

$1 MINIMUM WAGE LAW EYED FOR STATE

The State Department of Labor and Industrial Relations is preparing to recommend to the General Assembly a $1 an hour minimum wage for Delaware workers—about 10 percent of the employed persons in the state—even with domestic and agricultural employment exempted.

At present Delaware has no minimum wage legislation. A great many workers in the state, are, however, covered by the federal, minimum wage of $1.15 an hour, which goes to $1.25 next September. Exceptions are certain newly covered employees in retail establishments whose federally set minimum is $1.

Joseph A. Bradshaw, chairman of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, said the Department will recommend a minimum wage law and is considering the $1 figure, but may suggest some other figure close to $1.

Clement J. Lemon, president of the Delaware State Labor Council said Wednesday night that organization will ask for a $1 minimum wage.

Two neighboring states have minimum wage laws. Pennsylvania has a flat $1 an hour minimum, such as that proposed for Delaware.

In New Jersey the minimum wages are keyed to specific fields of employment. In laundry and dry cleaning establishments the minimum is 85 cents an hour; in stores it is $1, and in restaurants $1, or 87 cents if two or more meals are furnished the employee.

Other states having the $1 minimum wage include: Maine, Massachusetts, Hawaii, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont. Among higher minimums are the State of Washington, where it will be $1.25 on Jan. 1, and Alaska, where it is $1.50.

The estimate that 20,000 employed persons in Delaware would be affected by the proposed law was made by a statistician. It is an informal guess, since there are no available figures on earnings except in manufacturing, where accurate figures are collected.

Manufacturing workers in Delaware had average hourly earnings of $2.42 in September.

Those earning less than $1 an hour now in jobs that would be covered by the proposed state law include employees of hotels and restaurants—particularly waitresses and bus boys—gas stations; dry cleaning and laundry establishments; amusement establishments such as motion picture theaters and bowling centers; retail stores and wholesale firms.

The bill being prepared would exempt domestic, agricultural and public employment.

Its object is to insure that employed persons will earn enough to maintain themselves and their families adequately, without requiring that wages be supplemented by relief.

The bill would provide an "allowance" of 30 cents per hour for employees receiving gratuities, such as waitresses. It would permit the department to inspect employers' books and payrolls pertaining to wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

That power of inspection has been a stumbling block in the General Assembly for labor legislation.

The department, with the aid of advisory boards, would be empowered to make regulations for outside salesmen, learners and apprentices, governing their number, length of service and other details.

The department also would be empowered to make special regulations on the employment of handicapped workers and learners at rates lower than the minimum. The object is to prevent curtailment of employment opportunities while safeguarding the minimum wage rate.

Kent's 2nd Try Gets Audit Bids

The Kent County Levy Court received two bids Tuesday for the annual audit—the second time around.

Dover accountant Harold K. Remley was low at $875 for the job. Mack and Company, Wilmington, was the other bidder with a $995 offer.

The Levy Court advertised for bids a month ago and received no replies. At that time Walter Handsberry, clerk of the peace, told the Levy Court members accountants in Delaware were in effect boycotting the county jobs because they didn't want to bid on them.

Schedule Arranged For Visits Here Of Santa Claus

Santa Claus will be at his house, Fleming and Commerce Streets, Saturdays, Dec. 8, 15, and 22, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

He will also visit many stores on these dates. Judging of the best-decorated store front will take place the week of Dec. 17. Judging of best-decorated homes will take place Christmas week, Thomas E. Clendingen, chairman of this committee, will have details in next week's edition of this newspaper.

Burglary Charges Dropped by State

A two-day trial in Kent Superior Court ended abruptly Thursday, Nov. 29, as the state dropped 11 charges of burglary against three men.

One of the three men, Floyd Flamer, 31, Felton, pleaded guilty to a 12th charge of burglary—on a lesser count.

Four charges of breaking and entering businesses in Harrington on the night of March 26 were entered against Flamer, his brother, Marvin Flamer, 21, and William Stanford, 27, Harrington.

The trial began with Judge Albert J. Stiffler presiding on Wednesday and was held up by legal arguments over a charge of illegal arrest by one attorney for his client.

Last week the legal conferences continued and the jury never heard a witness as John B. Maybe, deputy attorney general, decided to drop 11 of the charges.

The charges were dropped after it was determined in conferences with Judge Stiffler that evidence on both sides was inadmissible.

Floyd Flamer pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Pensumpe Ice Cream Co. following the dropping of the charges.

The three men were on trial for alleged burglaries at Pensumpe Collins Clothing Store, Marshall's Package Store, and Graham's Service Station, all in Harrington.

Attorneys for the men were all court-appointed. Harold Schmittinger represented Floyd Flamer; James H. Hughes III appeared for Marvin Flamer; and Merrill C. Trader represented William Stanford.

Smyrna Dump Plea Is Tabled

The Kent County Levy Court was told Tuesday it probably has the authority but not the responsibility to enter—at least partially—the dump business.

The three members of the court tabled the petition by the Town of Smyrna that it set up a sanitary landfill operation for northern Kent County to replace a dump ordered closed by the Highway Department as a nuisance.

An opinion given by attorney Joshua M. Twilley said "the authority and responsibility of the Levy Court in this area is hazy."

The opinion says the Levy Court evidently can purchase land and lease it to the State Highway Department to operate as a dump (or sanitary landfill) operation as encouraged by the State Board of Health.

Twilley advised that while the Highway Department has "both the power and the duty" to accept lands by lease or easement for dumps it isn't required by law to set up such operations.

Daryle Lee Smith

Daryle Lee Smith, five-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton C. Smith, of near Milford, died early Tuesday morning in Milford Memorial Hospital.

Survivors, besides his parents, include two sisters, Lois Ann and Shirley Jean, and a brother, Burton Charles, all living at home.

Also surviving are his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith of Rock Hall, Md.; his maternal grandfather, Charles Kenton, of St. Augustine, Fla., and a maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Jewell, of Harrington.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home in Harrington. The Rev. William Tull, pastor of the Church of God in Milford, will officiate. Interment will follow in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday afternoon.

City Council to Meet Next Week

The City Council will hold its December meeting next Wednesday, not enough members showing up Wednesday to make a quorum.

City Manager George S. Graham said Liberty Street from Delaware Avenue to Dorman Street had been surfaced and curbed and that sidewalks would be completed by the end of this week.

He added that Mechanic Street from Dorman Street to West Street had also been resurfaced and curbed and the sidewalks would be put in next week.

Improvements on Hanley Street are being considered for early next spring.

The annual Citizens Meeting will be held Friday night, Jan. 4, with the municipal elections the following Tuesday.

680,000 Population Predicted

Delaware's population will grow to 680,000 by 1976, according to projected figures released Monday by the National Planning Association.

The association, a non-profit organization with its headquarters in Washington, predicts the state's population increase of 230,000 persons will be accompanied by an increase of 90,000 jobs, bringing Delaware's employment level to 280,000.

Mr. Jordan is a graduate of Penns Grove High School, Penns Grove, N. J., and is employed by DuPont Company, Carney's Point, N. J.

The 1962 edition of the Regional Economic Projections Series, the association says the 2.6 per cent annual rise in employment indicates the state's employment prospects are above the national average, a projected 2.4 per cent.

Employment in services and trade is projected to increase by 41,000 in the next 15 years, totaling 107,000.

More than 53 per cent of Delaware's manufacturing employment, projected to increase by 22,000, will be concentrated in the chemical, transportation and primary metals industries, according to the association.

Per capita income will continue to increase with the population and employment, the association predicted, but at a projected lower growth rate, 2.3 per cent annually. In 1976, the state's per capita income of $4,340 will keep it in second place among the states, the forecast says.

The association bases its projection on such assumptions as the avoidance of nuclear war and severe inflation and the achievement and maintenance of reasonably full national employment.

Specific trends forecast in economic activity of the next 15 years include an increasing share of the national population in Delaware and 14 other states, with declining or constant shares in the other states.

The association predicts a continuation of the relative increase of the young and aged members of the population in each state, as well as an increase in the urban population.

The projected figures show that most states in the New England, Middle Atlantic, Great Lakes and Far West regions of the country will continue to have per capita incomes substantially higher than the other states.

Three to Represent U. of D. at Conclave

Three staff members will represent the University of Delaware at the annual meeting in Atlantic City of the Middle States Association of Collegiate Registrars and Officers of Admission on Friday and Saturday.

Attending will be William Baldt, admissions counselor; Robert Gebhartsbauer, registrar, and J. Manfred Ennis, assistant to the registrar.

Highlights of the program will be three principal addresses. Frederick W. Ness, vice president of Hofstra College, will talk about "Maintaining Academic Quality in the Student Crush of the Late Sixties." Howard A. Cook, president of International House and NAFA, will speak on "Non-Academic Factors Important in Selecting Foreign Students."

Ewald B. Nyquist, deputy commissioner of education in the State of New York, and Frederick M. Binder, president of Hartwick College, will discuss "The Obligations of Institutions of Higher Learning in Meeting the Shortage of Educated Manpower in the Decades Ahead."

Two workshops will provide informal discussion of "Admission and Advancement of Students of High Academic Promise" and "The Use of Data Processing Machines in the Selection and Advancement of Students."

Imogene Kates' Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kates, of 1838 North Union St., Wilmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Imogene Kates to Herbert Roy Jordan.

Mr. Jordan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jordan, of 11 South Dolbow Avenue, Penns Grove, New Jersey.

Miss Kates is a graduate of Wilmington High School, Wilmington, and is employed by Bank of Delaware.

Mr. Jordan is a graduate of Penns Grove High School, Penns Grove, N. J., and is employed by DuPont Company, Carney's Point, N. J.

Traffic Count Shows Increase On All Roads

Traffic on all main highways in the State of Delaware showed an increase for the month of October in comparison with the same month of last year, according to the record of the traffic counting stations maintained by the State Highway Department.

An increase of 5.53 per cent was recorded along Route 13, north of Smyrna, with the daily average of vehicles counted being 13,102, an increase of 687 and the largest single day was Oct. 14 with 16,429 vehicles counted.

Along Route 113, north of Milford, the increase was 7.25 per cent, with the daily average being 6,624, an increase of 448 and the largest single day was Oct. 7, when 8,072 vehicles were counted.

The increase long Route 13, south of Greenwood was 4.81 per cent, with the daily average being 6,759, an increase of 310 and the largest single day was October 5 when 8,463 were counted.

The largest increase recorded in the state, 15.05 per cent, was along Route 2, the Kirkwood Highway at a point north of Newsum where the daily average was 18,894, an increase of 2,471 and the largest single day was October 27 when 21,471 vehicles were counted.

The increase along Route 40, west of Bear, was 1.11 per cent with the daily average being 24,692, an increase of 1,272 and the largest single day was Oct. 12 when 31,846 vehicles were counted.

The Concord Pike, Route 202, at a point north of Talleyville, registered an increase of 8.15 per cent, with the daily average being 14,022, an increase of 1,157 and the largest single day was Oct. 5, when 16,742 vehicles were counted.

771 Minor Accidents Reported in October

There was an increase of 62 in the number of accidents involving damage in excess of $100 on the streets and highways of this state during October, in comparison with the same month of last year.

The records of the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department reveal that there was a total of 771 of these accidents reported during October of this year.

Of the accidents reported in October, 597 took place in Wilmington and New Castle County, an increase of 40 while 93 took place in Kent County, an increase of 16 and 81 took place in Sussex County, an increase of 6.

Of the operators involved in these accidents 225 were from out of the state and 227 had no insurance. There were a total of 301 persons injured in these accidents.

Damages resulting from the accidents taking place in October totaled $267,140, which was an increase of $6,765 over the amount of damage reported during October of last year.

During the month of October a total of 119 motorists had their registration and operation privileges suspended in Delaware for failure to comply with the provisions of the Financial Responsibility Laws.

DINEEN TO SEEK HOEY'S JOB

There is a possibility that a move will be made to elect a House member as chairman of the Joint Legislative Finance Committee in the 122nd General Assembly.

Rep. Russell D. F. Dineen (D-Wilmington) a member of the House Appropriations Committee in the 121st General Assembly who would like to be chairman of the group in the session starting in January, commented Wednesday:

"I think that since appropriation bills originate in the House, it would be not only in order but desirable, for a member of the House to chair the Joint Finance Committee."

Senator Walter J. Hoey (D-Milford) has been the long-time chairman of the joint committee. He has already stated that he would like to continue as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and has denied any intentions of seeking to be president pro tem or majority leader of the Senate.

The Joint Finance Committee in the recent past has consisted of the five members of the House Appropriations Committee and five members of the Senate Finance Committee with the Senate chairman traditionally serving as chairman of the full group.

However, it does not have to be that way since the chairman is selected by majority vote of the full 10 members.

The chairman will, of course, be a Democrat since that party holds majorities in both houses. Hoey has used his chairmanship of both the Joint and Senate Finance Committees to trim some agency requests in the budget bill and to "sit on" millions of dollars worth of supplemental appropriation bills.

By not being reported out of committee, they never come to the floor for a vote.

The 122 General Assembly which convenes in January can be a "liberal" one in regard to appropriations or an exceedingly "tight" one, depending upon what it chooses to do with the windfall that will come to the state with the Du Pont divestiture of General Motors stock.

The law limits the General Assembly appropriations to no more than the amount of estimated revenue.

That is expected to be in the neighborhood of $105 million through regular revenue sources, which is roughly the amount of expenditure authorized in the budget prepared by the Budget Commission.

Thus, if the Budget Commission's recommendations are accepted, the General Assembly will have little to work with in the way of supplemental appropriations unless it takes advantage of the Du Pont "windfall."

Several high officials, including Hoey and Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, are opposed to spending the "windfall" through direct appropriations, but the General Assembly can go ahead and spend it that way if it desires.

It would be a rare session of the General Assembly where several million dollars worth of supplemental appropriations was not introduced and a considerable percentage of them passed into law.

Gift Giving In Good Taste

What Christmas gift would be more welcome than a deliciously moist fruit cake decorated with candied fruits and nuts? Or how about a steamed pudding with a container of hard sauce, or an imaginative assortment of colorful cookies?

Miss Janet Coblenz, University of Delaware foods and nutrition specialist, says these and a variety of other treats can be prepared several weeks ahead of time. So, if it sounds like good gift giving to you, put on your apron and preheat the oven!

If a fruit cake is your choice, here are some pointers to keep in mind. Prevent burning and cracking the cake by using low temperature (300 degrees F) and long time baking. A one-pound cake should take 2-2½ hours of baking time; two pounds should take 3½ hours; and three pounds, 4 hours.

Place a shallow pan of water on the lowest rack of your oven and the steam will moisten your cake while it's baking. Be sure those cake pans are greased and floured well. All Face Driver Skill Check

Eventually, all Delaware-licensed drivers will have to submit to special interviews before they can have their licenses renewed.

This is promised by Russell W. Whitby, state motor vehicle commissioner, in the interest of safety on the highway.

Yesterday, Whitby mailed letters to 126 drivers born prior to 1900 and whose biennial licenses expire next month.

They have dates in the next two weeks with examiners in the motor vehicle offices of their counties. There will be no written examinations but a general discussion of their physical conditions and eye examinations.

Whitby also sent yesterday letters to the addresses of 1,050 persons who were born before 1880 and who are recorded in the State Motor Vehicle Department files as having permanent drivers' licenses.

"We don't know how many of these permanent licensees are dead or alive," he said. "We don't know how many of these elderly permanent licensees are still driving or have given it up. We are asking the families of those who are dead to surrender the permanent licenses."

"Those who are alive but are not driving, will be asked to send in their licenses. And those who are still driving—well, we'd like to see them."

Whitby said Wednesday that eventually, when the General Assembly give his department sufficient money, he's going to undertake a plan where every driver, regardless of age, will have to be interviewed periodically to check on their general physical ability to drive.

But right now, Whitby is concerning himself with the so-called elderly drivers.

Among the first batch of biennially licensed drivers, born prior to 1900, are only those who would ordinarily renew their licenses in January.

Each driver has a time for his or her interview. The interviews in Sussex County will be held in the Georgetown office of the motor vehicle office on Tuesday of next week; in Dover for Kent week has been reserved for AO Counties, on Thursday; next week has been reserved for New Castle County residents to appear in the Wilmington office.

The letter to the biennially licensed drivers reads: "Delaware is beginning a new traffic safety program in 1963. All licensed drivers in our state will be required to appear for an interview at one of the divisions of the Delaware Motor Vehicle Department upon notice."

"We are beginning this program with all drivers born before 1900. Before our department can renew your license, which expires next month, you must appear at the place designated below at the time mentioned below for an interview."

"If you are unable to appear on this date notify our department at once and we will reschedule your appointment. If you do not wish to drive a vehicle any longer, kindly return your Delaware drivers license to our Dover office with a letter stating thus and it will not be necessary for you to keep your appointment."

"If the above named individual is deceased, kindly notify our department."

Whitby said that every courtesy will be given the licensees during the interview. If they should "flunk" because of sight, they will be asked to go to eye doctors of their own choice.

The examiners have also been instructed to take into consideration the chances that the licensees may be nervous and uncomfortable during the interview.

Whitby added, "We are not out to deprive any one of his privilege of driving just because of his age. We want to protect him and the driving public."

W. Everett Manlove

W. Everett Manlove, 70, of Houston, died Monday at Milford Memorial Hospital.

Survivors are: his wife, Mrs. Grace T. Manlove, Houston; a son, William E. Manlove Jr., and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford.

TIGHTER JAIL IN KENT URGED BY GRAND JURY

8 Indicted by Kent Grand Jury

Eight persons were indicted Monday by the Kent County grand jury, four of them on charges of assault with intent to murder.

The jury ignored a presentment charging manslaughter by automobile and another charging second degree burglary.

The assault with intent to commit murder cases involved the following men: William D. Evans, 64, Dover, charged with shooting at Joseph Urush, 30, Felton, on July 18.

Charles L. Fountain, 50, Dover, charged with shooting Earl G. Price, Hartly, on Nov. 6.

Harry L. Jewell, 22, Milford, charged with shooting his brother, Leonard, 23, on Aug. 3. Jewell is also charged with forgery for a bad check on Aug. 21.

Elmer L. Coleman, 48, Bridgeville, charged with shooting George Lopez, Milford, on Sept. 23.

A charge of grand larceny was returned against James D. Bryan, 40, Dover. Bryan allegedly stole merchandise from an Acme Market Nov. 14.

Willie Foxe, 39, Harrington, was indicted for robbery of a Texaco Service Station at Canterbury, on Oct. 4.

Edith A. Henry, 47, Denton, Md., was indicted for breaking and entering a building owned by Paul Breeding, east of Hickman, on Sept. 27.

An indictment for extortion was returned against Lester L. Woodall, 32, Clayton, N. J. Woodall allegedly tried to extort money from his aunt, Pauline Wilson, of Dover, about Sept. 12.

Firemen Name Frederica Staff

Benjamin VanSant and Chester Donovan were re-elected president and chief of the Frederica Volunteer Fire Co., Monday night at the organization's annual meeting.

Also re-elected was Lawrence Betts, treasurer.

Other Officers: Howard Beebe, vice president; Gordon Satterfield, secretary; John Beebe, fire recorder, and Zora Tatman, Gordon Edwards, and William Schmick, directors.

Motor Fuel Tax Receipts Show Increase

The increase in motor fuel tax rates, which went into effect last December, accounted for the increase in motor fuel taxes received for September in comparison with the same month of last year.

While the amount of these taxes received during September of this year showed an increase over the amount received during September of last year, there was less motor fuel sold in September of this year than there was during September of 1961.

The motor fuel tax receipts for September, which were received during October, totaled $988,701.56, which is an increase of $144,798.36 over the receipts for September of last year.

The amount of motor fuel sold during September of this year was 18,478,359 gallons, which was 513,000 gallons less than the amount sold during September of last year.

During September there were 78 concerns bonded as distributors of motor fuel in this State and of this number 24 reported no sale for the month.

Three concerns reported sales that produced $440,026.99, or more than 44 per cent of the taxes reported by each month's es received during the month. These concerns, with the amount of taxes reported by each were: Atlantic Refining Co., $108,809.83; Gulf Oil Corp., $109,827.98, and Humble Refining and Oil Co., $221,289.09.

Poulenc "Gloria" Slated for Concert

A major work which received its world premiere less than two years ago will be performed by the University of Delaware Concert Choir at its annual Christmas Concert next week.

Francis Poulenc's "Gloria," presented for the first time on January 20, 1961, in Boston, and the more traditional Bach "Magnificat in D" will make up the program next Thursday and Friday.

The Kent County grand jury recommended Wednesday that tighter security equipment be installed at the Correctional Institution.

Reporting on its Oct. 29 tour of buildings maintained by the county, the grand jury said "a heavy wire chain link fence should be installed along the west side of the institution which adjoins the ironclad building. We feel the ironclad building is not a sufficient security wall and a fence would eliminate a possible escape route for prisoners."

The jury also said the boilers "are old and give unsatisfactory service. They are inefficient and a possible fire hazard." It recommended general redecorating of the structure.

The jury recommended salary increases for "lower echelon employees" at the Delaware State Welfare Home at Smyrna and said Dr. George Botte, the superintendent, should have an assistant superintendent.

The jury reported that the Kent County Courthouse is in good condition "but needs more cleaning." It said a storage room in the basement "is a fire hazard and should be cleaned out immediately."

It also said the "outside of the building needs painting up as water leaks through the walls in several places" and that "many rooms need painting."

It also recommended "a new and modern Webster's dictionary for the law library."

Increase in Vehicle Registrations

There were 216,356 privately owned motor vehicles registered in this State this month, an increase of 9,761 over the same period of last year. In addition there are 2,496 publicly owned vehicles registered in this State.

This is the largest number of motor vehicle registration ever to be in operation at one time in this State, while the increase for the past year is also the largest on record.

Ag-Related Occupations Hire 24 Million

By Don Melson
(First of two articles)

Look at these figures! Of 60 million people employed in the United States about 24 million work somewhere in the broad field of agriculture—that is, 6 million produce for and service the farmers, almost 8 million work on farms, and 10 million process and distribute farm products.

Recent surveys, conducted by the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities, indicate that 15,000 new college graduates would and could be employed in some phase of agriculture each year—if 15,000 with agricultural training were available.

At present, our Land-Grant colleges graduate approximately 7,000 men and women in agricultural sciences each year. That's 7,000 people to fill 15,000 jobs, or more than two positions for every graduate.

Agriculture is a science at work for the well-being of the world. Therefore, the objective of the University of Delaware's School of Agriculture is really two-fold. The curricula are planned to give the student a fundamental training in the basic sciences and to meet his needs and desires to prepare him to work in the changing industry of agriculture.

Have you taken a look at the opportunities in the dynamic industry of today's agriculture? You'll find thousands of jobs, many of them relatively unknown a few years ago.

Teachers wanted!—For high schools, colleges, the agricultural extension service in foreign lands and industry. This could be an advertisement in any newspaper.

"Never before has the demand for teachers been so great," reports Ralph Barwick, assistant professor of Agricultural Education at the University of Delaware.

Your work is practical, and the most exciting challenge of all is the call to leadership. It deals with the vast and constantly changing science of agriculture, Barwick explains. Much of your time is spent out of doors in the country, working with farm people.

Many agricultural industries, looking for teachers to train its employees, turn to the agricultural colleges for capable instructors.

Businesses and companies which supply agriculture with machinery, fertilizer, seed, pesticides, and insecticides are turning more and more to the agricultural colleges, for employees who will eventually manage their companies. These students need a general background in agriculture along with training in economics and business administration as well as courses which prepare them to work and handle people.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, industry and business together, employ 15 million people in agricultural areas.

Government agencies and state departments are hiring agricultural graduates in increasing numbers. The largest employer is the federal government, including Farmer Home Administration, Forestry Service, Soil Conservation Service, and other service and regulatory agencies.

Foreign service has opened new fields of opportunity to agricultural graduates in recent years. Again the principle employer is the federal government.

Another branch of international service which college graduates may desire is the peace corps. These people build, teach, and work in newly developed areas throughout the world.

"College graduates skilled in writing, speaking or visualizing ideas effectively can find many opportunities in agricultural journalism," explains John Arnold, agricultural editor at the University of Delaware.

"In recent years, every qualified graduate could choose from six to eight jobs, with starting pay equal to that in other fields, but with added expectation of rapid advancement for the beginner willing to apply himself. No where is there more excitement or opportunity to keep up to date with every aspect of agriculture," Arnold adds.

There'll always be a demand for home economists to help teach the really important and lasting values in family life, says Janet Coblenz, nutrition specialist here at the University.

Ask a young woman who is about to choose her life's work what the ideal career would be like and these are some of the ingredients she might suggest:

It would have to be an interesting occupation that pays well and is much in demand. It should be a field in which the fact that she is a woman is an asset, not a handicap, and it ought to be a growing occupation that reflects the constant change in modern life. All of that and more can be said of jobs in home economics. Today, home economics is a full-fledged profession that reaches in many directions.

Opportunities exist in every state for home demonstration agents, Miss Coblenz explains. They bring new homemaking ideas, principles, and techniques, and the latest research findings to the families of her community.

Salaries of home economic graduates are usually between $4,500 and $12,000, depending on the location and type of job.

U. of D. President Calls For Use Of Teaching Aids

The president of the University of Delaware has called for more venturesome use of modern teaching devices by his own and other university faculties.

"It is not to higher education's credit that, except for the use of laboratories, it teaches in much the same way as did Plato in his Academy twenty-four hundred years ago," Dr. John A. Perkins chides in his annual report for 1961-62.

"There are too many skeptics, traditionalists and those who feel themselves mechanically inept, who are reluctant to avail themselves of these helpful services," Dr. Perkins adds.

In September, 1961, the University of Delaware established a Teaching Resources Center to assist its faculty in the use of teaching aids, such as programmed learning for teaching machines, films, slides, tape recorders and overhead projectors. Delaware faculty members were encouraged to attend workshops on programmed instruction and later held one of their own on the Delaware campus under the supervision of the teaching resources director and his small staff.

"After surveying out situation," President Perkins writes, "the use of simple-to-construct slides called transparencies was concluded to be the most effective and economical first step in a wider use of visual aids. A significant number of our faculty have under professional instruction in a workshop held on a Saturday and Sunday in the spring of 1962, learned to construct these inexpensive, but effective slides. To encourage their further use, most classrooms holding 100 or more students have been permanently outfitted with the needed overhead projectors and screens. In addition, some experimentation in the use of low cost, eight millimeter sound films in instruction is under way in public speaking and in reading.

"Such teaching aids must be widely utilized," Dr. Perkins continues. "We must become more efficient through enlarging the size of classes and still teach effectively. We must enable the individual to learn more and more on his own, although knowledge becomes ever more complicated. Funds for additional film and slide projectors, tape recorders, sound film, cameras and supplies needed to make the necessary audio-visual aids available, would be a worthwhile investment, bringing the full advantages of our technological age into higher education."

Government agencies and state departments are hiring agricultural graduates in increasing numbers. The largest employer is the federal government, including Farmer Home Administration, Forestry Service, Soil Conservation Service, and other service and regulatory agencies.

Kent County Home Does

Convenience foods—time savers or money savers? Actually some convenience foods save both time and money according to a study recently completed by the Economics Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The researchers followed housewives around to find out what convenience foods they usually buy. Of a list of 158 foods usually purchased, 116 were more expensive to purchase than their first counterpart. But the surprising finding was that the remaining 42 items of this convenience food list were enough less expensive to make the total list of 158 convenience foods cheaper than its fresh equivalents.

As an example, the Economics Research Service cited orange juice. A 4½ oz. service of fresh orange juice costs 7½ cents while the same size serving of frozen juice costs 4½ cents. Also consider the fact that fresh orange juice takes twice as long to prepare.

Consider too, instant coffee which is a penny a serving whereas regular coffee is 1½ cents per serving and again takes twice as much preparation time.

The list of money saving convenience foods also includes frozen lima beans, canned items such as spaghetti in sauce, orange juice, chicken chow mein, and devil's food cake mix.

Katie Thomas, Kent County Extension Agent, home economics point out that you can, in many instances, save both time and energy when purchasing convenience foods.

U. of D. Trustees Hold Semi-Annual Meeting

Meeting the challenge of faster-than-average enrollment growth is the major problem confronting the University of Delaware's faculty, staff and board of trustees in the 1960's.

Growth problems were highlighted at the semi-annual meeting of the trustees in Newark, where major board actions related to accommodating a rapidly increasing student population.

The meeting was held in the Mathematics-Physics building on the central campus to permit the trustees to tour this recently completed instructional facility.

Among the board actions were approval of plans for another dormitory-dining hall complex, appropriation of funds for the enlargement of the student center and the acquisition of much-needed land for campus facilities.

The president of the university was empowered to take appropriate steps to plan and construct another dormitory complex on the East campus. The first of these units, Harrington Hall, was completed in 1961. A second is under construction and will be open in September, 1963. Construction of the third unit will begin next year with completion anticipated by 1965. Enrollment growth has compelled the university to move up the completion date by a full year.

To finance the building, the university hopes to execute a loan agreement with the Housing and Home Finance Agency for approximately $2,900,000. The five-section dormitory will house 545 students and, like other similar units, it will have a central dining hall capable of serving about 1,000 students per meal in cafeteria style. Although the new building will conform substantially to the style of Harrington Hall, the location of its wings will be modified to suit the ground area.

Also approved were plans for an addition to the present Student Center building located on the East campus. Despite the fact that the building is a comparatively recent addition to the campus plant, it already has become too small to adequately serve the needs of the student body anticipated.

The bookstore space is too small, meeting rooms, dining facilities and faculty lounge are all inadequate for the numbers they must serve. Additional facilities for student recreation also are needed.

The university's architects, Howell Lewis Shay and Associates, have recommended alterations and additions costing approximately $1,050,000, which will be supported from endowment income, gifts and income-producing activities within the Student Center. Included in the changes will be: enlargement of the basement to permit expansion of the bookstore and the installation of eight bowling lanes; the addition of small dining and meeting rooms on the first floor level; enclosure of the present sun deck for use as hobby and craft and student organization rooms; the addition of a larger faculty dining area, five guest apartments and a faculty dining area, five guest apartments and a faculty-guest lounge; provisions for a larger exhibition area for art displays; and the relocation of present entrances in accordance with existing traffic patterns.

Greatly aiding the university in meeting its future land requirements was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Laird, Jr., of Wilmington. It consists of a tract of land, approximately 37 acres, located between North College Avenue and New London Rd., south and east of Fairfield Crest.

The board formally expressed appreciation to the donors "for their foresight in providing the property required for the university to meet its growing educational obligations."

Two other residences owned by the university were named in honor of former residents.

The house at 189 West Main Street was named in honor of Alfred A. Curtis, a longtime friend of the university. A second house at 215 West Main Street was named in honor of Rathmell Wilson, president of the board of trustees and acting president of Delaware College from 1859 to 1870. These homes are being used as student residence halls.

The board disclosed that an anonymous benefactor has established a 20-year trust which will be used to improve opportunities for graduate students in the humanities.

President John A. Perkins explained that highly qualified graduate students are as important as competent faculty in the development of strong graduate programs. He noted that only institutions with adequate fellowships programs have been able to attract outstanding students and, concurrently, develop distinguished graduate programs. Because of national interest in the sciences and the availability of fellowships from government and industry in respectable numbers, there has developed an imbalance in most universities in opportunities for student aid at the graduate level, he said. For this reason, income from the trust will be earmarked for use as Andelot Fellowships in the Humanities. It is expected that eight fellowships of approximately $2,500 each will be available beginning September 1961-64.

Brief special reports were presented to the trustees by President Perkins and Dr. Calhoun Winton, Henry Francis duPont Assistant Professor of English.

Dr. Perkins discussed the continuation and revision of the university's long-range planning study, "A Fifteen Year Forecast of Students, Staff and Facilities," which was prepared in 1957. He disclosed that additional studies are being undertaken on enrollments, land acquisition and facilities, the needs of Delaware high school graduates and the development of graduate programs.

Dr. Winton, co-ordinator of the Winterthur program in Early American Culture, described the progress being made in this unique co-operative venture in which student take course work at the university, while utilizing the Winterthur Museum as a laboratory and resource center.

To improve the internal management of the university's budget procedures, the board approved a recommendation by the management consultant firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget. The proposal regularizes budget procedures along definite lines, many of which already have been established by the administration of the university. Included in the recommendations are restrictions and rules governing expenditures which may be made by university personnel and the establishment of five basic categories for these expenditures.

The board also accepted with appreciation the annual report of President Perkins covering the 1961-62 academic year.

FENCE TALK

With George K. Vapaa

Recreational enterprises can be developed by farms under provisions of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962. Paul Bickford, loan supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration in Dover says that his office can now furnish loan funds for this purpose. The purpose is to shift some lands away from crop uses where surpluses exist, into commercial recreation enterprises on family farms. Some of these uses are camping grounds, swimming facilities, riding stables, small vacation cottages, lakes and ponds, nature trails, picnic grounds and hunting preserves. The details are worth looking into by those with marginal crop land, or those who want to diversify their farm program. It's a new idea for farmers, which may account for a slow reaction at the moment. About a third of our Kent County lands are in trees. Much of these can be described as "weed trees." They have little value as timber, but may still be good shade. Recreation uses might easily be developed. This is annual report time for county agent, when we tote up and describe what has been done in the previous twelve months. Sadly enough, your county agent can't visit as many farms these days because of meetings: 721 visits and about 262 meetings. We use mass media more, like this fence talk column to spread ourselves better. Nothing beats a personal farm visit to get close to a farm problem. There you can see it in full perspective, in relation to all other activities. County agents work themselves out of one job, only to find several other which demand attention. We used to spend a great deal of time giving feed information and sanitation hints. The commercial feed fieldman does this job today probably better, because this may be his only job and he looks at livestock all the time. But waiting in the wings are these jobs: civil defense help (an emergency this year), rural planning and zoning, new industry to employ excess farm workers, recreation enterprises for the family farm, agribusiness management, consumer packaging at the farm, specification marketing of farm produce, and so on. It's a great life. You never know for sure what you will be doing in the next fifteen minutes. Community committees are elected each year to help manage the county soil conservation and crop stabilization programs. Each hundred in the county elects by mail ballot a chairman, vice chairman, regular member and two alternates to serve its farmers. The 5th and 7th hundreds (or representative districts) are combined because of their small individual size. Here are those elected as chairmen and vice chairmen this fall: 1st., Arthur N. Short, Lloyd Jones; 2nd., James Opydyke, Earl Carey; 3rd., J. Medford Davis Jr., Harold Hilyard; 4th., Isaac Thomas, Nelson Massey; 5th., James Metz, Olin Gooden; 6th., Raymond Hughes, Alfred Warren; 8th., Lester A. Killen, David H. Robbins; 9th., Woodrow Holloway, Merritt Camper; 10th. Robert Dean, Charles Pearson. USDA researchers now report that they have isolated a natural attractant from female American cockroaches which may enable scientists to develop new and more effective methods of controlling cockroaches. However, to collect even a small amount of the substance requires thousands of female roaches. Therefore, chemists are now trying to identify the substance chemically in the hope that an inexpensive synthetic attractant can be developed for use in control and eradication efforts. USDA scientists have come up with a new low-temperature treatment for iris bulbs that makes it possible for growers to produce a continuous supply of flowers during the winter. U. S. growers produce some 25 million bulbs a year, with a wholesale value of about half a million dollars. The temperature treatment for most varieties works this way: bulbs are held at 65 degrees for two weeks, then pre-cooled at 50 degrees for two weeks. Then they're planted and forced at a night temperature of 55 degrees. They should bloom in two months. Iris have been available in the winter, but usually not in steady supply. The rate of egg production in October this year was 16.8 eggs per layer, up 2 per cent from last year, and the highest on record for October. Aggregate production from January through October this year was up 2 per cent from the same period of 1961.

A GRAMMARIAN FOR THE LEGISLATURE

We respectfully suggest the General Assembly hire a grammarian for the House and one for the Senate. These individuals, with their knowledge of punctuation, syntax, and grammar in general, would be of immense help to the attorneys of the Legislature and the General Assembly itself, and would enable the State to spend the taxpayers' money more efficiently.

Legislation, with perfect grammar, might not have to be revised; might reduce discussion on the floors of the legislative bodies, and might speed up the work of the courts. Litigants, too, would fare better if there were fewer loopholes, thru faulty grammar, in the laws.

Perfect grammar, too, would be of immeasurable value in legislative appropriation bills.

"What's the latest dope," has an entirely different meaning than "what's the latest, dope?"

U. of D. Hosts Students From Abroad

Students from 36 foreign countries are represented in this year's student body and staff at the University of Delaware.

Among the 106 foreign nationals are 66 graduate students and 36 undergraduates, as well as research associates, post-doctoral fellows and several faculty members.

China has the greatest number of representatives, 16, followed by India with 11 and Germany and Canada, seven each. There are six students from three other countries—Korea, Holland and Egypt.

Unique on the university campus is Miss Wambui Kuria, a two-year agricultural student from Kenya. Miss Kuria is the first African student to enroll at the University of Delaware.

Other nations whose students are attending the university this year are Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bermuda, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, France, Great Britain, Greece, Hong Kong, Iceland, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Israel, Japan, Nicaragua, Norway, Spain, Thailand, Turkey, Venezuela, Vietnam and Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Dean Pruitt, the university's foreign student advisor, has established a number of extracurricular activities designed to acquaint these students with American life and culture. All of the students who wish to participate have "foster" families in the Newark-Wilmington area who entertain them during the holidays and on other occasions.

There are about 65 regular foster families which maintain a continuing relationship with one or more students. Many others offer assistance whenever possible. This program was established and is supported by the United Church Women of Newark.

This year's foreign students already have visited the Tidewater Oil Company and a housing redevelopment area in Wilmington. Some of them observed elections' procedures at the polls on Nov. 6. Future plans include visits to the Chrysler plant in Newark, the Delaware Art Center in Wilmington and the nation's capitol.

Mrs. Pruitt holds monthly seminars at her home where guest speakers from the faculty discuss cultural activities, politics and other facets of American life which the students might not learn from their classroom experiences. It is expected that a special international week program will be presented by the students between Feb. 23 and March 3 in which aspects of their native lands will be presented to Delaware students, faculty and friends.

Trinity W.S.C.S. Notes

"Christmas Is Sharing," a short playlet for the holiday season, was presented by Mrs. Louis Clymer at the meeting on Tuesday night of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church. Those taking part were: Mrs. Charles Poukish, Mrs. John Walls, Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, Mrs. Randall Knox, Jr. and Mrs. Frank C. O'Neal, Jr.

Mrs. Knox led the devotions, and emphasized the significance of visiting the sick in the community.

A suggestion that a prayer group or prayer chains be initiated within the Society was offered by Mrs. Gilstad.

Mrs. Baynard Smith gave a report from the Sunshine Committee, and Mrs. Sam Williams, president, reported that season's greetings will be sent to the six missionaries sponsored by the Peninsula Conference.

Plans for a coffee hour to follow the Sunday morning anniversary service were discussed. Mrs. Walls is chairman for the occasion.

Mrs. Blanch Bell, the oldest member of the Society, was present, and expressed appreciation for having recently been made an honorary member.

The next meeting will be held January 8.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Earl Sylvester and members of the Lydia Circle.

Dry Corn By Refrigeration?

Researchers at the University of Illinois are drying high-moisture shelled corn by refrigeration. George Vapaa, Kent County agent, says a commercially available and economical refrigeration unit for drying corn is a long way off, but present research may answer some questions about the drying process.

The object of the current studies is to dry high-moisture corn over a long period while it's in the bin, Vapaa says. A retardant is used to prevent molding. To simulate the bin, the researchers have welded together three 50-gallon drums and filled them with corn. Air moves through the corn, becomes saturated with moisture and runs over the cold coils of the refrigeration unit to remove the moisture. The cold, dry air then passes over a condenser, where it's warmed and blown back through the corn. It's a closed system using the same air over and over, each time removing the moisture.

The studies show that the whole bin of corn doesn't dry at the same time. Instead, Vapaa says, there is a drying layer that moves a few inches each day, depending on the amount of air being blown through the bin.

Reese Theatre News

Holiday entertainment is the order of the day and if one glances at the weekly program to be found in this newspaper, the Reese Theatre screen offers a bountiful galaxy of joy and happiness.

For this Friday and Saturday, Alfred Hitchcock's suspense hit, "Rear Window" with James Stewart and Grace Kelly tops an all family bill of thrills and suspense, with Bruce Gordon and Lisa Lu in "Rider on a Dead Horse" the co-feature.

With Gregory Peck and Audrey Hepburn co-starred in "Roman Holiday" on Sunday and Monday, Dec. 9 and 10, patrons can expect another evening of superb movie viewing.

The annual free Christmas show will be presented Dec. 22, at 10:30 in the morning. For the first time, merchants and business men of Harrington sponsor this Christmas treat through their Christmas greeting advertisements presented on the screen of the Reese Theatre through the holiday season.

CARD OF THANKS

The Builders Class of Asbury Methodist Church gave a Sample Party on Friday evening, November 23, 1962, to benefit Asbury's Building Fund program. One hundred and eleven local merchants—from Harrington, Milford, and Dover—were solicited, and all contributed samples or door prizes making our sample party possible. We had planned to list each contributor's name in this space as a way of saying "thank you" but find that, because of the long list, it would be impractical to do so. Therefore, the Builders can only assure sincerely the readers of this article that your local merchants are being true to their promises and ethical codes by serving your communities in a gracious and open-hearted fashion. Merry Christmas from Asbury. tf 12-7 exp.

NOTICES

On the 30th day of October, 1962, the City of Harrington received a Certificate from the Office of the Secretary of State for the State of Delaware certifying that the City was qualified under Title 22, Chapter 8, Section 836 of the Delaware Code of 1953, as amended, to avail itself of the provisions of Title 22, Chapter 8. This law, recently passed, is commonly known as the "Home Rule" law, and provides a method by which incorporated municipalities, by means of a general election within the City or Town, may amend the City Charter so as to either assume additional powers or repeal existing provisions of the City Charter. In accordance with this law, the Council of the City of Harrington has proposed eleven Amendments to the existing Charter and plans to submit these proposed Amendments to the vote of all qualified voters within the City at the annual municipal election to be held on January 8, 1963, the second Tuesday in January. Copies of the proposed Amendments are on file with the City Clerk in the City Office, and a copy will be furnished by the Clerk to any qualified voter or taxpayer of the City upon request. tf 12-14 exp.

warned that the deadline for acceptance of material for inclusion in the initial 1963 edition of the Delaware Calendar of Events is rapidly approaching.

According to the state publicity and promotion agency, notices pertaining to late winter and spring events must be received prior to December 15 in order to receive consideration for inclusion in the calendars scheduled for distribution beginning Jan. 1.

Because of the large number of significant events annually staged in Delaware, the Calendar of Events is now printed in three parts. The first 1963 edition will cover the period from January 1 through May 31. Later editions will include events scheduled for the period June 1 through Aug. 31, and from Sept. 1 through Dec. 31.

According to David S. Hugg of the Development Department staff, the response to date has been good with notice of approximately 100 events having been received. However, Mr. Hugg feels that there are still other events of general interest that should be listed and hopes that information concerning these will be made available prior to the Dec. 15 deadline.

The Calendar of Events and various materials extolling the attractions of Delaware are mailed by the Development Department to the thousands of out-of-state people who annually request information concerning the attractions and facilities offered by "The First State." These materials are also distributed through the Delaware Travel Council; at the Information Center, Delaware Memorial Bridge; and at many travel information centers throughout the country. Organizations desiring to list their events in the Winter-Spring edition of the Delaware Calendar of Events are urged to immediately contact the Delaware State Development Department at 45 The Green, Dover. (Telephone: 734-4966).

New Brochure For Tourists Now Available

Tourists contemplating visits or overnight stops in Delaware now have 3920 hotel and motel rooms to accommodate them, according to Frank J. Harty, general manager of Delaware Memorial Bridge.

An attractive new brochure "Where to Stay and Where to Dine in Delaware" has just been completed for free distribution by the bridge management. It is the first completely new survey of facilities made in five years.

Compilation was done by David S. Hugg, information officer, Delaware State Development Department and Miles L. Frederick, secretary, Delaware Travel Council. The bridge and Development Department will be major distributors of the folder, Harty said.

A total of 170 establishments are listed of which 128 are motels and 23 are hotels in the state. Other units are listed as inns or apartments. Rooming houses and guest homes were not included in the survey. Facilities range in size from the three unit Founders Motel near Milford, to the 350 room Hotel duPont.

Harty said that not all of these units are available on a year-round basis. This is particularly true in the Sussex County seashore areas. He estimates that conservatively an additional 1500 rooms are available to tourists in guest homes and semi-private apartments, mostly during the summer vacation season.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Has there been a recent change in the priorities for VA hospitalization?

A—Yes. Under a new law, the peacetime veteran with noncompensable service-connected disability now has the same eligibility for VA medical care as the wartime veterans with noncompensable service-connected disability.

Q—I have been getting drugs from my local pharmacy under the VA hometown pharmacy program. Will I be affected by changes I hear are being made in this program?

A—No. The changes involve billing procedures under which VA pays the pharmacies. Veterans will continue to go to their local pharmacies for services under the program.

Q—What new hospitals does the Veterans Administration have under construction, and when will they be completed?

A—New, replacement hospitals being built by the VA and their schedule of completion are: Cleveland, Ohio, fall of 1963; Martinez, Calif., spring of 1963; Nashville, Tenn., early 1963;

Washington, D. C., fall of 1963; Wood, Wis., early 1965.

Felton School Notes

The chorus of Felton School, which includes students from the seventh to the twelfth grades, plans to attend the annual Kent County choral festival to be held at Smyrna High School Dec. 12. The chorus will sing two numbers, "Carol of the Russian Children," arranged by Gaul and "Silver Bells" by Jay Livingston and Ray Evans, under the direction of Mrs. Janet Parker. This is a new experience for the chorus, and the students are looking forward to the trip with anticipation. Besides their performance, they will hear choruses from other high schools in the county. A day of music such as this should prove most exciting and very profitable.

Home Economics

Along with more than two million high school senior girls across the nation, Felton girls will be taking the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" test Dec. 4. It is a test of homemaking knowledge and attitude. The highest winner in each school will receive a "Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award pin." The girl ranking highest in each state will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an expense-paid tour to New York, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., for herself and her advisor. The Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $5,000 scholarship. (State Homemakers of Tomorrow who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will have their scholarships increased to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.)

It will be quite a challenge and an effort for the Felton High School senior girls.

P. T. A.

The second marking period ended Dec. 4 and report cards will be issued Dec. 10. The program will feature Christmas music. A vocal program will be presented by the fifth grade classes and the Junior Band will play Christmas carols. Parents will have an opportunity to discuss pupil progress with their children's teachers following the program.

Music Department

The Felton School Music Department will present its annual Christmas concert Thursday evening, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. The concert will feature the high school chorus, school dance band and the high school band.

The high school chorus will sing "White By My Sleep," "Carol of the Drum," "Carol of the Russian Children," and "Silver Bells."

The school dance band will play "Jersey Bounce," "Embraceable You," and "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

The high school band will play "Sounding Brass," selections from "The Messiah," "Echo-Song," "White Christmas," "Christmas March," "A Christmas Festival," "The Syncopated Clock," and "The Kilties March."

The chorus will be directed by Mrs. Janet Parker and M. Ross Evans will direct the bands.

Tickets will be sold at the door which will open at 7:30 p.m. The music Boosters Club will sell refreshments after the program.

The Junior band will play a concert at the December P.T.A. meeting Monday evening, Dec. 10. The high school band will perform in a Christmas Parade at Seaford, at 1 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15. They will also perform a program at the Felton Fire Hall that same Saturday evening at 7 p.m. for the arrival of Santa Claus in Felton. The firemen invite all youngsters to attend to see and meet Santa Claus.

Athletics

The girls basketball team of Felton High School has been chosen for 1962-63. They will open their season against the Alumni girls on Dec. 21. Those on the F.H.S. team are: Charlotte Wyatt, Louise Farrow, Jean Farrow, Hazel Farrow, Rebecca Tatman, Faye Killen, Betty Davidson, Karen Cline, Mary Ellen Faulkner, Debbie Shumar, Shirley Griffith, Joanne Green, Yvonne Carter, Sylvia Conklin, Joan Wright, and Jean Poynter.

Agricultural Dept.

Wednesday evening, the Felton Chaper, Future Farmers of America, were hosts to the State F.F.A. Leadership Training Conference and banquet. This conference was attended by the local chapter officers from all F.F.A. chapters in the state and their advisors. The purpose of this conference was to give these young men training in leadership so that they may better lead their own local organization. Guests at the banquet, which was prepared most ably by the Felton P.T.A. Association and served by several young ladies of the Felton School, were Dr. Howard E. Henry, supervising principal of the Felton School; Charles A. Hoff, high school principal; Virgil Jarrell, chairman of the Board of School Trustees; L. Robbins Webb, national Dairy Products Corporation, and Ralph Barwick, professor of agricultural education at the University of Delaware. Dr. Henry was presented with a citation for his support of the agricultural program of the state.

Melvin C. Luff, vocation agricultural instructor of Felton High School, attended the annual Interstate Milk Producers Co-operative Convention at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia on Thursday. This meeting was attended by dairy farmers and county agent, representatives of the various agricultural colleges and the milk handling industry, and other interested personnel from the states of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

Elementary Activities

The Felton Board of Education has approved a plan submitted by Mr. Cline, the elementary principal to purchase maps, globes, and audio-visual materials.

"Actually," said Mr. Cline, "the plan is several plans in one. The Board approved the expenditure of $700 over the next five years for maps and globes in the elementary school. This will give all existing elementary grades the minimum amount of maps and globes needed. Furthermore, the maps and globes will be the correct ones for each grade. Also the needs of the rooms we anticipate have been allowed for in this plan."

"The Board also approved the expenditure of $50 a year for needed film-strips in history and geography."

"The plan also provided that part of the N.D.E.A. funds, (Matching Federal and local funds) would be used to buy audio-visual materials in the rooms, projectors, screens, tape recorders and film-strips for science and mathematics."

Mr. Cline stated: "The purpose of this rather complicated plan is to control expenditures on maps and globes so that the maps and globes will fit into our program, and to establish an audio-visual program in Felton superior to most programs in the state. With a satisfactory budget established for five years I see no reason why this cannot be accomplished."

Mr. Saud, a native of Saudi Arabia, and recently a member of the United States Air Force spoke to the Felton Elementary School on Friday, Nov. 16, at 1 p.m. Mr. Saud told of conditions in the Near East. He said that his years in the United States have taught him much about democracy; and now that he plans to go back to the Near East, he hopes to bring some of this understanding to bear upon problems in that troubled land.

Mr. Saud declared, "My people are like your people. They want freedom and ignity. There will be trouble in the Arab world until that is achieved."

The students eagerly questioned Mr. Saud until the end of the period.

Mrs. Milspaw, who had arranged for Mr. Saud to come to Felton, had a first grade party in honor of Mr. Saud's daughter, Cenna, who is in the first grade and Danny Dill who is also leaving.

Mrs. Clark Ney and Mrs. Joanne Albert the two room mothers arranged the party. Mrs. Ruffin Cadore was there as a guest.

Alumni Meeting

The Alumni Association met in the school cafeteria on Nov. 29 at which time it was announced that the annual banquet will be held April 27. Some plans were made pertaining to the presentation of a scholarship to a 1963 graduate. The next meeting will be on January 10.

Delaware Food Market Report

Pork production has passed its fall peak and supplies will be somewhat smaller for the next several weeks. We can expect to pay a little more for pork cuts than a year ago. Beef prices are also holding at levels somewhat higher than a year ago. Once again special sales offer the only real opportunity to save on most meats.

If bargains in beef and lamb do not appear again this weekend, then it is back to frying chickens. Fryers of excellent quality are selling at prices that cannot be beaten. As far as nutritional value is concerned, a serving of chicken is just as good as one of any other meat and as far as price is concerned there can be no comparison.

Egg prices continue to go up and down with this week following the upward trend. Grade A medium-sized eggs, which for weeks have been the best buy, shot up as much as 7 cents a dozen making the average price 53 cents a dozen.

The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, U. S. Department of the Interior, reports that cold storage holdings of fish products are nine per cent greater than a year ago. Markets in our area will be well stocked during this holiday month with fish steaks, halibut, salmon and fillets of cod, flounder, haddock, and ocean perch. Among shellfish, look for clams, oysters, lobsters, scallops and crabmeat.

Cheese of all kinds continues very plentiful. Butter is currently priced at 2 cents per pound less than a year ago and at the lowest price at this season of the year since 1958.

The ups and downs in vegetable prices this week nearly plentiful. Butter is currently priced at 2 cents per pound less than a year ago and at the lowest price at this season of the year since 1958.

The ups and downs in vegetable prices this week nearly balances. Seven vegetables are higher, six are lower in price. Loose tomatoes, cauliflower, broccoli, celery, sweet potatoes, turnips and cartoned tomatoes are all up in price. Down is lettuce, squash, snaps, baking potatoes, beets and cabbage. Fresh Greens are fairly abundant and prices are reasonable.

Fruit bins continue to offer a wide selection—apples, Bartlett pears, oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, bananas, cranberries and Emperor grapes.

Many holiday nuts are in short supply this year; only walnuts are in larger supply than a year ago. Pecan production is only a third of last year's. Smaller crops of almonds and filberts have been harvested. This is also true of Brazil nuts and cashews.

Rogers, Bonniwell Win Medals In Philly Run

Dennis Rogers and George Bonniwell, a pair of sophomore harriers from Harrington High School were medal winners in a 2 1/2 mile cross-country race held in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia last weekend. Awards were given to the first twenty finishers in a field of forty-one of the best high school runners in the Philadelphia, nearby Pennsylvania and New Jersey areas. Randy Knox, Roger Redden and Wayne Carson competed also.

The race was an interesting one, which saw the lads start near the Philadelphia Zoo and follow the other bank of the river until they came to a pedestrian overpass of a busy highway. After traversing the L-shaped overpass, the runners passed a waterfall then came to another bridge leading back across the river. Back on the other side, the Philadelphia Museum of Art and the Aquarium were passed on the way to the finish line near the Vesper A. C. Boathouse.

Rogers ran a fine race as he finished in 11th place. His time was 13:13. Last year in the same race Rogers clocked 14:13 to finish in 40th place.

Bonniwell's 14th place finish was secured with a good 13:24 time. Knox, Redden and Carson came in 25th 30th and 34th respectively.

The local quintet made a very respectable showing considering the caliber of the opposition.

None of the five were in top condition since the high school season had ended ten days earlier and the boys had been too busy with other pursuits to train much in the interim.

Philadelphia high school champion, Tom Donnelly was the individual winner.

Ed Dodd, a 16-year-old dwarf, finished in eighth place. The little guy measured only 4 ft. 8 in. but he surprised a lot of people.

Harry Knotts of Harrington came in second in this race two years ago. He was half a second behind the winner and might have won had he been familiar with the course.

Below is the final listing of the individual records for each lad on the H.H.S. team. These clockings are for the 2.4 miles Killen's Pond course. The first column represents the first workout of the year. The second column gives the best time for each lad. It is easy to see how most of these boys worked hard and improved greatly. The stop watch tells all.

Ken Garey is the only senior of the entire group. The 1961 squad had one runner under thirteen minutes and three more under fourteen minutes. The 1962 team had two harriers under thirteen minutes and six more under fourteen. The Lions should be one of the three best teams in Delaware next fall.

The writer would like to once again mention the fine co-operation given to Harrington High School by William Killen and Thomas Chambers. They are the owners of the land on which the course is located. In the past five years almost one thousand boys from New Castle, to Bishops Head, Md., have competed at Killen's Pond. This is the best cross-country terrain to be found in the lower Delmarva area.

All-Conquering Hockey Team Honored

It's a man's world, or so it's been said. Women do, however, receive their just share of the glory, and last night was Harrington's time to howl.

More than 250 persons turned out at the high school Tuesday night to pay tribute to an undefeated girls' hockey team. Sharing the spotlight was Coach Violet Testerman, an unbeatable pilot in her first year at the Harrington helm.

The Lion lassies steamrolled over six opponents enroute to their perfect campaign, conquering Felton, Dover Air Base, Rehoboth, Delmar, Selbyville and Seaford. Their only brush with defeat came in a scoreless tie with Georgetown distaffers.

The campaign was an extremely pleasant one for Miss Testerman, making her debut at the Harrington reins after coaching in Marion, Va. It is her first unbeaten season. She also will pilot the softball team in next spring's Henlopen Conference competition.

A trophy was presented the 1962 co-captains Carol Smith and Claudia Neeman by Joyce Hopkins, and Louisa Howard, co-captains of the 1955 squad which also finished undefeated.

Memoir hockey sticks were awarded senior players Carol McNally, Jean Thomas, Miss Smith and Miss Neeman.

Receiving souvenir keys as members of the championship squad were Jean Thomas, Dawn Hopkins, Linda Smith, Sharon Wades, Jackie Rasmus, Nancy Blades, Pat Richardson, Lois Larimore, Claudia Neeman, Carol Smith, Susan McDonald, Michele Jack, Nina Hitchens, Carol McNally, Christy Coady, Nancy Harrington and Bonnie Tucker.

Managerial awards were presented Susan Gilstad, Susan Brown and Gloria Schaper.

Honored for jayvee participation were Marilyn Walls, Joan Smith, Judy Burgess, Peggy O'Neal, Lynn Bennett, Sylvia Outten, Brenda Neeman, Vickie Hill, Elizabeth Trotta, Rebecca Goodhand, Phylis Robinson, Susan Taylor, Frances Downing, Debbie Swain and Joyce Donovan.

Dr. Nancy C. Sawin, headmistress of Sanford Preparatory School near Wilmington and a member of the National Field Hockey Tournament team, was the featured speaker.

Mrs. James D. Moore was mistress of ceremonies. Albert W. Adams, superintendent of Harrington Schools welcomed the group. Introduction of the all-winning 1955 team was made by Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins.

Participating in the testimonial affair were the Parent-Teacher Association, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Harrington Lions Club, and the Loyal Order of Moose.

Basketball Starts At H. H. S.

Coach Bill Smith started basketball workouts at Harrington High School Monday night. Twenty-two candidates showed up for the first session. Others are expected to come out this week. The lads will be competing for twelve berths.

Jeff Adams, last year's top scorer, heads the returnees. Others with experience are Tom Milsap, Barry Fry, Bill Adams, David Brobst and Wayne Collison.

Richard Black, Bob Smith, Frank Welch, Joe Taylor, Dick Collins, Glen Smith Roger Bets, Ron Broce, Randy Knox, Henry Minner, Mannie Robinson, Warren Bader, John Petroskey, Harry Bitler, Jose Torres and Harold Brode are other candidates. The last four are transfer students. Bitler and Torres are from Chestertown, Md. Brode is from Ephrata, Pa.

It is a little early to evaluate the squad. However, it appears that more height will be available than last winter. Black, Milsap, Torres, Fry, Brobst, Knox, Collison and Bader are in the area from 5ft. 10 in. to 6 ft. 2 in.

One-Fourth of Food Dollar Spent for Meat

The nation's meat industry is the largest food business in the world, says Katie Thomas, county extension agent, home economics.

Americans spent $16 billion for beef, pork, veal, and lamb in 1961. That's about one-fourth of all money spent for food during the year, and average about $277 for each family.

Despite rising costs, meat is still a good buy, she points out. In the early 1920's, the annual meat bill amounted to about $34 for each person and bought 134 pounds of meat. By 1961, the meat bill, at about $90 per person, was almost three times as high, and bought 161 pounds of meat.

Even more important to the family budget is that only 4.5 per cent of the take-home pay was needed to buy meat in 1961. Forty years ago the meat bill required 6.7 per cent of the take-home pay.

The percentage of income spent on meat declined because incomes are higher than they were four decades ago. Also, today's farmer can raise more hogs, beef cattle, and sheep with considerably less time and labor. Better farm management, greater use of machinery, and improved foods help the farmer to produce more meat for consumers at a reasonable price.

Pilot Recreation Enterprises On Farms

A limited number of farmers in Delaware may be eligible for cost-share assistance in establishing pilot recreation enterprises on their cropland in 1963, according to Jacob Zimmerman, Chairman, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The enterprises, part of the long-range program of land-use adjustment designed to help farmers convert their farms from crop production to grass, trees, wildlife and income-producing recreation uses, were authorized by Congress as a part of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

Under the program, the Government will share with a limited number of farmers the cost of conservation practices needed in order to make these conversions. In addition, adjustment payments will be made to help farmers make the conversion if the land is suitable for regular use in the production of crops. Primary responsibility for administering this program has been delegated to USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, in cooperation with other Department agencies, Zimmerman pointed out.

The pilot recreation developments may include conversion of all or part of the eligible land on a farm to recreation use. Only farmers or groups of farmers who own or operate cropland which is being devoted to the production of row crops or small grain, and tame hay, will be eligible to participate in the program. Land already in forest trees or shrubs for wildlife or water impoundments will not be eligible, nor ownership in the past two years.

Loans for capital facilities such as buildings and boat docks will be available to qualified participants through USDA's Farmers Home Administration. In addition, plans for more extensive FHA farm operation, farm ownership, and association loan programs for recreation development of family farms and in rural areas were announced by the USDA recently.

Practices aimed at developing fishing, swimming boating, hunting preserves, picnicking, camping, and other recreational use of land will be considered in developing the pilot developments in addition to wildlife conservation practices with soil and water benefits.

Individual farmers or small groups of farmers who are interested in participating in the pilot program should contact the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office as soon as possible to discuss their proposals, Zimmerman urged.

Funeral services were held at St. Johnstown Church Sunday afternoon with the Rev. Muriel Smith, pastor, officiating.
Friends called at the Fleischer Funeral Home, Greenwood, Saturday night.

GIFT GIVING

Decorate your fruit cake when it's almost finished so that nuts and fruits won't discolor. If you have trouble making your decorations stick, dip them in egg whites before placing them on the cake, Miss Coblenz suggests.

Aluminum foil serves the double purpose of protecting food as well as making an attractive wrapping, so wrap your finished product in gay colored foil and—for that extra touch—tie it with a festive ribbon and a sprig of holly or pine.

If a weight watcher is on your Christmas list, you can cater to her calorie chart and still please her palate by giving her an assortment of meringue-type cookies. These do not require much shortening, nor do angel food or sponge cakes.

For another tasty and attractive Christmas gift, fill a basket with homemade jellies or jellies (or both) wrapped in holiday attire. If baking yeast breads is your specialty, give a Swedish Tea Ring or a loaf of homemade bread on a wooden chopping board.

Other gift ideas suggested by Miss Coblenz are Cranberry Nut Bread in a basket, your special barbecue sauce wrapped in snowman style, or spiced nuts in an apothecary jar.

Whatever irresistible treat you choose will be doubly appreciated if it comes from your own kitchen. Your time and effort will tell those lucky receivers "Merry Christmas" in a most pleasantly personal and edible way!

Veterans News

Delaware veterans of World War I and II will receive about $842,000 in regular and special insurance dividends next month, Leon Fields, manager of the VA Regional Office, said this week.

The Veterans Administration estimates the bulk of this fund, $811,000, will go to World War II veterans in Delaware holding National Service Life Insurance (NSLI). The $811,000 represents both the annual 1963 regular dividend and a "special" dividend.

The VA estimates further, Mr. Fields said, that about $31,000 in regular dividends will go to World War I veterans in Delaware, holders of U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI).

The regular dividends paid to both World War I and World War II policy holders are primarily a return to the policy holders of part of their annual premium payments since the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the rate upon which the payments were established by law.

The special dividend going to World War II veterans will be paid from the contingency reserve fund due to the fact that study and current experience indicate that the fund is more than ample to meet the needs of the insurance program.

Mr. Fields said he had been advised the first dividend checks will be mailed out the first working day in January.

Through the co-operation of the U. S. Treasury Department and the U. S. Post Office, 75 per cent of the dividend checks will be distributed to veterans in the state by January 15, and all of them are scheduled to be distributed by the end of January.

Throughout the nation more than $327,000,000 in 1963 insurance dividends will be distributed, with $222,000,000 in regular dividends going to nearly 5,000,000 World War II veterans holding NSLI policies. The special dividend to World War II veterans will be approximately $90,000,000.

More than $15,000,000 will go to about 250,000 World War I veterans who hold USGLI policies.

POULENC "GLORIA"

December 13 and 14, in Mitchell Hall.

The opening night is the public performance at 8:15, with the second night designed primarily for students and other members of the campus community. It will begin at 7:30 to allow time for the annual Christmas carol sing on the campus immediately following.

Commissioned by the Koussevitzky Foundation of the Library of Congress, the "Gloria" was written in a style similar to Vivaldi works, with text based on the liturgy. Guest soloist in this work will be Shirley Tedford, of Wilmington, soprano.

Soloists in the "Magnificat" will be Winifred Buzinskis, mezzo-soprano; Dorothy Rathje, alto; Donald Morgan, tenor; Joseph Krewatch, bass, and Mrs. Tedford.

The performances, open to the public without charge, will be under the direction of Dr. Ivan Trusler, director of the university's choral organizations.

Winter Mulches Save Home Plantings

Mulches will give you added assurance that your landscape plantings will survive the rigors of winter. They help maintain more even soil moisture and temperature, and reduce the effects of freezing and thawing.

Kent County agent George Vapaa says that the three most common mulches available in Delaware are corncobs, sawdust and peat moss. If you use corncobs, they should be cracked into smaller pieces and applied four to six inches deep around the plant.

Sawdust should be aged or somewhat rotted before it's applied to the soil. Vapaa advised not to use fresh of "green" sawdust. If you intend to leave the sawdust or corncob mulch on beyond the winter, you'll want to add some nitrogen to the soil to replace the loss of nitrogen when these materials begin to decay.

Peat moss is more expensive than either corncobs or sawdust, but it doesn't need to be applied as thickly. You can get good protection with an application of two or three inches. One suggestion for easier handling of peat moss wet the bale thoroughly before you begin to spread it.
