A Special Plea For Clothing, Toys for Stockley

During this time of the year, when we all are making long lists of new things to buy and give, it shouldn't take too much time to make another list—a list of good used articles that you have outgrown or no longer have use for and are just taking up valuable storage space, such things as clothing for men, women, infants and children, shoes, boots and last, but not least, good usable toys.

All clothing should be clean and in good condition.

This appeal is being made in behalf of the needy patients at the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded at Stockley. These are the patients, young and old, who have no family or whose families are unable to provide them these necessities. It is through your generous donations that these needs may be filled.

So please, after that Thanksgiving dinner, start putting these articles together.

Get the kids in on it, too; children like to give just as much as Mom and Dad do. They will be more than happy to clean out that toy box before Christmas and Santa arrive.

This appeal is made by St. Bernardette's Catholic Church to all parishioners and non-parishioners alike.

Donations may be made at Trotha's Appliance Store on Commerce Street or just call Mrs. Jessie Lyons—398-8483, and all donations will be picked up, whether it be one, ten or twenty articles.

Scouting Events at Painbridge, Dec. 7-9

Teenage skills ranging from dating etiquette to physical fitness will be judged during the Del-Mar-Va Council's "Explorer's Olympics" weekend at Bainbridge naval training center, Dec. 7-9.

Several hundred Explorers, the high school boys in scouting, are expected to participate in the three-day event. The conference has been planned by the council's Explorer cabinet, made up of boys representing each of 14 Scout districts of the Del-Mar-Va peninsula.

Focal point of the weekend is a Saturday afternoon competition in individual skills. The dating etiquette event is among these, and in it a boy is given a problem which may arise when dating. His answer is then judged on several qualities, among them "persuasiveness."

Oratory, government, conservation, electronics, navigation, photography, auto mechanics, civil defense, swimming, bowling, weight lifting, and marksmanship are among other skills in the afternoon competition. In one of these, the auto mechanics event, contestants must find out why a demonstration car will not start and correct the problem—all under the timing of a stop watch.

Saturday morning events center on sports skills, with individual scoring in situps, pushups, pullups, dashes, runs, basketball shooting, jumping, ball throws for accuracy and distance, and a rugged obstacle course.

The conference opens with a series of discussion groups on Friday evening, all involving techniques for planning and carrying out Explorer activities and for holding office in an Explorer post.

Surviving are his widow, Gertrude; a son, Capt. Harry G. Harrington, with the Air Force in Germany; a daughter, Mrs. John McGill, La Mesa, Calif.; and a brother, Oscar Harrington, Frederica.

C.K.R.T. Auxiliary Collecting Gifts for Veterans' Hospital

Once again the Christmas season heralds the work of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Christmas shops held each year at the Veterans Hospitals. As has been done in the past, the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Auxiliary Unit, under the direction of Mrs. L. Gooden Callaway, rehabilitation chairman, will be collecting gifts for the shop at the Brack-Ex Hospital in Elsmere, Dec. 8.

Other shops will be held at the Perry Point Hospital in Maryland and for veterans at the Emily P. Bissell Sanatorium, Delaware State Hospital and Governor Bacon Health Center.

When the shops are held each veteran makes a selection of gifts to be sent to the members of his family at home. The gifts are then gift wrapped, addressed and mailed for him. There is no charge at all to the veteran.

Gifts from the Harrington Unit will be displayed during the week of Dec. 3 through 7 in the window of Clendening's Pharmacy. Each member of the C.K.R.T. Unit is asked to take two gifts to the pharmacy during that time.

Farm Journal Editor Says State Dept. May Be Failing American Farmers

Someone is throwing stones into the European economic pond, according to Claude W. Gifford, associate editor of Farm Journal, and the ripples are spreading around the world.

Speaking to the Delaware Crop Improvement Association at its annual awards banquet held in Dover Tues., Nov. 20, Gifford reported his firsthand observations of the European Economic Community and proposed a plan of action for American farmers to consider. He is economics editor of Farm Journal and is responsible for its Washington report and Farmcast. In 1960 and again in 1962 he traveled to Europe to study developments in this new economic community.

"Unless the United States wakes up soon and fights hard for its trade in Europe, we will see a shrinking market for U. S. farm goods in the area of the world where we ship two-thirds of the farm exports that we sell for dollars; our United States international monetary exchange balance, already in trouble, will suffer; and Europe itself, and the Common Market, will be hurt in the long run."

Western Europe seems determined to build a high single common tariff wall around the common market, he said. It will be harder to vault farm goods over this tariff wall, particularly wheat, feed grains, poultry, rice, fruits and vegetables. "Since 53 per cent of Delaware's cash farm income is derived from poultry and eggs, this will have strong repercussions in this area, Gifford noted.

If Great Britain joins the common market another 52 million people will be sheltered behind the high protection wall, the editor said. "In short, it will put the world's largest single food importer, Great Britain, behind that high, hard-to-scale common market tariff wall."

The advantages of a European economic community are obvious and in some minds quickly outweigh the disadvantage to American agriculture. In the struggle wool, 54 per cent of the vegetable oils and fat, and almost half of the world's imports of eggs and tobacco.

While most of the countries of the world that are excluded from the Common Market are screaming bloody murder about this alliance, he said, the United States has given its wholehearted blessing. The State Department's policy on the common market is something like this: "We officially approve of the common market, including Great Britain becoming a member if that is what they want." Gifford says this policy is one of the understatements of our times. "I believe that every capital in Europe realizes that the U. S. government's position is that we are eager for a united Western Europe and one that included Great Britain."

In fact, the State Department may want a unified Western Europe so badly that they may be failing to negotiate for more favorable terms for American farmers. Gifford cites these circumstances supporting his view: "Two years ago I found that these EC countries were talking a good game of keeping their doors open to a continued flow of products from American farms. 'Don't get excited,' they said. 'We haven't even set our tariff levels yet, or our support levels. Don't prejudge us that we are going to be restrictionists.'"

When the chips were down, he said, the rates on almost every agricultural tariff were higher than the average that existed in the six separate countries before. Broilers going into Germany were raised from 4.8 cents per pound on 30 cent broilers going into Hamburg to 13 cents per pound. Tariffs on fruit that averaged 11 per cent of the value before were hiked to 15 per cent. Grain duties also climbed.

The advantages of a European economic community are obvious and in some minds quickly outweigh the disadvantage to American agriculture. In the struggle of the larger upstate firms.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FLOAT — The most successful parade here in years saw Santa riding on the C. of C. float Saturday. The float was not eligible for competition since the chamber was sponsoring the parade.

KENT TO TRY AGAIN FOR BIDS ON AUDIT

The Kent County Levy Court expects at least one bid for its annual audit when it advertises it again this week.

Not one accountant or accounting firm submitted bids on the county project when the job was advertised last month. It is about a $1,000 job.

At Tuesday's weekly session of the Levy Court accountant Harold E. Remley informed the court he hadn't seen the first advertisement and indicated he would bid on the audit if given a chance.

Clerk of the Peace Walter J. Handberry said he expects "two or three" more bids also. They will be opened Dec. 4.

Delaware accountants don't like to bid on jobs because they feel they are professionals in the same sense as doctors and attorneys.

The American Institute of Accountants opposes competitive bidding and the State society subscribes to this view also.

All three Delaware counties have had trouble getting firms to answer their advertisements for bids. In New Castle County an official said "they refused to bid."

Eventually form letters were sent out which drew one reply and the Levy Court contracted with this firm for its audit, the official said.

In Sussex County one bid was received and the bid let according to law, said an official there.

The State accountants intend to push for legislation removing the requirement for competitive bidding from law.

However, a Dover accountant said that the Delaware society is dominated by at least one large Wilmington company which is pushing to eliminate competitive bidding.

This accountant said downstate accountants don't feel as strongly about bidding for work as some of the larger upstate firms.

Rural Recreation Booklet Available

Looking for new ways to make money on the farm? A new booklet recently published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture may have the answer, according to George Vapaa, Kent County agent. The name of the publication is "Rural Recreation."

It explains many ways farmers can take advantage of their wide open spaces and turn them into new sources of income by providing facilities for farm vacations, camping, hunting, fishing and other outdoor fun.

Vapaa says that Kent County farmers are in a prime area for this kind of recreation, and that many of them could profit from such an enterprise.

Copies of "Rural Recreation" may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. for 25 cents each.

Kent School Boards Ask Reassessing

Reassessment of Kent County real estate was endorsed Tuesday night by a group representing eight county school boards.

Resolutions backing reassessment will now be brought up at individual school board meetings for presentation later to the Kent County Levy Court.

Approval of reassessment came at a meeting of school board representatives arranged by the Dover Board of Education and held in Dover High School.

Also discussed were tax collections, trailer taxes and the new prevailing wage scale requirements affecting school construction.

Several school board members commented that the wage scale set by the State Department of Labor and Industrial Relations is too high.

One member said the scale is higher than wages paid at Dover Air Force Base to construction workers and "that was always the highest in the area."

Speakers suggested the scale was derived from only two or three sources and does not represent an average of wages paid by Kent contractors.

The group decided to ask the attorney general's office to advise whether or not a school district has the authority to collect a school tax.

School taxes are normally paid through the county receiver of taxes but three or four districts have tried to step up collections in their own districts.

Representatives attended from the Kenton, Smyrna, Hartly, Caesar Rodney, Frederica, Harrington, Felton, and Dover School districts. In addition, two representatives from Milford arrived just before the meeting ended.

In discussions of county reassessment the point was made that New Castle and Sussex Counties have had reassessments by out-of-state firms and have been pleased with the results.

The cost, it was said, was soon realized from increased revenue due to the reassessment.

School Christmas Carol Program

The annual Christmas carol and candlelight program by the Harrington Special School District will be held next Wednesday night, Dec. 5, in the Harrington School Field House beginning promptly at 8 p.m., according to an announcement from the office of the school superintendent, Albert Adams.

The program will begin and close with the traditional candlelight procession by the High School Glee Club, who will also sing old and new carols.

Other participating groups will be the Grade School chorus and the Junior High Girls' chorus. A brass ensemble will usher in the program by playing traditional carols on the steps of the old Elementary School, members of which are Harold Ellwanger, and David Winkler, trumpets, and Glenn Smith and Steve Motter, trombones.

Soloists will include Miss Sandra Whisler and Miss Cheryl Clark for the Senior Chorus, Cindy Kohel for the Junior High Girls' Chorus, and John Brown and James Russell for the Grade School chorus.

Pianists will be Carol Smith, Lois Larimore, Doris Wechtenhiser, and Jack Abbott. The organist will be Miss Sarah Moore, and the director will be Melvin L. Brobst of the High School faculty.

The program will take the place of the regular meeting of the Harrington Parent-Teachers Association who will sponsor a social hour in the school cafeteria immediately following the program when refreshments will be served.

The program is open to the public without charge.

Legislature To Organize January 1

The 122nd General Assembly will start the new year with work—opening its session on New Year's Day.

This is not a matter of being anxious to get to work—it's just following the State Constitution which says the legislature is to convene on the first Tuesday in January in odd-numbered years.

Similarly, the three county Levy Courts, which have to organize on the first Tuesday of the year, will meet on New Year's Day.

It happens that the first Tuesday in January, 1963, is Jan. 1. The same thing occurred in 1957, and the 119th General Assembly met that New Year's Day, organized and opened the session as usual.

Del. Power & Light To Hold Open House Today

The Delaware Power and Light Company will hold an open house today beginning at 2 o'clock and ending at 8 o'clock.

There will be souvenir gifts, refreshments and a drawing for a clock-radio. All the public is cordially invited.

The employees are happy—they enjoy the well-appointed business offices, and are proud because they have had a hand in the planning. A. B. Parsons, division manager, and K. M. Farrow, district manager, asked them individually and in groups for ideas, many of which were incorporated in the final plans.

Duct work for the heating-cooling system is encased under a ledge, around the interior perimeter of the building. Cluttering the ledge with papers, books or materials is absolutely taboo. But, a beautiful floral arrangement is set on the ledge in each office.

Here again employees played a part and helped make the arrangements, under the guidance of Nellie Wimbrow, a company secretary in Salisbury, and also star flower-arranger. For containers, she used discarded materials connected with the electric service business, i. e., an insulator, a meter, a disc, a street lamp hood. The containers are set on flat slabs of wood, sliced to retain the bark and show the grain. The tree trimming crew provided these wood slabs! The office force sanded and sheilded them.

The building has a conference room seating 50, which is used for safety meetings and staff meetings.

The building serves as operations-base for 40 employees and includes those who serve customers in the Harrington district as well as those who work on a division level, serving Kent and Sussex Counties. By occupation the employee group includes cashiers, meter readers, service men, engineers and their assistants, line men, tree trimmers, a home economist, a secretary, a district manager and a division manager.

Combined Disaster Exercise Saturday

The Delaware Wing, Civil Air Patrol and the State Department of Civil Defense will hold a combined disaster exercise Dec. 1, to test aerial monitoring procedures and communications.

Announcement of the exercise was made by Col. Louisa Spruance Morse, commander of the Delaware Wing, CAP, and Lt. Col. J. Arnold Sullivan, director of the State Department of Civil Defense.

Maj. Calvin Rowe, USAF, will act as liaison officer during the exercise.

The State Department of Civil Defense will transmit radio messages through a CAP operator from the State Control Center, requesting readings of radiation intensity in the areas west of Dover and Selbyville, and in the vicinity of Milford. CAP personnel will also be asked to direct their attention specifically to road damage, accidents, pedestrian activity and Auxiliary Police action.

Gonset Radio will be set up at the State Control Center at 9:15 a.m. A CAP operator will install and operate the system.

Suburban Areas Scene of Impressive Land Use Changes, Economist Reports

Delaware's modern trend toward suburban living has transformed nearly 43,000 acres of rural land into housing developments, industrial and commercial sites, highways, airports, and railroads between 1937 and 1958, according to Gerald F. Vaughn, U. S. Department of Agriculture economist at the University of Delaware. Citing statistics from land use studies conducted by the University in the late 1930's and similar research completed recently by the University in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he indicates that these suburban land uses in Delaware amounted to 24,142 acres in 1937 and 67,091 acres in 1958.

The more than 67,000 acres in suburban land use in 1958 was about twice the acreage in incorporated municipalities, which was 32,070. However, suburban areas and incorporated municipalities together covered only eight per cent of Delaware's land area in 1958.

New Castle County has experienced the most notable suburban development since 1937. Suburban land use comprised only 7,570

CURTIS W. STEEN SEEN SENATE PRESIDENT PRO TEM

Rev. Donald Miller

Rev. Donald Miller To Be M Night Speaker

The Rev. Donald C. Miller, pastor of the Farmingdale Baptist Church, of Farmingdale, L. I., N. Y., will be the speaker for the annual M Night of Baptist Training Union of the Eastern Baptist Association to be held Mon., Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Wicomico Junior High School auditorium in Salisbury.

The Rev. Miller, a native of Pennsylvania, served three and one-half years in the air force. The Rev. Miller graduated from Baylor University, H. A. in 1949, he also graduated from the South Western Baptist Seminary B. D. in 1952. He served in pastorate in Dallas, Tex., for eleven years. He was president of the Dallas Baptist Conference, and held other denominational committee positions. He was appointed pastoral missionary for Long Island, N. Y., by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board in 1960. The Farmingdale Church, of which he is pastor, sponsors three chapels and one migrant missionary.

The meeting in Salisbury will be simultaneously in the associations of the Southern Baptist Convention. The worldwide goal is 600,000, and the goal for the Eastern Association is 625.

The Baptist Training Union is an organization in each local church which meets each Sunday evening prior to the evening service. Classes are provided for each age group nursery through adult.

The purpose of the Training Union is to train for church membership enabling each church to have a more efficient and trained leaders.

During Mobilization Night the association endeavors to promote the work for the coming year. The program will consist of a feature, Our Mission Together, first witnessing in activities, second witnessing in goals, third witnessing in world missions. The Allen Memorial Church choir under the direction of Mrs. Lewis C. McKinney, will furnish the special music.

The theme for 1963 is "Be Ye Witnesses." This theme will help to usher in Southern Baptist year of emphasis on World Missions. The Rev. Miller will bring a message on the theme. William J. Culver of Salisbury, director of the associational Training Union will preside at the meeting.

Sen Curtis W. Steen, D-Dagsboro, is likely to be elected president pro tempore of the Senate at the 122nd General Assembly Democratic senators reported Tuesday.

Sen. Alen J. Cook, D-Kenton, will probably be majority leader, and the majority whip is likely to be a New Castle County member—Sen. Calvin R. McCullough, D-Holloway Terrace, if he wants the post, or Sen. B. Walter Johnson, D-Bear.

Steen, Cook and McCullough all are saying publicly that they want the job of president pro tempore, but various Democrats predict privately that Steen will end up with the honor of holding the title once again. He had it in the 119th General Assembly and Cook had it in the 120th. At the last session it went to Sen. John E. Reilly Sr., D-Wilmington, who is not a contender this time because of illness. The senator is due to go back to St. Francis Hospital Friday for another operation, his third this year. The two previous operations were on his neck; now there is to be one on his tongue.

Both Cook and McCullough are reported to be willing to settle for the post of majority leader. There are seven down state Democratic senators and only three from New Castle County. There is a strong probability the downstaters will agree on Steen and Cook for the two top jobs and leave the third spot to be filled in New Castle County.

If a real fight developed between Steen and Cook, either could attempt to win by making a deal with the seven Republicans. Cook emerged the victor in a fight with Steen for the presidential pro tempore position in that way once before but he is unlikely to do it again. Other Democrats say both Cook and Steen view the honor of holding the position as not being worth a bitter split in Democratic ranks—particularly when a Democratic is when a Democratic governor is upstairs in Legislative Hall.

The president pro tempore acts as chairman of the Senate when the regular presiding officer, the lieutenant governor, is absent. Lt. Gov. Eugene Lamot was usually on hand at the last session, which meant that the president pro tempore did not have a great deal of presiding to do.

Aside from that, the president pro tempore has the job of making committee assignments. This responsibility brings a brief, and not large, amount of power, especially in view of the fact that the committee in Delaware's legislature are relatively inactive with the single exception of the Finance Committee.

Actually, the majority leader has a more active role than the president pro tempore in the daily activities of the Senate, doing a lot of the talking for the majority side. Steen was majority leader at the last session, and Cook was the majority whip.

National Farm Organizations Back Seal Campaign

The Delaware Tuberculosis and Health Society announced this week that three national farm organizations have joined in support of the 1962 Christmas Seal Campaign.

Frank F. Pierson, Jr., executive secretary of the Society, said that endorsements have been received from the National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Farmers Union.

"We are very grateful for these endorsements, and hope that we may continue to receive the splendid support from Delaware farmers that we have enjoyed in the past," Mr. Pierson said.

He said that Herschel D. Newsum, master of the National Grange, urged all members of the grange to support the National Tuberculosis Association in the 1962 Christmas Seal Campaign.

"Few similar campaigns have been more constructive; few seek a more humanitarian or economically sound objective; yet 40 million persons remain infected with TB," Mr. Newsum said. "This is a grim fact; it should develop within every American citizen a feeling of personal responsibility to support the Christmas Seal Campaign for 1962."

Mr. Pierson added that Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, pointed out that tuberculosis can and must be eliminated. "The American Farm Bureau Federation is pleased to support acres in that year; by 1958 it had reached 3,429 acres—approximately half of the State's suburban land. Most of this expansion, an estimated 14,000 acres—was associated with land utilized for the 40,000 new homes constructed outside incorporated municipalities in New Castle County between 1940 and 1960, Vaughn says. Construction of more than 8,000 acres of new highways and increases in industrial-commercial acreage were other leading land use shifts during this period.

Kent County has undergone a similar transition in suburban land use since 1937. Housing developments, industrial and commercial sites, highways, airports, and railroads covered only 6,171 acres at that time. By 1958, these uses accounted for 13,884 acres. Vaughn says that construction of the 4,000-acre Dover Air Force Base was responsible for most of this change. In addition, a large acreage has been utilized for the 8,000 suburban homes built in Kent County between 1940 and 1960. New Highways—involving an increase of about 2,200 acres, have constituted another important

Q-Can a veteran pay off his GI loan before it becomes due and not be penalized?

Q-May a veteran who has no service-connected illness enter a VA hospital and pay for his care?

A-No. The government extends hospitalization benefits free of charge to those veterans with service-connected disabilities and to those veterans with non-service-connected disabilities who cannot afford to pay for their hospitalization. All other veterans are expected to use non-VA hospitals.

SPARE THE ROD AND SPOIL THE CHILD

"He that spareth the rod hateth his son."—Proverbs, XIII, 24
Judging from the articles in the daily press, there is considerable uproar in the state over the prospect of enforcing the law by the whipping of a young violator who had been warned, on the occasion of a previous offense, that he would be subject to the punishment if he erred again.

There has even been formed an organization—The Citizens Committee for the Abolition of the Whipping Post in Delaware. Conversely, to our knowledge, there has been formed no organization to apprehend the person who raped an 81-year-old, and a 91-year-old and attacked a third, recently in Milford.

But that is the way the ball bounces. More persons will defend a criminal than the victim.

Objectors to the whipping post say it is cruel and barbaric. Our dictionary reads that the main definition of the first-mentioned word means delight in inflicting punishment. We do not believe the warden at the Kent County Correctional Institute would derive any pleasure from using the lash any more than a parent would in using a birch rod on a wayward son.

If use of the whipping post is cruel and barbaric, what about hanging? Is it barbaric? Is life imprisonment barbaric? Is imprisonment for five years barbaric? All involve physical or mental punishment and the latter is oftentimes more painful than the former. In other words, where should we stop in the matter of physical and mental punishment?

What do the people of Milford think about "cruel and barbaric punishment?"

Personally, we do not care whether Cannon is whipped or not, but if his sentence is commuted what will happen if a criminal receives capital punishment or long imprisonment? These penalties too, could be called "cruel."

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

The furor over twenty lashes to be administered to a young rascal is difficult to understand. Are his feelings more important than the safety of the great majority of people?

Softness toward criminals is one of the causes of the rise in thievery, assaults, rapes and murders. The sufferings of the victims are forgotten because of the maudlin sympathies expressed for the hoodlums when they face the penalties for their offenses.

Now the American Civil Liberties Union is formally entering the case claiming that "both the state and federal constitutions prohibit 'cruel' punishments." Any high school student can read the Federal Constitution and see for himself that power of interference in the internal affairs of the States was not delegated by them to the anticipated United States Government. So that is out.

The Delaware Constitution does say that "cruel punishments (should not be) inflicted." But did the framers of the Constitution regard twenty lashes at the whipping post as "cruel"? Evidently they did not. The whipping post was in use before and after 1897. Its constitutionality is not open to serious discussion. "Cruel" undoubtedly referred to inhuman acts by savage tyrants of bygone days.

Half a century ago people could, and often did, leave unlocked their houses and barns. Women could visit their neighbors and walk home at night by themselves without fear. Not only was this true in rural areas, but in the cities as well.

Now a decision must be made as to the relative importance of the safety of the vast majority of citizens or the feelings of young Cannon, Do-Gooders and Sob-Sisters are stirring up sympathy for him. On the other hand, those who value the safety of members of their families, should make themselves heard against organizations like the American Civil Liberties Union which is trying to help a criminal avoid the penalties for his misdeeds.

Last Week This Year To Join Blue Cross Blue Shield

"This is the last week of senior citizens of Delaware who are not already members have to join Blue Cross and Blue Shield this year," announced representative Miss Sara Case in a special statement to the Harrington Journal.

Miss Case, who is the representative of the Milford office for Group Hospital Service at 46 North Walnut Street, said, "Almost half of all Delawareans who are 65 and over already belong to Blue Cross and Blue Shield. A special opportunity for the other half of the Delaware senior citizens who are not already Blue Cross and Blue Shield members may join without the need for any health statements," Miss Case said. "There is no upper age limit," she added.

Two contracts are available to these senior citizens who are applying for membership. The high level of benefits program is called "65-National." The lower level program of benefits is called "65-Limited." Miss Case has literature and applications available at her office through the end of this week—November 30. Stop at her Walnut Street office or telephone her.

FARM JOURNAL

(Continued from Page 1) for a free world a powerful western oriented peace-loving, international-minded, prosperous, stable partner in Western Europe is paramount, he said. The only question in Gifford's mind is whether the Common Market will be that. "Our concern as farmers is that this new Europe isn't formed mainly at the expense of our trade with Europe." Not all farm exports to Europe will be hurt by the common market, according to Gifford. Only those things that the Europeans grow in appreciable amounts themselves will feel the pinch. The most important are wheat, feed grain, poultry, fruits and vegetables, lard and rice.

The amount of pain all of this will cause to American farmers depends on how high the European farm support levels are inside the tariff wall. "If they follow the present trend they'll set them high—higher than the present average in the six countries."

What needs to be done about the developments in Europe and their effects on American farming and more specifically on Delaware's agricultural segment? Gifford summed up a plan of action which includes these five points: 1. Farm groups in the U. S. need to start asking their Congressmen and the government pointed questions about our policy toward the Common Market. 2. Congress should see to it that the intent of the new trade expansion act is carried out—that the President courageously uses his powers to raise tariffs or to withdraw or offer trade concessions to expand trade. The power to reward or punish trading partners is there. 3. We must have strong, over-all planning on agricultural trade as well as on military and political objectives. This policy should permeate all levels of the government—in all departments. To be effective in our negotiations we need a yell to go up—and a purpose to set in. 4. The private agricultural trade needs to wake up. Where is the understanding and leadership coming from on feed grain exports—one of the most crucial questions facing us? 5. We need to step up our efforts to tell the European people themselves that an outward-looking, trade-minded Common Market will best serve their long-term interests. Summing up his attitude toward the Common Market, Gifford reflected the view that the Europeans aren't going to be outward looking less they get help. This involves plain talk, and understanding on our part. And at times it calls for force, toughness, strength and leadership from the United States. So far, they haven't been forthcoming.

The group was formed a year ago to provide opportunity for interested and capable singers to study, rehearse and perform great masterworks from choral literature. The membership of 110 voices include residents of Newark and surrounding area, and professors and students at the University.

NATIONAL FARM

(Continued from Page One) the annual Christmas Seal campaign which provides the funds for the continuing fight to wipe out tuberculosis," Mr. Shuman said. "I am sure that farm people will gladly accept their proper share of the responsibilities in this important effort."

According to Mr. Pierson, James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, was "delighted to renew" his endorsement of the Christmas Seal Campaign to raise money for the fight against tuberculosis.

"Your organization's work through the years has been invaluable to the citizens of our Nation," Mr. Patton said. "The battle against tuberculosis, however, is a continuing one and, therefore, a successful Christmas Seal campaign this year is essential for the dignity and welfare of our people."

Delaware Food Market Report

Yuletide spirit fills the crisp air and beckons folks to the hustle and bustle of holiday merry making. December is a time of strenuous—often expensive activi- ties with may varied mealtime needs. The month's plentiful foods are all budget stretchers, yet so attractive as to fit into diverse menu plans, whether for holiday feasting or a quick, compact meal. A trio of traditional seasonal favorites top the list—broiler-fryers, turkeys and cran- berries.

Poultry counters have excep- tionally abundant supplies of young chickens says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The De- cember marketings are forecast as 20 percent greater than last year and prices will be at record low, so broiler-fryers should be a frequent choice in this month

With George K. Vapaa

Those who seek chicken for roasting during the holiday might well consider whole broilers. Broilers on the market weigh from 1 1/2 pounds to 3 1/2 pounds (ready-to-cook). You may roast any size but the larger birds are easier to stuff and to carve.

Oranges will be in their hey- day in the weeks ahead. The 1962-63 Florida crop-forecast at nearly 119 million boxes—tops last year's record by 5 1/2 mil- lion boxes. In addition, the Cali- fornia and Arizona navel orange harvest this season is twice as large as last year. All in all there will be lots of oranges on hand and this is an excellent fruit for high quality Vit. C.

Grocery shelves will again be stocked high with canned red cherries as another record crop comes to market. The family will love your homebaked cherry pies, pastries and tarts. Ice cream parfaits with a topping of cher- ies are delicious too. And be sure to include these cherries in fruit gelatin desserts.

Tart, ruby red fresh and frozen cranberries will continue plen- tiful as Maine sardines will also.

Right now fresh pork is in good supply. Check such items as loin and rib roasts, Boston butts, fresh ham and shoulders, sausage and spareribs. Forequarter beef is plentiful and a full line of steaks are also featured in a few stores this weekend.

Fence Talk

With George K. Vapaa

"Someone else seems to agree that what I am doing may be the right thing," said Clifton A. Murray, of Selbyville. He was talking to James Baxter, past president of the Delaware Farm Bureau, about his soybean growing prac- tices.

Murray was the Sussex Coun- ty winner this year with a mea- sured yield of 48.9 bushels of Kent beans on his best five acres. He referred particularly to his planting date, early June, rows 38 inches apart, a seeding rate of 38 lbs. per acre, and 200 lbs. of 0-15-30 fertilizer per acre applied in the planter.

Some of our Kent County farm- ers feel that a little nitrogen is still needed to get the plants up sooner. Roland Garrison, of Dover and George Fischer, of Smyrna had the two farms of about 30 measured to go above 40 bushels of beans per acre. Both used some nitrogen in their fer- tilizer.

Our research staff has never been able to prove that this ele- ment increases yields of beans. They have been able to show that a farmer can get more green top growth, and the beans will ma- ture later.

The dry growing season and hot weather at blossom time (which caused the blooms to drop) hurt yields badly in 1962.

Farm Income Outlook for '63

Although the volume of farm marketings in 1963 is expected to total larger than in 1962, little change in cash receipts from farm marketings is in prospect, according to the 1963 Outlook issue of the Farm Income Situation report. Through September of this year, cash receipts from farm marketings totaled about $24.1 billion, about 2 per cent above the same months of 1961. Crop receipts were up about 3 per cent from January-Septem- ber 1961, due mostly to higher average prices. Receipts from livestock and products were up a little more than 1 per cent from a year earlier because of frac- tional increases in prices and marketings.

Don't Keep Old Hens Too Long

Many flocks of yearling layers are now winding up their egg production year. This is particu- larly true of those chickens hatched in the spring of 1961 that started laying last fall.

Poultrymen know the value of laying hens, especially during a season when large eggs are relatively scarce and prices are high.

Homemaking Shortcuts From Univ. Shortcourse

By Miss Coral K. Morris

Home management can be de- fined as "the means of realizing the family's goals based on their values." This involves decision making, organizing and commu- nicating in homemaking, house- keeping and family living.

Women who attended Universi- ty Days for Women on the cam- pus of the University of Dela- ware this fall submitted their suggestions for doing a better job of home management. Their ideas seemed to fall into four cate- gories: planning, managing your- self, cooperating with others, and controlling the job.

Planning—Planning ahead by the day or week seemed impor- tant to 44 women who filled out questionnaires. They said: This can be done at a time best suited to each homemaker—before retiring, at breakfast time, or after the family leaves in the morning. Other suggestions in- cluded: making a list considering the individual's feelings and abili- ties, arranging for one big job each day, and allowing for the unforeseen. Other planning tips included: do important things first, begin early in the morning, work by schedule or routine, do what you plan, make decisions and don't worry about them, do hard things first, and learn to say no.

Managing yourself—The wo- men offered these suggestions in managing one's self: listen to and try new ideas, smile and forget it, be honest with yourself, don't sit and mope, use an appointment book, and plan rest time to meet individual needs.

Cooperating with others—This was one system many women found important in handling dif- ficult jobs. They offered these suggestions: enlist family help in accomplishing your plan, let sis- ters help each other, get husband to eat out occasionally so wife can do other things in place of preparing a meal, make work fun for children, get husband to do one small project each night.

Controlling the job—Work simplification techniques rated high on this list. Suggestions offered in housekeeping, laundry, and feeding the family were: do complicated tasks while children sleep, have a place for every- thing, use your head to save your feet, make beds when you get out of them, do laundry early in the week, keep ironing caught up, use clothes dryer to cut down ironing chores, iron at night while the children sleep, plan meals at night or early in the morning, cook more than one meal at a time and freeze them, use a pressure cooker, plan your meals and market once a week, and have meals at a definite time.

Check Your Soybeans

If there's mold in them, or soft green beans, they'll probably spoil in storage. It would be better to move such beans to market now. And if you plan to use this year's beans for seed, check ger- mination. You might be ahead by selling now and buying certi- fied seed for next year.

Lion Harriers 2nd Best In Lower Delmarva

For the fifth straight year Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High cross-country team finished in the thick of things in lower Delmarva harrier circles. Eight schools in this area competed in cross-country in 1962 and the Lions ranked second among them. Only powerful all-winning North Carolina, Md., bested the locals this fall and the big consolidated school, which serves the towns of Ridgely, Greensboro, Goldsboro, Denton, Henderson, etc., has several times the enrollment in grades 10, 11 and 12, that Harrington High possesses.

Wednesday afternoon North Carolina won the six team Harrington Invitational with Harrington nabbing second place. Easton, Md., another huge school, was third followed by Milford, Holy Cross of Dover, and Caesar Rodney. Only the Dover school has an enrollment as small as that of Harrington High.

Jerry Miller, of Milford High and Ed Williams, of North Carolina ran off and hid from the other 36 starters. Miller moved away from Williams after the last wooded area and won in a sensational 12:25 just two seconds off Clarence Hackett's course record time set last year. A driving rain probably kept the swift Buccaneer from setting a new standard for the tough 2.4 miles Killen's Pond course. However, both Miller and Williams are juniors and the record should fall in 1963.

Cross-country meets frequently feature from three to ten teams. Yet in 40 odd meets over the last five years, the Lions have never finished in any spot except first or second and have never ranked below second place in the lower Peninsula area at the end of any year. In Wednesday's test the Lions won a trophy for their runnerup finish. Trophies were given to Miller, Williams and Easton's Baker the third place finisher. A piece of bad luck probably kept Lion Dennis Rogers, the Henlopen Conference champion, from a certain third and possible second place finish. The H.H.S. sophomore missed the bus and ran more than a mile carrying a satchel with his running togs before he obtained a ride out to the course. Soon after he arrived the race was started. Still tired but dead game he ran third for most of the way only to slip back into fourth.

Ken Garey, Lion co-captain, missed the race because of a case of influenza. The Lions might have won the meet except for these two instances of bad racing luck. But the locals will be even stronger next autumn as Garey is the only senior and the Lions best three harriers Wednesday were two sophomores and a freshman.

George Bonniwell and Roger Redden came in seventh and tenth to climax what has been a terrific year for both. Neither had cross-country experience prior to this season.

Randy Knox, Wayne Carson and Bob Smith grabbed positions 14, 16 and 17. Frank Cain the other Lion in the race finished 23rd.

Holy Cross did very well since the Dover school was running with only a few days' practice. Two of their harriers broke 14 minutes and a third came close. They plan to run a full schedule next season and have already located a course near Dover. Since Caesar Rodney already is in the fold, it is very possible that some or all of the other five schools in the Dover area may give the little guy's sport a whirl in the near future.

In a jayvee race after the big one, six teams competed, with North Carolina's A unit winning over Harrington's A unit. North Carolina's B squad was third, followed by Easton, the Lions' B septet and Milford. This is a sport in which every boy on the team gets to play full time every contest. Few other sports can make this boast. Perhaps, that is why only one lad out of 24 Lions failed to finish the season after signing up for the team and why the number on the team gets larger each fall.

Henry Minner, a fine soph prospect, led the locals by nabbing fourth place. Bob Beene and Roger Betts were 10th and 11th. Two eighth grade toughies Donald Minner and Danny Hicks were 14th and 16th. With four more years to go these boys can be at or near the top in Delaware scholastic circles if they continue to try as hard as they did this season.

Nelson Reed in 17th and John Dickerson in 20th combined with Henry Minner, Beene, Betts, Donald Minner and Hicks to make up the second place Lion A team.

Bill Abbott, Allan Jerread, Donald Wells, Roy Porter and Dennis Spicer despite their extreme youth beat at least one of the other teams. Abbott and Spicer are eighth graders. Wells and Jerread are freshmen.

Wells, Porter and Don Minner, all set new personal course records in this race. Every boy on the team has negotiated the demanding 2.4 miles course in 15 minutes and 43 seconds or less. Considering that nine are in the eighth and ninth grades and that there are only four juniors and one senior on the more than twenty man team, two facts become readily apparent. First, Coach McDonald has surmounted many obstacles to turn in an outstanding conditioning feat. Second, barring unforeseen circumstances the Lions will be strong for at least four more years.

Wolverines in Final Week of Basketball Practice

Whether the magic of a successful football season can be translated to the basketball court is the big question for Wesley College basketball coach Jim Wentworth this week.

The Wesley cage mentor is in his final week of practice before opening a well-balanced, 20-game season, Dec. 5, at Washington College, and it is no secret that he is hoping the spirit of the undefeated Wolverine gridders will continue with a success story on the courts.

Trying to improve on a 9-win, 11-loss season last year, his first at Wesley, Coach Wentworth is optimistic for success in the 62-63 season, although he will field a largely freshman squad. Only two returning lettermen are on the Wolverine roster, guards Tom Richardson, Washington, D. C., and Dick Horn, Perkasie, Pa. Cited among the most promising frosh are 6' 3" forward Tom Liner, of Berlin, N. J., former Edgewood Regional H. S. athlete, and 6' 5", 220 lb. center, George Wardrop, Springfield, Pa., who has been sidelined during recent practices with an ankle injury.

Saturday afternoon the contest between the Eagles and a Colts team was played with the Eagles scoring a late touchdown to win 12-7.
Sunday the Bears edged the Colts 7-6. These two teams have played three times this year and the scores have been 0-0, 2-0, and 7-6. A more evenly matched pair of teams would be hard to find.

Wrestling Practice Lions Open

Coach Mike Mock's Harrington High wrestling team is practicing diligently as the Lions prepare for the opening of their second year of competition. On Saturday, Dec. 15 the locals will take part in the annual Milford Invitational Wrestling Tournament. Last year's inaugural squad did not have an impressive won-lost record but several good prospects were developed. George Bonniwell and Lewis Starkey were victorious in a majority of their matches in the 120 and 165 pound classes, respectively. Bonniwell captured fifth place in the state title meet as he won his first match then lost two close bouts by decision.
Other experienced grapplers

Although wrestling is considered to be a minor sport it gives these 34 lads a chance to represent their school in a winter athletic activity. Practically none of this group could expect to excel in basketball, the major winter sport, because of a lack of height, mobility, speed or some of the other requisites necessary for success on the court.

This past fall 25 boys competed in cross country, another minor sport, for H.H.S.

In the spring Harrington High School is represented in two major sports, baseball and track and field. Track is the backbone of the Olympic Games which are held every four years. The games involve most of the athletically minded countries in the world. All other sporting events pale into insignificance by comparison.

Junior Football League Pep Talk

by Ken Schaper, Secretary

The rules of the Junior Football League states "the objective of this league is to develop sportsmanship, to teach safety, ideals of health, citizenship and develop sound fundamentals of football."

The City of Harrington has really let this league down, as well as themselves and their children. The public (you) sit at home while your son or daughter is enjoying the doing of a few working people. How can people be so unobservant as not to see the future of their own child?

Take a look at your child—yes, do it now—do you really know him? Is this what you really want—to see your child suffer from the lack of friends, to be a poor sport, to be unpopular?

Does John or Sally know how to take up for themselves—or do they run to Mom and Dad continuously?

You know, there once was a time when children were to be seen and not heard, but now your child may have more knowledge that you think. Do you see your child going off on some dark street to join the gang? If you do, you'd better stop him and now. Encourage your child to play sports and to be active while he has the opportunity—he may regret it if you don't. Now Mother, stop fretting—wouldn't you rather that your cute son came home with a sprained finger (your child is the cause of his accident, he's trained to protect himself and seldom gets hurt unless he breaks a rule), than to be put in a prison, because he couldn't find anything to do?

Wake up people! You've heard yourself say "what is this younger generation coming to?" Well, I'm young and I know exactly what we're coming to—the end. You ask "Why the end?" Well it's because you have made it that way.

My friend—it's up to you to prevent this. It is your duty to see that our world is what you want us young people to live in. If you keep on denying us young people the rights that we're supposed to have, then how do you expect the world to continue? The world is full of crime and sin now, only you can help to prevent this. Be a pal as well as a parent to your child. You'll never regret it, it may save his life and your reputation.

Someone once said "never put off until tomorrow, what you can do today." This was a wise saying. If we wait until tomorrow, it may never come. I'm young and I want to live in a world of peace and freedom. I want my children to have a better life than I have had. What do you want for the young people of Harrington, Delaware? I beg you—"wake up—don't destroy us—support youth activities, and Jr. League Football."

P.T.A. To Sponsor Banquet For Hockey Players

Under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teachers Association an awards banquet will be held on Dec. 4 in the school cafeteria to honor the girls' hockey team in recognition of Harrington's first undefeated season since 1955. The Harrington varsity team was not only undefeated but also unscor-

The various civic organizations have been invited to send representatives and to support this affair.

The members of Harrington's last undefeated team of 1955 have been contacted and invited to return for the occasion.

Miss Nancy Sawin, a member of the staff of Sanford Preparatory School, has consented to be the guest speaker for the evening. Miss Sawin is one of four players who represented Delaware in the National Field Hockey Tournament held at Delaware, O., Thanksgiving weekend. She was selected to play center halfback on one of the new Atlantic teams. The banquet is scheduled to begin at 6:30, and it is hoped that the parents and friends of the girls on the team will turn out to pay them the recognition that they deserve. Tickets for the banquet can be purchased from Mrs. William Outten, Mrs. Norman Hopkins, Mrs. William Smith, and Mrs. James O'Neal.

Sussex County also has had a period of steadily advancing suburbanization. Land in suburban uses stood at 10,401 acres in 1937. By 1958, these uses comprised 19,778 acres. Much of this increase has been caused by new highway construction (4,300 acres). More than 7,000 new suburban homes built in Sussex County during the period 1940-60 accounts for another major portion of the land use change.

Suburbanization is continuing its progress throughout the State, Vaughn says, but at perhaps a slower rate than in previous years. Delaware housing construction—a primary contributing factor in the State's suburbanization—has been at a lower level (fewer housing starts) in the past few years than during the peak years around 1955, according to reports of the U. S. Department of Commerce. In New Castle County alone, records compiled by the County Regional Planning and Zoning Commission show that land in approved final plots of suburban housing developments increased by only 725 acres annually from July 1958 through June 1962, compared with 1,100 acres annually from July 1952 through June 1958.
