

Harrington School Board Adopts Changes in Its Policies

At the regular monthly meeting of the Harrington Special School District Board of Education Thursday evening, Feb. 28th, the Board unanimously adopted two changes in its policies. The first one dealt with transportation to athletic practices and stated that whenever practicable a bus would be used to transport students to both inter-scholastic and practice sessions.

A second policy was unanimously adopted as follows: "Membership fees for state and national school board association shall be paid from school operating costs for all members of the Board of Education".

Expenses of Board members desiring to attend the National School Board Association Convention shall be paid from school operating expenses provided the member has taken an active interest and has conscientiously participated in the activities of the Delaware Association of School Boards.

Any Board member whose expenses are paid from school operating funds at a national regional or state convention shall be prepared to make a report on this convention to the citizens of the community as may be requested upon his return.

Reimbursement for expenses incurred by school board members while carrying out official duties or attending meetings or conventions relating to school board or school business shall be paid from school operating funds.

A contract for a teaching position for the 1963-64 school year was signed by Miss Joan Collins. Miss Collins will graduate this year from the University of Delaware and will teach in the science department of the Harrington School next year.

Just previous to the board meeting, members met at the Building Commission of the Harrington Special School District. At that time a tabulation was presented covering bids on 17 items of equipment for the new Harrington High School which had been opened earlier in the afternoon. After studying the tabulation, the Commission authorized the purchase of the various items of equipment in accordance with bids and specifications.

Greenwood Alumni To Have Banquet

"Those Wonderful Years, 1903-1963" is the theme adopted by the decorating committee for the Greenwood High School Alumni Association's annual banquet and dance to be held on Saturday evening, April 27. Miss Donna Kay Wilson is serving as the chairman of the decorating committee.

The English Grille, of Salisbury will cater the banquet to be served at 6:30 p.m. in the field house of the high school. Organ music will be played by K. Faulkner, of Camden, throughout the meal. The Wilmington Piano Co. is furnishing the organ.

Following the dinner, a short business meeting will be held to elect new officers for the coming year. Mrs. Carl Schultz is chairman of the nominating committee. It will also be announced at the meeting who the recipient of the Elsie M. Willey Scholarship will be. The scholarship is given each year to a worthy senior. Upon adjournment of the meeting, guests will move to the auditorium for entertainment consisting of local talent. Mrs. Shirley Hamstead is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Concluding the evening will be dancing from 9 to 1 to the music of Bob Wagner's orchestra from Dover. The dance will be held in the field house. Plans are being made to include many songs that have been popular through the years from 1903 up to now.

J. Edward Hammond

J. Edward Hammond, 48, died Monday in Milford Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hammond, with whom he lived, Mr. Hammond was a member of the Harrington Fire Company. He had been employed at the Swift and Co. plant, Felton, for 16 years. Services were held yesterday afternoon at the J. Millard Cooper Funeral Home.

Construction on School Ahead of Schedule

The construction program of the Harrington High School is advancing ahead of schedule according to Charles Brohawn who hopes to have most of the building completed by May 1. In fact, Mr. Brohawn expects to turn over one section of the building for use within the next few weeks so that his workmen can start the alterations in the present high school wing.

Because of the construction this year both teachers and pupils have had to put up with many interruptions and situations that have not been ideal. It was originally hoped that all blacktopping of the school areas would be completed in the fall. However, cold weather set in before the work was done. The resulting mudhole between the main building, field house and shops has led to an almost impossible situation as far as dust and grime are concerned in the school proper. Also in spite of the barriers put up by the contractor, dust and dirt from the machine making plaster continually drifts into the classrooms and corridors. The continuous efforts of the custodial staff seem to have little effect on the overall appearance. This situation should show decided improvement with the coming of spring when the blacktopping can be completed and plastering is finished. The custodial staff is ready to thoroughly scrub, clean and wax all floors and items of furniture and get rid of the present unsightly conditions. The co-operation exhibited by pupils, teachers and parents during this school year is most appreciated, and it is hoped this co-operation will continue throughout the remainder of the year.

Deadline Nears For Chicken Cooking Contest

Only a few days remain for entering the National Cooking Contest, reminds Katie Thomas, Kent County Extension Agent, Home Economics.

Anyone eight years of age or older may submit recipes, which must feature young chickens of two to three and a half pound ready-to-cook weight. Entry blanks, available at the county extension office, post office building, Dover, and at most supermarkets, must accompany the recipes. Deadline for entering the contest is midnight, March 9.

The national cook-off will be held June 13, 14 and 15 at Salisbury, Md., during the annual Delmarva Chicken Festival. The National Chicken Cooking Contest is sponsored by the Delmarva Poultry Industry and the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Blaze Levels Kent Building

A small building on U. S. 13 near Harrington burned Monday despite efforts by three fire companies. Harrington, Farmington and Houston Fire Companies responded to the alarm at 11:45 a.m., according to Russell Blades, vice president of the Harrington Fire Department. No estimate was available on the extent of the damage or the cause of the fire. The building was formerly used as storage space by the Harrington Shirt Company, Blades said.

Council Studies Sewer and Water Codes

A three-hour meeting of the City Council Wednesday night saw that body consider amendments to the sewer and water code. The Council, holding its March meeting, met upstairs in the Fire House, instead of the usual downstairs room. This change was decided on at the February meeting.

Business Took no action on request of Lester Kemp for payment of $10 for assisting surveyor when the City was buying a dump some five years ago.

Took no action on request of Kemp for damages to sidewalk on Short and High Streets during street improvements. City Manager Al Mann said at this late date he could not tell how the walk was broken. George Graham, former city manager, said it was not broken at the time of street improvement. Mann recommended that damage complaints be made within 30 days after street improvements, but no action was taken.

Mann and Councilman Burton Satterfield will see Ted Layton on complaint of high curb and low sidewalk at property on High Street.

Printers Group Votes to Expan Project List

The newly organized Delaware Ass'n. of Printers and Publishers, at a meeting Friday night agreed to expand the range of its activities. Set up first to combat House Bill No. 19 which seeks to change the conditions for the awarding state printing contracts, the members feel would not benefit their industry.

Among the matters discussed was the trend on the part of state agencies to purchase their own printing equipment and other supplies. Also the methods used for making these purchases.

It was felt that it would only be fair to arrange for a cost analysis to ascertain if the state can do its own printing at less cost than a privately owned printing shop. It was felt that this should be determined before state and local governments made further advances into this and other business enterprises.

The members agreed to investigate the possibility of having the legal advertising laws for the state reviewed and put into a reference manual.

It was also decided that the association members work together in respect to credit risks. Names of those who fail to pay their printing bills will be referred to George J. Frebert, secretary, who will, in turn, warn the other members.

Membership of the DAPP consists of printers and publishers from Kent and Sussex Counties. President is Carrington H. Burgess, Harrington; Theodore Townsend, of Milford, is vice-president, and Frebert is secretary-treasurer.

2,000 Members Observe National 4-H Club Week

Delaware's 2,000 4-H club members are now observing National 4-H Club Week. These youngsters, 10 to 21 years old, are among the more than two and a quarter million 4-H club members throughout the nation.

Among the National 4-H Club Week (March 2-9) activities in Delaware are parent night programs, talks by 4-H members at civic clubs and special radio programs, according to James O. Baker, state 4-H leader. Some 4-H clubs have also prepared educational exhibits.

In addition, a state-wide 4-H square dance is planned for Saturday evening, March 9, at Capital Grange Hall, Dover. All 4-H club members in Delaware have been invited to attend.

On Thursday (March 7), several 4-H club representatives visited the state capital, where they toured the old state house, hall of records, legislative hall and state museum.

Delaware 4-H-ers participate in 30 different projects, Baker notes. Among them are foods, clothing, home improvement and beautification, field crops, poultry, dairy, livestock, health and safety, machinery maintenance and conservation.

"Four-H clubs provide valuable opportunities for both urban and rural youngsters to learn useful skills and also to participate in recreation, social events and tours, as well as awards for their achievements," Baker said.

Kent County Eligible for Area Redevelopment

Following the first Area Redevelopment Conference held in Dover, last Friday afternoon, Congressman Harris B. McDowell Jr., (D-Del.) said he was "extremely pleased and impressed by the excellent attendance and the interest shown by Delawareans in steps which could put the resources of the Federal Government behind local efforts to build strong economies in Kent and Sussex Counties."

Kent and Sussex Counties were declared eligible for Area Redevelopment programs Jan. 24.

Congressman McDowell introduced Harold W. Williams, deputy administrator for the Area Redevelopment administration who outlined the philosophy and operation of ARA programs. Other speakers were: Fred Eaton, special assistant, office of planning and research, ARA; Harold Brown, special assistant to the administrator of the Small Business Administration; Ward Miller, Jr., chief, northeast division, ARA; A. Heaton Underhill, assistant director, bureau of outdoor recreation, U. S. Department of Interior; and David J. Humphrey, field representative from the office of rural areas development, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Williams explained that while the initiative for development of a comprehensive economic plan must come from the community itself, the Area Redevelopment Administration and the Small Business Administration are prepared to provide extensive assistance which can be invaluable in the early planning stages.

The Conference speakers also touched on redevelopment programs which provide low-interest loans to help new and expanding industries; loans and grants for the construction of public facilities such as sewer and water systems; technical assistance studies and economic analysis and programming, and job retaining projects designed to help jobless workers to acquire new and marketable skills. Agriculture's role in the ARA program as well as tourism and recreational possibilities under the Area Redevelopment Act were also discussed.

In summing up his views on the conference, McDowell said: "We have been provided with a basic tool to forge new economic development in Delaware and with an opportunity to help create a stronger and more prosperous Delaware."

"There are signs of vigorous change in Kent and Sussex Counties as there are in the whole metropolitan band spreading up and down the Atlantic Coast. It remains for Kent and Sussex County leader and their communities to use this new advantage promptly and wisely."

Problems Sign Of Life, Peale Says

Norman Vincent Peale Thursday night, Feb. 28, brought his "positive thinking" philosophy to Delaware in a talk at Asbury Methodist Church here.

He discussed "Problems That Make a Person Strong" and told his audience any problem can be solved if one takes the positive approach and works on the soft spots.

The talk was illustrated with examples from Dr. Peale's travels and experiences.

"Living requires quite a little strength and courage," he said, "and problems are a part of life". He said problems "constitute a sign of life" and that this generation had better realize that they cannot be avoided.

Dr. Peale said prayer and spiritual thinking should be utilized in combating problems.

The speaker is a friend of the pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, the Rev. Olin Shockley. The pair twice traveled together on trips to the Middle East and Holy Land.

Dr. Peale is pastor of the historic Marble Collegiate Church in New York and author of "The Power of Positive Thinking," which has sold more than 2 million copies and been translated into 30 languages.

Heart Fund Campaign A Success

Rosella Humes, community chairman for the Harrington Heart Fund Campaign announces that, to date, the city and its surrounding areas have contributed $1,004 to the fight against heart disease, the nation's number one killer.

Special thanks are extended to the dedicated volunteers, who by contacting their neighbors, made an immeasurable contribution to the effort to battle this dread disease.

Of the total monies collected, the rural areas adjacent to the City of Harrington contributed $379.32. This outstanding accomplishment was achieved through the fine organization of the captains: Mrs. Alvin Black, Mrs. Melville Taylor, Mrs. Marvin Seenee and Mrs. Earl Anthony.

Mrs. Blacks' team of neighbor to neighbor solicitors were Irene Fry, Ruth Davis, Iris Brown, Jean Argo, Anna Stayton, Betty Brown, Lola Trader and Virginia Coady.

Mrs. Taylor recruited as her co-workers Mary Francis Willis, Bea Gallo, Janice Baker, Bessie Butler, Edna Mae Gallo, Ruby Venable, Mary Lou Wright and Charles Taylor.

Willow Run Ruritan Club Holds Ladies Night

The Willow Run Ruritan Club held its annual Ladies Night at The Wonder R, Harrington, Thurs., Feb. 28. The women were feted with a dinner and floor show, and were presented gifts by the members of the club. Following the dinner and floor show, a dance was held.

The members and their wives present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nechay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cohee, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Minner, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Nechay, Mr. and Mrs. Fewkes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larimore, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dill, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clough, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. James Webb and Mr. and Mrs. James Harrison.

The state's welfare program burst into flame Tuesday night at what had been billed "as a social meeting" of the Ninth District Democratic Club.

Sparked by Senate Majority Leader Leon E. Donovan and Rep. George H. Exley, the club president, and the blaze was fanned by numerous comments from the attendance with the meeting, which followed a covered-dish supper, lasting until nearly 10 p.m.

Senator Donovan, who seldom has anything to say, said more than he has said at all the meetings within the past year. A cogent observation of his Tuesday night was that if the state would refuse federal aid for welfare the number of recipients would drop in half. After the meeting, he mentioned the example of Indiana which has refused federal welfare aid.

In replies to questions from the floor, the Senate majority leader mentioned that about 65 per cent of Kent County funds went for welfare. He added, that if the tax assessment were raised, as it might be if an assessment firm from without the state makes a reassessment and its recommendations are accepted by the Kent County Board of Assessment, the taxes would double and the move would give Hare (director of the State Board of Welfare) more money for welfare.

The senator, turning back to the proposed reassessment, said it would cost $400,000 for outside assessors and that the county would have to borrow the money to pay them.

Rep. Exley, who applied the match to the discussion on welfare, said he was now going thru a list of welfare recipients, but he couldn't reveal names. Continuing, he said the "list is really surprising." The representative said he would make a report on it and, if in any way possible, will submit corrective legislation as soon as possible. He added he did not intend to wait until the last moment to do it.

Continuing, he said the family, as a unit, received the main attention from the welfare department and that there would be as many as 15 or 20, in a related group, receiving aid. He suggested a county meeting of taxpayers which do not include the Levy Court or the welfare department. He was not against welfare, as a whole, Exley declared, stating there were some persons who really need it.

In conclusion, he pointed out, "If I'm never elected again, I'll try to get this welfare mess straightened out."

The next meeting is scheduled for the first Tuesday in April at Farmington Fire House.

Dover Community Ass'n. to Present Concert

The Dover Community Concert Association, as the last concert of the 1962-63 season, will present for its members an evening concert Wednesday, March 20, at 8 p. m. at the Dover High School Auditorium, featuring The Lucerne Festival Strings, from Lucerne, Switzerland, a young group of master musicians which carry out the tradition of the famed Lucerne Conservatory. The group is composed of 7 violins, 2 violas, 2 celli, 1 bass and 1 cembalo, and all have attended the master classes of Professor Scheniderhan. The 10 men and 3 women draw their memberships from Germany, Italy, Sweden, Switzerland, Canada and France. Concertmaster Rudolf Baumgartner, directing the ensemble from his desk, will present a magnificently varied repertoire ranging from the classics of Bach, Handel, and Mozart, to the contemporary music of Bartok, Bloch, Hindemith and Martinu. It will be truly an evening of "Music for Connoisseurs."

Felton P.T.A. To Meet

The fourth marking period ends March 6, with two-thirds of the school year completed. The P.T.A. meeting will be on March 11 at 7:30 p.m. There will be a short business meeting. Afterwards, Joe B. Ewing from the Bridgeville Police Department will be present to speak on highway safety and to show a film "Signal 30". To close the program Edward MacIntosh will entertain for about twenty minutes with local talent.

Asbury W.S.C.S. Notes
The Asbury Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service met Tuesday evening in the Collins Building with Mrs. Fulton Downing presiding.

Mrs. Ethel C. Bull was leader for the program. The topic was "Prayer".

At the business session which followed Mrs. Downing reminded members of the study course to be held in Trinity Church beginning Tues., March 12 at 7:30 with the Rev. Charles Poukish as teacher. Also on that date a Day-Apart Service will be held in Greenwood Methodist Church. Mrs. Downing expressed the hope that members would try to attend one or the other of the services.

Mrs. Earle Nelson announced that she has an extra book for the study course in the event someone would like to take the course.

A district meeting will be held April 3 in Grace Methodist Church, Georgetown. Any member who wishes to go to the meeting may call Mrs. Downing about the details.

Mrs. William W. Sharp, promotion secretary, urged the women of the Society to interest other women in the church to join the Society. A 10% increase in membership is a goal set for all groups this year. At the present time three new members have joined the Asbury Society. At least 13 more must join to reach the 10% increase. All women in Asbury are sincerely urged to join in this most worthy while part of church work.

Mrs. Carence Jarrell, leader of Lydia Circle and her circle members served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

Do you use the "lack of expenses" theory in running your dairy herd? Some dairymen do, but the practice is deceiving and might even be robbing them of extra income.

A "lack of expenses" theorist, in order to keep expenses down, will hold off feeding concentrates and other supplemental forms of feed. It's true that feed costs are reduced but so is income.

The Connecticut DHIA recently surveyed the relationships between level of production and income per cow above feed costs. The study showed that net income was greater when the herds were fed more concentrates.

Feed costs per average cow increased, true, but average income more than offset the costs.

The study also brought out this interesting fact: feed costs per hundred-weight of milk dropped as the average milk yield per cow increased.

Is it not always wise to decrease feeding rates—unless one is willing to accept a decline in production and income as a result of this practice.

A fruit and vegetable storage cellar that can be used as a farm fallout shelter is easy to build using a simple plan we can furnish.

The plan calls for a reinforced concrete structure, cast in place below ground and covered with about three feet of earth. According to the office of civil defense, this type of construction offers excellent fallout radiation protection.

Original plans for the cellar-shelter provide space for six people, but the structure may be enlarged by extending it two feet in length for each additional person to be provided for.

Other features of the plan include ample storage space for fruits and vegetables, proper ventilation, electrical installation and an emergency exit.

Engineers of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state land-grant universities worked together to develop this plan.

You can order working drawings for this plan No. 5934 from the agricultural engineer, University of Delaware at Newark, or by calling our office at 736-1448.

Under certain conditions, east coast strawberry growers who use cold-stored plants may reduce first year production costs by delaying the planting date from March or April until June, the USDA reports.

In tests using Surecrop, Pochahontas, Sparkle and Blakemore varieties, June planting was made possible using a method in which dormant plants are dug up in winter months, bunched in polyethylene-lined crates, and stored at 30 degrees F. Here, there was no difference in yield, fruit size, amount of fruit decay, or crown size of strawberries planted in April or June, and less labor was required for weed control. With June set plants, irrigation is a necessity to get a good start.

Recent estimates indicate 443,000 horses stabled in suburban areas—40,000 more than are to be found on western ranges.

If you didn't get your soil tests taken last fall, plan to do it early this spring. The soil testing service at the University of Delaware's School of Agriculture can generally complete the analysis in about 10 days, depending on the backlog of samples. The service provides fertilizer recommendations where plant food deficiencies are noted in the sample. So it's important to get a representative sample. If you need information on taking samples, contact the county extension office.

The 1963 feed grain program is open to owners of several farms whether they sign up only one farm or all the farms they own, according to R. Harry Wilson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

"It is not necessary to sign up all farms in which you have an interest in the feed grain crops in order to qualify for payments and price support on one farm," the chairman said, "so long as feed grain acreage does not exceed the base acreage on nonparticipating farms."

The 1963 feed grain program applies to corn, grain sorghum, and barley. Growers of these crops may sign up to take part in the program at the ASCS county office. The sign-up extends through March 22.

By participating in the program—diverting at least 20 percent of the farm's feed grain base acreage from production into a conserving use, the farmer earns a diversion payment and an extra price-support payment, and he also qualifies for the regular price-support loan or purchase agreement on his corn, barley, or grain sorghum.

The price-support payment—a new feature of the 1963 program—will be made on the normal production of the acreage planted to one or more of the three feed grains in 1963. It will be figured according to the kind of crop planted, based on 18 cents per bushel for corn, 14 cents per bushel for barley, and 16 cents per bushel for grain sorghum.

Mr. Wilson gave the following example of how a producer with an interest in more than one farm can take part in the 1963 feed grain program:

"Suppose a producer has an interest in two farms growing corn, grain sorghum, or barley. He files an intention-to-participate form for Farm No. 1, and carries out all program provisions on that farm. On farm No. 2, he keeps the feed grain acreage (on corn, barley, and grain sorghum) within the base acreage (1959-60 average, as adjusted) for farm No. 2.

"Under these conditions, the producers would be eligible for all the benefits of the program on Farm No. 1. However, if the feed grain acreage exceeded the feed grain base acreage on Farm No. 2, the producer would be ineligible for any of the program benefits on Farm No. 1.

"Any other producers on Farm No. 1 who do not have an interest in the feed grain crops or any other farm would not be affected by the feed grain production on Farm No. 2. In other words, they would also be eligible for price-support loans or purchase agreements on their shares of the 1963 production of corn, grain sorghum, and barley on Farm No. 1."

SKILLED LABOR is the item rural communities often lack when an industrial firm shops for a new location. Most farmers and small town residents do not have the needed vocational training or experience for highly skilled non-farm jobs.

So the new vocational-technical high school for Kent County is coming at a good time to fill this need.

Industry also looks for adequate water supplies, transportation, power and fuel. An adapted building site is important too. The employees who come with the new plant want the housing, shops, churches, hospitals, schools and community activities they were used to in other locations.

New industries are moving into rural areas and Delmarva can help to attract the good ones. The stimulus of new jobs and new residents can boost local retail business and secondary firms to add to community pay-rolls.

And for all this, we must expect to plan wisely.

AMERICANS ARE SHORT on outdoor recreation areas but long on leisure time and perhaps money.

One way to relieve the mounting pressure on our public recreation areas is a greater use of private lands, especially farmland. A recent study shows there isn't very much public land left for use on the crowded eastern seaboard.

Some land could be state acquired by purchase, lease or cooperative agreement and run as private game preserves. Other parcels could be privately developed for profit.

It is no easy task for a farmer to turn his land into a resort. Money can be limiting, because banks are not eager to lend on untried enterprises.

On the brighter side, many farmers can add to income from hunting, fishing, and camping fees. Call us at the Extension office on the second floor of the Dover postoffice if you want more details on the way to get started.

HIGH QUALITY CERTIFIED SEED will sprout better and will tend to eliminate any need for reseeding because of poor growth. Also, certified seed is free of weed seeds. It costs a little more money, but the benefits are higher.

Many farmers are using the so-called "tillage - trains", whereby plowing, leveling, planting, fertilizing, spraying, etc., are done in one operation. They tow all the necessary equipment at one time in a suitable order.

The whole purpose of the "tillage train" may be defeated if bad seed is used in that additional tillage may be required.

We have a booklet entitled, "Delaware Certified Seed Producers." Call us at 736-1448 if you want to locate locally grown certified seed.

DOUBLE OR SOMETHING . . . Once again researchers at the Beltsville Research Center need several pairs of identical twin beef calves. They can be either purebred, grade, or crossbred, less than five months old, bulls or heifers preferred.

Scientists hope to buy them this spring within a 250-mile radius of Washington. They're needed for nutrition and breeding studies. Every year we seem to get this call, and once in a while we can supply the need.

PORTABLE AIR CONDITIONERS FOR SOWS — In the swine breeding program at Beltsville, Md., it is inevitable that a few sows will farrow on the warmest summer days. So the researchers out there have modified a room-type air conditioner to keep farrowing sows cool during hot weather. The mobile unit is mounted on a table equipped with wheels, and can be used to cool four sows simultaneously. During the two summers the air-conditioning unit has been used, no sows have died because of heat stress.

DAIRY HERD BUILDING IS A LONG TIME RISK . . . Follow a few basic principles to ease the job of building a good dairy herd. A dairyman must choose his breed and set production goals. He must cull closely to achieve his goals, as well as enroll his herd in a testing program and classify cows for type. Good records will help establish management practices such as which cows should be culled and what bulls should be used for breeding.

SUBSOILER LAYS PLASTIC PIPE QUICKLY—Farmers who plan to modernize their home water supply lines should consider using plastic pipe. With a new attachment, mounted on a subsoiler that is designed for a farm tractor, you can, quickly and economically install your own pipe. Or you can use a gas line operated trenching tool. The flexible, plastic pipe is easily worked and eliminates the use of expensive fittings. It has the same water carrying capacity as a one size larger steel pipe and reduces pressure loss due to friction. The pipe-laying attachment and subsoiler can be rented from some local machinery dealer or from propane gas companies.

"Jumbo" at Reese March 8-11

It's the 'big time', 'all-time', 'family time', entertainment of the year. Love! Laughter! Melody! It's Billy Rose's "Jumbo" with Doris Day, Stephen Boyd, Jimmy Durante, and Martha Raye and it's at the Reese Theatre for four glorious days, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, March 8-9-10-11.

Yes, jump for joy, it's "Jumbo." Undoubtedly the greatest opportunity to give the family the treat of a lifetime. It's the biggest, boldest, brassiest, bounciest, three ring-a-ding circus ever to pitch a ten in your heart.

An advertisement to be found in this newspaper lists the coming of Dean Martin and Lana Turner in "Who's Got the Action" at the Reese, Friday and Saturday, March 15 & 16.

Feed Grain Program Offers Farm-Income Protection

There are important benefits available to farmers for participating in the 1963 feed grain program. R. Harry Wilson, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today that they are income protection and reduced production costs. He pointed out that the sign-up for the 1963 Feed Grain Program now is under way, and he urged interested growers to visit the ASCS county office at an early date to avoid a last-minute rush. The sign-up extends through March 22.

The reduced production costs resulting from program participation are self-evident the chairman declared, since the grower takes part in the program by reducing his acreage of corn, grain sorghum, or barley, by at least 20% of the feed grain base acreage. Since he plants fewer acres to the three feed grains, his planting and other production costs naturally are less.

The income protection comes from the diversion and price-support payments, both of which are based on the "normal" rather than the "actual" production of the farm's feed grain acreage. The diversion payment is figured on the normal production of the acreage diverted from production into a conserving use, and the price-support payment is figured on the normal production of the 1963 acreage planted to one or more of the three feed grain crops. Both payments will be made regardless of whether the feed grain is sold or fed to animals on the farm where grown.

A farmer taking part in the feed grain program also becomes eligible to put his entire 1963 production of corn, grain sorghum, and barley under the regular price-support loan or purchase agreement. Last year, the loan was limited to the normal production of the feed grain acreage.

State's Bankers To Celebrate Centennial

There's always a lot more to any centennial than the historical event on which it is based. And the celebration of a Century of Commercial Banking is no exception.

Howard S. Wagner, president of the Delaware Bankers Association, said this week that, in addition to the observance of Lincoln's signing of the National Currency Act, the state's bankers are also calling attention to two other significant landmarks in the development of the present banking system.

These are the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 and the Banking Act of 1933.

Wagner, cashier of The People's Bank of Harrington, commented that the Federal Reserve Act, a comprehensive banking reform measure, was based on an extensive five-year investigation into money and credit in the United States and abroad by a special commission set up by Congress.

This investigation succeeded in pinpointing a number of serious weaknesses which had developed in the nation's financial system largely as a result of the tremendous strain to which it had been subjected as the economy rapidly expanded in the post-Civil War period.

Acting on the commission's findings, Congress sought to correct these weaknesses by establishing, for the first time, a central "banker's bank" and instituted a number of important changes in the nation's banking operations which were to be tied into the workings of the new Federal Reserve System.

Specifically, the new law called for the creation of twelve regional Federal Reserve Banks, and among other things required that all national banks become members of the system and keep a portion of their reserves on deposit with the Reserve bank in their district. As for the state banks, they could become members if they so desired—as in fact many have in order to enjoy the advantages accruing therefrom.

Under the new Federal Reserve System, five major improvements in the U. S. Banking structure resulted:

- 1. Establishment of a "warehouse" arrangement which made credit and currency available to sound member banks when needed, especially in times of crisis or panic when without such aid they might be forced to close their doors;
2. Creation of a new elastic Federal Reserve Note currency which expanded with economic growth, and contracted when the volume of business activity declined;
3. Inauguration of an efficient, nation-wide check collection system;
4. Provision for member banks to borrow from the Federal Reserve Banks when they ran short of funds to accommodate the legitimate seasonal needs of agriculture, industry and trade; and
5. Creation of a more effective means of controlling the credit and money supply of the country with the aim of achieving stable economic growth within the framework of our competitive free enterprise economy.

Carefully conceived as it was, the Federal Reserve Act has over the years fulfilled to a large degree the great hopes its sponsors had for it. But it, too, had some weak spots, and when these deficiencies became apparent—legislation was quickly enacted that further strengthened the nation's banking structure.

Besides giving the Federal Reserve System additional powers—for example, the authority to raise and lower the amount of money which member banks could be required to hold in reserve—the Banking Act of 1933 put into effect more rigorous standards of bank examination. Of greatest public interest, perhaps, was the guaranteeing of bank deposits through the F. D. I. C. in much the same way as the government put its own guarantee behind the nation's new currency in the Act of 1863. And just as with the membership in the national banking system, deposit insurance was made a matter of choice for individual banks. After the troubled times of the 1930's however, few banks wanted to be without such insurance. As a result, almost all of the country's banks are now members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and all depositors in these insured banks are protected against loss of their funds up to a maximum of $10,000.

Bringing the Centennial "progress" story up to date—the United States' commercial banking system, building on the sound foundation laid in the National Currency Act and subsequent legislation, is today better qualified than ever before to meet the complex and varied financial needs of our vast, diversified and expanding economy.

In sharp contrast to the "money factories" and limited-service institutions of a century ago, the 4500 national banks and 9000 state banks which today make up our commercial banking system are dependable and efficient "department stores of finance" that are fully equipped to meet the needs of our growing, dynamic economy.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Can you give me a breakdown on the veterans who hold GI insurance policies?

A—Approximately six million GI insurance policies are presently held by veterans. The face value of the policies approximates $40 billion. Of the policies, five million are held by World War I veterans, 700,000 by Korean veterans, and 300,000 by World War II veterans.

Q—Would I benefit by converting my GI insurance to a form of permanent insurance? My present premium is $3.50 a month for a $10,000 policy. I am 40 years old.

A—Term premiums increase every five years and thus become highest when the veteran is usually least liable to pay. For instance, on your term insurance you will pay $26 a month when you are 60 years old and $61.80 when you are 70. If you convert to permanent insurance, the premium will become $21.20 a month and it will never go up.

Q—In filing my income tax return do I list the regular and special dividends as taxable income?

A—No. Veterans benefits are tax free.

Adventure Out-of-Doors in Delaware

The Delaware State Development Department is currently distributing a revised edition of "Adventure Out-of-Doors in Delaware," an attractive six-panel, three-fold brochure listing all of the state's public camping, fishing and picnicking sites. The brochure also includes a chart, listing activities permitted at various recreation areas, and a map, pin-pointing location of various facilities.

Copies of the 1963 edition of "Adventure Out-of-Doors in Delaware" may be obtained by contacting the Development Department at 45 The Green, Dover. They are also available at the Game and Fish Commission, North Street, Dover; Recreation Promotion & Service, 1301 Orange Street, Wilmington; Delaware State Chamber of Commerce 1112-14 King Street, Wilmington, and the Travel Bureau of the News-Journal Company at Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown.

Day-Apart Services at Greenwood

The annual Day-Apart Service of the Woman's Society of Christian Service for Dover District will be held Tues., March 12, at 7:30 p.m., at the Greenwood Methodist Church, Greenwood. This service is one of the high points of the year in Dover District. The worship theme is "The ABC's of Meditation." Those participating in the service will be the district president, Mrs. W. Edgar Timmons, Millsboro, and Mrs. Ray S. Mears, the district secretary of spiritual life.

Through Adoration and Awareness, Mrs. Frank Lucia will do a chalk drawing—while telling the story. Through Bread and Belief, Rev. Muriel Smith will administer Holy Communion. Through Consolation and Commitment, Mrs. Perry C. Hill will bring the meditation. Mrs. John Hopkins III will be the soloist. Mrs. James Anthony will be the organist. Everyone is invited to this deeply spiritual service. This service is under the direction of the district secretary of spiritual life, Mrs. Ray S. Mears, of Seaford.

Fish Is Mainstay Of Lenten Menus

Now that Lent is here, many families will be serving fish dishes more often than usual. Miss Janet Coblentz, extension food specialist at the University of Delaware, offers some tips on storing, handling and cooking fish.

Fresh fish should be stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator, where the temperature is 30 to 35 degrees. Store in a plastic bag to prevent the odor from reaching other foods, and use within a day or two.

Frozen fish should remain frozen at zero degrees or colder until ready for use. Frozen fish steaks, dressed fish and fillets do not need to be thawed before cooking, but extra cooking time should be allowed for the thawing. Frozen fish to be breaded or stuffed should be thawed first for easier handling, but thaw fish in the refrigerator only long enough to permit ease in preparation. Thawing at room temperature is not recommended, Miss Coblentz notes.

To prevent fish odor from clinging on your hands, Miss Coblentz advises rinsing your hands in cold water before handling the fish. Hot water and salt or synthetic detergent will remove a fish odor from both hands and cooking utensils.

Fish should usually be cooked at a low temperature for a fairly short time—only long enough to develop a delicate flavor. Fish is cooked enough when it becomes white or creamy colored, separates easily from the bone and the flesh is tender, flaky and moist.

Good fish accompaniments are lemon juice, lemon butter, white sauce, cheese sauce and tartar sauce.

Trinity W.S.C.S. Notes

The program for Tuesday night's meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church was entitled "Lord, Teach Us To Pray," and was directed by Mrs. Frank O'Neal, Jr. Those taking a part were Mrs. Mary Williamson, Mrs. William Nichols, Mrs. Wilbur Jacobs and Mrs. Harry Boyer. Mrs. Earl Sylvester told the story of how "Praying Hands" came to be painted by artist Albrecht Durer.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Randall Knox, Jr. Announcements were made of the Day Apart Service to be held at Greenwood Methodist Church Tuesday evening, March 12, and Dover District annual meeting on April 3, at Grace Church, in Georgetown.

Mrs. Knox welcomed the visitors of the evening, and reported on the successful visitation program being carried on by her committee.

A resolution, honoring Mrs. Clyde Miller was submitted by Mrs. William Sneath and Mrs. Harry Adkins, and adopted by the Society.

Mrs. Baynard Smith gave a sunshine report for the month of February.

Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting by Mrs. Adkins and members of Esther Circle.

Kent County All-High School Band to Meet

On Tuesday and Wednesday, March 12 and 13, 72 Kent County High School musicians will meet at the Cesar Rodney High School, Camden, for rehearsals that will culminate in a concert on the evening of the second day, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

Those from Harrington are Donald Wells and John Greenhaugh, trumpets; William Knox, Jr., clarinet; Randall Knox, III, trombone; and Paul Wagner, tuba.

These musicians will represent the pick of the eight high school bands of the county who were chosen as a result of competitive tryouts. The result will be a Kent County All - High School Band with members chosen from Caesar Rodney, Smyrna, Dover, Dover Air Base, William Henry, Felton, Harrington, and Milford High Schools.

The guest conductor for this band and who will be working with the young musicians for the first time will be Eugene F. Gonzalez, instructor of music at the University of Delaware and co-director of the marching band.

Mr. Gonzalez received his B. S. degree from Hartwick College at Oneonta, New York, when upon graduation he was appointed musical director at Ottega Central School at Ottega, New York, at which time he was also first clarinetist with the Oneonta Symphony Orchestra.

In 1961 Mr. Gonzalez received his Master's Degree in woodwinds from the University of Michigan Symphonic Band directed by Dr. William D. Revelle.

Last summer Mr. Gonzalez was a member of the University of Michigan Symphonic Band when it toured the Soviet Union under the President's Cultural Exchange Program.

The tour also included concerts in Egypt, Jordan, Cyprus, Greece, Turkey, Poland, and Rumania.

The Kent County Music Educators Association, Melvin L. Brobst, chairman, is sponsoring the two-day rehearsal and concert together with the cooperation of the Caesar Rodney Special School District and the administrators of the county high schools.

Assisting the chairman are Edwin F. Englehart and Donald Banschbach, of Caesar Rodney High School, Harold Haines of Dover High School, Courtney Houston of the William Henry High School at Dover, N. Ross Evans, of the Felton High School, Paul N. Tearce of Milford High School, David J. Pretzman of the Dover Air Force Base High School, and A. Rodney Daniels of the Smyrna High School.

The March 13 concert at the Caesar Rodney High School auditorium will be free to the public.

Prince Bertil To Visit Delaware

Plans for the observance of the 325th anniversary of the arrival of Peter Minuit and his New Sweden Company to "The Rocks" in Wilmington are rapidly nearing completion.

State and city officials along with officers of the Delaware Swedish Colonial Society expressed delight that Vice President Lynden Johnson, the affable Texan, will come to the city to greet His Royal Highness Prince Bertil of Sweden and his official party as a gesture of friendship which has long existed between the two nations.

For Prince Bertil it will be a return visit after 25 years, and his sixth trip to the United States. He accompanied his father, Crown Prince Gustav Adolph and Princess Louise when they came to the United States aboard the Kungsholm, docked at Wilmington Marine Terminal and on that occasion, June 26, 1938 presented the black granite statue designed by the late Carl Milles to the people of the United States.

Crown Prince Gustav Adolph became ill, so Prince Bertil assumed the ceremonial duties. It was his first time in such a capacity outside his native land, but an act he was to repeat often in the new role which found him so efficient here at the 300th anniversary observance.

Not only will there be the official party with Prince Bertil, but a delegation from Wilmington's sister city, Kalmar, Sweden, will also be on hand for the jubilee, headed by City Council president, Artur Kaijber, and Mrs. Kaijber. Also in his party will be: Lars Schott, vice chairman, city council and member of Parliament; Wilhelm Peterson, chairman of the city finance committee and Mrs. Peterson; Bengt Fagergren, vice chairman of the finance committee and Erik Johansson, finance committee member.

From the Province and City of Jonkoping will come Governor and Mrs. Allan Nordenstam, who has been named official representative for the people of his area.

Accompanying Prince Bertil, who is a bachelor, will be Ambassador and Mrs. Gunnar Jarring, of the Swedish Embassy, Washington, D. C., Col. Gosta E. Tegner, aide-de-camp, Air Attache, Swedish Embassy, Mrs. Tegner and Allan Kastrup, general manager, American-Swedish News Exchange, New York.

At least a dozen Swedish newspapermen and correspondents are expected to cover the events which will be spread over two days.

Prince Bertil and his party will be extended an official welcome in Rodney Square, Wilmington, at noon, Thursday, March 28, before the official party proceeds to the Hotel DuPont for Wilmington Rotary Club's luncheon. There the Rotarians from Kalmar will be honored and Ambassador Jarring will be the principal speaker.

Following the luncheon, the Royal party and other dignitaries will proceed to the Wilmington Art Center, 2301 Kentmere Parkway, where Prince Bertil will open the Swedish Glass exhibit and the display of artifacts from the 300-year-old Warship VASA, which was raised intact several years ago.

A cannon from the VASA will fire a salute to mark "Kalmar

Day" in Wilmington just before Prince Bertil meets Mayor John E. Babiarz.

Officers of the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts will receive the official party after the opening ceremonies.

Also expected to arrive by March 28 are some 60 tourists from sister city Kalmar who will remain to participate in the official ceremonies Friday afternoon, March 29 at Fort Christina Monument.

Friday noon Mayor Babiarz and members of City Council will honor the royal party at a Hotel DuPont luncheon. Here, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel and his official family and members of the General Assembly will join in paying tribute to the visitors prior to revisiting Fort Christina Monument which will be designated a national historic site. State Archivist Leon De Valinger, Jr., is chairman of the ceremonies at the Rocks.

Dr. H. Edgar Hammond will preside at brief services at Old Swedes Church, which will receive a $2,000 model of the Kalmar Nyckel from the citizens of Wilmington sister city and the church will be officially listed as a national historic shrine. Following this, the Hendrickson House Museum will be officially dedicated.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies at Fort Christina Park, scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. Public schools in the area will observe a half-day holiday so that students may attend.

The two-day jubilee will end with the annual dinner of the Delaware Swedish Colonial Society, which will be held in the Longwood Gardens Conservatory. The Swedish delegations will be saluted there by Delaware and Pennsylvania Society members, according to Thomas W. Reed, president of the state group.

Consider Quality, Size, When Buying Eggs

"Are you paying more for eggs than you need to pay?" asks Janet Coblentz, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

Eggs are sold in a wide range of sizes and quality grades, but some are more economical than others, and a little thought in selecting them can save you money, Miss Coblentz says.

Most eggs sold in grocery stores carry a U. S. Department of Agriculture shield mark listing size and quality grade. The most common size are large, medium and small, although occasionally jumbo, extra large and peewee sizes are available. Quality grades are listed as AA, A, B, and C. Quality and size are not related, Miss Coblentz notes, and each grade is sold in several sizes.

To decide which grade of eggs to buy, Miss Coblentz offers this guide.

U. S. Grade AA indicates that, regardless of size, the eggs will not spread widely when broken and will have a thick, high white and a firm, high yolk. Grade A eggs have a slightly wider spread when broken and a less thick, high white. Both grades are very good for frying poaching and hard-cooking. Because of the very small air cell in grade AA and A eggs, they are most attractive when hard-cooked than are the lower grades.

Grade B eggs have a rather wide spread, a thinner white and a rather flat, enlarged yolk. Grade C eggs spread greatly when broken and have a thin, watery white and a flat, easily broken yolk. Both grades are suitable for scrambling and use in cooking, and both are just as good and just as nutritious as Grades A and AA.

Egg sizes are determined by weight per dozen, regardless of grade. Large eggs must weigh at least 24 ounces per dozen; medium, at least 21 ounces per dozen; and small, at least 18 ounces per dozen; medium, at least 21 ounces per dozen; and small, at least 18 ounces per dozen. The less plentiful jumbo size must weigh a minimum of 30 ounces per dozen and are usually sold in larger-than-usual cartons. Extra large indicates that the eggs weigh at least 27 ounces per dozen; and peewee size, sold in smaller-than-usual cartons, must weigh a minimum of 15 ounces per dozen.

In order to decide which size to buy in any one quality grade, check the prices, Miss Coblentz advises. Buy the small size if you can save 15 cents or more a dozen over the large size. If there is only a penny or two difference between sizes in the same grade, you will get more for your money by buying larger eggs.

If you are buying eggs mainly for use as recipe ingredients, you can save money by buying Grade B or C, saving the higher grades for use when shape and attractiveness is important.

Eggs should be purchased only from a refrigerated case and should be kept under refrigeration at all times. Unrefrigerated eggs marked grade A are actually grade B if they've been stored this way for 2 days. Eggs should be stored small end down and covered lightly to prevent absorption of flavors from food stored nearby.

To get best results when beating egg whites, separate whites from yolks and let the whites come to room temperature before beating. Cover the yolks with cold water and return them to the refrigerator to keep them cold.

Shell color depends on the breed of hen, Miss Coblentz points out. Brown eggs and white eggs come in the same sizes and qualities, and both have the same nutritional value.

Armed Forces News

Joseph B. Heath, seaman, USN, son of George W. Heath, of North First St., Greenwood, serving aboard the fleet oiler USS Shasta, recently returned from a seven-month tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

While in the Mediterranean, the crewmen visited six foreign countries, seeing Naples, Cannes, Genoa, Athens and other ports of call.

Henry R. Reed, radioman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Reed of 5 Hanley street, Harrington, is serving aboard the dock landing ship USS Point Defiance, part of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, which celebrates its 21st anniversary this month.

The force, with units spread throughout the Pacific area, was established in 1942. It landed troops and equipment on islands throughout the Pacific theater in a revolutionary scale of amphibious assault.

The theme for this year's celebration is "The Amphibious Force—21 years as Freedom's advance guard."

Army Pfc. Edgar L. Pinkins, son of Mrs. Ruth V. Pinkins, who lives at 11 N. Frouth St. Denton, recently took part in his unit's phase of annual winter training with other members of the 4th Armored Division at Grafewohr, Germany.

The training tested the unit's combat readiness and included problems in night fighting, communications, nuclear and special warfare.

Pinkie, a cannoner in Battery C of the division's 78th Artillery in Crailsheim, Germany, entered the Army in October, 1961, completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark., and arrived overseas in March, 1962.

The 23-year-old soldier attended Caroline High School and was employed by Caroline Poultry before entering the Army.

Delaware Food Market Report

Beef prices are coming down in many stores, reflecting big supplies on the wholesale level. Prices declined as much as eight cents a pound on some cuts. This plentiful supply is likely to continue throughout this year, since the number of cattle and calves on farms, as of January 1, was 103.8 million head, four per cent greater than a year earlier. This was the greatest number on record. Moreover, the inventory of beef-type cattle, source of most of the country's beef supply, was up by six per cent from last year. Cattle on feed on January 1 was 12 per cent greater than last year at this time. This all adds up to lots of high quality beef at more reasonable prices.

The picture is good for pork also, since there are more hogs and pigs on farms this year, three per cent more. But, the number of sheep and lambs was the smallest since the U. S. Department of Agriculture began counting them in 1867.

Broiler-fryers continue to wear economy price tags, no matter in which form they are bought - whole, halves or selected parts. Turkeys are plentiful and most all sizes are available.

Receipts of fishery products have been rather light. Cod, haddock and flounder are in fairly good supply. In shellfish, the best choices are lobsters, bay scallops and bay mussels.

Fresh vegetable supplies are once again picking up and are almost back to normal. Although heavy rains have slowed harvesting, a good volume of vegetables is now moving up from Florida. This is offsetting smaller supplies from other growing areas. Only a few vegetables are high. These are high priced vegetables as asparagus, loose tomatoes, celery and beets. Cauliflower leads the list of lower priced vegetables. Quality is improving and shipping ments are expected to pick up this month, weather permitting. For true economy though, be sure to check these vegetables: carrots, Iceburg lettuce, cabbage, broccoli, snap beans, onions, potatoes, and mushrooms. Good choices in canned vegetables include: beets, corn, tomatoes, and peas. Frozen lima beans, corn, and peas are fairly abundant, too.

Anjou pears remain near the top of the fruit list. Size and quality, as well as price, are good on this fruit. Other fruit choices include: apples, bananas, avocados, rhubarb, and strawberries. Canned cherries, appleauce, and cling peaches are in good supply as are frozen strawberries.

"Sports Odds And Ends"

Larry Pfeiffer, of Milford, is a brother to George Pfeiffer rated as the most versatile athlete ever to attend Harrington High School. Larry is a youthful 95 pound wrestler for the Buccaneers and recently surprised by reaching the finals of the Diamond State Wrestling tournament. He lost a decision to state champion Vic Piazza, of Georgetown, who is 18 years old and hasn't been beaten since 1960.

Gary Simpson, a former Harringtonian, replaced Milford's Skipper Jones in the tournament when his teammate and three time state champion broke a collarbone in practice. Simpson did a good job and finished second in the tourney.

Sy Slaatian, of Elsmere, married off a son last week. Slaatian was a professional baseball player, who was hired by Milford, to pitch against semi-pro teams in the thirties. We remember a game at Harrington in which Sy warmed up with a glove-popping fast ball. When Maurice Hall came up to bat some local no-lettermen in the audience shouted "Hey, Hallie, he's gonna strike you out." Maurice said "No, he won't." Hall had two strikes on him when he belted one of those smoke balls into deep left center near the soccer goalposts. It was a little high so a fast outfielder just barely got it in time. Hall came back from second base muttering "That censored can't strike me out." Those were the days when Harrington teams were very strong and were known for a hundred miles in any direction except east. Several area boys went into pro ball.

Felton Dumps Delmar 68-47

Felton tuned up for its Henlopen Conference Championship game with Rehoboth by coasting to an easy 68-47 victory over winless Delmar Friday night. Coach Joe Kerns cleared his bench as nine of his eleven players made the scoring column. Bill Green, Tom Williams and George Reible led the winners with 13, 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Green Devils lose only Tom Williams from the starting unit so they could prove to be even rougher in the 1963-64 season. This season's group compiled a superlative 12-2 record. One of these defeats was an early season upset by a mediocre Millsboro team. The other loss was to Rehoboth before the Devils began to jell.

Phakultee Loses To Girls

The Lionesses of H.H.S. devoured a tasty dish at the school Monday night. Before a packed house they downed a faculty team by a score of 32-16. The tutors, male and female, were a colorful group attired in platinum wigs and gay sashes. They used step ladders and piggy back rides but could sink only eight baskets. The losers' cheerleaders: Miss Johnson, Mrs. West and Mrs. Kirwan, added much to the evenings entertainment.

The game was arranged to help pay for jackets for the girls' team. It was such a howling success that it may develop into an annual event.

Officials were Jim O'Neal, Bill Minner, Sheldon Hayman, and Albert W. Adams. Faculty players were Kramedas, Hawpe, Mock, Brumbly, Santo, Fry, O'Neal, Testerman and O'Neal. Some of these people have colorful nicknames but we won't try to list those here. The girls were represented by Nielset, Walls, McDonald, Smith, Blades, Coady, Thomas, Brown, Greer, Jack, Hitchens, Bennett, S. Hopkins and D. Hopkins.

Warrington To Address Felton Athletic Banquet

Caleb (Tex) Warrington will be the guest speaker at the eleventh annual Athletic Banquet of Felton High School to be held at the Treadway Inn next Saturday evening. Letters and other awards will be presented to over fifty students as the athletes celebrate their first championship in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference.

Mr. Warrington is acting superintendent of the Ferris School for boys and a former All-American in football while a student at Auburn University. A graduate of Dover High School, he distinguished himself in all areas of athletics, especially football and baseball.

He was captain of the Brooklyn Dodgers' professional football team for two years and a scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers' baseball team. He taught a wide variety of subjects and coached in secondary schools, served as probation and parole officer, and won membership in the Blue Key National Honor Fraternity and "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." During World War II he served in the Marine Corps. He is married and the father of three children.

Guests of honor will include administrative officers, members of the Board of School Trustees, coaches, and faculty assistants. A total of some sixty students and twenty-seven adult guests will attend.

Coach Joseph M. Kerns will present varsity basketball awards to Tom Williams, gold basketball, four-year letter; William Green, silver basketball, three-year letter; George Reible, lapel pin, two-year letter; Jim Blades, lapel pin, two-year letter; David Wood, lapel pin, two-year letter; Sam Ludlow, letter F, one-year; Art McClellan, certificate; Phil Clark, certificate, Ronnie Draper, certificate; William Dill, certificate, and Robert French, certificate.

Coach Kerns will also present J. V. awards to Robert Reible, Ronnie Walters, Charles Hays, David Hoffner, Wright Saulsbury, John Sheets, Lloyd Shelman, Mitchell Godwin, and Carol Stone. They all receive certificates.

Mrs. Marie Hogsten will award varsity letters in girls' basketball. Mary Ellen Faulkner, captain and only senior, will receive a bracelet with a charm. Charlotte Wyatt and Louise Farrow, the two juniors will receive silver engraved basketballs. The following will receive letters: Sylvia Conklin, Rebecca Tatman, Faye Killen, Shirley Griffith, Hazel Farrow, Betty Davidson, Debra Shumar, Jean Poynter, Jo Ann Green, Yvonne Carter, Karen Cline, and Joan Wright. Patsy Killen, manager, also receives a letter.

Mrs. Wilma Wood will present awards to the following cheerleaders: Carolyn Warner, four years, medal charm; Ruth Weinberg, three years, gold pin; Carolyn Hoff, three years, gold pin; Patty Warren, two years, silver pin; Beverly Glanden, two years, silver pin; Joy De Mora, two years, silver pin; Ruth Gerardi, two years, silver pin; Peggy Kates, one year, letter; Teresa Stewart, one year, letter, and Sandy Stubbs, one year, letter.

153,183 Burial Flags Issued During 1962

The Veterans Administration issued 153,183 burial flags during the calendar year 1962... about 10,000 more than the preceding year when 143,260 were given out, according to Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office. In Delaware during calendar year 1962, 214 flags were issued. These American flags are used to drape the caskets of deceased veterans with wartime service who were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, or who served at least one enlistment during peacetime unless discharged or released from duty for disability incurred in the line of duty. Customarily the flags are given to the next of kin or to the close friend or associate of the veteran at the conclusion of the services, Mr. Fields said.

Flags may be obtained from VA offices and some 15,400 post offices in this country as well as from United States embassies, consulates, legations, and missions overseas through arrangements with the State Department.

During the past 12 years requests for flags have increased from 81,000 annually to more than 150,000.

Bader's Free Throw Nips Greenwood

Warren Bader, a senior reserve, sank a foul shot with seconds left in a nerve-wracking contest to give Harrington a 60-59 decision over Greenwood. The Lions had four regulars on the sidelines as a result of too many fouls, but the reserves proved equal to the occasion.

The Foresters had a 13-9 edge after the first period but the Lions' 27 point second quarter effort gave Harrington a 36-26 half-time lead. It was the most prolific quarter in Henlopen play Friday night and has to be one of the best Harrington periods in recent years. Greenwood had a good third quarter to draw within a point of a tie. Both schools cashed in 17 points in the final stanza with Bader's only point of the game proving to be the climatic one.

Greenwood finished the campaign with a 6-8 record in conference play and a 7-9 overall log. The locals were 5-9 in the conference and 5-11 overall after tangling twice with that Holy Cross buzzsaw in non-conference play.

Jeff Adams closed out his scholastic cage career by scoring 24 points. Bill Adams and Barry Fry added 17 and 11.

For Greenwood, Bob Wright led the way with 22 markers. The Henry brothers, Bruce and David, contributed 18 and 11, respectively.

Tom Milspaw, rebounder and floor man, Bader and Jeff Adams will be lost to the Lions through graduation. Regulars Bill Adams, Wayne Collison and Barry Fry figure to form the nucleus of next year's club.

Greer and Hugg Appointed to Regional Council

Two Delawareans, Miss Dorothy Grier, assistant director at the Henry Francis DuPont Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, and David S. Hugg, information officer at the Delaware State Development Department, at Dover, have been designated to represent the State of Delaware on the Northeast Regional Council of the National Association of Travel Organizations, according to announcement made this week in Washington, D. C., by James L. Bossmeyer, executive director of the N.A.T.O.

Hugg has served in a like capacity for the past two years while Miss Greer, who has previously served as a member of NATO's Standing Committee on Press and Public Relations, succeeds W. Murray Matten, former travel editor of the News-Journal newspapers, on the 14-member Regional Council. After presentation of awards, films taken during the last national Boy Scout Jamboree, at Denver, Colo., were shown. Various items of Cub Scout projects also were on display during the evening.

Lion Grapplers Pin Millsboro

Mike Mock's Harrington High wrestling team won its third match of the year at Millsboro last week. The Lions bested the Blue Devils 28-24 although each team won six matches. The evening was full of surprises as form went out the window. The locals were handicapped by the loss of three regulars, who were prominent in an earlier meeting between these teams.

A week earlier David Greenly and Jim Cain had beaten Millsboro grappler in the 95 and 103 pound classes, respectively, at Tower Hill School, Wilmington in the Independent Wrestling Tournament. In so doing they had qualified for the state championship meet. Wednesday night Greenly and Cain were upset by these same gristers.

Going into the fourth match the locals were still looking for that first win. George Bonniwell, 120 pound tournament king, pinned his foe but Millsboro gained a 4-1 lead by winning the next bout. Allen Breeding, who has been a javve competitor most of the term, won a decision at 133 pounds. When the Blue Devils captured the 138 pound bout, it looked like curtains for H.H.S. However, the host squad was unable to field grapplers in the next two divisions. This unexpected bonus of ten forfeitures points brought the score to Millsboro 21 and Harrington 18.

With three bouts remaining it appeared that Millsboro was home free. Lewis Starkey was figured to be a cinch for Harrington at 168 pounds, but Millsboro had picked up eight points here earlier in the season in the 180 pound and heavyweight divisions as Gayle Fry lost a decision to Jim Bender and Ron Melvin was pinned by Jim Layfield, the all-state fullback.

But Coach Mock unveiled some strategy that had been several days in the making and the locals got the verdict. First Gayle Fry had sweated out to 168 pounds. He replaced Lewis Starkey at that weight and pinned Campo, of Millsboro.

Starkey moved up to the 180 pound division and decided Bender although Lewis was outweighed by 14 pounds. Bender was third at 182 and Starkey second at 168 in the recent tournament.

Ron Melvin put up a good fight against Layfield and surprised the Blue Devil by going all the way as Big Jim had to settle for a decision this time. Layfield finished second in the recent Wilmington tourney.

The Lions are now practicing for the Delaware Interscholastics to be held at the University of Delaware next week.

H.H.S. Girls End Best Season

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High girl's basketball team defeated Greenwood here Friday night 30-26 and ended the season with a record of ten wins in thirteen starts. Harrington finished in second place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference.

Chris Coady and Nancy Blades were the high scorers for the winners with 21 points between them. Belton, Moore and the O'Days accounted for the bulk of the Greenwood pointmaking.

Beagle Wins Double Derby At Laurel

Muddy Creek Raider, year old beagle owned by Marvin E. Brown, of Frederica, won trophies at two meets over the weekend. The Derby is a special class for puppies born last year. Saturday Raider won the South Atlantic Association trophy and Sunday he won the Eastern Federation trophy for beagles in the 15 inch class. He now has been entered to run in the 26th annual derby champion stakes held at Stein's Hollow Beagle Club in Auburn, Pa., May 4 and 5.

her co-chairman, were unable to find volunteers in their area to share in the solicitation and therefore did it all themselves. Since the Delaware Heart Association serves all the residents of the state who are in need of their services, these captains would greatly appreciate their neighbors volunteering next year to give a couple hours of their time to help this worthy cause.

Thomas Clendening, captain of business solicitations, on behalf of the Harrington Chamber of Commerce, had the aid of Irene Outten, Madalyn Sharp, Edward Taylor and Charles Jerred whose able efforts resulted in a substantial increase from the businesses of the community.

Virtually all the city routes were worked by the same generous volunteers who have given so unstintingly of their time in years past. Namely: Gladys Hurd, Blanche Cahall, Lucy Jerread, Doris Albert, Marian Gunner, Rosalie Jackson, Anna May Travis, Harriett O'Neal, Doris Dell, Marie Callaway, Nancy Callaway, Jeanne Lee Anderson, Alma Bonniwell, Thelma Rash, Louise Aiken, Ellen Perry, Kitty Fowler, Frances Temple, Martha Smith, Emily Killen, Jeanne McDonald, Jesse Calloway, Betty Cain, Beulah May Simpson, Annabelle McColely, Hazel Hopkins, Dorothy Creadick, Ethel Stubbs, Jeannette Turcotte, Nell Clendening, Madalyn Dyer, Ann Minner, James Fair, Joseph Brinster and the Rev. Thaddeus Hackett.

Every patient who survives a heart attack or is rehabilitated after a stroke and every family whose child has been helped to recover from rheumatic fever or has had a child born with a congenital heart defect and helped, owes a vote of thanks to each of you in the community whose efforts and contributions have financed the research which has resulted in the discovery of medications, operative techniques and diet treatment. For many citizens of our community and state, the necessary treatment would have been unavailable for financial reasons if it had not been for the direct care provided by the Delaware Heart Association. Children, whose physical limitations would have prevented them from being accepted by any summer camp, have been provided with two weeks at Fairlee Manor Camp where the facilities and program are geared to their capabilities. All this, and much more is what your heart contribution is providing.

If your neighbor missed you when she called for your donation, won't you please send it in the envelope she left for you, or if it has been misplaced, send it to Harrington Heart Fund, P. O. Box 56, Harrington, Del.

Deadline Nears For 1963 Feed Grain Signup

"Don't think it over too long," is the word passed along to feed grain producers by Jacob Zimmerman, Chairman of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

He reminds growers who are interested in taking part in the 1963 feed grain program that filing an "intention-to-participate" form at their ASCS County Office is a necessary first step, and the signup period extends only through March 22. This gives farmers only a few days longer in which to make up their minds about 1963 production plans.

The Chairman reports that farmer interest is high in the state. Indications are that 1963 participation will equal that under last year's feed grain program.

1963 program is 20 percent of the individual farm's total feed grain base. For diverting more than the minimum acreage from feed grain production into a conserving use, the diversion payment will be figured at a higher rate.

In addition to the diversion payments available through participation in the feed grain program, participating farmers also qualify for a special payment on the normal production of the acreage planted to feed grains in 1963. This would amount to about $10.50 per acre for each acre of grain grown on the average farm in Delaware. They are also eligible to put their total crop under the regular price-support loans or purchase agreements. If the farmer wishes, a part of the diversion payment may be made in advance.

Chairman Zimmerman points out that participation in the feed grain program not only saves the farmer the costs of planting and harvesting acres of unneeded feed grains while guaranteeing a substantial income from his diverted acres, but it also increases the conservation of the Nation's cropland, continues the reduction of government feed grain stocks, and saves dollars for taxpayers by reducing the costs of storage, shipping, and handling the government-owned grains.

'Late News' Report Enters 14th Year

"Late News," an extension direct mail letter listing current insect and disease information for Delaware growers, entered its 14th year of publication at the University of Delaware's School of Agriculture on March 1.

The newsletter is written by Donald MacCreary and J. W. Heuberger of the Department of Entomology and Department of Plant Pathology respectively. It reaches some 1,400 householders, spray operators, dealers, and others interested in current control recommendations.

MacCreary said the next issue of "Late News" will be mailed about the end of March and for the succeeding 25 or 26 weeks thereafter.

The March 1 issue reported that Dutch Elm Disease can be reduced by controlling the elm bark beetle which transmits the fungus causing the disease. Control is directed toward the Recommendations include: in hydraulic sprayers, use methoxychlor (8 gallons of 25 percent emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water). Very thorough spraying is necessary to cover all twigs and branches.

"Late News" authors strongly urge that diseased trees be removed and burned since they become reservoirs for the fungus and the bark beetle.
