

2 SIEZED IN '59 HARTLY BANK HOLDUP; JOB NETTED $5,000

State police detectives and FBI agents Tuesday arrested two of three persons accused of the 1959 robbery of nearly $5,000 from a Hartly bank.

Arrested were: Patricia Ann Cain, 20, of Woodside, and Richard D. Martin, 26, of 111 Wynder Drive, Garfield Park, near New Castle.

Federal agents and state detectives are continuing their search for a third suspect whom police identified as Clifford W. Robinson, 31, Robinson's address was listed only as Wilmington.

The woman, an office clerk in Dover, was arrested there early Tuesday morning by state police detectives and FBI agents.

She was released under $5,000 bail on the charge, contained in a federal complaint, of violating the federal bank robbery statute, after a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Nicholas H. Rodriguez.

Martin, who police said was a truck driver, was arrested in Wilmington by detectives and agents and was scheduled to appear before U.S. Commissioner Edward J. Pollard in Wilmington.

The Trust Company was robbed shortly after noon on Feb. 16, 1959.

The Hartly branch of the West Dover Trust Co. was robbed Feb. 16, 1959 shortly after noon. The bandits were described as a man and a woman in their early 20's.

The man wore a light blue handkerchief over the lower part of his face and the woman had her hair tucked up under a man's work cap.

In the office when the February, 1959, robbery was staged was Mrs. Ethel M. Hughes, bookkeeper. Her husband, Luther M. Hughes, cashier, was in a rear room talking on the telephone to his cousin, James Hughes, Dover attorney.

Both bandits carried "shiny" .32 caliber revolvers.

"This is a holdup, don't move," the man ordered.

The woman bandit leveled her gun at Mrs. Hughes as the masked man went toward the rear office. Pointing a gun at Hughes, he ordered him to "keep on talking just as if nothing is happening."

As soon as Hughes finished the conversation, the bandit said he wanted the money from the cash drawer. The bandit accompanied Hughes to the front of the bank and scooped approximately $4,800 from the drawer.

The masked man also tried to open a safe in the office, but was unable to make any headway because of a timing mechanism and gave up after a brief trial.

While the robbery was being staged, Mrs. Mary T. Moore, another bookkeeper, returned from lunch, and she was ordered into a rear room with Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. There, the three had their hands and feet taped by the bandits.

About this time the Rev. Leonard J. Mackiewicz, priest-in-charge of Immaculate Conception Mission, Maryland, entered the bank, carrying a canvas bag containing about $137 for deposit. The woman bandit nodded for him to go into the rear room.

"Sorry to do this to you father," the male bandit said, as he made the priest sit in a chair against the wall. He took the bag of money and both bandits left the bank.

They jumped into a faded yellow coupe which had been parked outside the bank near Hughes' car, and drove off in the direction of Dover.

Father Mackiewicz untied Mrs. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and police were called.

The woman bandit did not utter a word during the holdup. The man was described as speaking in a refined manner.

State police and FBI agents began an intensive search, throwing up roadblocks minutes after the robbery was reported. The roadblocks were withdrawn about five hours later when the bandits had not been apprehended.

The bank is on the east edge of Hartly, three miles from the Maryland line and 13 miles from Dover.

More than 170 state police were working on the case at one time.

Newark Girl Wins 4-H Scholarship

Phoebe Fassig, 18, of Newark, has been awarded a $400 college scholarship as a result of her outstanding record in the 4-H foods project. The announcement was made by James O. Baker, State 4-H Club Leader.

Miss Fassig will receive one of six scholarships awarded annually in the National 4-H Awards program.

The selection for this honor goes all the way back to 1960, according to Baker, when Phoebe was selected state winner in the foods and nutrition awards program. At National 4-H Club Congress later that fall she was named first alternate for one of the $400 dollar national awards.

Recently, she learned that one of the six winners did not plan to attend college, so the scholarship was here. She enrolled as a freshman at the University of Delaware last week.

Phoebe is a seven-year member of the Green Meadows 4-H Club in Newark. Her 4-H career covers a wide range of projects in addition to foods, including clothing, home improvement, gardening, citizenship, home beautification, health, electricity, entomology and junior leadership.

She is a native of Wilmington and attended the public schools there. She was graduated from Wilmington High School. She received the B. A. degree in fine and industrial arts from the University of Delaware and the M.A. degree in art education and supervision from Teachers College, Columbia University. For the past several summers she has continued graduate study at the Haystack Mountain School of Crafts at Deer Isle, Maine.

Miss Cheavens is a member of the Eastern Arts Association, National Art Education Association, National Committee on Art Education, and was one of the founders and first president of the Delaware Association for Art Education. She has also been a member of National Education Association, Delaware State Education Association, and Delaware Association of School Administrators for many years.

The theme of the day will be concerned with the 225th observance of John Wesley's "heart warming experience" at Aldersgate. It is hoped that the spiritual impact of the "Aldersgate Experience" will be felt deeply by all who attend. The speaker of the day will be the Rev. Charles E. Covington, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, Rehoboth Beach.

This day of meditation and prayer is an annual observance for all members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Peninsula Conference. Those attending are asked to bring a Bible and a box luncheon. Coffee will be served.

God's Bible School and College, Cincinnati, O.—Robert Bonniwell, sophomore and Roger Eilers, sophomore.

University of Pennsylvania — Bill Thompson, junior.

Bridgewater College—Leonard Masten, sophomore, and Becky Moore, freshman.

At a recent staff meeting of the State Highway Department, the various division heads were advised by William J. Miller, Jr., Director of Operations for the Department, to make preparations for the winter season.

Miller said it was important that all snow removal equipment be examined and tested so that any repairs that were needed would be completed at this season as to have the equipment ready for use when needed.

The stockpiling of sand and other materials that may be needed for use on slippery roads, was also reviewed and the Division Engineers were advised to start early in placing this material at point where it would be easily accessible.

Also reviewed was the type of weather during the winter in which construction activities would be permitted and also the conditions under which the placing of blacktop surfaces on the highways could be halted.

Other instructions included dirt road improvement activities with road excavation work on these roads to be started if a surface cannot be placed on the roads before the extreme winter weather arrives.

The three county division engineers will soon have details on snow removal work and their maintenance crews completed in time for each of the crews to become familiar with their duties for snow removal.

The placing of snow fence will be started when the farmers are through with activities in the fields where the fence will be located.

Other popular suit models come in gray worsted herringbones and in quiet olive tones. Casual or country-type suits are widely seen, in chevrons and shetlands, many with matching vests and featuring flap and patch pockets.

A word of caution—don't buy too many clothes before you get to college, since style and customs vary on different college campuses.

Even if you aren't the son of a millionaire, you can be well dressed. No matter how much money you have (or don't have) you have to plan your wardrobe to be well dressed. If you plan only a small wardrobe, select clothes and color combinations which can be worn in many different ways.

Remember, too, that frozen foods cook more quickly than fresh, and, by present methods, some frozen foods are better and are ready to eat as quickly if they are not pre-cooked. That's true of most vegetables—though not of a few such as turnips and pumpkin.

The truly big advantage in frozen cooked foods lies with those long preparation dishes such as certain stews, baked beans and roasts. And two cakes can be prepared nearly as easy as one.

So the problem of how to get dinner without letting dinner get to you can be partially solved by the use of frozen cooked foods—ready to heat and eat whether you buy them or prepare them yourself.

Director Of Art Education Appointed

Miss Anne E. Cheavens, former state supervisor of art education in the State Department of Public Instruction, has been appointed State Director of Art Education by the State Board of Education. She replaces Dr. William P. Vafeas who resigned recently.

Miss Cheavens taught art in Delaware schools for nine years prior to coming to the State Department of Public Instruction art staff in 1944. She held the position of supervisor of art education by the State Board of Education. She replaces Dr. William P. Vafeas who resigned recently.

She is a native of Wilmington and attended the public schools there. She was graduated from Wilmington High School. She received the B. A. degree in fine and industrial arts from the University of Delaware and the M.A. degree in art education and supervision from Teachers College, Columbia University. For the past several summers she has continued graduate study at the Haystack Mountain School of Crafts at Deer Isle, Maine.

Miss Cheavens is a member of the Eastern Arts Association, National Art Education Association, National Committee on Art Education, and was one of the founders and first president of the Delaware Association for Art Education. She has also been a member of National Education Association, Delaware State Education Association, and Delaware Association of School Administrators for many years.

The beauty show will be in conjunction with annual parade to be held in Lewes, Oct. 7.

Miss Faye Pritchett, Cambridge, who won the honors in 1960, will crown the new queen. Trophies will go to the queen from each state.

Judging will be at 2:00 p. m. in the Lewes High School. The parade in which fire companies, their auxiliaries and bands will be competing for trophies, will start at 4:00 p. m.

Miss Debbie Cannon, last year's queen, of Farmington, went on to receive the title of Miss Fire Prevention of Delaware.

Plans has been completed for the 1962 Poultry Nutrition Short Course at the University of Delaware Substation near Georgetown. The short course will be held on five consecutive Tuesday evenings starting October 2 and running through October 30. Sponsored jointly by the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware and the Delmarva Poultry Industries, Inc., it is open to producers, industry representatives, service men and educators interested in improving their knowledge of poultry nutrition, according to Frank Gordy, Substation director and extension poultryman. Some of the topics tentatively planned for the five weekly sessions include linear programming, micro-ingredients, toxicity of insecticides and herbicides, and the use of fish oil in poultry feed. Each evening's class will include two nutrition topics and a discussion period.

Gordy says that every effort is being made to encourage industry and agency people from neighboring states as well as Delaware to attend. He says that sessions behind us, we are now ready to offer a topnotch short course to poultrymen. More than 200 people attended the five sessions held last fall, which was the first attempt at holding a short course of this nature.

Arrangements for the meetings are being made by the School of Agriculture and DPI representatives.

Recommended Crop Varieties For Fall

Planting crop varieties that are well-suited to local conditions can mean extra profits to Kent County farmers, according to George Vapaa, the agricultural agent. He says too many farmers are planting varieties that are poorly suited or low yielding simply because they have always planted them in the past. The agent points out that researchers at the University of Delaware and other experimental stations along the east coast are continually developing new varieties that are better suited to local conditions, thus assuring higher germination, heavier stands, and higher yields.

Vapaa lists these crop varieties that are recommended by agronomists at the University of Delaware:

Wheat—Tayland, Seneca, Dual NuDel (southern Delaware only), Barley—Wong, Early Wong.

Oats (Winter) — Dubois, Norline.

Rye—Balbo, Abruzzi.

Alfalfa—Vernal (northern Delaware only), Williamsburg, Dupuits, Narrangansett.

Women Challenged To Get Into Orbit At Short Course

More than 200 women attending University Days for Women in Newark recently were challenged to "Get off their launching pads and get into orbit" by Dr. Carl Byers of General Motors Corporation.

He pointed out that too many people are bogged down with a disease he called negativism. "I have an idea negativism is just as dangerous to our American institutions and ideals as is communism," he said in an after-dinner speech to participants in a two-day short course.

In urging the people of America to keep abreast of the changing time, Byers said, "The challenge of education to religion and to our free enterprise way of life can well be summed up in this question—'How can we keep the human race in pace with the space race?'"

"Salesmanship is the spirit of America. Competition, rugged and fair, is the heart throb of our economy. This spirit of America based on free private enterprise which made us great, needs more selling today than ever before."

In speaking of the challenge to education, Byers suggested a fourth "R", Reverence, be added to the longstanding bywords of educators—Reading, 'Riting, and 'Rithmetic. "Simply stated, reverence is fair play, a higher regard for citizenship, good sportsmanship, and respect for the other fellow."

"I have an idea that education can and should be fun," he said. "Likewise, I have an idea that religion can and should be fun. I believe that the Master Teacher intended for our religions to be something stimulating and happy instead of something long-faced and gloomy."

More than 200 women attended sessions each day on the University campus. The program was sponsored by the Home Economics Extension Service at the University of Delaware.

Artists Series Subscription Sale Opens at U. of D.

PENINSULA OIL COMPANY OPENS NEW OUTLET IN HARRINGTON

Felton Enrollment Climbs

For the fourteenth year in succession Felton School enrollments reached new highs, showing 44 more pupils enrolled than at the same time last year. There are 352 pupils in the high school and 384 in the elementary school, for a total of 736. This represents an increase of 6.3 per cent over last September and more than double the enrollment in September, 1950.

Most of the rooms in the new additions are in use, but delayed delivery of equipment prevents use of two new science laboratories, a new industrial arts shop and mechanical drawing room, and an additional home economics laboratory. The building facilities when completed will accommodate a total of 925 pupils.

Democratic Rally At Fairgrounds

Tickets will be $2.50, with admission to the grandstand, where harness racing is going on nightly, free.

Mrs. Kathryn Derrickson is chairman of the ticket committee. She also advises prospective voters not to forget the final registration day, Sat., Oct. 20.

Wheat Vote Passes By Slim Margin

by Jerry L. Webb

The 1963 wheat referendum held August 30 in the 39 wheat-producing states was approved by a scant margin of only 1.7%. Sixty-eight and four-tenths per cent of the 235,696 producers that voted favored marketing quotas, 31.6% or 74,454 opposed them. But a 66 2/3% favorable vote was required to enact such a program.

Much of the wheat belt turned thumbs down on the proposal while states considered less important in total wheat production provided the winning margin.

Kansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Montana, Oklahoma, Utah, and Washington failed to get the needed 66 2/3%. On the other hand, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina voted almost unanimously for it.

Closer to home, Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware voted their approval with a combined total of 1544 for and only 393 against. Pennsylvania was the lone dissenter among neighboring states with 409 for and 604 against—the lowest yes vote in the nation.

The closeness of the vote can easily be dramatized by looking at the two wheat states—Kansas and North Dakota. Their combined vote of 90,111 represented almost 40% of the total vote cast. Kansas failed to pass the referendum, North Dakota passed it by only 3 1/3%. A switch of only 4,000 votes would have scuttled the whole program. A few changes in either of these major wheat states could have meant the difference.

Now let's consider how wheat producers and the Department of Agriculture interpret this vote. Those who are against controls say it shows a growing resentment among farmers against government controls and all of the confusion that exists in congress over farm legislation. Those who favor controls read the victory as a clear mandate for better action on farm legislation.

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, who is the chief author of farm legislation, reads it this way: "The result of the wheat referendum is a significant victory for the wheat farmer and a strong expression of the need for farm programs. A concerted drive was made to defeat it and the fact that this effort failed during a time when it was possible to take advantage of the frustrations and confusions of wheat farmers is a strong indication of their desire for a realistic farm program."

What will this close but favorable vote mean to producers? It means those in the 39 commercial wheat states who stay within their acreage allotments will be eligible for price supports on the 63 crop of not less than $1.82 per bushel. It may also indicate the need for a new look at future farm legislation by policy makers in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kratz, attended the funeral of Mrs. D. P. Nelson, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Friday. Those from Greenwood attending the Lyons-Prettyman reunion at Brandywine Park Springs, Wilmington, Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conaway, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prettyman and Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allen, and Mrs. Lena Barwick. Miss Charlotte Conaway, of Silver Spring, Md., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conaway. Miss Mahala Isaacs is spending a few days with her niece in Dover. Mrs. Ruth Post and Mrs. Barbara Dennis called on Merle Wade in Nanticoke Hospital Sunday evening. Mr. Wade is still very ill. Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis were Mrs. Joe Dennis Jr. and sons. Sunday evening callers at the Allison Davis home were Mrs. Woodrow Draper and Mrs. Lester Hatfield. Later in the evening they all called on Mr. and Mrs. William Howlett in their new home in the country. Tuesday Gary Lee Davis motored to Newark to call on Joann Kenyon, taking with him her little sister, Linda Lou Rae. Thursday morning, Gary Lee Davis, Kenny Baker and Ronald Elliott left for Massachusetts, where they were guests of the Eastern States Exposition. This trip was an award to the boys through their work in F.F.A. Raymond Baker drove them up, and they stayed at the Charles Hotel in Springfield, Mass. Dick Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Davis, left this weekend to complete his senior year at Lee College, Cleveland, Tenn., where he is studying for the ministry. He was accompanied by two other students, Miss Charlotte Miller, of Seaford, and Miss Brenda Bowden, of Bridgeville.

S. B. A. Notes

The Small Business Administration, an agency of the United States Government, announced that small businessmen in Kent and Sussex counties will be able to apply for an SBA loan directly from a representative of the Agency located in the offices of the Dover Chamber of Commerce at the Treadway Inn, Dover, on alternate Wednesdays from Sept. 19 to Nov. 28. Edward N. Rosa, regional director of the Agency's Philadelphia office, said this initial 12-week plan was effected by SBA at the urging of several prominent citizens in Delaware, among them Congressman Harris B. McDowell Jr. (D-Del.) who has long been an active supporter of the agency's many services and programs of assistance to small business. The SBA representative, loan specialist James Austin, will spend alternate Wednesdays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., in Dover and Wilmington for a 12-week period to test the response of Delaware small businessmen to the availability of SBA's services. Mr. Rosa said that the agency is trying to learn the extent of the interest in SBA's programs in Delaware so that SBA can determine the measures needed to insure that small businesses in this State have every opportunity to avail themselves of SBA's full services. He said that if the response merits it, SBA will take action to continue this weekly service, or possibly will establish a branch office in Delaware. Rosa explained that SBA's primary goal in its financial program is to facilitate and promote the financial well being of small business through extensive counseling. When SBA finds that additional funds are needed, the Agency attempts to assist small business in obtaining these funds through private financing. In fact, Mr. Rosa said, more than two-thirds of SBA's loans are made in participation with private lending institutions. When private financing is not available at reasonable rates, the Agency will consider making a direct SBA business loan for three major purposes: Business construction, conversion or expansion; the purchase of machinery, equipment, facilities, sup-

Harrington School Notes

8th Grade — Miss Morris. We have a new student in our room. She is Karen Brode and originally from Ephrata, Pa. She seems to like Harrington School and has already made many friends. Everyone likes Miss Johnson, our new science teacher. We hope she enjoys teaching us as much as we enjoy her classes. Miss Lesterman, our new gym teacher, has made our gym classes most interesting by allowing us to elect a squad leader. A squad leader is a person who leads us in exercises. She is elected for six weeks. Our squad leader is Brenda Neeman. Student Council representative, Brenda Neeman; president, Nancy Richardson, vice president, Jimmy Rash; secretary, Billy Abbott; treasurer, Daniel Smith. We are taking French twice a week this year. Our teacher is Mrs. Graden. She has translated our American names into French. When she calls on us to answer a question, we answer in French.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here! ...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN...TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS! Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico. These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them. The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles. All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty. Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements. See the "New Reliables" now at your Chevrolet dealer's! HARRINGTON MOTOR CO. Phone 398-3201 HARRINGTON, DEL.

Delaware Food Market Report

Though prices at the grocery store do seem higher than they were three weeks ago, food remains a bargain here in the United States. Today we pay out only 20 per cent (after taxes) of the family income for food. In contrast, the Russian family must spend 56 per cent. In Sweden it is 27 per cent; in Italy, 38 per cent; Peru, 40 per cent; Nigeria, 70 per cent. This means the United States family has 80 per cent out of every take-home dollar left for other things. It means more and better educations for our children, better home, better health, better living and more of the luxuries of life that make life more enjoyable.

The convenient foods are luxuries we can afford and even those families on a tight food budget plan can use them. Agricultural Research Service reports certain convenient foods are real bargains. We are saving money by using such foods as frozen concentrated orange juice, instant coffee, frozen peas and many cake mixes. These instant and heat and serve foods not only save dollars but make sense as they can reduce the daily food preparation time from 5 1/2 hours to 1 1/2 hours. This, of course, means the American homemaker has more time to devote to her children, time to participate in community activities, time to keep up with what's going on in the world and the have a job outside the home. All this and still feed our families well balanced wholesome meals.

Don't pine for the good old days when prime beef was 15 cents a pound. In those days Clarence's salary was $11 a week and 40 per cent of this was spent for food. Today the average income is around $125 a week and $25 of this is spent for food—and buys more and better food.

What can we find on the market today? There is an abundant supply of turkey available at reasonable prices; broiler-fryers are also an economical meat choice. Weekend specials make such cuts of beef as rib roast, some steaks, ground meat and chuck roast more reasonable even though these prices are higher than we have been paying.

This is an inbetween season with some vegetables getting scarce and winter supplies not yet very plentiful. However, we have good supplies of squash, carrots, cabbage, cauliflower, eggplant, lettuce, sweet potatoes and green peppers.

Fruits are a bit higher this week so it will pay to check special sales carefully. Such fruits as honeydew melons, red grapes, plums, Bartlett pears and bananas are weekend specials.

Five Concerts Scheduled At Wash. College

The Washington College-Community concert group has announced that it will present five concerts in Chestertown during the 1962-63 season.

To open the season, the Turnout Opera Players will appear on Wednesday, Oct. 3.

The concert series, now beginning its eleventh year, is sponsored jointly by the college and the citizens of Chestertown to bring fine artists to the community.

Robert L. Forney, Chestertown businessman who directs the project, said that local patronage of the series has increased pleasingly and that the program is attracting a growing number of subscribers from counties of the upper Shore.

All concerts are held in the auditorium of William Smith Hall, the main College administration building, at 8:30 p.m.

Out of town orders for season subscriptions are now being taken and should be directed to the concert office at the College.

The Turnout Opera Players will present a twin bill of Donizetti's "Il Campanello" and Leonard Bernstein's "Trouble in Tahiti" on October 3. The players are returning to Chestertown by popular demand following a smashing success in an appearance a year ago.

The season schedule also includes John Fieming, baritone, Nov. 8; Peter Howard, cellist, Dec. 6; Frans Reynders, mime, March 7; Marlowe Twins, duo Pianists, April 18.

John Fleming received his training at Manhattan School of Music, the Academy of Fine Arts and the New York Theatre League. His appearance have included five opera roles, several Broadway shows, television (including NBC television Opera), and recitals in Town Hall and Carnegie Hall.

Peter Howard has gained note as the only American prize winner in a recent Pablo Casals International Cello Competition. He is on the faculty of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, where he was an honor graduate, and has toured Europe twice within the past year with the Oberlin String Quartet.

Frans Reynders is a native of Holland who is called one of the most interpreters of the subtle and graceful mime art. Mr. Reynders studied at the Academy of Art in Amsterdam and in Paris and later studied under Etienne Decroux, master of modern mime and teacher of Jean Louis Barault and Marcel Marceau.

The Marlowe twins are products of the Temple University Music School, Philadelphia, who presented seventy concerts in their first season, year before last. They made their professional debut at the age of nine, and two years later were selected as youth concert soloists with the Philadelphia Orchestra. They have been featured on coast-to-coast television shows, and have performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra in Robin Hood Dell, the New York Philharmonic, and the Pittsburgh, New Haven and Lancaster symphonies.

Tracing Paper, Wheel Trim Sewing Time

A dress maker's tracing paper and a tracing wheel to transfer pattern markings will trim sewing time, according to Katie Thomas, county extension agent. They will also make your sewing more accurate.

She points out that the most common tracing wheel on the market has tiny spikes that penetrate the tracing paper and cloth, leaving a fine row of dots on the material. A new type of tracing wheel is also available in many areas. It has a smooth edge that permits accurate markings but will not mar the pattern or the table surface on which you work.

For best results with tracing wheel and paper, Mrs. Thomas gives these suggestions:

Place the paper so that the marks will be on the wrong side of the fabric. Use tracing paper as light in color as will show on the fabric.

Before you mark the fabric, try a scrap to see what is the best color of paper, how much pressure you'll need to use and whether the cloth is too sheer. The best materials are chambray, percale, gingham, denim and other fabrics heavy enough to keep the marks from showing on the right side.

When you mark, use only enough pressure to make the markings visible. If you follow directions, the carbon markings will come out after a few washings.

A—Not under the present laws. Such rights came to an end after the close of the Korean Conflict on January 31, 1955.

Q—I would like to know whether the veterans bonus after World War II was paid by the states or the Federal Government.

A—Several states, not all, have paid bonuses to World War II veterans. There has been no Federal bonus paid to these veterans but a series of benefits ranging from educational rights, home mortgage guaranties to monthly compensation and pension payments have been made to eligible World War II veterans by the Federal government.

Q—Did the State of Connecticut pay a cash bonus to its World War I veterans?

A—No. Connecticut paid a bonus to World War II and to Korean Conflict veterans. Both were for $10 each month of active service with a maximum payment of $300.

Farm Labor Report

State Summary

The continuation of the summer drought has caused further deterioration of the prospects for the soybean and lima bean harvests. Entire fields in some areas have turned yellow without beans developing. Lima beans are drying in the pods before harvesting in many sections of the state. Pasture lands are bare and yields of both clover and alfalfa hay are far below normal. Field corn yields will be down due to the dry weather. The green pepper harvest is at peak and should continue for another two weeks. Tomatoes, melons, sweet corn, and potatoes are in the clean up stages with scattered harvesting throughout the state. Migrant crews are breaking up as families with school age children are leaving for home to enter the children in school. Surplus crews have all found employment in adjoining states or are preparing to return south for pre-harvest work in Florida. Employment of local workers has fallen off as young people return to school or college and completion of harvests ended work opportunities. Most areas will have ample help for remaining harvest activities.

Wilmington Area

Activity continues in the potato harvest on a few farms but most growers have the crop all in. Some late picking of tomatoes but this week should be the last of that crop. Haying curtailed due to dry weather. Remaining migrant crews should complete harvest.

Dover Area

A few growers still have potatoes but the majority have completed the harvest. Late snap beans for fresh market should start next week and indications are that a shortage of pickers will develop. Interested workers should contact Ronald Grier, Farm Placement Representative at Phone 734-7438. Scattered picking of tomatoes should end this week. Crews ending work here either have commitments in other areas or are returning home. No workers available for other areas.

Georgetown Area

Although Sussex County has fared better than the rest of the state in rainfall, the amount of precipitation has been inadequate for the big lima bean crop. Considerable damage has been done by blossom drop and drying of beans. The crop is well over 50% harvested and any rainfall now will be a little late to make beans. Peppers are still at peak with most other crops in the end of harvest stage. Late snap beans are being harvested and pickers are in demand. Workers should contact William Hudson, Farm Placement Representative, phone 856-2717. No workers available for out of state referral.

Univ. Agricultural Editor Appointed

John S. Arnold, former extension editor in South Dakota and more recently press aide to the late Senator Francis Case, of that state, has been named agricultural editor and assistant professor of Rural Communications at the University of Delaware.

The appointment was announced by George M. Worrlow, dean of the School of Agriculture at the University. Arnold assumed his new duties on Sept. 1. In addition to his responsibilities as chairman of the department of rural communications, he will direct all information programs for the School of Agriculture and the Agricultural Extension Service and will teach two undergraduate courses in agricultural communications. The new editor replaces John A. Murray, who was recently appointed director of University Extension at the University of Delaware.

Prior to his appointment as agricultural editor, Arnold served as press aide to the late Senator Case from January, 1961, until the Senator's death last June. Before that, Arnold served as extension editor at South Dakota State College, and as a reporter on the Sioux Falls (S. D.) Angus-Leader and the Vermillion (S. D.) Plain Talk.

Arnold holds a B. A. degree in Journalism from the University of South Dakota and an M. A. degree in agricultural economics from South Dakota State College. He is married and has four children.

W. O. T. M. Notes

We enrolled two new members into our defending circle: Mrs. Bernice Hayman and Mrs. Legatha Farrow. We also had five of our co-workers attend the convention at Frederick, Md.

We have also helped the men redecorate the Lodge and chapter room.

We are asking for old toys that can be repaired for our underprivileged children's party for Christmas. We would be glad to have any you can give. Call 398-8404 or 398-8379. We are also planning to start our dinners. Watch for dates.

Poultry Disposal Pits Prevent Spread of Disease

Prompt disposal of dead chickens by burying or burning helps prevent the spread of disease, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agricultural agent. The quickest way to dispose of them is to drop them in a disposal pit. The chickens decompose rapidly without chemicals and cannot be dug up by dogs. With a pit it is not necessary to dig a hole or start a fire every time a chicken dies.

Pits in Delaware are usually built six feet wide and six feet deep. A well-constructed pit can be built by lying concrete or cinder blocks in a circle around the outside of the hole, then pouring a concrete slab on top over scrap lumber. To save money, many poultrymen line the pit with boards instead of blocks.

An old milk can or bell sewer tie (8 to 12 inches in diameter) makes a good opening to drop birds in.

Pits should last several years if large enough for size of plant. If pit fills up, build another and alternate; or use quicklime. Keep top covered all the time. Be sure the top is safe.

The agent suggests now is a good time to build the pits during a slack period in other farm work. A leaflet is available on this subject and can be secured from the agents office at the Dover postoffice, telephone 736-1448.

State Appoints Education Director

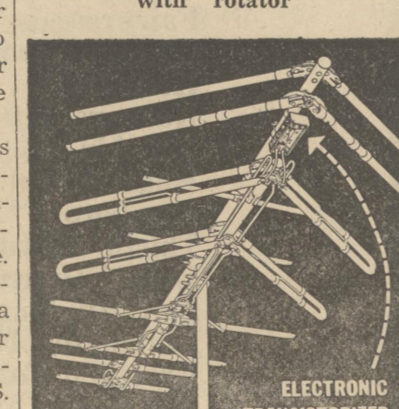

Mrs. Mabel M. Ouderkirk, formerly an employee of the New York City Housing Authority, has been appointed State Director of Adult Education by the State Board of Education.

Mrs. Ouderkirk has served on many civic organizations, particularly in the field of adult education. She played an important role in developing an unusually fine adult education program in North Syracuse, New York, while she was a member of the advisory committee to the school board in that school district. As a result, she received a leadership training fellowship from the fund for adult education in 1957 to do advanced work in the field of adult education at Syracuse University. For some 16 years Mrs. Ouderkirk was associated with the General Insurance Agency in North Syracuse where she rose from secretary to general manager and later to owner and manager of the company.

A native of North Syracuse, New York, she was graduated from the public schools there. She received the A. B. degree in sociology and education from Syracuse University and the M. A. degree from Teachers College, Columbia University with majors in adult education and administration.

Two Training Courses Offered By State

Two training courses, (1) Basic Supervisory or Leadership Training and (2) Human Relations, will be offered by the Division of Vocational Education of the State Department of Public Instruction. Classes will meet Monday through Thursday beginning Oct. 1, 1962, at 7 p.m. These courses are available to both men and women employed as foremen or supervisors. Qualified persons interested in either or both courses may select any of the four evenings for taking the courses. Classes will be formed in Dover and Milford.

"Good handling of the foreman and supervisor's problems is one of the most important factors in the work of a supervisor," states Frank M. Frostburg, supervisor of Industrial Education. "Supervisor training conferences are a practical way," he continues, "to help supervisors to acquire skills for getting results with the people they supervise."

The topics which will be covered in the basic supervisory or leadership training class will include duties and responsibilities of foremen and supervisors; individual differences in workers; developing leadership qualities; maintaining quality standards; good housekeeping; reducing waste, costs, lost time, and grievances; maintaining discipline; safety; creating job interest; job training and other topics.

The course in human relations will use the technique of case problems, incident processes, and group discussions. Topics to be covered include management principles and human relations among workers; what constitutes good human relations; improving personnel management; how supervisors can gain and maintain good cooperation; discipline; problems of communication; and logical thinking as applied to the solution of grievances. The two training courses will consist of a two-hour evening session per week, for fifteen weeks, for a total of thirty hours under the direction of a skilled and experienced conference leader. In order to qualify for a certificate, one must attend at least 75% of the total number of scheduled sessions. The fee will be $2 per person for the entire training period.

Registration will be held Mon., Sept. 24, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in room 2011, 2nd floor, of the State House Annex, Dover.

The training will be under the direction of Frank M. Frostburg, State House Annex, P. O. Box 191, Dover, telephone, 734-5711, extension 449. All those interested are urged to write or call for additional information.

Those employed at the Dover Air Force Base should contact Francis Yourison, Employee Development Office, telephone, 734-8211, extension 635.

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Football schedule for the Harrington High Lions is: Sept. 22—Bridgeville, away; 29, Lord Baltimore, home; Oct. 5, Millsboro, away; 13, Dover Air Force Base High School, home; 20, North Dorchester, away; 27, John M. Clayton home. Nov. 2, Selbyville, away; 10, Rehoboth, home; 16, Delmar, away. Dover Air and North Dorchester are non-league games.

A pickup team from this area defeated Gumboro 3-0 in softball last week. The locals added a hurler from Dover to their lineup and it proved to be a necessary precaution as the visitors brought an even faster pitcher with them.

Monsignor Bonner High of Philadelphia were league champions in 1961 and apparently liked the feeling for they were caught practicing before the official starting time of August 10. They were suspended for one year from league play. All their games will now be classed as exhibitions. With all the heat prostration deaths this season, August 10th seems too early to us.

Harrington High of Rosemont, Pa., won their opening football game this fall after a three season record of one victory in 26 games. In 1960 when Harrington High's Harry Knotts was second in a cross-country race in Philadelphia, the press labeled him as a product of Harrington High.

At a recent Little League Baseball organization meeting, Jim O'Neal the loop's founder and prime mover was named president for another year. Bill Walls will be vice president. Among his duties will be the responsibility of heading the minor league if one is needed. The positions of secretary and treasurer will be combined with the previous secretary, Doris Fry, handling these duties. Keith Burgess returns as player agent.

Houston has been accepted as a new league team for next season.

Clarence Hackett, a harrier who learned his trade here, has been clocked in 11:45 on the state championship cross-country course at Rockford Park, Wilmington. Now in his senior year and competing for Wm. Penn High, New Castle, he is the top ranking state harrier in Delaware on the strength of his fifth place finish in the state championships last year. The first four finishers are graduated. His time in 1961 was 11:26, while wearing the Blue and Gold of H.H.S. He is in great shape for the middle of September and barring accident or injury he is the man to beat. Harringtonians are rooting for Hackett to go all the way and become the second state champ to be developed here.

Brian Harrington of Claymont and his older brother, Charles, are the sons of a former Harringtonian. Both ran in the distance races held at the Delaware State Fair here this July. Brian, 16, won a two mile race for 19-year-olds and under held at Woodbury, N. J. over the past weekend. His time was 10:24. Charles was second in 10:30.

Lions Scrimmage Lewes; Open at Bridgeville

The Harrington High School football Lions entertained the Lewes pirates of the Diamond State Conference last weekend and gave the visitors a rough time before bowing by the close margin of one touchdown to none.

Veteran Paul Rash, a speedy, well-proportioned senior, is sidelined for the season with an injured back, so did not participate. Other seasoned performers on the sidelines with injuries were Ron Hughes, Joe Taylor and Stewart Greenberg. With this quartet in action the Lions would probably have done even better last Friday.

David Harcum, a 180 lb senior tackle, gave the Pirates fits all afternoon. At one stage of the workout he made three straight tackles and at another four straight. It was estimated that he accounted for 50% of the tackles made by the Lions.

Lewis Starkey, a standout on the wrestling team last winter, is developing into a rock-'em, sock-'em, guard. This will surprise no one who knows the aggressive, strong-boy. Dick Collins helped turn back several Lewes offensive thrusts.

Jim Carter and Ron Melvin are other huskies, who are being counted on by Coach Bill Santo to give the Lions a strong forward wall.

Tom Lord, Stewart Greenberg, and Richard Black are leading end candidates.

The injured Joe Tores and Joe Taylor, Wayne Collison and Bob Smith have all been given a crack at filling the shoes of graduated fullback Bill Porter. The latter and Bob Wilson are probably the best line plungers ever to wear the Blue and Gold.

Barry Fry and Jeff Adams may split the quarterback duties. Each can also handle a halfback's duties. Bill Adams, short on size but long on savvy is a certain starter at the other halfback spot.

Charles Taylor and Rusty Jack are a couple of chunky backs with speed. Taylor is a track sprinter and is hard to knock down when he gets up steam. Jack is less experienced but possibly more elusive.

Bridgeville will host the Lions in the Henlopen Conference opener for the locals. The Mustangs are always tough for H.H.S. and have won all the previous tilts between the clubs. The Sussex Countians have eighteen letterman back but are still essentially a one man team. Foster Flint, a 200 pounder, has at least four years experience. He can pass, sweep the ends and do everything except take charge of the water bucket. A track sprinter, he can hit the line and once through can outrun the secondary. He was sidelined for most of the Mustangs' opening game loss to Dover Air Force Base High, with a bad ankle. If the big bull is fit by Saturday the Mustangs may rebound with a vengeance.

The Lions were much improved in the Lewes contest compared to their setto with Smyrna the previous week. Victory-starved local pigskin fans have seen only two H.H.S. victories in two years. It is hoped a large number of Harringtonians will be in Bridgeville Saturday afternoon to inspire our boys to do their best.

Football Squads Picked

The Buddy Dean Dance held at the Armory Friday night netted the Harrington Junior Football League a sum in the neighborhood of $175. More than 300 people attended.

The cheer leaders are practicing in preparation for the upcoming season. They will be listed later.

Rosters of the teams for this autumn's play are listed below.

Field Hockey News

Girls' hockey practice started last Monday night, Sept. 10. The girls have been practicing diligently and are holding high hopes for the scrimmage on the home field with Milford High School this Thursday, Sept. 20, 3:30 p. m.

The girls playing varsity hockey this year are Claudia Neeman, Carol Smith, Jeanie Thomas, Carol McNally, Pat Richardson, Nancy Blades, Dawn Hopkins, Michele Jack, Linda Smith, Cristy Coady, Susan McDonald, Jackie Russum, Sharon Walls, Nancy Bradley, Susan Brown, Frances Downing, Bonnie Tucker, Sylvia Outten, Nina Hitches, Lois Larrimore and Nancy Harrington.

Junior Varsity hockey will be played by Marilyn Walls, Elizabeth Trotta, Vivian Torres, Joyce Donovan, Vickie Hill, Becky Goodhand, Debbie Swain, Brenda Neeman, Susie Taylor, Peggy O'Neal, Joan Smith, Patty Jopp, Mary Ann Clark, Judy Burgess, and Phyllis Robinson.

The team managers are Susan Gilstad and Gloria Shaper. Claudia Neeman and Carol Smith were elected co-captains of the varsity team.

Marilyn Walls and Elizabeth Trotta were elected co-captains of the varsity team.

Miss Testerman, girls' coach and physical education teacher, and all the girls on both teams, are asking for the support of the townspeople during this hockey season.

A note of special interest is that last year was the first year in the past five years that Harrington High has had a winning hockey season. Since there were no seniors lost through graduation, this may well be our school's best hockey team in years.

Don't forget — support your girls.

Harriers Nearing Mid-Season Form

With the advent of cooler weather, Coach Harold McDonald's H.H.S. cross-country Lions are whittling many seconds off their individual course records.

McDonald is using a handicap system this season which is causing his charges to develop much faster. The younger and slower boys start a minute ahead of the medium group. The medium performers in turn start a minute ahead of the fast group. The fast group has a 30 second lead over Ken Garey.

The first group is therefore off and running 2 minutes and 30 seconds before Garey gets the green light. Each group is trying to catch the group ahead and at the same time they are trying to avoid being caught from behind. The results are amazing. Boys with no experience ten days ago are already running fast enough to earn a first string berth on any lower Delaware team except Harrington. Outstanding tyros are Roger Redden, Danny Hicks, Roger Betts, Dennis Spicer, Henry Minner, and George Bonniwell.

Veterans who are rounding into starting form quickly are Randy Knox, Ken Garey, Wayne Carson and Dennis Rogers. Several others are much faster almost every workout.

Bob Smith and Albert Ratledge who were clocked in 13:45 and 14:36 respectively last year are working out at home, so a 1962 clocking is unavailable for either of them at present. Needless to say both these lads are highly valuable performers, who are capable of helping any team in the area.

- Ken Garey, senior, 13:49;
- George Bonniwell, sophomore, 13:50;
- Randy Knox, junior, 14:22;
- Wayne Carson, junior, 14:28;
- Dennis Rogers, sophomore, 14:36;
- Roger Redden, freshman, 14:45;
- Roger Betts, sophomore, 14:46;
- Henry Minner, sophomore, 15:37;
- David Brobst, junior, 15:49;
- Nelson Reed, junior, 16:08;
- Bob Beene, freshman, 16:08;
- Larry Bonniwell, freshman, 16:09;
- Danny Hicks, 8th, 16:28;
- Dennis Spicer, 8th, 16:32;
- Donald Wells, freshman, 16:51;
- John Dickerson, junior, 16:59;
- Roy Porter, sophomore, 16:59;
- Donald Minner, 8th, 17:38;
- Frank Cain, sophomore, 17:58;
- Wayne Melvin, 8th, 18:02;
- Allan Jerread, freshman, 19:45; (one workout).
- 1961 clockings — Bob Smith, 13:45; Albert Ratledge, 14:36; Frank Welch, 15:29.

Agent Offers Winter Grain Growing Hints

High quality seed, varieties best suited for the area and proper liming and fertilizing are all very essential for successful winter grain production, suggests Kent County agent, George Vapaa.

He lists these three essentials: Seed: Use high quality, tested and treated seed. Your best choice is Delaware Certified Seed. Seed should have a germination of 90 per cent or higher and be free of prohibited or noxious weed seeds.

Varieties: Recommended varieties are winter oats, Norline and Dubois; winter wheat, Redcoat, Seneca, Dual, Thorne, TAYland, and NuDel.

Fertilization: Have complete soil tests made at the University of Delaware to determine small grain lime and fertilizer requirements. Small grains do not grow well on very acid soils. Barley has the same lime requirement as alfalfa.

Vapaa urges farmers to contact him for lime requirement tests.

Kent-Sussex Kennel Club Holds Picnic

The Kent-Sussex Kennel Club held a picnic and an instruction and training class on the grounds of the Delaware State Fair, Harrington, Sun, Sept. 9.

Mrs. Martha Covington, Oxford, Md., a well known professional handler and obedience training instructor gave the instructions and judged the handling of the dogs. The results were:

- Best Puppy Group—1. German Shepherd, Marcus of Enroh's, owner, Mrs. Carol Macvaugh, Georgetown.
- 2. Welsh Terrier, My Fanwy of Benbrae, owner, Mrs. Martha Benson, Wyoming.
- 3. Boston Terrier, Debbie's Special Chipper, owner, Mrs. Mamie E. DeLong, Harrington.
- 4. Rough Collie, Pratt's Branch Redman's Candy, owner, James Tatman, Felton.

Best Adult Dog Group—1. German Shepherd, Bee Jay's Black Cinderella, owner, Mrs. Beverly Dugan, Milford.

- 2. Rough Collie, Jan August's Narabella, owner, James Tatman, Felton.
- 3. Gordon Setter, Marshall's Sportsman, John H. Kunkle, Milford.
- 4. English Setter, Lucky Duke of Benbrae, owner, Chester Benson, Wyoming.

The club's next affair will be an exhibition to be held Sept. 21 at 7:30 p. m. in honor of National Dog Week on the Milford High School grounds just before the Milford-Cambridge, Md., football game.
