

MD. LASS IS MISS DELMARVA XV; SHE CAN ALSO COOK CHICKEN

A dark haired Maryland beauty who can also cook like a champion became Miss Delmarva the 15th in the finals of the Beauty Pageant here last week at the Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival.

She is 18-year-old Gail Brewington of Shad Point near Fruitland. Three times at former Chicken Festivals she has been runnerup in the junior division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest. This time, though, she decided to concentrate on the beauty pageant. Before a pageant record crowd of nearly 2500 who paid their way into the grandstand at the Delaware State Fair Grounds, she won over 18 other beauties who had previously won local Miss Delmarva contests in their home communities.

A senior at Wicomico High School in Salisbury, Gail is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 122 pounds with 34-24-36 measurements. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Brewington, she plans a career as a teacher. She is an active bowler and boat enthusiast and is also talented as an artist.

Runnerup in the pageant was 17-year-old Diane Isaacs of Greenwood, who stands 5 feet 3 1/2 inches and weighs 110 pounds. A farm girl, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Isaacs. She plans to major in home economics and music education at the University of Delaware.

First contestant to win an award in the pageant finals was 17-year-old Dana Den Herder of Delmar, Md. The 18 other contestants voted her "Miss Personality," a highlight of each year's festival.

The new Miss Delmarva wins a $750 college scholarship, a trophy and other prizes. Runnerup Diane Isaacs wins $300 in cash plus a trophy and other prizes. Miss Personality, Dana Den Herder was awarded $200 in cash, a trophy and other prizes.

AND SHE CAN COOK—Gail Brewington, 18, of Fruitland, Md., became Miss Delmarva XV in the beauty pageant of the Delmarva Chicken Festival here last week. Three times, at former festivals, she had also been runnerup in the junior division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest. At left, in the picture, is Diane Isaacs, 17, of Greenwood, the runnerup.

Parachute Jump At Local Fair

If Bob Pratt has his way, his wife will jump out of an airplane sometime this summer.

When she does Janice Pratt will become one of the few women in this area to participate in the exciting sport of parachute jumping or sky diving, as its growing number of devotees prefer to call it.

Bob, a former Army paratrooper, has found the sport to be both fun and financially rewarding. The Delmar, Md., resident will make two jumps during the 1962 Delaware State Fair to be held at Harrington July 21 through July 28.

On Saturday, July 21, he will officially open the Fair when he dives from some 10,000 feet up onto the fairgrounds with a message to Fair officials from Governor Elbert N. Carvel. He will do a repeat performance at 2 P. M. the next day as part of the Sunday afternoon entertainment program.

The two Pratts find the sport "a most exciting way to spend a Sunday afternoon" and both have resolved that Janice will make her first jump this summer. Bob has promised to train her for the event.

He is quick to point out that there is much more to the sport than just jumping out of a plane and pulling the rip cord.

Unlike other military jumps, these are delayed fall jumps in which, depending on jumping altitude, the parachutist has a controlled free fall of thousands of feet before opening at 2,000 feet. During this fall the rate of descent can be altered from about 125 MPH to about 200 MPH by changing arm and leg positions.

"In fact it is possible to do almost any maneuver that a plane can do except gain altitude," Bob points out. "This includes figure 8's, back and forward loops, barrel rolls and the like."

In the normal jump from 10,000 feet, Bob drops about 8,000 feet in some 50 seconds before opening the parachute. The proper time for opening at 2,200 feet is determined by observing an altimeter and stop watch mounted on a control board on his chest, or reserve parachute.

Once the parachute is open the direction of his drift can be controlled by manipulations of control lines which alter the position air slots in the canopy. As an added feature of his two performance at the Delaware State Fair, Bob will use colored smoke during his 10,000 foot drop so that spectators may follow his descent. The pilot of the plane will be in contact with the fairgrounds via radio and will inform spectators of what is going on upstairs by use of the public address system.

W. O. T. M. Notes

The regular enrollment ceremony for Chapter 1229 was held on Thursday, June 14, at the Moose Home.

Those new candidates enrolled were Mrs. Margaret Dill, Mrs. Clara Hammond, and Mrs. Virginia Coursey.

Election of the new officers for next year followed the enrollment. The following officers will be installed before July 1:

Senior Regent, Miss Etzel McCready; Junior Regent, Mrs. Margaret Link; Chaplain, Mrs. Thelma Carpenter; Recorder, Mrs. Flora Blunt; Junior Graduate Regent, Mrs. Iva Banning. Appointed officers and chairman will be named in the next news from the chapter.

The most beautiful and impressive award of friendship rings, was performed after the election. The ceremony was under the direction of Junior Graduate Regent, Mrs. Anne McWilliams. Those admitted into the Academy of Friendship were Mrs. Iva Banning, Mrs. Betty Jopp, Mrs. Margaret Link, and Mrs. Clara West.

White Marsh Tax Ditch Now Being Constructed

Construction of the White Marsh Tax Ditch was started this week says C. Arthur Taylor, chairman of the Kent County Soil Conservation District. White Marsh Ditch Company is the first Kent County ditch company to construct under the Federal Small Watersheds Act. They are also the first ditch company in the county to receive the extra financial assistance of the state through Delaware Drainage Bond Bill.

This ditch company was organized and is managed by approximately 83 landowners within its 4000 acre area. Oscar Draper, Greenwood, is chairman of the ditch managers. White Marsh Company is a sub-ditch company of the huge Upper Nanticoke River Watershed Project, sponsored by the Delaware State Soil Conservation Commission.

The 4000 acre drainage area is south of Farmington and lies partly in Kent and partly in Sussex County, with the greatest portion in Kent. A network of 18 miles of outlet ditches has been planned by the landowners. The U.S. Soil Conservation Service provided all the technical information necessary to plan the project. The Soil Conservation Service has also provided the design and will lay out the construction grades.

Drainage ditch companies are organized by the landowners within common community drainage areas. Their purpose is to provide drainage outlets to farms that suffer poor drainage and flooding. By enabling these farms to control their excess water, they will be able to farm more efficiently, grow more diversified crops, and establish needed winter cover crops and other conservation practices without difficulty. Proper drainage on such farms is considered the backbone of a complete soil conservation program, says Mr. Taylor. Without control of excess water, such farms cannot contribute their share to the economy.

Construction of the project is being carried out cooperatively by the Soil Conservation Districts of Kent and Sussex Counties. Although there is an accelerated construction schedule, it will take over a year to complete the project, says Mr. Taylor.

Curtis Melvin Elected Lions Zone Chairman

Curtis Melvin, past president of the Harrington Lions Club, has been named Zone Chairman under the leadership of District Governor-elect Joseph Brewer for the coming year. Melvin will have five clubs under his jurisdiction.

It was announced at the last club meeting that the Harrington Lions Club now has assumed sponsorship of all Boy Scout groups in the community. Lion members are assisting in this worthwhile endeavor.

The Lions had charge of the World's largest fry pan at the recent Delmarva Chicken Festival here at Harrington.

Chicken Festival Parade Biggest Of The Year On Peninsula

Warm sunny skies provided an ideal setting for the Peninsula's biggest parade of the year here Saturday on the closing day of the 15th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival before some 12,000 persons who viewed it along the streets of Harrington or from the grandstand and infield at the Delaware State Fair grounds.

Led by the Harrington police and some 45 antique cars of the Antique Automobile Association of America, it numbered nearly 170 units and took an even two hours to pass before the judges reviewing stand at the Fair Grounds. Included were 20 bands and 35 floats.

Jones and Smiths Excel in Junior Division in Cooking Chicken

The Charles Jones' and the Ross Smith's, two already famous families of cooks, the former from southern Delaware and the latter from Maryland in Harford County north of Baltimore, carried off top honors last week in the junior division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest finals held here as one of the feature events of the 15th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival.

First place went to 12-year old Bobby Jones of Georgetown, the third of his family to win the junior championship. Second was 15-year old Susanne Smith of White Hall, Md., granddaughter of Mrs. Ross Smith of White Hall who has won more prizes here than any other entrant in the history of the contest.

A total of 23 boys and girls from 9 states competed in the finals and 12 of them from 7 states got into the winners' circle of the top dozen contestants. Nine of them were girls while three, including champion Bobby, were boys.

Judges of the contest were Joan O'Sullivan, food editor for King Features Syndicate in New York, chairman; Aileen Paul, New York TV consultant; Ann Dries Dawson, Home Economist for Wearaway Aluminum Inc., New York; Mary Brown, Director of Women's Activities, Hill & Knowlton, Inc., New York; and Helen Feingold, Home Economist, New York.

The judges praised all the youngsters for putting a lot of color in their dishes and for using recipes which were simple and played up the high-protein, low-calorie features of chicken.

Bobby Jones' prize-winning recipe was called Fruit Glazed Stuffed Chicken Breast. It is prepared as follows:

Tuberculin Testing Is Part of Regular T.B. Program

Tuberculin testing has been incorporated as a part of the regular TB detection program in Delaware.

Frank F. Pierson, Jr., executive secretary of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, said today that the skin tests were first administered on an experimental basis to 3000 Wilmington school children in 1960. After analysis of the test series, health officials decided to expand the program last year.

As a result, (1) 575 students in Delmar received the skin tests in November, (2) youngsters of pre-school age at the Well Baby Conference at Wilmington's Christiana Community Center were tested in December, and (3) medical teams conducted tests in every public school first grade in Wilmington in January.

During the past year 1,015 tests were given. Eighty-two of these were positive, and one 10-year-old child was hospitalized. A total of 2,965 tests were given the previous year, producing 249 positive reactors and uncovered two adults and three children who were hospitalized with tuberculosis.

The test, known as the Heaf Method, is practically painless; it involves only a slight breaking of the skin by a series of tiny needles. After a week or 10 days, nurses "read" the reaction.

Positive reactions indicate that the children have been exposed to the TB germ—but do not necessarily mean that the reactors have tuberculosis. Those with positive reactions are given further examinations to determine whether or not they are tuberculous. In addition, a check is made on all members of their household for possible cases of tuberculosis.

The Delmar tests, a pilot program which may be continued elsewhere in Sussex County, were conducted as a cooperative effort involving the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, Sussex County schools, and the Delaware State Board of Health. Wilmington tests were given through the combined efforts of the Wilmington Public Schools, City Board of Health, State Board of Health and the TB Society.

School Board Awards Bids For Furnishings

At the July meeting of the Harrington Special School District Building Commission held in the school office Tuesday evening, the Commission accepted the bid of Southern Desk Co., of Hickory, N. C., for furnishing furniture and shelving for the Harrington High School library at a total cost of $12,087.95. The Commission also authorized the asking of bids for necessary school furniture and equipment for the Pierre S. DuPont and Harrington High School.

At the regular board meeting following the commission meeting, the board approved budgets for the 1962-63 school year for state, local, and athletic expenditures.

The following coaching assignments were made: Football — William Santo, head coach, Hubert Mock, assistant; basketball — William Smith, boys head coach, J. M. Hawpe, Jr. Hi coach; baseball — J. M. Hawpe, head coach, William Santo, Jr. Hi; Track — Harold McDonald; Cross-country, Harold McDonald; wrestling — Hubert Mock; girls hockey — Miss Violet Testerman; girls basketball — Miss Testerman, and softball, Miss Testerman.

Mr. Santo was designated as faculty manager of athletics.

Other business conducted by the board was the selection of Frank Melvin to fill the custodial vacancy in the school, the establishing of categories and classifications for members of the custodial force, adopted a policy regarding the selection and use of library materials in the Harrington and Pierre S. DuPont Schools, and adopted a policy for the control of students beyond the age of 16 who take no interest in school work and actually are a hindrance to those who desire to learn.

They also approved a request from the Class of 1963 for a two-day trip to New York during the next school year, accepted the bid of J. C. Callaway Company of Middletown to furnish No. 5 fuel oil for the school for the next school year.

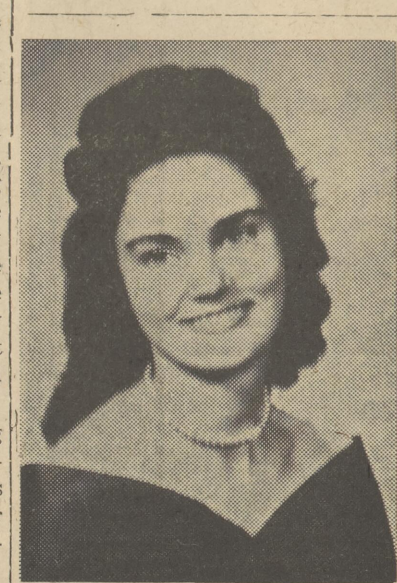

The board decided again to offer Nationwide School Accident Insurance policy to parents of the district who desire it, decided to insure all varsity football players with the Nationwide Insurance Company, and moved the July meeting date from July 9 to July 15, at 7:30 P.M.

YOU TRY MINE AND I'LL TRY YOURS—Mrs. Harold Herbert, Gnadenuhnt, O., winner of first place in the senior division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest, and Bobby Jones, of Georgetown, winner of first place in the junior division, sample each other's wares at the Delmarva Chicken Festival here last week.

A 51-year-old Ohio housewife, Mrs. Harold Herbert of Gnadenuhnt was crowned National Chicken Cooking Champion here last week. She won over a field of 79 contestants from 33 states and the District of Columbia.

Her recipe, "Deep-South Ovenly Chicken", came out on top in the final balloting of the panel of nine judges. It was an oven-fried chicken dish featuring finely chopped pecans, garnished with lemon, and nestled on a bed of chichory.

The championship recipe won for Mrs. Herbert a custom-designed Westinghouse kitchen plus $400 to cover cost of installation; a large silver trophy awarded by the Poultry and Egg National Board; a silver holder for tobacco sauce.

Second prize went to Mrs. Arline Ginden of Silver Spring, Md., whose "Chicken with Wine" recipe won her $250 in cash, a deluxe cook stove, and an electric buffet frying pan. In third place was Mrs. Forrest Webster, of Rehoboth Beach, who received a cook stove and an electric frying pan for her dish, "Celestial Chicken."

Among the contestants were the champions and other top qualifiers in 33 state cooking contests.

The judges — foods editors and home economists — including Eleanor Ney of Westchester Publications, White Plains, N. Y., and Mary Horton, Director of Sealtest Kitchens, New York, co-chairmen; and Dora McCann of the "McCann At Home" WOR radio show, New York; Alice Peterson, New York DAILY NEWS; Marian Lloyd, Pennsylvania Chain Store Council, Philadelphia; Meg Geraghty, Manchester, New Hampshire UNION LEADER; Marguerite Kerr, Newark, New Jersey SUNDAY NEWS; Isabel McGovern, New York HERALD TRIBUNE, and Philomena Corrado, Philcor Features Service, New York.

The judges were unanimous in their opinion that the dishes prepared this year were the finest in the 15 years of the contest. "People are really learning how to cook chicken properly and this shows up in the contest," said Eleanor Ney, speaking for the judges. "Nothing is quite so important in cooking chicken as cooking it until it's done," Miss Ney emphasized. She explained that too many contestants — and housewives — in former years served chicken that wasn't quite done. "We seem to have learned this important point and the results are terrific, the food editor declared.

In general, the judges said they gave preference to entries that were basically simple to prepare and serve as a family meal. These were preferred over novelty dishes in which chicken was not recognizable as a major ingredient.

Mrs. Herbert received her crown from Delaware's Lt. Governor Eugene Lamont. Rocco P. Imperatrice, Jr., district sales manager for Westinghouse, presented her with a gift certificate for the grand prize kitchen. Lloyd Geil, general manager of the Poultry and Egg National Board, Chicago, co-sponsor of the contest along with Delmarva Poultry, Inc., presented the silver trophy.

Here is the prize-winning recipe:
Deep-South Ovenly Chicken
1 ready-to-cook frying chicken (2 to 3 lbs.)
1 cup Bisquick
1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 tsp. Paprika
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup pecan meats (finely chopped)
1 cup evaporated milk
1/4 lb. butter or margarine
Cut chicken into serving pieces. Combine Bisquick, poultry seasoning, paprika, salt and pecans. Dip each chicken piece in the evaporated milk, then roll it in the Bisquick mixture. Melt the butter in a shallow pan (a broiler tray is good) and place coated chicken pieces in the pan, allowing at least 1/2" between each piece. Place tray in oven that has been preheated to 400 degrees and bake (uncovered) for 40 minutes. Turn pieces over and return to 400 degree oven for 20 more minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Here is a list of the top winners and the names of their recipes:
1st, Mrs. Harold Herbert, RR 1 Box 180, Gnadenuhnt, Ohio — "Deep South Ovenly Chicken"
2nd, Mrs. Arline Ginden, 1015

CUTE AS A BUG'S EAR is 4-year-old Lisa Gaye Oliphant, of Laurel, Little Miss Delmarva at last week's Delmarva Chicken Festival here. She is being "bussed" by Cynthia Lee Kaiser, also of Laurel, who had the title last year.

Little Miss Delmarva Is Four

Cute-as-a-button little 4-year-old, of Laurel, won the Little Miss Delmarva Pageant here during the opening day of the 15th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival last week.

She is Lisa Gaye Oliphant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Oliphant. Lisa won out over 16 other little girls of less than school age, who, like herself had previously earned the right to contend by winning local community contests earlier in the year.

This is the second year in a row that a Laurel tot has won. Last year's Little Miss Delmarva was Cynthia Lee Kaiser, who also won as Little Miss Laurel. She was present this year on the special stage built for the event in the grandstand at the Delaware State Fair Grounds, site of the festival and placed the crown on the head of her successor.

A crowd estimated at 300 people watched the pageant. Runnerup this year was another 4-year-old, Bonnie Lou Todd of Federalsburg, she is a little blue-eyed blonde.

The contestants appeared first in party dresses and then in play suits. In addition to parading across the stage, pirouetting, and posing in the manner of their older sisters who competed in the semi-finals Miss Delmarva Beauty Pageant, each tot was interviewed on stage by master-of-ceremonies, John Masters of radio station WKEN.

There was a presentation of gifts to the contestants and entertainment at intermission and after presentation of gifts by three young performers, the Misses Renee Walls and Deloris Tinley and Master George Willey. Organ music played by Howard Tingle of Salisbury.

Moose Lodge Launches Fire Safety Project

It was announced recently by Thomas Carr, of Harrington, governor of Harrington Lodge No. 534, Loyal Order of Moose, together with Earl Lee Yoder, Chairman of Civic Affairs Committee that the lodge would cooperate with the fire department in launching an all-out fire window sticker safety project.

In an effort to eliminate needless loss of life in home fires, the local Moose lodge is providing luminescent window stickers to the public without cost. These reflecting red stickers are to be placed on the window of any bedroom wherein there might be an invalid, convalescent infirm or aged person, or very young children. The fire department is fully aware of the use of these reflective stickers. In the event of a fire call to any residential building, spotlights will be flashed upon all windows of the home, and when one of these stickers is noticed, that room will be investigated to determine if evacuation is required.

The use of the round red sticker will materially cut down searching time by firemen and rescue squads during an emergency, and will thereby help to expedite rescue operations, and practically eliminate fatalities due to smoke inhalation.

John Moyer of Bowers Beach, who is the president of the Fire Chiefs Association of Kent County has announced the full cooperation of the fire departments of Kent County in this life saving project.

Chicken Festival Best-of-Show Art By Dover Woman

A professional oil painting of a woodland stream won the silver bowl for best-of-show in the art exhibit here last week as one of the features of the 15th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival at the Delaware State Fair Grounds. Painted by Mrs. Lorene Kohut of Dover, it also won the nod from the judge in the professional oils class. Third was "Bag of Potatoes" by Mrs. Marie Conway of Baltimore, Md.

A total of 94 entries were shown in the five classes for adults. There were 9 entries in the two classes for children. Judges of the exhibit were Raymond Spiller of the faculty of the Philadelphia Museum College of Art, and Robert Koch, instructor at the Dover Art Center. They awarded a total of $395 in cash prizes and Saving Bonds, in addition to the silver bowl for best-of-show.

Winners in the other classes displayed at the exhibit included Howard Schroeder of Lewes, 1st in the professional water color class with "Taxco Fiesta." Second in this class was Robert L. Layton of Milford for "Wissahickon Park," while Schroeder also took a third with his "Mexican Courtyard."

Henry Progar of Laurel, was the sole prizewinner listed in the professional graphics class with his "Crucifixion."

Winners in amateur oils were Mrs. Dorothy Graham of Harrington, first; Mrs. George Skinner of Dover, second; and Mrs. Lorna Price of Salisbury, third.

Edward Kuhlmann of Milford was first in amateur water colors. In the children's oils, Carol Ann McNally of Harrington was first; Larry T. Lewis of Denton, second; Linda Haas of Dover, third.

In children's water colors, Marcia Good of Denton, took a first and third with two paintings.

SHOP AND SWAP IN THE WANT ADS

D'AMBRO FAMILY EXCELS IN COOKING CHICKEN OUTDOORS

Cooking chicken is a family pastime with the Joseph D'Ambros of Lansdowne, Pa. And when the results of the outdoor cooking division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest were announced here last week, it was clear that the D'Ambros can claim the distinction of being one of the nation's top chicken cooking families.

Of the first seven placings in the outdoor cooking contest, three were D'Ambros — Mother Lydia D'Ambros, 52, first place, with her "Chicken Breasts Romano" recipe; daughter Josephine, 24, fifth, with her "Fra-Diavolo Barbeque," and son Dominic, 21, seventh, with his "Butch's Best Barbeque." Adding to the family's claim to chicken cooking fame is the fact that daughter Lydia G. D'Ambros was the 1960 Junior Cooking Champion in the contest held at Selbyville.

Mrs. D'Ambros recipe, featuring chicken breasts with Italian flavor accents, garnished with white grapes and nestled on grape leaves, not only pleased the judges' eyes, but their palates as well. She cooked the recipe over charcoal in a standard metal grill. Here is the recipe, which is one she developed herself:

Chicken Breasts Romano

- 4 chicken breasts
 - 1/4 cup flour
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 4 tsp. butter
 - 1/2 tsp. garlic salt
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1 lb. mushrooms, small button type
 - 1/2 cup parmesigiano cheese
 - 2 tbsp. chopped parsley
 - 1 cup Sherry wine
 - 1/4 lb. white grapes
- Remove skin and bone from breasts and cut each crosswise, making 8 pieces. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dip chicken in flour mixture. Melt butter in heavy skillet over barbeque pit. Sauté each fillet until brown on both sides (15 minutes each side) Remove to a warm platter and cover with aluminum foil. Brown onions in butter remaining in skillet, then add remaining ingredients except grapes and cook for 10 more minutes. Pour sauce over chicken and garnish with grape leaves, and grapes. Serves 4.

The recipe earned for Mrs. D'Ambros a $50 cash award, an electric charcoal grill, a set of deluxe barbeque tools, a sterling silver holder for tobacco sauce and an electric cooker and fry pan. Josephine D'Ambros received a folding aluminum picnic table, and Dominic received a portable icebox.

Other winners and their prizes were Merritt H. Hursh, Pitman, N. J., second, $25 cash and a picnic basket; Mrs. Sally Bryan, Ambler, Pa., third, portable grille; Grace Elizabeth Fainelli, Schenectady, N. Y., fourth, folding picnic table; Mrs. John B. Connors, Paterson, N. J., sixth, folding table; Christian M. Willey, Milford, eighth, and Fred M. Basgier, Jr., Baltimore, Md., portable ice boxes respectively.

The judges of the outdoor contest were Alvin Kerr of Gourmet magazine, New York, chairman; Sidney Kocin, American Grocer, Queens Village, N. Y.; Mrs. Elizabeth Goetz, 1960 National Chicken Cooking Contest winner, Lakewood, N. J.; Thomas Kohler, Sherry Wines and Spirits Co., Inc., New York; and Miss Eleanor Bazata, Sealtest Home Consumer Service, New York.

Mr. Kerr said the judges looked for flavor and appearance reflecting the out-of-doors. "Silver trays and other fancy adornments have no place in outdoor cookery," he said. "This is the place for pewter, wood, and other more humble materials and this year's contest was truly an out-door one," he said.

The contestants used a wide variety of grills, ranging from electrically operated roaster grills, to simple ones of concrete blocks, standard and deluxe charcoal grills and electric ovens.

Mrs. D'Ambro has six children — three girls and three boys — and they all cook chicken. "Even my husband Joseph helps," she beamed when asked about her family's chicken cooking hobby. Besides outdoor cooking, her hobbies include sewing and collecting antiques.

45 Antique Autos In Chicken Festival Parade Here

The spirit of early American motoring was in the air Saturday as members of the Brandy-Automobile Association of America drove 45 shiny cars from an earlier day into the grandstand infield at the Delaware State Fair grounds for their 4th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival meet.

Among the winners of trophies at the meet was a 1926 Rolls Royce Touring owned by Norman Dickerson of Laurel. Burgoyne Frank in his 1910 Buick drove all the way from Ellicott City, Md., to win the long distance prize in cars of 1919 or older while William drove his 1929 Model A Ford Station Wagon from there to win the long distance award for cars of 1920 or over.

Part of the America-of-another day aura of these meets is furnished by costumes worn by many of the drivers and their families. Winner of the best-costume award was Mrs. Lucille Cooper of Landenberg, Pa., who arrived in a 1908 car and an all black costume of the same vintage. It consisted of an original black velvet beaded cape and pocketbook, full length skirt and parasol to match.

Miss Delmarva the 15th presented awards of silver bowls to winners in each class of the meet. They were, in addition to those noted: Thru 1905 Class, 1st, 1902 Olds, John Tyson, Royersford, Pa. 2nd, 1896 Va. Buggy, Norman

OLD Mr. BOSTON

YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE IF YOU'RE NOT DRINKING 80 PROOF GIN!

If you think higher proof means higher quality — that's a mistake.

If you think the gin most Englishmen drink is more than 80 proof — that's a mistake.

You should know, to begin with, that America is practically the only civilized country in the world that drinks high-proof gin. The British, who perfected gin, know that gin has an ideal taste and flavor balance, and they prefer it at milder, smoother 80 proof. Here's the whole story:

80 PROOF GIN TASTES BETTER
"Proof" is no measure of quality. It's a measure of alcohol content alone. (100 proof means 50% alcohol.) Alcohol itself has no flavor. The pleasant taste of gin comes entirely from the herbs with which it's distilled.

The best test of gin is to drink it straight or on-the-rocks. You'll find 80 proof gin has the big taste advantage of 80 proof mildness — with the same full flavor of higher proof gins.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER MARTINIS
It makes them extra dry, as you like them, but not extra strong. Twenty years ago, the 3-to-1 Martini was standard. Today, with the trend to dryer Martinis, they're made 6-, 7-, even 8-to-1. As a result the modern Martini has climbed from a smooth 76.5 proof to an overwhelming 84 proof! Solution? Mix with 80 proof gin. It gives you the same full, dry gin flavor, but it returns the Martini to its original, more moderate proof.

80 PROOF GIN MAKES BETTER TALL DRINKS
When you mix a tall drink, like a Collins or a gin 'n tonic, you dilute the strength of the gin "to taste." You also mix for balance of flavor. 80 proof gin will give you better balance. You don't have to drown it to drink it.

HOW TO MAKE DRY MARTINIS MAKE MORE SENSE

Using Standard 35 Proof Dry Vermouth	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin	Using 80 Proof Dry Gin (or Vodka)
3 - to - 1 (Traditional)	76.5 Proof	69.0 Proof
5 - to - 1 (Dry)	81.0 Proof	72.6 Proof
8 - to - 1 (Extra Dry)	84.0 Proof	75.1 Proof

(The "standard" proof for today's bottled Martinis is a moderate 67.5 proof!)

OLD MR. BOSTON IS THE FINEST GIN YOU CAN BUY
It's vacuum distilled at an unusually low temperature in special glass-lined stills. Only at such a low temperature, is it possible to capture the most delicate essence of the herbs. This is one reason for Old Mr. Boston's flavor distinction. It is America's first and largest-selling 80 proof Dry Gin!

BARBARA JONES IS MISS POPULARITY IN BEAUTY CONTEST

It was a chilly night in the grandstand at the Delaware State Fair Grounds here but 1700 spectators and 19 contestants in the Miss Delmarva Beauty Pageant didn't seem to mind it as 17-year-old Barbara Jones of Harrington was chosen "Miss Popularity" by popular acclaim to wind up the first day's schedule at the 15th Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival.

Barbara, five feet one inch tall and 105 pounds is a blue-eyed blonde with bust, waist and hip measurements of 34, 22½, 35 who wants to be a secretary or airline stewardess when she graduates from high school. Born in Chester, Pa., she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and has two brothers and one sister. She was given her new crown before the largest crowd that had ever witnessed the semi-finals of the Miss Delmarva Pageant, with Miss Popularity of 1961, Debbie Cannon of Greenwood, doing the honors.

Each of the contestants for the Miss Delmarva crown in the finals Friday night appeared first in party gowns before the audience, then in bathing suits. All were interviewed by Master of Ceremonies John Masters of radio station WKEN over an amplifier system which brought questions and answers to the entire audience. At the finish, applause was given to each contestant and the judges picked the winner by the volume of applause given her.

Entertainment at intermission time was provided by twist expert Deloris Tinley, songs by the "Diamond Statesmen" and a skit by "The Ridge Runners." Mayor Charles Peck, Sr., of Harrington, welcomed the contestants and audience as did Donna West, the Beauty Pageant's Miss Welcome of 1962. Queen Delmarva the 14th, Miss Betsy Rickards of Selbyville, presided.

Cost Cutters

By W. T. McAllister, Farm Management Specialist, University of Delaware

Most farmers are feeling the effects of higher costs of production with no increase in prices for their products. The only immediate answer to this dilemma is to improve farm management skills.

Here are some cost cutting techniques that will help farmers meet these demands.

FERTILIZER PAYS DIVIDENDS - Put your commercial fertilizer investment where it will do the most good. The initial application of fertilizer gives the biggest return per dollar. With limited cash, lower rates of application over more acres pays better than higher rates over fewer acres. When cash is limited, use fertilizer first on the high value crops. Look for other places to cut costs before you cut fertilizer investment.

FARMSTEAD PLANNING - The next major technological break-through in agriculture will probably be centered around the farmstead. Although this is the primary center of farm work, it is usually poorly designed and lacks planning for efficient operation. An example of this is a comparison between a well arranged loose housing system and conventional stall barns. The loose housing reduced travel 30 percent and time spent per cow seven percent.

INCENTIVE PAYMENT FOR FARM HANDS - The way a hired man does his work affects the profits made by the farmer. However, the hired man's earnings aren't necessarily related to the work he does or the profits of the farm. Many farmers are considering some type of incentive payment which would reward the hired man for better performance and at the same time increase the farmer's profits.

LOWER TAXES - Pay wages to children for work actually performed on the farm. If the child is under 19 or over 19 and normally enrolled in college, he can earn $500 or more and still be claimed an exemption if the farmer contributes one half of the child's support.

When replacing machinery or equipment, consider trading versus outright sale and new purchase. The latter may offer favorable depreciation reductions. Records of farm expenses should be complete and carefully kept throughout the year. Five dollars of expenses not recorded means a tax payment of about $1. Ask your county agent about Electronic Farm Accounts. Complete records should be kept of all income with special notes on income from gifts, inheritance, sale of bonds and farm loans. Revenue agents consider any deposits as earned income unless there is evidence to the contrary.

INCREASING DEDUCTIONS - Every farm business has certain expenditures which classify as "operating" expenses under tax laws yet actually have benefits extending for more than a single year. These expenditures should be planned for high income years. They include repairs to buildings, such as partial roofing and painting; minor overhauls to machinery; purchase of small tools; new tires; etc.

Harold B. Short, who farms near Georgetown, is featured in the 1962 Yearbook of Agriculture, "After One Hundred Years", published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Each year the Yearbook is devoted to a phase of agriculture. The series dates back to 1949. Recent issues have dealt with seeds, soil, water, foods and insects.

Page 66 explains how Short has been able to enlarge his market egg production business through increased labor efficiency and the production of home grown feeds.

An egg grader was his first piece of automatic equipment. In 1961 he installed an automatic feeder which grinds, mixes and transports feed to the hens.

The next step is equipment for picking, shelling, drying and storing corn. Short is a strong believer in the use of home grown feeds. "I never could see the point in growing corn, sending it away, then buying it back."

The 1962 Yearbook explains in depth the background of today's agricultural revolution. It describes new methods and tools of research and new problems of farm income and food abundance. "After 100 Years" is considered the Centennial Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture throughout the United States. One section is devoted to pictures and descriptions of farmers in nearly all of the states.

It is a congressional document prepared in the U. S. Department of Agriculture and published under direct Congressional authorization. Copies are distributed mainly by members of Congress. It is also sold by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at $2.00 a copy.

Two Highway Bids Total More Than $7 Million

The State Highway Department received bids on two construction projects for which the low bids totaled more than $7,000,000, with only slightly more than $200,000 of state funds being involved.

One of the projects involved the grading, drainage and construction of structures along the Toll Road route from Churchman's Road to the Glasgow-Newark Highway.

The other project was the grading, drainage and paving of the Freeway from a point near the Basin Road Interchange to the South Wilmington Viaduct. S. J. Groves & Sons, Camp Hill, Pa., submitted the low bid of $4,331,058 for the Toll Road project, which is 5.1 miles in length. The work involves the grading of the area, installing drainage and construction of a number of bridges along the route. It is to be completed by June 1, 1963.

The Freeway project consists of constructing two traffic lanes, each 24 feet wide, with a 38 foot median dividing the traffic lanes which will be 10 inch reinforced cement concrete on select borrow. The project is to be completed in 500 calendar days. This will be the first paving project on the Freeway route through Wilmington.

C. J. Langenfelder & Son, Baltimore, with a price of $2,244,212, were the low bidders on the Freeway project. This concern is operating on two other projects in the same general area connected with the Freeway and the Toll Road.

The department also received bids for the operation of the Indian River Inlet restaurant and concession stands, for which J. A. Dennis, of Rehoboth, submitted the high bid of $645 per month.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis were Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Hurst of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis and sons and Miss JoAnne Kenyon. On Sunday evening, the Davis family with Miss JoAnne Kenyon, Mrs. Joe Dennis and Dana, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swain and Mr. and Mrs. Medford Calhoun attended church in Bridgeville where Dick Davis was conducting revival services.

First Lt. Sam Meredith has been visiting friends and relatives here and had a busy week. On Wednesday he visited his sister and family in Washington and also saw many friends; on another Saturday he was an usher in the wedding of a buddy in Providence, R. I. On Sunday he flew back to his post at Ford Ord, Calif.

Mrs. Donald Lynch and children spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Sr., while Mr. Lynch was on a business trip to New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, Sr., while Mr. Lynch was on a business trip to New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Sr., and Nelson Meredith, Jr., enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Violet Bringhurst in Viola.

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss JoAnne Kenyon of Greenwood to Mr. Gary Lee Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis. JoAnne and Gary are both graduates of Greenwood High School where JoAnne was Salutatorian.

JoAnne will enter the University of Delaware this fall. She is employed for the summer at the Delaware Electric Cooperative. At present Gary is associated with his father in farming.

No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Mahala Isaacs attended the graduate exercise at Dover High School where her niece, Faith Conner, was in the graduating class. Miss Isaacs remained for the rest of the week with the Conner family.

Barbecue Ideal For Large Groups

Planning a family reunion or group get-together? Why not have a chicken-que, suggests Miss Janet Coblentz, nutrition specialist with the University of Delaware.

A chicken barbecue pit for a large group can be inexpensive and easy to build. For an inexpensive backyard pit, cinder blocks -- either four or eight inches -- covered with one by two-inch welded wire -- are satisfactory. A pit two blocks high and two blocks square will hold up to 15 halves of chicken.

For larger groups, where more than 24 chicken-halves will be barbecued, the pit should be 3 blocks high, as more heat is generated in larger pits and the chicken meat should be farther from the charcoal.

One layer of charcoal briquettes in the bottom of the pit, fired to a white-ash color, will cook the chicken in about 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours, Miss Coblentz says. Extreme care should be used in firing the charcoal. Only the individual doing the firing should be near the pit, especially where liquid starting fuels are being used.

Some briquettes come pre-treated with a substance that burns readily when ignited, without danger of explosion. These are a little more expensive but are less dangerous and more desirable, especially for small family barbecues.

A 2 1/2 pound bird is a good size for adults. After barbecuing, a cooked half may be easily cut into quarters for smaller servings. It is necessary to brush chicken with a sauce, or baste with melted fat.

For recipes of barbecue sauces and other ideas of foods to cook Janet Coblentz, 132 Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, for a mimeographed copy of Cooking on the Charcoal Grill.

Stephen Boyd's "Lisa" at Reese June 24-25; "Moon Pilot" June 28-29-30

Last week should have been called "Great Entertainment Week" at the Reese. Enjoyable stage and screen presentations fulfilled the promises made by the management previously.

According to the management, another galaxy of super Hollywood is on the way to thrill every member of the family. If one is to judge by the program to be found in the newspaper, it must start with this Friday and Saturday, June 22 and 23. Randolph Scott and Joel McCrea are starred together for the first time in MGM's outdoor adventure hit, "Ride the High Country" in Cinemascope and color. Columbia presents the Saturday Evening Post adventure triumph, "The Hellions," with

Richard Todd and Anne Aubrey. Everybody has heard something about "Lisa." It might be "word of mouth," magazine, television - everyone has heard how she was used like an animal, tormented by the memory of hush-hush experiments, how she became a victim of the dealers in human cargo. Stephen Boyd and Delores Hart are the stars in "Lisa," at the Reese Theatre Sunday, Monday, June 24 and 25. Theatre fans to know that Walt Disney's "Moon Pilot" plays the movie center Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, June 28, 29, and 30. The theatre will be open on Thursday for this attraction only.

Summer Enrichment For Harrington Students

Carol Ann McNally is one of fourteen in the state who will participate in this program. The University of Delaware has instituted firm policies to serve the needs of gifted students in its regular under-graduate programs of study. As an extension of this philosophy it is offering stimulation and encouragement to students still in Delaware High Schools who show high potential and promise for future excellence in academic achievement. Carol Ann will serve as research apprentice to Professor M. S. Cover for a period of eight weeks beginning June 18. She will serve on a full time basis for which she will receive a weekly stipend. The research includes the propagation of viruses in embryomated eggs and tissue culture for their identification and for a study of their biological characteristics.

Stuart Greenberg has been selected to attend this program which is designed to give participants exploratory experiences in Science which supplement, not duplicate, instructional work in the regular school program. Lectures, tours and field trips provide them with opportunities to learn about some of the latest technological advances. This is the fifth year that a Harrington student has been chosen to participate in this highly selective program. County, and state, its economy. Hearn have been selected for the Third Annual Camp to be held at the Alexis I. DuPont School. The camp provides four weeks for getting to know Delaware—its levels of government—city, county, and state economy, both industrial and agricultural, its social agencies and social problems, and finally what the young citizen can do to help his community now and become informed about careers in the social sciences. For the second summer, Harrington feels proud to have participants in this highly selective program. The selection in both this camp and the Science Camp is on a competitive basis.

Knox will attend the Pennsylvania Workshop at Westchester State Teachers College for a week in August. This camp is designed to train student council officers in leadership. The Harrington Student Council is sponsoring Claudia and Billy and feels very fortunate to have them accepted in the Pennsylvania group. Girls State and Boys State: Tom Milspaw and David Harcum will attend Boys State and Jean Thomas and Carol Smith will attend Girls State. The Reading Study Center at University of Delaware: Lynn Layton, Jean Thomas, Carol Smith, Susan Gilstad, Tom Milspaw, and Stuart Greenberg will attend this year's Reading Study Improvement Program for Harrington school students. This is a program for achieving Harrington school students who plan to go to college. The program is geared to hold those students who are already achieving adequately and are planning to do advanced work. The purpose of the program is to assist young people who are seeking to think and read more efficiently and effectively in learning situations. Harrington is very fortunate to have these people accepted in this very worthwhile program.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q — Are World War II veterans still eligible for GI loans?

A — Yes, for ten years after discharge from active wartime service plus one year additional for each 90 days of that service. However, in no case may a World War II veteran's eligibility expire before July 25, 1962, nor after July 25, 1967.

Q — A friend has recently been discharged from a VA hospital because of "MHB." What do those letters mean?

A — They mean "maximum hospital benefit." In other words, in the opinion of the hospital officials, additional time in the hospital would bring about no further improvement in the patient's condition.

Q — Where can lists or rosters of the old Civil War regiments be found today in the event one wished to look up the record of a relative?

A — Most of the Civil War records have been turned over to the National Archives of the United States, Washington 25, D. C. You might write to them for information of this type.

Graham Has Heart Attack

"Instant" Meals For Travelers—In The Future

Interstate highway travelers in a hurry may someday be able to buy and cook their own meals at oil station stops in less time than it takes to "gas up" the car.

Food vending machines and electronic ovens make this possible, says Katie Thomas, Kent County home demonstration agent.

These "automatic restaurants" are already being tried along some Ohio interstate highways. A food company with a reputation for high-quality food prepares packages and freezes food in individual containers or platters. The foods then are delivered, stored and vended at refrigerator temperatures.

Customers pop the food packages from a coin-operated vending machine into electronic ovens. Cooking times vary from six seconds for rolls to 90 seconds for a complete dinner.

Each food packet comes in a colored plastic wrapper matching the color of the electronic range button that sets the correct heating time for that food.

The "restaurant" offers more than two dozen food varieties, based on research as to the kinds of foods the traveling public prefers. The breakfast menu offers such things as rolls, French toast and hot cakes. Food available for other meals includes soups, casseroles, hot sandwiches and complete dinners. Machines also offer beverages, ice cream and candy.

Other food and oil companies are watching these first installations closely to see how customers react to them. It's speculated that such a combination of speed in service, good food and reasonable prices for the quality offered may well start a national trend.

"These same 'instant' meals may someday be available along Delaware highway," says Mrs. Thomas.

Two Guardsmen Awarded Cross

Under direction of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, the Conspicuous Service Cross of the State of Delaware has been awarded to two members of the local National Guard.

The recipients are Chief Warrant Officer Harold Ralph Welch, Jr., 107 Ordnance Detachment, of Harrington, and S/IC George B. Lankford, Battery B, AW Battalion, 193 Artillery, of Farmington.

Early Cut Secret To Better Grass Silage

Early cutting of forage is the most important step in making top quality grass silage, reports George Vapaa, Kent County agent.

Most legume or mixed legume forage must be cut when legumes are well budded and before any appreciable amounts of bloom can be found, he says. The general trend has been to cut too late which causes a loss of feeding value.

Grass or mixed grass forage should be cut when the grass heads are beginning to emerge from the boot and before any bloom occurs on the heads. This means most farmers should start harvesting one or two weeks earlier than they have in the past. Proper time to harvest first cutting forage is the same whether it is made into hay or silage.

Vapaa says earlier cutting alone can improve the total nutritive value of hay or silage by 5 to 15 per cent on many farms. This is a greater increase in feeding value than can be obtained by any other forage-making practice or harvesting aids.

Once ensiling has begun, the agent urges filling the silo as rapidly as possible to reduce fermentation losses. If forage is wilted, the length of cut becomes an important item. To get adequate packing, cut the forage as close to 1/4 inch as possible, and check condition of silo to make it as airtight as possible.

Wilted forage to 70 per cent moisture or less can produce satisfactory results and makes the use of a preservative unnecessary. A preservative is recommended, however, when forage is direct-cut.

Addition of 200 pounds of ground ear corn per ton of forage ensiled can reduce seepage and fermentation losses as well as increase palatability and overall feeding value. If a feed additive with relatively high feeding value cannot be obtained at a low cost Vapaa suggests considering a chemical preservative. A chemical preservative in a trench or bunker silo is ineffective unless an airtight plastic cover is used.

New Peace Corps Project In Brazil

The Peace Corps has accepted an invitation from the Government of Brazil to send 153 volunteers to assist the Sao Francisco Valley Commission in the integrated development of the 2,000 mile long river valley. This program will effect directly 5 1/2 million people who now live in the valley area.

Volunteers will be assigned to agricultural extension work, rural community development, rural electrification, irrigation, health education, sanitation and social work. The project requires 89 agricultural specialists and workers with training and/or experience in various agricultural, forestry and home economics skills, 13 electrical engineers and/or electricians, 1 dentist, 6 nurses, 8 medical technicians, 10 health and social workers, 15 mechanics, 2 marine diesel repairmen, 4 radio technicians, 4 cottage industry instructors, 3 geologists, 3 well diggers, 2 fishing technicians, one carpenter, one cotton textile worker, and one audiovisual specialist.

Training of volunteers selected for this project will begin about July 30, 1962, and will include on-the-job skills, as well as language and culture of Brazil. Prior knowledge of Portuguese will be helpful, but is not a requirement for selection.

Volunteers must be American citizens at least 18 years of age. There is no upper age limit. The basic educational requirement is a high school education. Greater formal training or experience is required for some positions. Married couples are eligible if both husband and wife qualify and they have no dependents under 18.

Volunteers receive a living allowance for food, clothing, housing, medical care, transportation and incidentals plus a termination payment of $1,800, based on $75 for each month of service. Peace Corps applications may be obtained from local post offices, county agents, Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C. They should be completed as soon as possible and returned to the Peace Corps, Washington, 25, D. C.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

A recent girl's softball contest at the Moose Home saw a team of lassies of high school age, coached by B. Norman Hopkins, take on a veteran group of slightly older ladies. The younger girls put up a good scrap and were in contention until the last two innings. Final score was Juniors 9, Seniors 19.

Terry Yoder, pitcher for the Lions in the Harrington Little League, has control that rivals that of Robin Roberts. He seldom walks a batter. This is rare in the 9-12 age bracket from which the Little League draws its players.

Gordon Jarrell, a member of the same Lions team, is our pick as the speediest baserunner in the loop. In Tuesday night's contest with the Moose, which was won by the Lions 6-5, the little speedster was caught in a rundown between third and home but scored an important run on sheer speed alone. There are several Jarrells involved in sports in and around Harrington, and one thing that most of them can do is really pick 'em up and lay 'em down. Alvin Jarrell, for example, was on the first track team at HHS several years ago and later competed for Wesley College.

Another running clan from the same Masten's Corner area as the Jarrells is the Garey family. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Garey were both ribbon-winning sprinters when they attended school in Denton, Md. A couple of daughters were good runners, too. Bob Garey ran the mile and brother Don formerly held the quarter mile record at Harrington High. Ken Garey was the third best cross-country runner in the lower Delmarva area in 1961. Larry Garey ran on the Henlopen Conference championship junior high 880 relay team this spring. Still to be heard from are Jerry and Bill Garey, who won't surprise many people if they turn out to be able trackmen.

A few columns ago we mentioned that HHS athletics were hurt by transfers to other districts this term. Clarence Hackett, Tim Strohl, and Mitt Szymajda were good athletes who departed. Hackett went to New Castle, Strohl to Chicago, and Szymajda to the Philippines. Perhaps the pendulum will swing in the other direction for 1962-63. A recent transfer from Chesertown, Md., Joe Torres, is a big lad of 6 ft. 2 or 3, who wants to play football here this fall. He states that he wants to take a crack at basketball, baseball and track, also. We had heard of his prowess as a quarter miler before we knew he would be matriculating here. He ran the 440 in 57.2 seconds, which is pretty good time. Only Bob Smith and Barry Fry of the current student body have bettered this clocking.

Harrington Softball News

Only one game has been played in the Harrington softball league since the last report. That contest saw the Ruritan Club have its closest shave of matched the run for run before finally bowing by a score of 8-7.

Hammond, Spence and Bob Collins led the winners with three hits apiece. Elwood Brown had the same number of safeties for the losers.

Smith, McMaster, G. Bonniwell Pace Festival Runs

Bob Smith and George Bonniwell of Harrington, and Lee McMaster of the University of Delaware were the individual standouts as a unique two-in-one race was held at the Delaware State Fairgrounds Friday night in conjunction with the Delmarva Festival.

A sudden downpour Friday afternoon made the track too muddy for use so the race was switched to the grass infield. A large rectangular course measuring 730 yards per lap was laid out. Earlier, it had been planned to have the eight Harrington High School entries run in a two-mile race, followed by a three-mile test for the remaining sixteen older lads. Partly because of the rain and a few last minute cases of cold feet, only thirteen runners showed up. It was then decided to have this group start together, with the give H.H.S. runners quitting after five laps, and the senior runners could retire after seven circuits.

The older boys, including three college stars, were placed in the front row, since it was felt that they would immediately draw clear from the local group which included three H. S. freshmen, one sophomore and one junior.

Ken Garey, George Bonniwell and Lester Minner took the early lead in the junior race. Don Ladd of the University of Delaware led the other group as trailed behind Minner. The two sections ran simultaneously although they were not competing against each other.

Garey led for two laps since he has not run competitively since November, and the pace was too much for him, so he gave way to Bonniwell. George became a distance runner only two weeks and three workouts ago, but displayed tremendous class and courage as he drew away from the entire field. Bob Smith came out of the pack, caught the game tyro on the back stretch and moved on to win by six seconds with a winning time of 11:54.

Bonniwell crossed the finish line with a big lead over the first older runner. It must be admitted here that the senior group was holding back a little because they had to run 2.9 miles while the juniors stopped at 2.1 miles. Nevertheless, it took terrific efforts by Smith and Bonniwell to lead the oldsters by such a large margin for five laps.

With the course to themselves, the seniors then put on a dogfight with Don Ladd, Dave Thome, Fred Swanson, Bill

Greenplate and Lee McMaster leading at one time or another. McMaster poured it on all through the last lap to win going away. He can run a half mile in 1:55 and that is moving.

Swanson, a 9:37 two miler, was second with Bill Greenplate of Newark, in third. Wes Stock and John Hollis, of Seaford were among the missing, as was Bob Winchester, of Dover.

Lester Minner was running strongly in front of the grandstand when he stepped in a hole and twisted his ankle severely. This is the first injury of any consequence to happen in this area.

Good performances were turned in by locals Ken Garey and Wayne Carson as they completed the 2.1 miles grass course in 12:31 and 12:30 respectively. Garey is the No. 1 runner on the H. H. S. cross-country squad since the previous leader, Clarence Hackett, now lives in New Castle.

This year's endurance test marked the third straight year that the Chicken Festival has sponsored such a race. Wes Stack, of Seaford, captured 3 mile runs through the streets of Selbyville and Seaford in 1960 and 1961 respectively.

A crowd of several hundred watched the race and applauded heartily during the race and during the presentation of trophies to Smith, Bonniwell and the first six seniors.

- 2.1 Miles
1. Bob Smith, 11:54;
 2. George Bonniwell, 12:00;
 3. Wayne Carson, 12:30;
 4. Ken Garey, 12:31;
 5. Lester Minner, (injury).
- 2.9 Miles
1. Lee McMaster, 16:24;
 2. Fred Swanson, 16:32;
 3. Bill Greenplate, 16:36;
 4. Don Ladd, 16:48;
 5. Dave Thome, 16:49;
 6. Charles Harrington, 17:05;
 7. Dick Green, 18:04;
 8. Tom Sisson, 18:10.

Little League News

Bill Minner's American Legion Club won the first half championship of the Harrington Little League when they downed Harold Brown's Rotary Club nine on Monday.

The final score was 7-4 as the Rotarians turned in a fine effort. Doug Clendaniel was the winning pitcher.

Last week the Moose bested the Rotary on Wednesday 21-9, and the late surging Lions of the Rotary on Wednesday 21-9, and the late surging Lions of the Rotary on Wednesday 21-9, and the late surging Lions of the Rotary on Wednesday 21-9.

Tuesday night Yoder hurled the Lions to a 6-5 decision over Bob Haley's Moose Club unit. Roger Bullock did well in his debut as a pitcher for the losers. This game was the first test of the second half.

Results: Lions 9, Legion 6; Moose 21, Rotary 9; Legion 7, Rotary 4; Lions 6, Moose 5.

Pirates To Hold Baseball Tryouts

The Pittsburgh Pirates will conduct a camp tryout at Chesertown, Md., tomorrow. The camp will be held at Washington College Field and will be under the direction of scouting supervisors Joseph Bowen and Syd Thrift. Players should report ready to go at 9 a. m., and be prepared to workout until 2 p. m.

Players must be 16 years of age to be eligible to attend the camp and no Junior American Legion players will be permitted to participate in the camp if such participation would interfere with any Legion activities. Such participation will only be permitted with a letter of approval from either his Legion coach or the commander of the Legion Post he represents in Legion play.

Players are also expected to furnish their own shoes, uniforms, gloves, etc., with the Pirates furnishing all other equipment. Players will also be responsible for their traveling and living expenses, if any, with the understanding that all expenses will be reimbursed to those players signed to contracts with Pittsburgh organization clubs.
