She graduated at Roanoke and has taken post-graduate work at Radford and at Peabody College for Teachers. A list of persons delinquent in Capitation Taxes for the past two years was studied, and the Secretary of the Board was directed to write each individual notifying them that unless taxes were paid by June 30th, a list of those delinquent would be published.

The Board approved the sale of the old Pierre S. DuPont School Building at a public sale as soon as practical following the close of school. The terms of the sale will be such that the building must be removed from the premises within a designated period.

The Board reviewed applications from individuals seeking the position of Building and Grounds Supervisor. It interviewed Mr. William C. Bitler, present Supervisor of Buildings and Maintenance at Washington.

Man Drowned When Small Boat Capsized

Charles Arnold Jester, 32, of Thompsonville Road, near Milford, was drowned Friday in the Missillon River, near Milford, when a small boat, in which he was a passenger, capsized.

He and a companion, Wilson Gillespie, 24, of Cedar Beach Road, were fishing when the boat, an 8-foot hydroplane, turned over. Gillespie, who couldn't swim, managed to reach shore about 50 feet away.

Jester panicked and disappeared in 10 to 12 feet of water. The couple were rowing with paddles to midstream to put out a net. The boat was overloaded and was supposed to hold but one person.

The overturned boat was discovered about 12:30 p.m., Saturday. Lester Jefferson and Samuel Kemp, of Milford, members of the U. S. Coast Guard, Flotilla 16, assisted Milford Fire Company, in recovering Jester's body Saturday.

Insurance Dept. Approves New Policy Plan

Delaware Insurance Department has approved a non-cancelable auto liability insurance policy for Nation-wide Mutual Insurance Company. The policy will go into effect May 15 on all new and existing business.

The policy applies to privately-owned passenger cars and includes all of Nationwide's liability coverages—bodily injury, property damage, uninsured motorist, medical payment, and family compensation coverages.

Under the terms of the policy, after a 60-day period Nationwide restricts its right to cancel to three reasons:

1. Non-payment of premiums.
2. Fraudulent filing of a claim.
3. Conviction for driving while under the influence of alcohol or narcotics.

Except for those reasons, policy holders would be immune to cancellation during the policy term.

Dead End Means Just That

Route 445 comes to a dead end, but Sufrein Holland, a 25-year-old Milford girl, didn't come to a dead stop. That is, until she hit a ditch and embankment.

And she didn't even have a driver's license. Route 445 meet Rt. 447 a mile east of Houston, making a T-shaped intersection. You have to turn right or left; you're in trouble if you go straight.

The Milford girl was in trouble. State Police said she was going too fast to make the turn, and her car skidded off the road. The accident happened at 12:25 o'clock Monday morning.

Passing motorists took Sufrein and her male passenger to the Milford Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released. Her passenger, Louis Taylor, 32, of Dover, was treated for lacerations on the forehead and right knee while she suffered an injured left side.

State Police arrested her for reckless driving and for driving without a license. Magistrate Clarence E. Dyer, Harrington, fined her $25 and costs on the reckless driving charge, and $15 plus for having no license.

Frank Johnson, the owner of the vehicle, was fined $25 for permitting her to drive his car without a license. They paid and were released.

Mail Boxes Being Spruced Up

Next week is Rural Mail Box Improvement Week and postmasters and rural carriers all over Delaware are hoping that those rural boxes and mountings that have not already been painted will receive that fresh coat of paint during this week-end.

Postmaster Howard Dill and rural carriers of the Harrington post office have been engaged in a campaign along with other State post offices in an effort to have all rural mail receptacles in first-class condition before the end of the week.

A ride through the Delaware country-side will reveal that many rural patrons have already heeded the request to repaint, fix-up or replace their boxes and posts.

Those patrons whose boxes meet the requirement of the Post Office Department's regulations with regards to condition of boxes will receive "Letters of Commendation" from their postmasters and rural carriers during the annual inspection of the rural routes.

For those patrons who still have to give their boxes attention, postmaster Dill offers these suggestions:

Boxes that are not properly installed or not kept in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and may expose it to the weather. Unserviceable boxes must be replaced to meet the requirements of the Department.

Names of the owners should be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped. The box number may be shown on the box. Boxes and supports should be kept painted.

Girl Suffers Serious Cuts In Auto Mishap

Gloria Jean Scott, 19, of Harrington, was seriously cut on the left side of her face (71 stitches) and a passenger in her car was also injured in an accident Saturday east of Camden.

The Scott car headed east on Rt. 10, stopped at a stop sign at the intersection of Rt. 13, and then pulled out into the path of a truck operated by Robert K. Huffman, 26, of Jonestown, Pa., who was driving in the southbound lane of the highway.

Huffman hit the brakes and swung his truck to the left in an attempt to miss the car, but hit it near the door, driving it 34 feet from the impact point.

Rushed to Kent General Hospital in the Torbert ambulance, the Scott girl was given 71 stitches and admitted, and as a passenger in her car, Edith Harris, also of Harrington, was given eight stitches in the forehead and released.

State police said the girl told them she did not see the approaching truck. They said they would continue their investigation when the girl leaves the hospital.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged. Operation would start late next year, Giblin said. Dover's response was enthusiastic. "We're going to try and do everything possible to meet the needs of the industry and get them in here," said Mayor Crawford J. Carroll.

Food Firm May Build At Dover

General Foods Corp. has an option on 115 acres west of Dover and is planning a multi-million dollar processing plant employing 1,200 persons on the site.

Final decision on the construction awaits answers to "fundamental questions" company spokesmen say.

Some of those questions were put Tuesday to a group of seven men representing Delaware, Kent County and Dover who met with company officials at the 1101 Restaurant, Wilmington.

E. Bruce Giblin, vice president of General Foods and general manager of its Jell-O division, announced plans for consolidating plants in LeRoy, N. Y., Hoboken, N. J., and Dorchester and Orange, Mass. All were acquired by General Foods within the last 40 years.

The combined operation at Dover would be housed in a plant with 20 acres under roof. Besides Jell-O, it would handle Baker's chocolate, coconut, Log Cabin syrup and Minute brand foods.

Operation would start late next year, Giblin said. Dover's response was enthusiastic. "We're going to try and do everything possible to meet the needs of the industry and get them in here," said Mayor Crawford J. Carroll.

"It's a grand break," said George W. Cripps, president of the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce. "The industry fits this area beautifully."

Attending Tuesday's briefing session were Mayor Carroll; Randolph Hughes, state banking commissioner and Dover Council member; Jack Smyth, editor and publisher of the Delaware State News, Dover; Charles W. Bostick, president of the Kent Levy Court; Robert H. Reed, chairman of the state Industrial Building Commission; G. Preston Ward, Dover city manager, and N. Maxson Terry, chairman of the State Highway Department and attorney for the Kent Levy Court.

Mayor Carroll said the plant's needs for power and water can be met adequately. More investigation is necessary to determine how well the city can handle sewer lines from the proposed plant, he said.

Carroll said company engineers will meet with City Manager Ward this week. A meeting of Council may be called next week, said the mayor, to decide how

Blood Bank Celebrates 7th Anniversary

The Blood Bank of Delaware celebrates its seventh anniversary this week and announces a birthday gift for its more than 47,000 members.

According to President James F. McCloskey, that gift is a substantial increase in benefits for out-of-town cases. Beginning this month, if a member has a blood emergency outside the state, or a member has to undergo an operation beyond Delaware borders which has been ordered by a state physician, the Blood Bank will pay for a total of $250 for whole blood. For the past year the allowance has been $50.

McCloskey said that due to the growth of the Blood Bank plan, funds have been accumulated to make the increased service possible. He also pointed out that because of this growth, once a member contributes a pint of blood in line with his contract, he will not be called again for perhaps ten years.

"The Blood Bank of Delaware plan has worked so smoothly that it is being copied in other parts of the United States," McCloskey pointed out, "and by our work here we have shown the way to saving literally thousands of lives."

He said that nine Maryland counties on the Eastern Shore and two counties in Virginia have organized similar Banks. There are reciprocal arrangements between the nine separate organizations.

The official reminded that there has never been an increase in Blood Bank dues and none is anticipated. "You still pay one dollar to join and one dollar a year for the protection of your entire family. You are assured that should a blood emergency arise, you will receive immediate service and the whole blood is then replaced by the bank.

"Under the new arrangement, when there are emergencies outside the state, or operations planned by state physicians beyond our limits members will immediately have a credit of up to $250 for whole blood replacement," McCloskey said.

McCloskey also stated that since the inception of the Blood Bank of Delaware Inc., by its fourteen original members more than 26,000 pints of blood has been provided.

"We feel this is a record of which all officers, directors and members of the Bank can be justly proud. Our system of calling up donors is working very well; we keep hospital blood replaced as it is used for Blood Bank members and everyone seems entirely happy with the whole arrangement," McCloskey concluded.

Fish & Game News

Hunting, Fishing Licenses

At the 1962 game and fish hearing on April 25 over 250 sportsmen packed the Capitol Grange Hall and unanimously approved for a second time a spontaneous motion from the floor that would seek passage of legislation to increase hunting and fishing license fees. (Voluntary approval for increasing resident hunting and fishing license fees was expressed at the 1961 public game and fish hearing.)

Several weeks prior to this year's hearing, the House of Representatives passed H.B. 321 by an overwhelming majority. This bill would do what the hearing requested.

Norman Wilder, director of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission stated "practically every community would benefit from expanded and improved outdoor recreational facilities. Unprecedented industrial, commercial and residential expansion has eliminated hunting and fishing in large portions of the State. This situation is growing worse very rapidly. Greater strains on our remaining resources require their more intensive development and management."

The $1.25 (family) resident fishing license fee and the $2.25 resident hunting license fee would be increased by ninety-five cents each under the provision of H.B. 321.

Fees of some neighboring states vividly point up the sad state of financial affairs in our "Diamond State."

Listed below are the fees charged by neighboring States for resident hunting and fishing licenses:

State	Fishing	Hunting
New Jersey	$4.15	$10.30
Pennsylvania	3.40	6.30
Maryland	3.00	10.25
Virginia	3.00	4.50
New York	3.25	15.00
Connecticut	4.35	14.70
North Carolina	4.10	9.35
Delaware	1.25	2.25

*To hunt waterfowl and upland game including deer with shotgun and bow and arrow.

Shooting Preserves

This bill provides for private shooting preserves in Kent and Sussex Counties similar to the shooting preserves that have been authorized in New Castle County since 1950. After a shaky start with a crippling amendment this bill has been corrected and has passed the Senate. It is not expected to meet serious opposition when it is brought out in the House.

Shooting preserves operate on pen-reared wildlife only and have proved instrumental in increasing wildlife in surrounding areas.

Penalties for Deer Violations

This act would increase the fine for violations of regulations pertaining to deer. It is awaiting Governor Carvel's signature after passage by both houses.

Persons interested in the future of Delaware's wildlife resources are urged to contact their Senator about H. B. 321. It will only be when the members of the Senate FOG Committee realize that there is public support for this bill that it will be brought out of committee.

Fish, Oyster and Game Committee in the Senate: chairman, Harry E. Mayhew, Milford; Walter J. Hoey, Milford; Calvin R. McCullough, Holloway Terrace, New Castle; Henry T. Price, Smyrna, and Reynolds duPont, Greenville.

All in a Day's Work Case 1

A game warden's responsibilities touch many phases of our everyday lives. The Game and Fish Commission maintains 26 public areas which are available to the public for outdoor recreation.

Friday night, April 27, several carloads of young people went to Strawberry Landing on Assawoman Bay apparently for an evening of willful destruction.

Warden Frank Shockley, driving through the area noticed that the picnic area was left littered with debris and broken glass; boards were ripped from the toilet and a picnic bench was thrown into the water. Warden Shockley rounded up the merrymakers (or more appropriately, mischief makers) and supervised them while they cleaned up the mess they had left behind.

We urge all to use but don't abuse our public areas!

Case 2

During the recent fish kill in Laurel, Mayor Carey asked our commission to give him a hand in removing dead carp trapped in a cove in the Nanticoke River within the town of Laurel. Supervising Warden James C. White, Seaford, and Warden Norris Benson, Laurel, assisted city personnel in removing this offensive health menace.

Case 3

The night shift at the new power plant in Dover is overrun with friendly skunks. Warden Dawson N. Sapp, Dover, has been assigned the task of ridding the area of these nocturnal prowlers.

Austin Smith, assistant to the Fish and Game Co-ordinator, is recovering nicely in the Kent General Hospital, Dover, after a bit of hard luck with his ticker. Gordon Pond Plan

The restoration of Gordon Pond to its original primitive beauty is being considered jointly by the Mosquito Control Division of the State Highway Department and the Delaware Game and Fish Commission.

Lying four miles north of Rehoboth on state lands administered by the State Highway Department, this site is a custom-made area for application of the re-flooding technique developed jointly by both agencies through studies supervised by the University of Delaware.

Extension mosquito control research projects, begun in 1956 on the Assawoman Bay Wildlife Area and continued at the Little Creek Wildlife Area, have been conducted under the watchful eye of Dr. Richard F. Darsie, Jr., Associate Professor of Entomology at the University.

The results of these studies have been applied on 640 acres of salt marsh on the Little Creek Wildlife Area, approximately 200 acres at the Assawoman Bay Wildlife Area and over 1000 acres at the Bombay Hook Federal migratory waterfowl refuge. The proper manipulation of water levels has proved effective in deterring clouds of mosquitoes that formerly welled up from portions of these areas in the summertime.

In recent negotiations between the Mosquito Control Division of the State Highway Department and the Delaware Game and Fish Commission a proposal has been evolved which now awaits the approval of both commissions.

Portions of Gordon Pond are notorious mosquito breeding areas. It was ditched years ago in an attempt to discourage mosquito breeding. The situation was only aggravated since only a light rain was needed to moisten the basin creating exposed mud flats which the salt marsh mosquito needs in order to complete its successful egg-laying process.

A. Warren Wheatley, representing the Mosquito Control Division, Dr. Richard F. Darsie and Robert Lake from the Entomology Department of the University of Delaware, Gordon Nightingale, T. Russell Gallo and Richard Rigby from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, along with Norman G. Wilder and Henry P. Cofer of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission, have worked out a tentative plan for not only restoring this pond to its primitive beauty but at the same time providing an inexpensive method of ridding the surrounding area of mosquitoes.

This tentative co-operative plan patterned after the successful Little Creek project will be submitted to each commission soon for approval. It is being proposed that—

(a) the Delaware Game and Fish Commission construct the necessary dikes and attend to game management activities including the supervision of the area for public hunting and nature study. (At the present time waterfowl and other shore birds use the area sporadically. With regulated water level waterfowl would be attracted during migration and breeding seasons.)

(b) the Mosquito Control Division construct water control facilities and install a pumping system for use in the event a draught should occur during the period when flooding is essential.

Few mosquitoes infested areas along Delaware's coastline lend themselves so well to the re-flooding technique for mosquito control according to the biologists studying the area.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I sent the VA a notice of my new address the day before I moved but I have not received my pension check.

A—Checks are mailed by the Treasury Department. Your check may have been mailed to the old address before the VA could get a notice of your change of address to the Treasury disbursing office. You would have received your check promptly, nevertheless, if you had also given the post office a notice of your change of address over your written signature.

Q—I received pension checks from the VA, and I have been told I should immediately report any change in my income from outside sources. Since I report my income annually, why isn't that enough?

A—if you wait until your annual report to advise VA of the change, you may be required to repay pension payments you received during the year to which you were not entitled because of a change in your income.

Q—As a Korean veteran holding "RS" GI insurance, if I choose the new lower-rate term insurance in order to collect a dividend, must I convert to a permanent type of insurance within a short time?

A—You can convert to a more permanent type anytime before you reach age 50.

Century Club News

The week of May 20 to 26 has been designated at State Federation of Women's Club Week. Each year at this time, member clubs of the Federation take time to emphasize the work that they do during the year. Days of the week are set aside to point out the work of the community service, conservation, education, fine arts, international affairs, and religious programs of the clubs. In Harrington, the religious aspects will be carried out when the members of the New Century Club attend the morning worship services of the Harrington Baptist Church, this Sunday, May 20. The Rev. Harold R. Garland, pastor, will preach the message of the morning. Members are asked to meet in front of the church at 10:45.

Mrs. Charles L. Peck, Jr. who has served as president of the club for the past two years has asked Mayor Charles Peck Sr., to proclaim this week State Federation Week in Harrington.

Wednesday and Thursday, May 23 and 24 the annual convention of the State Federation will be held in Seaford. Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Francis Winkler, newly elected president of the Harrington club will serve as delegates with Mrs. Ridgely V. Vane and Mrs. Theodore Harrington as alternates.

One of the sources of great pride of the Harrington Club is the original club song written several years ago by Lula Holmes Potter. Sung to the tune of "America, The Beautiful," it has added much enjoyment to many club meetings.

Not for ourselves alone we stand but for the common good, Of all who need a helping hand, A friendly brotherhood, We love the things that God has made,

And in them beauty see. A flower, a book, a little child, A stream, a sheltering tree.

We love our little Diamond State, Our own home town as well, And on Del-Mar-Va's peaceful shores, We all are proud to dwell. But when the Federation calls,

Each club to do its best, You'll find our local club right there To serve with all the rest.

Not bound by class or creed we serve, In every way we can, The interests of our town and state And of our fellow man.

Oh, God of Wisdom, Love and Might, Keep our Club ever true, To Thee, to home and native land, Our own Red, White and Blue.

Delaware Food Market Report

The outdoor picnic and cooking season is beginning and with it comes a great demand for quick cooking meats. What could fill the bill better than broiler-fryers? These meaty birds are a long-time favorite of summer cooks because they are easy to prepare, cook quickly, are inexpensive and almost universally liked.

Broiler production is increasing seasonally and is expected to reach a peak during the summer. This season's production will not match that of last year when markets were flooded but supplies will be quite adequate. Prices may not reach last summer's very low levels but broilers are and will be good buys—so serve them often—whether cooking indoors or out.

More and more fresh vegetables are arriving at local markets as spring time reaches nearby growing area. Fresh asparagus, kale, lettuce, mustard greens, spring onions, and radishes are just a few of the vegetables that are plentiful this week. Don't forget to check broccoli, egg plant, carrots, corn and beets as these are on special sale in a number of stores. For the most part, all of the vegetables are excellent in quality, however, it is always best "to look before you buy."

The strawberry season is fast approaching. This delicious fruit is now arriving in volume and prices are on the way down. When selecting these berries be sure to choose those that are a uniform, bright color, clean and fresh and well formed with caps attached. Strawberries are an excellent source of Vitamin C and are low in calories (approximately 58 calories in a cup of fresh strawberries); this makes an ideal team for those people who are dieting.

There are a number of good buys at the fruit counter this week so be sure to check these fruits when you shop: cantaloupes, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, avocados and bananas. All are excellent in quality and are wearing attractive price tags.

The dairy counter is offering a number of good buys on cheddar cheese and other dairy foods. Butter is another item to check as prices are down on a few brands. Have you noticed the new individual servings of cottage cheese and the way they are packed? There is always something new at the market these days so look around when you shop.

Three Weapons For Peach Growers

Potash hunger in peach orchards shows up frequently on both light and heavy-textured soils, according to Clemson College horticulturist Roy J. Ferree. "Peach trees needing potash have responded within a few weeks to adequate applications," Ferree reports.

He explains that bearing trees suffering potash hunger has often exhibited no clear-cut symptoms until about two weeks before fruit harvest. And young trees have displayed symptoms two to four years after planting. Potash hunger is usually not evident until late summer, the Clemson specialist warns, and is often intensified by heavy bearing.

He cites three weapons by which the peach grower can guard against potash deficiency: (1) sharp visual observation, (2) leaf analysis, (3) experience of successful growers.

1-Of visual observation he advises, "Look for the following signs: (1) Upward rolling of leaf lengthwise, most evident on terminal; (2) First few basal leaves on a shoot frequently normal; (3) Rolling more definite and distinct nearer terminals; (4) Leaves pale green, showing some scorch along edges when rolling severe; (5) Fruits small, poorly colored, ripening earlier than on normal leaves.

2-Of leaf analysis he advises, "Reliable results from leaf analysis have come from testing mid-shoot leaves collected during July and August. Potash hunger is evident when sample leaves analyze less than 1 per cent."

3-Of grower experience he advises, "South Carolina peach growers have gotten good results by applying 800 to 100 lbs. per acre of a 6-9-12 fertilizer to mature trees, while Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, and Louisiana growers have used around 600 lbs. per acre of 8-8-8 to increase yields and maintain vigorous trees—splitting the application to assure good cover crop growth when that practice is used."

For further details, write for Report L-10-61, American Potash Institute, 1102 16th Street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

Face Flies Reduce Milk And Meat Production

Face flies can cause a serious drop in milk production in your dairy herd or weight losses in beef cattle, reports Kent County agent, George Vapaa. And face flies not only annoy cattle, but also bother horses and sheep. They collect around the eyes, nose and mouth causing irritation. Because of the annoying discomfort, the animals do not graze freely. This results in less production and growth.

The flies feed on the liquids secreted from the animal's eyes and nostrils. The fly does not bite, resembling in this respect its close relative, the house fly. It is a suspected carrier of "pink eye" and may carry other serious diseases of livestock.

Face flies are a relatively new pest to livestock. Until chemicals for its control were developed, the face fly had its own way. Two materials currently are being used to help control face flies Vapaa says.

These are (1) pyrethrins with repellent; and (2) DDVP bait. Application should be made as directed on the label the agent emphasizes. Another method of face fly control is to use Ronnel (Korlan) in a back-rubber. This probably will do a good job of face fly control if there are no other objects for the cattle to rub on.

For more information on face fly control, contact your county agricultural agent.

Milk Sales Up On Del. Dairy Farms

Dairy farmers in Delaware are selling an increasing share of their production as whole milk to plants and dealers. At the same time, retail sales of milk and cream by farmers are on the downturn.

United States Department of Agriculture statistics reveal Delaware farmers marketed 173 million pounds of milk to wholesale plants and dealers in 1961 compared with 157 million pounds in 1950. Over the same period, retail milk sales by producer-dealers fell from 11 million pounds to two million.

Delaware farmers used only 10 million pounds of the milk they produced in 1961 compared with 18 million at the beginning of 1950's. This includes milk fed to calves and that consumed as fluid milk, cream and butter.

W. R. Hesselstine, University of Delaware extension dairyman, says this does not mean farmers are drinking less milk per capita. There are fewer farmers now than in 1950, he points out and many of them no longer keep one or two cows for family use. Instead, they buy their family milk supply from retail outlets.

Nationally, farm sale of whole milk to plants and dealers has been trending up rapidly, according to the Economic Research Service, rising from 74.2 billion in 1950 to 108.2 billion in 1961.

The trend toward the sale of whole milk began before World War II. It picked up during the war when the Government offered price incentives to encourage delivery of whole milk in an effort to use the nation's food supply more effectively. Since the war, cash returns from the sale of whole milk have increased compared with those from selling an equal amount of milk as farm-separated cream.

Increases in size of dairy farms and improved facilities for transporting, handling, and processing also have favored the shift to whole milk sales. Sale of whole milk is now the predominant form of marketing.

Telephone Co. To Have Open House

Open house will be held tonight and tomorrow night at the Diamond State Telephone Company's central office at 134 South State Street in Dover, said J. Henry McDonnell, the company's local community relations chairman.

Open house hours both days will be from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., he said.

Visitors will be able to see the new direct distance dial equipment that went into operation for Kent County customers last month. This equipment handles direct dialed customer calls going all over the country.

McDonnell said visitors will be able to see where subscribers' wires are connected to the central office switching equipment. The tour will start in the business office and then will go to the switchboard room, then to the test center.

The test center, he said, is where all the cables in this area are tested. Cable repairmen are also dispatched from this location. McDonnell pointed out that new cable trucks will be on display in the parking lot and also a new cable pole.

The tour, he said, will be conducted by telephone men and women who work in this area.

In extending an invitation to area residents, McDonnell suggested, they make it an outing for the entire family. Free souvenirs will be given to visitors.

State Hospital To Have Open House

Dr. Charles K. Bush, Jr., superintendent of the Delaware State Hospital at Farnhurst, has announced that the hospital will hold open house, in observance of Mental Health Month, Sunday, May 20. The public is invited to visit the hospital between 2 and 4:30 p.m. Sunday visiting to patients will not be permitted that day; however, family and friends are invited to tour the hospital with the public.

Special events on the program include guided tours to treatment, therapy and ward areas, a clothesline exhibit of art work by patients, and continuous films, beginning at 2:30 p.m., showing old and new concepts in treatment for the mentally ill. As in general hospitals, children under fourteen years of age will not be permitted to visit special hospital areas.

Staff personnel and volunteers will be on hand to direct visitors to the activity areas and hospital buses will provide transportation around the grounds. Tours will be conducted every half hour beginning at 2 p.m.

In announcing plans for open house, Dr. Bush said he hoped the public would respond to the invitation because "seeing the mental hospital environment, as it exists here, can be a most valuable aid in public understanding and complete acceptance of a person who has needed hospitalization and who, when ready, returns to the community."

Sen. Williams Says Navy is Wasting Defense Money

U. S. Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.) says the Navy Department has been getting rid of some of its parts inventories and then turning around and paying up to 4000 times the price received to replenish the supply.

In a speech on the Senate floor, the Delaware senator cited one example where the Navy was selling as surplus 416 weight governors for prices ranging from 1.6c to 12c each and then to resell the inventory purchased $2.82 identical weight governors at a price of $64 each.

Senator Williams said he recognizes that parts sometimes become obsolete and must be replaced. "However," he said, "there can be no excuse for parts and equipment which are not obsolete being declared surplus and then disposed of at a fraction of the original cost while at the same time identical parts or equipment are being purchased in an adjoining office. In private business someone would be fired."

Drawing on information supplied by the Comptroller General, Senator Williams cited another example in which the Navy had declared more than 1,000 of a certain type of spring surplus and sold the springs for about 5.3c each.

"The Navy Department then purchased from Cooper Bessemer Corporation, Mount Vernon, Ohio, 275 of this identical type spring at a unit price of $5," he said.

Another example dealt with the sale of 2,906 bearing units for prices ranging from 11c each to $10.10.

"Then, apparently on the premise that the Defense Department was running out of these bargains," he said, "the record shows that the Navy purchased from the Cooper Bessemer Corporation 225 units of these identical bearings, with 20 of them being purchased at a price of $92.50 each and 205 units at a price of $91.25 each.

"Thus, in this instance we find that the Navy paid $20,556.25, or an average of over $90 each, for 225 bearing units while selling as surplus 1,799 identical bearing units upon which they received a total of only $1,812.98, or an average of just a fraction over $1 each.

"These are not isolated cases but are being cited as examples of the manner in which the Defense Department insist upon ignoring its responsibility for maintaining proper control over its inventories.

"Such examples can be multiplied many times," Senator Williams said, "and the result is that hundreds of millions of dollars are being wasted annually through unnecessary expenditures."

Corn Planter Speed Important

Farmers who pull their corn planters faster than maximum recommended speeds are asking for trouble says George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

Vapaa cites laboratory tests in which a corn planter adjusted to drop 15,200 kernels per acre at three miles per hour dropped 14,300 kernels at 5 miles per hour and only 13,200 kernels at 7 miles per hour.

Increasing the population dropped the planting rate even more, according to the agent. When the test stand was adjusted to drop 18,800 kernels per acre at three miles per hour, it dropped 17,400 kernels at five miles per hour and less than 15,000 kernels at seven miles per hour.

The owner's manual tells how to adjust the corn planter for the correct population. It also is an excellent guide for determining the speed of the planter for a given planting rate.

Delaware Leads States in Income Survey

During 1961, Delaware apparently retained its distinction of having the highest per capita income of the fifty states advises the Delaware State Development Department.

Basing its observations on the results of a preliminary survey made by the U. S. Department of Commerce, the State information agency advises that, during 1961, Delaware income increased an average of $13. to a new high of $3,026 per individual. In 1960, Delaware's per capita income was $3,013.

Total personal income in Delaware is estimated to have been $1,386,000,000 in 1961, compared with $1,353,000,000 the previous year. This was a gain of two percent but Delaware's continuing population growth cut it to less than a 1 per cent gain on a per capita basis notes the Development Department.

The preliminary 1961 per capita income standings now show Nevada second with $2,960 per capita; Connecticut third with $2,926; New York fourth with $2,839, and California fifth with $2,784.

Despite high wage rates, Alaska, the Nation's 49th State, could do no better than sixth place with $2,718. Other states having per capita incomes in excess of $2,600 include New Jersey (2,716), Illinois (2,663) and Massachusetts (2,614).

The Department of Commerce survey shows Mississippi as having the lowest 1961 income with $1,233 per capita and Arkansas just slightly higher with $1,420.

The foregoing figures are subject to revision when the Department of Commerce makes its final official estimates next August notes the Development Department.

100 Youths Compete In Broiler Contest

More than 100 entries are expected in the Delaware Junior Broiler Growers Contest which will be decided here next week.

The contest actually started last March when contestants were given winged-banded chicks by several hatcheries. Next Wednesday, the nine-week-old birds will be judged at the fairgrounds.

Cash awards and trophies will be made next Thursday by Paul Hunter, Jr., president of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, sponsor of the program. Also cooperating in the contest are the Agricultural Extension Service, the Department of Vocational Agriculture and the Delaware State Fair Commission.

Harrington School Notes

Grade 5—Miss Long
Our room has three people in the band concert: Steven O'Neal, cymbals; Gary John Long-bass drum; and George Wyatt, cornet.

In Social Studies we are almost through with the South Central States.
In spelling we are on unit 33. We only have 3 more units to go (1 in a review test).

We each have library cards; most of us have many titles and authors on them.
With only a few more days of school to go before summer vacation we could name a million things we have learned.

In reading we are on page 314, we have only 57 more pages to go. In our reading workbook we are on page 114 we have only 14 more pages to go in it.

May 7, 8, we had a big test. Most of us did very well in it. We have almost finished everything.
Mrs. Hynson
May Day was a lot of fun for everyone. We enjoyed the pony rides and the games.

The boys and girls from our class who were in the May Day program were Connie Wilson, flower girl; Hal Blades and Kathy Melvin, attendants; Ricky Hoffman and John Schrack, leaders of the First Grade march; Sandra Irwin, Billy Winkler, Gloria Lynn Dill, Skipper O'Neal, Carol Lekites, and Gene Gallo, marchers.

Sandra Irwin brought a picture of many insects and explained them to us. Some were helpful and some were insects which destroy crops and flowers.
News of School Subjects—Biology
Mr. Horst's tenth grade Biology classes have begun two new projects. The students are to collect between 60 to 75 different leaves and make an observation of a chicken egg embryo.

The leaves are to be pressed and dried for at least three weeks. Each leaf is to be placed on a separate sheet of paper and the leaves are to be labeled correctly.
After each observation of the chicken egg embryo, the pupils are to make drawing of what was seen and observed.
May Dance to Honor King and Queen
The May Dance, featuring Terry Johnson and Kenna Jo McKnatt as King and Queen, will be held Friday, May 18, from 8 to 11 p. m. Admission will be 35 cents stag and 55 cents drag. Attendees from each grade from 7 to 12 will accompany the King and Queen.

John M. Clayton topped the varsity softball team, 22-9, Tuesday, May 8.
Clayton scored most of their runs on overthrows and errors made by Harrington girls.

During Harrington's last turn at bat the girls were making runs, and trying to catch up, but made three outs before they made enough runs to win the game.

Football Prospects to Meet
The Harrington High School Football coaches, William Santo and Mike Mock, called a meeting on Monday, May 14, for all the boys who plan to go out for football this coming year.

The coaches took the names of all the boys, and their addresses. They also introduced next year's team captains, David Harcum and Jeff Adams.

Harrington Loses to Rehoboth
The varsity softball team dropped a game to Rehoboth, 13-10, Thursday, May 10.

In the first inning Rehoboth scored five runs and Harrington scored nothing.
Harrington was trailing by two runs when they took the field, and Rehoboth scored four more runs in that inning.

When Harrington came in to bat, they needed seven runs to win, but scored only three.

Claudia Neeman New S. C. President
"I won! I won!" These were the exclamations made by six students of Harrington after ballots were counted Thursday, May 10.

Stuart Greenberg was elected Student Council President for the 1962-63 school term. Secretarial honors went to Barbara Nielsen, while Bill Knox won the office of treasurer.

Voting for May King and Queen also took place. Kenna Jo McKnatt was selected as Queen and reigning with her as King will be Terry Johnson.

Both Kenna and Terry are members of the Senior Class and will be crowned Friday, May 18, at a May Dance sponsored by the Student Council and the High School Band.

Explorers to Try "White Waters"
"Rapids ahead!" will be the cry of the Explorer Post 76 of Harrington, Delaware on the 24, 25, and 26 of May.

The Explorers will be taking a canoeing trip down the rapids of the Octotara River, near the Conowingo Dam.

The day before the Explorers will hit the white waters, they plan to practice recovering swamped canoes and rope casting.

After one day of canoeing the boys plan to camp at Horse-shoe Camp.

The advisers are Roland Hitchens, Bill Wise and Jesse Jones.

The men planning to go on the canoe trip are R. Hitchens, B. Walls, Louis Kemp and Leonard Taylor.

Science Students Observe Mice
"Eek! The mice are out!" is a familiar sentence heard in Mr. Horst's room lately because two little baby mice keep slipping between the mesh of the wire on the cages.

The students have been having fun watching the eight baby mice, three black and five white.

Lawn Scalping Kills the Grass
If you want a healthy, good-looking lawn, you've got to give the grass a chance to grow, points out Kent county agent, George Vapaa.

Too many people go to the expense of applying fertilizer to their lawns, only to chop off the grass before it reaches proper height.

This lawn-scalping kills or injures the grass so seriously that dead spots or brown areas develop, which many home owners mistakenly assume are caused by insects or disease.

What happens is that the leaves are cut back so short that the plants are unable to manufacture food and maintain an adequate root system.

The key to an attractive lawn is proper height of mowing the agent says. As a general rule, lawn mowers should be set to cut no lower than 1 1/2 inches and preferably at 2 inches.

Mowers should be kept sharp and in good operating condition. Dull, improperly adjusted equipment not only destroys the beauty of a lawn, but also injures the leaves, opening the door for disease and insect troubles.

Mowing is not a simple operation to remove excess growth, Mr. Vapaa emphasizes. It is a maintenance practice which has far reaching effect on the appearance, vigor and longevity of your lawn turf.

this way. The first T is for test. If a ton of hay testing 6 percent crude protein is purchased, 500 pounds of cottonseed meal will have to be fed with it to make it equal the protein in a ton of hay testing 16 per cent protein. It's good business, says the agent to ask the hay seller for an analysis of his product, or lacking this, check the hay for excess weathering or for stemminess.

The second T is for time—the hay was cut. Hay cut during the first 10 days of May can be 65 per cent digestible but the same hay cut on June 1 will have dropped to 50 per cent. This is a loss of 300 pounds of digestible nutrients. In a grain bag this would cost you $12-$15—reason enough to know when the hay was cut.

Third T stands for ton, the usual weight basis on which hay is bought. One dollar for a 60 pound bale of hay equals $33 a ton, but a dollar for a 40 pound bale equals $50 per ton. The weight of the individual bale of hay thus is very important. Buy by weight instead of the bale.

The 3 T hay buyer, concludes Vapaa, knows what he has bought and how much.

H.H.S. Loses to Rehoboth and Millsboro

Harrington High School's baseball team dropped contests to Rehoboth 7-2 and Millsboro 5-2 on Thursday and Monday, respectively. Both games were played here. In addition to having the same run total in each game the locals also garnered the same number of basehits (4) in each tilt. Another oddity was the fact that the quartet, who hit safely on Thursday, were blanked on Monday. Three other players reached the hit column the latter day. In retrospect it appears that it would have been nice if H.H.S. could have had eight hits against Millsboro and none against Rehoboth. That way the Lions might have salvaged the latter fray.

To get down to brass tacks, Rehoboth sewed up their third win in five tries by scoring three runs in the first inning. The Lions threatened on occasion but could only come up with singletons in the third and fourth innings, while the Seahawks were tallying five more times. Barry Fry and Jeff Adams held Rehoboth to four hits but the visitors made these few do the job.

Bill Adams, Allen Wix, Dick Collins and Warren Bader had the base knocks for Harrington.

Millsboro's Blue Devils have a speedy, power-hitting array. In one contest this season the visitors had four home runs.

Dick Collins pitched creditably but errors of omission and commission by the Lions allowed the Sussex Countians to slowly creep away with the verdict.

Some of these miscues were: overthrows of bases, hesitation by outfielders who held the ball while runners were tearing for the plate and easy throws to the lead base on possible double play balls. Maybe it's the time of the year. In the spring a young man's fancy, etc.

After four innings the locals had narrowed the score to 3-2 but single runs in the fifth and sixth by Millsboro wrapped it up. Jeff Adams led the losers with two-for-three. David Brobst and Don Rothermel also hit safely.

Jr. Football League To Hold Monthly Meeting

The Jr. Football League will hold its monthly meeting Monday night, May 21 at 8 p.m. in the field house.

Felton Wins, Holds First Place

Mike Harrington's soft stuff was too much for John M. Clayton to handle and the Green Devils continue to share first place with Selbyville's Rebels. The Rebels almost lost their half of the top spot when it took them two extra innings to get by Delmar.

After a home run by the Bear's Ross Layton, Mike blanked the losses while Felton combined three hits and eight walks for five runs.

Bill Green, Dave Wood and Sam Ludlow accounted for the winners' bingles.

Smith, Knox Win Three League Track Titles

The Harrington High track and field team placed third in the Henlopen Conference championships held at Millsboro Wednesday afternoon. The Lions have always been first or second in this meet prior to this year.

However, much of the sting was taken away by the sterling performances of several of the younger Harringtonians.

Bob Smith led the way with victories in the mile, 440 yard run and ran the anchor leg on the second place mile relay team.

Bob set a new personal record of 4:56.8 in the longer run. Dennis Rogers was third in the mile in 5:12 a personal best.

Randy Knox won the high jump with a leap of five feet six inches and ran on the mile relay team.

Harrington won the junior high section. This fact coupled with the great showing by some of the younger varsity lads should indicate that the Lions are on the way back.

The Lion juniors won the 880 yard relay test when Richard Black, a new recruit, ran a great anchor leg to overtake a Millsboro lad in the stretch. Black was third in the 220 yard dash also.

Riley Davis, who staked H.H.S. to a lead in the above race, did the same in the opening leg of the 440 relay. Larry Garey, Glenn Smith and Artie Taylor then romped to an easy victory.

Bruce Layton, another newcomer, won the 50 yard dash, was second in the 220 and also ran on the 880 relay four.

Artie Taylor won a trial heat in the 100 yard dash and finished in a virtual dead heat for second in the final.

Larey Garey and Glenn Smith were second and third in the high jump respectively.

Knox's win in the high jump was a drama-packed affair. The Lion sophomore missed one try at 5 ft. 2 in. He then ran a hard quarter mile in the mile relay. Very tired from this effort he then missed again. On his third and final try he made it. Meanwhile, a Rehoboth lad jumping against him, had a bandage on his leg and using an unorthodox style was falling heavily on the bad leg each time he jumped.

They both cleared 5 ft. 3 and then 5 ft. 4. By this time it was obvious that Knox had a double handicap to overcome. He was tired from his quarter mile run and he had to jump out of a hole worn in the grass by countless previous jumpers. The Rehoboth lad's unusual style brought him up to the bar from the left.

Since few high jumpers use that side the ground was firm and fully packed there.

Randy and his rival negotiated 5 ft. 5 in. each. The Sussex Countian's bandage began to leak blood slightly as he continued to fall heavily on the injured member. Knox went over the bar at 5 ft. 6 in. and when his opponent missed his third and final try the Lions gathered around their happy teammate cheering and slapping his back.

Greenwood Edged In Final Frame 4-3

Greenwood High School has to be considered as the hard luck champion of the Henlopen Conference baseball season. After six games the Foresters are winless and twice have been victimized by one run.

At Ocean View on Monday they carried a two run margin into the final inning only to see the home team rally for three runs and a one run victory. Three hits, an error, two walks and the Eagle fans went home happy.

Julian Woodall had limited the Eagles to four hits and one run for the first six frames and it appeared that the Foresters were about to end their win drought.

Woodall, his battery mate Ellsworth Coleman, and Milt Shupe have been doing most of the stick work for Greenwood this spring. The first two named and second-sacker Wilkerson connected safely at Ocean View.

Lions Compete in Dover Relays

Harrington High's track team ran in the 8th annual Dover Relays Saturday night and for the first time in their five years of competition there failed to bring home any hardware. However, this year's squad is composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores. Action of this type will make them better performers in the years to come.

The Lions scored three points by taking a fourth in the two mile relay and a fifth in the medley. Last year's Harrington squad won both these events and set new records in each. These standards represented the best performances of the first seven years of this popular downstate track carnival. During that span squads from Elkton, Redding High of Middletown, Smyrna, Dover, Caesar Rodney, Seaford, Wicomico of Salisbury, Milford, Selbyville, Somerset High of Princess Anne, Centerville and North Carolina of Denton, Md. had vied in these two races and none had been able to even get close to the 1961 Lions' squad times of 8:40 in the two miles relay and 8:15 in the medley relay.

Saturday night a powerhouse quartet from Mt. Pleasant High in Wilmington lowered the medley time to 8:04. Why should a school with the enrollment of Mt. Pleasant even be invited to run in a meet that has always been one of the last strongholds of the smaller schools? Such shenanigans may eventually turn the Dover test into a meet that will be avoided completely by most or all of the downstate schools. We would hate to see this happen. On occasion H.H.S. has done well at the Relays against much larger schools. But the Wilmington schools are just too huge.

John Dickerson, Charles Taylor, Dennis Rogers, Bob Smith, Tim Strohl and Frank Cain were the best of the local lads Saturday night. Dickerson in the 880 relay and Strohl in the mile relay were really moving.
