officials look for a record turnout.

Felton's McCloskey Again Best Loop Scorer

Josephine McCloskey of Felton High School for the second straight year was the most prolific scorer in the girl's division of the Henlopen Conference. Last year in a longer schedule she poured 294 points through the nets. This season she tallied 208 in 8 starts for a healthy 26 point average. Luray Mitchell of Millsboro had more total points (214) but played two more games than the Felton lass. Mitchell's average was 21.5. Both girls were chosen on the All-Star Teams for the second year. Josephine made All-Western Division squad, Luray was accorded the same honor in the East.

Judy Astfalk of Greenwood was runner-up in Western scoring and was picked at a forward position on the All-West first team. Judy had 149 points in 8 games.

Christy Coady of Harrington, Janet O'Day and Brenda Drummond of Greenwood were chosen on the Western second team. O'Day bucketed 94 points in 8 games to finish sixth in her section. Coady canned 59 markers in only 5 starts for almost 12 per outing. Jane Phillips and Linda Smith, other Lionesses, were ninth and eleventh while Coady was tenth.

Invitational Golf Tournament Scheduled For June 30-July 1 at Shawnee C. C.

The golf committee of the Shawnee Country Club met at the club Wed., March 14. Extensive plans were formulated for the forthcoming season.

Charles Dutton was named tournament director for the two-day invitational tournament scheduled for June 30 and July 1.

A new handicap system is to be inaugurated under U.S.G.A. rules.

A breakfast tournament is scheduled for April 8 as the opening event for this season. Members will be fully informed of details of this and all future events by a monthly news letter to all members.

Plans were formulated for the formation of a weekly twilight league for men, to be held each Wednesday from April 25 thru Sept. This will be a handicap event with equal opportunity for all classes, definite details will be made known to all members.

Sulky Slants

By MRS. DAVE (PAT) SMITH

Already its looking a little on the lonesome side, as you see trailers going out.

The Kennedys move out Monday for Buffalo Raceway. Mr. Kennedy, harness repair man, told me yesterday he's already to go.

Mrs. Manie Robinson made the trip with her husband, but will be back to stay till the children are out of school. Mr. Robinson's horses left late last Saturday night for Rockingham Park.

I missed the opening at Roosevelt Raceway as I went up to Westbury last Sunday. Was a beautiful day for traveling.

Going down hill into Lincoln Tunnel, the New York Skyline was so thrilling. More so as you go down 34th street.

But some how or other the Empire State Building makes you hold your breath. I pulled over to the side, just to gaze as many times as I've seen it. Just a country gal at heart.

And for once in my life I didn't make any wrong turns. Don't know yet how I missed Times Square.

I've heard of cars burning up but last Sunday was the first time coming out on Long Island Express home near Manhattan on the other side of Expressway was really blazing. Traffic was backed up nearly five miles to Mid-town Tunnel. It was a terrible sight. I think it rather put the fear in all of us. As slow as the traffic moved into New York.

I really think all of the New Yorkers from town was out last Sunday for a drive. All lanes were bumper to bumper going back to Manhattan.

While up there I rode over to the track things were really buzzing. Horses coming in by the van loads.

Sam Swick, the stallion as usual going around in circles. But he's a good one. Everyone big or small gets the same treatment.

I remembered him when I worked in the office at Buffalo Raceway, and years ago when I was in the office at Roosevelt.

Only now Sam has someone to help him. Red, who used to be Satch Werners right-hand man. Red is very nice and I know all the boys up there will like him.

Had the pleasure of meeting Roosevelt's new race secretary, Johnnie Cashman. I've watched Johnnie grow up from a youngster. I came in contact with his father about every day when I worked up there. His father holds a very important position up there now.

All in all I had a nice up and back trip all in one day, last Sunday. And just on the spur of the moment I decided to go. That's my life, never a dull moment.

Lester Hopkins walking his mare and new foal. Certainly a lively little fellow.

And Lester are you forming a little league ball team? Watched you from my trailer out there playing ball. You hit that ball pretty good, and would make it around the bases still better.

Thanks Mr. Draper for saving the cheese cake, but I've had enough; honest.

Asked Bobby where he was going, as usual his reply was, "Oh somewhere over in Ohio." Bobby never gets excited. For sure Sarah really runs a delightful eating place at The Bridle Bit.

This little get together chatter will come from New York next week. Will miss Harrington but hope to be back in the fall.

- See you all next week.

There are three ladies on this committee and the women members will not be neglected. Many events will be scheduled with participation by men and women.

Plans were discussed for a greatly accelerated program for junior golfers including the probability of a Junior-Senior event scheduled at least twice each month.

All members are urged to participate in these events to increase activity at the club and to enjoy the facilities of our beautiful club house in the near future. For the information of non-members there are a few memberships open, contact Larry Sharp, membership chairman.

The members of the golf committee are: Mrs. Daniel Anstine, Mrs. Wm. Sipple Jr., Mrs. Wm. Taylor, Gene Nelson, Kenneth Furnish, Henry Saunders, Edward Walsen, associate chairman; and Thomas Clendening, chairman.

J. Adams On All-Henlopen Second Team

Jeff Adams, high-scoring Harrington High forward, made the second team on the All-Henlopen Conference squad, according to the information released by the league statisticians this week. The Lion cager netted 166 points in 14 games for an average of 12 per start. Bruce Henry and Phil Baker of the Greenwood Foresters also were second team picks. Henry scored 168 points to nose Adams for second place in the western section of the loop. Foster Flint of Bridgeville was No. 1 in the scoring with 197 markers, in other words, "The best in the west."

Adams had a poor year at the foul line, racking up only 20 points on free throws. Otherwise, he might have grabbed the top spot since he made 73 field goals to 75 for Flint and 58 for Henry.

George Collins of Harrington had 130 points in 13 games to nab 6th in the standings. Julian Woodall and Dick Finkbinder of Greenwood were 8th and 9th.

Felton's leading point-maker was Dave Morris, who was next in line. He tallied 107 markers in 13 tests. Greenwood's Baker was 11th with 104 points nosing out Tom Williams of Felton, who made 103. Williams, a third team choice, missed 3 tilts because of any injury. This setback, undoubtedly, kept him from moving up several places.

Is Little League Baseball To End Here?

A Little League meeting called for Monday night in the First National Bank building attracted a total of five persons. This con-fab was advertised in this paper and was broadcast over WKSB. Last week Pat Knight, Delaware Little League head, spoke to only three people at the same site. At this week's session it was decided by the quintet to make one final effort.

Monday night at 8:30 a meeting will be held on the second floor of the First National Bank building. All interested persons are urged to attend. A special invitation is extended to parents with boys in the 9-12 age bracket. Any boy who does not reach his 13th birthday before August 1st is eligible to play if this program should become a reality. At present it is planned to reach only those boys who reside in the Harrington School District.

Little League Baseball is essentially a program of service to youth. It is geared to provide an outlet of healthful activity during the summer months and a training under good leadership in the atmosphere of community participation. It is dedicated to helping boys become good and decent citizens. It establishes for them the rudiments of team work and fair play.

The unregistered league in which Harrington teams have been playing for several years is on the verge of collapsing as more towns withdraw and set up their own official Little League. Towns half as large as Harrington have successful Little League organizations. This may be the last hope for the local lads this summer. It can be done. A good turnout Monday night could result in 50 happy boys this summer.

The loose fitting styles which have been in the fashion picture have meant smaller pattern sizes for many women. As we move into a more fitted silhouette, Miss Reed says, you may find you need a larger size. The most important place for a pattern to fit is through the neckline and shoulders. Alterations in this area are difficult to make if they are to still retain the style lines of the garment. It is easier to make alterations at the bustline, waist and hips. There is no good guide to choosing a pattern with proper shoulder fit. Experience has been an expensive teacher for many women, according to Miss Reed.

Body build is an important factor in pattern choice. If you are slender with a large frame, you may have the same measurement as a more fleshy woman with a small frame, but the same size pattern will not fit equally well.

New figure types recently developed include the junior petite and proportioned patterns. More and better styles are now available in half sizes. For girls' subteen and chubby sizes have been added.

To help you select the proper pattern, Miss Reed has developed a basic kit of patterns from girl's size 8 to women's sizes 44 and 24 1/2 in half sizes.

If you're interested in pattern selection and fitting, Miss Reed is available for scheduled classes.
