

G. O. P. PICKS AS CANDIDATE

Uneasy harmony prevailed Wednesday in the Republican party after it voted Tuesday night for a campaign ticket of former State Sen. Wilmer F. (Rudy) Williams for Congress and former Gov. David P. Buckson for attorney general.

Williams won the congressional nod—which had slipped from his hands two years ago—after a tense, hard-fought three ballots of the GOP state convention's 203 delegates.

Buckson was nominated by acclamation after his opponent, William F. Lynch II, pulled out of the race and seconded Buckson's nomination.

The convention's decision marked a notably comeback for Buckson and Williams, both of whom lost bids for nomination at the 1960 convention. Two years ago, Buckson was defeated for governor and Williams lost a hairline decision for the congressional nomination.

Neither was to be denied Tuesday night, although Williams had to struggle through three drama-filled ballots to capture the congressional nomination.

The defeated congressional candidates—State Sens. James H. Snowden of Wilmington and Harvey B. Spicer of Georgetown—swallowed their bitter pills of defeat and pledged support for Williams.

Sussex County Republican leaders, denied the prize they had so coveted, settled for a state auditor candidate and pledged to give Williams their support.

"I'm a Republican, and if our candidate was a top-sired hound dog, I'd be with him," said former Lt. Gov. John W. Rollins, Spicer's principal backer.

Supporters of Snowden's abortive bid for the congressional nomination—which included most of the state's top party leaders—gathered in the wee hours of the morning and unofficially agreed to give Williams their full backing, despite the fact that he pouted through the 1960 campaign after his losing effort.

Sharing the ticket with Williams and Buckson will be Mrs. Louise Conner of Delaire for state treasurer, Ralph Kelleff of Claymont for state auditor, and Robert A. Short of near Georgetown for insurance commissioner. Their nomination came by acclamation early Wednesday morning after both Snowden and Spicer rejected offers of minor spots on the ticket.

For Snowden and Spicer, the defeat wrote fins to their public careers — at least temporarily. Snowden gave up his Senate seat to seek the GOP congressional nomination; Spicer did likewise. Both their terms expire on election day, Nov. 6.

Although Williams officially was nominated unanimously, his tally on the third and final ballot was 107 votes—five more than necessary to win the nomination. On the final ballot, Snowden received 43 votes, Spicer 52, and GOP State Chairman William V. Roth Jr. one.

Actually, it was Kent County which put Williams over the top after Snowden released his Kent County delegates. Williams polled 96 votes on the third ballot, but Kent County switches put him over the necessary 102 votes. The break in the deadlocked convention came during the third ballot when Buckson, Kent County's only candidate, asked Snowden for instructions on his delegates in the county.

"I can't win now," Snowden informed Buckson. "Tell them they are no longer obligated to me."

With his go-ahead, Buckson delivered most of the Snowden delegates to Williams.

Earlier in the day Buckson had refused to inform the Kent delegates which of the candidates he preferred, urging instead an open choice.

Sussex County's delegation irked at the failure of Kent County to support its candidate (Spicer), cast its 52 votes as a unit for Spicer on each of the three ballots.

Sussex County leaders had hoped to stall the convention long enough to nominate a compromise candidate. House Minority Leader William T. Best of Nassau or Roth.

The dramatic switch on the third ballot, however, caught Sussex leaders off base and Best never received a vote.

Roth's single vote came on the third ballot and was recorded only after the delegates had overruled a Roth decision negating the vote because he had not been officially nominated.

Snowden announced to the delegates after the final ballot

WILLIAMS FOR CONGRESS

Engagement Announced

Janet L. Hamilton

Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Laughery, of Greenwood, announces the engagement of their niece, Miss Janet Lee Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. Kathleen E. Smith, of Milford, and the late William Henry Hamilton, to Richard Finkbiner, of Greenwood. Miss Hamilton, a graduate of Greenwood High School, is employed at the Sussex Company, Milford.

Mr. Finkbiner, also a graduate of Greenwood High School is with E. I. DuPont, of Seaford.

Kelly Is Kent Levy Nominee

Edward Kelly of Rising Sun, a former Levy Court president and former highway commissioner, will be the Democratic candidate for Levy Court from the 3rd District, it was announced Tuesday night.

Vernon B. Derrickson, Kent County Democratic chairman, said Kelly was named to fill the candidate vacancy in that district. He also announced A. Bailey Thomas of near Wyoming, former master of the State Grange, will be the candidate for representative from the 7th District.

Other candidate vacancies will be filed later, Derrickson said. Kelly headed the six-man investigating committee of the State Highway Commission, appointed in December, 1960 to delve into charges of irregularities made by Atty. Gen. Januar D. Bove, Jr.

Maj. Scannell To Host Dignitaries At Guard Camp

Maj. Gen. Joseph J. Scannell, Delaware's adjutant general, will be host to visiting dignitaries tonight (Friday) at Camp Dugan, Bethany Beach.

The gathering will take place before Saturday's parade and ceremonies honoring units of the Delaware National Guard. The parade is tentatively scheduled for 9:45 a.m.

Among Gen. Scannell's visitors are expected to be Gov. Elbert N. Carvel and Brig. Gen. George J. Schulz (ret.) of Hartly, former commanding officer of the 198th Artillery Group, a Delaware Guard unit.

Col. John J. Dugan (ret.) of Wilmington, for whom the Bethany Beach camp was named, is also expected to attend.

State legislators, as well as members of Delaware delegation to the U. S. Congress, are also expected to attend.

Col. Jerome D. Niles, Jr., executive officer of the 261st Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), will be troop commander during the parade. Awards will be presented after the units pass in review.

The bulk of the awards will be presented for the Guard's service along the Delaware coastline during the ravaging storm last March. A plaque will be presented to the entire Guard by the Delaware Safety Council. Efficiency and training awards will be presented by the National Guard Bureau.

About 100 individual awards will be presented.

Members of the 2nd and 3rd Battalions (of Dover and Georgetown respectively) buckled down to range firing along the oceanfront this week. The self-propelled M-42 is the weapon they use.

The M-42 is a twin 40mm gun mounted on a chassis resembling a tank. It is used for ground and infantry support and in battling low-flying aircraft.

Guardsmen will be firing at targets towed by radio controlled aircraft, as well as waterborne

GOP Streamlines Platform

A streamlined blueprint for increased state citizen services and incorruptible administration of state laws Tuesday was presented to the Republican state nominating convention.

The 1962 Republican platform committee, headed by Edmund N. Carpenter II, submitted a concise, three-page statement of principles to the 203 delegates assembled in Dover.

The proposed platform, expected to be adopted without change, is a far cry from the 22-page platform adopted in 1960.

The document excludes many of the pet projects of special interest groups which for many years have cluttered up campaign platforms.

While the 1962 platform embodies much of the reorganization proposals of its bulkier 1960 cousin, it strikes out in several new directions with planks calling for:

—Fair representation of minorities in government and strong support for the new State Human Relations Commission "to insure greater harmony and equal opportunities for all."

—State tax deduction for tuition payments to further education.

—"Adequate support for state welfare programs, including medical and other assistance for our needy senior citizens."

—Home rule for county governments.

—Coordination of state and federal income tax laws.

—Legislation to require that unusual tax "windfalls"—such as taxes from the Du Pont Co.—General Motors divestiture—be earmarked for special accounts and not used for ordinary operating expenses.

—Laws providing for "punishment for misconduct in office and consumer frauds."

—Prompt publication and implementation of the recent study of the state's correctional system.

—Establishment of a statewide Family Court.

Broad Republican principles outlined in the document included "the maximum of individual liberty, the minimum of government control and interference, increased acceptance of state responsibility to lessen federal control, strengthening of the free enterprise system and achievement of the ideal of a strong nation in a free world."

"We believe that public office is a sacred trust to be administered on behalf of all the people of Delaware without fear or favor of special interests and pressure groups," the preamble states.

"Delaware's officials, elected or appointed, must be dedicated to honest, efficient, and courageous service of all the people of our

Commission Appointees Announced

Five appointments to state commissions were announced Monday by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

Mrs. Carl S. Hornberger, 13 Carol Road, Chestnut Hill Estates, Newark, was named a member of the Park Commission effective Aug. 16, for a term to expire Feb. 4, 1966. She succeeds Capt. Rodney H. Dann of Newark.

Walter Handsberry, 334 W. Commerce Street, Smyrna, was named a member of the Fire Prevention Commission effective Aug. 17 with a term to expire May 5, 1968. He is filling the unexpired term of George H. Bunting, who resigned because of a change in residence.

Mrs. William E. Ferguson, Delaware Avenue, Bridgeville, was reappointed a member of the Library Commission for a term to expire May 22, 1967. Robert F. Rider, Federalburg Road, Bridgeville, and Frank W. Richardson, Camden, were reappointed to the Apple Commission. Richardson's term expires July 1, 1964, and Rider's expires July 1, 1965.

Lewes Man to Lead Democratic Soiree

H. Edward Maul, Lewes, will be master of ceremonies at the annual Democratic Beach Jam-boree Friday at 6 p.m. at Lewes Beach.

Speakers will be Rep. Harris B. McDowell, Jr., and Gov. Elbert N. Carvel. John M. Conway, state Democratic chairman, and William S. Potter, national committeeman, have indicated they'll attend.

Frank Sharp, Lewes, is general chairman.

PRISONERS TO BE X-RAYED FOR TB AS THEY ENTER

All future prisoners at the New Castle Correctional Institution will be X-rayed for tuberculosis as they enter.

Harry W. Towers, acting director of the institution, said this week that 70-millimeter X-ray unit has been installed by the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Dr. Gerald A. Beatty, president of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, said that the installation represents an important step in the state-wide cooperative program between the society and the State Board of Health to combat TB and other respiratory diseases.

"In the past a number of cases of tuberculosis have been found among the inmates of the New Castle Correctional Institution, establishing that particular group as a prime source of tuberculosis infection," he said.

Previously, case detection procedures at the prison were limited to semi-annual visits by mobile X-ray units. However, many prisoners who were detained for short periods were missed.

Dr. Beatty said that installation of similar equipment at the Georgetown prison is being considered.

The machine, the same type as that used in mobile X-ray units for mass survey work, is located in the institution's admittance office. Prisoners receive chest X rays as a part of the normal admitting process, which also includes showering, photographing and fingerprinting.

Prison personnel such as guards and food handlers will also receive regular chest X rays on the job.

Lt. Walter Milson, a member of the institution's staff, has been trained to operate the X ray

Farm Queen Contest Rules

The annual farm queen contest sponsored by the Delaware Farm Bureau has been announced. The contest will be governed by the following rules:

1. Be a member of a Farm Bureau family in good standing.
2. Be between the ages of 16 and 18 (inclusive) as of Sept. 30.
3. Be single.
4. Present an essay of not less than 500 words prior to September 30, entitled "My Life on the Farm."
5. Present a full length picture of herself.
6. Attach to her essay a 3 x 5 inch card with all data: name, date of birth, and name of parents. Name should not be written on essay or picture.
7. All entries, essays and data cards should be sent to the Delaware Farm Bureau, P. O. Box 110 Dover, Del., prior to Sept. 30.

The winner will be awarded a $100 United States Saving Bond and the two runners up will each receive $25.00 bonds. In addition it is planned that all contestants will be entertained and made to have a very worth while experience.

The county chairmen from whom information may be obtained are:

New Castle—Mrs. Natalie Davis, R. D. Middletown; Kent County, Mrs. Francis K. Bergold, R. D. 3, Dover; Sussex County, Mrs. Elsie Wilson, R. D. 4, Georgetown.

Corn, Soybean, Hay Crops Reduced, Peaches Abundant

This summer's drought, relieved by late July rains, seriously reduced crop yields of early vegetables, hay and corn, a Delaware crop report states.

The report is compiled by the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

Corn yield this year is down seven bushels an acre from the 62-bushel forecast a month ago. The average hay yield was reduced 0.2 ton an acre, resulting in a total decrease of 8,000 tons.

The soybean crop is estimated to be one bushel an acre lower than last year and potato yields will be lower, the report says.

Wheat, oats, alfalfa, apples, and milk are below last year's average production.

Delaware's chickens produced 11 million eggs in July, a million more than July 1961. Production in 1961 is up a million.

A peach crop of 40,000 bushels is in prospect, up 14 per cent from 1961. Some orchards have smaller peaches and apples due to the dry weather.

Delaware's apple crop should be about 290,000 bushels, 3 per machine by Dr. W. W. Lattomus.

Tentative plans call for prison authorities to load the film in their own darkroom and take the exposed sheets to the Bissell Hospital for diagnosis.

Active cases of tuberculosis can be hospitalized and treated in the isolation ward of the clinic on the third floor of the prison.

The new facilities will save time for prison personnel. After a case of tuberculosis was uncovered at the institution recently, all of the infected prisoner's contacts had to be sent under guard to the Bissell Hospital to have screening X rays taken. Now the service can be performed on the spot.

February Primaries Called For

Calvin Boggs, Kent County Republican Committee chairman, believes Delaware's primary elections should be held in February instead of August.

Boggs, disappointed by the light vote in Kent County, remarked Monday that August is not a good month for an election.

Boggs was both surprised and disappointed at the voter turnout in which less than 5,000 of 23,600 registered voters in the county voted.

He remarked that New Hampshire, which holds a February primary, gets a good turnout.

"Maybe we should do this here," Boggs suggested.

Boggs said many potential voters are out of their districts on vacation during an August primary, and many others are busy with summer weekend activities.

In addition, hot humid weather can cut the size of a vote, he said.

Youths Attend Institute

Eight Delaware farm boys attended the American Institute of Cooperation at Ohio State University, Columbus, August 4 through 9. The group represented both 4-H and FFA. They were sponsored by the Delaware Council of Farm Cooperatives. Those attending included Joe E. Williamson, Jr., Bridgeville; Robert Borcherdt, Newark; Richard Melson, Bridgeville; Robert Stafford, Newark; Richard Baxter, Middletown; Michael Dukes, Millsboro; Garland Messick, Millsboro; and Steven Hill, Newark.

Williamson represented the 4-H boys of the country in reporting his 4-H activities and accomplishments to a delegation of nearly 4,000 adults and youth attending the national meeting. He was also chairman of a youth discussion group. Panel members included Borcherdt, Melson, and Stafford.

The youth were accompanied on the trip by William E. Kent, Jr., Newark, vocational agriculture teacher, and Ray Lloyd, associate extension poultryman at the University of Delaware. Lloyd is chairman of the youth committee of the Delaware Council of Youth Cooperatives.

Prior to attending the Ohio meeting, the group visited cooperatives in the Dover area and were guests of the Delaware Council of Farm Cooperatives at a dinner.

School Starts Sept. 5

The 1962-63 school year will officially open at the Harrington Schools at 8:30 a.m., Wed., Sept. 5. Dismissal time for the first week will be at 12:30 p.m. The cafeteria will not start operations until Mon., Sept. 10.

Students in grades 7 through 12 are requested to report to the field house upon arrival at school. First grade students will report to the cafeteria for room assignments. All students in grades 2 through 6 will report to the room they were in last year for new room assignments. Elementary students, other than first graders, entering Harrington for the first time will report to the central office for room assignments.

Because of the lack of facilities due to the new construction, the Board of Education at its regular August meeting adopted a policy by which students will not be permitted to drive cars to school until such time as adequate facilities are available. Included in this policy was the provision of a parking space for faculty members on the hard surface north of the field house, and a request to faculty members not to park on Dorman Street or streets leading into Dorman Street. The Board also directed the secretary to request the Town Council to declare 500 feet of the west side of Dorman Street, starting at the north entrance of the school grounds, as a "No Parking Zone" since this space must be used for loading and unloading of buses. Parents transporting their children to school are requested to stop in front of the old 1912 building or around the corner on Center Street. It is hoped that adequate parking facilities will be available within a month or two to alleviate this condition.

In other action, the Board appointed James Hawpe as coach of the Junior High Football team for the 1962 season. It selected Mrs. Constance Kirwan for a teachers' aide in the elementary school, but delayed any action on the selection of a new secretary until the September meeting.

The Building Commission received bids for science laboratory equipment, arts and crafts equipment, and homemaking equipment as previously advertised. Lump sum bids were received from Southern Desk Company of $51,000, Flowers School Equipment Co. of $57,115, and E. H. Sheldon Equipment Company of $57,950. The Commission accepted the bid of Southern Desk.

The Building Commission has received notification from the State Board of Education the name of the Pierre S. DuPont School has been officially changed to the West Harrington Elementary School.

Builders' Group Calls It Too High

Open shop contractors object to "prevailing wage" rates set for construction at Delaware's Hospital for the Mentally Retarded in Stockley.

The Kent-Sussex Unit of Associated Builders & Contractors, Inc., last week appointed a committee to see what could be done about reducing the wage rates before bids on the project are received.

The group claims the wage rates, are in some cases, "even higher than union wages." It says they appear to be based to a large extent on DuPont Co. Seaford construction scales which, it claims, are not representative of Sussex County as a whole.

"Prevailing wages" for the Stockley job were set by the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations early this month.

A spokesman for the department said Tuesday they were "determined on the basis of information available." He said the law provides that rates be

Delaware State Expects 500

Delaware State College expects an enrollment of more than 500 students for the 1962-1963 school year, Dr. Elbert L. Harris, director of admissions, said Tuesday.

Two hundred freshmen are expected, he said, and 25 per cent of these are secondary school graduates with superior ability.

All freshmen and new students are to arrive on the campus by 3 p. m. on Sept. 9 for the beginning of orientation week.

Delaware State College will have 13 new faculty members this year.

The college's 71st session will officially begin Fri., Sept. 7.

Accident Report Shows Increase During July

There was almost a 20 per cent increase in the number of accidents on the streets and highways of this state during July in comparison with the same month of last year.

The number of these accidents that were reported to the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department during July of this year were 671, an increase of 105 over the number reported during July of last year.

Of the accidents reported during July of this year 488 were in Wilmington and New Castle County, an increase of 78. Kent County had 85 of the accidents, an increase of 17, while 98 of the accidents were in Sussex County, an increase of 10.

Of the operators involved in the accidents reported during July of this year, 276 were from out of the State, an increase of 32; a total of 216 of the operators had no insurance, an increase of 62, and there were 259 persons injured in the accidents, a decrease of 8.

Damages resulting from the accidents reported during July of this year totaled $249,296, an increase of $6,895 over the amount of damage reported for July of last year.

During July there were 59 motorists had their operational and registration privileges in Delaware revoked for failure to comply with the financial responsibility laws. This is 26 less than the number suspended during July of last year.

25th Anniversary Of Flower Show

The annual flower and art show will again be sponsored by the Ever-Ready Class of Asbury Methodist Church School in Collins Hall. This affair was instituted by the Rev. Robert E. Green in September, 1938, and was later sponsored by the Ever-Ready Class, as its one project for the year. In recent years an art department has been added which has created much interest. Many amateur and professional artists from many parts of the state have exhibited their paintings.

The date of the show will be a week earlier than usual due to the fact that a preaching mission has been planned by the churches of Harrington from Sept. 9 to 16. Mrs. Coretta J. Mason will be the speaker at Asbury Church. So the date of the flower and art show will be Wednesday evening, September 5. Everyone in the community regardless of church affiliation is invited to make entries to either part of the show on Wednesday morning.

The judging will be that afternoon. The doors will be open at 7 p.m. A freewill offering will be received in the vestibule of Collins Hall. Homemade ice cream and cake will be on sale. Also a variety table will have many articles for sale.

Police Chief Resigns to Accept Construction Job

Chief of Police Ernest Kohland has resigned, effective as of last Saturday, to accept a position with a construction company.

He had been on the force six years and had been chief since March of 1959.

His replacement had not been chosen at press time.

City Manager George S. Graham won by an ample plurality in the contest for sheriff of Kent County in the primary contests Saturday.

Graham, a Democrat, polled 1305 votes against 950 for George Vincent, of Farmington, and Joshua Bennett, retired state policeman, of Dover, with 946.

In Kent County, only 4533 voters turned out to decide three Democratic and three Republican contests.

Maurice N. Jarrell's victory over Rep. Charles S. Richards was regarded as an upset in the 5th District Republican battle. Jarrell won 224 to 129.

Two election districts, heavily populated by Negroes, gave Jarrell 184 of his 224 votes. Richards cast the deciding vote last December to restore capital punishment—which Negroes believe is directed against them.

"That didn't go over to well with the colored (sic) folks," said County Republican Chairman Calvin Boggs.

Rep. Harvey P. Fifer, R, Rising Sun, beat Clinton Woollyhan, Camden, for renomination from the 7th District. The vote: 147 to 98.

Incumbent Fred B. Carey turned back George Pyott in the Republican contest in the 1st Levy Court District, 384 to 231.

Gooden Darling defeated William Opdyke in the 4th Representative District, 362 to 283, in a Democratic contest.

In the third Democratic contest, Rep. Glenn Busker, Smyrna, defeated George M. Blendt, 524 to 239. Busker serves Kent's 1st District.

17 Homes To Be Open During "Old Milford Days"

To celebrate the 175th anniversary of the founding of Milford and to raise funds for the restoration of the Parson Thorne Mansion, 17 homes and buildings will be opened during "Old Milford Days," Sat., Sept. 15, and Sun., Sept. 16. Ten of the homes and one building will be opened primarily for their historic interest, and three homes and three buildings will be open to exhibit collections of Milfordiana.

The Milford Historical Society has arranged for "Old Milford Days" and will sell tickets of admission to the open homes and buildings. The hours for the opening of the homes are 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on both days. The public buildings will be open from 11:00 a.m. on Saturday.

The homes and buildings to be open are: The Parson Thorne Mansion at 501 N. W. Front St.; the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Collins at 205 S.E. Front St.; Egginton Hall (Sunday only), summer home of Dr. and Mrs. William Marshall, Jr., at S.E. Southern States Advisory Board Members Elected

Ellwood B. Gruwell, of Felton, and Elbert Harrington, Jr., of Felton, were elected to the local Southern States Advisory Board at the annual membership meeting held in Harrington, Aug. 16. Over 30 stockholder-members and their families attended the session.

Also elected to the local Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee were: Mrs. Clarence Jarrell, Harrington, and Mrs. Robert Collins, Harrington.

William F. Parker, Harrington, was named chairman of the Advisory Board while Elbert Harrington, Jr., of Felton, was picked as secretary.

Historical Sketches of Christ Church, Milford, Founded in 1704

Written by the Rev. Joseph S. Hinks, retired pastor of Christ Church, Milford, in 1942.

In public life he sought to subvert and promote the public interest, and when he once agreed upon a rule of conduct or a settled policy he rarely departed therefrom. He was careful in his official appointments, strong in his convictions, firm in his opinions, and lacked not the courage to assert and maintain them.

Judge George P. Fisher, Vestryman of Christ Church, "Attorney General of the State of Delaware. Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia during the trying days of the Civil War. He presided in several famous trials, one of which was the case of the conspirators against the life of President Lincoln."

General A. T. A. Torbert, Vestryman of Christ Church, "born 1833—died 1880. Graduate of West Point Military Academy. Chief of Cavalry under Sheridan in the Civil War. Minister to Salvador. Married Miss Mary Currey, daughter of Daniel Currey, Consul General to Havana. Consul General to Paris. Died August 29, 1880."

Dr. Robert Y. Watson, Vestryman of Christ Church. Elected a vestryman in 1880 he served in this capacity, and as Senior Warden for many years, until his death in 1921. He represented the Parish at many of the Diocesan Conventions, including those that elected Bishops Kinsman and Cook.

John C. Truitt, Vestryman and Parish Secretary, has served the parish continuously since his election. He has been parish treasurer, junior warden and senior warden.

Daniel G. Collins has also served the parish in the capacity of vestryman since his election. He is our senior warden. Mr. Collins has been parish treasurer for some years; 1911-1923, 1926-1927, 1930.

James Stanton, elected to the Vestry in 1919 is our junior warden. He was elected to this office in 1923.

Bankston T. Holcomb, another member of our present vestry is a member of the executive council of the Diocese. He was elected to this office in 1940.

Both Mr. Collins and Mr. Stanton were delegates to the Diocesan Convention that elected the Rev. Arthur R. McKinstry, D.D. as Bishop of Delaware, in 1938. They were also present at the services of the Bishop's consecration, in the Cathedral Church of St. John, Wilmington, February 1939.

Dr. Frank L. Grier, Vestryman of Christ Church, was a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese, 1934-35.

Diocesan Conventions and the delegates, which were held in Christ Church:

1849, Dr. Wm. Burton, Dr. Robert A. Clarke; 1855, Dr. Wm. Burton, Thomas A. Wallace; 1864, Dr. William Burton, Hon. George P. Fisher; 1873, Manlove R. Carlisle, Robert H. Gilman; 1912, Dr. R. Y. Watson, S. J. Abbott; 1927, not recorded; 1934, D. G. Collins, B. T. Holcomb.

Some Notes on the Clergy
The Rev. Charles Inglis, D.D. (1759-63) became the rector of Trinity parish, N.Y.C. Later he was consecrated the first missionary bishop of the Church of England, 1787, for the Diocese of Nova Scotia.

The Rev. Samuel Magaw (1767-77) was elected provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Cory Chambers married Miss Sarah Virdon Lofland, sister of the Milford Bard, John Lofland.

The Rev. Samuel Giles and the Rev. Hugh Wilson, nephews of the Rev. Hugh Neill, (1750-56) who had been sent to England for ordination, were drowned on the return voyage, when "within sight of land."

From vestry minutes and registers:

"It is with very sincere regret that I have this month resigned the rectorate of Christ Church, Milford, where for 15 months I have had a very happy life amongst faithful and willing church people. We have built a mission room in S. Milford. The nursery I hope of a future church generation and I trust my successors will carry on the more particularly missionary work of the parish. — J. Holwell Geare, Rector elect of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada. September 30, 1891.

"The Vestry of Christ Church, Milford unanimously re-elected me, as their priest in charge, in May 1892.—R. Y. Watson stated the purpose of the meeting and nominated the Right Reverend F. J. Kinsman, who was unanimously elected Rector of Christ Church." November 4, 1917.

"The purpose of the meeting was to consider the resignation of F. J. Kinsman as rector of Christ Church. The resignation was accepted." March 3, 1918.

Some Explanatory Notes
I. From reports of the S.P.G. (Acknowledgement is made to Parish booklet, 1914, by the Rev. E. H. J. Andrews)

"The Rev. Thomas Crawford, (1704-09) after two year's work in Kent County reported in 1706: At my first coming I found the people all stuffed with various opinions, but not one in the place that was so much a Churchman as to stand Godfather for a child; so that I was two months in the place before I baptised any, on that account—but now (I thank God) I have baptised a great number, they bring their children with sureties very properly, to the Church; and also people of age a great many of the greater part whereof were Quakers and Quaker children for by God's blessing upon my labors I have not only gained the heart of my hearers, but some that were my greatest enemies at first, and Quakers that were fully resolved against me are come over and have joined themselves to our Communion. I have baptised families of them together, so that I have daily additions to the congregations."

"The Rev. Charles Inglis, who was in charge from 1759 to 1765, became Rector of Trinity Church, New York, in 1777, where he remained till 1783. For political reasons he was compelled to resign, becoming a refugee in England. In 1787 he became the Bishop of Nova Scotia—England's first Colonial Bishop. During the period of his ministry in Kent County, the Rev. Mr. Inglis, wrote in 1763, that his mission was in a flourishing state, if building and repairing churches, if crowds attending the public worship of God and other religious ordinances, if some of other denominations joining—and a revival of spirit of piety in many can denominate it such"; though there were "still left Luke warm-ness, Ignorance and Vice enough to humble me sufficiently and exercise," if he had it, "an apostolic zeal."

The Rev. Hugh Neill, 1750-56, wrote "Such alas! are the misfortunes, and I may say persecutions, that attend the poor, distressed Church of England in America, that whilst the Dissenters can send an innumerable tribe of teachers of all sorts without any expenses, we must send three thousand miles across the Atlantic Ocean at the expense of all we are worth, sometimes and as much more as we have credit for, as well as the risk of our lives, before we can have an ordination—this is a difficulty that has, and always will, prevent the growth of the church in America. Few Englishmen that can live at home will undertake the mission, the great expenses and dangers of the seas that the Americans must encounter with before they can obtain an ordination damps their spirit, and forces many of them (who have strong inclinations to the Church) to join the Dissenters, and become teachers among them, thus when a vacancy happens among them, it can be filled in an instant, when a vacancy among us (it) is some considerable time before they (we) can have a minister. All this time the dissenters making such havoc among the church people, that when a missionary comes to one of these destitute places, he has all his work to begin again and many years before he can collect the scattered sheep."

He continues, "The dissenters very well know that the sending of a Bishop to America would contribute more to the increase of the church here than all the money that has been raised by the venerable society—alas! We see and feel the power of our enemies and weakness of our friends and can only mourn in secret and pray for better times."

II. On the Great Awakening, Wesley, Asbury, Coke and the Methodist Movement.

Coke and Asbury who are credited with crystallizing this ethical movement into what later became the Methodist Church met at Barratt's Chapel. Out of this meeting, we are told, they planned its organization and methods. Thus the schism began and developed, much to the chagrin and indignation of both John and Charles Wesley. John Wesley wrote to Asbury:

"You and the doctor differ from me. I study to be little; you study to be great. I creep; you strut along. How can you, how dare you suffer yourself to be called a bishop? I shudder, I start at the very thought. Men may call me a knave, or a fool, a rascal, a scoundrel, and I am content; but they shall never by my consent call me a bishop. For my sake, for God's sake, for Christ's sake, put an end to this:—Let the Methodists know their calling better."

Bishop Coleman remarks: "In the light of subsequent events, it is interesting and significant to observe how conscious of their irregularities and churchlessness the early Methodists were. Asbury was horrified to learn that, during his imprisonment in Delaware for political reasons, his coreligionists had been ordaining one another. He quickly traveled to Virginia and has such 'ordinations' declared invalid."

The Bishop continues, "It is unquestionably sad to contemplate how much loss in every way has accrued from the separation which the Methodists finally consummated; but it is not altogether easy or safe at this distance to lay the blame upon the churchmen of that day. So far as one can judge from the records of their sentiments and actions, they were disposed to be conciliatory in the maintenance of their convictions and principles. It was not always prudent for them to confide in the proposals made them by the leaders of the new society, between whom there were at times a rivalry and jealousy which very much interfered with reaching a good understanding."

"Asbury had gone to America in 1771, and had been appointed by Wesley Superintendent of all the itinerant preachers in America in 1772. Asbury throughout the (Revolutionary) War maintained an attitude of strict neutrality, but in war time the neutral is often regarded as a dishonest enemy without the courage of his convictions. In Asbury's case, the suspicion was intensified by his refusal to take the oath of allegiance on the ground that this oath involved an undertaking to fight against England if so required. His life was often in danger at the hands of patriotic mobs, and on one occasion a shot narrowly missed hitting him. But the charm of his personality and the saintliness of his character gradually overcame all opposition, and as a result of his untiring labors, American Methodism actually increased during the War.

The American Methodists—became insistent in their demands that their own preachers should assume the powers to administer the sacraments. Asbury, however, persuaded them to take no overt action until they had an opportunity of consulting with Wesley. Wesley urged them to be patient and to avoid irregularity."

Coke, a priest of the Church of England, commissioned by John Wesley as a superintendent assumed the title of Bishop. "Coke, after arriving in America, ordained Asbury as a Deacon and Presbyter, and then an assistant superintendent, in other words as an assistant bishop."

Coke realizing the conditions that had developed; the extent of the schism, and his part in it; the lack of unity and of real authority in the new Society; "had several interviews with Bishop White (Philadelphia), who was always very kind and conciliatory. He (Coke) corresponded also with Bishop Seabury. More than once he suggested to Mr. Asbury that he and Mr. Asbury be consecrated by them as bishops of the Methodist Society within the Church."

Copy of certificate given to the Rev. Thomas Coke by John Wesley:

"To all whom these presents shall come. John Wesley, late Fellow of Lincoln College, Presbyterian of the Church of England, sendeth with greeting. Whereas many of the People in the Southern Provinces of North America who desire to continue under my care, and still adhere to the doctrines and discipline of the Church of England, are greatly distressed for want of ministers to administer the Sacrament of Baptism and the Lord's Supper according to the usage of the said Church.

And whereas there does not appear to be any way of supplying them with ministers. Know all men that I, John Wesley, think myself to be providentially called at this time to set apart some persons for the work of the ministry in America. And therefore under the Protection of Almighty God, and with a single eye to His glory, I have this day set apart, as superintendent, by the imposition of my hands and prayer (being assisted by other ordained ministers).

Thomas Coke, Doctor of Civil Law, a Presbyter of the Church of England, a man whom I judge to be well qualified for the great work. An I do hereby recommend him to all whom it may concern as a fit person to preside over the Flock of Christ. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this second day of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-four."

Signed, John Wesley
"If John Wesley had been content to wait but three short months to send his "superintendent" his followers in America would have had in the above named Bishop Seabury, a true successor of the Apostles, a Bishop after Wesley's own heart, and one, too, who would have gladly (as he told Charles Wesley) have ordained all the lay preachers in America who were fit to receive Holy Orders."

The imposition of hands of Wesley on Coke had been in secret, when the former was confined by age and feebleness to his bedroom. Now Asbury asked a similar favor of Coke, who proceeded to grant it, in conjunction with a German minister."

"These are (John Wesley's) last words on this subject: "I have never had any design of separating from the church: I have no design now; I do not believe the Methodists in general design it. I do, and I will do, all in my power to prevent such an event. —I declare, once more, that I live and die a member of the Church of England, and that none who regard my judgment will ever separate from it."

The Rev. John Wesley died March 2, 1791. His farwell message, which was to become a watchword, came clear and strong—

"The best of all is God is with us. Bless the Church and King, and grant me truth and peace through Jesus Christ our Lord. Farewell."

In order to understand the social, industrial, economic and spiritual conditions that produced such a movement as inaugurated by the Wesleys; that justified their endeavors to give to the circumstances that prevailed in England a religious and moral revival; let us refer to a brief review of the 18th century England.

"The conditions of England during the opening decades of the 18th century—the moral temperature was depressed. There were hardly any schools. Politics were corrupt. Literature was unclean. The prisons were full and unspeakably loathsome.

Labor was rewarded with starvation wages. Christian men carried on a trade in slaves. As for Puritanism had spent its force religion—it was at a low ebb, and no dynamic faith possessed the souls of men. Non-conformity worn out by its long struggle for existence had lost its virility. Inside the churches fervour was frowned upon and the preaching was frigid, formal and argumentative.

Into such a world—John Wesley came with cleansing fire and the religious Revival which they

(John and Charles Wesley) initiated, perhaps more than any other factor saved the soul of England. The Country was hurrying on to one of the most critical periods in its history and the shadows of the approaching industrial revolution were already darkening the people's life. The revival furnished the nation with a moral background and a religious faith which enabled it to meet the crisis without enduring the agencies that overtook France. More it raised the moral temperature of the nation that a whole range of reforms became possible. It gave the first impulse to our popular education; it hastened on sanitary reform, law reform, prison reforms, the care of the sick, and the abolition of slaves. As for the churches, it pulled them out of stagnation; but it went beyond them—into the highways and hedges, the market places and villages, the prisons—with a boundless enthusiasm and illimitable love of men. At the heart of it all was a hymn book, John Wesley had learned the value of the hymn as an aid to the devout life of the Meravians."

The above outlines Wesley's movement in England which followed the Industrial Revolution, a period of great economic and social depression. It was also the beginning of a great material advance, due to the improvements created by the Industrial Revolution. Bishop Gore, in his book "Christ and Society" quotes Shelley's Expansion of England: "Taken together, the whole successful development which culminated at Utrecht (1713) secularized and materialized the English people, as nothing had ever done before. Never were sordid motives so supreme, never was religion and high influences so much discredited, as in the thirty years which followed."

Albert D. Warren is recuperating at his home after being a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital. Mr. Warren was injured last week as a result from a blow out of a front tire on his truck.

Watering the Garden - Not A Simple Task

Watering the garden seems a simple enough job. But George Vapaa, Kent County agent, warns that a lot of the problems he observes in gardens around the county are caused by improper watering techniques. Too much water can be just as harmful as not enough. On the other hand, many home owners think they are supplying their gardens with just the right amount of water when actually the supply is hardly enough to be felt.

Vapaa says watering should not start until the soil feels dry. Then it should be thoroughly soaked until it is moist to a depth of six inches to a foot. Use a trowel to determine how far the water has penetrated. There is no rule of thumb to tell how much water this will take. Different soils require different amounts of moisture to penetrate to this depth, the agent points out. Such a watering will take care of your garden even under drought conditions for a week or ten days.

A thorough saturation may require as much as three hours time before the water has reached the desired depth. Light frequent sprinklings, which many home-owners are inclined to perform, only wet the surface and are more beneficial to crabgrass than any lawn or garden crops. Usually light sprinklings cause the plant roots to grow toward the surface becoming shallow rooted and thus highly susceptible to a drought, the agent points out.

Watering the garden in the evening is generally considered to be the most favorable time because the water will penetrate into the soil without excess evaporation. While this is a common practice, Vapaa warns that wet foliage at night may help to spread diseases. To avoid this, water either with a device that does not wet foliage, or apply water early enough in the evening so that foliage dries before dark.

Watering the garden with a porous hose is probably the best method. It delivers water to a large area without wetting the foliage, or causing the soil to wash. And it is effective on slopes and rolling terrain. On level ground, removing the nozzle and letting the water run out slowly on a board, handful of straw or piece of canvas will reduce washing.

Sprinklers moisten larger areas than a porous hose and are easy to operate. But, Vapaa says sprinklers are usually not left in operation long enough to deeply moisten the soil and under certain conditions do not provide for uniform moisture distribution in the soil.

Food Fads Bad Risk For Good Health

Ten million Americans waste over $500 million a year on quack diets, fake pills, food supplements and false claims of the quacks, self-styled "nutrition experts" and medicine men.

Miss Janet Coblentz, foods and nutrition specialist with the University of Delaware, warns consumers against falling for these food fads and the claims of these quacks.

In disproving many of the common beliefs of dieting and home remedies, she answers some of the most common questions that concerned consumers ask:

Q—Can a "perfect" meal be purchased in liquid or tablet form?

A—No. Bulk or roughage, so necessary for body functioning, does not come in tablet or liquid form. To meet the entire needs of the body a variety of food is necessary.

Q—Is it dangerous to eat foods which have been cooked in aluminum vessels.

A—There is no scientific evidence that cooking in aluminum will harm anyone. Many foods naturally contain small amounts of aluminum. The amount absorbed during cooking is so small it would not be harmful.

Q—If one takes "reducing pills" can he eat whatever he wishes and still lose weight?

A—Drugs to depress the appetite should never be taken except under the close direction of a competent physician. The drugs themselves do not cause weight loss or influence the variety of foods chosen. They only help control the quantity of foods eaten.

Q—Are the "special low calorie" breads important in a reducing diet?

A—The average slice of white bread is about 1/2 inch thick and contains approximately 60 calories. Most of the advertised "low calorie" bread is less than 1/2 inch thick. Naturally it contains fewer calories. Our enriched bread is a good source of iron, B vitamins and other nutrients. Some should be eaten each day.

Q—Are "liquified vegetables" or "raw vegetable juices" like carrot juice or celery juice higher in food value than the vegetables themselves?

A—Watch out for someone who wants to sell a gadget with which to prepare these juices. Raw vegetable juice has no more food value than the vegetables from which it is made. If you cannot chew some vegetables cook them correctly. You still have a good food.

Q—Are honey and apple cider vinegar taken together good for digestive disorders, constipation, high blood pressure, heart disease and other disorders?

A—Medical science does not show this to be true.

Beware of miracle foods, reducing products, mail order products, house-to-house vitamin dealers, health food lecturers and "popular" books on nutrition.

Miss Coblentz says your well balanced meals should include milk, meat, eggs, fruits, vegetables, cereals and breads. Remember that overweight results from overeating. When ill consult your physician.

White Marlin Tournament Sept. 7 - 13

The fourth annual White Marlin Tournament sponsored by the Ocean City Marlin Club will be held here Sept. 7 through 13. This is an all-tackle tournament and fishermen may enter using private or charter boats.

Prizes will be awarded for the largest fish by weight in each of the following categories:

Sailfish, dolphin, barracuda, bonita, wahoo, broadbill, swordfish, and tuna. Although this is primarily a white marline tournament, an angler catching a blue marlin will be suitably honored.

All fish will be weighed at the dock. All scales will be tested and adjusted by the official IGFA weighmaster.

Each white marlin weighed in and entered will be scored one point per pound. All released white marlin are scored 75 points. point per pound whichever is larger.

Points for white marlin are cumulative for one day only. The awards banquet and dance will be held Saturday evening, Sept. 15, at the Pier Ballroom, boardwalk and Wicomico Street.

The third annual white marlin tournament held here last year from September 4 through 9 was most successful with a total of 241 white marlin recorded.

Weekly winners of the amateur fishing contest sponsored by the mayor and city council are as follows:

Striped bass—6 lbs., caught by Robert B. Forwood, Prospect Park, Pa., from the inlet using bucktail.

Trout—1 lb. 14 oz., caught by Sam Villani, Jr., West Ocean City, Md., from the Synepuxent Bay using squid.

If the white marlin is mounted it will be scored 75 points or one Flounder—11 lbs., 5 oz., caught by George Burris, New Castle, from the upper Synepuxent Bay using shinner and bucktail.

Profitable Year For Home Fed Feeder Calves

Livestock producers who have adequate grain supplies may be dollars ahead by feeding out their calves this fall, says George Vapaa Kent County agent. Many farmers who read of large cattle feeding operations are often misled to believe that it is not profitable to feed cattle on a small scale.

It is true, Vapaa indicates, that many small operators who are forced to purchase their calves, buy their grain and other special facilities and supplies may not find much profit in cattle feeding, but, he adds, farmers who produce both grain and feeder calves have a definite advantage.

In the first place, the agent says the man with grain and calves can save transportation and handling charges. He runs no risk of shipping fever, colds and other problems that affect feeder calves and there is no shrink. Calves already on the farm can gain a two or three week advantage over calves that are purchased. Heifer and steer calves that have run together all their lives can usually be kept together until the heifers are sold. This means low cost bulk self feeders which cut labor and feeding facilities to a minimum can be utilized.

Vapaa says calves best suited for this system are heavy, high quality calves, those that grade good in choice and weigh between 500 and 600 pounds. Steer calves are usually ready for market after six months of full feeding. Heifers which are usually marketed 100 to 150 pounds lighter can be ready in four to five months.

It will take about 40 bushels of corn, 325 pounds of soybean meal, 26 pounds of limestone, and 25 pounds of salt to put 450 pounds of gain on a 500 pound steer.

Feed should be kept in front of the animals at all times. Steer calves fed a good ration and implanted with stilbesterol should gain two and one-half to three pounds daily. Heifers will gain a little less.

Meal and minerals will cost about $14. If the gain is worth 25 cents per pound, the returns to labor, management and the 40 bushels of corn is $98.50 per steer. Using similar estimates for heifers, the returns to labor, management and 30 bushels of corn would be about 70 dollars per head.

U. of D. Cited For Poultry Research And Education

The University of Delaware has been awarded a certificate of recognition by the Poultry and Egg National Board. The scroll was presented to Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University, as part of the Board's activities in recognizing outstanding leadership in poultry research and consumer education by Land-Grant colleges and universities throughout the country.

The scroll reads in part, "The Poultry and Egg National Board, a non-profit industry supported organization for consumer information and research, publicly and gratefully acknowledges the contribution of the University of Delaware in leadership training, program building, and unstinting co-operation with the poultry industry to the betterment of both the producers of poultry products and the great American consuming public."

In acknowledging the award, Dr. George M. Worrilow, vice-president of the University and dean of the School of Agriculture, said, "We are grateful for this recognition and look forward to continue cooperation with the Poultry and Egg National Board."

HE'S A CHAMPION, TOO

Unless you read your morning paper rather closely last Thursday you may have missed a simple three-paragraph statement which was every bit as important to America's space program as the headline-making flights of John Glenn and Scott Carpenter.

The speaker was a man who, but for one of those quirks which frequently influence the course of history, might have been the second U. S. man in orbit. The slightly irregular action of his heart deprived him of the chance to fly the mission which ultimately was assigned to Carpenter. Now, that relatively minor, but quite important, disorder has removed his name from the roster of astronauts completely.

"Naturally I'm greatly disappointed," Donald K. (Deke) Slayton declared when the doctors made the announcement. Then he continued with these significant words:

"For more than three years I have been training and looking forward to an early flight assignment. But I am ready to do whatever is needed.

"I'll work wherever management feels I can best contribute to the program."

It takes guts to be able to swallow bitter disappointment and make such a disappointment. In his own particular way, Deke Slayton has proved himself at least as courageous as the more-publicized Glenn and Carpenter and their successors.

Most observers quickly labeled John Glenn "the personification of America's hero image." Just as quickly they embraced Scott Carpenter as "the erst-while bad boy who proved he has what it takes after all." We respectfully nominate Deke Slayton for a similarly impressive title—the good team player who is more interested in winning the game than in acquiring personal acclaim.

As he goes about his new engineering and operational planning duties, the "grounded" Air Force major can be sort of a living symbol of all the unsung heroes who wintered with Washington at Valley Forge, stormed San Juan Hill with Teddy Roosevelt or shared Bataan's Death March with "Skinny" Wainwright.

He can become something of an inspiration, too, to every high school kid who gives the best that's in him and then has to reconcile himself to being a second-stringer in athletics.

This is a big world, but there's room for only a few at the pinnacle of success in any given field. Perhaps more frequently than we realize, only a stroke of luck separates the "winners" from the "also-rans." Deke Slayton probably has been deprived of a place in the history book by just such a "break."

In our book (and we hope in the minds of loyal Americans everywhere,) he's a champion all the same.

SEAT BELTS

Something new will be added to our summertime travel as Wisconsin motorists take to the road this year.

And the living will be easier, too, as hundreds of 1962 model automobiles, all equipped with seat belts, carry their passengers on weekend, vacation, and pleasure trips from one end of the state to another.

For seat belts do save lives, and this will be the first summer for the state law which requires that all new automobiles be equipped with two seat belts in the left and right front seats.

The case of seat belts has been clearly established, and every car should have them. Not only do they save lives, but they also reduce the frequency and severity of injuries to drivers and passengers involved in accidents.

They do this by reducing a person's chance of being thrown from a car in an accident. According to safety officials, the safety risk is five times as great for persons ejected as it is for persons who remain inside the automobile.

By keeping you within your car, seat belts prevent you from being thrown into the path of other traffic or from striking fixed objects or the pavement. They also lessen the chances of hitting your head against the windshield or dashboard.

Seat belts provide the maximum protection, however, only when they meet the specifications required by the State Motor Vehicle Department. They also must be installed with the straps anchored to the basic structure of the car, and this should be done by an experienced person.

Needless to say, safety belts can save lives only when they ARE WORN. Once one is in the habit, they are little bother and require only five seconds' time to fasten. And since the majority of all highway fatalities occur within 25 miles of the victims' homes, they should be used every time you or your passengers enter the car.

Most of us have good reason to welcome seat belts to the season's travel picture. Whether it's a weekend jaunt or a two-week tour, they'll certainly make our trip safer, and quite possibly happier, as well.

POLITICAL MERRY-GO-ROUND

The fall election is more than three months away, but already the political merry-go-round is gathering speed, as the party leaders engage in their traditional methods of confusing the people.

Charges are made against parties and candidates; the charges may be true, but if so, they are usually exaggerated; they may be only suspicions or rumors, but they are given publicity anyway.

Then, of course, the charges are denied by the ones against whom they are directed — with facts, if possible, but always with loud denunciations and the hurrying of countercharges.

The ancient political theory back of all this is that attacks on "the other fellow" always attracts attention and may help to influence the voter; it is hoped that the persons who hear or read the charges will miss the denials.

So the merry-go-round noisily whirls away; there is little chance that the voter will get from it much information on the issues, or on the qualifications of the candidates. It is not intended that he should. The purpose is to confuse him.

About the only fact that stands out amid all the uproar is that the merry-go-round is operating for the benefit of those who are out to get something for themselves. Candidates with public office; labor unions want special treatment for their members; business organizations want the way cleared for more profits.

Yet, confusing as it is, the political merry-go-round is the method by which the voter must get the information he needs to vote intelligently. He must try to sift fact from fiction; distinguish between loud talking and sincerity; check for himself on the performance of the parties and individuals who are now making such rosy promises. It's not easy; but it's part of the price of living in a country where free speech prevails and where the citizen has the right to vote for whom he pleases.

G. O. P. PICKS

The dramatic convention fight was not over until nearly 12 hours after the semi-annual shindig got under way at 1 p.m. in the sweltering Dover armory.

Both Snowden and Buckson acted as hosts to delegates, friends and well-wishers following the convention. The post-mortem went on almost until day-break.

The convention decision will give Williams supporters a chance to prove or disprove what they have been saying for more than two years—that he is the best vote-getter in the Republican party.

After James T. McKinstry defeated Williams for the congressional nomination in 1960, and subsequently lost the election to Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D-Del., Williams supporters had claimed Williams could have won "in a breeze."

Now he will get the chance against McDowell, the probable Democratic nominee.

Snowden reached his high-water mark on the first ballot, when he wound up in a flat-footed tie with Williams, 72-72, with Spicer hitting his top count of 59.

Despite open support of Williams by the New Castle County Levy Court and by Wilmington GOP Chairman Clayton S. Harrison Jr., Snowden still managed to garner a majority of the New Castle County and city votes on the first ballot. It was to be his only victory of the night.

The night session got underway at 7:05 p.m. and the speeches, including the keynote address by U.S. Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Col., were over within 40 minutes. At 7:45 the nominating speeches and the rather feeble demonstrations were staged.

By 9 p.m. the first roll call was over and the convention recessed. It was a neck-and-neck race between Snowden and Williams throughout much of the balloting with Snowden pulling a little ahead in Wilmington and New Castle County and Williams evening the score in Kent.

Spicer did not get a vote until far down in the roll call of the Kent delegates. He ended up with seven votes from Kent and the solid 52 of Sussex, which was the only delegation to vote as a unit. Wilmington split 25 for Snowden and 22 for Williams while rural New Castle County divided its vote 27 for Snowden and 24 for Williams and seven for Spicer.

On the second ballot Williams picked up nine votes, mainly in Kent County where there were numerous switches. Snowden lost four and Spicer lost six. One delegate was absent. The count on the second ballot was Snowden 68, Williams 81, Spicer 53 for a total of 202.

In Wilmington a switch of two votes from Snowden to Williams brought the second ballot count in Wilmington to 26 for Snowden and 24 for Williams. There was one switch in the other direction in the New Castle County delegation, resulting in a count of 28 for Snowden and 23 for Williams.

Kent County's numerous switches brought this result: Snowden 14; Williams 34; Spicer one, with one delegate absent.

Only Sussex was unchanged, solid for Spicer. After the second ballot, at 10 p.m., there was a new recess and more caucuses were held.

After the second ballot, the delegates from four New Castle County hundreds convened in the Senate chamber across the street from the Dover Armory. These delegates were from Brandywine, Christiana, White Clay Creek and New Castle Hundreds.

They voted to reject a "deal" whereby Snowden's supporters would join forces with Sussex compromise candidate — either County to attempt to put across a Best or Snowden.

The Republicans opened their hotly fought convention with morning caucuses that turned out to be routine. The caucuses refrained from endorsing candidates and merely went through the usual selection of nominees for the state committee and members of convention committees.

The afternoon was likewise devoted to routine. The convention met for an hour, during which delegates listened politely to a speech by Roth, proved they were awake by applauding a motion to dispense with the reading of the roll of delegates and received reports from caucus chairmen and convention committees.

A minority report from the rules committee, offered by a Sussex delegate, proposed a change to prohibit a recess during a roll call on a nomination. Roth said that as chairman he would rule there can be no such recess, and he suggested no change was needed in the rules. None was made.

The significance of the move was that Kent County delegates were said to be planning to ask for a recess after the Wilmington and New Castle County delegates voted, with the idea of throwing Kent support to any candidate who could then be put over with Kent's 50 votes. If that occurred the decision would be over before the balloting got to Sussex.

The brief platform was adopted.

The new state committee, elected by accepting the caucus choices, contains only six changes among the 68 members, and those are without significance, a GOP official said.

GOP

state with no consideration of selfish gain."

The platform renewed a pledge for establishment of a cabinet form of government, a strong merit system for all state employees through an independent Civil Service Commission, fair salaries for teachers and other state employees, an independent state police force and a call for an early constitutional convention.

Only two planks appeared to have resulted from yielding to special pressure groups.

One called for "equal geographic representation on the Public Service Commission." This plank apparently stemmed from northern New Castle County's water problems. All three USC members live south of the C & D Canal, although each county is represented.

The second called for "prompt use of state resources to relieve disaster areas." This plank apparently was included at the insistence of some Sussex County Republicans who have been feuding with Gov. Elbert N. Carvel over release of recovery funds in the wake of the March 6-8 storm.

In conclusion, the platform states: "We have supported our platform principles by word and deed in the General Assembly. We pledge ourselves to continue to fight for them, and if a Republican General Assembly is elected by the voters, we will achieve them."

"We will always stand ready to support these programs which are wanted and needed by the people of this state."

"Big Red" At Reese Aug. 24-25

Another big all-family treat is in store for theatre fans with the presentation of Walt Disney's "Big Red" at the Reese Theatre this Friday and Saturday, Aug. 24 and 25. Bobby Darin, Steve McQueen, Nick Adams are the stars in Paramount's new hit, "Hell is for Heroes," the co-feature of this unusual entertaining bill. Regular prices prevail under Walt Disney control which means all children under 12 must pay for this show only.

The policy of the Reese Theatre is to play pictures as soon as they are released. The management states that many times calls have been received from patrons asking the playdate of such a picture when that picture has already played weeks before. The management believes in many cases many pictures have been presented long before the theatre patron has heard about them.

Such a picture plays Sunday and Monday, Aug. 26 - 27, the big Columbia sensational expose of what is behind the scenes in Washington. The picture is adapted from the famous book, "Advise and Consent," the picture retaining the same name, and has Henry Fonda, Don Murray, Walter Pidgeon, Peter Lawford, and Gene Tierney as the stars.

To see it might be the answer to the mystery of the telephone call to Pearl Harbor and many other answers to what goes on in the inside. The management says, "It is so unusual in scope, you'll be hearing about "Advise and Consent" in days to come.

Wheat Quota Vote Set for August 30

Wheat growers will vote on Thurs., Aug. 30, on marketing service for the 1963 crop of wheat. The issues on which they will vote will be the same ones voted on for the 1961 wheat crop, as provided by permanent legislation in effect before the 1962 emergency program.

In announcing the date for the referendum, secretary of agriculture Freeman said:

"With winter wheat planting near at hand, time will not permit any further delay in completing arrangements for the 1963 wheat program. Any congressional action this summer on new legislation will apparently come too late to be put fully in effect for next year's wheat crop since farmers are at the time of year when their plans must be completed for the 1963-crop winter wheat seedings.

"It may still be possible for the Congress to enact legislation to be effective for the 1963 crop which would improve farm returns, avoid accumulation of stocks, and reduce government cost by continuing some of the features of the 1962 emergency wheat program. Holding the referendum on August 30 will not preclude this possibility."

Jacob Zimmerman, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, points out that, in general, the 1963 wheat program under existing legislation provides for farm acreage allotments set on the basis of a minimum 55-million-acre national wheat allotment. Minimum price support would be at a national average of $1.82 per bushel (75 per cent of parity) if farmers approve marketing quotas by at least a two-thirds vote in the August 30 referendum. Anyone harvesting wheat in excess of their allotment or fifteen acres, whichever is larger, would be subject to marketing quota penalties on their excess wheat under a quota program, (except those growers having prior approval to harvest up to thirty acres under the "feed wheat" provision).

If farmers disapprove marketing quotas, support for the 1963 wheat crop would be based on a national average of not less than $1.21 per bushel for cooperators (who stay within their acreage allotments), with no support for noncooperators.

All eligible voters are urged to cast ballots in the August 30 wheat quota referendum. Those eligible to vote are all growers in commercial wheat states who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1963, but not farmers taking part in the "feed wheat" program. (Under this "feed wheat" provision, wheat growers may arrange to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use as feed only on the farm where grown.)

Farmers will receive notices of their 1963 farm wheat allotments in advance of the referendum, the chairman said. Polling places will be announced by the local ASCS county office at an early date.

Asbury Society Plans Active Year

The Program Committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Asbury Methodist Church met at the church on August 17 to make final plans for its 1962-63 meeting. Those attending were Mrs. Floyd Nason, chairman; Mrs. Fulton Downing, president of the Society; Mrs. Oscar Gillette, Mrs. Theodore Harrington, Mrs. Earle Nelson, Mrs. William W. Sharp, Mrs. Elmer A. Smith, and the Rev. Olin J. Shockey, Jr.

The first meeting of the society will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 4, at 7:30 in the Pathfinder's Room. The program books containing all pertinent dates, members, program topics, and leaders will be distributed on this date also. The varied calendar of events and programs for the coming year should prove most interesting and helpful for all of the membership. A good attendance is hoped for in order that these details may be learned first-hand.

An innovation this year will be a covered dish luncheon honoring Mrs. Corretta Mason during her Evangelistic Mission at Asbury. The luncheon will be held in Collins Hall, Tues., Sept. 11, at 12:30 p. m. All Methodist women of the community are cordially invited to attend and to avail themselves of the opportunity to meet Mrs. Mason. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish, place setting and 25 cents. Mrs. Frank Derrickson, chairman of the Local Church Activity Committee, will be in charge of arrangements.

Starting on October 9 and continuing for four weeks thereafter, the Rev. Mr. Shockey will teach one of the approved study courses of the year, entitled, "Today's Children for Tomorrow's World." At the regular society meeting on October 2, he will outline for the members the study course and touch on some of the main topics for discussion and study during the course.

November 6 has been designated as "District Officers Visitation Night." The Women's Society of Trinity Church has invited the members of Asbury Society to meet with them on this date to welcome Mrs. Edgar Timmons, Dover District President, and others of her staff.

These are but a few of the plans for the coming year at Asbury Woman's Society. All women of the church are urged to join this most important body of the church. Membership in the society brings a rich reward in fellowship and spiritual development.

Gwinn Named To 4-H Foundation

Dr. Sam M. Gwinn, associate director of extension with the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, was presented a certificate recently designating him a "Member of the Corporation" of the National 4-H Foundation, Washington, D. C.

The formal presentation was made by Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, in behalf of W. A. Sutton, chairman of the board of trustees of the 4-H Foundation.

The "Members of the Corporation" represent their State Extension Service in providing advice, counsel and guidance in the programs and operation of the National 4-H Club Foundation. The Foundation's charter designates each State Extension Director or his representative, the administrator of the federal extension service and the members of the Board of Trustees to be "Members." Their annual meeting is held in November at the time and place of the sessions of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

The National 4-H Club Foundation is a part of the "Land-Grant family," which is this year celebrating its 100th anniversary. Chartered in 1948, the Foundation is assigned to "complement and assist the Cooperative Extension Service, with primary emphasis on youth programs, in ways not readily supported by public funds." In so doing, the Foundation has responsibility for securing and using private funds.

Since its founding, more than $6 million has been raised and expended by the 4-H Foundation through its "Service to Youth" programs in citizenship education, leadership development, and international understanding. 4-H club boys and girls from Delaware have taken advantage of many of the programs sponsored by the Foundation. Recently, four boys and girls from Kent County participated in the 4-H citizenship shortcourse at the National 4-H Center. Another popular program utilizing funds of the 4-H Foundation is the International Farm Youth Exchange. Through this program, Delaware 4-Hers have visited foreign lands and have hosted youngsters from other countries. At present, there is an IFYE delegate from the Netherlands visiting in Delaware.

Supper and Bazaar At Trinity Church

The annual fall turkey supper, sponsored by the O.U.R. Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church, will be held in the new auditorium of the church on Saturday, Sept. 29. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Tickets will be on sale by members of the class after September 15.

On the same day, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Church will hold their annual fall bazaar. As usual the bazaar will be set up in the old auditorium at the rear of the sanctuary, and will feature aprons, candy and cakes, needlework, a variety booth and a white elephant table. Mrs. Earl Sylvester, who is chairman of the bazaar, with her committee, are working diligently to make this their most outstanding bazaar and cordially invite all those attending the turkey supper, as well as other residents of Harrington and vicinity to visit this annual affair.

Christmas Seal Design Contest Underway

Delaware artists have been invited to submit designs for the Christmas Seal.

Frank F. Pierson, Jr., executive secretary of the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, said that a nationwide contest is being held to select designs for the 1964 seal. A first prize of $1000 is offered.

The TB official urged wide participation in this competition, since America's first Christmas seal was designed by a Delawarean, Miss Emily P. Bissell, of Wilmington.

One Wilmington artist, Walt Stan, won honorable mention in the contest a couple years ago, but it has been several decades since the design selected for the Seal was created by a resident of the state.

Designs for the present competition must be submitted by October 1.

The creator of a Christmas seal design receives national publicity, through all tuberculosis associations. Hundreds of newspapers carry news entries about the Christmas Seal and its designer. The story is also covered by publication in the graphic arts and advertising field, and by philatelic magazines and syndicated stamp columns.

From 1907 through the Red Cross was included in the design of the Christmas seal. In 1919 the double-barred cross, the registered trademark of the National Tuberculosis Association, and the Red Cross were both incorporated in the Seal. Starting in 1920, and continuing each year since, the design of the Christmas Seal has carried only the double-barred cross. Together, the Seal and the double-barred cross have been the banner around which the voluntary battle against tuberculosis.

Details on the sign and form of design to be submitted may be obtained by writing to the Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society, 1308 Delaware Avenue, Wilmington.

Blue Cross, Blue Shield Protect 19-Year-Olds As 'Family' Until Year-End With Blue Cross and Blue Shield, children are now part of "families" longer than ever. Under a newly expanded provision of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Family Contract, your dependent children who are not married are protected until the last day of the year in which they become 19. This means that, if your son is 19 on August 30, 1962, for example—his Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage under your Family or Subscriber and Child(ren) Contract continues until December 31, 1962. At that time, however, he automatically ceases to be covered as a dependent on your contract. Before the coverage period was increased for 19-year-olds, hospital-surgical-medical care for your son or daughter was provided under your Family or Subscriber and Child(ren) Contract only until the first of the month following his or her 19th birthday. AFTER 19, children who attend school or college full-time, anywhere, are eligible for Student Contracts at special rates. 19-year-olds who are not in school are eligible for Individual Contracts. Just as the thousands of member-families in Delaware know that their dollar spent for Blue Cross and Blue Shield health protection still goes a long way, so children want this same unique coverage after 19. Your son or daughter appreciates your foresight in arranging for his or her personal Blue Cross and Blue Shield contract. There's no finer 19th birthday gift! TRANSFER of coverage is easily arranged by parents and/or 19-year-olds. For full information and application, you are invited to write or phone Blue Cross and Blue Shield—or talk to the group representative where you work. It pays to know your contract and all that it provides. Study it carefully. Blue Cross and Blue Shield want you to understand and receive all the benefits to which you are entitled. Call on them any time they can be of assistance to you. See the group representative where you work, or call any office. Group Hospital Service, Inc., Wilmington, Dover, Milford, and Seaford. Delaware Blue Cross and Blue Shield publish this advertisement in an effort to keep members informed of the scope of their benefits and how best to use them.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I have heard that many veterans and widows are not taking advantage of VA pension plans that would give them more money. Is that true?

A—Yes. Apparently thousands do not fully understand the new pension law and the VA is still anxious to explain all the facts. Suggest you contact or write to nearest VA office.

Q—I am in the armed forces overseas and plan to enter training under the War Orphans Education program. I understand the VA is authorized to provide transportation at Government expense to and from my place of vocational counseling. How can this be arranged when I am overseas?

A—It cannot be arranged. VA does not provide vocational counseling overseas nor can travel be authorized back to this country for such counseling. You should decide where you will go to school when you return to this country. If you then write to a VA regional office near that school, advising when you will be there for counseling, time will be saved in setting up your counseling appointment.

Q—Do the Veterans Affairs Offices of the State Department act as an overseas arm of the Veterans Administration?

A—The offices have the function of administering directly VA educational and training benefits and VA medical care and treatment benefits for eligible veterans in the countries comprising Western Europe and in Mexico. In addition, the offices furnish information and assistance to veterans, their dependents and beneficiaries on the full range of veterans matters, as do U. S. embassies and consular offices throughout the world.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

The Rev. Quay D. Rice, Vicar.

Tenth Sunday after Trinity. 8 a.m. Holy Communion 10:30 a.m. Choir Rehearsal 11 a.m. Morning prayer and sermon.

11:30 a.m. Church school film. The flowers are given to the glory of god and in loving memory of Mrs. J. R. Phillippi by Sgt. and Mrs. Alvin Donophan.

Tues., 10 a.m. Holy Communion and LOH.

Thurs., 7 p.m., Jr. Choir rehearsal.

Sunday at 2:30 p.m., St. Stephen's youth play St. Martin's-in-the-Field of Selbyville, in softball. At press time, we think the game will be played at the Moose field, but all players and rooters are to meet at the church. Notice that we take it for granted that the adults will participate in the grandstands. The youth rightly desire and expect this.

Please note that both the Junior and Senior Choirs will resume Thursday evening rehearsals beginning this week on Aug. 30. The Junior Choir will meet at 7 p.m. and the Senior Choir at 8 p.m. These groups are not complete by any means and we would welcome any and all who enjoy singing. Sept. 9, the Junior Choir will begin singing with the Senior Choir at each 11 a.m. service. This will enable the members of the Junior Choir to become a more integral part of the musical program of St. Stephen's Church.

The Clending garage has taken on a new look, but not new enough. We wonder if all attics and trunks and last year's wardrobes have been ransacked (??) as of now. Please give the men of St. Stephen's your help in this regard. This sale will be held on Sept. 8.

There will be a Corporate Holy Communion and breakfast for the

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

A group of boys, who will be competing on various sports teams at Harrington High this year, were given physical examinations at the school on Wednesday morning. Later several of them were seen lounging in the business district puffing on the well-known noxious weeds. This latter group will undoubtedly contain a high percentage of also-rans, who want the prestige of participating, who want the thrill of wearing the school sports uniform, but do not want to make the sacrifices that the top boys invariably must make.

A group of local harriers are planning to compete in a two mile run to be held at American University, Washington, D. C., on Wednesday evening, August 29. These lads are trying to stay in shape all summer in order to get a flying start when cross-country practice starts at Harrington High early in September.

Boys who may make the trip are Bob Smith, George Bonniwell, Wayne Carson, David Brobst, Dennis Rogers and Bob Beene.

Tim Strohl, of Hinsdale, Ill., was in town last week. Tim competed in track, football and wrestling at H.H.S. the last two years.

Bill Young of Felton High and Fred Lawton, of North Carolina High, Denton, were important cogs in the Dover American Legion team this summer. The Dover team was the best in Delaware and competed in sectional finals at the University of Maryland, College Park. Young got three hits and Lawton had two when Dover edged Cumberland, Md., by one run. The state capitol boys then dropped one run decisions to Washington, D. C. and Paterson, N. J.

Bob Wilson of Harrington, won the demolition derby at Georgetown Speedway recently. This sport involves putting a fleet of battered cars on the track and having them crunch each other until only one is left in operation. Apparently Bob is still the same irrepressible cuss who starred on the first H.H.S. football team a few years back. Bob was a speedy, 175 pound battering-ram of a halfback, who gloriied in body contact. He once told this writer that as far as pigskin opponents were concerned, that he "loved to run over 'em." If one wants to play football this is the proper attitude.

Quick Lady, the fastest aged mare of the 1962 season racked up the third fastest time of the Brandywine Raceway meet when she was clocked in 2:00 4/5 in winning the $10,000 Delaware County Invitational Pace recently.

Owner Olin Davis, of Harrington, was in the sulky.

Another male versus female softball contest was played at the Moose Home Wednesday night with Ted Layton's Pony League pitted against the older girls' team. This game proved to be another close contest as the boys' team came out on top 14-12. They had previously been beaten by the girls by a one run margin.

Thursday night (tonight) the older men are scheduled to play the Harrington Women's team at the Moose Home at 7 o'clock.

Softball News

Games at the Moose Home now start at 7:30. The regular schedule has been completed as of the completion of Tuesday nights play except for five rained out games to move back into a tie for second place with Bill's Barber Shop. The Hotelmen beat the Barbbers 12-2 on Thursday night and trimmed the Jaycees 12-4 on Monday.

Friday night the Ruritan Club got by the Jaycees by a score of 7-4 but the league leaders were handed their third loss of the season on Tuesday night when they were vanquished by Bill's Barber Shop 11-3.

Jr. Football Registration

All boys who are interested in playing Jr. Football this fall are requested to register Sat., Aug. 25th. Registration will be at the high school from ten to eleven a.m. Registration fee is $2.

H.H.S. Football Season Begins Sept. 22

The Senior Lettermen returning to Harrington High School's football team are: Capt. Jeff Adams and Dave Harcum, Paul Rash, William Sollars, George Jerread, Ken Garey and late comer, Dickie Collins. Juniors—Wayne Collison, Ron Melvin, Stuar Greenberg, Ron Broce, Tom Lord, Barry Fry, William Adams, Randy Knox, Nelson Reed and Joe Taylor.

The Henlopen Conference record for 1961 was: Won 1, Tie 1, Lost 7.

The coaches are William Santo, a graduate of Arnold College and University of Bridgeport, and Mike Mock, a graduate of Lock Haven College.

A stronger team is expected this year and it is hoped it shows up in the win column. Desire is still something that is needed here. A few boys have come out and a few new boys have moved in town. This may be a helpful factor also. The coaches have stated that all positions are open and are up for grabs.

Legion Swim Meet And Social Evening Saturday

The first annual swim meet will be held Sat., Sept. 1, at the American Legion Pool in Harrington, under the sponsorship of the Callaway, Kemp, Raughley, Tee, Post No. 7. The program will start promptly at 9:30 a.m. and continue until all events are completed.

All members of the American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, social members, and their families are eligible to compete in the swimming and diving events.

The swimmers will be divided into age groups. There will be swim events for the 12 and under and 15 and under and the 16 and over. Boys and girls will compete in different divisions.

The events in which the children may enter are freestyle, backstroke, butterfly, breaststroke and the medley.

Trophies will be given to the swimmers compiling the most points in their age group. All swimmers placing first, second, or third, will receive ribbons. Time records will be posted and kept.

There will also be a diving contest for anyone interested in competing, with trophies being awarded to the persons finishing first, second and third. A special prize will be awarded to the female winner.

Another interesting event on the program will be a tube race. This is limited to non-swimmers so that they too may participate in this first annual swim meet.

At 1:30 p.m. a costumed baby parade will be held for children 5-years and under. Awards will be presented to best looking boy and girl, the funniest and most original costume and to the best couple.

Entry blanks may be obtained from William Santo, lifeguard at the American Legion Pool, or Robert Jester, activities chairman. Please fill in all the required information on the blank and return it to Mr. Santo or Mr. Jester no later than Fri., Aug. 31.

A social evening for adults only will be held Saturday evening, Sept. 1, beginning at 7 p.m. All members of the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, social members and guests are invited to attend.

There will be entertainment at the pool area and in the auditorium of the Legion Home. All children will be asked to leave the premises at 7 p.m.

The rain date for the swim meet is Mon., Sept. 3.

Harrington Beats Greenwood In Softball 10-9

A pickup team from the Harrington Softball League defeated the powerful Greenwood team from the Hickman League in an exhibition game played Saturday night at the Moose Home. The visitors are leading the Hickman League and had been expected to give the local boys their lumps.

Harrington was out hit 12-9 but still managed to eke out a 10-9 decision. Greenwood had a 6-0 lead after 2 1/2 innings but the home team scored in five of their next six turns at bat to ice the verdict.

George Collins was the winning pitcher, Chester Short, a former Harringtonian, was the loser. Bob Collins and Bob Wilson hit safely in the bottom of the eighth inning to score the winning run. Collins led the home team with three hits. Wilson had two as did Sheldon Hayman and George Collins to account for the teams nine hits.

Mrs. Andrew J. Willey

Mrs. Ella M. Willey, 78, a lifetime resident of Sussex County and the wife of Andrew Willey, died at the home of her daughter Monday after a short illness.

Mrs. Willey was married for 60 years last December.

She is survived by four children, Mrs. Cora Buckley, Ellendale; Amanda Willey, Georgetown; Andrew Willey, Jr., Milton, and Linwood Willey, Milford; 23 grandchildren, 42 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Fleischer Funeral Home, Greenwood. Interment was at McColey's Cemetery near Georgetown.

set at "the average pay of the majority of workers." Since the DuPont project is far and away the largest job in Sussex County, he said, it would naturally influence this average pay.

"Prevailing wage" is a minimum wage set for workers on a public project. These rates are reflected in contractors' costs which determine the bids they can offer on a contract.

Setting wage standards is a new development in Delaware. A law calling for such rates on state jobs was signed by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel in May.

Kent-Sussex unit objection to the Stockley rates was contained in a report on downstate activity made Monday night at an "educational" meeting of the newly organized New Castle unit of the Baltimore-based association.

Associated Builders now claims to have recruited 38 concerns in northern Delaware and that others have indicated a desire to join.

Officers of the northern Delaware unit will be elected in the near future. Joseph Remedio acted as chairman of Monday's meeting.

The group has a temporary mailing address at the offices of Clarence Burris & Sons, Inc., 3408 Lancaster Pike, Wilmington. It hopes eventually to set up a fulltime northern Delaware office and employ an executive secretary.

William J. Rosenthal, Baltimore attorney, spoke on wage and hour laws in the construction industry at the technical session attended by 35 members and prospective members.

Hughes Clan Holds Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Willis were host to the Hughes Clan Reunion Sunday on the Lam-Burt Farm near Old Shawnee Road, Milford. Elmer Hughes, Jr. of La Plata, Md., presided at a short business meeting. There were 92 members present traveling from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware. These members were the families of Eben Hughes and Ann Hughes Lister, Mrs. Eben Hughes, Mrs. Walter Hughes, and Mrs. Albert Hughes were honored members.

A cookout, swimming, pony rides and games were enjoyed.

Officers for the next year are Nellie Hughes of Felton president; Walter Moore of Felton, vice-president; Joe Hughes of Felton, secretary, and Elizabeth Abbott Tull of Seaford, treasurer.

Lone Dike Repair Bid Is $57,192

Henry C. Eastburn & Son, Newark, submitted the only bid, $57,142, for repairing the Dobbinville, Red Lion and Dragon Run dikes in New Castle County.

The contract was one of 10 for which the State Highway Department received bids at Dover Tuesday. Opening of bids for the repair and replacement of construction forms at Rehoboth was postponed until next week.

The Burger Construction Co., Dover, had the low bid of $14,360 for repairs to a bridge at the Woodland Beach causeway. The work is to be completed in 40 working days.

Eastern States Construction Co., Elsmere, was low at $11,210 for replacing the timber trestle at the South Fenimore Bridge over the Appoquinimink River in New Castle County. It is to be done in 30 working days.

Sinclair Refining Co. had the low bids for providing highway department diesel fuel requirements for Kent and Sussex Counties. The price for Sussex County is $11,506 and for Kent County, $7,746.

In close bidding the Phillips-Thompson Co., Wilmington, submitted the low bid of $13,320 for the sodium chloride requirements of the department of New Castle County.

American Oil Co., Baltimore, Md., was low at $4,830 for 17,000 pounds of chemical weed killer, and Mathews Brothers, Wilmington, was low at $1,942.96 for office supplies.

The Sinclair Refining Co. submitted another low bid of $7,733.30 for providing heating fuel oil for Kent County. The Peninsula Oil Co., Seaford, had the low bid of $5,989 for furnishing heating fuel oil for Sussex County.

Other bidders, and the amount of their bids on the various contracts, were as follows:

Woodland Beach bridge: Henry C. Eastburn & Son, Newark, $17,957.50.

South Fenimore bridge: Spearin, Preston & Burrows, Philadelphia, $16,855; Middle Atlantic Co., Wilmington, $17,990; Henry C. Eastburn & Son, Newark, $18,169.

Sussex diesel fuel: Pure Oil Co., $12,578.

Kent diesel fuel: Pure Oil Co., $8,388.94.

Sodium chloride for New Castle County: Harvey Salt Co., Baltimore, $13,560; Salt Service, Inc., Philadelphia, $13,560.

Chemical weed killer: Salt Service, Inc., Phila., $5,440; Central Chemical Co., Bridgeville, $6,460; General Chemical Div., Allied Chemical Co., New York City, $6,860.

Office supplies: Butler's, Inc., Wilmington, $2,499.22; Hugh A. George Co., Wilmington, $2,532.09; Young & Revel, Milford, $2,686.78; Capitol Office Supply Co., Dover, $2,741.54.

Heating fuel oil for Kent county: Paradee Oil Co., Dover, $8,103.

ton, was chosen as chairman of the Farm Home Advisory Committee while Mrs. Ellwood Grubwell, of Felton, was named secretary.

Elbert Harrington, Jr. was chosen as a delegate to represent the local Advisory Board at the Southern States Cooperative's 39th annual Stockholders Meeting in Richmond, Va., Oct. 25-26. Merritt Camper, of Harrington, was named alternate.

There was also the election of a delegate and alternate to a District Election meeting to be held in Baltimore this fall.

Alvin Brown, of Harrington, was named as the delegate, while William F. Parker, was named as alternate.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the financial report of Southern States Cooperative given by Alvis Hardy, of Seaford, a regional representative of the organization. According to the report, members of the organization in a five-state area put through their cooperative about $201,000,000 worth of purchasing and marketing volume during the 1961-62 fiscal year.

Charles Peck Jr., manager of Peck Brothers gave the report on local operations and services.

Another highlight of the session was the showing of a color film entitled "Jimmy Gets the Answers," a picture tour of one of the cooperative's seed and farm supply warehouses.

An aerial target detachment from 2nd Army Headquarters, Fort Meade, Md., is assisting the Delaware Guard. The water targets are towed by civilian pilots in Army-owned "Q" boats operating from Fort Miles.

The air targets are controlled by radar when out of sight of radio operators. They are launched from rails by a charge of compressed gas and are capable of flying two hours before refueling.

The water targets are hauled on 55-gallon drums and consist of a large metal frame with a canvas covering. They are about one-quarter to half a mile distant from the shore.

Georgetown's 3rd Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. James Marvel, moved into Assawoman Wildlife Refuge area Wednesday for tactical training.

Their operations will shift to the Georgetown Airport during the encampment for night training and driver instruction of the self-propelled guns.

Wool Growers to Vote on Promotion

The referendum of wool and lamb producers coming up in September is to determine their approval or disapproval of a new agreement to continue financing an advertising and market-development program for wool and lambs, Jacob Zimmerman, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, said Thursday.

He emphasized that the outcome of the referendum will not affect continuation of the wool incentive payment program, which was extended for four years under legislation enacted last summer.

According to the chairman, the advertising, promotional, and related market development activities to enlarge or improve the market for wool and lamb are carried out under terms of an agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., as authorized by law.

Under previous agreements approved by wool growers voting in referendums in 1955 and 1959, the deductions from producer wool payments to finance the market-development program have amounted to one cent per pound for shorn wool and five cents per hundred weight for lambs. Under the new agreement, the deductions cannot exceed these rates.

Ballots will be mailed between September 4 and 7, to producers in the state and all ballots should be received by September 10. The voting will take place over the 2-week period starting Sept. 10, and all ballots must be received by the ASCS county office not later than September 21 in order to be counted.

Producers eligible to vote in the referendum are all those who have owned sheep or lambs, six months of age or older, for any one period of at least 30 days since January 1, 1962. Each producer will report the number of sheep and lambs on his ballot. Approval by producers having at least two-thirds of the volume of production represented by votes in the referendum will be required if the agreement is to be extended.
