

Delegates Named To 4-H Conference

Four Delaware youths have been selected to attend the 32nd National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C., April 21-28. They are: Phoebe Fassig and Kenneth Wilson, Newark; Josephine Moore, Dover; and Joseph Williamson, Jr., Bridgeville.

National 4-H Conference is an inspirational and educational experience for 4-H club members who have been chosen to represent more than 2 1/4 million 4-H boys and girls. Theme of the 32nd Conference is "Build on Our American Heritage." The conference will provide an opportunity for older club members to develop a greater appreciation of their American heritage and better understand the responsibilities of citizenship.

While in Washington, these delegates will participate in planned assemblies and group discussions, hear some of the Nations' top speakers and meet congressional and other national leaders. In addition, they will visit the historical shrines of the Nation's capital.

Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Williamson, Bridgeville, is a senior at Bridgeville High School. He is a seven-year 4-H club member and was selected as Delaware's top tractor operator in last year's contest at the Kent-Sussex Fair. Joe is active in many phases of 4-H work including public speaking, judging, exhibits and demonstrations. He is president of the Sussex County 4-H Council.

Josephine Moore is a seven-year 4-H member and a senior at Dover Central High School. She has carried projects in foods, clothing and freezing. She was selected county winner in the favorite foods contest for the past three years and last year was second in state competition. In addition, Miss Moore has served on many local and county committees and has been reporter, vice president and president of her local 4-H club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Moore, Dover.

Kenneth Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Wilson of Newark. He is a senior at Newark High School. During his eight years of club work, Kenneth has carried projects in field crops, home beautification, dairy, and junior leadership. In 1959, he was selected as a delegate to National 4-H Club Congress for his achievement in dairy. In 1961, he attended the American Institute of Cooperatives in St. Paul, Minnesota. In 1958 and 1959, Kenneth won county and state honors in dairy production demonstrations.

Phoebe Fassig is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Fassig of Newark. She is a seven year 4-H member and a senior at Newark High School. She has been enrolled in projects in food preparation, canning, home improvement and electricity. In 1960, Phoebe was awarded a trip to National 4-H Club Congress for her accomplishments in food preparation. She was then selected as first alternate in National competition. Phoebe's 4-H work includes participation in public speaking, judging, demonstrations, and exhibits. She was the 1961 winner in citizenship and is treasurer of the county 4-H Council.

Delegates will leave on Saturday, April 21, and will return on the 28th. They will be accompanied by James O. Baker, State 4-H Club leader.

U. of D. Studies Land Utilization

More than one-fourth of the open space in Northern New Castle County, "evaporated" in the 23-year period from 1937 to 1960.

The disappearance is revealed in a study of land utilization in the seven northern hundreds of the county being conducted by Gerald F. Vaughn, U.S. Department of Agriculture economist and Dr. William M. Crosswhite, assistant professor of agricultural economics, University of Delaware.

In 1937, open space—farmland, woodland, marsh areas and other undeveloped land totaled 128,847 acres or 80 per cent of the area north of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. By 1960, open areas had fallen to 93,345 acres or only 58 per cent of the area.

The study shows this comparison of 1960 and 1937 open space acreage in each of the seven hundreds (1937 in parentheses): Brandywine 7,632 (14,299); Christiana 11,227 (14,869); Mill Creek 19,690 (24,438); White Clay Creek 9,293 (13,467); New Castle 12,730 (20,990); Pencader 23,903 (27,622); and Red Lion 8,870 (13,162). Increasing population has been the principal reason for the decline, according to Vaughn and Crosswhite. Industrialization attracted large numbers of people to the area, resulting in a need for additional housing, shopping centers, recreation areas and highways. The growth caused rapid development of the area's open land.

Annual Winterthur Museum-Garden Tour

The eleventh annual Museum-Garden Tour, featuring a bedroom in the federal style and expanded garden walks, will open at The Henry Francis duPont Winterthur Museum, near Wilmington, Tues., April 24, to continue through Sat., May 26.

During these five weeks of the Museum's most important period rooms, ranging in date from 1684 to 1840, will be open without the advance reservation usually needed to see this great collection of the American decorative arts, and may be visited in conjunction with Mr. and Mrs. duPont's spring-flower and azalea gardens of almost a hundred acres.

The special bedroom exhibition will highlight furniture made in New England in the post-revolutionary years, such as a mahogany-and-satinwood bed with "pineapple" cloth canopy; side chairs attributed to John Seymour, of Boston, and a night table richly carved by Samuel Field McIntire, of Salem. In the gardens, new areas will be open including a woodland walk which winds one-and-a-half miles through native ferns, laurel, and wild flowers.

Each of the period rooms in the Museum contains woodwork from a house built along the eastern seaboard before the advent of the machine age, and is furnished with the smallest detail with objects of daily living contemporary in date with the woodwork. The Winterthur Museum is recognized as containing the largest collection of early American furniture and decorative accessories ever assembled. During the Museum-Garden Tour the collection is explained to visitors by trained guides and hostesses, organized by the Junior League of Wilmington.

The Winterthur Gardens, which Mr. duPont has developed over a span of more than forty years, are noted for the naturalized plantings of spring flowers and shrubs, especially azaleas, which are outstanding for the range of their colors and their size. One group of azaleas, new this year, is planted along the "once-a-week walk" where the sequence of blooms of different varieties may be seen as these plants blossom a week apart.

Winterthur is located six miles northwest of Wilmington on Route 52, between Greenville and Centreville.

The Museum and Gardens are open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday; only the Gardens are open on Sunday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. General admission to the grounds and gardens is $1. Admission to the 20 rooms in the main museum is $1, and to the ten rooms in the South Wing, 50 cents. Children under fourteen years of age accompanied by adults are admitted for 50 cents. The admission fee received during the Museum-Garden Tour supports in part the education and research program of the Museum, a nonprofit educational and charitable foundation.

German Physics Professor to Lecture at U. of D.

Dr. Siegfried Flugge of the Physiakalisches Institute der Universitat Friegurg, West Germany, will be visiting lecturer at the University of Delaware on Monday and Tuesday.

He will appear under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a nationwide program to stimulate interest in physics which is being supported by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Flugge will present a technical lecture on the "Three-Body Problem in Quantum Mechanics" in Room 6, Recitation Hall, on Monday at 4 p.m., and a non-technical talk, "Teaching Physics," on Tuesday at the same time and location. Both lectures are open to the public.

Dr. Ferd Williams, chairman of the university's physics department, is in charge of arrangements for the visit. The German professor will talk to classes and meet with faculty to discuss teaching and research in his country.

The visiting scientists program, now in its fifth year, has enabled prominent American physicists to lecture at many U. S. colleges and universities, and has been extended to include visits by distinguished men from abroad.

Dr. Flugge's fields of interest include theoretical physics and quantum mechanics. He has previously served as visiting professor at the University of Wisconsin, Carnegie Institute of Technology and the University of Pittsburgh.

He has been senate member and dean of the philosophical faculty at the University of Marburg for several years and a contributor to technical journals.

Starter Pens Big Help to Paul Carter

"Since the calf pens were built in November, 1961, not one calf out of 27 raised has been lost," said Paul Carter. Paul is a Pet patron on the Sandtown Road, says "Pet Dairy Chats."

"My children, Yvonne, 13, and Paul Ronald, 12, do most of the work of raising the calves and what's more—they like it." Paul also helps his father while Yvonne takes care of the calves.

For the past few years, Paul has lost calves by pneumonia, scours or some other cause. This has been a great financial loss to him, and he resolved to do something about it.

He looked around and saw an old brooder house which was not being used. It was well built and

Paul is really sold in the merits of the starter pen. The calves get plenty of sun from a northeast exposure which helps keep the pens dry and aids in combating disease. "The calves also do not interfere with each other and don't waste much feed," he commented. "Each calf can be given individual attention, its condition checked daily and pen cleaned regularly."

A clipboard and paper are kept in the pen to record the amount of feed given each animal every week. This is a great help for the person who cares for the calves.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a World War II veteran planning to convert my GI term insurance policy to a permanent plan. May I convert as little as $500 at a time?

A—No. The Veteran Administration does not issue new policies for less than $1000, and your partial conversion requires a new policy to be issued each time you convert part of your present term policy. However, you may convert in multiples of $500 above $1,000, as $1500, $2500, etc.

Q—Does the VA provide transportation to its domiciliaries at Government expense, when a veteran becomes a resident of one of these homes?

A—As a rule, transportation to a domiciliary at Government expense is provided only for the initial admission of the veteran.

Q—I am interested in converting my GI term insurance to some form of permanent plan insurance. What choice do I have?

A—You may convert to ordinary life, 20-payment life, 30-payment life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60, or endowment at age 65.

Fish & Game News

Three bills of interest to sportsmen throughout Delaware are being considered in the legislature. H.B. 321-Hunting and Fishing License. This act would provide badly needed additional revenue to the Commission by increasing the hunting and fishing license by 95 cents each. H.B. 322 passed the House several weeks ago but has failed to come out of Senator Mayhew's Fish, Oyster and Game Committee in the Senate.

Additional proceeds that would be provided under this bill would be used for further developing of State lands and waters, for additional patrol of state lands and for the general strengthening of the Commission's entire program.

H. B. 250—Shooting Preserves. This bill would provide for private shooting preserves in Kent and Sussex Counties similar to the shooting preserve that have been authorized in New Castle County since 1950.

The original intent of H.B. 250 was seriously impaired by an amendment in the House which would restrict the season on preserves to the regular hunting season for upland game throughout the State. It has since been pointed out that such an amendment would make preserves economically unsound and eliminate the existing preserve shooting in Delaware. Accordingly, it is likely that the Senate will strike the amendment from this bill when it comes before it. The enactment of this bill in a satisfactory form is anticipated.

Shooting preserves operate on pen reared wildlife only and have proved instrumental in increasing wildlife in surrounding areas.

H.B. 492 — Penalties for Deer Violations. This act would increase the fine for violations of regulations pertaining to deer. When it was pointed out that the bill would provide for a minimum fine of $150 for each offense involving deer, the bill was tabled for an amendment which would make this fine pertinent only to hunting out-of-season. Strong support for this bill has come from the Smyrna and Hartly areas where illegal deer hunting has been unusually common.

Game and Fish Hearing

On Wed., April 25 at 8 p.m. the annual fish and game hearing will be held in the Capitol Grange Hall, S. Governor's Avenue, Dover.

Management of Delaware's wildlife resources is everyone's concern—from the school child who eagerly seeks information about nature to the sportsman who hunts and fishes. This public forum is the place to express one's views.

Trout Season

Trout fishermen, in spite of rain on opening day, had excellent fishing for the scrappy rainbows last weekend. Delaware's trout program has been greatly increased this year. On Tuesday and Thursday of this week Commission personnel stocked two thousand more brook trout in Beck's Pond, the Brandywine between West Street and Rocklam Dam and White Clay, Mill and Pike Creeks north of Newark.

Delaware's allotment of 8 to 14 inch trout from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Hatchery at Lee-town, West Virginia will make it possible for the Commission to stock fish at the rate of about 2000 per week during April and May.

Fishermen are advised that several wrong dates have been published concerning trout season. These dates are important to trout fishermen: May 19—No trout stamp will be required to fish Beck's Pond and the Brandywine after May 19.

November 10 — A trout stamp will be required on all other trout streams through November 10, at which time the trout season officially closes.

Fowlers Beach Launching Ramp

The public boat launching ramp at Fowlers Beach will not be in operation for the '62 season. Until a general plan is worked out to restore the barrier beach in the vicinity of the Fowlers launching ramp, the Game and Fish Commission will be unable to restore this popular public boat launching facility.

Delaware Food Market Report

Ham is a favorite on many Easter menus and a tradition in many homes at this time of the year. However, serving ham for Easter did not originate in the 20th century. Ham has been served in the spring ever since pagan days, reports the American Meat Institute. The people in that period prepared huge feasts heralding the arrival of spring. Since fresh meats were not available at that time of year, they served ham. This spring feasting was continued in the Christian era and soon became associated with Easter. Though ham has advanced a bit in price, here is a way for the small family to get extra mileage from their Easter ham and save money too. Buy the shank half rather than the butt half of ham and make sure the ham is a full shank half not shank portion. If the word portion is used that tells you the center cuts have been removed and you are getting what is left. You will find that shank halves are usually offered at an even lower price than other ham cuts. From this piece of meat you can get four fresh-cooked meals.

For meal number 1 have the meatman saw off a generous shank end—this will be the meat for an old-fashioned "boiled dinner." To make this meal simmer the ham with carrots, onions, potatoes and wedges of cabbage.

The remaining part of the ham can easily be divided into two portions. The piece with the bone can be used for your Easter feast. The slices will be small because of the bone in the middle, but delicious, and just enough for one meal for a small family. The rest of the ham is boneless and easily sliced with a sharp knife. Cut thicker slices from the larger end to pan-fry or broil. Cut the small end into thinner slices or cubes for ham and scalloped potatoes or other one-dish meals.

If your family is large then nothing could be more economical than roast turkey or more delicious. The large birds are quite reasonable this weekend.

Larger supplies of vegetables from the South Atlantic states are arriving as spring moves north. For vegetables in the lower price range check carrots, asparagus (from California), sweet corn, broccoli, eggplant, Iceberg lettuce, Eastern potatoes and mushrooms. Moderate in price but offering variety are Florida vine-ripened tomatoes, artichokes, beets, cauliflower, peppers, sweet potatoes and snap beans. Fruit selections have an international flavor and are ranging in price from low to expensive. Domestic avocados are very reasonable as are limes, oranges, grapefruit, apples and watermelon (in a few stores). More expensive are mangoes from Haiti, melons from Peru and cantaloupes from Mexico.

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Rain and bad weather washed out several sports events last week.

We stopped off in Ohio last week and viewed a track meet in Painesville between the home team, Riverside and visiting Fairport from a town on Lake Erie.

Plans for the matinee at the Delaware State Fair Grounds on Saturday, April 21 have been cancelled due to the fact that several rainy days interrupted training and slowed down things a bit at the track.

Matinee At Harrington Track Cancelled

The program consisted of the following selections: "O Jesus, We Adore Thee," by the choir; "The Last Supper," by the choir; solo, Mrs. Alfred Rachip; "Gethsemane," the choir; solo, Mrs. E. J. Martinez; "Bethrayal and Denial," the choir; women's chorus, solo, Mrs. James Hull, James Sharp; "The Trial"; solo, Mrs. E. J. Martinez; "There Is A Green Hill," the choir; solo, Mrs. Robert Morris; "At Calvary," duet, Mrs. Robert Morris and Mrs. E. J. Martinez; "In The Cross of Christ I Glory," the choir.

The offering was given to pay for the music and the balance to be applied to the choir robes which has just been bought for the choir and they were wearing the new robes for the first time Sunday evening.

Entries for April 28 are now being accepted in the office at the fairgrounds and horses will be drawn and a program printed for the events on Friday, April 27.

Much interest is being shown at the possibility of being able to go with colts and green horses next week.

Felton Nine Rallies to Down Greenwood

Greenwood's defense fell apart in the final inning as Felton High rallied for an 8-5 victory in the Henlopen Conference opener for both teams. The game was played at Greenwood Monday afternoon.

Felton had a 3-0 lead until the loser tallied four times in the fifth and once in the sixth. The Green Devils then struck for five runs to win the contest. The Foresters committed three errors during the rally.

The 1941-42 basketball team won 14 games and lost 1. A loss by one point at Felton in the finale ruined a perfect season.

In 1939 H.H.S. opened with five straight losses, then won five straight including a win over Dover and two from Seaford, en route to an 8-3 season.

Magnolia

An Easter cantata, "The Cross of Christ" was presented by the Senior Choir in the Magnolia Church Sunday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Fletcher Bryan.

The Rev. Hood announced that there will be an Easter Sunrise service at the rear of the church at 6 a.m., Easter morning. Everyone is invited to come out and worship together.

The unit voted to send two letters urging the passing of two pieces of veteran's legislation now before Congress. Mrs. Humes, legislative chairman, brought the bills to the attention of the group.

Mrs. Clyde Tucker will serve again this year as chairman of hostesses for the chest x-ray program to be held in Harrington on Thurs., May 10, from 2 to 5 p.m., and Fri., May 11, from 1 to 3 p.m. Hostesses are needed for these time periods each day.

As has been the custom in the past the members of C.K.R.T. Auxiliary Unit No. 7, will be collecting membership dues in order to have a 100% paid up membership to present to the new department president at the convention.

The Future Nurses Club of Harrington were guests of Caesar Rodney F.N.C. at a tea April 5.

Preschool registration will be held at Harrington School May 3 and 4 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Please bring birth certificates.

SCHOOL BILL

This gives the voter the choice of limiting expenditures to amounts based on the standardized formula, accepting a more elaborate plan should it be recommended by a school board, or rejecting both.

The formula considers such items as the size of classrooms and hallways and the number of rooms other than classrooms a school needs and sets limits for these facilities.

EXLEY

"Upon investigation I find there is a movement active to abolish federal income tax. Seven states have already passed a resolution petitioning Congress for relief.

"What is the plan? By doing away with over 700 competing government businesses and selling their assets we more than save the receipts from personal income tax. Plus, according to the author of this resolution, show a surplus of almost $7 billion! Plus releasing $38 billions to the people in additional spending money."

Casey did not identify the authors of the resolution. In withdrawing his sponsorship, Exley said the resolution was represented to him as one to petition Congress to prepare a constitutional amendment to limit the federal government's income taxing powers.

But he said "the terrifying thought is really the important government services which it will curtail. It will eliminate, for example: The Post Office Department, social security, veterans insurance, the Rural Electrification Administration, the Small Business Administration, federal loans of any type including those for urban renewal, highway and aid to dependent nations."

Sen. Harvey B. Spicer, R-Georgetown, suggested no action be taken on the measure until someone versed in labor practices could address the Senate.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate passed two supplemental appropriation measures and a constitutional amendment to outlaw retroactive taxing.

New Castle County Department of Elections. The other supplemental appropriation was $7,420.65 to the State Board of Education to pay transportation costs for the school year ending last June 30.

Rose Growers to Meet at Dover

All interested gardeners are invited to bring their questions on roses to the conference room of the State Board of Health at Dover on Wed., April 25 at 8 p.m. The Delaware Rose Society is holding its first downstate meeting in co-operation with the University of Delaware Extension Service.

A panel discussion will feature four leading amateur rose growers to handle all questions. Panelists will include Professor Claude Phillips of Newark, Mrs. E. W. Buchanan of Dover, Joseph Eckhardt of Bridgeville, and one other local person yet to be confirmed.

The Oregon Rose Festival on color film will be another program attraction. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Amelia C. Marvel

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. for Miss Amelia C. Marvel, 67, who died Wednesday at her home near Houston after a long illness. The services will be held at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, with the Rev. William A. McDaniel of the Brethren Church of Farmington officiating.

Interment will follow at Holywood Cemetery, Harrington. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

She is survived by four brothers: William N., Milford; Wilson C., Claymont; George W. and James R., both of Houston.

Automatics Wash Small Loads of Clothes Cleaner

To get the best results from your automatic washer, limit the size of each load of clothes, suggests Katie Thomas, Kent County home demonstration agent.

A recent laboratory study, to compare soil removed with size of wash load, indicated that washing loads two to three pounds smaller than the manufacturer recommends, gives cleaner clothes, reports Mrs. Thomas.

Controlled conditions of amount, temperature and hardness of water; type and concentration of detergent; agitation time and type and quantity of soil and items in test loads were used in the study.

Three agitation-type automatic washers were used for the testing which also controlled rinsing and spinning time. Loads from one pound up to that recommended by the manufacturer were used. In all tests, the soil

The meeting concluded when Hatfield said, "In the record, the Council is interested in the citizens' complaints and intends to do something about them, but should review the policy. If the Council sets up a plan and a man doesn't do his job, you get someone else."

A harmonious note was played when all agreed it would be a good idea to have a state police official explain policy.
