

ORDINANCES APPROVED BY CITY COUNCIL; MORE TAX APPEALS

The City Council received appeals on its tax appeals Wednesday night at its April meeting. After appeal night last month, the Council had letters sent to the appellants notifying them of its decision.

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Herman Longfellow agreed the taxes hadn't been raised but protested the increased assessment. She believed that, once the assessment had been raised, that the tax rate of 83¢ would be raised in future years. A councilman replied that the tax rate would be governed by the normal budget, as required by law.

Downings Hosted By Maryland Governor

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton J. Downing spent a delightful day Sunday as the guests of Governor and Mrs. J. Millard Tawes, meeting them at their home at 10:45 a.m. and going with them to church to hear Bishop John Wesley Lord preach the sermon at Calvary Methodist Church at Annapolis.

After the service Governor and Mrs. Tawes entertained at dinner in the banquet room of the governor's mansion, served by two maids and the butler, Mr. and Mrs. Downing, Bishop and Mrs. Lord, Judge Shirley Jones and husband, and nine other guests.

Preceding the dinner, Governor and Mrs. Tawes showed the guests through the Government House, which is the formal name for the governor's mansion. There are forty-seven rooms in this house and from the spaciousness and number of rooms and the beautiful antique furnishings, it can surely be classified as a mansion. The banquet room in itself has a table six feet wide and twenty-two feet long. Adjoining the banquet room is the state drawing room, which is approximately twenty-four by forty feet in size and has an oriental rug given by former Governor Richie, which is insured for $35,000.00.

The central hall with the great stair case extending to the third floor, with the furniture, oriental rugs and extremely large gold framed mirrors, which bear the state's seal, gives one the impression on entering of a fine example of early American architecture.

The mansion is cared for by eleven employees including a housekeeper, a state policeman, two butlers, two cooks and three maids.

Councilman Burton Satterfield and Councilman Wilson Bradley argued some people had complained why the chief didn't stay here on duty and let the State Police or the FBI pick up the suspects.

Attorney Grover Brown, one of the city solicitors, was on hand but the question was not popped to him.

Brown brought a revision of the City ordinances and the Council spent a couple hours on them.

The ordinances were passed, with changes, and will be published at an undetermined date in this newspaper.

The police report revealed 5 reprimands and 33 arrests in March.

Although, as previously mentioned, it was agreed, without a motion, to refer the question of investigations outside the City to the Police Commission, it was revealed, at another point in the meeting, the question would have to go before the Council as a whole. This came up when Mayor Charles L. Peck Sr. dismissed the police and street commissions with their duties to be assumed by the Council as a whole.

The police chief read a letter from the State Police on a recruit training school which also invited local police to take part. No action was taken.

Veterans Benefits Tax Free

Veterans benefits are tax free and should not be reported as income in filling out income tax returns, Leon Fields, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Wilmington, said today.

Numerous inquiries are received at this time of year as to whether or not VA checks are considered as income and must be reported.

Pension and disability compensation checks, education and training allowances, subsistence allowances for disabled veterans receiving vocational training, dividends on GI insurance policies, death benefits paid to survivors, grants on homes for wheel-chair living and grants for motor vehicles for physically handicapped veterans, do not need to be reported, Mr. Fields said.

Any interest earned by GI Life insurance dividends (not the dividend itself) left on deposit with VA is an exception, and must be reported as income.

Explorer Post 76 To Sell Light Bulbs

It was recently disclosed that Explorer Post 76 will sell the electric bulbs usually sold by the Harrington Lions Club. The local Lions sponsor Post 76. Proceeds from the two day sale, April 6 and 7, will be used to purchase some badly needed tents and camping equipment for the troop's many camping activities.

The bag of bulbs will sell for $2; this will give all a saving of 83 cents. Included in each bag are four 75 watts, four 60 watts, two 100 watts, and one 150 watts bulbs. Members of the community are requested by the Lions to support this worthy project.

In past months several projects have been completed by this vigorously active group of boys. The cycling badge was completed in four different trips amounting to two hundred miles. The longest trip of one hundred miles included an overnight campout at Trappe Pond, Md. During January, the post participated in a winter campout at Coursey's Pond. At present the fourteen members of Post 76 are engaged in target shooting at the local armory. The advisor for this rifle marksmanship badge is Chief Warrant Officer Harold Welch of the Delaware National Guard.

Numerous camping and canoe trips are being planned for the immediate future and the summer. Their next trip will be a three day trip to West Virginia over the Easter weekend, April 20, 21 and 22. Several adults and the post advisors will accompany the troop. One weekend during May will find Post 76 members on a white water canoe trip on the Octorara River in Pennsylvania. This trip is similar to the one taken last April. During the summer several week-end outings are planned for more canoeing on the Indian River Inlet. The troop will try rigging sails to the canoes on these trips.

Members of Explorers Post 76 are: Doug Moore, Ronnie Hughes, Artie Taylor, Fred Greenly III, Lester Minner, Donald Wells, Herbie Barlow, Marshall Hatfield, Johnny Greenhaugh, Gary Porter, Mike Wamsley, Gary Harris, Glenn Smith, and Bobby Smith. Post advisors are Roland Hitchens, Bill Walls, and Jesse Jones. Mr. Hitchens is a member of the Harrington School Board. Mr. Walls and Mr. Jones are members of the Harrington Lions Club, the Post's sponsor.

Remember—the purchase of a bag of bulbs will buy part of a tent. Help the boys to help themselves.

70 Suspensions of Driver's Licenses From K and S

Almost one-half of the motorists who had their operational licenses suspended during the past month, for various infractions of the Motor Vehicle Code, were from Kent and Sussex Counties.

There were a total of 163 suspensions handed out by the Driver Improvement Bureau in this period and of this number 70 were from Kent and Sussex Counties, with 31 being from Kent, including Milford; 9 being from the Greater Dover area, and 39 from Sussex.

The cause of the suspensions for the Kent and Sussex County motorists shows that violations after being placed on probation accounted for 23 of the suspensions while speeding was a close second with 22 suspensions.

Most of the suspensions for speeding resulted from the regulations providing for a 30-day suspension upon conviction for exceeding the speed limits.

The driving record of the motorist accounted for 13 of the Kent and Sussex suspensions while four failed to appear for interviews. The remaining 9 suspensions were for a variety of causes.

Land Judging Contest April 9

All Kent County High Schools having Future Farmers of America Chapters and several 4-H Clubs are planning to compete in the 1962 Land Judging Contest to be held April 9, says C. Arthur Taylor, chairman of the Soil Conservation District of Kent County.

This is the second year that the Soil Conservation District has sponsored a land judging contest.

This is a popular contest for students interested in agriculture and soil conservation. Preceding the contest the students receive training in soils and soil conservation practices. The contest requires that a participant be able to observe, feel, and even taste the soil to determine its type, texture, capabilities, and needs for proper use and efficient farming. There are approximately 50 different types of soil in Kent County.

Smyrna High School FFA Chapter won the Kent County contest last year and later went on to win the State Land Judging Contest. Supervisors of the Kent County Soil Conservation District are proud of all the Kent County students participating and hope they can again win the state championship.

This year's handsome trophy is being donated by B. Carroll & Sons, Dover. The location of the farm where the contest will be held is considered top secret at this time. Last year's contest was held on the John G. Tarburton farm east of Dover.

New Telephone Directories Will Be Out Next Week

Distribution of new Diamond State Telephone directories to downstate customers will start next week.

The book lists the new seven-figure "All Number Calling" numbers that will become effective at 2:01 a.m. on Sunday, April 15, for subscribers served by 12 central offices in Kent and Sussex Counties, John Moore, local manager said.

With "All Number Calling," (or "ANC" for short) three figures will prefix the last four figures of present telephone numbers. For example, NAtional 9-8455 might become 629-8455, Moore said.

The central offices and their new three-figures "ANC" designations are: Avenue becomes 284, Deerfield 335, Edgewater 337, Exeter 398, Fieldstone 349, Garden 422, Myrtle 697, National 629, Olive 653, Redfield-4 becomes 734, Redfield-6 changes to 736, and Trojan becomes 875, Moore stated.

In most cases these three-figures will prefix the last four figures of present telephone numbers, the manager explained. A few telephone numbers will have to be completely changed because of equipment rearrangements.

Customer dialing of long distance calls will start on April 15 for subscribers served by the following central offices: Hartly (492), Avenue (284), Deerfield (335), Exeter (398), Garden (422), Myrtle (697), Olive (653), Redfield-4 (734), and Redfield-6 (736).

Moore pointed out that there will be no change in the method of making local calls in the customers' free calling area.

To reach a telephone outside the local calling area but within the State, customers with Direct Distance Dialing service will first dial the special code figure "1" (one), then dial the desired telephone number. The special code figure "1" is dialed to guide the call to Direct Distance Dialing equipment.

For example, if a Dover customer wanted to reach Olympia 6-2631 in Wilmington, he would dial the special code "1" then dial O, L, 6, 2, 6, 3 and 1.

The United States is divided into some 100 numbering plan areas. Each has its own three-figure Area Code number. And the three-figure Area Code is dialed to guide the call to the proper area.

The Area Code for Newark, N. J., is 201; Washington, D. C. 202; New York City 212; Miami, Fla. 305, and Salisbury, Md., is 301.

To reach PLaza 2-7111 in Salisbury, Md., a customer with Direct Distance Dialing service will simply dial the special code "1", then dial the Area Code for Salisbury, 301, then dial the telephone number, just eleven spins of the dial ("1", 301, P, L, 2, 7, 1, 1).

Complete information on all the changes, "All Number Calling," and Direct Distance Dialing," are contained in the new telephone directory, Moore added.

Radio Garden Clinic Answers Questions on Air

You can get the answer to that long-standing question you've had on lawn care, tree planting or shrub pruning by picking up your phone and dialing OL 2-3311 between 12:30 and 1 p.m. on three Saturdays in April, the 7th, 14th, and 28th.

You'll be calling the Radio Garden Clinic of the University of Delaware's Agricultural Extension Service and Wilmington radio station WDEL (1150 K.C.). The University's Farm and Home radio reporter, Ralph Heffner, will handle your phone call on the air and pass it along to specialists in horticulture, entomology and agronomy.

The specialists, who will be in the WDEL Studio to answer questions on the first radio garden clinic session April 7, will be Dr. Dale Bray, entomologist; Dr. C. W. Dunham, horticulturist; and professor C. E. Phillips, agronomist.

If no question comes to mind, listen to the program and pick up some answers to common yard and garden questions, Heffner said.

A radio garden clinic packet of folders and leaflets, on spring planting and care of garden crops, is available to listeners. You can ask for the packet by writing to Ralph Heffner, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark. The special garden series will be sponsored by the Delaware Power and Light Company.

Ring Out Wild Bells, To the Sky

Frank O'Neal, commander of Callaway-Kemp-Raughley - Tee Post No. 7, American Legion, announced this week the churches which will ring bells to commemorate Patriots' Day, April 19.

O'Neal said bells would ring at 1 p.m., (EST) in the following churches: Asbury Methodist, Trinity Methodist, Church of the Nazarene, St. Bernadette's R. C. Church, Metropolitan M. E. Church, and St. Paul's A.M.E. Church. The remaining churches have no bells.

Patriots' Day not only is the anniversary of the Battles of Lexington and Concord but the ride of Paul Revere to call the colonists to arms.

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear. Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere."

SHD to Proceed With Repairs On Dirt Roads

The increased allocation for maintenance work, placed in the State budget by the Joint Legislative Finance Committee, will enable the State Highway Department to proceed with badly needed repairs on dirt roads that have been given surface treatments four and five years ago.

William J. Miller Jr., director of operations for the Highway Department, said that the Finance Committee decided to place funds for these repairs in the budget rather than in a separate appropriation. This accounted for $1,400,000 increase in the maintenance allocation in the budget, according to Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller said the needed repairs for several hundred miles of these roads has been a problem confronting the Highway Department for some time, and the allocation of this additional money will permit the Department to get started on this work.

"The allocation of these funds for the needed repairs on these surfaced roads is not coming too soon," said Mr. Miller. "Some of these roads are close to the point where they will start to break through the surface and greatly interfere with the traffic using them," he added.

Mr. Miller indicated that repair work, which will extend in every section of the State, will get underway just as rapidly as possible.

There are about 700 miles of these resurfaced roads in this state and some of them extend back five or six years without having received any additional treatment.

In accordance with the law governing the matter, the Highway Department is continuing to resurface dirt roads throughout the state with almost a hundred miles of these roads ready to be worked on during the coming construction season.

Why Incorporate The Family Farm

Each year farms are increasing in size. With each increase, more management problems are introduced along with more investment of capital. A $100,000 dollar farm business is no longer uncommon, says George Vapaa, Kent County agent. This points to the many advantages of incorporating the family farm.

The corporation may be better than single owner or a partnership arrangement as a form of the farm business organization, he says.

By incorporating the family farm, the agent says two main advantages are evident. First, the ownership can be divided as shares of stock; second, the personal liability of the owners of the business can be limited.

Agent Vapaa further explains the advantage of ownership division with this example.

Jerry, Diane and Fred Winkle were the heirs to the family farm after their father died. Diane and her husband lived in town and had no active interest in farming. Jerry worked with his father on the farm for a number of years and wanted to continue. Fred lived in another state and was not a farmer. Both Diane and Fred preferred to keep the farm intact and were willing to have Jerry manage it. Jerry wanted to be adequately compensated for his efforts however, and have a reasonably free hand in managing the farm. He was willing to have Diane and Fred share in the profits.

Mr. Vapaa says their problem can be solved without hardships by incorporating the farm and dividing the shares of stock according to an agreement. Each would be allowed to buy the number of shares he desires.

Also, by incorporating the farm, Fred, Diane and Jerry would be considered as shareholders and would be liable for corporate obligations only to the extent of each individual's investments.

Other possible advantages, says the agent, are in social security benefits and liability insurance. Federal legislation has made farm operators eligible for social security benefits. By incorporating and becoming employees of the corporation, farm owners can receive a constant salary for at least a short period of years, even though the corporation may show a loss. The resulting increase in benefit levels could far outweigh the cost involved in forming a corporation, and in paying the additional social security tax. Also, as an employee of the farm corporation the same farm owner is covered by the liability insurance policy carried by the corporation.

Mr. Vapaa lists several characteristics of an incorporated farm which are disadvantages: The paper work, red tape, and bookkeeping involved are greater than for other forms of business organizations; taxes may be a handicap; cost of legal fees and fees of incorporation can be of sizeable proportions.

Before making any hasty decisions, the agent suggests that you make a careful study and consider the possible benefits of incorporating and the drawbacks to be expected. If you wish more information on incorporating the farm business, write or call George Vapaa, at the Dover post-office, telephone RE 6-1448.

Fiber Label Guide To Better Clothing Care

Planning your spring wardrobe? If so, there's one point which you can't afford to ignore, the textile fiber identification act. This act requires that textile fiber products carry a label giving the generic or family names and percentages, by weight, of the fiber in the products. Each generic name, such as cotton or rayon, designates a fiber of different origin.

Man-made fibers have many trade names. When using the trade name, the manufacturer must pair it with the generic name, such as Orion Acrylic Fiber. The key to proper care of fabrics is to become familiar with the generic classifications.

Many fabrics are made of blends of fibers. The percentage, by weight, of each fiber must be given on the label. If a garment is labeled 65% Dacron Polyester and 35% cotton, you would follow the directions given for care of Dacron because of the higher percentage.

Identification of fiber content is only one guide for wise buyers. Special finishes and yarn processes also are identified by trade names. You'll find names designating such special finishes as wrinkle resistance, water repellency, shrinkage control, moth repellency and stain repellency. Save the label and write a description of the garment on the tag. File it for ready reference when you wish to have the garment laundered or dry cleaned.

To simplify matters for you, the University of Delaware has published a pamphlet entitled "Clues to Clothing Care." All you need do is find the generic name on the fiber label, then compare it with a convenient chart in the pamphlet for directions for proper washing, drying, spot removal and pressing temperatures. Free copies of this pamphlet may be obtained by writing the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Soil Test Up Income of Farmer

Horace Woodward and Sons, Middletown, credit soil tests with increasing their farm income more than 60 per cent since 1956. Woodward is one of the many Delaware farmers who is cooperating with the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service in its Demonstration Farm program. As part of this program, annual soil tests are made of each field on the farm. Fertilization recommendations made by agronomists at the University are followed and accurate production and financial records are maintained.

Records on the Woodward farm show a consistent increase in yields per acre of grain and hay crops, says George Vapaa, Kent County agent. Corn yields exceeded 125 bushels of shelled corn per acre in 1960 and 1961. Hay yields were up to 4.5 tons per acre.

Mr. Vapaa reports the most noticeable trend in soil tests thus far, is the general increase in the phosphorous level. This is one element that farmers have used in large quantities in their past fertilization programs. The agent says the reason for this high phosphorous level is that phosphorous doesn't leach as nitrogen and potash do.

However, Mr. Vapaa says, be certain you do not starve the plants of phosphorous. More than 81 per cent of the Woodward farm income is derived from the sale of milk. Since his yearly average of milk has increased 40 per cent since 1956, Woodward plans to "fertilize by test and not by guess."

Mushroom Business Growing According To Survey

Special point-of-sale efforts can win new customers for mushrooms, according to a survey tabulated by the food distribution research department, University of Delaware. Over 17,000 consumers across the country reported on merchandising methods that prompted them to buy mushrooms and mushroom products.

Mushrooms are used in most homes to dress up ordinary meals, according to the survey. They are not used as substitutes for other vegetables. The versatility of mushrooms makes them handy in every kitchen. Homemakers report using them with steaks, ground meat, spaghetti, pizza, eggs, fish, vegetables, and soup.

Convenience is an important consideration for consumers who use mushrooms, according to the report. They need only to be sliced and saute'd, for use as a distinguishing garnish for meats and other vegetables.

Mushrooms are regarded as something very special by users in spite of their low cost per serving.

The greatest sales, based on actual consumption data on the families studied, are to young families with average and above average income. Nonconsumers are found chiefly in less populated areas where mushrooms have not been readily accessible through local retail stores, according to the report.

New mushroom users outnumber old mushroom users two to one, the study found. Thus the food industry's recent efforts to make new friends for mushrooms have met with success. More than half the users of mushrooms were found to have been cooking them fifteen years or less.

With the annual rate of production at 130,000,000 pounds a year, double the output of ten years ago, the mushroom industry has taken stock of conditions through this nationwide survey to help it plan for the future. According to its findings, more people are constantly using more mushrooms in their kitchens, and in more ways.

DPI Banquet At Fairgrounds

The Delaware Poultry Improvement Association held its 23rd anniversary banquet at the restaurant at the Delaware State Fairgrounds Thursday night, March 29. Some 200 persons attended.

Call to order was made by Paul Hunter Jr., association president. Invocation was given by Fulton J. Downing in the absence of Elias Tingle, past president, who was ill.

George Worriow, dean of the School of Agriculture of the University of Delaware, was toastmaster.

Lt. Gov. Eugene Lammott made a few remarks. Musical selections were given by the Capital Grange Quartette. Awards were presented by E. F. Smith, chairman of Youth Recognition Committee.

Lea Tammi, 15, won the youth award.

The thing is, Lea doesn't come from Delaware's celebrated poultry belt. She comes from Newark, a good bit farther north.

The New Castle County 4-H'er was awarded a silver medal, $25 savings bond and a framed certificate.

Lea is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tammi, market egg producers of Newark. She is a seven-year member of the Hill 'n' Valley 4-H Club.

4-H'ers receiving top county honors were Clifford Hudson, Frederica, Kent County, and Howard W. Abbott, Bridgeville, Sussex County. Each was given a silver medal.

Miss Tammi, has raised approximately 400 baby chicks each year, since starting the poultry project in 1956. Usually she markets these chicks before they reach production age. Last year, however, she sold them to her father to add to the laying flock. The Tammis maintain a large flock of layers and sell graded eggs to retail outlets in the Newark area. Lea has participated in poultry exhibits and judging activities in New Castle County and at the Kent-Sussex Fair in Harrington.

Last year, she presented a poultry demonstration at the NEPPCO, North East Poultry Producers Cooperative Show, at Harrisburg, Pa.

The main address "Who Flies the Kite," was given by Herb Schaller, of Charles Pfizer & Company.

Profit Planning for Egg Producers

Egg profits don't just happen, they are planned! Occasionally, a farmer strikes it lucky and makes more income than he had figured on or his luck runs bad and he may make a lot less. Successful businessmen, however, plan to make money. With the margin of profit as low as it is in the poultry business, planning becomes doubly important.

The first step to a profitable egg producing operation is a set of bench marks or goals, that help you to determine what you are planning for.

The first of these should be an income goal. How much income do you want for your family and to improve your farm business? Write it down, is it $6,000, $9,000 or even $12,000 annually? Now ask yourself how are you going to get this much money?

Here's where you get out the pencil and paper and set up some performance goal. These should be higher than your present level of performance. Dr. John Hutter, a noted authority on poultry production, suggests that poultrymen join the 240-45-1 Club. That's two hundred and forty eggs per hen per year, 4.5 pounds of feed per dozen eggs and no more than one per cent mortality monthly. These are good performance goals. If you're reaching them, you're probably half way to becoming a profitable poultryman.

After you have set your income goal, the next thing you need is a large laying flock large enough to return the income you want.

Bigness is not the only answer to poultry profits. You must establish proper management practices before you can expect profits from a large operation. After you get good results, then multiply these results with an adequate size of operation. This will help cut unit costs and boost the net return per hen or per dozen eggs.

Egg producers have an excellent chance to capitalize on the prices they receive for their products. Egg markets have well-defined premiums for quality eggs. It costs little more to produce grade A eggs than those of lower quality. Poultrymen lose a nickle a dozen each time they permit eggs to fall into a lower grade. A ten per cent improvement in grade is equal to an extra $100 per thousand hens. Also, there is an opportunity for Delaware poultrymen to sell directly to consumers and earn additional profits. These management techniques can be stated in four logical steps: 1) Set up income goals, 2) establish performance levels, 3) become large enough to be efficient, and, 4) get top prices for your products.

Proper Air Cleaner Care Insures Long Engine Life

Many farmers fail to recognize the importance of proper carburetor air cleaner maintenance, says George Vapaa, Kent County agent. Every modern tractor has an air cleaner as standard equipment. It prevents the engine from inhaling dust, grit, and other foreign matter. He says that engine trouble often results from a lack of air cleaner service.

During a normal day's operation, a tractor engine needs enough air to fill four farm silos. This amount of air could contain as much as one-half pound of dust. Under severe dust conditions an engine will wear out in a short period of time if the air cleaner is neglected, Mr. Vapaa warns.

Improper air cleaner maintenance accelerates wear of rings, pistons, sleeves and bearings. It also causes sludgy oil and other engine troubles. The agent suggests that dirt can collect around the screened cap or pre-cleaner, on the sides of the center pipe, in the filter element, and in the bottom of the oil cup.

Mr. Vapaa gives the following instructions for proper maintenance and maximum efficiency of air cleaners.

Daily or every 10 hours: Remove and inspect the oil cup. Disregard old or thickened oil, scrape dirt out of the cup, wash the cup in kerosene, refill to oil level indicator with fresh oil and replace cup. Remove dirt and chaff from lower screen of filter element while cup is off. Also, the screened cap or prefilter should be checked and cleaned if necessary.

Every 60 hours: Under extremely dusty conditions or 120 hours under normal conditions: remove the air cleaner from the tractor, disassemble and wash thoroughly in kerosene. Clean the oil cup, pre-cleaner, and valve cover breather by washing in kerosene. Inspect air cleaner clamp and hoses to eliminate all air leaks.

The agent cautions against the use of used oil in the air cleaner because it already contains carbon, dirt, and unburned fuel.

Mr. Vapaa gives special warning to farmers who own diesel tractors. Using too light an oil in the cleaner cup or overfilling the cup can cause a runaway engine. The excess oil can be an uncontrolled fuel source even though the governor shuts off the regular fuel supply. This may cause the engine's speed to become uncontrollable and extensive damage may result.

The meeting was opened with flag ceremonies and a prayer.

Many of the cubs received awards. Scout ceremony was held for Robert Thompson and Terry McCready. A Bobcat ceremony was held for Robin Callahan, Ronald Rapp, John Kinney, and Anton Kibler.

Then Cubmaster Louis Kemp, gave out awards earned by the cubs. Den 2, David Ryan, Joseph Gray; Den 3, Robert White, James Fitzhugh; Den 4, Steve Smith, John Brown, Nyle Callaway; Den 5, James Russell; Den 6, William Dodenhoff. Gary Porter presented Den Chiefs Cord to Daniel Smith. Charles Peck Jr., presented silver dollars to the winners of the candy selling contest, David Ryan, $5; Robert White, $4; William Wilhelm, $3; James Fitzhugh, $2; Ronald Lettermann, $1.

Refreshments were served and the Pinewood Derby Race was held. William Dodenhoff was awarded the plaque for the winning racer.

A dance is being held Friday, April 13, at the Harrington Armory, for the benefit of Cub Scout Pack 76. Music will be played by the "Quarter Notes," $2 per couple. 9:30 to 1.

Serve Tomato Soup To Spark Up Lenten Meals

Dress up Lenten meals with versatile tomato soup, suggests county home demonstration agent Katie C. Thomas.

Tomato soup provides a hearty partner for sandwiches and salads and is a stimulating meal starter. Its robust flavor, tantalizing aroma and ruddy color will not only brighten meals but add zest to sauces and favorite foods.

Heated as it comes from the can, condensed tomato soup makes a rich, thick sauce for meats, poultry and fish. A rich-flavored goodness will also be imparted to zesty sauces for pasta, savory salad dressings, nippy seafood cocktail sauces, pizzas, juicy meat loaves, jellied aspics and yes, even to moist, fine-textured cakes.

Mrs. Thomas recommends three Lenten dishes made with tomato soup to add variety and interest to meatless meals.

Croole Fish Bake is made with one pound of fresh or frozen and thawed fish fillets, arranged in a single layer in a greased shallow baking dish about 10"x6"x2". In a saucepan, cook 1/2 medium, thinly sliced green pepper and 1/2 medium thinly sliced onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Blend in one can condensed tomato soup, one dash vinegar, a dash pepper and a dash of hot sauce. Pour sauce over the fish and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 45 minutes or until bubbling. (Makes 4 servings).

Quick Tomato Pizza can be whipped together by blending one can condensed tomato soup or one small clover or garlic minced. Cut each of 4 English muffins into 3 thin round slices for the bases of the pizza and toast. Spread these with soup and sprinkle with oregano and crushed red peppers, if desired. Cut 4 ounces Mozzarella or sharp Cheddar cheese into thin strips and place on top of the sauce. Broil until the cheese is melted for 12 small tempting pizzas.

For Rum Tum Ditty Rabbit, combine in a saucepan, one can of condensed tomato soup, 1/4 cup milk and one cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese. Cook over low heat, stirring often until cheese is melted. Pour over toast or crisp crackers and garnish with hard-cooked egg slices or sardines, if desired. (Makes 3-4 servings.)

Termed Dr. Snitzler's task "vital to the well-being of the 'Shore's poultry industry," Sam Quillin, of Berlin, Md., president of the Delmarva Poultry Industry association, said that as much as $500,000 a year could be cut from the Peninsula's freight bill through rate adjustment projects under consideration.

Snitzler is a former assistant chief of the Transportation Research Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been a consultant to the World Bank and other governmental and private agencies, and is the author of numerous published studies and papers on transportation and rate problems of agricultural commodities. He was the recipient of a special merit award from the U. S. government four years ago for a study on poultry transportation problems.

A native of Bellingham, Washington, Snitzler, 43, holds degrees from the University of Washington and Columbia University. He has taught traffic management and marketing courses at Oregon State College and, for the past two years, has been a visiting lecturer at George Washington University, in Washington, D. C.

Thinking of doing over your bathroom? Here are some tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service, says Katie Thomas, Kent County home demonstration agent.

Install a cabinet with mirror for the children. Place it beside the lavatory with its center 2 1/2 to 3 feet from the floor. This will give the children a place to keep their own toilet articles. Later, when the youngster is grown, you can use the cabinet to store polish, brushes, and other supplies.

Install cabinets under the sink. Put a drawer at the bottom and add a hinged cover. The drawer makes a handy step-up for the children. The board which forms the toeplate provides the necessary support.

Put in a floor-to-ceiling cabinet at the end of the tub, or wherever else you can find space. Plan shelves at least 18 inches deep. Make them adjustable to get the best use of storage space.

Have plenty of towel rods. Allow 21 inches of rod space for each person. If you're short of space, install rods on the bathroom door. Or, if there is no shower, you can put them over the tub.

Grab bars by the tub or shower help prevent falls. Make sure bars are firmly anchored. For a shower, place a vertical bar about 18 inches from the shower end of the tub. The center of a horizontal bar for tub-users should be placed about a third of the length of the tub from the faucets.

Hooks for attaching a clothes line can be placed at each end of the tub.

What's Your Food I.Q.?

How much do you know about the food you eat? Miss Janet Coblentz, extension nutritionist at the University of Delaware, has supplied the correct answers based on research.

Here are some statements concerning food, nutrition and the diet. Can you decide whether they are true or false?

Q-Is it harmful to cook foods in aluminum utensils?

A-False. Foods absorb very little, if any, aluminum. Many natural foods contain small amounts of aluminum and this has been found not to be harmful to the body.

Q-Vegetable fats are easier to digest than animal fats.

A-False. Fats in general, are more slowly digested than other nutrients.

Q-Adults need milk just as children do.

A-True. The nutrients which make milk an excellent food for children are also needed by adults, though often not in such large quantities.

Q-Gelatin contains the same kind of protein as meat.

A-False. Although gelatin is a protein food, it is an "incomplete" protein. A "complete" protein is one which, when taken as the only source of protein in the diet, supports life and normal growth. Meat, fish, poultry, eggs, milk, and cheese contain complete protein.

Two rules to follow for good health according to Miss Coblentz are: 1) Eat a variety of foods. A limited diet usually is lacking in some of the essential nutrients, and 2) eat the amount of food which keeps your weight at a healthy level.

Food fads come and go and ideas about diet continue to change, says Miss Coblentz. If you have a question about foods or nutrition, check with your physician, your county home demonstration agent, or write to Miss Coblentz at the University of Delaware in Newark.

"MADISON AVE." And "SWINGING ALONG" At Reese April 8 & 9

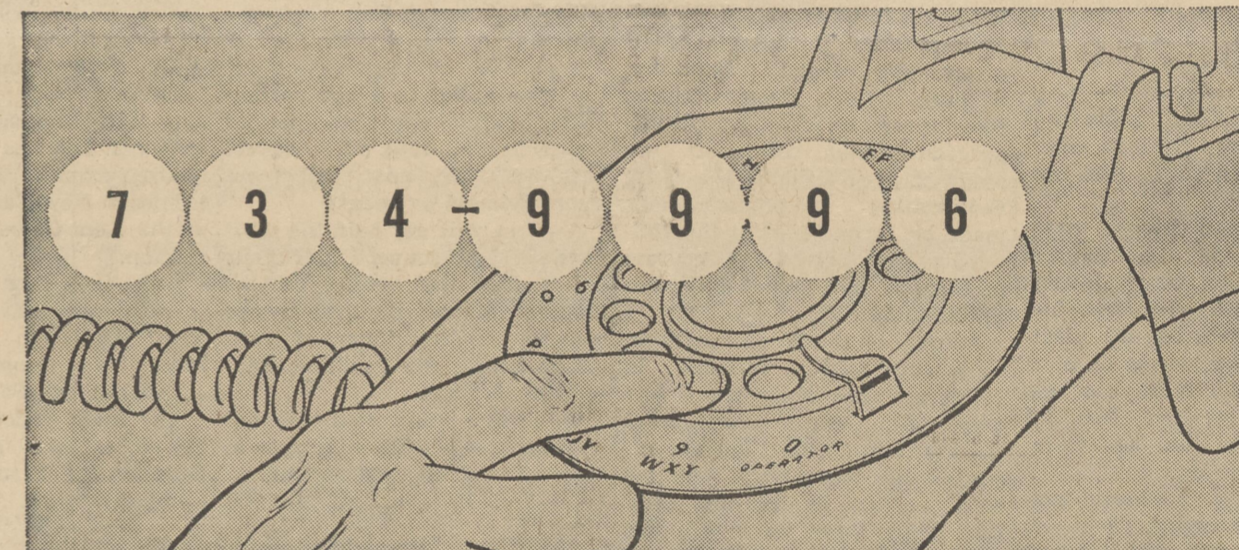

More and more the Reese Theatre is becoming entertainment headquarters for the family. Prices that fit the family purse offers that necessary weekly treat within the average budget.

One of the outstanding all-family shows of the season is slated for this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 5, 6, 7. Tops of the program is Columbia's "The Three Stooges Meet Hercules," a full-length feature jamboree of fun, laughter, and hilarity. The co-feature, "Underwater City" with Julie Adams and William Lundigan is said to be one of the most unusual science fiction dramas yet released. To add to this giant all-family treat is the Cartoon Circus with all your favorite cartoon characters.

Eclipsing last week's presentation, another super double treat is listed for this Sunday and Monday, April 8 & 9. With Dana Andrews, Eleanor Parker, Jeanne Crain, and Eddie Albert, the new Fox hit "Madison Ave." Tops the Bill with Tommy Noonan, Pete Marshall and Barbara Eden in "Swinging Along", the co-feature hitting the high spots in rip-roaring comedy. To miss this double treat is to miss one of the best of the season.

ON SUNDAY APRIL 15 AT 2:01 A.M. CAMDEN, DOVER, FELTON, FREDERICA, HARRINGTON, HARTLY, MILFORD and SMYRNA will have ALL-NUMBER CALLING (ANC)

NATIONWIDE DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING

On April 15, all telephones in these communities will have new 7-numeral telephone numbers. The new system is called All-Number Calling (ANC), because no letters of the alphabet are used—but only numbers. ANC provides many more number combinations than the 2-letter, 5-numeral method. So it helps telephone service keep pace with the growing population. For this reason it will eventually be in use on the entire North American continent.

Also on April 15, at 2:01 A.M. Nationwide DIRECT DISTANCE DIALING Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) enables you to dial direct to more than 40,000 places clear across the country and deep into Canada. DDD is for station-to-station calls only. Person-to-person calls and collect calls will be made by dialing Operator, just as now.

NEW CENTRAL OFFICE NUMBERS As you can see by the illustration above, the new telephone numbers have 7-numerals divided into 2 parts. This separation is for easy remembering and accurate dialing. But each locality will have its own central office numbers—the first 3 numerals will all be the same for any given office. For instance, every Frederica number will start with 335. Dover will have 3 central offices: 674, 734 and 736; so Dover numbers will start with either 674, 734 or 736.

Table showing how new numbers will begin for various locations like Camden, Dover, Frederica, etc.

These improvements have required an investment of over $867,000. They are part of a continuing program to give you the finest in telephone service.

Fertilization Is Key Step in Lawn Care

Dollar for dollar, fertilization will do more to improve a poor lawn or maintain a good lawn than any other single lawn management practice, says Professor C. E. Phillips, chairman of the agronomy department at the University of Delaware.

Grass plants need nitrogen, phosphorous and potash for good growth, Professor Phillips points out, and he recommends a complete fertilizer containing all three elements. Phosphorous and potash are both slowly available. For best results, choose a fertilizer with most of the nitrogen in the slowly available form. He recommends a fertilizer with 75 per cent of the nitrogen from urea-form. The only fertilizer generally available containing this amount of ureaform is a 10-5-5.

Apply 30 to 40 pounds of fertilizer per thousand square feet of lawn in March or early April, before growth starts. Apply with a spreader to get uniform coverage. It is best to apply fertilizer when the grass is dry to avoid burning tender growth. But, if the grass is damp when you apply the fertilizer, water the lawn thoroughly to wash the fertilizer from the grass leaves.

By following a regular lawn feeding program, you can eliminate or reduce disease and weed problems.

A Sad Story Has A Happy Ending.

Most of the tenth grade students have enjoyed collecting twigs from different trees for their biology project, but this project has also left a few unhappy people.

Although no one got lost in the woods, a case of a missing pair of shoes was reported. One girl who went knee deep in mud couldn't retrieve her shoes, and never did get them back. A few of her fellow classmates who had one white shoe discovered that the color of their shoes quickly changed, but at least they didn't lose them. Another sad case in the woods is also reported of a student who went with a group of friends and later noticed her face was itching. Of course, poison ivy!

Even though there were a few losses, everyone had a good laugh and a lot of fun, and learned much about trees and school spirit.

Delaware Food Market Report

Fashions in food are changing so fast that many products are out of date before many of us get a chance to use them. Back in 1940 the food shopper could choose from some 1,500 food products in the grocery store. Not so today; she is confronted with 8,000 items from which to choose the 10 to 15 items she wishes to buy each time she visits the market. Forty percent of these new items have appeared since 1950. Nearly one-third of every food dollar—more than 30 cents—is spent today on food products that were not in stores 10 years ago.

You haven't seen anything yet, though, for about 100 new products appear every week somewhere in the United States. This is how fast the food industry is growing.

Behind these new foods is a fantastic amount of research and money. The food industry spends more than $100,000,000 annually on product and process development and each year sees that figure grow. Food technologists in research laboratories across the country supply the know-how.

Among the new items to look for are pancakes with the sausage built in, complicated French sauces and souffles in powder form, orange juice flakes, meals in a box, and freeze-dried casserole dishes. Frozen food cases will display perfect slices of tomatoes, fruit sections, berries and cucumbers preserved by the latest freezing techniques. Sauces for frozen vegetables will contain frozen crystals that will turn into lump-free white sauces, cheese sauces or onion sauces at the stir of a spoon.

Scientists are now working on sweet potato flakes, dried honey, vegetable chips, navy bean powder (that does away with soaking and boiling) and wheat to be eaten as rice is now. A new beverage made of apple juice and eggs is being test marketed. This new product boasts that it meets most of the morning's nutritional needs.

More foods will be sprayed, squirted and squeezed from plastic containers. Making their debut in many gourmet food markets are spray on flavor (dill, tarragon, thyme, etc.)

Look for round hot dogs to fit hamburger buns, chicken frankfurters, and a world of new diet foods.

When shopping this weekend you will find lamb, beef and poultry at the meat department as your best buys. Vegetables are much as they were last week. Careful shopping is needed this week to get the most for time and money spent.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

The sermon this week entitled "Clean Hands" is a continuation of the series of sermons entitled "Behold His Hands." A nursery for pre-school children, conducted by Mrs. Willard Schreck, will be available.

M.Y.F. at 6:30 p. m. There will be a discussion of the events that occurred the last week of Jesus' life on earth.

Evening worship service 7:30. The anthem "Quit You Like Men" will be sung by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Melvin Brobst. The message entitled "Royal Hands" will be given by the minister.

Veterans News

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office, said today thousands of veterans are neglecting to keep up to date their listing of a beneficiary for their GI insurance policy proceeds.

Because of this failure to keep the VA informed of changes necessary to reflect the births, marriages, death or divorces that occur over the years, their insurance proceeds may not be paid to the individual nor in the manner the veteran would wish.

The VA must pay the proceeds of the insurance policy to the beneficiary designated by the veteran himself, Mr. Fields said.

Changes in family status cause designations made years ago to be out of harmony with the veteran's present wishes.

But, Mr. Fields pointed out, the VA has no alternative but to pay the insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record in the VA files.

Mr. Fields said a recent sampling in which the VA asked a group of veterans if they wished to change beneficiary or payment method brought six out of ten affirmative replies from those returning the questionnaire.

He strongly urged all veterans holding GI policies to make certain that up-to-date beneficiary designations and payment methods are on file with the VA. Necessary forms for these changes may be obtained from any VA office in person or by mail or may be received by writing directly to the VA Insurance Office where the veteran's insurance policy records are kept.

Trinity W.S.C.S. News

An outstanding program was presented by Mrs. Lewis Slaughter at the April meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church on Tuesday evening. Three male students of Wesley College, originally from Iran, Iraq and Bolivia, were guests. Their counterparts from the local high school were the Misses Sandra Whistler, Lynn Layton, Susie Gilstad and Carol Smith. The ensuing question and answer session on family life, education, religion and customs was most interesting and enlightening.

Special music was furnished by Mrs. Nelson Benjamin and members of the Intermediate Choir. The Rev. Benjamin led the devotions.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sam William, president. She reported that due to the recent successful bake and co-operation of members of the Society our contribution of $1 per member, including honorary members, had been sent to the conference treasurer to support the two projects in Wilmington. Announcement was made of the zone meeting to be held in Thursday evening, April 26, at 8 p. m.

The Society will send two girls to the school of missions at Camp Pe-Co-Meth in July.

Mrs. Earl Sylvester, treasurer, presented pledge cards to circle leaders, which they will distribute to members and return for the annual pledge service May 1. Miss Edith Smith was submitted by Mrs. William Shaw and Mrs. Slaughter.

Mrs. Arnold Gilstad and members of the Ruth Circle served refreshments.

Charles Rutledge, a supervisor of the duPont Company will be guest speaker of the morning session and will also present a demonstration on textiles and fabrics.

A chicken luncheon will be served at the Clearmount Fire Hall at 12 noon. Dr. John Perryman of Denver, Colo., executive director and editor-in-chief of the National Food Service Association will be the afternoon speaker and will install the officers for the 1962-63 year.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Chester Short, outstanding softball pitcher, has moved to Greenwood. Shorty has hurred in the Harrington Moose League for the past seven years. The Greenwood Club has dominated this league since the Sussex Countians entered local play a few years back. At present it appears that there will be no softball league here this summer. If not the Greenwood Club may enter another league. If they do undoubtedly they will try to persuade Shorty to take time out from making scrapple in order to do a little hill work.

Bad news from New Castle. Track fans from Harrington, who were expecting great things from former Lion Clarence Hackett, will be sorry to hear that he will be sidelined for most or all of this campaign. Fluid has settled in both of his ankles and he will have to forego representing the upstaters. He had just broken his personal record in the half mile and no one at William Penn could get near him in the mile.

The H.H.S. track team had an unusual experience at Henry High, Dover, on Wednesday. No less than six of the city Rams are Harrington boys. Co-captain Leroy Parker was an easy winner in the 440 yard run in 55 seconds. Ralph Benson and Kenney Tharp formed half of the winning 880 yard relay team. Ralph Tilden scored in the high and low hurdles. 250 lb. Lester Shockley scored in the weight events. Natch!

Will wonders never cease department. From the two most dedicated high school football coaches in our experience comes identical quotes: "It takes more guts to run the distance events in track, than it does to play football."

Watch for the Little League registration date. Four uniformed teams in a local community should bring a good turnout.

Tom Peck has located some scrapbooks covering sports of the 38-39-40 period in this area. Watch this space for some feats in Harrington more than two decades ago. How tempus does fugit.

H.H.S. Nine Hosts Holy Cross High

Jim Hawpe's Harrington High baseball team opens the season Monday afternoon by entertaining Holy Cross High of Dover. The visitors are fresh from a basketball season which saw them lose their only last start. Holy Cross is a new school with a small pupil population comparable to Harrington's.

Henlopen Conference competition starts for the locals with a contest at John M. Clayton High, Dagsboro on Thursday afternoon. The schedule:

- Apr. 9-Holy Cross at Harrington
- 12-at John M. Clayton
- 16-Open
- 19-Open
- 24-at Selbyville
- 26-Felton at Harrington
- 30-Milton at Harrington
- May 3-at Bridgeville
- 7-Open
- 10-Rehoboth at Harrington
- 14-Millsboro at Harrington
- 17-at Delmar
- 21-Greenwood at Harrington
- 24-Open
- 28-at Lord Baltimore

Local Trapshooter Wins Again

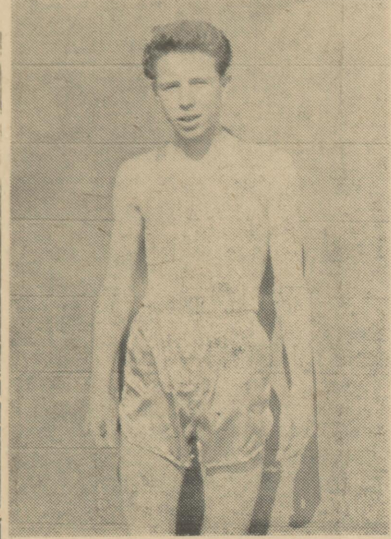

A 14-year-old boy won the Wilmington Trapshooting Association's registered 100 handicap targets events Sun., March 25, at Minquadele.

Glenn B. Smith, of Harrington, shooting from 18 yards, was high gun, cracking 93 targets. His father, Gayle, also is an outstanding shooter. The father, who shoots from 21 yards, hit 85 targets.

Registering 92s were Charles Austin of Kenton, Harman Rogers, of West Chester, and Jeff Trader of Pocomoke City, Md. William Barrow, of Newark; Joseph H. Anderson, of Wilmington, and F. L. Bugliani, of West Chester, recorded 91s. Sixty-five shooters competed. Anderson shot from 23 yards, the other from either 20 or 21 yards.

Glenn will compete Sunday, at 2 p.m., in a 100-bird contest, the Kent County Championship Shoot near Rising Sun.

SHOP AND SWAP IN THE WANT ADS

Frank Cain, freshman pole vaulter, is shown wearing one of the new track suits. He is aiming for the school record in his event which is 9 ft. 9 in. held by Don Garey, Jim Temple and Bruce Smith.

Hgton. Jr. Football League to Hold Special Meeting

The Harrington Jr. Football League is going to hold a special meeting at the school on April 9 at 8 p.m. This meeting is of vital importance and the presence of all of those who are affiliated with the Junior Football League is requested.

Lions Are Second In Triangular Meet

The Harrington High School track team opened the 1962 season by finishing second in a triangular meet with William Henry and Smyrna at Dover on Wednesday afternoon. Henry was never pressed as the Rams scored an easy win and won all but three events.

Frank Cain, Lion pole vaulter, has cleared nine feet twice this year. George Bonniwell like Cain is a freshman and is approaching nine feet. They were awarded first and second places since Smyrna has no vaulters and the Henry pole vault standards were broken.

Bob Smith, a freshman, and Randy Knox, a sophomore, were the leading point scorers for the Lions. Smith was second in the miler on by Winchester, a Henry senior. Bob also was fourth in the half mile. Knox jumped 5 ft. 2 inches to capture second place in the high jump and was fourth in the broad jump.

Bill Sollars made the scoring column as he was third in the high jump and fourth in the 440 yard run.

Stewart Greenberg was third in the discus. Dennis Rogers was fourth in the mile and Harold Ellwanger was fourth in the discus.

The locals were represented Wednesday by freshmen and sophomores in practically every event. These lads did very well against juniors and seniors but they should have more help from the upper classmen at Harrington High. At least nine men who were members of the Lion squad last year have not reported as yet this year. Add to that nine the dozen 1961 graduates and it is easy to see why H.H.S. may have its first weak track team after five years of success.

The Lions next meet is an unusual and interesting test. The locals will take part in a quintangular meet at Harrington Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. Opposition will be furnished by Dover Air Force Base High School, Milton, North Caroline of Denton and Colonel Richardson High. The latter school is the result of the merger between Preston and Federsburg. If some of the missing "nonchalant nine" Lions show up the locals have a chance to finish high up.

The rest of the schedule is as follows:

- Apr. 25-Seaford Invitational
- May 2-Rehoboth, H.H.S. at Millsboro
- 4-Peninsula Relays at Wilm.
- 9-Milford Invitational
- 11-Dover Relays
- 16-Henlopen Conference at Millsboro

Spring Visiting Schedule At State Hospital

Relatives and other authorized persons may visit patients any day Monday through Saturday, between the hours of 1:15 p.m. and 4 p.m. In addition, between April 1st and October 1st, Sunday visiting between the hours of 1:15 and 4 p.m. is permitted for ground privileged patients. Visitors must obtain a visiting permit at the Information Center Building prior to calling on the patient on the ward.

Pat Knight Talks On Little League Baseball

Pat Knight, of Dover, who is state director of Little League baseball, spoke to a group of 35 or 40 interested adults at a meeting held Monday night on the second floor of the First National Bank building.

A question and answer period followed Knight's remarks. After much discussion the constitution and by laws were approved by the gathering. Plans call for forming a corporation to be known as Harrington Little League, Inc.

A finance committee is attempting to line up team sponsors from among the organizations in the community. The Lions Club has agreed to underwrite expenses for equipment and insurance. The Moose Lodge has offered to buy a complete set of uniforms for one team. Since one set is already on hand from last year's team, all that is needed to get the ball rolling is uniforms for two more teams. The Rotary Club and the American Legion are to be contacted at their next meetings. Practically all of the people in attendance Monday night seemed to feel that with the progress made thus far, there will be a four-team official Little League in Harrington this year.

A nominating committee headed by Tom Peck came up with a slate of officers who were then approved by the assemblage.

Jim O'Neal, who has spearheaded the movement, is president. George Robert "Bob" Haley is vice president. Treasurer is Richard Wilson. Doris Fry in addition to helping Betty Jane Knox form a Women's Auxiliary, will hold down the post of secretary. Keith Burgess will also serve in a dual capacity as publicity chairman and as player agent.

The Woman's Auxiliary will be made up, for the most part, from among the mothers of the 60 boys who will play on the four teams. It is possible that a minor league will be formed if enough boys are left over after the other teams are chosen.

The Catholic Church may allow the teams to use part of its lands on Liberty Street for a ball field.

Boys residing in the Harrington School District will be eligible to play in this league. A registration date will be announced soon by the player agent. Efforts are being made to have a doctor present at that time to give physical examinations. All prospective players must have birth certificate or other proofs of birth dates. Parents do not have to accompany the lads unless they wish to do so.

Fish & Game News

Tues., April 25, has been set by the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners for the annual game and fish hearing. This public hearing is being held prior to the setting of the 1962-63 hunting and fishing seasons for the purpose of hearing your views and recommendations and ideas concerning the up-and-coming seasons.

Whether you are an ardent quail hunter or an enthusiastic raccoon hunter or whether you use a gun or a bow and arrow, this April 25 meeting will be of interest to you. The hearing will be held in the Capitol Grange Hall, south of Governor's Avenue, Dover, at 8 p.m. C. Parker Wheatley, president of the Game and Fish Commission, will preside over what has developed into a popular sportsman's forum.

The General Assembly nine years ago empowered the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners to set seasons and limits on upland game and freshwater fish. Such regulations enable the Commission to manage the wildlife resources of the state for the greatest benefit to both fish and game and those persons who enjoy hunting and fishing.

Waterfowl and other migratory game regulations will also be discussed to guide the Commission in its recommendations to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service who in turn draws regulations for these species.

FIRE LOSS

The fire company won a transistor radio and $37.50 in cash as first and second prizes of the Delmarva Volunteer Fireman's Association's fund raising event to help defray expenses of its annual convention at Parkersley, Va., May 8-9.

22 Magistrates Miss March Report Date

Twenty-two of Delaware's 46 magistrates had not filed their March criminal reports in compliance with state law as of Wednesday afternoon, a check revealed.

Comptrollers of the state's three counties revealed Wednesday that the March reports were received from only seven of 17 magistrates in New Castle County, five of 11 in Kent County and 12 of 18 in Sussex County.

According to Section 5924, Title 11 of the Delaware Code, magistrates must file a report of their criminal cases for the preceding month on the "first secular day" of the following month.

A bill pending in the General Assembly would change the date for filing to the 15th of the following month.

Under the present statute, the magistrates' reports should have been filed with the comptrollers Monday, April 2.

This month's figure, however, is about twice the number of magistrates who had filed February reports by the same time last month. The fact that the magistrates were not filing their criminal reports in accordance with the law was revealed last month in a series of articles dealing with the state's magistrate system.

Mushroom Gathering Can Be Fun—or Tragic

Gathering mushrooms in spring may be a popular pastime for country folk, but the search for the fungus food can lead to tragedy.

The poisonous varieties must be hard to spot. Even Bill Church manager of Yorklyn Mushroom Co., says he wouldn't know one if he saw it.

"Why bother?" he mused Wednesday. "We grow a good crop of mushrooms right here. We have 162,000 square feet of growing space and it turns out four and a half pounds of mushrooms per square foot a year."

Undoubtedly there are wild edible mushrooms in the Hockessin-Kennett Square area, according to Earl Holston, a plant pathologist at a mushroom supply house in Toughkenamon. "In Europe it's a big thing, but I wouldn't want to take a chance," Holston said. Some people may know by experience where the wild mushrooms grow, but someone had to take a chance sometime, Holston said.

Only the meadow mushroom (Agaricus campestris) is grown commercially in the United States, but it has several strains, each identified by the color of the fruit: White, cream, Hawaiian brown, and golden white.

Yorklyn mushrooms come in two crops, one planted in August, the other in January. Each crop yields about six "runs," according to Church. A "run" is a picking.

The mushroom grows from tiny spore similar to the seed of green plants. Spores are found in the gills, a thin membrane connecting the stem and the button of the mushroom.
