

OUTGOING WELFARE OFFICIAL CHARGES INEFFICIENCY

The outgoing chairman of the State Board of Welfare Tuesday night charged the administrative staff of his agency with inefficiency and called for a reorganization of the department.

Elmer F. Cunningham, also contended that 10 to 15 percent of the persons on the relief rolls may be chiselers, and that social workers tend to minimize this number.

Cunningham was joined in criticism of Delaware's public welfare program by Sen. Walter J. Hoey, D-Milford, at a meeting of the Delaware Chapter, National Association of Social Workers, at the Treadway Inn.

Cunningham had stated at Monday's welfare board meeting that he would not accept re-election as chairman because of a possible conflict of interest with his position as managing editor of the Evening Journal.

Noting a lack of confidence in the welfare program and social workers among state legislators and the public, Cunningham said he has tried for two years "to bring about a change in this attitude."

"My efforts have failed miserably," he said, "because of the failure of the administrative staff of the Welfare Department to show any sincere desire to help change this attitude of certain members of the legislature."

Hoey urged that investigations of welfare applicants be taken away from the social worker and from the Welfare Department.

Several persons at the meeting stressed that social workers are very careful not to put an unworthy person on relief.

Gabriel Popovich, New Castle County Welfare supervisor, said, "We are doing everything possible to uncover these cases. We, too, are interested in halting this (chiseling), but we do need the law."

Cunningham was asked by a social worker why, if he was criticizing the department, didn't he try to correct these situations. Cunningham replied that he spends hours at night studying the department manual and still can't understand it.

The Rev. Thomas J. Reese, director of the Catholic Welfare Guild, pointing to Cunningham, said:

"If he can't understand it, I don't see how anybody can understand it; and most especially not an ex-grocery boy that we have heading up the state police."

Cunningham told the meeting: "I am convinced there is a tremendous waste of manpower and money in the department and nothing is being done by the administrative staff to remedy the situation."

"I am convinced that a complete reorganization of the department is essential if the department is to gain public confidence in the welfare program, he continued.

Other major points made by Cunningham were:

Social workers dominate the department and consider the board a rubber stamp—the reason for many legislators' low esteem of the department.

The task of determining eligibility of a welfare recipient should be taken from the social worker so he can concentrate on rehabilitation and readjustment.

A detailed time study in April and May of 1961 indicated a waste of manpower in the department.

Maj. Schmalhofer Explains to Council Police Operations

The duties of the state police, as pertained to municipalities, were explained to the City Council, at its May meeting Wednesday night by Maj. George Schmalhofer, of the state police.

In the case of picking up a fugitive in another state, involving an offense in a municipality, the city officer will secure a warrant and pick up the fugitive. It is not the duty of the state police to pick up fugitives in other states on municipal charges, Maj. Schmalhofer, field force commander of the state police, explained.

In pursuit of a fugitive, the city police can go anywhere.

The major said he had a folder from the Bridgeville troop of the state police and that "it complimented the fine record of Ernest Kohland, chief of police here.

On the motion of Councilman Bill Smith, a vote of confidence was given the chief. It was a voice vote, with Councilman Wilson Bradley not voting.

In other business, the Council accepted petitions for street improvements on Mechanic and Third Streets, asked that the state fire marshal be seen about several buildings in town, and revealed that a 12-inch tile is being run from a borrow pit to a catch basin on the southbound lane of U. S. 13.

Senate Approves Capital Gains Bill

The State Senate voted Tuesday 16-1 to give Delaware taxpayers a $15 million-a-year break on capital gains.

The Senate passed legislation (SB 386) to allow a 50 percent reduction in taxable capital gains and grant a $1,000 exemption to most persons whose short term capital losses exceeded their long term capital gains in any year.

The action came only about four hours after Gov. Elbert N. Carvel had labeled the legislation a "piecemeal approach" which his administration did not favor. Carvel said he is considering an over-all overhaul of the state's tax laws to bring them in line with those of the federal government.

Under present law Delaware taxes capital gains as straight income without deductions.

The bill which sailed through the Senate would allow taxpayers to deduct half their capital gains on assets held longer than six months and reduce the gains by any amount of losses on assets held less than six months.

If short term losses exceeded long-term gains, a deduction of $1,000 would be allowed, unless net income was less, in which case the deduction would be the amount of net income.

Only Sen. Leon Donovan, D-Harrington, voted against the bill.

Carvel Backs Cape May, Lewes Ferry

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel Tuesday strongly endorsed a Cape May, N. J. to Lewes ferry system.

"I would like to see it," he told his biweekly press conference.

With the opening of the bridge-tunnel at the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula early in 1964 traffic through Delaware will increase considerably, he went on.

There will be enough traffic for U. S. Route 113 business as well as for a ferry system linking Lewes with lower New Jersey, he said.

The governor expressed interest in buying the ocean-going ferries that will be out of service once the Kiptopeake to Norfolk bridge-tunnel is opened.

Carvel also used his press conference Tuesday to:

1. Issue copies of a pamphlet summarizing accomplishments and aims of his administration.

2. Defend a contingency fund in the next state budget as an aid to helping him govern and saving the state money.

3. Declare he had not received complaints of "dictatorship" in the administration of the state's mental health programs.

STATE POLICE PRAISED FOR WELFARE PROBE

State Police were complimented for their work in handling an investigation of possible fraudulent recipients of welfare by H. Edward Maul, a board member, at a meeting Monday night.

Pointing out that police had taken on the investigation at the request of the board, Maul said they are to be congratulated "on the efficient work accomplished in so short a time."

Maul's statement came after Col. John Ferguson, state police superintendent, turned over to each member of the board information on 25 persons who had received welfare assistance without apparently needing it. The information, however, did not contain names and addresses.

Ferguson went on: "I'm tired of the implication that we're a Gestapo that has come in the form of written and spoken objections from some of the agencies.

"It's getting a little bit ridiculous," he went on, "to say that policemen cannot make an investigation. We have a bunch of dedicated men who last year worked 26,000 hours overtime.

"The policemen has just as big a heart and is just as much concerned with the welfare of people as anyone else.

"We're doing the job as we were asked to do."

Some of the 25 cases turned over to the board by police included:

A contractor with a heart condition receiving a total of $161 from January 1 to March 19 of this year while at the same time owning, and refusing to sell, several thousand dollars worth of equipment.

A man receiving $190 a month in total welfare since 1956 while at the same time collecting $70 a month rent from a double house he owns and has not, according to his wife, looked for work since the welfare checks started.

There were many more including forgeries, people receiving assistance while living out of state and many getting help who possessed substantial property.

$714,661 Budget Wins OK in Kent

A total county budget of $714,661.07 for the fiscal year 1962-63 was accepted Tuesday by the Kent County Levy Court.

Representing a $55,543.82 increase over this year's budget, it compares with a total assessment of county real estate and personal property of $114.5 million.

The tax rate, which is set by state law, is 50 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

The budget was approved without final figures for individual county offices and other disbursements, the members of the Levy Court claimed.

Both it and the total assessment were accepted after an executive session lasting nearly two hours and ending before noon.

According to the Levy Court and Walter Handsberry, clerk of the peace, the budget is in the rough and will be received from the auditor next week for final approval.

The largest chunk of the pie goes to welfare payments and expenses of the county—expenses set by the General Assembly and which each county must pay.

Handsberry said the welfare payments were 49.8 percent of the total budget last year and have risen steadily over the years.

The budget was prepared by Jesse Cooper, an auditor from Camden, Cooper said the $55,543.82 increase in the budget would be heavily consumed by welfare payments.

State Navy Is Considered

A million dollars "Navy" for Delaware Tuesday was proposed in the House of Representatives. Rep. Carlton Clifton, D-Milford, introduced a bill (HB 560) to float a bond issue of $1,025,000 to buy a heavy duty dredge, a tug-boat a dredge tender, and two barges.

The "Navy" flotilla would concentrate on dredging to maintain public beaches and waterways.

The proposal was one of two bond issues offered in the House Tuesday. The other would borrow $1,015,000 for three new buildings for the Delaware State (Continued on Page 8)

HATCH ACT IS A JOKE, VEHICLE COMMISSIONER TELLS DEMOCRATS

The Hatch Act is a joke as far as Russell W. Whitby, state motor vehicle commissioner, is concerned.

Speaking at a covered-dish supper of the Ninth District Democrat Club at the Farmington Fire House Tuesday evening, the fiery commissioner burst forth, "The Hatch Act is a joke as far as I am concerned. It was enacted in 1939 and re-enacted in 1941, and there has been no change since then."

The Camden resident attributed recent clamor about enforcement of the act, a federal law which prohibits political activity of persons employed on jobs where federal funds are spent, as a Republican move to defeat the Democrats in the fall elections.

"There are more angles as to why you can't convict a man than as to why you can convict him," Whitby explained. He blamed part of the furor on the Hatch Act to U. S. Senator John J. Williams (R). Republicans have been eyeing the State Highway Department, a Democratic stronghold.

In business preceding Whitby's speech, Maurice Adams told of the convention of the Delaware Federation of Democratic Clubs. A picnic was planned for sometime in July, with Bailey Minner as chairman, with Harrison Melvin, Bill Minner, Clarence Collins, and Adams as other committee members.

Whitby, a former president of the Delaware Federation of Democratic Clubs, said he had met with an attorney of the federal Bureau of Public Roads for two hours and that he was told the department he heads, the Motor Vehicle Department, was not affected by the Hatch Act.

Turning to enforcement of the act, Whitby said five accused violators have been arraigned in five states and none had been convicted. "It is just politics. If the Republicans were in power, you wouldn't have any Hatch Act and we wouldn't have nerve enough to talk about it. If the Republicans take over, they'll let us out 100 per cent and you can depend on that."

Going back to what employes, on works financed with federal funds, can do, the commissioner said: "You cannot use your car to take voters to the polls. You can work at the polls as long as you do not advise or take sides. I don't see anything in the Hatch Act that would affect one-tenth of our employes. You can't sell tickets to political dinners. The Hatch Act is not half as serious as we have been led to believe. If an employe were to work for the highway department, he should find out if any of his pay comes from funds from the Bureau of Public Roads."

Flim-Flam Game Costs Elderly Woman $1,900

The life savings of an elderly Wicomico County woman are gone today because she listened to two flim-flam artists.

Mrs. Minerva Dashiell, in her late 70s, told Salisbury police she withdrew $1,900, "all the money I had in the world," from banks in Hebron and Salisbury, on promises of a triple return for short-term investments.

It all happened Monday morning when, she told police, she gave the money to the two women, each about 50 years old, who promised her $6,000 in return.

The story Mrs. Dashiell told is similar to that of Mrs. Janie Sarah Jones, 71, Mardela, who was taken for $900 last August by a man and woman who promised a large return for having a spiritualist "pray" over the money. This pair has never been apprehended.

Mrs. Dashiell had come to Salisbury Monday to get some wallpaper. She was stopped on the street by one of the confidence women, and while they were talking, Mrs. Dashiell said one of the women came up waving a large roll of money she said she had received through her investment.

Mrs. Dashiell agreed to "invest" but said her money was in two banks, so the women drove the Tyaskin woman to both places and she withdrew her savings.

After they left her to "make the investment" Mrs. Dashiell waited in front of a W. Main Street department store for more than three hours before a patrolman noticed her and took her to police headquarters.

Mrs. Dashiell wasn't able to give them much information. She saw under the impression the women wouldn't be gone very long. She told police she believed they were local women.

The public is cordially invited to attend this band concert as well as the one to be given next week by the Senior High School band when the members will be wearing their new uniforms for the first time.

Dinner and Reception Honor The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr.

The Rev. John R. Symonds Jr., pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, who left Monday to assume a vicarage at a church of the same name in Blytheville, Ark., was honored Sunday at a dinner and reception at the church.

During the morning services the vicar was surprised by the following gifts: a white cope, from the congregation, presentation made by Thomas N. Clendenning, senior warden, and a reversible emergency stole, presented by the acolytes guild. A travel clock was given by the junior choir afterwards.

The Rev. Joseph S. Hinks, retired rector of Christ Church, Milford, blessed the garments, and assisted in the services. He will act as vicar of St. Stephen's until Aug. 1 when the Rev. Quay D. Rice, pastor of St. Martin's In-The-Fields, Selbyville, will be the local pastor.

Prowler Still About

The prowler, or peeping tom, who has been plaguing the community, is still about. Monday night, about 11 o'clock, the individual was flashing a flashlight in windows in the Wheeler Park area.

Delaware Food Market Report

May has inspired many a poet to write sonnets about lots of things and the meat supply situation for this month might warrant a poem but what rhymes with "pork chops"? Pork supplies are expected to be up a chop and other fresh pork cuts little from a year ago. Loins, are likely to be a leading "special" during the month.

Supplies of beef continue good, prices on some cuts such as sirloin steak continues lower than last year. As the weather warms up roast will be the best buy since demands for these cuts decrease in favor of quick cooking meats which do not tend to heat up the house. According to the American Meat Institution there are plenty of meats to be had at favorable prices for the days ahead.

Ice cream, along with milk and dairy products, is the featured food on the plentiful foods list which is issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture each month. Supplies are approaching their seasonal peak and a record production is expected. Also on the May list are eggs, broiler-fryers, vegetable fats and oils and canned Freestone peaches. All of these are expected to be good buys this month.

Changeable spring weather causes marked shifts in supplies of fresh vegetables. From nearby growing areas are coming asparagus, green onions, spinach and other greens. Cabbage supplies are on the increase and should be back to normal soon. The wide price range on cucumbers is caused by a big difference in quality. Right now there are two qualities on the market, and the better quality is on the high side. Artichokes are abundant and low in price with quality high. Also in good supply are Eastern potatoes, broccoli, dry onions, and egg plant. Watch quality of Iceberg lettuce as weather conditions affect it readily.

Horseradish is a newcomer to the market and is in limited supply. Horseradish fans think there is nothing like the fresh artichoke to go with corned beef or add zip to seafood sauces.

Florida citrus fruits continue in good supply—limes, oranges, grapefruit, and lemons. Avocados are plentiful and supplies of strawberries are increasing with the warm weather.

Social Security News

A recent change in the social security law has made thousands of older workers eligible for benefits, said the Dover Social Security Office. This change, he said, reduces the amount of time a person needs to work to qualify for benefits. To illustrate, he pointed out that men reaching 65 or women reaching 62 in 1962 need only 2 3/4 years of work. Those who are older may need as little as 1 1/2 years of work under social security to qualify for payments.

This change in the law also affects those who have been turned down before because they didn't have enough work to qualify at the time they applied. These workers should check with the social security office right away, the office said.

If you can't come in, write or telephone for leaflet OASI-855 which explains this change in detail.

The Dover Social Security Office is located at 230 West Lookerman Street; the telephone number is 736-1426.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Are bills pending in Congress about opening up some phases of WWI or WW II GI insurance?

A—Several bills have been introduced into both houses, but as yet no action has been taken on any of them.

Q—What is the priority for admission to a VA hospital?

A—First, a service-connected veteran requiring medical care for the injury or disability for which he is service-connected. Second, a service-connected veteran requiring medical attention for some other injury or disability than that for which he is service-connected. Third, a non-service-connected veteran for whom a bed is available who will sign an affidavit that he cannot afford to pay the cost of his hospitalization and who must list all his assets and liabilities so as to give an idea of the worth of his estate.

Q—Are educational benefits still open to veterans of WW II?

A—The deadline for WWII veterans has expired as far as educational benefits are concerned. Korea Conflict veterans are the only ones entitled to educational benefits at this time.

Veterans News

Because of many recent inquiries, the following information is furnished for the benefit of many widows drawing monetary benefits from the Veterans Administration.

A widow's income has no bearing on her eligibility for dependency and indemnity compensation payments if her veteran husband died of a condition attributable to service. Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Regional Office, said today.

Dependency and indemnity compensation payments may be paid the widow of a veteran whose death was the result of his service, Mr. Fields said, but her other income has no bearing on this payment.

However, income limitations do apply to VA death pension. This is an entirely different benefit which may be paid the widow of a wartime veteran who died of a condition not attributable to service, Mr. Fields said.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am a veteran on the VA pension rolls. I have been awarded food, clothing and shelter following the recent storms that damaged my home on the coast. Now, I hesitate to accept funds for the restoration of my house because they would raise my income above the limit permissible to draw my pension.

A—Any assistance in the nature of restoration of housing, food, clothing, shelter, medical care, etc., to victims of disasters is not considered as income for the purpose of determining eligibility of VA pension.

Q—May two or more periods of marriage between the same two people be tacked together so as to satisfy the marital requirement "for five or more years" when a widow seeks pension?

A—No. Where a woman and a veteran were married and divorced and married to each other again after which he died, only the date of their last marriage is considered in determining whether the widow of the veteran comes within the requirement relating to marriage "for five or more years."

Q—My husband was killed in service during World War II. If our son is eligible for the War Orphans Education program, at what age could he qualify?

A—The age period generally is between 18 and 23, but there are exceptions. The benefit may be provided for children under 18 if they have graduated from high school or if they are above the age of compulsory school attendance and the VA finds it would be to their best advantage to begin schooling before reaching 18. Some handicapped children may begin a special vocational or restorative course as early as age 14. Please get in touch with the nearest VA regional office for details on eligibility, vocational counseling, and application for enrollment.

Milk and Cheese Provide Spring Protein Lift

It's spring tune-up time for people and nothing will give you a better protein lift than milk, whether it be whole or skim milk, buttermilk or chocolate, says Miss Janet Coblentz, extension nutritionist with the University of Delaware.

Miss Coblentz suggests that you take a close look at the protein value of milk and milk products in planning menus since milk protein is of highest quality. The recommended daily allowance for adults is 2 cups of milk. This provides one-fourth of the protein needed for the adult while the suggested quota of 3 to 4 cups per day for children supplies one-half their daily protein requirement. The protein in two cups of milk is equal to a 3-ounce serving of hamburger, fish, or ham without bone, or 2 1/4 frankfurters.

Cheese is the concentrated protein source in the dairy products family. One ounce of American cheese or 1 1/2 ounces (3 tablespoons) uncreamed cottage cheese is equal to one cup of milk in protein value.

One of the newer fluid milk products is fortified skim milk. This has had non-fat dry milk solids or condensed skim milk added for greater nutritional value with a minimum of additional calories, Miss Coblentz explains. It is especially rich in protein and calcium—more so than ordinary skim milk.

Musical Comedy to Be Explained Over Two Nights

Selections from 15 Broadway musicals will be presented over a two-night period on Monday and Tuesday in Mitchell Hall at the University of Delaware.

The annual Contemporary Music Festival at the Newark campus this year will survey development in the American musical theater, featuring the University Concert Choir and the Delaware Symphonette under the direction of Lehman Engel, noted Broadway composer, director and conductor.

Both concerts, at 8:15 p.m., are open to the public without charge. There will be no reserved seats. Engel, who has been involved in the production of 150 shows, will comment on the musical theater from 1904 to the present as various periods are presented.

Characteristics common to musicals to be explained through music and commentary will be the overture, opening number, ballet, ballad, first act finale, second act opening, the musical scene, use of the chorus, humorous songs and the finale.

The choir and student soloists will be augmented by guest singers Jerry Todd, Jane Shepard, Shirley Tedford, Elbert Chance, Darrell Eubank, Roy Sweet and Donald MacRostie — all prominent in Wilmington musical groups.

The appearance of Engel is sponsored by the university music department in co-operation with the visiting scholar program. He will lecture to music classes during his two-day stay.

Engel has recorded some 60 albums for major companies with the top stars of the Broadway stage. He has composed music for 25 plays, including "Streetcar Named Desire," "St. Joan," "Murder in the Cathedral" and "Mac Beth."

He won two Antoinette Perry Awards for his conducting of "Wonderful Town" and "The Consul." His book, "Planning and Producing a Musical Show," is a standard textbook in its field.

Arrangements for the festival are under the direction of Anthony Louis, chairman of the music department.

Geo. Hamilton's "LIGHT IN THE PIAZZA" At Reese May 6 and 7

Opening the summer season with a burst of speed, thrills, action, the Reese Theatre lists an unusual program of entertainment sure to appeal to the entire family.

Fast moving action is on the agenda this Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 with the ever popular Kirk Douglas as the star in the automobile racing classic, "The Racers". Combine this with Joan Harvey in the suspense action hit, "Hands of a Stranger" for one of the most exciting combination shows of the season.

Critics said, "George Hamilton is tops". Now they say in no uncertain terms, "George Hamilton is at the top." With the coming of MGM's "Light in the Piazza" deHavilland and Rossano Brazzi, at the Reese Theatre, Sunday and Monday, May 6 and 7, Delaware and Maryland theatre fans will witness what the critics mean concerning this new star in the horizon. If it's speed and thrills, road demons out for kicks, the co-feature "Hot Rod Rumble" with Dipsey Denny and a galaxy of road demons, will more than fill the bill for a grand exciting evening.

Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, James Stewart and John Wayne appear in their latest hit "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance."

Consider Space and Purpose in Choice Of Living Fence

The attractive foliage and flowers of a hedge or "living fence" can add beauty to your home.

But before you decide on a particular plant species for a hedge, consider carefully what you wish the hedge to do for you and the space you have available, advises Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist with the University of Delaware.

A hedge may be used as a screen for privacy, as a boundary or to provide background to the garden or property. A hedge also may be used as a windbreak, to block out an undesirable view, or to discourage intrusion of animals or people.

There are dozens of different plant species suitable for hedges that are well adapted to Delaware conditions. Evergreen hedges are attractive through the winter and make good wind breaks. Upright yews, Canadian hemlock, evergreen barberry, American arbutus, abelia, holly, cherry laurel and many others make excellent evergreen hedges. These plants tend to be more expensive and usually take longer to reach mature size, Stevens points out.

Deciduous shrubs such as spirea, privet, winged euonymus, barberry, and viburnums are just a few of the possibilities in this category. Multiflora rose often is used but this plant grows large, spreads out and may become unsightly with the rubble it tends to collect.

In making your selection, consider soil, drainage, exposure to wind, nearness to trees and buildings, and labor available to care for the hedge properly. On many small properties, it may be a wiser choice to use a fence instead of a hedge, Stevens says.

Clean Fertilizer Attachments Reduce Lost Time

Keeping fertilizer attachments clean is easier than leaving them dirty, says George Vapaa, Kent County agent. Considerable time is lost unclogging attachments in the field and when they're cleaned after each use, they last much longer.

The attachments should be cleaned at the end of each day and covered with a tarp at night, as fertilizer soaks up water just like table salt. Eventually there will be sufficient fertilizer sticking to the attachments with results in clogging.

Even careful cleaning will not eliminate all corrosion, reminds Mr. Vapaa, but it may make the difference between buying a new attachment several years before you really need one.

Time losses are unavoidable, but the old proverb, "a stitch in time saves nine", will be of benefit to you, says the agent.

New equipment with plastic coated attachments is now available which will help you reduce the clogging problem, adds Mr. Vapaa.

Clean Plowing Is Vital Corn Borer Control Practice

With Delaware enjoying the unenviable title of "First State in Corn Borer Population," farmers were urged this week to do a good clean job of plowing under old corn stalks and stubble as soon as possible.

Dr. Dale F. Bray, chairman of the department of entomology at the University of Delaware reports that USDA field surveys made last fall showed Delaware corn fields to have 133 borers per 100 plants—highest in the nation. Although corn borer population in general was down throughout the United States, the number found in Delaware means that farmers here should do everything possible to control their spread, Bray said.

Borers overwinter in old corn stalks, stubble, weeds and other field trash, Bray explained. Shortly, they will emerge as moths and begin laying eggs for new generations of borers.

Clean plowing buries most of the borers. Those that are able to work their way to the surface are eaten by birds or die of exposure.

Advice for Husbands And Wives Too

You're in for trouble if you allow a lipstick smudge to remain on your suit or dress too long, warns Katie Thomas, Kent County home demonstration agent. Your problems at home could be increased in more ways than you may expect. If you allow lipstick to linger on a garment for a period of time, it will become increasingly more difficult to remove.

Regardless of type, lipsticks usually contain fats, oils, waxes and a dye. The fats, oils and waxes can be removed with little or no difficulty except when they have been allowed to remain in the garment for a long time—when they are difficult if not impossible to remove. It's the dye that causes the trouble since it penetrates and dyes the fabric.

Let your drycleaner take care of this stain and smudge problem. However, Mrs. Thomas recommends a marriage counselor for any other problems created by this type stain.

Tourist Season Begins With Crowded Schedule

The 1962 Delaware Tourist Season, which got underway Easter Sunday with the traditional spring fashion promenade at Rehoboth Beach, moves into high gear in May with a crowded schedule of outstanding activities, advises the Delaware State Development Department.

May, according to the state information agency, not only offers Delaware's countryside, orchards and gardens at their loveliest, but also offers such eagerly awaited events as "Old Dover Days"; "A Day in Old New Castle"; Wilmington's Clothesline Art Fair; outstanding exhibitions at the Delaware Art Center, Wilmington, and the Art League, Rehoboth Beach; Garden Days and Flower Marts at Wilmington, New Castle and Seaford; the annual Brandywine Rail Rumble; a variety of outdoor, public patriotic programs, and a varied offering of sporting events.

The month is ushered in with annual Loyalty Day observances at various locations and the opening of the month-long and statewide Delaware Festival of the Arts. The Clothesline Fair, held annually on the steps of Wilmington's Public Building, gets underway also on May 1 and continues through May 3.

A current attraction having widespread appeal is the annual tour of Winterthur Museum and Gardens, which began April 24 and continues through May 26. A breathtaking array of spring flowers are to be seen in the acres of gardens, and thirty rooms depicting American culture and homelife from 1640 to 1840 may be seen in the Museum. Tour hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday (only the gardens are open on Sundays). Winterthur is only a few moments drive northwest from Wilmington on Delaware Route 52.

Particularly attractive at this time of the year are the grounds of the Hagley Museum. Located on the Brandywine River just a short distance from Winterthur, the Hagley Yard, where the famed duPont enterprises were born, presently offers a profusion of spring flowers in natural settings. The Museum, which features, in dioramas and displays, the early industry of this area, is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Beginning May 17 and continuing through June 17 is the 46th annual Delaware Exhibition of watercolors, prints and drawings at the Art Center in Wilmington. The Rehoboth Art League will also offer outstanding exhibitions at its Henlopen Acres Studios in the "Nation's Summer Capital," each weekend during May.

At Dover, extensive preparations are now being completed for observance of "Old Dover Days," traditionally held the first Saturday and Sunday in May. Restored seventeenth and eighteenth century homes and gardens will again be open to the public May 5-6. Receptions by Delaware's Governor and Dover's Mayor; traditional dances on historic Dover Green; and May Day exercises on the Wesley College campus are other highlights of the two-day program.

Upstate, on May 5, the big attraction is Wilmington's annual Garden Day, with more than 20 city and suburban gardens or estates open for public viewing. On the same day, the annual Brandywine Rail Rumble, a nostalgic rail tour of the beautiful Brandywine Valley, will be staged.

The following weekend offers a wide range of activity choice with sports events at the University of Delaware; the Wilmington Flower Market, a community-wide endeavor benefitting children, in "full bloom" at Rockford Park, Wilmington, on both the 12th and 13th; and benefit Flower Marts at both New Castle and Seaford, also on the 12th. The Nanticoke Horse Show will be held in connection with the Seaford presentation.

Saturday, May 19, one may make a choice between attendance at Armed Forces Day observances at the Dover Air Force Base; "A Day in Old New Castle" when Delaware's colonial capital traditionally recaptures its historic past and shares it with others; and college sporting events at the University of Delaware, Newark.

Large, crowds, including many-out-of-state visitors, are expected at New Castle where the residents of Delaware's colonial capital, in Dutch and early American attire, open their museums, homes — and arms to those who would renew acquaintance with or visit for the first time that has been described as one of America's best preserved colonial communities.

The approach of Memorial Day, which, incidentally, is appropriately marked by parade and outdoor patriotic exercises in many Delaware communities, also brings the opening of Delaware Park, one of America's most beautiful thoroughbred racing plants. A 54 day meet at the Stanton track gets underway on May 28.

May 26 marks the opening of the 1962 season at Delaware's bay and ocean resorts, and the residents of Lewes, Rehoboth Beach, Dewey Beach, Bethany Beach and Fenwick Island are getting ready for what is expected to be a record influx of early season vacationists.

Also, beginning May 26, boat transportation will again be available, weekends and holidays, from Delaware City to historic Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River. This picturesque old bastion whose principal claim to fame is based upon its having been used as a prison for Confederate prisoners during the American Civil War, is developing into one of the state's greatest tourist attractions, according to the Development Department.

The First State's more than 40 well-stocked lakes and ponds, and the briny surf of the Delaware coast beckon to those who prefer fishing to sight-seeing or other forms of May activity.

Wherever one goes in Delaware during May, or for that matter, any time of the year, a warm welcome will accompany the invitation to "See the First State—First" concludes the Development Department.

Clothing Features For Handicapped Women

Clothing features for physically handicapped women have been developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Miss Janet Reed, clothing specialist with the University of Delaware.

Miss Reed says the new designs suggest many ways that clothing can help handicapped women take care of themselves and do their housework more effectively. The clothing has been designed to offer freedom of movement, comfort, convenience, safety, and attractive appearance. The collection contains garments generally worn at home — dresses, slacks, skirts, blouses, shorts and aprons.

Features include all-over easy fit, open necklines, low rolling closures suited to the individual's manual dexterity, beltless waistlines or belts attached to the garment, roomy, easy-to-reach pockets reinforced against strain and styled so the contents will not spill if the homemaker sits as she works, and features that make the garment respond readily to rotary motions of the shoulders.

The fabrics are chosen not only for comfort and service, but also for easy care, points out Miss Reed. Special features provide extra give where clothes are frequently strained or ripped — at waist-lines, under arms, and across the back. These features allow a disabled person to reach high or low without being restrained and fatigued by clothing. Elasticized webbing in waistlines of dresses and skirts adds to comfort and helps hold in the blouse.

The fasteners used: zippers, pressure tape, and snap fasteners, suit many types of handicaps. The waistband of one skirt is fastened with a modified overshoe buckle, because flip-type fasteners are easiest for persons with certain finger disabilities.

Aprons are designed to protect clothing during work and at mealtime and to help in moving or carrying things in the kitchen. One apron has a firm corded edge and is made of waterproof material easy to wipe clean. A plastic open-spring hoop instead of ties makes this apron easy to put on or take off.

Slacks with tapered legs are designed for comfort during long sitting. One pair has pleats at the knees to allow easy bending. Stretch fabrics are used in one style to allow freedom for daily exercises.

The new housewear collection also includes wheel-chair coats that may be attached to chair arms to accommodate the many articles that handicapped homemakers need with them during the day. These pockets take some of the strain off clothing and also save homemakers too much wheeling about.

Many of the garments and special features are suitable for able-bodied homemakers who want clothing that is comfortable to work in, easy to care for and attractive.

Free copies of the booklet, "Clothes for the Physically Handicapped Homemaker," may be obtained from Miss Janet Reed, clothing specialist, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Randy Knox, Tim Strohl, Bobby Smith, Dennis Rogers, Bill Sollars and the writer, Keith S. Burgess, attended the Penn Relay Carnival held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on Saturday. The first five named are promising members of the Harrington High School track team. This is the third time we have taken a group to this track and field sports spectacular. The boys never fail to come away inspired after seeing some of the best performers in the world. The first event started at 9:15 a.m. Something was going on all day until the last race was run at 5:50 p.m.

We hope to see a Harrington High quartet perform in the Penn Relays someday. On one occasion H.H.S. had a talented foursome but were prevented from competing in Philadelphia by the fact that their entry was received too late.

Sheldon Hayman, local all-around athlete, is the proud papa of a boy. Hayman hopes his son will someday become a lover of sports and an active participant.

Rennie French, who is a pitcher on the Harrington Junior High baseball team, is pursuing his craft in the correct manner. Imbedded in the lawn at his home is a regulation home plate. Rennie can often be observed pitching to a neighbor as he works to perfect his control. The husky lad recently had several long hits as his team belted the Milton Juniors.

Oscar "Bob" Roberts Jr. wrote in to set us straight on a couple of points we brought up in our article about the 1942 H.H.S. cage squad. Bob played on that team so he is speaking from experience. We'll try and find space to print his letter in full. It contains two or three statements that may jolt some of our inactive students to the extent that they might decide to come out for a sport. We are referring to those pupils who prefer to lounge around uptown after school or better still cruise around town in cars. These pleasures take the place of healthful physical activity.

More students participating means more chances for development of top notch athletes and teams.

The letter from Mr. Roberts, is as follows:

Your column of April 27 issue of The Harrington Journal was incorrect on two counts. You stipulated that the 1942 basketball team of Harrington High was undefeated until the final game when Felton won over Harrington by one point. It is true that Felton won the only game that the 1942 Harrington team lost, but it was not the final game of the season. We met and defeated both Milford and Seaford after the Felton loss.

Your column also stated that Clyde Tucker was the replacement for Bill Davis on that night. I believe a more careful check of your records will show that Ridgely Vane played that game as Davis' replacement.

I enjoyed the column very much and I feel that the interest you will create with reporting past victorious teams of Harrington High will increase the appeal of your paper. Certainly the success of past seasons will contrast sharply with the present inept squads representing our high school. — Oscar T. Roberts, Jr.

From the Tim Peck scrapbook: A pickup team from Harrington took on the strong Dover Guards basketball team March 21, 1939 and put up a strong battle before bowing by 55-44. Harrington scoring was Harry Quillen, 13 points; Hayward Quillen, Charles Peck, 7 points each; Charlie Maloney, 6; Bill Minner, 5; Tom Peck, 4, and John Parks 2. Harry Quillen and Bill Minner were one year out of high school. Hayward Quillen was a high school junior, while Tom Peck was a lowly freshman. John Parks then owned the Harrington Milling Co. Charlie Maloney was picked up in Magnolia. Maloney and the writer played on the Harrington baseball team in the Mar-Del League in '41 or '42. We believe Maloney was killed in action in World War II.

Felton Drubs Harrington 15-2

Felton High School's youthful baseball team shellacked Harrington High to the tune of 15-2 in a contest played at Harrington Thursday afternoon.

The Green Devils lineup contained one junior and no seniors. This fact is probably causing the other ten Henlopen coaches to shudder in their shoes. The northernmost team in the league figures to be tough for at least the next three years.

Two Lion hurlers surrendered fourteen hits as Felton scored in every inning except the fourth. Tom Williams, the junior, led the winners with a home run, triple and two singles. Bill Green, a tiny scrapper in two sports, had three hits one of which went for three bases. Dave Wood and winning pitcher, Mike Harrington, had two bingles each.

George Collins, one of Harrington's three seniors, led the losers with two for four. Dick Collins, Rusty Jack, and David Brobst were other Lions to hit safely.

Greenwood Bows To Delmar 16-9

Carl Baker's Foresters were involved in another high scoring game at Delmar Monday afternoon. The Wildcats tallied three runs in the first inning, seven in the third frame and going into the final stanza held a 16-0 bulge. The Delmar coach by this time had inserted several reserves into the lineup. The Foresters then rallied for nine runs in what was an extremely long inning for the home fans. This illustrates two important facts. First, the game is not over until the final out. Second, it is always dangerous to substitute freely in this game unless the starters and reserves are virtually equal in ability. Since a man taken out cannot go back in the game, most coaches feel forced to keep their best players in action for almost 100 per cent of the time. This facet of our national pastime has the effect of keeping many teams in high school down to a maximum of fifteen men or so.

Harrington Wins First in Overtime

Jim Hawpe's Harrington High baseball Lions appeared to be doomed to their third straight defeat at Milton High took an early 7-0 lead in a game played on the local field Monday afternoon. However, the Lions sparked by the gutsy relief pitching of Jeff Adams rallied to win 9-8 in eight innings.

The Warriors first seven runs were scored on only one hit. Adams took over the mound chores and although in trouble most of the time gave up only one hit and one run for the rest of the contest. The junior right-hander is just starting to learn how to pitch after spending some time as a catcher, shortstop, outfielder, etc. He has fair speed and a sidearm-underhand pitch that fools a lot of high school batters because it comes in at a different angle. Jeff hit four batters and walked a few more but with the help of steady play by his mates pitched his way out of trouble time after time, fanning 11 Warriors in the process.

The Lions tallied six runs in the fourth and fifth innings aided by some loose Milton fielding. Two runs in the bottom of the seventh sent the tilt into overtime. Bill Adams opened the home half of the eighth with a line single into right field. Don Roth-ermeled drove a hard ground ball into centerfield sending Adams to third. The little catcher then dashed in with the winning run on a wild pitch by the Milton moundman.

Dick Collins made a sparkling catch with a runner on base that stopped a serious Warrior threat.

Another fielding gem by the Lions occurred when Bill Adams dashed back to the screen after a passed ball, fired back to his brother covering home plate and Jeff tagged out a would-be-scoringer to end the inning.

David Brobst had two hits to lead the H.H.S. team at the plate. We believe Dave is leading the squad in hitting at present.

printed report to the people may be new in Delaware but is a common practice in other states.

The information summarized in the pamphlet, he added, was gleaned chiefly from Carvel's "State of the State" message at the opening of the current session of the General Assembly.

The 5,000 copies printed cost approximately $300 he said, adding that this is cheaper than making copies of the "state" message for persons or agencies which ask for information on the administration's program. Gov. Carvel told reporters a contingency fund is needed in the state budget because "one way a governor governs is through finances."

Selbyville Routs Greenwood 25-5

The Selbyville Rebels routed the Greenwood Foresters in a game played at Greenwood Thursday afternoon by the top-heavy score of 25-5.

The victors had only eleven basehits but their hosts were generous with walks in the loosely played contest. Three Foresters saw mound duty as Selbyville scored in every inning but the last and every Rebel but one scored at least twice.

Milt Shupe had two Greenwood hits for a total of five in his last two games. Julian Woodall had the other Forester safety.

too much about heavy caseloads for social workers without taking "drastic action" to correct "this inefficiency, waste of manpower and waste of the taxpayers' money."

Hoey told the 70 social workers present he is approached almost every day with information concerning persons chiseling on welfare. In a direct attack upon Edgar Hare Jr., state welfare director, Hoey said he didn't get along with him and charged that Hare ignored him when he has presented the names of alleged chiselers.

Hoey told the social workers, the general public is against you. I can tell you that. "I get the complaint that all you people do is try to find out how much money the General Assembly will give you and then how much you can give away."

Scott Foundation Award at U. of D.

Representatives of the Scott Paper Company announced this week that it will continue a program of assistance for outstanding students at the University of Delaware which was initiated in 1957.

In addition to supporting students in the school of engineering who intend to pursue careers in industry or commerce, the Scott Paper Company Foundation will make an unrestricted grant of $1,000 per year to the university while the students are enrolled.

Dean of students John E. Hocutt, expressing the university's appreciation for the Scott awards said, "Our relationship with the Scott Paper Company Foundation has been a most pleasant and productive one. Students assisted through these awards have done consistently good work, reflecting great credit upon themselves, their university and the Foundation."

The 1962 recipient of the Scott Foundation Award will be announced at the university's Honors Day convocation of Thursday, May 3, Dean Hocutt added.

The Scott Paper Foundation bases its award on two principles: that young men and women who give evidence of leadership should be recognized and encouraged in their educational endeavors and that institutions of higher learning must receive assistance in order to maintain high academic standards and offer a diversified program of extracurricular activities essential to the maximum development of leadership qualities.

The Scott Foundation Award consists of a minimum of $500 to be credited against the tuition of the recipient and an additional $500, all or part of which may be granted, depending upon the financial needs of the recipient.

The first Scott Foundation Award was made in 1957 to William H. Walston, Jr., of Salisbury, Md. Subsequent recipients have been Bernard S. Shapiro, Stefan K. Roski and Jay R. Balder, all of Wilmington, and Thomas R. Jones, Upper Darby, Pa.

SENATE APPROVES

ed the annual revenue loss under the bill at $1.5 million. Senate Minority Leader James H. Snowden, R-Wilmington, who sponsored the bill along with 15 other senators, disputed this estimate and said it would be about half that.

In the House two other tax bills to liberalize income tax provisions were introduced.

One, HB 353, would grant a personal exemption for a dependent who is a student in the same way federal law does. The $600 exemption could be claimed even if the student-dependent earned more than $600 a year, or was over 20 years of age.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. Charles F. Richards, R-Dover; Rep. George A. Robbins, D-Milford; Rep. T. Lees Bartleson, R-Brandywine Hundred; and Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen, D-Wilmington.

The other income tax liberalizer is HB 552, handed up by Rep. Carlton Blendt Jr., D-Townsend; Rep. Paul E. Shockley, D-Wilmington; and Bartleson.

It would boost from 20 per cent to 40 the proportion of an individual's income which may be deducted from taxable income if donated to charitable organizations.

STATE NAVY

Most of the money in the boat bill would go for a $750,000 heavy duty dredge and a year's spare parts, $25,000 for a work barge, $55,000 for a dredge tender, $80,000 for a tug boat and $35,000 for a fuel barge.

Clifton said the idea is to pump sand out of the bays and onto the public beaches. The recent storm has put more supporters behind the idea, Clifton said. He expects the bill to pass.

If it does, an appropriation bill may be expected. That would provide the funds for the personnel to operate the state's dredging navy.

The other bon bill, HB 561, introduced by Rep. Thomas P. Murray, D-Wilmington, would build and equip three buildings. They would be:

A mental hygiene clinic administration building in New Castle County.

A day care center for severely retarded persons, in the Dover vicinity.

A geriatric building to house about 100 patients, and to replace Black Cottage, at the State Hospital.

There has been much controversy about where a new mental hygiene building should be located. The trustees have been talking about putting it at Fernhook, on the State Hospital grounds. Other have said it shouldn't be near the hospital, and should be in Wilmington. The bill leaves that point up to the trustees.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Eleven Students

Eleven University of Delaware students were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, honorary academic society, at a dinner in the Student Center last night.

Initiates are Margaret Joan Cantwell, 309 Irving Drive, Wilmington, a German major; William R. Kollock, Clayton Street, Dagsboro, American Studies; Marcia Toselli Peoples, 1412 Colin Drive, Wilmington, English; John W. Tull, 313 Goodley Road, McDaniel Crest, Wilmington, biology; Lucille Ingram Wilson, 124 Meriden Drive, Hockessin, English; William D. Jones, III, 108 Barley Mill Road, Wallingford, Pa., biology.

Also, Joan Ellen Johnson, Avondale, Pa., mathematics and English; Margaret Louise Michael, 5008 Smithfield Road, Drexel Hill, Pa., biology; Constance Anne Pease, 2133 Armour Drive, Wilmington, history and English; Elizabeth Ann Mitchell, 3120 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Md., chemistry, and Dorothy Todd Voshell, 1404 Gilpin Avenue, Wilmington, English.

All are seniors except Miss Mitchell, a native of Britain, who has completed her undergraduate studies and is now doing graduate work at Johns Hopkins University.

Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is conferred on students with the highest academic ratings in liberal arts courses. Members are elected primarily on the basis of broad cultural interests and scholarly achievements.

New officers of the Delaware chapter, installed last night, are John M. Dawson, president; Elizabeth Byer, vice president; C. Robert Kase, secretary; Max S. Kirch, treasurer; E. McClung Fleming, historian, and Robert F. Jackson, member at large of the executive committee.

Speaker at the dinner was Dr. Edgar P. Richardson, director of the Henry F. duPont Winterthur Museum.
