

Shaw Is Appointed to Board of Trustees of Kent Vocational Center

William W. Shaw, a member of the Board of Education of the Harrington School District, has been appointed a member of the Board of Trustees for Kent County Technical Vocational Center, it was revealed Wednesday.

The appointment was made by William J. Storey, associate judge of the Superior Court. Other members appointed by Judge Storey are as follows: Joseph L. Wright, Milford School District; William Myers, Felton School District; G. Fred Fifer, Casear Rodney School District; Francis B. Gebhart, Smyrna School District, and Lister V. Hall Jr., Frederica School District.

The trustees were named for two terms, from Feb. 11 to July 1, and from July 1, 1963 to June 30, 1968.

While enabling legislation has been passed, no appropriation has been passed by the General Assembly for the center. A similar center is in Sussex County, with a vocational school in Sussex County.

The newly appointed trustees for the Kent County center were briefed on their duties and the establishment of the school Wednesday night in Dover by Paul M. Hodgson, assistant state superintendent in charge of vocational education, and Dr. Howard E. Row, assistant state superintendent in charge of secondary education.

Prospect of Ferry Service Studied

Cape May County Freeholder Edwin Baber, chairman of the Cape May-Delaware Ferry Committee and head of the county's industrial development commission, this week offered the help of his organizations to the New Jersey-Delaware River and Bay Authority to speed the institution of ferry service linking the two states.

In notices to Governor Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Governor Elbert N. Carvel, of Delaware, Zaberer underlined the importance of establishing the ferry between Cape May and Lewes to perk up the economy of the resort areas.

He pointed out that the sections of the two states that would be serviced by the ferry thrive on vacation trade for three months of the year but during the remaining nine, their economy goes into a tailspin to the point that Cape May annually leads the state in the number of unemployed, and Northern Delaware figures come close to this sad situation.

Zaberer made his offer to the authority in view of the fact that Delaware state members of the new bi-state body are now leaning toward the ferry route as one of the first items of business.

A year ago, when talk of the ferry was revived, Zaberer became head of the ferry committee to work for establishment of the line by whatever means possible and to conduct a survey on the economic feasibility of a ferry.

It was at that time that a ferry was thought of as a secondary project after a bridge was constructed further north along the river. However, engineering surveys have showed that soil conditions near the proposed bridge site are not favorable for a span.

Motor Vehicle Registration Is On Increase

There were 219,340 privately owned motor vehicle registrations in operation in Delaware on Feb. 1st, according to a report of the audit division of the Motor Vehicle Department.

This number is an increase of 11,193 over the number of registrations in action at the same time last year. In addition there are 2,496 exempt registrations, owned by government agencies and emergency apparatus, in operation.

Of the registrations in operation Feb. 1, 128,664 were in Wilmington and rural New Castle County, an increase of 5,700; Kent County had 51,811, an increase of 4,503 while Sussex County has 38,865, an increase of 990.

Pleasure car registrations totaled 150,410, an increase of 6,143; commercial vehicles had 63,461 registrations, an increase of 4,864. Farm trucks accounted for 4,088 registrations, an increase of 38.

Other registrations were tractors 412, an increase of 57; motor cycles 966, an increase of 95 and stock cars 3, a decrease of 4.

Mid-Del Chapter For Retarded Children to Meet

The Mid-Del Chapter of the Delaware Retarded Children's Association will hold a meeting at St. John's Methodist Church in Seaford, Monday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Nancy Stephens, director of the Kent County day camp for retarded children. Mrs. Stephens has been working with retarded children for six years as a primary teacher and as a camp instructor.

This will be a very important meeting for lower Delaware since a group of interested people are presently at work in an effort to organize a Day Camp in the Seaford area.

It is hoped that there will be agood attendance from other areas of the state to give encouragement to this pioneer effort in Sussex County.

Sunday is Heart Sunday

Sunday is Heart Sunday in Delaware.

On that day thousands of volunteers, many of them housewives, will make a door-to-door solicitation of all communities in the state, raising funds for the Delaware Heart Association.

In their house-to-house visits, volunteers will distribute a pamphlet telling how to get Heart Association information on heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever, inborn heart defects and other forms of heart and blood vessel diseases which are fought with Heart Fund dollars.

Volunteers in New Castle County will be under the direction of county chairman Mrs. Charles G. Knodel, 515 Brighton Road, North Hills. Chairmen of Kent and Sussex are L. Gooden Callaway, Harrington, and Mrs. Frank E. Lynch, Milford, respectively.

The Delaware Heart Association has named a goal of $150,000 for the 1963 Fund campaign. This will be used to finance the association's programs of research, education and service in the state.

Dr. David J. Reinhardt III, president of the Delaware Heart Association, appealed to

LEVY COURT MAPS DRIVE TO COLLECT TAXES

Joshua M. Twilley, Dover attorney, was hired recently by the Kent Levy Court to aid the county in collecting delinquent taxes.

Twilley, a Democrat, accepted the job offer and will begin work immediately.

If necessary he will hold tax sales to collect the taxes — something that hasn't been done in Kent County in more than 10 years, the Levy Court commissioners said.

He will work with County Receiver of Taxes Thomas C. Robbins and N. Maxson Terry, Levy Court attorney, to collect the delinquencies. Levy Court President James D. Messick said the idea was approved "wholeheartedly" by Robbins.

"This is just something that should have been done years ago," said Messick. "We're just trying to do something about it."

Just how Twilley will be compensated hasn't been decided yet, Messick said.

It is also not known how much county tax money is outstanding, he added. The total delinquent taxes will be known when the county audit is completed, said Messick.

The decision to go ahead with tax sales recalls strong Republican criticism of Democrats last November when it was revealed a sale to redeem county taxes hasn't been held in Kent County for a decade.

At that time the amount of delinquent taxes was estimated in the thousands of dollars.

Twilley will first send out notices of taxes due and wait for a response before putting a property up for sale, said Messick.

He will begin by notifying delinquent property owners against whom liens have been filed in the prothonotary's office.

Art Exhibit At Century Club

Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, chairman of the program for Tuesday, February 26, at the Harrington New Century Club has planned an art exhibit for that day. Local artists will show some of their work which will also be offered for sale.

Members will see the exhibit following the regular meeting. Non members of the club may view the paintings during the hours from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Rev. Olin J. Shockley, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church will be the speaker of the afternoon. His topic will be "Religions of the World." Drawing on personal observations derived from his two trips to Europe and the near East, he will have much to offer the audience.

Assisting Mrs. Gilstad will be members of her committee, Mrs. Harry L. Boyer, Mrs. L. R. Beauchamp, Mrs. Ernest Raughley, Mrs. Harry D. Adkins, Mrs. R. B. Harrington and Mrs. Charles H. Poukish.

Attorney to Lead Milk Order Fight

The Washington, D. C., attorney who led the thus far successful fight to invalidate the Baltimore milk order has been retained by the Independent Kent-Sussex Milk Handlers Association.

Ben Ivan Melnicoff will represent the dairymen at the March 4 hearing in Philadelphia. The hearing will receive arguments on several proposals — including milk order to all of Delaware.

Melnicoff was the principal attorney in the U. S. Court of Appeals fight in Baltimore to have the Baltimore order number 16 invalidated.

The order is still under litigation with an appeal to a higher court due. Melnicoff also has argued cases successfully before the Interstate Commerce Commission. He is a former member of the U. S. Department of Agriculture which formulates the milk orders.

Manuel Buarque, public relations representative for the lower county dairymen, will join Melnicoff in Philadelphia.

The dairymen hired Melnicoff at a meeting Monday night at the Hotel Milford. He appeared before the group to criticize milk orders.

Buarque said the independent dairymen are financing Melnicoff's hiring alone although the Delaware Association of Milk Handlers last month approved $2800 for an attorney to fight the order at the hearing.

Murder Hire Bid Sentence Given

A Milford man convicted of soliciting to commit murder was fined $500 Wednesday and given a three-year suspended prison sentence.

James Edward Howlett, 41, a Milford auto body repairman, is free after paying the fine. He must serve three years probation.

The sentencing in Kent County Court of Common Pleas came after a strong 10-minute plea for clemency by Howlett's attorney, Everett F. Warrington, of Georgetown.

Warrington presented a petition signed by about 50 Milford area residents testifying to Howlett's citizenship and character.

Judge William G. Bush III passed sentence — which could have been life imprisonment. Howlett was found guilty last

Accidents Result Of Human Failure

"Most traffic accidents are the result of human failure."

J. James Ashton, manager of the Delaware Safety Council, made that assertion this week, emphasizing the need to know and obey traffic laws.

"Accident records bear this out," Ashton said. "In four out of five fatal accidents, a driver violated some traffic law, signal or warning. Since this is the case, the best approach to reducing traffic accidents is to eliminate our failures."

The Council manager listed the six most frequent driver violations in fatal accidents as excessive speed, failure to yield right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line, driving under the influence of alcohol, improper passing, and disregard of an officer or traffic control device.

"The best solution to this problem is to eliminate our failures."

Father's Slayer Gets Life in Jail

Phillip H. White, 21, Wednesday was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in prison for the fatal beating of his father in Harrington last August.

He was indicted in the fall by the Kent County Grand Jury for first degree murder. He pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced by Superior Court Judge William J. Storey.

A jury trial had been scheduled for next Monday for the man, who was living in Philadelphia at the time of the incident.

White was charged with beating his father, Homer White, 41, to death with a monkey wrench early in the morning of Aug. 25, and White was arrested later in Philadelphia. He was returned to Delaware on Aug. 27.

If convicted of first degree murder, White would have faced the death penalty. He was represented by two court-appointed attorneys, Henry J. Ridgely and Nicholas H. Rodriguez.

In the Court of Common Pleas, Wednesday, Henry Massey, Jr., of Dover Air Force Base, pleaded not guilty to charges of carrying a concealed deadly weapon, assault and battery on a police officer and resisting arrest.

The incident occurred on Feb. 15.

In other Common Pleas arraignments, James H. Carney, Jr., of Cheswold, pleaded not guilty to driving under the influence of liquor on Feb. 13 on County Route 156 near Cheswold.

Thomas White, 48, also entered a not guilty plea to a charge of assault with a .22 calibre rifle on William Carey, 29, of Dover, last Feb. 6.

U. of D. To Offer Program For College Teachers

The University of Delaware has been selected as one of about 50 colleges and universities which will offer a summer research participation program for college teachers.

The nationwide program will strengthen the teaching and research abilities of about 700 high school and college teachers. It is supported and sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Delaware's program will be in the area of metallurgy and materials science under the direction of Dr. Leonard Skolnick. Dr. Skolnick recently returned from an orientation meeting for program directors held under NSF auspices in Chicago. Because no Pennsylvania institutions are receiving grants for programs this year, Dr. Skolnick is hoping that a number of applications will be received from college and university teachers in the Philadelphia area.

The University of Delaware program will continue for approximately ten weeks, June 24 to August 31. Applications must be received by Dr. Skolnick before March 5, 1963.

The research participation program provides opportunities for young teachers to work with experienced research scientists on problems that are part of, or an outgrowth of, research normally conducted at the respective institutions.

Lt. Col. Arthur P. Ellis, Jr., Darmstadt Subpost Commander, recently welcomed Miss Joyce Hopkins as recreation director of Darmstadt's Cambrai-Fritsch Kaserne Special Services Club. Miss Hopkins, a resident of Harrington, completed high school and business school in Wilmington. She then worked for E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company as a secretary in the research center at Wilmington. In 1959, she entered University of Delaware and graduated in 1962. In the end of 1962, she joined Special Services and came to Darmstadt, Germany on Jan. 24. This is Miss Hopkins' first overseas assignment with Special Services.

The Cambrai-Fritsch Kaserne Special Service Club is now under the management of Miss Anne Thiele, club director. Anne is a resident of Greenville, S. C., and is a graduate of Furman University. She has been working in the advertisement field and later on switched over to professional girl scout work. Anne came to Germany to visit relatives and decided here to sign up with Special Services. Her first assignment in February 1961 was at Kirchgoens, Germany, where she worked as a program director. Transferred to Darmstadt in August 1962, she became club director of Darmstadt Cambrai Service Club.

March 5 Whip Case Date Set

The State Supreme Court will hear oral arguments March 5 on the constitutionality of Delaware's whipping law.

The court set the date Wednesday after lawyers for the state and counsel for Franklin W. Cannon Jr. filed briefs earlier in the week. An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union also filed a brief as a "friend of the court."

Cannon, 20, of Dover, was sentenced to 20 lashes and three years in jail by Superior Court Judge Stewart Lynch for a 1961 auto theft. The sentence originally was suspended then reimposed when Cannon violated probation last year.

The high court has agreed to rule on the constitutionality of whipping as a punishment.

Fire Training Program To Be Held Feb. 24

A fire training program will be held at Farmington Fire Station on Sun., Feb. 24, at 1 p.m. in conjunction with the Delaware vocational department. The instructor, Granville T. White, of Laurel, and chief John Bradley, will conduct the operation. The following fire companies in Kent and Sussex County will participate: Houston, Felton, Harrington, Farmington, Ellendale and Greenwood. There will be three barns to be burned down, which have been condemned by the Delaware State Fire Marshal as a potential fire hazard to this town.

All communications will be done by radios. The exercise will consist of a relay in pumping water, booster tank operation, fog nozzles and water curtains. The general public is invited to attend this exercise.

Deadline For Rehabilitation Training Canceled

The general deadline for vocational rehabilitation training for disabled Korean Conflict veterans has been eliminated, according to Veterans Administration officials.

Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Regional Office of the Veterans Administration said the deadline for completion of such training formerly was Jan. 31, 1964, or nine years after being separated from the armed forces, whichever was earlier.

Under terms of a law passed by the last Congress, Mr. Fields said, a veteran now has nine years after discharge from the armed forces in which to complete his training, with no cut-off deadline at an earlier date.

Eligible disabled Korean Conflict veterans may receive training, of such character and length as necessary to restore their ability to work, up to four years and in some cases exceeding four years.

Before starting their training they must be interviewed and tested by VA Counselors to determine their aptitudes and interests.

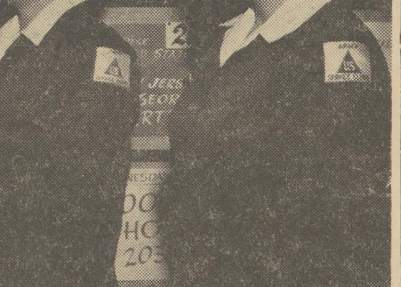

The training will be at Government expense and in addition the veteran may receive subsistence allowances as well as disability compensation, Mr. Fields said.

The eligible veterans may enroll in schools or colleges, take on-the-job training or institutional on-the-farm training or enter other programs which combine classroom and on-the-job training.

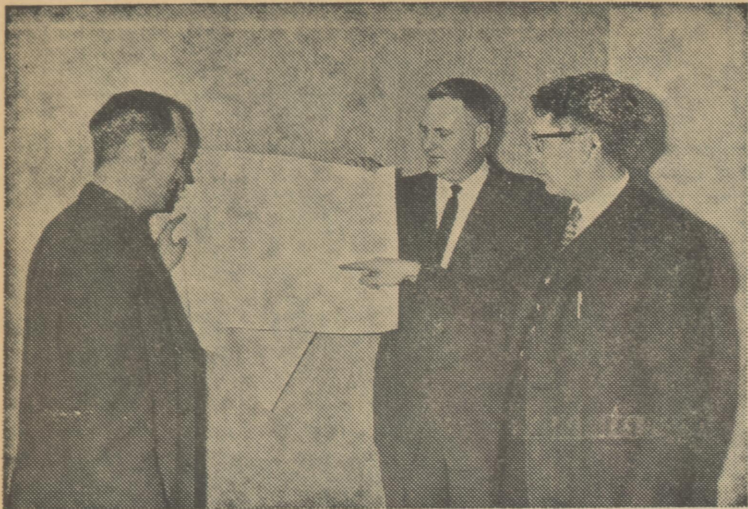

Kent County profits from ten establishments catering to bingo totaled $5797.06 in January, according to tabulations of the State Bingo Commission.

Studying the blueprint design of a new windowless broiler house at a recent meeting of Delmarva's Better Poultry Housing Committee are the following committee members; left to right: Ernest Walpole, of the University of Delaware; Al Loberg, committee chairman, of Preston, Md., and Kent Felton, of the University of Maryland.

Delmarva Poultry Housing Studies

Four new Delmarva poultry housing studies are well underway and a fifth study will start soon in a newly-constructed windowless house, it was reported recently by Alden Loberg, of Preston, Md., chairman of the Broiler Housing Committee for Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Although the present studies are primarily concerned with insulation and ventilation savings possible in both new and old houses, the general aim of this committee is to cut broiler-raising costs through better all-around housing. The studies are being made on a four-season basis so that winter improvements made will not create new summer problems, and vice versa.

A total of nine existing houses and one new house are involved in the present insulation and ventilating studies, Loberg reported. Agricultural engineers and poultry specialists from both the University of Delaware and the University of Maryland are cooperating, as well as five commercial concerns.

One of the studies involves five houses owned by the American Cyanamid Company at its test farm near Georgetown. A second involves one house at Chesapeake Farms, Salisbury, Md. Two more houses on the Clark Sewell, Jr. farm near Trappe, Md., are involved; fourth is a house on the Raymond Hudson farm, Dagsboro, Del. The new house is one under construction at the University of Delaware Substation Division near Georgetown.

Emphasis on all projects is to find low-cost materials and engineering design that will pay their own way. Over-ventilating and under ventilating are being studied. Use of automatic controls to cut man-hour costs is under intensive scrutiny.

Library Receives Frederica Shipping Records

Mrs. Samuel M. Sloan, of Harbeson, has given the University of Delaware library a collection of 500 original business records of Governor John W. Hall's coastwise shipping company at Frederica.

Hall, a self-made man, rose from clerkship in a grocery store to become the largest owner of vessels in Delaware, and one of the largest vessel owners in the country. His ships carried grain, produce, lime, wood and fertilizers between all ports of the Atlantic coast, and were chartered by the federal government during the Civil War.

Included in the Hall Shipping Papers, dating from 1860 to 1890, are cargo invoices, consignee's receipts, accounts of voyage expenditures, and a fine series of letters from schooner captains at various ports-of-call, detailing progress of the trip, commodity prices, cargoes loaded and unloaded, navigation difficulties and maritime disasters.

Double Knits Easy To Sew For Every Season

One of the most popular fabrics in a woman's wardrobe is the double knit—in wool, cotton, man-made fibers and blends suitable for every season. This new knitting technique has rapidly gained popularity because the fabric is not only attractive, but is comfortable and easy to care for, according to Janet Reed, extension clothing specialist at the University of Delaware.

Select a woolen double knit carefully, Miss Reed cautions, since some inferior quality fabrics have appeared on the market. "To protect yourself, buy only from a reliable dealer, look for well-known trade names and read the labels attached to the dress," she advises.

The woman who sews at home will find the double knits ideal to work with. Miss Reed advises pre-shrinking the fabric before cutting, by rolling it in a damp sheet and allowing it to stand overnight. A professional dry cleaner will also shrink woolen fabric for a small charge.

The pattern used for double knit dresses should use a minimum of seams and should feature straight lines, since bias-cut skirts can stretch out of shape easily. Because of the firm construction of double knits, it isn't necessary to line them; however, if a lining is desired, use a thin fabric such as China silk. Pre-shrunk unbleached muslin or percale in matching color is suitable for interfacing.

Do not use the original folds of the fabric when cutting out the pattern. Miss Reed cautions, since the crease may be so firmly pressed it will never come out. Instead, cut the fabric along one of these creases and refold as necessary.

Pull the seam slightly and use a fairly loose tension on the sewing machine, as the fabric will stretch a bit and seams will not be so likely to pop when the garment is worn. Raw edges may be finished with a zig zag stitch or with two rows of machine stitching.

"Be sure to press thoroughly as you sew, lifting rather than sliding the iron," Miss Reed says. "The success of sewing, especially with wool, depends as much on your pressing skill as on your sewing skill."

Public Service Superintendent Is Named

Francis L. McKee, of Salisbury, has been promoted to the post of Superintendent of Stations at Eastern Shore Public Service, according to an announcement by E. S. Mortimer, vice president and manager of operations. This means Mr. McKee will direct the construction, maintenance and operation of the Company's 100 major substations on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia and in Kent and Sussex Counties of Delaware.

Substations are a vital link in delivering power to customers. At some of them, complex equipment increases voltage for efficient transmission; at others, voltage is decreased for local distribution.

McKee, a native of Dover, joined the electric company in April 1947 as division engineer at Harrington. He was educated at the public schools of Dover and received his electrical engineering degree from the University of Delaware.

In 1953, he moved to Salisbury and assumed the job of stations engineer.

During World War II he served in the South Pacific area in the anti-aircraft artillery and artillery branches of service. He progressed from first lieutenant to the rank of major while in service for five years.

McKee is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the Delaware Society of Professional Engineers and the Optimist Club of Salisbury. He is past president of this latter organization, and has been active for many years in PTA work.

Wilson W. Howard will assume the duties of stations engineer formerly performed by McKee. He is a native of Hebron and has most recently been Division Engineer for the company with headquarters at Cambridge. He joined the company in 1950 as District Service Supervisor of Salisbury and then served as assistant Division Engineer at Salisbury.

Howard is a graduate of Hebron High School, studied at State Teachers College and earned his electrical engineering degree at the University of Maryland. He served with the U. S. Army for three years.

Frederick A. Wilson has been promoted to the job of Division Engineer for Eastern Shore Public Service with headquarters at Cambridge. From here he will supervise engineering activities in Dorchester, Talbot, Caroline, Queen Anne, Kent and Cecil counties.

Wilson joined the electric company in February of 1955 and has served as District Supervisor and District Engineer in Salisbury. In July of 1961 he advanced to the post of assistant Division Engineer for Salisbury division. Wilson is a native of McKeesport, Pa., and graduated from the technical high school there. He has earned both B. S. and M. S. degrees from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Charles D. Gammon, an assistant engineer in relay department, has been promoted to Salisbury district/division engineering. He joined the company in 1957.

Gammon is a native of Great Bridge, Va., and attended the public schools there. He earned his B. S. in electrical engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Virginia. He served 2 1/2 years in France and England with the U. S. Army.

Motor Fuel Tax Receipts Increase Due to Tax Rate

The increase in the tax rate for motor fuel in this state accounted for an increase in motor fuel tax receipts for the month of December. It was the third month in 1962 to have these results.

A report compiled for James J. Deputy, Controller for the State Highway Department and administrator of the Motor Fuel Tax Division, shows receipts from motor fuel taxes for December of $990,933.69.

This amount, which was received by the state during January, is $13,394.69 more than was received for December of 1961 but also was $12,341.56 less than was received for November of last year.

The report also indicates that during December a total of 16,545,561 gallons of motor fuel were sold in Delaware and this total is 1,254,322 gallons less than the amount of motor fuel sold during December of 1961.

Listed in the report are 79 concerns as being bonded as motor fuel distributors in this state during December and of this number 28 concerns reported no sales for the month.

Four other concerns had sales that accounted for $527,394.62, or 53.4 per cent of the taxes collected for December. They were, with the amount of taxes paid by each, Atlantic Refining Co., $115,305.83; Gulf Oil Corp., $112,121.58; Humble Oil & Refining Co., $218,411.51 and Sun Oil Co., $81,555.70.

Blue Cross, Blue Shield Offers Membership

"Delawareans who are under 65 years of age and who do not already belong to Blue Cross and Blue Shield may apply for membership March 4 through March 8," announced Miss Sara V. Case, enrollment representative of Group Hospital Service, Inc.

"During the entire month of November, 1962, those senior citizens of Delaware who are 65 years of age and older who were not already Blue Cross and Blue Shield members had an opportunity to join the plan," Miss Case said. "Now the opportunity is being given to those Delawareans under 65 years of age."

Almost two out of three Delawareans belong to Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Most of these 288,000 members belong to Group Hospital Service through employer groups. Forty-five thousand of these members are non-group members who pay their membership dues directly to the Blue Cross-Blue Shield office.

If you are not a Blue Cross-Blue Shield member and you are a Delawarean under 65, in good health and with no other coverage, you may apply for group or non-group membership.

Non-group members may apply for membership in the Standard Semi-Private or Plan A plans. Those memberships accepted will be effective May 1. To have an application mailed to you, phone the nearest Delaware Blue Cross and Blue Shield office to you. They are located in Dover, Milford, Seaford and Wilmington.

Request a group application from the person who handles Blue Cross and Blue Shield where you work, if you work for any of the almost 2,000 Blue Cross-Blue Shield groups in Delaware. These contracts are available for group membership: Standard Semi-Private, Plan A, and Extended Benefits—in groups with

Southern States Cooperative Agency NOW

• Back in 1923, many farmers were not satisfied with the seed available to them. Frequently it was poor seed. Poor crops and poor returns often resulted. Farmers finally solved the problem by organizing Southern States Cooperative and supplying themselves with the good seed they needed. Today, 40 years later, on some farms, seed may still be a limiting factor. The solution is still the same: To make top profits, you plant top-quality seed. Southern States top-quality Seed.

How Do Harrington Grads Fare in College?

The class of 1963 will send at least ten of its graduates to the University of Delaware and at least two of its graduates to out of state four-year colleges. We often are asked how Harrington graduates do when they get to college. Let's compare the class of 1959, which should be graduating from four-year institutions this year. In the class of 1959, five graduates were accepted at the University of Delaware. Two graduates were accepted at two year institutions outside the state. The five who entered the University of Delaware were Emily Ann Brown, Joan Collins, Jeanne Coulbourn, Phillip Holson, and Frances Wilcox. They are now in good standing at the University of Delaware and expect to graduate in June; and we think at least one of these will graduate with distinction and that all will graduate with distinguished records. John Taylor, who entered the University of North Carolina, is in good standing and expects to graduate in the class of '63. James Schiff, who entered the University of Maryland, will complete his first year in the University of Maryland Dental School this year. Jim was accepted in the School of Dentistry after having completed three years at the University of Maryland. In the jargon of baseball, this is batting a thousand. On the basis of college board scores, standardized tests, and all other measuring devices, we see no reason why the present graduating class's college applicants will not fare equally as well. College entrance and achievement is certainly not the only measure by which a high school can be judged. Our graduates have not only done well in colleges, but have also done well in the fields of business, nursing, armed services, and in fact, in all fields of endeavor.

Harrington School Notes

Senior News
The Senior Class is going into action in making final preparations for the 1963 Senior Play. The cast, crews, and prompters have been announced and the first play practice was held Wednesday after school. Mr. Brumley and Mr. Rutledge have given the seniors favorable comments about the success of the play.
The play this year is entitled "Going Places" and is written by Donald Payton. Although no exact date has been made for the presentation, everyone is assured it will be a great hit.
Of course, a great deal of the success lies in the money made from the ads which the seniors solicit for each year and place in the play booklet.
Thurs., Feb. 14, the entire senior class, in groups of three's and four's went to near-by towns to solicit for their ads. Areas covered ranged from Dover on down to the Delaware-Maryland line. The seniors were excused for an entire day and were on their own! The success of their soliciting depended largely on how well the class went to work. Each member was told to do his best to sell himself and his school, and most of all to get an ad. The class decided on a total of $1,000 to be reached by our obtaining ads. Whether we reached this total has not yet been determined.
All money made for this year's play, will go towards the financing of the senior trip which will be in June. Everyone was also told to bear this thought in mind when he went for advertisements.
Student Council News
The Student Council has been busy in the last few weeks making plans for the "Queen of Hearts Dance." This is an annual dance sponsored by the Kent County Association of Student Councils. This year the dance was held at Caesar Rodney High School, Feb. 16. Each school in Kent County was responsible for the making of two cupids, in their school colors, and also the school was to elect a queen of hearts. Harrington's queen was Miss Joyce Webb. Her court included: Miss Carol Smith, Miss Connie Spicer and Miss Patsy Bradley.
Other Student Council projects are bringing in favorable reports as the year is coming to a fast close. The money-making projects are showing considerable comments. The profit we made from the football concession stand has been calculated and the profit we made has far exceeded that of years gone by. Faye Needles was chairman of the stand and she, with her committee, should be recommended on their job well done.
Our next source of income is the basketball concession stand run by Dennis Simpson. We are receiving favorable reports from him also, but nothing can be determined until all outstanding bills have been taken care of.
Another project which the Council is taking into consideration is a plaque from the council to be placed in the new school. This item will be placed in a suitable place so that the student body of Harrington will remember the Student Council of 62-63. Many ideas have been presented by Council members but no final decision has been made.

Small Business Problems Outlined

Problems that beset small business were outlined at Newark Tuesday before students of the University of Delaware, by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., vice chairman of the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers.
"I am ashamed at the barriers my generation has placed in the way of the success and prosperity of your generation. I hope that you will succeed in helping us to remove some of them," Sligh said in an address before the Distinguished Visiting Businessmen's Forum.
Operating a small business today is much more complicated than in the past, chiefly because of complications "imposed by our various governments which love small business so," Sligh observed.
"Thanks to the tender attentions of our government, a small businessman who has never cheated anyone, who has been good to his employees, who has paid his bills and his taxes, who has been a pillar of his community and a mainstay of his church can be a criminal and be eligible for a stiff fine or even a jail term—by making a mistake on a form, by chewing the rag about prices with his competitor or by making a merger contract that the Justice Department finds not to its liking."
Paradoxically, the speaker noted, "the government is as ready to put you in business as it is to put you out of it." He noted that

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

Planning and Zoning developed by a large number of citizens has a much better chance of success than if only a few people are consulted. This was the gist of Walter Rowland's message at the Capital Grange Hall in Dover.

Too, zoning protects your hopes and plans, he said, by preventing someone else from destroying what you try to build and keep up. In this very real sense it gives you some assurance that your investment has protection.

Our Levy Court members, Messrs. James Messick, Edward Kelly, and Carl Prettyman, were deeply impressed with his comment that citizens should help plan, and that the job should not be rushed. We should take time to hear the proposals of our people.

Peace Corps volunteer William Weinholt writes from Kuala Lumpur, Malaya: "I wish I knew more about agriculture so I could be of more help here." Weinholt, whose home is in Kobler, Wis., is a graduate of DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago. He is assisting a BBC expert from England design new studies and stations for Radio Malaya.

"Malaya is one of the fastest developing countries in all of Asia, but," says Weinholt, "it needs trained agronomists to conduct a soil survey of the country."

"Some countries need people who can operate tractors and get up dairy farms. Some need skilled veterinarians. I believe there are wonderful opportunities for young agriculture graduates in the Peace Corps."

There are also opportunities for men and women without college training, provided they have farm experience, vocational agricultural training, or good 4-H backgrounds.

Applicants are now being selected for projects starting training in late spring and summer for Malaya, Nepal, Pakistan, India, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela, Brazil, Guatemala, Uruguay, Chile, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Guinea and Togo.

Many Peace Corps volunteers like William Weinholt wish they knew more about agriculture so they could make an even greater contribution to their host country.

If your farm has a feed grain base and you want to plant corn, grain sorghum, and barley for harvest this year, it may be dollars in your pocket to get out pencil and paper and figure the advantages of participating in the 1963 feed grain program Lister V. Hall Jr., county ASC office manager offers these suggestions.

Producers who take part in the 1963 program will receive payments for diverting feed grain acreage and putting it into an approved conservation use. Part of that payment may be paid in advance when the producer signs up at his Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county office. This will be a real advantage to growers who have need for some extra ready cash during the spring planting season. Signup has already started and will continue through March 22.

Participating farmers will also be eligible for a price-support payment on the normal production of the acreage planted to feed grains in '63 . . . and they will qualify for price-support loans or purchase agreements on production from the planted acreage.

Here are some facts you'll need to figure the benefits on your farm. Minimum diversion for participation is 20% of the farm's 1963 feed grain base. This year the three feed grains—corn, grain sorghum and barley—are combined into one total feed grain base. As a producer, you may divert from one or any combination of the feed grains in the total base.

Payment on the first 20% diversion will be at 20% of the county price-support rate on the normal production of the diverted acres. Support rates in Kent County, are $1.39 per bu. for corn, $1.19 for grain sorghum and $1.06 for barley.

Additional acreage may be diverted and payment on the additional acres will be at 50% of the county price-support rate. The diversion payment plus the special price-support payment will give most farmers approximately the same payment they received for participating in the 1962 program.

Once again, the signup period runs through March 22. Of course, participation is voluntary, so if you're interested in more details you should discuss the program with the folks at the Kent ASCS Office, at Dover, the next time you're in town or phone: 697-3294.

So-called "dwarfing compounds," used normally as growth regulators, were used to reduce evaporation from tomato plants in 1961 and 1962 experimental tests at the University of Delaware. Several applications of cycocel were made after the tomato fruit set. Plants showed no drought affects during a dry period. Researchers feel several chemicals have a potential in reducing water loss.

The Delaware Belle pepper, released last spring, showed up very well in experimental performance tests in 1962. In fact its yield of 21 tons per acre in station plots was the highest yield of any pepper recorded in University of Delaware tests. The variety is resistant to tobacco mosaic, sets fruit under unfavorable conditions and establishes a large crown under most conditions. Seed is commercially available for 1963.

Spray mulches, sprayed in the soil, is used when desirable to reduce water loss and erosion. It covers best where soil is firm. Plant can grow through the hard crust softened by night dew. The black covering can be used to control soil temperatures. Asparagus, for instance, can grow faster in warmer, mulch-covered soil. An advantage of spray mulches is that the mulch can be combined with herbicides in single applications. Five commercial firms are now planning to market spray mulches.

Max Beal, of the University of Maryland, states that with the emphasis nowadays on less fat in human diets solids-no-fat play an important part in pricing milk. This trend has altered the pricing of milk. A reduced fat differential has resulted to de-emphasize fat in pricing. Another method to de-emphasize fat in pricing is to add a solids-not-fat differential in the pricing formula. These trends in pricing apply mainly to Class I milk but to a lesser degree may be applicable to Class II milk. Overall, these changes alter the ratio of butter fat content to non-fat components.

Pasture that comes on three to four weeks before pasture "glut" is valuable and can reduce feed problems. With permanent grass pastures, fertilizing with phosphorus and potash plus nitrogen where needed supplies excellent and low cost grazing in April. For early rotation pastures, red clover, timothy, and Ladino clover are valuable as spring feed. With small grain pastures, barley, wheat oats, and especially rye are primary for spring grazing, but here late winter topdressing is necessary. Nitrogen can be very helpful in stimulating early and abundant forage crops. Things to keep in mind for forage crops are, rates of nitrogen, light intensity, and stage of maturity.

President's Tax Reform Will Help Small Businesses

The President's tax rate reduction and reform proposals offer a great opportunity for expanding the growth potential of small business, according to the Small Business Administration.

Edward N. Rosa, Regional Director of the agency's Philadelphia office, pointed out that the President's tax message specifically states that the proposed changes will "give particular encouragement to small business."

Under the President's program, small corporations with a taxable income of $25,000 or less would receive more than one-half the tax benefit provided by the first year's reductions, as their income tax rate would be cut immediately from 30 per cent to 22 per cent. The proposed cuts in individual tax rates would give similarly advantageous treatment to unincorporated sole proprietors and partnerships, thus providing incentive for increased investment both in and by these small firms.

Mr. Rosa further noted that, by increasing internally-generated funds for small firms, the tax cut would do much to offset the disadvantage which they face in obtaining financing on reasonable terms from outside sources. At the same time, through their enhanced ability to demonstrate financial soundness, small concerns would become more attractive both as borrowers and as potential investments. This would help to arrest the trend toward the purchase of small firms by larger competitors.

Both the provisions for tax reduction and reform are calculated to promote business growth. For example, the reform proposal which would allow firms to deduct the cost of machinery used directly for research and development would be especially beneficial to small businesses.

The regional director emphasized the interrelation of individual and corporate tax reductions and reforms within the tax structure. Individual tax cuts will release additional purchasing power, providing the demand necessary to spur production to higher levels. At the same time, reduced corporation taxes will offer another incentive for business investment and expansion.

Tax reform, by ending the inequities which artificially increase the rewards of certain undertakings as compared with more economically valuable ones, will also make a direct contribution to economic growth. Moreover, in the absence of tax reform, tax rates could not be reduced as much as the President has proposed.

Through its publications and counseling services, the Small Business Administration provides up-to-date tax information for the small businessman. Furthermore, in co-operation with the Internal Revenue Service and local educational institutions, the agency is conducting a series of one-day management conferences, geared to small business.

Businessmen attend workshop sessions, which are instructed by Internal Revenue tax experts, and hear guest speakers from both Government and industry. The first Conference, co-sponsored with SBA and the IRS by the Penn State Continuing Education division, was held in Pittsburgh, Thurs., Feb. 14.

Penn State will present another Tax Management Conference in Philadelphia, Thurs., Feb. 21, at the Marriott Motor Hotel. Local businessmen may still register for the meeting, by contacting the Penn State Continuing Education division, 1619 Cloverly Lane, Abington, Turner, 6-9400 or WAverly 7-3011.

A third conference is scheduled for small businessmen in Delaware, March 14, in Wilmington. This meeting is being presented by SBA and IRS in co-operation with the Delaware State Department of Public Instruction.

Rebuilding Of Rehoboth Front To Exceed $2 Million

Building of a new boardwalk on the boardwalk at Rehoboth Beach is just the beginning of a construction resurgence which will involve the expenditure of more than $2,500,000 in private funds along the Atlantic seacoast.

This was the estimate given Saturday afternoon by William L. Williams, president of the Rehoboth Beach Chamber of Commerce during ground breaking ceremonies for the new structure.

Williams included Rehoboth's contemplated $250,000 city hall with a 750 seat auditorium in his estimate. However, he pointed out that known facilities which are to be rebuilt, or repaired and with new construction planned, the nation's summer capital will have better all-round facilities for visitors than ever before.

A major portion of the construction money will be invested in completing work on hotels, motels and boardwalk properties which felt the brunt of the March 1962 storm. Some damage was also incurred earlier this year.

Williams said that construction is already underway on a number of projects and others are on the drawing boards for buildings along the boardwalk which had been wiped out last year.

He was reluctant to give individual estimates but he said a careful Chamber of Commerce survey indicates this outlay of funds in early 1963. There is hope that much of the construction will be completed for use during the 1963 season.

It was also predicted by Chamber of Commerce officials that another million dollars will be spent along beachfronts south of Rehoboth, particularly in the Dewey Beach area for rehabilitation and new construction.

Funds for the $10,000 bandstand are being raised privately by a committee headed by Mrs. Mae Hall McCabe and Charles Royce. They report their task is nearly half completed. Contributions of material have also been helpful, and even the architect's drawings and blue prints came as an anonymous gift.

Mrs. McCabe was given the honor of wielding the be-ribboned gold-plated shovel at Saturday's ceremonies.

Secretary of State Elisha Dukes, representing Gov. Elbert N. Carvel congratulated the people of Rehoboth "for the warm-hearted manner in which you have tackled the job of re-establishing your resort so others may come to enjoy it." Dukes stood bareheaded in 14 degree temperature to bring his message.

Mayor Juel C. Stamper praised the continued co-operation which the town government had experienced and predicted that "Rehoboth Beach will be better by far when the season begins around Memorial Day." Mayor Otis H. Smith, of nearby Lewes, also voiced congratulations on the resort's progress.

The Rehoboth High School Band played during the ceremonies despite the chill wind which limited participation to about 50 people, Rev. Charles Covington, of Epworth Methodist Church, gave the blessing.

U. of D. Studies Broiler Price

What price will sell the most broilers at the highest returns to the broiler industry?

A study to learn this and other information was recently completed by the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Delaware. Results are reported in Station Bulletin No. 344, "An Experimental Approach to the Estimation of the Short Run Price Elasticity of Demand for Broilers."

H. R. Hilner and R. C. Smith conducted a controlled experiment in the Wilmington-Philadelphia area to determine consumer response to different levels of retail prices of broilers.

Dr. Cover Is Appointed To Nat. Plans Board

A scientists-administrator at the University of Delaware's School of Agriculture has been appointed to the National Plans Board, a government-sponsored group, which will meet in Washington, D. C., next week to formulate plans for carrying out poultry disease control programs in the United States.

He is Dr. Morris S. Cover, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and chairman of the Department of Animal and Poultry Science.

"I am pleased, as a staff member at the University of Delaware, to be asked to participate in this program," said Cover, a poultry pathologist.

The conference, next Monday through Wednesday (Feb. 25-27), will study proposals relating to partial testing for pullorum-typhoid classification; study problems involved in PPLO and typhimurium control programs for both chickens and turkeys; and study and develop whole blood tests to identify pullorum, typhoid and other Salmonella infections of turkeys.

Attending the conference, sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be a number of industry representatives and poultry pathologists from throughout the country.

Greenwood Scouts and Explorers hold parents night in celebration of National Boy Scout Week.

The week of Feb. 7 to 13, was a busy one for the members of Greenwood Scout Troop 242 and Explorer Post 242. During this week each scout made a special effort to do a good deed each day, and many of us in the community were recipients of these good deeds.

Saturday, Scouts Jim Power and John Hollis, along with Explorers Craig Prettyman and Phil Cannon and Scoutmaster and Explorer Advisor Earl O'Bier, participated in a two hour radio program. This program was in commemoration of Scout Week and allowed Scouts from the entire county to report on activities of the past year.

Monday night, Feb. 11, the parents night was held in the Greenwood Fire Hall. The program opened with the Scout Investiture ceremony. Terry Bowden and Larry Hollis were invested and received their tenderfoot badges. This was followed by an Explorer induction ceremony for all of the boys that have entered Exploring since summer. A court of honor was held for presentation of two awards. The Scouts of Troop 242 received First Class Scout rank. Steve was also appointed senior patrol leader. Tommy Cannon and Terry Collision were advanced to second class Scouts. The firemanship merit badge was presented to Tommy Elliott, George Eskridge, Gregory Fleischauer, John Hollis, Jim Power, Frank Spence, Steve Willey and Jim Yeako. Jim Yeako was recently elected a patrol leader and received his two green bars.

From the Post, Jeffery Smith advanced to Star rank and the following members received merit badges: Phil Cannon, first aid; Robert Cannon, first aid, swimming and rowing; Larry Cannon, rowing, life saving and pioneering; David Churilla, first aid; Charles Elliott, canoeing; Billy Fleischauer, swimming, rowing, lifesaving, wild life management, and automobile; Gerald Jones, wildlife management; Craig Prettyman, wildlife management, first aid and firemanship; Jeffery Smith, life saving, and first aid; Larry Spence, automobile; Freddie Webb and Dewey Whitmore, first aid.

Scout Committee chairman, Charles Elliott Sr., and committeeman, Norman Hamstead and Walter Spence were also guests of the Kiwanis Club that evening. Kiwanis Arthur Tatman, serves as scout institutional representative and Lewis Mills and Willard Thompson are committeemen. The committee treasurer Medford Calhoun, was unable to be with us. After the dinner, the Scouts and Explorers gave a citizenship ceremony, then formed a discussion panel, with Explorer advisor and Scoutmaster, Earl T. O'Bier, as moderator to review with the club their many activities of the past year and expressed their appreciation for the help and support they have received.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Greenwood volunteer fire company will meet Friday evening, at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Plans has been made for W. H. Stephens, safety director for the Delaware Electric Co-operative, to give a demonstration of artificial respiration on a life-size model, known as "The Resuscitann."

Delaware Food Market Report

February is a month filled with special days—Washington's birthday, Shrove Tuesday and Ash Wednesday are the ones yet to come.

To celebrate Washington's birthday, serve the traditional cherry pie. Supplies of sour red cherries are exceptionally large this year, making prices reasonable. This means cherry pie will be an economical choice as well as a tasty one. Shrove Tuesday is the time for pancakes, flapjacks or flannel cakes. To make this food, you need eggs and eggs are plentiful and a good buy as prices continue to decline. Sausage is a perfect partner for pancakes and a bargain also, as quality is high and prices quite reasonable. Ash Wednesday follows right on the heels of Shrove Tuesday, and with this day Lent begins. The Lenten season means changes in menus in many homes, but all local markets are filled with many excellent foods that will fit into days when meat is not allowed and vegetables have the spotlight for the day.

With winter producing areas recovering from the freezes they have suffered, fresh vegetable supplies continue to increase. Broccoli, endive, escarole, celery, radishes, spinach, green onions, tomatoes, snap beans and beets are all good choices this week-end. True, prices are a bit higher than they were at this time last year, but they are lower than they have been in the past few weeks. Carrots, sweet potatoes, white potatoes, mushrooms and onions continue to be excellent buys as they have for weeks. To help round out your vegetable supply, be sure to check the abundant supplies of canned corn, peas and tomatoes, and frozen french-fried potatoes, lima beans, corn and peas.

According to reports, ample apple supplies are in storage for continued attractive buys on this fresh fruit. Other good fresh fruit selections include hothouse rhubarb, Emperor grapes, Anjou pears, avocados, bananas, and strawberries. Processed fruits in good supply include canned cherries, plums, applesauce, cling peaches, pineapples, and fruit cocktail, and frozen strawberries and cherries.

Retail meat prices remain rather high. However, specials bring prices down and make it possible to stay within your food budget. Look for good buys on pork loin roasts and chops, sausage, bacon and hams. Steaks, chuck roasts and ground beef are good choices in beef, and a number of stores are featuring leg-of-lamb again this week.

Broilers continue to be reasonable. Marketings in the next few weeks should run 6 to 8 per cent greater than a year ago. Turkeys remain a relatively economical choice also.

Greenwood Scouts and Explorers hold parents night in celebration of National Boy Scout Week.

The week of Feb. 7 to 13, was a busy one for the members of Greenwood Scout Troop 242 and Explorer Post 242. During this week each scout made a special effort to do a good deed each day, and many of us in the community were recipients of these good deeds.

Saturday, Scouts Jim Power and John Hollis, along with Explorers Craig Prettyman and Phil Cannon and Scoutmaster and Explorer Advisor Earl O'Bier, participated in a two hour radio program. This program was in commemoration of Scout Week and allowed Scouts from the entire county to report on activities of the past year.

Monday night, Feb. 11, the parents night was held in the Greenwood Fire Hall. The program opened with the Scout Investiture ceremony. Terry Bowden and Larry Hollis were invested and received their tenderfoot badges. This was followed by an Explorer induction ceremony for all of the boys that have entered Exploring since summer. A court of honor was held for presentation of two awards. The Scouts of Troop 242 received First Class Scout rank. Steve was also appointed senior patrol leader. Tommy Cannon and Terry Collision were advanced to second class Scouts. The firemanship merit badge was presented to Tommy Elliott, George Eskridge, Gregory Fleischauer, John Hollis, Jim Power, Frank Spence, Steve Willey and Jim Yeako. Jim Yeako was recently elected a patrol leader and received his two green bars.

From the Post, Jeffery Smith advanced to Star rank and the following members received merit badges: Phil Cannon, first aid; Robert Cannon, first aid, swimming and rowing; Larry Cannon, rowing, life saving and pioneering; David Churilla, first aid; Charles Elliott, canoeing; Billy Fleischauer, swimming, rowing, lifesaving, wild life management, and automobile; Gerald Jones, wildlife management; Craig Prettyman, wildlife management, first aid and firemanship; Jeffery Smith, life saving, and first aid; Larry Spence, automobile; Freddie Webb and Dewey Whitmore, first aid.

Thursday night, Post President Larry Spence, vice president, Larry Cannon and cabinet representative, Charles Elliott Jr., along with Troop Senior Patrol Leader Steve Willey, Patrol Leader Jim Yeako and assistant patrol leader, Tommy Elliott, were dinner guests of the Greenwood Kiwanis Club, which sponsors these two fine youth organizations. Kiwanis Arthur Tatman, serves as scout institutional representative and Lewis Mills and Willard Thompson are committeemen. The committee treasurer Medford Calhoun, was unable to be with us. After the dinner, the Scouts and Explorers gave a citizenship ceremony, then formed a discussion panel, with Explorer advisor and Scoutmaster, Earl T. O'Bier, as moderator to review with the club their many activities of the past year and expressed their appreciation for the help and support they have received.

F. Greenley, Starkey Scalp Wi-Hi Indians

Harrington High School's wrestling team ran into a series of bad breaks that made a team win impossible, but Fred Greenley and Louis Starkey were very impressive in pinning their foes at Wicomico High, Salisbury, Wednesday night.

The two teams had been rated as almost even on the strength of matches against mutual opponents. The first bad break suffered by the Lions came when the teams' scales were broken. Unable to keep an accurate check on their weights, some of the Lions were unable to make the weight limits at Salisbury.

The second mishap occurred when the team bus threw a left front tire at Seaford. Only a superb bit of chaffering by Coach Mike Mock kept the vehicle on the road. A substitute bus from Harrington was called and the team arrived an hour late. It is also reasonable to surmise that some of the youths were unsettled by the events.

Last, two Lions were ailing with muscular troubles and one was weakened by a recent attack of influenza.

In spite of all these adversities, the locals put up a good show and lost four other bouts by narrow decisions.

Fred Greenley, in our opinion, is the Lion best versed in the holds. Against a rugged Indian named Gibbons, Fred was speedy all the way. Almost every time the Marylander moved the local had the correct counter-move ready. The win by a fall in the 123 pound class gave H.H.S. its first win after losing the first three bouts.

George Bonniwell, a recent returnee, gave away several pounds in the 130 pound class. He fell behind in the early going but dominated the match in the late stages. Bonniwell lost 4-3 against a very strong rival.

George Jerred and Gayle Fry lost 6-5 and 5-3 in the 141 and 183 pound divisions, respectively. Their matches were carbon copies of the 130 pound match. The Lions lost points at the start, but later got organized and had their opponents reeling at the end. Fry tossed his foe into the referee at one stage of the contest and rendered the arbiter hors-de-combat for a few minutes. When the final buzzer sounded Gayle was in by far the best shape of the trio.

Lewis Starkey approached his foe like a snake after a rabbit. The Lion fans were buzzing with excitement. This was what some of them "come for." The Harrington strong boy fenced with his tough-looking adversary for about a minute, then got the hold he wanted, kept the heat on continuously until the burly Indian was glued to the canvas for the count.

Starkey has won something like 15 consecutive starts, mostly pins, over the last two years. Tonight at Tower Hill School, Wilmington, the Lions will wrestle in the Independent Schools Wrestling Tournament. The first round starts at 5:30 and the second round at 7:30. The finals will be contested on Saturday.

First, second and third place finishers will qualify for the state championship meet to be held at the University of Delaware in March.

A limited number of matmen can compete in this weekend's tourney. Coach Mock, with the aid of some fast maneuvering, managed to get his entire 12-man varsity in the meet.

Felton Beats H.H.S., Retains Loop Lead

The Felton High Green Devils basketball varsity remained in first place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference by knocking off Harrington 62-47 in a game played here Tuesday night. The Lions made a much better showing this time than they did in a previous encounter at Felton. The consensus around town the day after the game seems to be that the Green Devils are better than the Lions, but had the arbiters been more capable than those we were blessed with Tuesday night the final score might well have been closer.

The Lions grabbed a one point lead at the end of the first quarter but Felton dominated the scoring for the balance of the game.

Tom Williams paced the victors with 16 points. Other double-figure scorers were Dave Wood (14), George Reible (14), Jim Elliott (10). Williams is in fifth place in the loop scoring race with 155 points in 11 games. He has played one less game than the four men ahead of him. His average per game is second best in the league. Wood is tied for 11th and Reible is in a deadlock for 20th.

Barry Fry, Wayne Collison and Bill Adams led the losers in scoring with 12, 11, and 10 points respectively. Jeff Adams is eighth in Henlopen Conference scoring with 145 points. Bill is 23rd with 118 points.

Girls' Biddy Basketball

Saturday morning at the field house the Girls' Biddy Basketball teams started their season, after a weeks delay due to the flu.

Only two games were played as the H.H.S. Jayvee boys had a game scheduled earlier in the morning, which caused the girls to get a late start.

The Red Lions, coached by M. Tucker, was bested by the Cubettes, coached by Walls, 7-6 in a tight contest.

Tillie Kukulka with 4 points and Bonnie Hopkins, with 2 points, paced the losers in scoring. Cindy Kohel was high with 3 points and Denise Callaway and Debbie Reed 2 points apiece for the winners.

The Jetsons, coached by L. Wheeler, beat the Blue Birds, coached by J. Harrington, 14-4.

Judy Melvin had a good day as she hit for five field goals for 10 points, and Nancy Broce scored 4 points for the winners. Knox was the only scorer for the losers, making all 4 points.

The girls are improving on defensive tactics and with a little more experience, these girls will make a good strong Jayvee team in the future.

The games are played on the half courts, which enable four teams to play at once. There is four games scheduled for Saturday, to begin at 10 o'clock.

Delaware Park Gets New Ass't. General Manager

In the first step to strengthen in depth the Delaware Park organization, which has rolled along successfully since the establishment of the track, E. T. (Ted) McLean was named assistant general manager. The announcement was made by Donald P. Ross, president, who said:

"We opened Delaware Park in 1937 and many of the men now up our departments started with us at that time. Bryan Field who became general manager in 1944, came with us in 1939. It is only correct that we should have in training a competent person like E. T. McLean, as no one can tell what will happen as the years unfold. At least three of our present department heads began employment in 1937 and, in due course, we will name assistants for them."

Greenwood Coasts To Delmar Win

The winless Delmar Wildcats were in the game for only one period as Carl Baker's Foresters romped to an easy 63-42 victory in a Friday night contest at Greenwood. The third place Foresters got another hot performance from Bob Wright, who led all scorers with 20 points. The Henry brothers, Bruce and David, added another 29 tallies between them.

Delmar did fairly well in the field goal department but a big 25-12 Greenwood edge from the charity stripe salted away the Forester's sixth victory in eleven Henlopen Conference tilts. The winners were without the services of Farmington's Jim Vincent, who was injured in the Felton game.

Earlier in the year the Foresters almost upset the Mustangs at Greenwood. Tuesday night's game at Bridgeville wasn't quite as close as the first one but nevertheless Greenwood stayed near enough to the eventual winners to keep them honest.

Foster Flint, of the Mustangs and Bruce Henry, of the Foresters, tied for game scoring honors with 20 points each. Flint has 228 points in 12 games to lead all scorers in the league. Henry has 165 and is only one point behind second-place Wayne Mitchell of Rehoboth. Bob Wright had 10 tallies for Greenwood. Wright has 132 points in 10 games. He has one of the highest per game averages in the conference.

Lion Cagers Lose At Bridgeville

When Bridgeville High School's basketball Mustangs played at Harrington a few weeks ago, the Lions stayed with them for three periods only to lose the game with a bad fourth quarter. At Bridgeville Friday night, the same thing happened except that the locals had a weak third stanza. The Mustangs leading by only 30-23 at halftime scored a big 20 points and held the Lions to 9 and that was the ball game. Harrington had a 10-9 fourth quarter advantage.

League scoring leader Foster Flint, was game high scorer with 22 points. Bill Adams led the Lions with eight field goals for sixteen points. The younger Adams has regained his scoring touch and in this contest hit several shots from near the corners. Barry Fry was second high Lion with ten points. Though Fry and Bill Adams were blanked from the free throw line, the locals still managed a 6-5 edge in that category.

Colts Down Guards, 96-83

The Colts of the Seaford men's basketball league beat the local Guard team at the Harrington Armory last Thursday night 96 to 86.

Seaford was paced by former first team all-stater, Benny Sirman, of Laurel High School and William. Sirman ripped the cords for 30 tallies and Smith had 24 markers, followed closely by R. Smith with 18 points, and Wheatley and Sutton, 12 each.

Harrington was paced by Sheldon Hayman and George Collins with 34 and 18 points respectively. Henry Nutter and George Langford also hit the double figures with 12 and 10 points respectively.

After trailing 32 to 20 at the end of the first quarter, Harrington rallied and tied the score at 48 all at halftime. They were outscored 48 to 38 in the second half.

This was a very good effort on the part of the local boys considering the calibre of ball players they were up against.

Fish & Game News

Bombay Hook Wildlife Refuge has dramatically affected waterfowl shooting in Delaware. Bordered by the Delaware River and Bay the 14,000 acres of marshes, upland and several man-made freshwater pools is an attractive resting and feeding place for thousands of ducks and geese traveling the Atlantic Flyway spring and fall.

Private landowners within a 20-mile radius of the Hook in constructing farm ponds have developed, through judicious management, some very fine goose shooting.

The potential of this vital link in the chain of refuges that protect the future existence of the Atlantic Flyway is becoming more evident each year.

In 1956 over 700 acres of the Refuge were opened to the bow and arrow deer hunters. Opening an area to the public where the greatest concentration of Delaware only big game was the beginning of public hunting at Bombay Hook.

In other parts of the country—at Mattamuskeet in North Carolina and Brantwine, in New Jersey, for example—refuges have been opened to public hunting under controlled conditions. This has been done under the federal policy of permitting multiple-purpose public use to the extent that it does not interfere with the primary purpose of the refuge—the preservation of waterfowl and waterfowl habitat. The increased use of all wildlife refuges for public recreation is a real fact brought on by expanding human populations.

Refuge at Primehook Governor Elbert N. Carvel has requested that a public meeting be scheduled for the purpose of discussing a proposal that the United States government assume control of an area in the Primehook region for the conduct of a conservation program.

The Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, in co-operation with the Governor's request, has scheduled this meeting for 2 p. m., Thurs., Feb. 21, at the Milford Lakeview High School. Interested persons are urged to attend this meeting.

Delaware's 1963 freshwater trout season open Fri., April 12. Our state has been allotted 20,000 9-inch rainbows from the federal hatchery in western Pennsylvania.

White Clay, Pike, Mill and Brandywine Creeks will be stocked with over five thousand fighting rainbows prior to the opening day. In addition, Becks Pond near Glasgow will be stocked with trout. All sportsmen fishing Becks after April 12 will be required to have a trout stamp to fish this designated trout stream until further notice by the Commission.

The Brandywine Creek will also be a designated trout stream from April 12 until further notice. A trout stamp will be required to fish these waters.

The commission will announce the time of later stockings during the trout season which will run through Nov. 9.

All persons required to have a fishing license must also purchase a trout stamp costing $2.10 before fishing trout stocked waters.
