Rehoboth To Get New Band Stand

Ground will be broken Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. for Rehoboth Beach's new $10,000 boardwalk band stand.

The special exercises have been scheduled by the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce and the bandstand fund committee of which Mrs. Mae Hall McCabe and Charles Royce are co-chairmen.

The new stand will be an arched structure, with a portion of it under-roof for instrument storage, according to Mrs. McCabe. Since she is one of the oldest and most active members of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. McCabe will be accorded the honor of turning the first earth for the structure.

The stand will be located on the ocean side of the boardwalk at the foot of Rehoboth Avenue, and will be an open-air structure with the exception of a section for storage. It will be financed completely by contributions of materials and cash, the committee points out, and is another step in the rehabilitation and improvement program now underway at Delaware's outstanding Atlantic coast resort.

Dignitaries from the state, county and city, including Mayor Juel C. Stammer of Rehoboth are expected to participate in Saturday's ceremonies.

Others serving on the Bandstand Fund Committee are C. W. Martin, Howard White, William M. Hayes, Fred Karl and Milton Fried, Mrs. McCabe and Royce announced.

News of the new improvement follows close on the heels of the announcement that the Commissioners of Rehoboth have approved construction of a new City Hall and auditorium which will seat 750 persons for conventions and will cost approximately $250,000.

Officials said that an auditorium has long been needed to house conventions—a business in which the resort area has not engaged to a great extent.

However, it is felt that with the new facility, a new era in attracting visitors and conventions to Rehoboth will be possible, officials said.

The public is invited to Saturday's ground-breaking ceremonies, according to Mrs. McCabe.

Carol A. McNally Wins School Homemaker Title

Carol A. McNally is winner from Harrington high school in the 1963 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She thus becomes eligible for one of 102 scholarships with a total value of $110,000.

Having scored first in her school in the knowledge and attitude test on homemaking given senior girls Dec. 4, the winner's paper has been entered in competition with those of other state high school winners for statewide honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named in the spring. She will receive a $1,500 scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the program. A second award will be made to the 500 highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in the state. The school of each state winner will receive a set of Encyclopedia Britannica.

Later, State Homemakers of Tomorrow with their advisors will enjoy an expense-paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D. C. and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., which will culminate with the naming of the 1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The national winner's scholarship will be raised to $5,000, with second, third and fourth place winners being granted $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

Prepared and scored by Science Research Associated, Chicago, the knowledge and attitude test is the basis for naming of local and state Homemakers of Tomorrow. Personal observation and interviews are factors in the national judging.

The 1963 Betty Crocker Search reached another all-time high in enrollment, with 410,466 girls in 12,964 schools participating. Since the program started nine years ago, approximately three million girls have enrolled, and, including this year, scholarship awards will approach the million dollar mark.

PRINTERS, WEEKLIES RIP HB 19

Representatives of five weekly newspapers and two printing firms organized the Delaware Association of Printers and Publishers Friday night, with C. H. Burgess, of Harrington, named president.

The group plans to fight HB 19, which would require printers doing state work either to have a bargaining agreement or pay a "prevailing wage" scale.

"We're already paying a prevailing wage," Burgess said. "What it actually means is we'll have to pay the Wilmington scale."

Burgess is publisher of The Harrington Journal. Other officers chosen were Theodore Townsend of the Milford Chronicle, vice president, and George J. Frebert, of Dover Litho-Printing, secretary-treasurer.

Other newspapers represented were the Sussex Countian, Georgetown; Delmarva News, Selbyville, and The State Register, Laurel.

Letters and phone calls have been received pledging support, Burgess said.

Burgess said a state-wide campaign for more members would be started immediately. He expects members will come chiefly from south of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

Besides a letter and word-of-mouth campaign against HB 19, a bill introduced by State Rep. Paul E. Shockey, D-Wilmington, the association expects to fight other legislation "inimical to our interests."

In addition, said Burgess, the association is offering to help the General Assembly and the state with any printing problems.

P-T.A. Group Sees Visual Aids

The February meeting of the Harrington P-T.A. was held last Wednesday evening in the cafeteria of the school. Mrs. James D. Moore presided at the business meeting.

The following members were elected to serve on the nominating committee: Mrs. James Coady, Mrs. William Kohel, Miss Loretta Paskey, Mrs. Burton Satterfield and William Kramedas.

Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee announced that last year's committee members will serve with her again this year on the May Mart. Mrs. Hopkins asked that anyone interested in helping with the Mart contact her in the near future.

The Library Committee of the association held a meeting on Tuesday evening of last week. No formal report of the meeting was made, but several projects have been suggested by the committee.

Mrs. Moore announced that the state P-T.A. convention will be held on April 5 and 6.

The April meeting of the Harrington Association will be on April 3. Guest speakers will be Dr. John Baker, pediatrician from Milford and Miss Grace Brandon, psychologist with the State Board of Education. They will discuss the merits of pre-school testing, with emphasis on emotional as well as physical readiness of children. This will be an open meeting of the P-T.A. with all interested persons in the community cordially invited to attend.

William Horst of the high school provided the program of the Wednesday evening meeting. He discussed and demonstrated more than 15 types of visual aids.

Keith Scholarship Offered at U. of D.

The Wilmington branch of the American Association of University Women will again offer a one-year $500 scholarship for a woman seeking an advanced degree at the University of Delaware.

Application are being accepted for the Keith Memorial Scholarship, named in honor of the late May Thompson Keith. The recipient, selected on the basis of her undergraduate record and a personal interview, must have or be a June candidate for a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university.

There are no restrictions as to the recipient's field of study and the stipend from the award may be used to supplement a graduate assistantship.

Applications should be submitted to the dean of the school of graduate studies by March 1.

Governor Ponders Illegitimacy

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel touched on subjects ranging from physical fitness to the problems of illegitimacy at his press conference Wednesday.

The following is a summary of the Governor's comments: Surplus food program—Almost 900,000 pounds of food with a market value of $293,673 were distributed to 61,559 persons from October through December of last year.

Immunization—The Governor urged all Delawareans to take advantage of a mass polio immunization program to be launched Feb. 17. This is the Sabin oral vaccine program.

Physical fitness—"My idea of physical fitness lies somewhere in between the Salinger viewpoint and that of some others," the Governor said. He advocated that everyone take a two-or-three mile walk each day to keep fit and said he doubted many persons could withstand the much-discussed 50-mile hike.

Libraries—The Governor called attention to the Governor's Conference in Libraries to be held Saturday in Dover, and urged residents of the state, especially young people, to improve their reading habits. He said reading "broadens our horizons, let us know what's going on in the world, and makes us better citizens."

Reapportionment—He expressed hope that his reapportionment commission, to meet this week for the first time, will be able to arrive at a method for reapportioning the state.

Insurance—The Governor said he did not know what the state would do regarding self insurance and had no comment on self insurance at this time. He said he would meet today with Insurance Commissioner Robert A. Short to discuss an agenda for bi-partisan insurance study, which is expected to commission the self-insurance question.

Illegitimacy—"Some of the programs in the Welfare Department do not discourage this and rather encourage it to go on," he said the department, which is termed "very capable," is making a study of the problem.

Prevailing wages for public construction—The Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, the Governor said, "will work the problem out."

Highway bond bill—"I personally will support the omnibus bill as it is," he said. He added that it was not impossible that the amounts in the omnibus measure would be trimmed, but that he foresees a continued omnibus approach.

Southern States Holds Meeting

Southern States Co-operative's net savings for members were up sharply during the first six months of the 1962-63 fiscal year, according to a report presented by Paul Mullinix, of Richmond, Va., to members at a regional board meeting held in Dover, on Feb. 13.

These sessions—there are 48 of them held annually in a five state area—are held to give local community advisory boards, directors, stockholder committees, guest workers the opportunity to hear a report on the co-operative's operations during the first half of the fiscal year. The members also discuss problems and policies of the co-operative as they affect the more than 350,000 individual members of the organization.

Mr. Mullinix told the 53 Southern States members and guest young farmers at the session that (Continued on Page 8)

'63 Feed Grain Signup Underway In Delaware

The signup for the 1963 feed grain program is now underway in the ASCS County Office, Jacob Zimmerman, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced. The signup period started February 1 and will continue through March 22. As for 1962, the program covers the three major feed grains of corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

In general, the chairman said, provisions follow those for 1961 and 1962 crops by giving feed grain producers an opportunity to participate in the program by reducing acreages at least 20 percent and devoting them to an approved conserving use. By participating, they will receive diversion payments and price support payments, and they will be (Continued on Page 8)

McDowell Introduces Academy Bill

Congressman Harris B. McDowell, Jr., (D-Del.) this week introduced a bill creating a United States Academy of Foreign Affairs.

McDowell, a senior member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, called the measure "an important step toward the improvement of the formulation and conduct of U. S. foreign policy."

The bill establishes a two-year senior college program of foreign affairs training and graduate school.

Selection to the college would be similar to procedures used by the military academies. Each congressman and senator would nominate three persons. Entrance, however, would be on the basis of a rigid competitive examination.

Students at the co-educational college would receive their education free and be paid allowances similar to those received by West Point cadets. In return they would promise to remain in government service two years after their graduation, working in an agency engaged in foreign affairs functions.

"The college will provide the Executive Branch with a reservoir of new talent for service in foreign affairs," McDowell said. "It will graduate soldiers of diplomacy."

McDowell said: "The graduate school will provide professional education in foreign affairs to qualified Federal employees and graduates of the College. It is to be:

"1. A recognized center for professional instruction programs geared to the needs of foreign service officers.

"2. An institution in which the officers of various agencies dealing with foreign affairs can meet in conferences and panels to exchange views."

For Omelet a la U.S. 13 Take 114,000 Eggs, Stir

Eggs—114,000 of them—were scrambled on U. S. 13 near Felton Tuesday night.

The 9,500 dozen hatchery eggs were in a six-wheel truck operated by James C. Barnes of Temperanceville, Va., which overturned after the driver lost control, according to state police.

Police said the accident occurred shortly before midnight. Barnes, who hauls eggs for hatcheries, was moving south, police explained, when he swerved slightly onto the soft shoulder.

The truck went out of control and overturned. Barnes escaped unhurt. Damage to the truck—not including contents—was estimated at between $2,500 and $3,000.

Barnes was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Boy Scouts Give Report for '62

"Be Prepared—Be Fit" is the theme for the Boy Scouts during 1963. This slogan was pointed out to Governor Carvel by representatives of the Del-Mar-Va Council as they made their annual report on Scouting in the State of Delaware for the year 1962.

The ceremonies were led off by Cub Scout John W. Tobler of Pack 142, Dover, as he wished the Governor a happy birthday. Gov. Carvel was born Feb. 9, 1910, one day after the Boy Scouts of America was founded.

The report of Scouting in Delaware was presented by Scout Derby Walker of Troop 108, Camden.

Explorer Donald W. Wells, of Explorer Post 76, in Harrington, presented the theme for 1963 to Governor Carvel. Wells' report included how the Boy Scouts were carrying out their own program for fitness and their cooperation with other agencies in promotion of fitness. These included assistance to the Delaware State Dental Society with National Dental Health Week and the State Dental Office with Health with the Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine program.

Greetings from the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America were presented by Forrest J. Sadler, Scout Executive of the Del-Mar-Va Council.

In recognition of his interest in and support of boys through Scouting over the past years, Governor Carvel was presented with the Del-Mar-Va Council's "Order of Merit" by Joseph Trickett, chairman of the council's Scout Week activities.

Representatives of the council meeting with Governor Carvel included also Mrs. Helen Tobler, den mother of Pack 142, Scoutmaster Harvey V. Carter of Troop 108, Roland Hitchens, Explorer Advisor of Post 76, Harrington, Donald B. Pyle, District Scout Executive.

The Del-Mar-Va Council, Boy Scouts of America is a member agency of your united fund.

Bridge Traffic Count Shows Increase

There was an up-turn in traffic at Delaware Memorial Bridge in January, the monthly report submitted to the directors of the Delaware River and Bay Authority revealed this week.

Frank J. Harty, general manager reported that 743,622 vehicles used the span for a 2.1 percent increase over January, 1962. The increase in vehicles amounted to 15,528 and of that number 13,389 were passenger cars.

Harty also found it significant that truck traffic increased during the month by 2,207, while non-revenue vehicles decreased by 68.

The report also completed eight months of operation for 1962-63, and reveals there have been 8,037,903 crossings during that time—an average of better than one million vehicles per month. This leads the management to believe there will be a significant traffic increase over fiscal 1961-62 when there were 11,551,912 crossings.

Revenue for the month of January amounted to $905,636.44, or 1.7 per cent more than the $300,476.35 collected in January, 1962. Total revenue for the eight month fiscal period beginning June 1, 1962 amounts to $3,139,512.15 or 4.9 per cent more than collections of $3,032,895.00 in fiscal 1961-62.

Librarians to Meet Saturday

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel has issued a call to the First Governor's Conference on Public Libraries of Delaware, which will convene at 2 p.m. on Sat., Feb. 16, in the Dover Room of the Treadway Inn, Dover. Theme for the conference will be "Better Library Services for All Our Citizens."

Attending will be librarians and other representatives of public libraries at Bridgeville, Claymont, Delmar, Dover, Frankford, Georgetown, Laurel, Lewes, Milford, Milton, Newark, New Castle, Odessa, Rehoboth Beach, Seaford, Selbyville, Smyrna, and Wilmington.

Service Clubs Observe Farmer's Night

The Harrington Lions, Rotary, and Jaycees sponsored a night for our rural people Monday evening at the Asbury Church Collins Hall. The dinner was served by the ladies of the church. Club members invited farmers to be their guests for the evening in the hope of creating a better relationship between rural and urban people.

David Jones, president of the Jaycees; James Moore, Rotary president, and Lester Smith, Lions' president, extended greetings from the respective clubs.

Dr. Samuel Gwinn, of the University of Delaware Extension Service, was the speaker of the evening. The farm situation was discussed in general, as well as the agricultural problems confronting farmers right here in Kent County, by the speaker. Dr. Gwinn also had slides of farm animals and products that were taken in connection with local farmers.

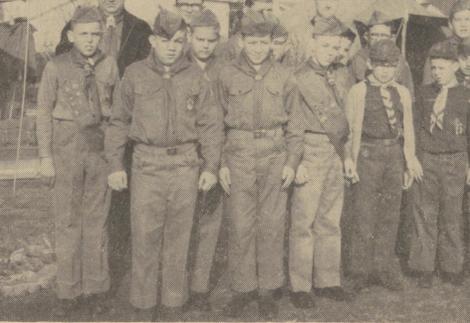

A member of the Rotary Club introduced the speaker. John Curtis, teacher of agriculture at the local school was program chairman of the evening.

Clam Feast At Legion

Legionnaires attention! The next regular meeting of the Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post #7 of Harrington will be held in the Post Home Thursday evening, Feb. 21, at 8:30. Commander Earl Quillen has asked every member to be present.

Many programs of the Legion need the help and assistance of all the membership. In order to emphasize the importance of the Legion work, Commander Quillen has issued this special invitation urging a good attendance on Feb. 21.

As an added attraction, steamed clams will be served at the close of the meeting. Mark the date on your calendar. Your help is needed at all functions of the Legion. The work can be done by a few, but it can be done better with the full co-operation of the entire post.

Veterans News

Veterans holding permanent GI life insurance policies need not surrender them for cash in order to meet financial emergencies.

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office said these veterans may borrow up to 94 per cent of their policies' cash surrender value.

This action, while reducing the amount of protection, does leave the policy in force.

Once surrendered for cash, however, all protection under the insurance would cease and could not be renewed or reinstated, Mr. Field said.

Money borrowed and not repaid would be deducted from the policy proceeds due the beneficiary should the veteran die.

Annual interest on GI policy loans is charged at four per cent on the unpaid balance and must be paid on or before the due date, Mr. Fields warned. If not paid, it is added to the loan principal and begins to draw interest; should this condition continue, the interest might eat up the remaining cash value of the policy.

Repayment of the principal on the loan may be made in amounts of $5 or any multiple thereof and at any time before default in payment of premiums.

Loans can be made only on permanent-type GI insurance policies. GI term insurance has no loan value, Mr. Fields explained.

Matching Funds Needed For Highway

Matching funds should be forthcoming soon to continue construction of Delaware's portion of the national Interstate Highway System, Senator Walter J. Hoey, D-Milford, said this week.

Senator Hoey, Joint Finance Committee chairman, made this and other remarks at a dinner Thursday night following a tour for state leaders of the Interstate Highways being built through New Castle County. The tour was sponsored by the Greater Wilmington Development Council and the State Highway Department to show state leaders the uncompleted roads. Construction has been held up on the highways for lack of state funds. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and the state ten per cent in the Interstate Highway System.

The leaders saw the rubble created in the areas where the roads are being built. At the present rate of construction, the chaotic conditions caused by the road building would not end until after 1972.

"I do see the necessity in your city, particularly the urgency for a portion of this money (to complete the highways)," Senator Hoey said. "I know how Wilmington feels. I know for many years that you've been torn down, pushed around and are wondering if we are going to complete it. I do say we should put up enough matching funds (to match the Federal money already available for the roads), and I would gladly support enough matching funds to get you your way of the rubble and on your way to happiness," the Senator concluded.

Among the 120 state leaders who toured the highway system were 44 of the 52 General Assembly members, Lt. Gov. Eugene Lamont, State Highway Department officials, members of the Governor's Goals Commission and New Castle County civic and government officials.

Senator Curtis W. Steen, D-Dagsboro, president pro tem of the Senate, expressed the views of many when he said, "We've got to do something to get this government money to finish the freeways." He was referring to the $17 million which is the state's share of the freeway costs.

The tour extended from the Delaware Turnpike to the Pennsylvania State line. The group visited the Christina River Interchange, where three Interstate Highways will meet the Turnpike. From this junction, one of the country's largest, I-295 will go east to a crossing of the Delaware River where New Jersey's I-295 will meet it. I-95 leaves the same interchange going in a northerly direction through Wilmington to the Pennsylvania line where it will meet the state's I-95. The third freeway, I-495, will proceed north along the Delaware River, also through Wilmington, meeting I-95 just south of the Pennsylvania line. The tour buses passed present and future sites for all these highways.

Large areas of Wilmington have been torn up for seven years for renewal and for the Interstate Highways, said William J. Miller, Jr., director of operations for the highway department. He urged prompt completion of the freeways to relieve inconvenienced citizens.

The state is already committed to pay for the freeways. For every dollar the state puts up now, the federal government will supply nine more to boost Delaware's economy, said Ernest S. Wilson, Sr., vice president of the Greater Wilmington Development Council.

Insecticides Help Insure Pientiful Food Supplies

Most fruits and vegetables would disappear from the market except in meager quantities at high prices if insecticides were not used to control the insects attacking these crops.

This is what Dr. George C. Decker, head of section on economic entomology at the University of Illinois told a Farm and Home Week audience at the University of Delaware's School of Agriculture last week.

Decker, speaking on "Pros and Cons of Insecticides" during Tuesday's general session, said that apples produced without insecticide protection will be 40 to 80 per cent damaged by codling moth and would suffer even more damage from innumerable other insects.

In addition, staple fiber, cereal and forage crop yields would drop 10 to 25 per cent and cotton yields, based on U. S. Department of Agriculture studies, would have dropped 25.5 and 41.3 per cent without insecticides.

It is the consumer who benefits most from the use of insecticides Decker said, adding: "With greater efficiency attained through higher production per acre, reduced losses and reduced labor costs in grading and sorting, the cost of production has been reduced and competition has forced the price of agricultural products downward."

He said only 20 per cent of the workers' pay, compared with 60 to 70 per cent in the past, goes for food. Also, the housewife is spared the costs of culling and trimming food damaged by insects which used to account for up to one-half these losses in the kitchen.

"All too often the lay public and some scientists condemn the use of insecticides as an unwarranted practice imposed upon society by selfish industrialists and farmers who seek only personal gains and larger profits. This is not the case, Decker emphasized as he pointed to benefits to consumers.

Turning to precautions used to protect the public, he said that a manufacturer must spend $1 million on research to establish a product's "practical value and safety." In addition, it must clear appropriate government regulatory agencies.

"The real hazards involve mental reactions and human judgments and are not toxicological in nature," he said, suggesting that education rather than "unrealistic legislation and regulation" might resolve the problems.

Carlessness storage possess the greatest hazard, the speaker said. Of the 152 accidental deaths attributed to pesticides in 1956, 94 or 62 per cent involved children under 10 years of age, and 78 of these were children under 4. The principal cause of serious illness and deaths due to food contamination involved non-recommended storage of household insecticides in pantries and cupboards, he said.

Decker said early entomologists were naturalists who "preached the gospel of biological and cultural pest control methods." As natural controls became "grossly inadequate," the farmers and entomologists "in desperation turned to chemicals."

Though science may eventually develop new procedures for non-chemical control of pests, "man has no choice but to continue the use of insecticides" until such significant breakthroughs "become proven and practical substitutes," he said.

Dairymen Receive Awards at Farm And Home Week

Nine Delaware dairy herd owners and five testing supervisors received awards during Farm and Home Week Wednesday in connection with a national dairy awards improvement contest of the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The award winners, all participants in the DHIA testing program, were presented cash awards by R. F. Patterson, Philadelphia, representing National Dairies (Sealtest), award sponsor.

Awards amounting to $300 and based on herd management factors and supervisory reporting factors were presented during the morning dairy session.

DHIA herd owner award winners: Joseph Bailey and Sons, Federalsburg, Md.; $40 and plaque; William Kux, Port Penn, $30 and plaque; Millard Reed, Jr., Middletown, $20; Edwin Ely, Elkton, $20; Paul L. Nelson, Newark, $10; Earl Sheats, Middletown, $10; Daniel E. Williams Jr., Middletown, $10, and Edward J. Williams, Hockessin, $10.

Supervisor award winners: B. Lee Currey, Wyoming, $40 and plaque; Kenneth E. Craig, Newark, $35 and plaque; Orville Wheatley, Milford, $35; James Eberly, Newark, $25, and Frank Searles, Harrington, $15.

Fitness Requires Little Extra Effort For Mother of Year Contest

Keeping fit requires some thought these days, but good physical fitness can be achieved, with just a little extra effort, Delaware homemakers learned Thursday morning at Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware.

Miss Coral K. Morris, extension home management specialist at the University, explained that physical fitness affects not only health, but mental attitude and the total kind of life each person leads.

Proper use of muscles in doing various homemaking tasks prevents fatigue, while improper use produces muscle strain and fatigue.

"Your physical fitness depends on you," Miss Morris told the homemakers. "As an example, if you don't have much money, there are only certain things for which it can be spent. And, if you don't have much energy there are only certain things you can do."

On the other hand, she said, if you have plenty of money, you have worked hard to get it, and are able to spend it in many ways; and if you have plenty of energy—as an athlete must—you have obviously worked at it and, as a result, can do many things.

"Most of us, however, are in the broad middle area, with enough money to make a few choices as to how to spend it—and with enough energy to choose how to use it," Miss Morris said.

The modern appliances women have today not only save a homemaker's time, but they don't make her exercise as much as her grandmother did. For instance, Miss Morris noted, today we put clothes into an automatic washer, while grandmother scrubbed her clothes on a washboard; today we vacuum the rug, but grandmother carried it outdoors and beat it.

Miss Morris demonstrates a number of exercises which can be done in the course of completing daily tasks.

Deadline Nears For Egg Cooking Contest

"You still have time to enter the national egg cooking contest if you hurry," reminds Katie Thomas, Kent County Extension Agent, Home Economics. All entries eligible for the national contest will first be entered in the Delaware state contest, with a wide variety of prizes to be awarded.

Entries must be mailed by February 15. A state cook-off will be held March 30, and the two top Delaware winners will be given an expense-paid trip to Chicago to participate in the national cook-off in May.

To enter the contest, simply print or type a favorite recipe containing at least one egg per individual serving, attach it to an official entry blank which may be obtained at super markets or at the county extension office, and mail it to the address given on the entry blank.

Cooks from 10 to 18 years of age will be considered in the junior division, while those over 18 will be entered in the senior division. Top cooks in both divisions of the state contest will receive such prizes as small electrical appliances. Top national winner in the senior division will receive a $500 bond. The contest is sponsored nationally by the Poultry and Egg National Board.

March 1 Deadline For Mother of Year Contest

March 1st is the deadline for acceptance of nominations for the Delaware Mother of the Year according to Mrs. William N. Cann, state chairman for the American Mothers' Committee.

In an announcement made this week, Mrs. Cann urged all those who desire to nominate an entry for the 1963 statewide contest to contact her at 1508 Pennsylvania Avenue, Wilmington, for nomination blanks. She also advised that the entry blanks may be obtained from anyone of the following committee members: Mrs. Paul Mitchell, Hockessin; Mrs. Jesse Lovell, Odessa; Mrs. Joseph Ennis, Smyrna; Mrs. E. W. Buchanan, Dover; Mrs. George T. Rehoboth Beach; and Mrs. J. Fred Miles, Seaford.

Contest rules provide that nominees should have the following qualifications (which are to be verified by family members, friends, organization officials, church groups or other sources):

1. That she be a successful mother as evidenced by her character and achievements of her individual children.
2. That she be an active member of a religious body.
3. That she embody those traits highly regarded in mothers—courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness and understanding and a home-making ability.
4. That she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts of the Golden Rule.
5. That she have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs and that she be active in service for public benefit.
6. That she be qualified to represent the Mothers of America in all her responsibilities attached to her role as the National Mother.

The Delaware Mother of the Year contest was inaugurated in 1950 when Mrs. Jonathan Willis of near Milford was selected. Other state winners have been:

1951 — Mrs. William Riley Brown, Wyoming; 1952 — Mrs. Elizabeth S. Shallcross, Odessa; 1953 — Mrs. Samuel J. Stein, Seaford; 1954 — Mrs. Edgar J. Boggs, Cheswold; 1955 — Mrs. Morris L. Zurkow, Dover; 1956 — Mrs. George F. Seitz, Sr., Wilmington; 1957 — Mrs. Edgar F. Isaacs, Sr., of near Milford; 1958 — Mrs. George Ehringer, Dover; 1959 — Mrs. E. Edward Thompson, Rehoboth Beach; 1960 — Mrs. Bessie Ellegood Mayer, Dover; 1961 — Mrs. Anna Mathews Aydelotte, Delmar; 1962 — Mrs. Vera Gilbride Davis, Dover.

According to Mrs. Cann, each of the fifty states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico will designate an entry for the American Mother of the Year Contest and announcement of identity of the winner of national honors will be made on the opening day of the Annual Mothers' Conference to be held in New York in May.

William L. Coulbourn, 81, a retired grocery store clerk, died Monday at his home at Houston.

He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth J., at home; a son, William J. Coulbourn, Milton; a daughter, Mrs. Josiah N. Parvis, Houston; a brother, Norman Coulbourn, Bethel, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Berry Funeral Home, Milford, with the Rev. Kenneth Dickey, pastor of Houston Methodist Church, of which Mr. Coulbourn was a member, officiating. Friends may call at the funeral home before the services. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington.

Kickoff For DPI Fund Drive Set

Kickoff date for the Shore's annual poultry industry fund drive is next Wed., Feb. 20, it was announced yesterday by A. E. Bailey of Millsboro, president of Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Place will be the English Grill at Salisbury where about 100 fund drive volunteers from all parts of the Peninsula will gather at a dinner meeting for final fund drive instructions.

Kickoff speaker for the drive will be Frank H. Morris, mayor of Salisbury and voted Salisbury's "Outstanding Young Man" two years ago.

Fund drive chairman this year is William R. Murray, of Frankford. He has named Bob Durham, of Laurel, as Delaware chairman and Raymond Dryden, of Pocomoke City, as Virginia chairman. Co-chairmen for Maryland, are Charles Fulton, of Snow Hill, and Ralph Lord, of Federalsburg.

Chairman Murray announced this year's fund drive goal as $140,000, up 3% from the $135,155, subscribed last year by 3,014 contributors. Reason for the increase, he said, was the feeling on the part of Delmarva Poultry Industry directors that more intensive efforts would be needed to recapture the big share of our overseas trade that was cut off last fall by new and higher European Common Market duties. Also, Delmarva's poultry industry took a husky 6% jump in production last year against a national increase of only 2% and DPI directors felt that industry and market activities might have to be stepped up to hold on to that increase.

The drive closes April 3 and Delmarva's famed annual $100-a-plate victory dinner where the totals are announced will be held May 7, at Salisbury.

Decorate Your Home To Please Yourself

A home should be decorated to please the people who live in it, interior decorator Mrs. Gemma Usher told some 125 women at the opening home economics session of Farm and Home Week Tuesday morning at the University of Delaware.

Mrs. Usher, interior decorator for Strawbridge and Clothier, Wilmington, pointed out that "decorating does not mean getting rid of everything in the room and starting anew, but rather it means using colors, fabrics and furniture in combinations pleasing to the family who lives there." Most people, Mrs. Usher said, do have good taste in decorating, but they lack the courage to use it. She urged the women to decorate their homes as they and their families prefer, rather than relying on "perfect" magazine pictures or the advice of friends. Personal taste is the important factor, she said.

Mrs. Usher also recommended the use of color to change the appearance of a room, very inexpensively. A change in color will give a completely different feeling to a room, without the expense of changing the furniture, she said, adding that it is almost never necessary or even desirable to change all the furniture.

In discussing use of furniture, Mrs. Usher said there need be no qualms about mixing furniture of different woods or periods, providing it simply "looks nice" together. She even recommended painting favorite pieces of furniture if they become worn looking. Mrs. Usher showed a number of carpet, drapery and upholstery swatches to demonstrate the use of colors and patterns.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

Senate Bill 37 (SB 37) for a minimum wage of $1.00 an hour has been introduced in the General Assembly. This is just another trick of the labor unions to put their agents on the public payroll.

Another feature of their campaign is indicated by House Bill 19 (HB 19), a bill to force all publishing and printing establishments in Delaware to unionize their employees.

SB 37 is not designed to help low-paid people. It would merely cause those who are not worth $1.00 an hour to lose their jobs and become permanently unemployed.

SB 37 and HB 19 are only two lines of attack on the liberties of Delawareans. These attacks are coming from the N.A.A.C.P., the labor unions, and many church groups.

The groups just mentioned, as well as the bureaucrats who are against states' rights, fear the independence of the people South of the Canal.

Evidence of a perverted point of view comes from a Methodist preacher in Wilmington named Dunkle. He was quoted as saying that the whipping post would be abolished after enough new people had moved into the State.

Unfortunately, the independent spirit in Delaware has declined in the last half century. Before the days of concrete roads, radio, and television, every man's home was his castle.

When there was a trial of a Negro for raping a white girl, the Court House in Georgetown had armed soldiers on the roof behind sandbags, and all approaches were guarded by the State Militia.

Saturday evening, Feb. 16, the regular monthly meeting of the General Service Committee of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Delaware will be held in the rooms of Morning Star Lodge No. 6, in Smyrna.

Top Tomato Producer Grows Record Yield

Producer of a record tomato production yield in Delaware was among the 25 state growers receiving "15-Ton Tomato Club Awards" during Farm and Home Week activities at the University of Delaware Wednesday.

The S. H. Derby Co., of Woodside, in Kent County, won the top award with a yield of 30.38 tons per acre. Sam Walker received the award presentation for the firm from Gov. Elbert N. Carvel during the afternoon vegetable session in Agricultural Hall.

The Derby Co. grew several tomato varieties in 1962 including KC 146, Heinz 1350 and Heinz 1370. The firm is operated by Arthur Walker and two sons.

Five other producers achieved yields of better than 25 tons per acre in a year when average tomato yields in Delaware set a record of 18.6 tons per acre.

They are Paul Spear and Sons, Laurel, 23.3 tons; Donald Isaacs, Townsend, 23.16 tons; T. S. Smith and Sons, Bridgeville, 27.46 tons; Gerald Zeh, Middletown, 27.37 tons, and Cleaver and Fennimore, Middletown, 25.8.

Other "15-ton tomato club award" winners:

Fifer Fruit Farms, Wyoming, 24.07; Tuthill Brothers, Frederica, 23.62; Joseph Jackewicz, Magnolia, 21.73; James Metz, Magnolia, 21.2; Millard Dixon, Dover, 20.8.

Marshall Hastings, Laurel, 20.5; Dover Fruit Farms, Dover, 20.14; Charles West, Milford, 19.9; Rudolph Hastings, Laurel, 19.0; Donald Appenzeller, Magnolia, 18.6; Johathan Wheatley, Delmar, 18.4; George Pyott, Dover, 18.06; Ryder Brothers, Laurel, 17.7; Tidbury Fruit Farms, Dover, 17.58; Daniel Hudson, Bowers Beach, 17.1.

Harry Barrett, Camden, 16.9; Joseph Bergold, Magnolia, 16.6; H. C. Richardson and Sons, Magnolia, 16.5; and Elmer Littleton, Laurel, 16.0.

Style Show Features Past, Present, Future

Women's fashions ranging from popular styles of 5,000 years ago to new trends for Spring, 1963, were featured in a style show Thursday afternoon at Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware.

Miss Janet Reed, extension clothing specialist at the University of Delaware, narrated as some 40 women and little girls modeled. Styles included a sari popular in 3000 B. C., a 15th century Persian dancing girl's costume and a hoop skirted gown of Civil War days.

In addition, ten women modeled dresses they had made in adult extension sewing classes. Included were Mrs. Bea Nelson, Mrs. Eunice Hemming, Mrs. Frank Abbott and Mrs. Betty Layon, all of Bridgeville, Mrs. Maude Hastings, Georgetown; Mrs. William Theurer and Mrs. Louise Cohen, both of Newark; Mrs. Mary Farmer, Wilmington; and Mrs. Louise Lambert, and Mrs. Martha Cook, both of Middletown.

Modeling period costumes were Mrs. Joan Maiero and Mrs. David Woodward, both of Middletown; Mrs. Donald Fieldhouse, Mrs. Harold Rhoden, Mrs. M. S. Nelson, Mrs. Wanda Canatelli, Mrs. Jacob Brown, Mrs. Connie Iyengar, Mrs. George DeHoff, Mrs. Edward DeHoff, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Sherman White, Mrs. Stewart Holveck, Mrs. Robert Hammill, Miss Lynn Moran and Miss Mary Dabolin, all of the Newark area.

Scientist Improves On "Most Perfect Food"

Milk from properly treated cows can be useful in preventing and treating certain human diseases according to Dr. W. E. Petersen, University of Minnesota dairy husbandryman. Speaking to a group of dairy-men at the University of Delaware Farm and Home Week he explained how milk from cows receiving special injections has been helpful in treating arthritis and hay fever.

This is accomplished he explained by injecting antigens or germs of human diseases into the milk producing glands of a cow. These organisms cause a build up of immunities to the diseases in the cows milk. If ample quantities of this milk is consumed by an effective person, the disease fighting organisms are picked up in the blood stream and fight off the disease according to Petersen.

In the fall of 1955, after many years of study of milk-making, Petersen and Dr. Berry G. Campbell a member of the University of Minnesota's medical school announced what may become one of the world's most significant and far-reaching research findings - that the cow can be a source of protective antibodies to many diseases which plague human beings.

Under this principle, the cow's udder, which protects the newborn calf against hundreds of diseases by an immunity it gives in milk, is injected with dead disease germs of any one or a combination of human diseases. The cow then manufactures protective antibodies against these diseases and thus extends her protection from her calf to the human who drinks the milk.

Petersen cited this personal experience as proof of his contention. "While studying the production of antibodies by the cow's udder, I drank some of this milk. At the time I was mildly affected by what had been medically diagnosed as rheumatoid arthritis. Within 10 days after I first started taking the treated milk the pain disappeared. This led to my first conclusion that milk might have something to do with the cure for rheumatoid arthritis."

Petersen continued to test the milk on others who were affected with the disease. 'Some of the responses were most dramatic' he said. As many as 80% of rheumatoid arthritis patients have responded to the treatment.

Although much work remains to be done on this principle before it can be used commercially, it offers a great hope of protecting large populations against diseases by a simple process: drinking milk, Petersen said.

Petersen is nationally known as a dairy scientist. In one of his most striking projects in milk making research, he severed a cow's udder, kept it alive with an artificial heart and lung unit and studied the lactation process by altering the content of the blood stream.

Navy Explains Program For 17-Year-Olds

Frank J. Markert, CS1, USN, of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Dover, announced this week that many 17-year-old high school graduates in the area who have applied for enlistment in the U. S. Navy have never heard about the minority enlistment. The recruiter explained that the minority enlistment, available only to 17-year-old male personnel, is designed to permit these individuals to enlist in the U. S. Navy between their 17th and 18th birthday, and to serve only until the day before they become 21 years of age.

Also, men who enlist under this program are actually given a full four years credit for their enlistment, even though in some cases some of them may actually serve only for a little over three years. This program also permits those who can qualify physically and mentally to enter the Navy under the high school graduate training program, which assures them of attending a technical school of their choice after completion of recruit training.

For the 17-year-old who has given no thought to what field he would like to choose, the Navy has trained classification specialists available for counseling the individual in his interests and abilities. Different classification tests are also administered which determines the field individuals have the most capabilities of advancing in. Interested 17-year-old high school graduates may receive complete details of this program by contacting the local Navy Recruiting Station. There is no obligation whatsoever.

"In Search of The Castaways" At Reese Feb. 14-16

If comments are true, there is going to be a big time at the Reese Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14-15, and 16, when Walt Disney's earthquake of entertainment, "In Search of the Castaways" with Haley Mills and Maurice Chevalier plus a great cast, plays Movie Center. A giant Disney Cartoon Circus is the extra added attraction completing what he called the super show of the season.

Much effort is put forth to present attractions that appeal to every member of the family. According to the management, they are presenting the "topper" that tops all family shows Sunday and Monday, Feb. 17-18. Attraction number one of the Hall of Fame group is "State Fair" with Pat Boone and a tremendous cast, coupled with "Misty," the story about Chincoteague. Crank up old liz-bring the family to see the fair--then saunter down to Chincoteague and see the pony penning. Never before on one bill, this combination bids fair to be one of the biggest family attractions of the present season.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

Fat cities don't grow on lean countryside. So said Walter Rowlands, during the Farm and Home Week program at the University of Delaware.

He was stressing that we should strive to achieve a balance in the use of land. We may then hope to create the all-year industrial employment needed to stabilize the total income of the county.

Some of us hope to sell the idea that farmers in Kent County should work to keep agriculture in competition with and complementing the new industry coming on the scene.

Chancellor Konrad Adenour, of Germany recalls his greatest achievement as mayor of the city of Cologne. He created the greenbelt around the city. One of the fond memories of our family trip to Germany was what I call the "outdoor living room park" built in the city of Stuttgart from the bombed out rubble of World War II. Everyone is attracted there in the summer.

I like to keep reminding folks that our soils are some of the best in the USA. We can compete with other farm areas and with industry for the use of land. Better still our farm lands can still return tax values consistent with the demand for public services, and provide that "open space" that rural atmosphere that gives the Delmarva Peninsula its charming character.

A seminar has been set up for six consecutive Thursday evenings at the county courthouse in Dover starting February 14th at 8 p.m. We hope to get a group of farmers and professional planners together to tackle this question. Call 736-1448 if you are interested in attending.

County agents and others soon learn that certain individuals consistently outperform others in given enterprises.

The latest star performer in Kent County is S. H. Derby and Co., of Woodside, more readily identified as Arthur Walker and his two sons, Sam and Arthur Jr. They achieved a goal of 30.38 tons of tomatoes per acre on 32 acres in 1962.

They also have mocked the titled of the Delaware 15-Ton Tomato Club by more than doubling what was a respectable goal only three years ago.

Consistent winners, such as the Walkers, are no flash in the plan. Their success comes from a combination of good soils, adapted varieties, spaced closely and fertilized heavily enough to make top yields possible, coupled with irrigation to provide needed moisture and insect and disease control. Careful timing of all cultural practices is yet another key.

The fine thing about all this is that the Walkers are perfectly willing to explain what they do to grow good crops. The state yield average as a result was 18.8 ton per acre in 1962!

Growing older? Drink Milk. A quart a day will provide the calcium needed for our aching joints and pains. Milk has had many proponents, but none as vigorous as Dr. W. E. Peterson, the world-famous authority on milk secretion from the University of Minnesota.

Farm and Home Week patrons were held spellbound for an hour and a half by Dr. Peterson. He detailed the case for milk as nature's most perfect food, and as the cure for many of our ills.

His researchers are looking to milk as the vehicle to cure the common cold, the most costly of all our diseases. We know little about colds, except that the body eventually cures itself by producing antibodies to attack cold germs. Dr. Peterson feels that we hasten the cold cure by drinking milk fortified with the cold antibodies.

Dairymen are fooling themselves when they grind hay or forage of any kind and add it to their concentrate mix! They are fooled in several ways.

Net energy is severely lowered in the concentrate mix. This shortchanges the cow in her total net energy intake. This is the factor most likely to limit milk production.

Concentrates are necessary for the well-fed cow because they are high in net energy and make it possible for the cow to meet her net energy needs. There are many cows, however, still short of net energy because most dairymen do not feed enough concentrates.

The butterfat test may be reduced when ground hay makes up most of the forage. The hay in a concentrate mix does the same thing. This is important for butterfat production. If too much fiber is supplied in relation to net energy, milk production will be below the level of the cow's ability.

The third reason dairymen should not grind hay or forage and add it to concentrates is that the cost of grinding hay is not justified! The cow is equipped to handle hay. Some increase in consumption of poor quality forage may result from grinding. However, if this is done at the expense of higher net energy intake, the cow responds with lower production.

Poor quality forage should not be fed to dairy cows or growing dairy heifers, except in an emergency. Keep it for other livestock in which net energy intake levels are not as critical. When hay prices are extremely high, local net energy may be supplied cheaper from grains than from hay. Compare local prices and see.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has recommended that Delaware growers of early summer potato crops reduce 1963 acreages by 2 per cent (or 200 acres).

USDA's acreage - marketing guides, announced Jan. 29, is designed to assist growers in crop planning. Overall reduction for the United States was recommended at 7 per cent. The program is voluntary and growers make their own decisions whether to plant according to the recommendations.

If production is in line with the guide and if marketings follow a normal time-pattern, supplies should be in balance with market needs at satisfactory prices, USDA contends.

Total Delaware potato production would be 9,300 acres in 1963 if the guides are followed. Overall, 1,318,800 acres—7 per cent below 1962 and 13 per cent under 1961—are recommended for the United States.

Fewer corn borers, especially in the Eastern States—including Delaware—infested major corn-producing areas of the United States in 1962 than in 1961, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Surveys conducted by entomologists of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service showed that the average in the Eastern States—Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania—was 55 borers per 100 stalks in 1962. The 1961 average was 183.

Total average in the 16 co-operating states in the fall survey showed 71 borers per 100 stalks in 1962 compared with 78 per 100 in 1961.

Preliminary tests with roses indicate that the life of cut flowers can be prolonged by treating them with ethylene oxide gas. In the tests, conducted at Beltsville, Md., cut roses were held for 20 hours in an atmosphere containing 0.25 per cent ethylene oxide, after which they did not completely open their buds for as long as 70 hours. Untreated rose buds, in contrast, were completely open in 40 hours. The ARS scientists at Beltsville warn, however, that much more work must be done before ethylene gas can be recommended as a safe, practical technique for the florist industry. So it's not for the home gardener yet.

Mrs. John S. Stuart

Mrs. Lillian M. Stuart, 53, died Sunday night in Milford Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of John S. Stuart, Felton.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Capt. Wendall A., Williamsburg, Va.; D. Leon, Felton, four grandchildren; three brothers, Arthur Carter, Milford; Alfred Carter, Harrington; Myron J. Carter, Paterson, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Phillips, Smyrna.

Services were held at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home, Harrington, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Olin J. Shockley, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington, officiated. Interment in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Corps Builds New Facility

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has awarded a contract for the construction of a concrete walkway atop both the north and south jetties at Indian River Inlet for the convenience of those who wish to fish.

The Indian River Inlet and bay project was constructed by the Corps of Engineers and the maintenance of it is a federal responsibility.

The walkways will be accessible throughout their length from their landward sides and will be built with a pipe railing for the protection of users. The facility is scheduled for completion by Jan. 1964 and will be open to the public.

New Pheasant Book

"Who ever said you were a game bird? Not the quail hunter, for you insult his dogs. Not the partridge hunter, for you scorn his forests. The turkey hunter can't talk your heaten lingo and the dove hunter says you fly like a plowhorse . . ."

Opening with an ode to America's most exotic game bird to set the tone for his new book, "The Ring-Necked Pheasant," John Madson guides his audience through 99 pages of delightful and factual reading. The author, information chief of the Conservation Department of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, has divided his new book into four parts: Life History; Ring-Neck Management; Pheasant Hunting; The Pheasant Frontier.

Individual copies of the book, which bears a colorful illustration of a pheasant, are available from the Conservation Department, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, East Alton, Illinois free of charge.

These Take Money

Through the Commission's state wide program of pond restoration and development of public access for recreational use of both marine and fresh water areas many general purpose recreational areas from Augustine Beach to Fenwick Island have been restored and improved. This work has been financed by fees paid by sportsmen through their licenses, taxes on sporting goods and, on occasion, by funds provided by the General Assembly.

Work currently underway at Becks Pond, near Glasgow, Coursey Pond near Frederica and Blairs Pond near Milford along with restoration and development work at Gordons Pond at Rehoboth are examples of sound recreational projects.

Silver Lake at Milford needs a new dam; the residents of Milford and the Delaware Game and Fish Commission agree that the full restoration of the once beautiful Silver Lake should have a high priority for any uncommitted public funds.

Along with the need for a new dam in Milford numerous requests are constantly coming to the Commission for work in other parts of the state. Lums Pond on the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal needs a new dam along with Garrisons, Craigs, Portsville and Roxana Ponds.

Bowers, Oak Orchard, Rehoboth Bay and Woodland Beach all need parking and small boat launching facilities.

The Commission is cognizant of the growing demand for outdoor recreational areas throughout the state but anticipated income from the fisherman and hunter just will not provide funds for the growing list of legitimate projects many of which will be used by a variety of recreational interests. When local people take the lead and present their case, the General Assembly has often demonstrated a willingness to provide funds for worthy recreational projects.

Sabin Oral Polio Stations Scheduled

Sabin oral vaccine polio immunization stations, numbering forty-six will swing into action over the entire state this Sun., Feb. 17. These stations will provide the first dose of Type I vaccine to all Delawareans from age three months through forty years. The stations will be open from 1 p.m. through 6 p.m. to serve the public. There is no charge for the dose although a 25 cents donation will be accepted to defray costs.

The co-sponsors of the program, the Medical Society of Delaware, the Chapters of the National Foundation in the State, and the Delaware State Board of Health, strongly urge all Delaware citizens to begin their series with the first dose of the oral vaccine to protect themselves, their families, and their communities from this dreaded disease.

"Wiping out polio in a community is the individual's responsibility," Dr. Floyd I. Hudson, executive secretary of the State Board of Health, advised. "One hundred per cent participation in this program could rid Delaware of any future polio threat," he added.

Private, public and parochial schools will give the first dose of the Sabin Oral Vaccine, at no cost, to their pupils on Friday, Feb. 15. Parental approval is urged so that polio's tragic legacy of crippling will be ended.

Many persons have received polio immunization by injection. Regardless of the number of previous Salk shots, all individuals are encouraged to receive all three doses of the Sabin Oral Vaccine.

The Sabin vaccine has been given to more than 100 million people throughout the world with satisfactory results. Millions of doses have been given in the United States.

Delaware Food Market Report

While supplies of fresh vegetables are still below normal, and quality is variable, improvement in both is evident this week in all food stores. This improvement is expected to continue, barring any more cold waves in producing areas.

Price drops have occurred on ten or more fresh fruits and vegetables, true in many cases it is only a penny, but this is the beginning of a downward trend. Going down are green beans. Florida production has picked up and with the addition of supplies imported from Mexico, snaps are a good buy this weekend, with quality good to excellent.

Cucumbers are now coming in from the Bahamas and various other West Indies points to pinch-hit for hard hit Florida crops. The price has dropped also on this vegetable.

Summer-type squash is of good quality and priced reasonably. This is also true of eggplant, radishes, endive, escarole, green onions, and celery. In the truly economical price range, be sure to check white potatoes, sweet potatoes, onions and carrots. There is very little fresh corn on the market, but canned corn is an excellent buy now with supplies large. Other vegetables to check are peas, beans, tomatoes, and tomato products.

Signs of spring are definitely seen at the fruit counters as supplies of fresh ripe strawberries continue to reach local market. These delicious berries are selling during the weekend, as low as 39 cents a pint box.

Bananas continue to be unloaded, now that dock strikes are over. As a result of good supplies, bananas are now selling at the low price of 10 cents a pound when on weekend specials. Another winter fruit being unloaded this week is the honeydew melon from Peru. Avocados, apples, pears and grapes are plentiful again this week and are among the economical buys.

Some signs of downward trends in prices of beef and fresh pork appears this week. Continue to check roasts and steaks for good buys in beef; roasts, chops, and hams for good buys in pork; and roasts, and chops for fair to good buys in lamb.

Poultry (particularly frying chickens and turkeys) is plentiful, so check your favorite meat department for good buys on these meats.

Egg prices continue to drop. Grade A large eggs are down another 3 cents, averaging 53 cents a dozen this week.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Is there an extent-of-time limit or an amount limit on a GI home loan?

A—There is no limit on the amount of the loan in the case of a guaranteed loan. The limitation is on the amount of guaranty that can be issued upon the loan, which is 60% or a maximum of $7,500. VA-insured loans, instead of guaranteed loans, may not exceed $26,666. The time limit is 30 years.

Q—Is there an age limit after which a war orphan may no longer be eligible for Educational Assistance by the VA?

A—Generally the age is between 18 and 23, but in no case may the schooling assistance be continued beyond the 31st birthday of the beneficiary. Certain war orphans younger than 18 may receive this assistance—for example, those who are handicapped.

Q—Does the Veterans Administration recognize employee unions?

A—Yes. During the past six months the VA has recognized 128 employees' organizations at 117 field stations as well as in Washington, D. C.

"Sports Odds And Ends"

There is a lot of publicity on physical fitness these days. Much of it was bought about by the recent discovery of an order issued by President Theodore Roosevelt requiring some military men of that bygone era to march 50 miles.

Attorney General Bob Kennedy covered the distance in 17 hours, 45 minutes. Many others have recently completed this trek. A California service man knocked off a hundred miles in sixteen hours. We suspect some of these faster times were done by running part of the way when no one was looking.

Each year in Europe heel-and-toe walkers race the 285 miles from Strasbourg, Germany, to Paris. This virtually non-stop grind takes 3 days and nights. We get tired just thinking about it. Does anyone feel like a short stroll to Masten's Corner?

Out in California a most remarkable 85-year-old gets up each day at 4 a.m., runs six miles, shadow boxes a round or two, then turns in a day's work as a waiter in a hotel restaurant.

Sports fans who believe that Uncle Sam should subsidize our olympic program are urged to write to Kyle Rote, 485 Lexington Ave., N. Y. 17, N. Y. American teams are often hampered by the necessity to scramble for funds to compete against the Russians and other government subsidized teams.

A 50-year-old Frenchman followed a wind-breaking Mercedes on a high-geared bicycle and reached a fantastic speed of 128 miles per hour. Picture this scene: Imagine a drunk tooling his auto down the highway at 90 or so. Along comes a furiously-peddaling cyclist and passes him like he was tied. It might be enough to persuade the lush to take the pledge.

Jeff Adams was in second place in Henlopen Conference play last week but dropped back to fifth when H.H.S. played a non-league game Friday. His single game high of 32 was fourth best in the state until Tom Williams, of Felton, hit for 36 Tuesday night at Delmar. Williams is now third in the league and Adams is 4th. Both are averaging close to 14 points a contest.

Bruce Henry, of Greenwood, is in eighth position with 123 points in 10 games.

Dave Wood and George Reible, of Felton, are 10th and 13th, respectively. Wood has 119 points and Reible 110 in 10 games.

Little League Expansion Set

The Harrington Little League program will be expanded this year to give more local boys a chance to play baseball this summer. This action was decided upon at a meeting held on the second floor of the First National Bank, Monday night.

In previous years the town of Harrington has been represented in the Kent-Sussex Pony League. This meant that 15 boys in the 13-14 age group could play. Half of the games were away.

Under the new set-up, a four-team Senior Little League will be organized. Up to sixty boys can participate. Road games will be eliminated since all players will come from this community. In addition, 15-year-olds can play along with the 13 and 14 year-olds.

Adult help needed will include managers, assistant managers and umpires for the Little League, the Little Minor League and the Senior Little League.

Prospective umpires are asked to see Jack Apt, umpire-in-chief. Other adult help may contact league president James O'Neal.

Plans to raise some money for the additional expenses, are being studied.

The Little Leaguers will play in the state tournament for the first time this year.

equipment in use at the school. Some of the machines included a flat page projector, film strip and motion picture projectors, tape recorder, microscope and overhead projector. Donald Wells, a student at the school, assisted in the demonstrations.

The attendance award for the month again went to Mrs. Hayward Quillen's room.

A social hour followed.

All-Winning Holy Cross Beats H.H.S.

A tall and talented Holy Cross High School team defeated but did not disgrace Harrington High School's basketball Lions in a game played here Friday night.

The Crusaders lost only once last year and have taken eleven straight contests this term. The visitors from Dover can start a team averaging almost 6 ft. 4 in. in height. Twice this winter, they have passed the 100-points-a-game mark.

The Lions played a creditable game but lost six points to the invaders in the 1st period, seven in the second, six in the third and nine in the fourth to lose by a score of 77-49. It was just a question of too many aces held by Holy Cross, as the victors moved slowly but steadily away throughout the game.

Tom Milsap was a standout for the losers as he led Harrington in scoring (13) and rebounds (13).

Bill Adams and Barry Fry added 10 and 9 points respectively to the Lions scoring column. Wayne Collison captured 10 rebounds. Jeff Adams added eight points, eight rebounds and led the locals in scoring assists with five for a good, all-around performance.

For the winners Dick Holmes and Fred Hindman split 42 points right down the middle. Holmes has been out of action for the Crusaders' last two or three games.

Shaws Laundromat, a local team sponsored by Billy Shaw, came out on top of the H.M.H. league Thursday night by thumping Economy Auto three games.

Dicks Atlantic lost two games to Hamilton Fund, also a local team, that gave Shaws Laundromat the title. Stone's Hotel, another local team did not fare as well. All five men of the Shaw's team rolled over the 500 series, which proved to be the margin of victory. Last week, Ralph Gray, who bowls in several leagues, rolled a 693 series which included a 257 game.

Felton Ups Log To 8-2

Joe Kern's Felton High Green Devils romped at Delmar on Tuesday night and retained their one game lead over Bridgeville for first place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference. The winners racked up a 30-4 first quarter lead, led 56-12 at halftime, then coasted to a lopsided 87-36 victory. Tom Williams, of Felton, equalled the output of the entire Wildcat team. Only two Delaware scholastic cagers have had a higher one game total this winter.

Felton's varsity girls won the opener 24-19.

Felton Downs Greenwood

Greenwood's Foresters gave Felton's Green Devils a battle for three periods but the host team doubled them 20-10 in the final stanza to win going away by a score of 66-48.

After an 11-11 first quarter, Felton moved out to a 30-17 halftime bulge. The Foresters closed within striking distance at 46-38 going into the fourth quarter.

The winners remained atop the standings in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference with a record of seven wins and two defeats.

Greenwood, 1962 division titlist, is in third place with four wins and five defeats. The Foresters are 5-6 overall.

George Reible won high scoring honors for Felton with 19 points. Bill Green (14) Jim Blades (11) and Dave Wood (11) were other Devils in double figures.

All-Star Football Game Chairmen Named

H. Lloyd Taylor and Edward D. T. Trevor, of the DuPont Company's advertising department, have been named co-chairmen of the 1963 Delaware All-Star High School Football game. Announcement was made by the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children which annually sponsors the Blue vs. Gold benefit game.

Receipts from last year's game went toward establishing the Golden Opportunity Center in Dover, for operation of the Mid-Del Day Camp, for the Delaware Association for Retarded Children Teacher Scholarship Fund and Project Fund for research, and for a pilot project to establish a nursery school for the retarded.

Former game chairmen were R. M. Carpenter, Jr., Edward J. Pech, and James W. Williams. The eighth annual game, matching newly graduated high school players from northern and southern sections of the state, is scheduled for Sat., August 24, at the University of Delaware Stadium. The series has raised more than $194,000 for the state's mentally retarded children.

Greenwood Bests H.H.S. 64-57

Greenwood's Foresters won a battle for third place by defeating Harrington 64-57 Tuesday night at Greenwood. If the Lions had won both clubs would have had identical 4-6 records in Eastern Division play.

Harrington's field goal average was a below par 30%. The Lions missed 15 free throws of which 5 were the 1 on 1 variety. The locals set up a defense designed to limit the Foresters' up close activities. This work fairly well but the winner made up for this deficit by hitting exceptionally well from long range.

H.H.S. led 21-16 at the end of the first quarter and at the half 33-30. A 20-13 bulge in the third quarter put Greenwood in the lead. A Harrington surge was nullified almost single handedly by Bob Wright, who threw in five outside shots in the last period.

McDOWELL

McDowell said "I have introduced this bill because I believe that the exercise of United States responsibilities as leader of the free world, and the advancement of our interests abroad, require expertly trained, professional personnel."

"The formulation and conduct of our foreign policy is no longer solely the responsibility of the State Department. It requires teamwork among various agencies engaged in foreign operations."

McDowell said the personnel of these agencies face difficult tasks and need training which transcends that of traditional diplomacy.

"There is, moreover," McDowell said, "the Communist threat to remind us that if we fail to mount a successful foreign policy, or lack the skills to carry one out, a trained Russian bear waits in the wings of the world stage, ready to take our place."

To meet the modern challenges, a new institution with more adequate facilities for training U. S. Personnel in foreign affairs is essential, McDowell asserted. The Academy would be located in or near Washington.

McDowell further stated: "It is my hope that this legislation will receive favorable consideration by the Congress this year, particularly in the light of the reports of the Committee of Foreign Affairs Personnel, headed by former Secretary of State Christian Herter, and the President's Advisory Panel, chaired by James Perkins of the Carnegie Corp. of New York."

"Both reports called for the establishment of a national academy of foreign affairs, McDowell pointed out. He added that he had revised his bill to conform with recommendations made by the two committees.

'63 FEED GRAIN

eligible to take part in the price-support loan program.

One important change from programs for previous years, Zimmerman explained, is the price-support payment which participating farmers will receive on the normal production of the acres planted to the feed grains in 1963. The payments have been set at 18 cents per bushel on corn, 16 cents per bushel on grain sorghum, and 14 cents per bushel on barley. Unlike the regular price-support loan, the rates for the price-support payments will be the same throughout the country; they will not vary by counties.

Also, this year, the price-support loans or purchase agreements will be available to program participants on the entire crop produced on the 1963 feed grain acreage; in 1962, the loan was restricted to the normal production of such acreage.

From now on, the chairman believes, county office people will be increasingly busy explaining the program to farmers and helping them fill out the necessary forms indicating their "intention to participate" in the 1963 feed grain program. He urges interested growers to visit the office soon, and thus avoid undue delays.

even though overall volume was down, increased operating economy gave the co-operative net savings of $730,000 for the first half of the 1962-63 fiscal year. This compares with a net loss of $503,000 in the first six months of the previous fiscal year.

Total overall volume for Southern States, exclusive of local farm supply and petroleum co-operatives, for the period stood at $57.7 million.

In pointing out the extremely sound financial condition of the co-operative, Mr. Mullinix told members that the organization has about $7. of current assets for each $1 of current debt.

He also told members of the cooperative's expansion in feed and seed research programs as well as the opening of a new ammonium nitrate facility at Chattanooga, Tenn., in December. Members were also shown the cooperative's new emblem design that will be used in its identification program.

Mr. Mullinix also discussed the new tax laws and how they affect the cooperative and its members.

The members were also shown "It's the Farmers Business," a color movie produced by the Farmer Cooperative Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Samuel Sloan, of Harbeson, a director of the cooperative, presided at the session.

Guest young farmers attending the meeting were: Harold D. Hall, Jack Walls, Elmer Lindale Jr., Lester A. Warner, of Milford; Donald Clifton, Houston; Charles C. Dempsey, Dover; Charles B. Ross, Clayton, and C. Robert Freeman, Kennedysville, Md.

Attending the session from this area were Charles L. Peck Jr., manager of Peck Brothers, local Southern States retail outlet at Harrington, and board member, Merritt Camper; Alvin Mills, manager of Mills Supply Co., local Southern States retail outlet at Greenwood, and board member Arley Taylor.

S.B.A. News

The temporary offices of the Small Business Administration in Wilmington and Dover were closed Dec. 5, as this marked the end of a 12-week trial operating period.

These offices were originally established on Sept. 19, at the suggestion of Congressman-at-large Harris B. McDowell, Jr., to determine whether there was a need for a permanent SBA office in Delaware.

Edward N. Rosa, Philadelphia Regional Director of the Small Business Administration, announced that the "Circuit Rider" program in Delaware resulted in 102 inquiries of James B. Austin, a loan specialist from the Philadelphia office, who was in the Wilmington and Dover offices on alternate Wednesdays. The SBA representative extended 34 loan applications for loans amounting to $949,000. Five loan requests for $183,500 are now pending.
