Problems of Hearing Topic For Teachers

An introductory course dealing with problems of hearing and deafness in children is one of the unusual offerings this fall of the University of Delaware division of extension.

Presented in co-operation with the audiology and speech center of the Delaware Hospital and the university's department of dramatic arts and speech, the course is designed for school teachers, public health nurses, psychologists, remedial reading personnel and others interested in exceptional children.

Methods of hearing conversation, recognition of symptoms and testing and evaluation of hearing will be studied, and the socio-economic and classroom management problems of the hard-of-hearing child will be discussed. Considerable emphasis will be placed on public school audiometric procedures.

L. LeRoy Horne, director of the hospital center, will be instructor for the course. The center will be available for demonstrations and all classes will be held at the hospital on Wednesday evenings.

Registration will be held during the regular extension registration periods during the week of Sept. 10. Further information is available at the division office.

Accompanying Alice during her exciting week long stay in Atlantic City is her chaperone, Mrs. Mildred Burkart. They will stay at the President Hotel in that vacation city.

A very busy week is in store for the girls representing every state and territory in this nation. Tuesday evening is the famous Boardwalk Parade where the girls will be seen in public by thousands of vacationers. Some will be riding on beautiful floats while others will ride in gleaming white Oldsmobile convertibles. The girls will go to many parties and functions designed to bring out their personalities and aid the judges in making their decisions.

The highlights of the entire week, of course, is the Pageant itself on Saturday evening, Sept. 8. The show will be televised live from Atlantic City. This is when the months of preparation for each girl will come to light and one of these young ladies will be crowned "Miss America-1963". Bert Parks is the M. Delegates to Kent County meeting in Leipsic, Wednesday, Sept. 12: Paul Neeman, Melvin Wyatt, Harold Fry.

Council Names Police Chief

The City Council, at its September meeting Wednesday evening, promoted a patrolman to chief, added a man to the force, and did not provide an assistant to the city manager.

David Peterson was promoted to chief, with a raise of $5 per week, replacing Chief Ernest Kohland who resigned recently to take a job with a construction company.

Robert Lee Darling, 27, was appointed patrolman for a probationary period.

All city employees are required to apply, in writing, each year for their jobs.

Councilman Burton Satterfield recommended an assistant be provided for City Manager George S. Graham until the first of the year. Graham is Democratic candidate for sheriff of Kent County and is virtually a "shoo-in." However, he said that whether he won the election or not he would not be city manager because of his health.

Councilman Bill Smith said the assistant would not be certain of being appointed city manager next year since the Council might be changed in the January elections. Elections will be held in Smith's and Black's wards and neither councilman has indicated he will run for re-election. There will also be a contest for mayor. No action was taken on hiring an assistant. However, Graham said he would be willing to advise his successor.

In other business:
The Council agreed to raze three ancient trees on Milby Street in front of the "home of the Baker girls."

Decided to ask the city clerk to write the trustees of the Nazarene Church to request ball-players on its parking lot to be quiet. A letter from Harry Murphy had requested elimination of the game because of the ill health of his wife.

Took no action on a petition asking Edward Hutson to remove diesel refrigerator trucks from his lot on the back Farmington road. The trucks have to keep their motors running overnight to keep the refrigerating units going. Hutson had been reported as saying he had tried to find another parking lot without success.

Councilman Luther P. Hatfield recommended charter changes to be voted on in the January elections, a practice permitted under the Home Rule Bill passed by the current General Assembly. They were as follows:

1. A longer period between the annual citizens meeting, when nominations were made on the Friday night before the Tuesday elections.

2. A petition, for the curbing and improving of streets, which would require 51 per cent of the pertinent property owners, instead of the five required now.

GENERAL FOODS SELECTS DOVER FOR NEW PLANT

General Foods Corporation will build a multi-million-dollar processing plant at Dover, the company announced Wednesday.

The company's board of directors, meeting in White Plains, N. Y., Wednesday morning, approved the construction of the plant after four months of intensive study of the area.

The plant will occupy 20 acres of a 115-acre portion of Eden Hill Farm west of the city line on which the food company obtained an option in May.

The structure will be the largest capital investment in General Foods' history, the company said. It will be basically a one-story plant, developed and landscaped in keeping with modern concepts of industrial parks.

Preliminary construction work will begin next month. First production is planned for late next year. The plant will ultimately employ more than 1200 men and women, many of whom will be recruited locally.

The company will establish an office at Dover within a few weeks.

E. Burke Giblin, vice president and Jell-O division general manager, said Dover was selected after the company had considered hundreds of possible locations along the East Coast.

"Dover meets our basic operating requirements most satisfactorily," he said.

"It is near ocean shipping for importation of raw materials and is centrally located in the large Eastern market for shipment of our many products."

"Importantly, too," he added, "Dover offers attractive living conditions and pleasant surroundings for our employees."

Robert A. Stringer, operations manager of the Jell-O division, warmly praised state and Dover officials for their co-operation since the company first announced it was considering Dover as

Harrington Schools Open With Total Enrollment of 1064

Harrington schools opened with a total enrollment of 1,064, of which 518 pupils are in grades one through six, 436 in seven through 12, and 110 pupils in the West Harrington Elementary School.

The West Harrington Elementary School opened for the first time with the occupancy of four classrooms. It is expected that the entire building will be turned over to the Board of Education within the next month.

Construction at the Harrington High School necessitates several changes this year. The Town Council has placed "No Parking" signs along Dorman Street in front of the school as this area must be used for bus loading and unloading. Students are prohibited from driving automobiles to school and parking on the school grounds, and all students have been requested to cross Dorman Street at the intersection of Dorman and Center Streets.

At its regular September meeting, the Board of Education approved the employment of Miss Grace Brandon as a school psychologist on a one day per week basis. This will enable the school to offer psychological services far in excess of those that has been able to do in the past.

The Board approved the purchase of tax sheltered annuities at the request of the Harrington faculty.

The secretarial vacancies were filled by the selection of Mrs. Sara Emily Masten and Mrs. Harriett O'Neal.

It was announced that the first and second grade dismissal for the 1962-63 school year would be at 3:15 p. m. This means that school starts for all students at 8:30 and ends daily at 3:15 p. m.

The Board authorized that the names of persons delinquent in taxes for the past two years be turned over to the magistrate for collection.

SHD to Erect Bridge Over Murderkill River

Approval of the U. S. Corps of Engineers of the State Highway Department's application for permission to erect a fixed bridge over the Murderkill River, east of Frederica will enable the Highway Department to proceed with the construction of the Frederica by-pass Route for U. S. Route 113.

William J. Miller, Jr. director of Operations for the Highway Department, said that survey parties will move into the area and plans for the project will be completed.

The By-Pass Route will be a divided highway located east of the present route 113 through Frederica and will be designed to expedite traffic through the Frederica area.

It will start from the present highway, just south of Barratt's Chapel and proceed on a direct line to the existing highway, which extends south of Frederica to Milford.

Miller said funds are available for the project and the completion of plans for this new highway would be rushed as rapidly as possible. It will be a Federal-aid project.

At the same time the Corps of Engineers approved a permit for fixed bridges over to Broadkill River, along Route 14 to replace the existing drawbridge at this point.

Miller indicated that plans for these two bridges are being prepared by the Department's Bridge Division, under the direction of Joseph M. Fox, Bridge Engineer, and will probably be advertised for bids when the planning is complete.

Mr. Miller explained that two bridges were being planned over the Broadkill River, along Route 14, to provide for the extension of the dual highway from its present terminus, at Five Points, along Route 14 to Waples Pond, a project which may be placed on the next construction program of the Department.

Q—Has any pension ever been granted to veterans of World War I?

A—World War I veterans are eligible both for service-connected compensation payments and for nonservice-connected pension payments. The compensation payments are paid for disabilities from injury or disease incurred or aggravated during active service, and are not related to the income or the financial status of the veteran. Pension payments on the other hand are made to veterans of World War I who are permanently and totally disabled from reasons not traceable to service provided their income is less than the limits set by the existing pension laws.

Beach Season Date Extended

The 1962 "season" not only promises to be one of the best ever experienced by Delaware's coastal resorts but also the longest notes the Delaware State Development Department.

For many years, the "season", as far as Delaware resorts were concerned, ended on Labor Day, and early September brought a peace and quiet that went uninterrupted until the return of summer and summer vacationists. However, in recent years, the pattern has changed with the season being gradually extended, enabling late vacation visitors to enjoy the warm water, bright sunshine, and cool, pleasant evenings that characterize September and early October along the Delaware Coast.

For Rehoboth Beach, which overcame the effects of the great storm of March 6-8 with creation of a new beach, new boardwalk and new look, this will definitely be its longest season to date.

Promises of good weather, good swimming and good fishing, through September into October, plus an encouraging number of inquiries concerning late summer and early fall accommodations, have prompted operators of many of the area's tourist facilities to push back closing dates.

In order to assure sufficient patronage to warrant further extension of season many of the resort area housing facilities will put "off-season" rates in effect in mid-September. These rates, providing worthwhile savings, will, of course, remain in effect until "closing date," which in the case of some of the hotels and motels is still an undermined Autumn date.

Some of the area's motels, particularly those along Delaware Route 14, near the western approaches to Rehoboth Beach, are even planning continuous operation through fall and winter.

As an added inducement to September visitors and vacationists, the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce has scheduled "Seahorse Week" for the period September 8 to 16. Fourteen competitive events, including Deep Sea Fishing competition for the ladies, have been scheduled for this special week.

The Deep Sea Fishing Tournament, which has been dubbed the "Power Puff Deep Sea Derby," is limited to members of the fair sex. Trophies and prizes will be awarded for the largest trolling and bottom catches as determined by the Indian River Captains Association.

Concurrent with the ladies deep sea fishing event will be a surf and bay fishing tournament open to everyone. Prizes and trophies will be awarded in each of five classes and Mac's Bait House at Dewey Beach has been designated as the official judging station for this week-long competition.

The Delaware State Senior Men's Golfing Championships will be staged at the Rehoboth Beach Country Club, September 15 and 16. This competition is limited to those golfers who have reached their 50th birthday by September 15 and Delaware State Golf Association rules will apply. Engraved Silver trophies will be awarded and winners and runners-up in each of four classes. Entries for this tournament close September 8.

September 11 and 12, Duplicate Bridge Tournaments will be run at the Rehoboth Beach Country Club with play getting underway a 1:30 each afternoon. A.B.C. rules will apply and trophies and prizes will be awarded.

Bowling tournaments — men and women, singles and doubles — will be staged at the Rehoboth Bowling Lanes, September 14 and 15, with prizes awarded for the best scores in each category. Also, through September, there will be special exhibits in the studios of the Rehoboth Art League in Henlopen Acres advises the Development Department.

Program to Certify Librarians

A new course leading to the certification of school librarians was announced this week by John A. Murray, director of the division of extension of the University of Delaware.

The course, titled "The School Library," has just been developed and is not listed in the fall extension catalog, according to Murray. It covers the organization, administration and functions of school libraries.

Dr. Lillian Batchelor superintendent of junior and senior high school libraries for the Philadelphia Board of Education will be instructor for the course, which will meet on Monday evenings at P.S. duPont High School in Wilmington, beginning Sept. 24.

The course is offered by the university's school of education through the extension division. Registration will be conducted in Dover, Georgetown and Newark next week.

Vocational Course Offered to Adults

Opportunity for adults to improve themselves through job related vocational and technical evening courses is being offered again this year in all counties of the state, according to Irvan V. P. Chelly, state supervisor of industrial education services.

Trades and industries courses, designed to increase technical knowledge and improve skills required in modern industrial work, are available to adults who seek promotion in their fields. Both shop and related instruction will be offered in many trades which will be taught by highly skilled technical instructors. Evening courses scheduled to be offered by the Dover Special School District, Seaford Special School District, Sussex County Vocational-Technical Center, William W. M. Henry Comprehensive High School and the Wilmington Board of Education include auto mechanics, auto body and fender repair, beauty culture, blueprint reading and estimating for building trades, carpentry, electricity, electrical code, machine shop practice, oil burner service, painting, plumbing, practical nursing, radio and television, sheet-metal, welding, and related mathematics.

These courses and others are also available to those qualifying for apprentice training. All bona-fide registered apprentices are required to enroll in related trade and technical instruction.

"Classes for apprentice training," states Mr. Chelly, "are organized especially to meet the requirements necessary for apprentices to become first-class mechanics." These classes will meet two evenings a week, three hours each evening, for a total of 144 hours.

In addition to evening courses in trade and industries and apprentice training courses, some of the evening classes in vocational and technical courses to be offered are: aeronautics, basic industrial electronics, drafting, petroleum technology, refrigeration and air conditioning, and others as the need develops.

"The vocational and technical courses," continues Mr. Chelly, "are designed to help the apprentice, the craftsman, and the technician to understand better his job and the job of the men with whom he has to work."

Registration for all evening courses will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 10, at Dover High School, H. Fletcher Brown Technical High School, Seaford High School and William W. M. Henry Comprehensive High School. The Sussex County Vocational-Technical Center will accept registrations the week of September 10. Apprentices in the Wilmington Area only, will register and report to class on Tues., September 18.

Adults are urged to take advantage of these evening courses. There is no tuition charge but a registration fee may be charged by the districts. For further information contact, David Bachman, Principal, Dover Evening School Program, 734-4756; James C. Hardcastle, principal, William W. M. Henry Comprehensive High School, 734-4893; Charles H. Dilks, Director, Wilmington, OL 4-3183, Ext. 300; Okey E. McCourt, principal, Sussex County Vocational-Technical Center, 856-7384; Mark Phillips, Principal, 629-4284; or Mr. Chelly, Super-Seaford Evening School Program, visor of Industrial Education Services, P. O. Box 191, Dover, 734-5711, Ext. 449.

Storage to take advantage of seasonal grain prices is expected to be a profitable venture again this year for Delaware farmers. Storage could provide as much as 23 per cent return on your investment. In fact, a farmer may find as much profit in grain storage as in grain production.

Prospects for a smaller corn crop this year are expected to push the seasonal rise slightly higher than usual. Farmers should analyze their own situations to see if they can profit by storing grain.

Putting a Lawn Into Shape If your lawn has become spotty and weed-infested, you can make it attractive again. But first you'll need to decide whether it's worth improving or whether you should tear it up and start over.

If you decide to renovate, it takes more than merely sowing some seed in the bare spots. You will need to find the cause of the trouble and correct it.

Perhaps your lawns wasn't seeded properly, or maybe you used the wrong kind of seed. The best time to seed is now to mid-September that allows time for a thick sod to develop before cold weather.

If your seeding mixture contains too much redtop, ryegrass, timothy or other coarse or temporary grass, it won't make a permanent, weed-resistant sod. Be sure the grass you use is adapted to your particular soil conditions.

Success Story of Soybeans Soybeans were only a minor crop in Delaware 50 years ago. Now they're the most important crop. They are an important source of vegetable and industrial oil, and they find wide use in livestock feeds.

Farmers are a success because soybeans are a success because farm scientists, not long after the turn of this century, began to apply their knowledge that the gene in the germ cell transmits characteristics from one generation to the next.

The result of further studies has been a parade of soybean varieties with special characteristics — adaptability to cold and heat, to different soils and to drought; superior productivity; and an assortment of desirable market qualities.

What to Look For in Feeder Pigs If you're in the market for feeder pigs, there are several things to look for: choose slick-haired, thrifty pigs that have good weight for their age. A good pig should weigh at least 35 pounds at 8 weeks of age and a minimum of 40 pounds by 10 weeks.

Look for the right-type pig; plenty of stretch, a heavy ham and soundness. Make sure it's vaccinated for cholera and erysipelas.

Be especially conscious of your male pigs, and see that they are castrated and smoothly healed. You can usually get pigs measuring up to these standards from organized health-inspected feeder pig sales or good feeder pig producers.

The course will cover new concepts and the most significant applications of modern physics and chemistry to understanding vital human processes. Particular attention will be given to the nature of living matter, cellular function, the fundamental nature of nutrition, receptors, nervous and chemical coordination, excretion, control mechanisms, locomotion and reproduction.

Dr. R. A. Nystrom and Dr. R. R. Ronkin, of the department of biological sciences, will be instructors for the 12-week course which will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m., in room 140 duPont Hall in Newark, beginning Sept. 26.

Registration forms, which must be submitted by Sept. 24, may be obtained from the extension division office. There is no charge for the course.

Supplementing the fall course will be a series of seven seminars to be conducted by internationally-known physiologists beginning in January and continuing through the spring term.

Speakers will be Dr. C. W. Shilling, of the American Institute of Biological Sciences; Dr. William L. Nastuk, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University; Dr. James H. Leatham, Bureau of Biological Research, Rutgers University; Dr. Teru Hayashi, department of zoology, Columbia University; Dr. Bodil Schmidt-Nielsen, department of zoology, Duke University; Dr. Robert E. Forster, graduate of medicine, University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Stanley J. Sarnoff, of the Laboratory of Cardiovascular Physiology, National Heart Institute, National Institutes of Health.

Each of the speakers will discuss basic and pertinent ideas in his own special field. Topics include general physiology, nutrition and metabolism, excretion and body fluids, and cardiovascular and respiratory function.

Physiology Course Designed For Non-Physiologists

A course designed for persons whose professional work or leisure interests require familiarity with modern biological concepts, will be offered by the University of Delaware's extension division this fall.

Fundamentals of physiology, a special non-credit course in modern biological concepts applied to man, should be of professional and non-physiologists in many different fields, for example, to engineers and scientists whose training is in the physical sciences but whose work may affect body functions.

Be a Plant Food Detective This is the best time of year to play plant doctor, says Dr. William Mitchell, agronomist at the University of Delaware. Come to our corn field day on Wednesday, September 12 at 1 p.m. just south of Smyrna along the dual highway to see how it is done, he adds.

Twenty-seven corn hybrids have been grown under six different fertilizer treatments. While the information is aimed at farmers, home gardeners will also find it helpful, because differences in growth due to various plant foods are easily seen at this season. Everyone is invited to attend the informal program at the test plot which is on the farm of James L. Mitchell.

Later in the afternoon at 2:30 p.m., the group will move to the Charles C. Blendt farm east of Smyrna on the Leipsic road. Mr. Blendt is co-operating with the University of Delaware with a demonstration alfalfa variety plot. He also has been using a hay drying system designed to retain more of the feeding value of his forage.

The purpose of both demonstrations is to help farmers produce and use their crops for the greatest profit, says Dr. Mitchell. The agricultural agents in each county will be glad to answer specific questions concerning these demonstrations. Here in Kent County, the agent is George K. Vapaa, located on the second floor of the Dover postoffice. His telephone number is 736-1448.

Cereal Chaos

Remember the good old days when there were three, or possibly four, kinds of breakfast cereal to choose from?
Now look.
At any high school food peddler's establishment there are no less than 59 varieties of oats, wheat, corn, rice, oats-and-rice, rice-and-corn, corn-and-wheat, and so on forever and ever.
Used to be that Ma would come home with oatmeal to stick-to-our-rubs in cold winter days. From July 31 to June 1st, we would have our ribs stuck with the sticky, gooey stuff.
But, boy, were we ever healthy.
No breakfast time frustrations.

Other kinds available then included the "Breakfast of Champions," which Jack Armstrong assured us would make us men. Or women as the case may be.
And shout "Hurrah, Boys!" yet.
Now get toasted little wheels, roasted stars, letters of the alphabet and marble shaped things that are all different colors besides.
And packages.
Remember they used to put cereal in boxes.
Now it's wrapped in comic books, with easy-open tops, pictures of bears and dogs, space ship nose cones and flying people, cardboard phonograph records and coupons for this or that.
Flavors of today's cereals come in raspberry, orange, lemon and lime, chocolate and vanilla and once in a while you can buy cereal that tastes like corn. A little.

At breakfast time there is a line of large, giant and super economy size in front of Tommy so he is not visible.
In fact one day we finished breakfast, looked behind the boxes and found he wasn't even there.
He had gone out to play a half-hour before.
And with sixteen kinds of cereal before them, the kids always wind up wanting the same one, offering the first battle of the day.
One cereal manufacturer appeals to the intellectual type of breakfaster.
Presents a Message on the side of the box.
At 7:30 I can't even think, let alone digest a Message.
(Girls at the office say that goes on all day anyway, not just in the morning.)
Oh, well.
I'm getting beyond the rough and tumble cereal stage anyway.
Digestion, teeth and temper aren't what they used to be.
"Pass the corn meal mush, Ma."

Necessary Evil
A new and infinitely dangerous concept of taxation has been gaining currency, and it has its enthusiasts in high places.
It holds that taxation should be used as a social instrument, to bring about some desired result other than the raising of government revenue — and that, also, a tax is and should be an effective weapon for regulating the economy.
The Wall Street Journal has printed a letter from a reader, in which this attitude is vigorously assailed, and in which an admirable statement of principle is made: "Taxes . . . are not a control measure. They are not a price to pay for civilization or a privilege of freedom or any of these high-sounding terms. They are necessary to raise revenues with which to run the government — that is all they are. They are a necessary evil, but nonetheless evil."
To use the taxing power to direct and to control our energies and our rights is to lay the foundation of dictatorship.
The Carthage (Mo.) Evening Press

Looking Ahead
There are many people in this country who firmly believe that everything will take care of itself, if given enough time, and that no help is needed from the government or any other agency for anything. They believe that our problems on unemployment, inflation, the Communistic threat and everything like that will be cured if you just ignore them for a long enough period of time.
That might be true in some ways, but what would happen to the country in the meantime?
Those people might do well to remember the saying, "The time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining." This could well apply to many of the problems of our country today as well.
Right now, unemployment is dropping — fast. More people are employed than ever before. Just the same, it might be well to look ahead, and plan public works programs as a kind of "insurance" to take care of excess unemployed persons, if and when the time ever arrives.
The recent slump in the stock market might be interpreted as some kind of a warning. Inflation cannot last forever and no government can support a large portion of the population with relief grants for any period of time without getting into serious trouble.

Minimum County Support Set for '62-Crop Corn

Prices for the 1962 corn crop will be supported at a minimum of $1.34 per bushel in Delaware, Jacob Zimmerman, chairman Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced. This is three cents higher than the 1961 support rate.
The chairman said that the minimum rate will not be reduced, but may be increased if the final 1962-crop corn support price determined on the basis of data on Oct. 1 is higher than the minimum price announced last spring.
Mr. Zimmerman stressed the importance of a full understanding by growers of how the 1962 feed grain program affects price supports for the crop. "Corn producers who participate in the 1962 feed grain program will be eligible for price support on their 1962 production," he declared,

Mrs. Lillian Pearson and Mrs. Mary Melvin are in charge of the arrangements. Members of the official board of the local Pilgrim Church felt that all interested members of the community should be included to view the most recent improvement on the local church property. The completed parsonage represents an investment of just over $25,000, with a remaining indebtedness of $3,500. Consistent free-will offerings resulted in raising this substantial amount in just a little over a one year period of time. Present plans call for a concerted effort to clear off the remaining indebtedness by December of this year.

Speech Courses Offered Through Extension

Two courses on the improvement of speech, of special interest to teachers, will be offered through the University of Delaware's division of extension this fall.
The course Speech and Voice, designed to improve the speaking voice through study and practice of the correct formation of speech sounds and phonetics, will be offered Tuesday evenings in Wilmington.
Oral transmission of ideas and information based on recent research by behavioral scientists will be considered in the course speech, which will meet Tuesday evenings in Dover. Among new techniques to be employed will be the filming of each student's speech so he may see and hear himself in action.
The courses should assist teachers in all areas to improve their teaching effectiveness and establish acceptable speech standards for their students. They have been accepted for plus-30 or professional credit by the state and Wilmington school boards, subject to the approval of the individual principals and superintendents.
Priority of acceptance for the courses, which will be limited in number of students, may be established by writing the department of dramatic arts and speech. Other information about courses and programs may be obtained from the division of extension.
Registration will be held Monday at Dover High School, 7-8:30 p.m.; Tuesday at Georgetown subdivision, 6:30-8:30 p.m., and Saturday, Sept. 15, Carpenter Field House in Newark, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Delaware State Museum Notes

This exhibit was made possible by the generous gifts of Mrs. Louise Farrow Barr, Arthur P. Connelly, Mrs. Angelica Killen Cope, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Cummins, Mrs. Edgar S. Emory, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Fulton Jr., Miss Florence Lurty, Herbert Reynolds, Harvey Shockley, Mrs. J. V. D. Thompson, Hon. Harold W. T. Purnell Collection and the Museum's collection.

Summer Coolers

The Summer Coolers exhibit in the Shop Window Case in No. 1 building featured some of the items used by our forebears to keep cool in the summertime. Ladies would not venture outdoors in the hot sun without a parasol to protect them from the burning sun. The parasols were made from a variety of materials, some plain and some very fancy. The ones on exhibit were a cross section of the Museum's collection.

Fans were used to stir up a breeze and ladies were never without a fan whether it be in church or just resting. Fans were made of many materials, such as silk, paper, feathers, carved ivory or wood or combinations of these or other items. As the exhibit showed, fan makers were ingenious in designing and making fans of various shapes and colors and were limited only by the materials available.

The exhibit also included a bonnet made of sheer white material and was shaped like the covering on a covered wagon, even to the point of having an oval insert in the back. The peak extended well over the face and a large bow made from the streamers held it on.

A ladies black cotton bathing suit was the final cooler in the exhibit. It had a wrap around skirt that fastened at the waist and covered the bloomers which were part of the button-down-front top. Long black cotton stockings and high laced shoes usually completed the costume that made bathing in public possible for yesterday's ladies.

This exhibit was made possible by gifts from Mrs. Louise Farrow Barr, Mrs. C. E. Potts, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Cummins, Mrs. Alexander Smith, Mrs. Burton Sypherd and Mrs. George F. Hitchcock Jr.

Recent Accessions

People who travel today pack their small travelling alarm clock with their clothing, throw the camera in the car and take off without too much effort spent in preparation. They take pictures, reload the camera with a new roll of film and usually have their 35mm slides developed and shipped home before they themselves return.

The camera and slide projector mentioned in the recent gifts created a different problem. The camera, made made the Rochester Optical Co., with a Bausch & Lomb lens, is encased in a leather covered wooden box. It uses a 4x 5 inch sheet film in a holder and must be mounted on a tripod, to keep it steady. The camera, circa 1891, is in excellent condition and was made by skilled craftsmen.

The slide projector is lighted with a two wick oil lamp which bears an L. J. Marcy Patent dated April 28, July 6 and August 11, 1868. The projector had adjustable lenses encased in brass, is mounted on a wooden base and has a wooden slide holder. It is not a toy and would compare with the better projectors of today. The glass slides are 3 1/2x4 inches in size and there are fifty-one of these showing world scenes and works of art. Some of these are in color and are hand painted. Others are made from photograph transparencies and are mounted between two pieces of thin glass and bound around the edges with black tape. Several boxes of this type glass is included in the gift. We are indebted to Mrs. Clara Nelson, who gave these items to the Museum in the name of Theodore W. Nelson, her late husband.

A cast iron alarm clock painted black with gold bands at the top and above the base, with ivy leaf inlays of Mother-of-pearl at each corner and Roman numerals on the face was included in the exhibit although it has been described in an earlier issue of the News. It is seven and one half inches high, five inches wide and three inches deep and as can be imagined, very heavy. It would have been carried as a travel alarm clock and seemed to fit in with the theme of the exhibit. The clock is a gift of Mrs. Louise Farrow Barr.

Mrs. Alan R. Tracy is the donor of the Lithograph Print of the "Light House at Cape Henlopen" which has brown coloring on buff ground and was "sketched from nature and on stone by J. Green." It is a registered lithograph of P. S. Duval, Philadelphia. It is in excellent condition and furthers the travel theme of this exhibit.

So that modern day travel is made easier, the Willard Hall School in Wilmington was torn down to make way for the Adams Jackson Streets Freeway. From the corner stone, laid on Dec. 11, 1884, the Museum received several coins. Two silver dollars both minted in 1884 have the reverse sides erased and engraved. One has "Deposited by Pupils of Boys High School, Wilmington, Del., Dec. 11, 1884" engraved on it and the other by the Girls High School. A quarter dollar, also erased on the reverse side, has the name "Olin Leslie West born 1869" engraved on it. The three coins were in separate boxes all of which came from "Thos. Sherwin & Son, Jewelers, 615 Market Street, Wilmington, Del." The State Highway Department presented these through the Public Archives Commission.

The Pan-American Exposition Medal for the excellence of Delaware peaches was presented by Dr. Joseph S. McDaniel. It had been awarded to his father in 1901 when 600 to 800 baskets of Elbertas were being shipped from Cheswold, Delaware.

Two pieces of the sheet music given by Mr. and Mrs. W. Clyde Young were included in the Recent Accessions Exhibit. Along with the "Regina Mazurka" was the "Clayton Schottisch" composed for the piano and dedicated to the Clayton Literary Society of the Delaware Military Academy by John F. Miller and was published by Duffy & Miller, Market Street, Wilmington, Del.

It is gratifying that after nearly twelve years of operation, the Museum still receives gifts that add greatly to the value and interest of its collections. Very rarely do we receive duplicates. But even on these occasions, the historic background of the persons associated with the gifts, after a marked contrast which gives each item a separate character.

In addition to Misses Ethelwyn J. Maloney's noteworthy button collection and the items mentioned under Recent Accessions, the Museum received the following items during the past quarter. Samuel B. Bird has been very generous with a gift of surveyors instruments in excellent condition. A monocular, with a leather case and neck strap, has "Germany" stamped on the lens adjustment. A range finder and unipod has a leveling bubble which is visible through the lens. A protractor, made of German silver and marked in degrees up to 180 was also included as was a quadrant in its original box. It has an ivory scale marked from zero to one hundred degrees. A vernier scale, a set of dividers and a ruling pen is neatly packed in a carrying case. A transit theodolite in its special wooden case and a tripod were also included. A surveyors measuring chain in a canvas bag, a sextant, and a drawing instrument case completes the list of gifts. The above items were owned by Charles M. Bird, grandfather of the donor, who was born on April 30, 1832. He went to sea when he was thirteen years old and served in the U. S. Navy from 1861 to 1865.

He was wounded on June 28, 1868 while in action aboard the U. S. Engineers in Philadelphia. The first Christmas Seal was issued in 1907 and was designed by Miss Emily P. Bissell. We are indebted to Mrs. Marion McDonald who gave one of these originals to the Museum. It is on a plain white postcard and reads "America's First Christmas Seal. Designed and Dedicated to Humanity by Miss Emily P. Bissell."

A leather military kit used in the Civil War by a Smyrna soldier stationed at Fort Delaware was presented to the Museum by Mrs. Harley R. Bodley, Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Eley gave a Chelsea plate with a white body and eight applied blue thistle clusters.

Two of the "States of the Union Medals", a series of fifty, has been presented by Mr. A. C. Schultz, the maker. Eventually a medal will be cast for each of the fifty states. These two are for Florida and Ohio.

Six post cards from Mrs. Paul Pepper Show Peppers Surside Cottages, tell the Tale of the Sea Horse, Shell Names - illustrated, The Story of the Shells, Stars of the Sea and The Legend of the Sand Dollar in verse.

The Hon. Harold W. T. Purnell collection has been enriched by gifts of a wooden ship carpenter's vise with the wooden screw clamp and adjustment; and a white georgette parasol with a wooden handle and brass tip.

A gas burning fireplace heater of cast bronze was given to the Museum by the State Highway Department from the Adams - Jackson Street Thruway.

A salesman's shoe sample was given to the Museum by Mrs. Lee Coulter. It consists of a ladies taupe kid shoe with 17 eyelets on a calf high last dating about 1910.

Museum Purchases There were comparatively few purchases made this quarter. Some periods are light because no suitable items are offered or because the budget will not provide for whatever is offered. Fortunately, this period, the Museum acquired nine sheets of local sheet music which are rapidly disappearing. The "Amphion Schottisch" was composed and respectfully dedicated to the Amphion Coronet Band of Wilmington, Del., who also published most of the other pieces. Some of the other titles are "Parlor Album, Pieces to 60" and another "Parlor Album, Pieces 61 to 114." "Gems of English Song arranged for the Piano Forte", "Marching Along," and "Regina Mazurka" are others. Most of these pieces date around 1860 and were published in Wilmington.

Museum Hours The Museum, located at 316 South Governors Avenue, Dover, on U. S. Route 13, Alternate, is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 11:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and Sundays 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. It is closed Mondays. Free parking space is available to visitors at the rear of the Museum.

Tours of the Museum by school classes, clubs and other groups are welcomed and may be arranged by communicating with the Curator in writing or telephoning 734-4297. Groups are requested to make appointments for such tours in advance whenever possible.

Entomologist Takes A.I.D. Assignment

Dr. Dale F. Bray, chairman of the department of entomology at the University of Delaware, has announced the resignation of Dr. Richard Darsie, associate professor of entomology. Darsie has served as a liaison between University of Delaware researchers and the State Mosquito Control Division for the past 12 years.

He has accepted a position as malaria specialist with the Agency for International Development, a branch of the State Department. Following a 12 week training course in Jamaica and a six week orientation in Washington, D. C., Darsie will leave for a two year assignment in Nepal. As part of his duties, he will evaluate malaria eradication programs in progress there and supply technical assistance and supervision to the programs. Darsie's work at the University included testing mosquitoes for resistance to insecticides and investigating the toxic effects of insecticides on fish, wildlife and other marsh insects. He has also carried on taxonomic studies of mosquitoes, and has investigated parasites of many of Delaware's birds and animals.

According to Bray, Darsie has made sufficient contributions in these areas. He also conducted studies in the biology of mosquitoes to determine what environmental factors influence their development. From this research certain natural, or non-chemical methods of control were developed such as impounding of water in salt marshes. Bray says this has proven to be a very effective way to prevent breeding in these marshes and has resulted in mosquito reduced populations in surrounding areas.

Robert Lake, research associate in entomology who has worked with Darsie for the past two years, will continue to work in the areas of mosquito control while a replacement for Darsie is being located. Lake is well versed in this work, according to Bray, and will be able to fill in with no sacrifice to the mosquito control research.

Darsie's family will remain in Newark until June of next year where they will join him in Nepal. His daughter, Janet, will enter the University of Delaware as a freshman this fall.

Use Right Pattern With Foam Laminated Fabrics

Success in making fall coats with foam laminated fabrics starts with selecting a suitable pattern.

Katie Thomas, Kent County home demonstration agent, says a pattern with a minimum of darts, seams and details is easiest to handle and gives the best results.

Here are some other pointers for handling these fabrics:

Alter the pattern before cutting to eliminate awkward adjustments. Cut pattern pieces separately with the foam side up. A double layer of fabric is difficult to cut accurately.

Before cutting, base-mark grainline in several places with the stitching showing on both sides of the fabric. Mark with tailor tacks or thread because tracing wheel marks may disappear in the foam.

Baste entire coat before stitching. Be sure it does not fit too snugly. Foam weakens under strain.

Machine-stitch fabric with a number 11 needle, using about 10 stitches per inch. To prevent catching the foam, use a layer of tissue paper under or over the stitching line as needed.

Mrs. Thomas recommends welt, flat-felled or double top-stitched seams for side and shoulder seams. Slash darts and press flat. Trim seams wherever possible. Hem through entire fabric, as foam alone will not hold stitches. If available, use plain fabric the same color as the coat fabric for facings and undercollars. Top-stitch self-faced edges and collars, or bind raw edges with braid.

Press with medium heat, using a damp press cloth or steam iron. Try to avoid placing the iron in direct contact with foam.

Heavy Silage OK For Dairy Cows

The recent dry weather has left many dairy farmers with an empty haymow and sad prospects for a winter supply of hay. George Vapaa, Kent County agent, says farmers may use heavier feedings of silage to help solve the problem. He points to research reports and farm studies where dairy cows have thrived on all hay or all silage rations without affecting their milk production.

Farmers with an extremely limited hay supply should consider ensiling their field corn. Grain prices are not expected to advance and plentiful supplies of shelled corn are available from the midwestern states.

Vapaa recommends drought-stricken corn be ensiled before it becomes too dry for adequate preservation. It may be necessary to add some water when ensiling. If heavy rains come, do not ensile or feed crops for 3 to 5 days to prevent nitrate poisoning or poison gas problems.

It is strongly suggested that sodium metabisulfite be used in ensiling all crops hit by the drought. Preliminary research at the University of Minnesota indicates that the use of 8 pounds of bisulfite per ton of forage ensiled will keep nitrous oxide gas formation at a minimum and prevent destruction of carotene. It could also help to reduce forage dry matter losses when the corn ensilage contains little or no grain.

The quality of overall feeding value of corn ensiled with little or no ear development will be considerably lower than normal. However, Vapaa believes it can be used to meet minimum hay-equivalent needs and ease the hay shortage. Heavy silage feeding could enable many dairymen to get through the winter with little or no purchased hay.

Racing Meet Begins Sept. 15

Harness racing fans attending the 17th annual meet of the Kent and Sussex Raceway at Harrington this season will enjoy improved lighting facilities and a complete new sound system.

The 30-night meet gets underway at the Harrington oval September 15. William W. (Pete) Shaw, general manager, has announced that nine races nightly will be offered Mondays through Thursdays and 10 races nightly on Fridays and Saturdays. As usual, post time for the first race will be 8 p.m.

Six modern, steel standards supporting brilliant new lights have been installed along the back stretch of the track. The standards, each 80 feet tall, replace older 25-foot poles.

Mounted at the top of each of the new standards is a bank of 24 1,500-watt lights. The new back stretch lighting facilities, installed at a cost of approximately $20,000, will augment five similar steel standards with identical banks of lights along the straightaway in front of the grandstand.

A complete new sound system has also been installed at the Harrington Raceway. It includes eight amplifiers, each with a maximum output of 75 watts, and a spare amplifier as a stand-by. A number of new loud-speakers have been added to the system to provide more complete sound coverage throughout the racing plant.

These include six additional speakers on the track, making a total of 12 facing the grandstand, six new ones on the mezzanine of the grandstand, eight in the downstairs area housing the parimutuel windows and two in the track restaurant. Cost of the new sound system was $7,500.

These track improvements, Mr. Shaw said, are a part of the continuing effort Kent and Sussex Racing Association is making to provide the best facilities possible for the comfort and enjoyment of Harrington Raceway patrons.

Delaware Food Market Report

"Eat a good breakfast to start a good day" is a wise rule to follow for all age group. With a new month starting, school doors opening, and summer vacation ending, it is time to check our breakfast and to see how they measure up for maximum efficiency.

Breakfast habits have changed as we have changed. In colonial times, the way of life was early to bed and early to rise. The day did not begin with breakfast, instead up at sunrise, several hours of hard work then the first meal of the day. That meal consisted of meat, eggs, two kinds of hot bread, fried potatoes, cereals, fruits and pies. The whole family worked hard and the children walked long distances to school.

Life today is different. School buses stop at the corner and father rides to work. Modern conveniences in the home and outside take care of much of the manual labor. Breakfast patterns have changed and with so much less exercise it should change. This does not mean that you should go without breakfast though.

Fruit juice, coffee and toast is not enough. There needs to be in each breakfast, vitamin C, complete proteins, and calcium. In other words, breakfast should be a balanced meal—one-third of our daily total. A traditional breakfast of fruit, cereal, meat and/or egg, bread and milk is good, however, other foods than these traditional ones are just as good. So spruce up breakfast and make sure it is adequate enough to give energy to go through that 10 o'clock slump and arrive at lunchtime still ready and willing to go.

Today's markets offer many foods suited for good eating regardless of the time of day. For instance, look at the abundant supply of fresh fruits now available. Both pears and plums are being featured at most markets at reasonable prices. Cantaloupe, honeydew, cranshaw and water-melons are in good supply and low in price. Apples, limes, California nectarines, figs and fresh prunes are also plentiful.

Several vegetables are currently abundant and low in price: beets, cabbage, celery, endive, escarole, potatoes, tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and squash. The season for vine-ripened tomatoes is at its highest point, prices are low so enjoy this fruit for fine eating now.

Broilers and turkeys continue to offer economy at the meat counter. Red meat prices are relatively high now so consider low-cost cuts such as hamburger, frankfurters, canned and smoked hams, and liver to bridge the seasonal shift in meat supplies. For those of you who like lamb watch for specials.

Shockley, Jr. will teach the course entitled "Today's Children for Tomorrow's World" starting October 9, at Asbury, and the Rev. Charles Poukish will teach a course entitled "Prayer" at Trinity Church starting March 12.

Mrs. Nasser asked that the members also stand for a moment of silent prayer for those members who had died during the past several months.

In opening the business meeting, Mrs. Downing praised highly the work Mrs. Nasser had done in preparing the program booklets.

The society will sponsor a covered dish luncheon on Tuesday, Sept. 11 at 12:30 in the Collins Building. The luncheon will be in honor of Mrs. Coretta Mason, Evangelist, who will be conducting a preaching mission at Asbury during the week. "Sports Odds And Ends"

Dave Coady was recently commissioned an ensign in the United States Coast Guard. Dave was one of the line mainstays on the first Harrington High football team. The line that season in addition to Coady had Dave Martin, Dave Hedgecock, Joe Dennin and Jim Collins. The first three were 190 pounders. Dennin and Collins weighed in at 215 and 225 respectively. Coady ran the 440 in track and in a game with Laurel chased a back for 70 yards before tackling him and saving a touchdown. Because of his mobility, he was sometimes used to rush over points after touchdown.

George Bonniwell turned in the best inaugural workout ever on the Killen's Pond cross-country course last week. Wearing ordinary street clothes, he ran 2.4 miles in 13:50. Clarence Hackett equaled this time in his first workout of 1961, but he was a veteran and was wearing track attire. Ken Garey and Randy Knox are next in line in the area of fine workouts.

Hackett is now a senior at Wm. Penn High, New Castle, and at present is considered to be the best scholastic harrier in Delaware on his showing in last year's state meet. At that time, running for Harrington, he finished fifth in a field of 114 runners, behind four since-graduated seniors. The Wm. Penn harriers are now training on the grass between the north and southbound lanes of Route 13 in the hilly area near St. Georges Bridge. The motorists in both lanes do double takes at the hard-working youngsters.

Football coach Dave Nelson of the University of Delaware, is one of the winningest coaches in America. He is in constant demand for coaching clinics all over America. Head coaches at Army, Iowa and Louisiana State are among those major schools who have called in the Delaware mentor to install many of his methods. When a coach of this caliber joins many of the top flight leaders in using distance running to build up endurance, who is left to say that the tow endeavors do not mix.

Wilmington's Ron Bianco, a 200 pounder, ran the mile in 5:20 this week. Don Burawski scales 230 pounds. His mile time, third on the squad, was a sparkling 5:32.

Smyrna High will scrimmage the H.H.S. Lions here, Saturday morning at 10 a. m.

G. Kelly Wins Shawnee Tourney

G. Kelly, a scratch player, is the new golf champion of Shawnee Country Club. He defeated Richard Kimmy in medal play over the weekend 3 and 2.

Winners in other flights were as follows: 1st flight, Bob Hoch; 2nd flight, Abe Ellison; 3rd flight, Bob Jaquette; 4th flight, L. Porter; 5th flight, Hayward Quillen, and 6th flight, R. Arnold.

Long-Ball Hitter To Play at Shawnee

Jimmy Thompson, known as the golfer who hits the long ball, will give an exhibition at 3 p.m., Wednesday at Shawnee Country Club, Milford.

He tees off for nine holes with Bill McBride, pro at Dover Air Force Base; Denny Walters, pro at Maple Dale, Dover, and Bill Entwistle, pro at Shawnee.

At 6 p.m., Thompson will conduct a clinic.

The club will stage a chicken barbecue at $1.50 per person.

Club members and guests are invited.

The usual Wednesday night tourney will not be held.

Cross Country Prospects Bright

Harrington High's cross country team enters its fifth season with a sparkling record of twenty-one victories and only three losses in dual, triangular, quadrangular, quintangular and sextangular competition.

Two members of last year's team are attending school in other districts this year. Clarence Hackett, who is the top finisher in the 1961 state meet still attending school in Delaware, is at Wm. Penn, New Castle. Milt Szmajda, the squad's No. 8 harrier, is in the Philippines. Allen Wix and Erwin Rogers were other lettermen, who have finished their schooling.

Chief returnee is Ken Garey, last year's No. 2 man. Garey has a 13:08 clocking for the Lions' tough 2.4 miles Killen's Pond course. Only one harrier in six counties can beat him.

Two top prospects, who saw little or no action last year are Randy Knox and George Bonniwell. Knox ran in three meets and was clocked in 14:14. Bonniwell has a 13:50 time made on Sept. 1st this year.

Two freshmen letter winners of last year were Dennis Rogers (No. 3) and Bob Smith (No. 4). Despite the loss of Hackett and the others this year's squad could be much stronger with the addition of Knox and Bonniwell, plus the expected normal improvement of Garey, Rogers and Smith. For example the 1961 team had one runner (Hackett) under 13 minutes and three harriers, Garey, Smith and Rogers under 14 minutes. By the season's end Coach McDonald's first five men could very well be under 13 minutes if they remain healthy and fit.

Other harriers who are running well are Wayne Carson, David Brobst and Robert Beene. A full list of the team should be available by next week.

A young prospect with a bright future is Larry Bonniwell. Larry first attracted attention at Easton in 1960, when Jim Lohr the Maryland's coach came over to ask his age after the mighty mite had knocked off several of his harriers. Bonniwell was two weeks shy of his 12th birthday. His time that season over the local 2.3 miles course was 18:10. Just one year later over the new, longer and tougher 2.4 miles course he then eighth grader was clocked in 15:33. This is a whopping improvement and the kid is still only 14.

Ruritan Wins Softball Pennant, 1st Playoff Tilt

The Ruritan Club won the pennant in the Harrington Softball League with a fine record of nineteen wins and five losses. They ended the regular season with a 12-9 victory over Stone's Hotel and then nosed the same club 6 - 5 in the first playoff game.

Bill's Barber Shop won their season-long battle for second place with the Hotelmen, by edging the Jaycees 1-0 in the final regular season game for those clubs.

In the post-season fray, Stone's jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Wayne Brown's belt out of the park. An upset appeared in the making as the Hotelmen added two runs in the top of the sixth on Dave Adams drive to the outfield which got away from K. P. Outten enabling Harold Melvin and Leslie Simpson to hotfoot it around the bases.

Bonniwell Third in D. C. Two Miler

George Bonniwell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bonniwell, Sr., is making a splash on the local distance running scene which indicates that he may be the next of a string of Harrington youths to make his presence known on a statewide basis. Others in this group were Clarence and Dwight Hackett, State cross-country champion Harry Knotts, Bob Smith and Bob "Buddy" Bonniwell, a cousin of the latest phenom.

George ran a 3 1/8 mile race during fair week in 17:30 seconds. This is very fine time for a beginner. He also was second to Smith in a 2 1/10 mile race dur-

TOM PECK, Area Lions Club representative, presents All-Star football tickets to members of the 1962 Harrington football squad. Every year the Lions Club buys tickets and gives them to the high school team. This year was no exception. Players and other interested fans went by bus and certainly saw an exciting game; just about everything happened. It is hoped that Harrington will get a player good enough to play in next year's All-Star Football Game.

35 Football Candidates At H.H.S.

Coach Bill Santo's Harrington High football Lions had a long drill Wednesday afternoon in preparation for a practice scrimmage with the Smyrna Eagles on Saturday morning.

Site of the contest will be the local gridiron. Starting time is 10 a.m.

Reese Theatre Notes

Esther Williams in "The Big Show" at Special Children's Matinee Sat., Sept. 8, 2:30 p.m.

Critics have been heralding "Lolita" for the past month. Television has been asking, "How could they make a motion picture of the book, "Lolita"?" It took MGM to complete a difficult assignment, and by the way, an excellent motion picture is the outcome. With James Mason, Shelley Winters, Peter Sellers and Sue Lyon, "Lolita" undoubtedly is the outstanding adult picture of our seasons.

"Lolita" plays the Reese Theatre this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Sept. 6-7-8. Notice from the Producers Association states that the age limit has been lowered to 16 years instead of 18 years.

Esther Williams appears in "The Big Show", the feature hit of the Special Children's Matinee, Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. "Lolita" starts at 4:30 p.m., Saturday for those 16 years of age and over.

The public wants to be happy. "The Notorious Landlady" with Jack Lemon and Kim Novack listed for Sunday and Monday, Sept. 9-10, surely fulfills the "happiness" expectations in presenting a fast moving rolly-poly comedy situation that will provoke laughing hysteria. To miss it is to miss one of the best.

Fishing Lines

Freshwater fishermen can look forward to improved bass fishing in September. With cooler nights "Mr. Onery" becomes more active. Successful fishermen know the bass's favorite feeding pools and cast their dollies or other deep running lures in these spots.

Bass fishermen can enjoy their sport the year round. The only regulations are a minimum size limit of ten inches and a daily limit of six fish.

Trout Fishing

Very good trout fishing all over the Delaware Bay was reported this week. Several party boats docked with over 200 fish—practically all trout along with a few king.

Party boats and small rowboats are available for hire at several docks on the Bay.

Limited Protein For Feeder Pigs

Feeder pigs need a limited amount of protein during the first week in their new quarters, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agent. Too much protein during this period will throw them off feed and may cause a variety of digestive disorders that will slow down growth and reduce profits, he says.

Feeder pigs need a limited amount of protein during the first week's stay in their new quarters.

There are two good ways to provide such a ration: You can hand-feed a limited amount of a 16 percent protein complete feed at the rate of one pound of ration for each 40-pound pig, with an antibiotic level of 100 to 200 grams per ton of ration.

Or some producers have found that a self-fed low-level protein ration has been successful. It should contain about equal parts of corn and oats, fortified with a protein supplement, alfalfa meal, mineralized salt and antibiotics.

Either of these rations does a successful job of getting feeder pigs off to a good start. After the first 7-10 days, Vapaa says, the protein level can be increased without harmful effects.

facility is a significant and vitally necessary step toward maintaining the company's competitive position in the food industry," Giblin said today.

"The plants to be replaced were all built many years ago and, in view of the rapidly expanding economy and the development of new processing techniques, are not efficient by today's standards," he added.

General Foods said it will give every consideration to employees at the four plants. It is the company's announced intention to transfer to Dover those who wish to come here and are qualified to fill the jobs which will be available.

Termination allowances will be paid to those who cannot make the move and the company will assist them in finding new jobs, the company's officials said.
