Delaware Food Market Report

Cold weather generally spells potato time. What better choice on a snappy day than potatoes to go with a meal that is hearty and satisfying, with good stick-to-the-ribs quality? There's reason enough why many consumers have been making a beeline for the potatoes featured at local markets. Here are other reasons—important ones too—quality has been and remains good to excellent and prices are reasonable to low.

Fortunately, it has been a good potato year and abundant supplies are available. Sweet potato harvest was 21 per cent larger than a year ago with outstanding yields reported from New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia. Irish potatoes are abundant also with heavy storage stocks from the 1962 fall crop still available.

January storage stocks of onions in the east are up 31 per cent and prices are below last year. Mushrooms are also plentiful right now and they are attractively priced. Other vegetable choices include carrots, endive, escarole and spring onions.

Prices have increased on many vegetables again this week but the increase has not been steep at present. It is wise to continue to check carefully for quality before buying.

Several varieties of winter pears are plentiful, Anjou being the leader. Apples, Emperor grapes, avocados, and hothouse rhubarb round out economical fruit selections.

Retail egg prices have begun their typical seasonal decline. Large, Grade A eggs are down two cents this week and are six cents a dozen lower than at the first of the year.

The 1962 pack of canned salmon, Maine sardines and tuna are heavy, resulting in high stocks on hand. Certain items in particular are abundant enough for prices to be lower. For instance, Pink salmon is in heavier supply than red. Albacore or white meat chunk style reflects the biggest increase in tuna.

As part of this year's expected record beef production, supplies for February will be larger than a year ago. However, prices will remain about the same. Beef and pork prices will probably reach their seasonal low in late winter or early spring. For economical meat buys be sure to check "specials". This week such cuts of beef as chuck roast, steaks and certain roasts are the better buys. Smoked picnics, shoulder steaks, roast and sausage are low-cost pork choices.

CLOVER and LESPEDEZA

It's almost time for seeding clover and lespedeza for pasture or for hay crops. This year, make your dollars count more with Southern States seeds that give you a "bigger pay-off" in higher yields of forage, better stands, fewer weeds.

Southern States Lespedeza — either Korean or Kobe—is absolutely free of Johnson Grass and Onions. No seed on the market gives you greater protection against Dodder. Your fields stay clean. Southern States Lespedeza is high-germinating, produces thick, healthy stands.

You're really "in clover" when you plant SOUTHERN STATES CLOVERS — either Chesapeake Red, Kenland, Red, White, Ladino, or other varieties. Southern States clover is adapted seed of known origin, resistant to anthracnose and other diseases. High in germination and low in weed content. All these mean high yields of excellent forage—the real pay-off you're looking for.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

Directions for growth below the canal is the title of a talk to be given on Friday in the Capital Grange Hall.

Some cynics define an "expert" as anyone at least 500 miles from home who is willing to comment on the local scene.

Do you agree we can plan and direct (zone the pattern) for growth?

It's probably too late now to get luncheon tickets for the meeting, but everyone is welcome to hear the talk and to ask questions afterwards.

An article by Austin Showman, associate extension editor at Ohio State University suggests untold stories "which carry as much meaning for the non-farmer as for the farmer."

The farmer's share of each dollar the consumer spends for food or clothing is often only a few pennies.

A major reason we have surpluses in farm commodities is because U.S. farmers have the capacity and know-how to produce 6 to 8 per cent more than the market will absorb.

Giving our surplus food to needy countries isn't easy. Supplying foods might disrupt internal economies of recipient countries.

The American consumer is getting the safest, most nutritious, highest quality food in history.

Showman's story presents many thought-provoking ideas too detailed to present here.

Hogs have ulcers too. Who would have thought so. But results of a recent research project at ansas State University show that hogs, as well as humans, get gastric ulcers.

The number of tractors used on the farms of India has increased more than 60 per cent in the past five years, according to the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

Dirty filters are the cause of at least two common problems encountered with forced air heating systems—loss of efficiency and unsatisfactory performance.

Finding roaches is no disgrace; the disgrace is in letting them stay. So attack the roach problem promptly. Good housekeeping alone isn't enough to prevent or control roaches.

Felton Station Safe Emptied

The theft of $250 in cash and checks from the Felton service station, at Delaware 12 and U.S. 13, was reported to state police Friday.

Benny Rash, of Felton, operator of the station, said the money and checks were taken during business hours Thurs., Jan. 31 from a closed but unlocked safe in the office.

State police detectives asked Rash for a list of all customers.

U. of D. Seeks Additions to Manuscripts

Manuscript collections in the University of Delaware library are beginning to assume "a respectable size," according to Richard C. Quick, assistant to the director of libraries.

Writing in the alumni quarterly, The University News, Quick notes a resurgence of popular and scholarly interest in America's past which is making original sources such as collections of letters, travel journals, ships' logs, diaries and business records ever more important to the scholar.

"While the University of Delaware library has not been among the foremost in the collecting of manuscript, neither has it been among the laggards," Quick claims. "Its collections have begun to assume a respectable size, and now number perhaps eight-hundred units, totalling an estimated quarter of a million pieces."

Among the collections of Delawareans which comprise the bulk of these materials, Quick cites the Latimer Family papers, which span two-and-a-half centuries of local and national history; the papers of the Senators Saulsbury, father and son; and the diplomatic papers of George S. Messersmith, former State Department official in Germany and Latin America.

The Latimer papers include those of Henry Latimer, Sr. (1752-1819), an early member of the Delaware legislature and the U. S. Congress, and his son Henry, a farmer and banker who resided in Newport and Stanton.

Other manuscript resources are the George Handy Bates Samoan papers, the manuscript drafts for publication by Katherine Pyle, sister of artist Howard Pyle and writer-illustrator of children's stories; and the collected letters and reminiscences of James R. Maxwell, construction engineer on the Union Pacific Railroad during its western expansion in the 1860's.

"While collections of original source materials would seem to bulk large, they are only a small part of any such accumulations which must have existed within the bounds of this busy strategically placed state," Quick writes.

Delawareans who have such collections are invited to submit them to the University of Delaware where they will be properly cataloged, stored and preserved.

"There is no end to the scholarly use to which they may be put," Quick observes.

The Family Farm, Inc. May Offer Advantages

Usually the farmer is the sole owner and operator of his business. He is free to make his own decisions and is personally responsible for his debts. However, a sole proprietorship is difficult to transfer from one generation to the next.

A partnership is also hard to transfer from father to son. Furthermore each partner is liable for all of the debts of the other. A limited partnership restricts debt obligations to the partner's investment, but the limited partner cannot work for the farm.

When a farmer incorporates his farm operation, he can limit debt liability and still manage his own business. The farmer must hire an attorney to prepare the articles of incorporation and file them with the State Department of Delaware.

Also, any corporation is required to have elected officers and to have its records audited each year. However, the book-keeping involved is often no more complex than that now kept by a good farmer. Under an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code in 1958, small business corporations with 10 or fewer stockholders and one class of stock can elect to be taxed only once by filing as a partnership rather than a corporation.

Some farmers incorporate because of tax advantages. If a farmer has a gross income of at least $20,000 a year, it may pay him to incorporate. But the more deductions he has, the more money he has to make before the incorporation is an advantage tax-wise.

The chief value of incorporation, however, is in that each family member can share in an estate without dividing or selling the farm. By transferring shares of stock, the farmer can pass the operation intact to a member of the family who wants to continue the operation of the farm.

Stock in the farm corporation can be given as gifts during the farmer's lifetime or willed to his family after death. If the son who remains on the farm wants to own the entire corporation, he can buy up the shares owned by the other heirs over a period of time.

Most businesses find it to their advantage to be incorporated—in the future many farmers will find incorporation has advantages for them also.

Take Proper Care Of Suede and Fur

Garments and accessories of fur and suede are popular fashion items this year, but many women hesitate to buy them because of the care involved. However, common sense and a few simple precautions are all that is necessary for general maintenance of these articles, says Katie Thomas, Kent County Extension Agent.

If you are careful with suede garments, they shouldn't need professional cleaning more than about once a year, but when they are cleaned, it should be done by a cleaner who specializes in handling leathers, she advises. It's a good idea to wear a scarf to protect the collars of suede jackets.

After each wearing, use a special suede brush or sponge, brushing in a circular motion to keep the nap soft and to clean minor spots. If a shiny spot develops at elbows or other hard wear areas, you can raise the nap by brushing with a very fine sandpaper or emery board, Mrs. Thomas notes.

If you get caught in the rain, let suede dry naturally at room temperature and then brush or sponge gently. Suede garments can be pressed at home with a warm, dry iron, using heavy brown paper between the suede and the iron. Suede garments should be hung on padded hangers in a cool closet, and should never be covered with plastic bags because air circulation is necessary to keep suede from drying out and becoming hard and brittle.

Proper care of furs—whether a full-length coat or a small hat—will insure long and useful service, says Mrs. Thomas. She advises that if fur becomes damp from rain or snow, the water drops should be shaken out and the garment should be hung in a cool place where air may circulate and the fur may dry naturally. Fur which has become soaked may have to be treated by a furrier, she cautions.

Fur should never be kept in plastic bags because the fur must

"breathe" in order to keep its lustrous texture. Furs should be cleaned and reconditioned before storing for the summer.

Meetings to Increase Farm Profits Scheduled

"Increasing farm profits" will be the theme of a series of four farm management meetings beginning Wednesday, February 13 at Middletown High School.

Sponsored jointly by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Vocational Agricultural Department of Middletown High School, the meetings for area farmers will begin at 7:30 p. m. on four successive Wednesdays.

Instructors for the short course will be Ed Schabinger, New Castle County agricultural agent; Ken Bolyard, Vo-Ag teacher at Middletown; and W. R. McAllister, extension farm management specialist, and Dr. William M. Crosswhite, assistant professor of economics, both of the University of Delaware.

Participants will analyze their individual farming operations and consider changes for improving farm profits. Meetings will continue on February 20, 27 and March 6.

The farm management series follows similar short courses on dairy and vegetable production offered farmers of the area in an overall winter educational program sponsored by the high school and the Extension Service.

SHD Winter Training Program Now Underway

The winter training program for State Highway Department personnel is now in progress, with sessions being held in each of the three county division headquarters.

The classes are being held on an average of one each week and will continue until early in March. All inspectors, survey personnel, maintenance supervisors and some materials and research personnel are attending the classes.

The subjects being reviewed are earthwork, base courses, surface course for hot-mix, concrete and surface treatment, structures of piling and masonry and structures of steel and pipe, incidental construction and records.

All of the subjects are connected with the standard specifications of the Department with the personnel attending the school being briefed on possible changes in the specifications and any advances being made in the techniques used in the highway construction field.

Cast Announced For E52 Musical

Daniel Lanning, of Newark, and Elizabeth Fluharty, of Wilmington, will star in the spring production of the musical, "Three Penny Opera," at the University of Delaware.

Turner W. Edge, director, announced the cast for the E 52 University Theatre presentation scheduled for March 7, 8, 9, 15 and 16 in Mitchell Hall.

Lanning is a senior dramatic arts and speech major and Miss Fluharty is a senior music education major. Lanning, who will portray Macheath (Mack the Knife), has participated in many campus dramatic productions, while Miss Fluharty, who will play Polly Peachum, has had several solo opportunities with the Concert Choir.

"Three Penny Opera," by Bertold Brecht and Kurt Weill, which ran for seven years Off-Broadway, will be a joint production of E-52 and the music department. J. Robert King will be musical director.

Other leading members of the cast are Katherine Salvatore, of Trenton, N. J., as Jenny; Peter Fisher, of Wilmington, as J. J. Peachum; Melanie Tarkenton, of Arden, as Mrs. Peachum, and Dr. George Windell, assistant professor of history, as guest actor in the role of Rev. Kimball. Also, Todd Waymon, of New Castle, as Tiger Brown; Charles Brandt, of New York City, as Smith; Henry Porrea, of Wilmington, as Filch; Joanna Dobenstein, of Wilmington, as Lucy Brown, and Jerry Schwartz, of Wilmington, as the street singer.

Honor Societies Schedule 'World Crises Day'

Student honors societies will bring three experts in the field of world affairs to speak at the University of Delaware on Saturday.

The public is invited to attend "World Crises Day" in Mitchell Hall and hear discussions about three world concerns — China, Berlin and the neutral nations.

Sponsoring organizations are Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Rho and Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership and scholarship societies, in co-operation with the departments of political science and economics and business administration.

Felix Greene, author of "Awaken China," will speak at 10 a.m. on the topic, "What's Going on in China Today." He has traveled widely in that country and has spoken with its leaders.

Col. Harold B. Ayres, former chief of staff of the Berlin forces, will speak on "Berlin" at 1:30 p.m. He is presently senior Army adviser to the Naval War College.

Dr. Ralph Purcell, former chairman of political science at the university and now a member of the staff at the Naval War College, will speak on "The Third Force: The Non-Committed Nations," at 3 p.m.

A public reception for the speakers will be held in the faculty lounge of the Student Center at 4 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Student Center Cultural Relations Committee.

Letter to the Editor

School children learn of the battles fought by our ancestors in founding and preserving the Republic. What their parents fail to perceive is that our liberties are being lost, not on the battle field, but at the voting place.

On January 31st, the Legislative Budget Committee held a hearing on the application of the Welfare Department for funds for the following fiscal year. The members of the Committee sat with their backs to three walls and with tables in front of them.

Senator Hoey, chairman, presided with dignity and fairness. The members of the Committee were active in the discussions and showed no signs of partisanship.

The Welfare Department attitude was in favor of the "welfare state," i.e., taking care of indigents from the cradle to the grave. Additional functions were to be added as more Federal money (which grows on trees) became available.

The Welfare Department is applying for more money to hire additional employees and raise salaries. The more "cases" they have, the higher the salaries should be.

The Welfare Department is applying for more money to hire additional employees and raise salaries. The more "cases" they have, the higher the salaries should be.

Welfare workers are subsidizing the "population explosion" by free distribution of taxpayers' money. One colored woman (38 years old) has produced 22 illegitimate babies; she could finally have a total of thirty.

Not counting free food and other subsidies, the Welfare crowd spends on 15,126 "relievers," (plus their own salaries) about $7 million annually. They are pauperizing Delawareans and penalizing potential employers who are prevented from hiring the bums.

What is the answer? It is the sterilization of all mothers of two or more illegitimate children. Those who refuse would be penalized by the withdrawal of all relief. They could be given transportation to New York, where Governor Rockefeller made it possible to draw relief promptly on arrival.

Asbury W.S.C.S. Notes

Frank Quillen conducted a spirited auction sale at the February meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Asbury Church on Tuesday evening. Under the topic of "Ways and Means" the sale was arranged by Mrs. Quillen. A worthwhile amount of money was raised from the sale of the items which ranged from cakes and flower pots to bed quilts and a double sink. Those attending enjoyed the event a great deal.

Mrs. Fulton Downing, president of the society, presided at the short business meeting before the sale. Mrs. Fred B. Greenly, spiritual life secretary gave the devotions.

Mrs. William Irwin and Mrs. James Neeman and 15 Girl Scouts from Troop 687 brought a Valentine thank you to the society for sponsoring their troop. They sang a Girl Scout song and presented the group with an immense red heart trimmed with white paper lace and the words "Thank You" written in white.

A day apart service will be held Tuesday evening, March 12 at 7:30 in Greenwood Methodist Church. All society members are invited to attend.

Deborah Circle with Mrs. Wallace Hanson, leader, will meet Feb. 13 at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Don Dell.

The Society voted to maintain a snack bar at the antique shop to be held at Asbury 24 and 25.

A request for all members to donate $1 each for the Neighborhood House was repeated. This is the conference project for the year. $1 from each society member in the conference for three years would enable the repayment of the money borrowed to pay for the Neighborhood House in Wilmington and the renovations to the property. The donation should be made to the Circle Leaders as soon as possible.

A study course on "Prayer" will be held in Trinity Church. The date of the first session will be Tues., March 12. The Rev. Poukish will teach the course. Members of the Asbury Society have been invited to take the course also. Anyone wishing to take the course should call Mrs. Earle Nelson at 398-8743. She will order a text book for you. The text is $1 and is entitled "Dimensions of Prayer."

Mrs. William W. Sharp, promotion secretary, asked those present to try to interest new members in the society. Her counterpart on the conference level has asked for a 10% increase in membership this year. In number this would mean 16 new members for Asbury society since the membership total is 158 at the present time. Any woman in the church who wishes to become a member of the society should call Mrs. Downing or Mrs. Sharp. They will be more than glad to arrange for a warm welcome in a Circle and to the society. Call them today.

The next meeting will be on March 5 with Mrs. Ethel C. Bull, leader for topic "Prayer." Lydia Circle, with Mrs. Clarence Jarrell, will be in charge of refreshments.

Farm and Home Week Speaker Suggests "Comprehensive Plan"

Preparation of a "complete and comprehensive plan of land use" of all land in the United States outside the limits of incorporated cities and villages was recommended recently by a land use expert speaking to a Farm and Home Week audience at the University of Delaware.

This suggestion was made by Walter A. Rowlands, land use specialist at the University of Wisconsin, in remarks prepared for delivery during a general session recently in Agricultural Hall.

Rowlands said the plan should be kept "systematically up-to-date" and should be done in cooperation with "appropriate federal, state and local agricultural agencies and local professional and civic citizen groups and under the leadership of local government."

The traditional three-day Farm and Home Week, sponsored by the School of Agriculture ended recently. Two other sessions on exploring problems dealing with Delaware's changing economy were on a recent program.

Rowlands, who is scheduled to speak at a luncheon in the Capital Grange Hall at Dover today, on directions of growth below the canal, cited two basic questions that planners must ask:

(1) What kind of a community do we want to live in? (2) What are we willing to do to achieve such a community?

"Planning is not so new nor so mysterious to people who live in a democracy and who are free to go where they want to go and to do things they want to do," he said. He cited 10 considerations in meeting tomorrow's need for planning and zoning:

"1. Prevent waste in land use. Waste in leap-frogging subdivisions - waste in intermingled and conflicting land uses-waste in destruction of resources.

"2. Reserve the best quality agricultural land for future agricultural use whenever and wherever this is possible.

"3. Strive to create new wealth in the development of the land and in the balanced industrial development that uses products especially of the farm and forest. These are our basic renewable resources.

"4. Direct new residential subdivisions, wherever possible to land unfit or unneeded for farm use - yes, the rocky, hilly, and rough land.

"5. Preserve some of the low swampy areas for wildlife development and new lake flowage areas. In the future we will need many such areas for game, fish and wildlife. Once they have been used for commerce or industry, they can hardly ever be restored for wildlife uses.

"6. Mark out, delineate carefully the boundaries of the flood plains of our important rivers and proceed to help the community zone them against residential development and commercial and industrial development.

"7. Strive to achieve a balance in the use of land as a means of creating all-year industrial employment needed to stabilize the total income of the county. Forestry and agriculture are renewable and continuing resources. Fat cities don't grow on lean countryside. Neither do poverty-stricken areas make substantial contributions to civilization and society.

"8. Look carefully to preserving our basic recreational uses of land. We will need all the recreational land and water resources we have and can develop for the future.

"9. If however, this nation is to grow more beautiful - and the scenery of the countryside is a tremendously saleable asset to tourism and the recreation industry - then it will be because the people of our nation are alert and vigilant in keeping what I call the seven major scourges of the countryside under control.

"These seven are: (1) automobile graveyards, (2) garbage disposal dumps and litter along the highway, (3) unsightly farmsteads and barnyards, (4) homes on the flood plains, (5) trailers scattered throughout the countryside, (6) industries that emit noxious fumes and odors, and (7) signs and billboards that line the highways in all sizes, shapes and colors and in all stages of dilapidation.

"10. Finally, we will need to promote more cooperation between the city, county, hundreds and villages in the development of broad areas of resource planning.

Cherries Brighten February Meals

February is traditionally "cherry month", ever since the legend began about George Washington chopping down the cherry tree. But even if February weren't the month of Washington's birthday, cherries would still be a popular dessert this time of year because they add a colorful touch to dark winter days. And Valentine's Day, with its red and white color scheme, is another ideal time to serve pretty cherry desserts, says Miss Janet Colbentz, extension food specialist at the University of Delaware.

Miss Colbentz offers two exotic-looking, but easy-to-make cherry pie recipes ideal for February parties or family desserts.

To make Cherry Chiffon Pie, drain a one-pound can of red tart cherries and combine with 1/2 cup of the cherry juice, 1 1/3 cups sugar, a dash of salt and one envelope of unflavored gelatin. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly, add a drop or two of almond flavoring, and cool until mixture thickens. Then beat three egg whites and 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar until soft peaks form, gradually add 1/3 cup sugar, and continue beating until stiff. In another bowl, beat 1/2 cup heavy cream until very stiff. Fold cherry mixture into beaten egg whites, then fold in whipped cream. Heap in to a baked nine-inch pie shell and chill well before serving.

To make Easy Cherry Fluff Pie, drain a one-pound can of tart red cherries, reserving 1 1/2 cups of juice. Water may be added to juice to complete the measure. Combine one package vanilla pudding mix, 1/4 cup sugar and the cherry juice. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly. Stir in the cherries and cool to room temperature. Fold in 1 cup stiffly whipped heavy cream and spoon into baked nine-inch pie shell. Chill before serving.

In addition to pies, many other colorful cherry dishes can add interest to winter meals.

Miss Colbentz suggests a cherry sauce for baked ham, turkey, chicken or roast pork. To make a sauce, add cornstarch to the cherry juice and cook a few minutes until thick. Stir in cherries, sweeten with sugar and add a dash of salt. Lemon juice, almond extract or cinnamon can be added to spark the flavor, or mince-meat, prepared mustard or horseradish might be used. Serve either hot or cold with the meat.

A sweet or tart cherry sauce might also be used on hot cereal, pancakes, waffles or slices of white or angel food cake. In place of homemade cherry sauce, a can of prepared cherry pie filling might be used.

An easy cherry cake can be made by folding sweetened drained cherries into white cake batter. Use the cherry juice in the frosting, adding a drop of red coloring if desired.

Veal Calves Boost Income

Veal calf production could provide added income, reports county agent George Vapaa. He cites recent research at Penn State and other experiment stations that indicate satisfactory veal may be produced by using certain types of milk replacers. This means that vealing may be profitable in areas where milk prices make milk-feeding of veal calves uneconomical.

A replacer containing all milk products and at least 10 per cent fat is recommended for vealing. Many of the replacers used for raising replacement calves contain considerable amounts of vegetable products. These are not readily utilized by young calves, so these replacers generally are not satisfactory for veal calf production.

Vapaa warns that because of health problems that usually arise when many calves from more than one source are brought together, it appears that vealing should be limited to bull and surplus heifer calves from your own farm or those purchased are confined to one farm. The size of the operation should be limited until experience is gained in the marketing as well as production of veal.

Returns over feed and calf costs might range from $10 to $20 per calf in areas with a veal market. At present packers are forced to obtain vealers in other states to meet the demands of our Eastern markets. Prices paid for finished vealers raised on milk replacers are generally lower than those finished on whole milk.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS
Q—How many U. S. veterans are still living, and how does this total compare with the all-time high?

A—On January 1, 1963, there were 22,225,000 U. S. veterans of all wars still living. This compares with the all-time high of 22,735,000, which was reached in March, 1958.

Q—As the widow of a World War II veteran with two children, I understand WW II widows and orphans are now eligible to receive pensions on the same basis as World War I dependents. What are the conditions for eligibility and how much would the pension amount to?

A—The WW II deceased veteran no longer is required to have had a service-connected disability at the time of his death. Your income must be less than $3,000 a year. Your pension would range from $25 to $60 a month, adding $15 a month for each child.

Q—As a veteran with a GI home loan, I understand I may make additional payments to retire the loan faster than my contract stipulates. What is the minimum extra payment I may make?

A—You may pay an additional $100 with your monthly payment or an additional monthly payment, whichever is the smaller payment.

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Admiral Dave Nelson, the University of Delaware's highly-successful, nationally known football coach, has been called to several big-time colleges during the last few years to install his style of play. Using Nelson's methods Iowa became national champion one year, Louisiana State under Paul Dietz had a long string of victories. Nelson has been a winning coach in post-season bowl games on at least two occasions. He caught us off guard with the statement this week that it take a much better athlete to play good basketball in comparison to the calibre of athlete, who makes a good football player.

Wrestling's threatening to pass basketball in popularity in some Delaware high schools. One of these is Harrington. Parents and other adults in addition to students are beginning to follow the Lion squad on road trips. Good crowds are attending the home meets. Some adults, who have been severe critics of high school athletics, are now leaping to their feet screaming "pin, pin", whenever a Lion grapples with his foe in trouble. We are tempted to name some of these critics, but in the interests of harmony, perhaps we'd better forego that pleasure. It's nice to know that at least some of this group have finally found a sport they can go for.

Felton High girls were playing at Bridgeville Tuesday night, when a mouse suddenly ran out on the floor.

Pandemoniumville! A Bridgeville police officer and most of the other males in the gathering stomped up a storm, while the staff side of the audience did all the things they usually do when confronted by rodents. However, the little varmint was too agile and made good his escape.

Basketball coach Bill Smith, wrestling coach Mike Mock, junior high coach Jim Hawpe and jayvee coach Bill Santo have a large percentage of the male high school population at H.H.S. in good physical condition.

The track and baseball teams, which will start practice shortly after winter sports end, should benefit immeasurably.

Wayne Carson and Joe Taylor are a couple of trackmen who are already working out. Both are hard workers. Joe is a shot putter and also runs on the 880 relay team. He doesn't have the heft of the average high school weightman, but gets good results by his mastery of the technique. Carson had a very good year in cross-country last fall and hopes to score for H.H.S. in the mile run.

Dr. Robert H. Smith and son, Bob, attended the indoor track meet held in Madison Square Garden Friday night. Sophomore Bob is close to school records in three track events, the 880, the 440 and the mile run. He saw some of the world's best in those events at the Garden.

Jeff Adams, of Harrington, is now in second place in Henlopen Conference scoring with 118 points in 9 games for a per game average of 13. He trails only Flint of Bridgeville.

Tom Williams, of Felton, is sixth with 102 points in 8 games. Dave Wood is tied with Lavachia, of Rehoboth, for seventh, with 99 points for 8 contests.

Bruce Henry, of Greenwood, in ninth position has 93 points in 8 tilts.

George Reible, of Felton, has 80 points in 8 starts to occupy 10th place.

Bill Santo's jayvee squad romped to an easy victory over Delmar's juniors in a game Tuesday. Glen Smith and Renny French led the local's attack.

Starkey, Bonniwell Best Unbeaten Matmen

Lewis Starkey and George Bonniwell of the Harrington High School wrestling team defeated top opponents at Georgetown in a meet held last week.

The Georgetown grapplers are undefeated this winter, having beaten Wicomico, Millsboro, Delmar and Milford. They have no weak spots in the twelve weight divisions. Last winter the Knights won all twelve bouts as only Bonniwell escaped being pinned.

Last week's engagement saw the Lions win only twice but the overall improvement over last year's performance was great. Bonniwell handed Elliott Workman a 7-5 decision loss in the 120 pound class and revenge a defeat by the same boy in 1962. Workman was unbeaten going into the fray.

Starkey and Preston McIlvain locked horns in a 165-pound match. The Harrington strong-boy pinned his foe in 2:42 for the latter's first defeat of the season and ran his all-winning string to 13.

Bob Smith dropped his first match of 1963 after winning three times. He lost 4-1 to the Knight's Tracey. Brand of Georgetown defeated Larry Garvey, 4-2 in a close match decided by Brandt's edge in experience.

Jim Cain had the unenviable experience of finding himself on the mat with a state champ.

Vic Pizzania lost one match in 1961. Last year he was undefeated and was the state champion at 95 pounds. Now wrestling at 103 pounds he is unbeaten at that weight. Cain, a freshman, lost by a fall, but put up a good stiff fight. The Sussex Countian had a tremendous edge in strength, age and experience.

February 13th, Wicomico High of Salisbury, Md., comes here. The first match starts at 7:30 p. m. Comparative scores against mutual opponents indicates that the two squads are evenly matched. Mike McCormack's boys hope to win this one and reach the .500 mark again. Wouldn't it be something if a high school from a town of 2500 was to knock off a school from a city of 20,000? The locals did it in track a few years back. Come out February 13th and see if the grapplers can do it, too.

H. H. S. Girls Win at Felton

Harold McDonald's Harrington High Girls basketball team continued their near perfect record in Henlopen Conference play as they won at Felton, 34-6 on Friday night. Only a loss to unbeaten Bridgeville mars the otherwise spotless skein.

Chris Coady and Nancy Blades led the winners with 10 and 9 points respectively.

Felton Ousts Mustangs From First Place

The Green Devils, of Felton High, erased all doubt as to the validity of their contender credentials, when they drubbed Bridgeville's Mustangs by a score of 53-38 and took over first place from the defeated.

Bridgeville was handed their worst defeat of the winter and on their own court at that. The losers had lost conference games to Lord Baltimore by 5 points and unbeaten Rehoboth by 3 points.

The Green Devils limited the opposition to one lonely bucket in the first quarter, played them exactly even through the middle periods, and won going away with a 20 point fourth quarter scoring burst.

Jim Blades led the balanced Felton attack with 14 points followed by Tom Williams (13), Dave Wood (10), George Reible (9) and Bill Green (7).

Joe Kern's charges now boast a 6-2 log. They entertain 4-4 Greenwood tonight (Friday).

Bridgeville Survives Greenwood Scare

Bridgeville's Mustangs, who lead the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference, were extended to the limit by the Greenwood Foresters Friday night. The winners rallied in the last quarter to win, 35-33. The Foresters had built up a five point lead by outscoring the Mustangs through the second and third periods. Actually the red-clad B.H.S. five won because they were able to score at an even pace throughout the contest while the Greenwood attack struck a snag in the final period as they could muster only two points.

Foster Flint, the leading scorer in the league, led the Mustangs with 12 points. Bruce Henry, sixth in loop pointmaking, had the same number for the losing home team.

Greenwood is 4-4 in league play and 5-5 overall.

The Bridgeville girls won the first game 37-22.

H.H.S. Cagers Bow to Felton

Felton High had no trouble with Harrington's Lions Friday night and chalked up an easy 69-37 victory in a game played at Felton. The locals could muster only eleven field goals while the Green Devils connected twenty-five time from action.

On the basis of scores against common opponents, Felton appeared to be ten points better than Harrington. The Lions were taken back by the unfamiliar backboards which they were seeing for the first time. But in the final analysis the Green Devils won because they were the best team Friday night. They scored goals from under the basket and from long range with equal facility. Harrington was ice cold after playing well against Bridgeville in their last previous outing. Both coaches made liberal substitutions in the late going to give everyone a chance to see, some much needed action.

The winners have a 5-2 record. Harrington has two victories and six defeats.

Dave Wood and George Reible tallied 37 points between them to pace the Green Devils. Wayne Collison was the only Lion to hit double figures as he canned two field goals and seven fouls for 11 points.

Delmar Loses at Harrington, 67-33

Delmar's winless Wildcats were easy prey for Bill Smith's Lions Tuesday night. The locals improved their Henlopen Conference and overall record to 3 wins and 6 defeats with the victory.

The Wildcats scored only one point in the first quarter. By halftime the Lions had a big 29-11 lead. Coach Smith's entire squad saw action and every Lion entered the scoring column. The Adams brothers, Jeff and Bill and Wayne Collison paced H.H.S. with 19, 14 and 9 points, respectively.

Undefeated Holy Cross, of Dover, will play here tonight. The tall visitors have had 100 point games twice this year.

SHD CONSTRUCTION

siderable attention during this period resulting in many miles of these roads being hard surfaced and studies made for the improvement of more of these roads.

The past construction season saw a start made on the badly needed resurfacing of a number of black top roads, a project the Department hopes to have funds to continue in the future.

The construction of the Delaware Turnpike, the first toll road in this state, was also undertaken during this period and while the work is reported on schedule, the preliminary activities in connection with this project required much time and attention on the part of the members of the Department.

The system of Interstate highways, located in the northern part of the state, and which is being erected largely with Federal-Aid funds, also progressed during this period, the only lag coming at times when the Department was without state funds to match the Federal grants on this project.

But several construction projects on this route have been awarded and work is now in progress on them. Plans are complete for more construction projects on the freeway system when state funds become available to match the Federal grants for them.

Bridge improvements for almost every type of structure came in for attention during this period. Wooden bridges along secondary roads were replaced with concrete structures and bridges along main highways, such as the one at Old Drawyers, along Route 13, north of Odessa, were also reconstructed. The constant and continuous increase in traffic on many types of roads in this state is closely followed by the Highway Department with plans for improvements being formulated as rapidly as possible when funds are available.
