

Working Space Needed By Motor Vehicle Dept., Whitby Says

Russell W. Whitby, in explaining his comments concerning separation of the Motor Vehicle Department from the State Highway Department, said he was referring to working space for his department.

During a hearing before the Joint Legislative Finance Committee last week, Mr. Whitby said among other things, that separation from the "State Highway" would aid his department.

In explaining this comment Whitby said, "I know of no reason why the Motor Vehicle Department should not continue to function under the direction of the State Highway Department with whom we have had the most cordial relationship."

"My reference to separation from the 'State Highway' was offered in connection with working space for our department which is currently cramped to the point where it is most difficult to conduct our operations."

"The administration building of the State Highway Department, where our department is also located, is generally referred to as 'State Highway' which is the reason I used that term in my comments."

"We are using the same amount of working space today that was available to the department five years ago yet five years ago we had 168,360 motor vehicle registrations in operation. Today we have 226,286 registrations, including 'exempt' registrations in operation."

"Thus it can be seen that we are handling the files, making the records and maintaining checks on more than 60,000 registrations in the same space that was available to the Department five years ago."

"We are badly in need of space in order to maintain the work of the Department in the proper manner and this is the situation I was endeavoring to explain to the Joint Finance Committee."

"At no time have I had any reason to think that the Motor Vehicle Department should be placed under the control of an operation separate from the State Highway Department as it is at present."

Do Timely ACP Work Now, Says Chairman

Farmers are reminded today that now is a good time to plan or carry out certain Agricultural Conservation practices that can be done prior to the planting season.

According to R. Harry Wilson, Chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee at Dover, the spring season — when farm leasing arrangements are being made for the coming year, and before the heavy plowing season starts—is the time of year when farmers, including tenant-operators, can begin much of the conservation work they plan for their land.

The chairman points out that cost-share assistance is available under the 1963 Agricultural Conservation Program to help farmers with conservation projects on their farms, and farm operators are encouraged to visit the ASCS County Office to discuss their plans and determine whether needed program assistance is available.

In Kent County, he explains, a substantial amount of drainage and liming is done in the spring, and these are among the most important practices which can be approved for ACP aid. Other conservation work which could be carried out — or at least started — in the spring includes tiling, ponds for livestock water, irrigation and wildlife, and seeding for wildlife habitat. ACP, the Chairman says, is one of the oldest national farm-aid measures, being authorized by Congress in 1936 to help conserve and improve the Nation's natural resources on individual farms and ranches. Each year, the program encourages additional conservation of soil, water, grass, woods, and wildlife on more than a million farms and ranches throughout the country.

Dairy Herds Show Records in '62

Average milk production in Delaware last year hit an all-time high of 10,793 pounds of milk per cow, according to Dairy Herd Improvement Association averages reported by Dr. Wilbur R. Hesselstine, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware.

Averages showed record highs in all departments recorded except for butterfat percentage: 1962's 3.85% was down from 3.94% recorded in both 1959 and 1960.

A total of 102 herds with 4,124 cows were under DHIA testing, Hesselstine reported. Butterfat averaged 415 pounds of fat per cow, also the highest ever recorded. In addition, the 40.4 cows per herd was a record number.

DHIA records for New Castle County showed up higher than for either Kent or Sussex counties. Herds in Delaware's northern county averaged 43.4 cows whose production per cow averaged 11,568 pounds of milk and 448 pounds of butterfat. Butterfat percentage averaged 3.9%.

Kent County averages were 37.3 cows per herd, 10,542 pounds of milk per cow with 390 pounds of butterfat for a 3.8% test average. Sussex County had averages of 40.5 cows per herd, 10,003 pounds of milk per cow with 392 pounds of butterfat which gave a 3.9% tested milk.

Miss Delaware Committee Members Named

Michael Welsh, of Dover, and the general chairman of the Miss Delaware Pageant, has announced the names of committee chairmen who will assist in the selection of Delaware's queen in this statewide contest on June 8 in Dover, where $1000 in a scholarship and many other prizes are at stake.

Winner of the state competition will enter the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City in September and compete against 52 other beauties from the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada for the title of Miss America 1963 and $35,000 in scholarship prizes being offered this year.

The state Entries Committee will be headed by Bryon Dorman, of Dover. This group is contacting all Jaycee Chapters and other civic groups throughout the State of Delaware to urge them to hold a local contest of their own in order to be able to send the winner to Dover as their local entry. Dorman said that most communities do not necessarily have to have a large pageant of their own. Actually, a smaller contest held during a local meeting would be sufficient to choose a representative to send to Dover. He stressed further that there is hardly any expense involved and that the state pageant would bear each contestants expense during her stay at Dover. The entry deadline for the contestants to enter the state competition is May 1.

Paul Cataldi, has been named to head the Ticket Committee. Cataldi stated that tickets will be on sale in advance of the show this year and also at the door the evening of the pageant.

The staging committee, responsible for the actual presentation of the pageant, will be again under the leadership of past Jaycee President Andy Marsh. Marsh said that this year's theme will center around many children's fairy-tales.

Douglas A. VanSant will be responsible for the program book layout and the award scrapbook. Prizes and trophies for the contest will be under the supervision of Roger Orr.

Ralph Deats is charged with keeping the contest out of the red, is handling the Budget and Finance Committee.

The Publicity Department is headed by past president Thomas Holt, and O. B. Williams, Jr.

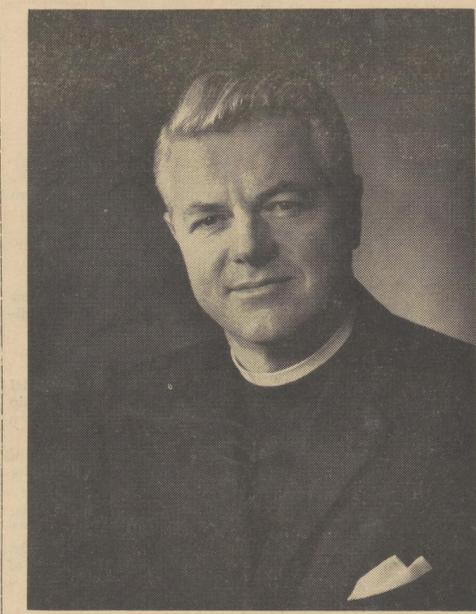

The Dover Jaycees, wives of the Jaycees, will provide the ushers and chaperones during the event. The ushers will be headed by Mrs. Thomas S. Holt and chaperones for the contestants by Mrs. Michael Welsh and Mrs. Jack White.

Bishop Mosley To Confirm Class At St. Stephen's

This coming Sunday, March 24, at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, the Right Reverend J. Brooke Mosley, D.D., S.T.D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Delaware will confirm a class of 16 youths and adults and will preach.

Bishop Mosley, who is known and loved throughout the State of Delaware not only by Episcopalians but by many of all faiths, received his bachelor of arts degree from Temple University in 1937 and graduated from the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., in 1940 with a degree of Bachelor of Divinity. His post-graduate studies consisted of three years at the University of Cincinnati and the Washington School of Psychiatry, where for two years he did clinical training for pastoral care at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Mentally Ill.

Coming up "through the ranks," Bishop Mosley, while at Temple University, worked as a laborer in Hillside Cemetery and as a worker in Triangle Cleaners and Dyers, Jenkintown, Pa.

Ordained to the Diaconate in 1940 and to the Priesthood in 1941, he served as a minister in various Episcopal churches until he was elected Bishop Coadjutor of Delaware on June 29, 1953. He became Bishop of Delaware on January 1, 1955; one of the youngest ever to be consecrated, Bishop in the history of the Episcopal church.

It would be impossible to name the various committees and offices that Bishop Mosley holds in the church. Of interest to all should be the fact that he served as a delegate to the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches at New Delhi, India in 1961 and is at present chairman of the Episcopal Church's General Convention Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Delaware Citizen's Crime Commission, Inc.

Those to be confirmed at the 11 o'clock service are: Harry Carlos Rice, Elsie Marie Rice, Hilda Jones Satterfield, Janet Marie Harrington, Frances A. Harrington, Richard Porter Hayes, Irene Walls Hayes, Quay DeBure Rice, Jr., Paul Wayne Horner, Thomas Henry Milsap, Joann Liska, Donna Lee Chew, Charles Allen Tribbett, Terry Matthew Porter, Connie Lynn Correll, and Kenneth Dale Correll.

Immediately after the 11 o'clock service, there will be a reception and light luncheon in the parish hall honoring the bishop and the new communicants of St. Stephen's. All the congregation and guests of St. Stephen's are invited to attend.

100 In Kent County Back Carvel's Stand on Prime Hook Refuge

A hurriedly called 100 Kent County landowners voiced solid support Wednesday night for Gov. Elbert N. Carvel's stand on the proposed Prime Hook Wildlife Refuge.

Carvel has taken the stand that the U.S. plan should be delayed until the public has been convinced of the need for the refuge.

Although no condemnation proceedings are being considered by the federal government, those present voiced fear and opposition to condemnation by either the federal or state government.

Two prominent Sussex Countians, Houston Wilson, Georgetown attorney, and State Sen. Walter J. Hoey, D-Milford, spoke in a meeting at Smyrna Elementary School.

Those present were mostly owners of marsh and coast land in Kent County east of U.S. 13. Some also were from lower New Castle and Sussex Counties.

Rep. Glenn Busker, D-Smyrna, said he was asked to preside by a group of farmers who, he said, called the meeting.

Busker said the meeting was called to warn Kent County residents they could face the same problem faced by Prime Hook land owners.

Only one man voted against a resolution supporting Gov. Carvel's stand. Theodore Horsey, a local area farmer, said the meeting was too one-sided.

Wilson said that farms along Prime Hook—one of which he owns — date back more than 200 years and came under grants from William Penn. In all this time, said Wilson, the Prime Hook marsh and beach has been preserved.

Wilson also said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has failed to present a promised plan to solve possible drainage problems in the area.

Wilson said he and four other members of the committee appointed by Prime Hook area property owners failed to get information from the federal government on its plans for the refuge.

"We deem this vital before we can say yes, or no or maybe to this refuge," said the attorney. Wilson also said taking the land would cut Sussex County's tax base by several million dollars.

Several persons said federal realty agents told them they would condemn land if they can't buy it.

Century Club Plants Trees

Inclement weather and gray skies did not daunt the spirits of several members of the Harrington New Century Club, two members of the clergy and two representatives of the City of Harrington on Tuesday afternoon as they planted two trees in the rain. The occasion was the placing of two pink dogwood trees at the north entrance to Harrington, between the dual highways.

Mrs. Francis Winkler, president of the woman's club had made the arrangements and felt that a little rain should not postpone the event. Mr. William Miller, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, gave the invocation, followed by a reading of the words of the club song by Mrs. Winkler. Rev. Quay Rice, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, gave the benediction. Mayor Fulton Downing and City Manager Al Mann represented the city. Mr. Downing and Mrs. Charles Peck Jr., director of the State Board of General Federation of Women's Clubs shoveled the earth in around one tree, while Mrs. Winkler and Mr. Mann did the other.

The trees, which are over six feet tall, were the gift of Paul Lynch, of the Del Mar Va Nurseries at Lincoln. Mr. Lynch presented the trees to the Harrington Club through Mrs. Rice, conservation chairman, asking that they be used in a beautification project for the city. The State Highway Department was most generous in supplying the site for the trees.

Club members attending the ceremony were Mrs. O. T. Roberts Sr., Mrs. Fulton Downing, Mrs. Joseph Konesey, Mrs. Quay Rice and Mrs. William A. Minner.

There Have Been Some Changes Made Time was when buses stopped everywhere. Some still do as they are dandy for local trips. But today there's also a faster kind of Trailways service known as thru express. Thru express takes you great distances without change and with less stops enroute. Many 200 mile trips are made non-stop; and very often a bus will travel 500 miles with only 2 or 3 stops. A Trailways Bus itinerary can be worked out to fit your particular needs, whether your trip is for 10 miles or 1000 miles; and you ride in America's newest bus fleet. SULKY SLANTS

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

After so long will start this little get-together again. Have had so many nice letters asking me to please start again. So here I go—

Was certainly surprised this past week when I was working in Dover to have a gentleman ask me if I weren't Pat Smith, that used to write for The Harrington Journal.

Or some would say, "my family really enjoyed reading your column so much."

So here goes a little news from our town.

Out at our track there's plenty of activity going on with tracks opening so early this year. There wasn't much time for the boys to waste. Most have kept their horses in tip top form all winter.

A few of our stables have shipped out for Yonkers Raceway, Rockingham and other northern tracks.

Others are training like mad to get ready.

With weather being so uncertain this winter it's been really rough going.

Del Manges still has the largest stable consisting of 27 head. Ken McNutt, Del's second trainer, is readying their horses for the opening at Buffalo Raceway, April 5.

Paul Vineyard, with 23 head, with his second trainer driver, Robert Frame, getting ready for Yonkers some time last of month.

Johnny Amato has 21 head in training. Mr. Amato also is training Herman Brown's horses.

Johnny has bought a very nice farm not too far from the race track. Haven't had time yet to explore the place. But I've passed by and it's really a very attractive farm with its white fences all around.

Knowing Johnny and Ruth like I do, bet there's plenty of pets around. In fact, I gave Johnnie two kittens to add to his collection.

Was over to Pat Hubbard's stable yesterday. Believe me, he still has 'Old Peanuts', a pony he had when his children were very young. Peanuts has the run of his stable, but never leaves.

For one thing he's too fat to walk too far. He's such a pet but still a little nippy.

Speaking of the Hubbards, they have a beautiful five-week-old daughter. And such a cut name, Teresa Lyn. And does Pat crow about her. Well, he should. She is a doll.

Lucy (Mrs. Jack Quinn) still has the nicest restaurant for the horsemen than any other track I've been to. That goes for Roosevelt Raceway. Yonkers hasn't any.

Lucy's old cook, Lizzie, isn't around this year. Lizzie being on the sick list this year.

But she has another as good. Louise was second cook last year. Lucy's crew is very capable. She is so lucky to have her sister, Dot, and husband, Paul, to help.

Dot tells me their best customers are her two grandchildren, Jimmy and Brenda Pollard.

Let me tell you, little Jimmy is only five-years-old but he can tell you the most fantastic stories. How a child's mind can wonder.

Why, he is even better than the little fellow on The Real McCoy's last Sunday night. He had an invisible pal from Mars.

Paul Ford has a very promising stable this year. Ford always with a friendly, "hello, Pat."

Was over to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Griffith's farm the other day to have a chat. I wasn't there long before I was taken out to see the new foal that was less than a month old. Mrs. Griffith was so proud of the baby colt, she just smiled all the time.

There's something about a new born colt that makes you want to go right in the stall and put your arms around them.

But don't ever try that stunt with most mares.

I used to enjoy the cards the Covingtons used to send me every year with an announcement of any new arrival at their farm.

Bobby Hobbs has such a nice looking stable. Always spic and span. And such a nice fellow along with it. Bobby never too busy to answer a question or two about this horse or that.

That goes for Sarah over at The Bridle Bit. Always greets you with a warm hello. If you're a stranger, you're not for long.

Another place is here at our general office at the track.

and get up, you can't miss these fast miles.

Kennedy, the harness man out here at the track, along with Paul, his man Friday, leave for Buffalo Raceway this Friday or Saturday.

Now for a little roam around downtown.

Took a stroll through the Rob-Wan Gift Shop yesterday, in the Quillen Shopping Center. This is just an attractive gift shop as any I've seen in New York. And I think I've seen most all them. Their things are just beautiful. Why travel elsewhere when you are gift-minded.

Was rather surprised too when I stopped in the furniture store to find that Mrs. Warrington and Janette are together again.

You can depend on her to have some very nice things in there. It looked so natural when I was looking all the nice things over. Just wish I had a home to put them all in.

Now the manager of our Acme store, Jack, is loads of fun. Jack, how do you get any work done? With everyone asking so many questions. As usual I can't find any thing.

Mrs. Phillippi, Helen Melvin will give us all help. And Mr. Draper, how do you keep up with everything we ask you to order?

Mr. John Holloway, you know you made that bank on the corner look good.

Mr. Harrington Sr. strolling up the street with a happy hello Pat. My, for his age, he really has the spring in his step left.

Reese having a coffee break at the track restaurant.

Speaking of coffee breaks, wasn't that Winnie Burgess dashing back to the office with coffee for all!

Mrs. Austin Swann, were you Easter shopping the other day?

I think Carrington Burgess, the editor of The Harrington Journal, looks wonderful. Such a happy smile all the time. Anyway, I know everyone wishes you many happy years of wedded life.

Guess I'll wander over to our newsstand and chat with Mr. Swain. Wonder what he thinks of me? I either forget my purse or don't have enough money with me.

There's always some other paper that's just come in or Harness Horse. I didn't think I'd ever get used to not having Mr. Jerread around. And we all miss him. But they say time takes care of everything. And Mr. Swain is doing all right.

Mrs. Paul Vineyard has a wonderful collection of her visit this last fall, so in time will write on interesting places. If people are like me, that haven't been there, I love to read about it.

For myself, I've been everywhere but not west of the Rockies. And why everytime I go to New York City, I get a parking ticket? I have yet to see no parking. You know they cost you $15 at that.

Was in Montreal, Canada, in February. What a dilly of a trip that was. But they didn't mind 2 below with 6 to 8 feet of snow. Was beautiful though. More of this later.

See you next week.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—What are the average ages of living veterans?

A—According to the Veterans Administration, average ages are as follows: Spanish-American War, 85; World War I, 68; World War II, 44, and Korean Conflict, 33.

Q—The VA is urging veterans who draw compensation and pension and who also have GI insurance to have their insurance premiums deducted from their compensation or pension payments. If I do this, how will I benefit?

A—The VA points out such procedure would not only avoid the chance of a lapsed policy, but also save the veteran the time and cost of drawing a check or money order and mailing it to his VA insurance office.

Q—What is the first step in applying for a GI loan to buy a home?

A—First a certificate of eligibility must be obtained from a VA regional office. These certificates now show the expiration date of the veteran's entitlement to obtain a loan.

Price Support For Feed Grains Explained

Growers taking part in the 1963 feed grain program will be eligible for price support on oats and rye in 1963 without an additional reduction in the acreage planted to those two crops, Mr. Wilson, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers. Since these two crops are not covered by the 1963 feed grain program, eligibility for support on oats and rye is not governed by provisions of the program.

With the sign up for the 1963 feed grain program fast drawing to a close—ending March 22, the Chairman wants farmers to understand the program fully, so that they may still have time to sign if they decide they want to participate.

Under the 1963 feed grain program, the participating farmer reduces his acreage of corn, grain sorghum, and barley by at least 20 percent of his farm's base acreage and puts the diverted acres into a conserving use. By this participation, he qualifies for a diversion payment, for a special price-support payment on the normal production of the acreage planted this year to one or more of the three feed grains, and for the regular price-support loan or purchase agreement on corn, grain sorghum, or barley.

If the participating farmer also grows oats and rye, he will be able to qualify for price support on these two crops in 1963 without any reduction in the acreage planted to oats and rye.

In other words, Mr. Wilson said, a farmer qualifies for price support on 1963 - crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley by participating in the 1963 feed grain program. He may qualify for price support on 1963-crop oats and rye without regard to such participation.

The Chairman encourages farmers to call at the ASCS County office to discuss the advantages of taking part in the feed grain program. He urges them to come in soon, as the March 22 sign up deadline is only a few days away.

CANDIDATES FOR NEXT YEAR

Who will run next year, in Delaware, will depend a lot on one man—U.S. Sen. John Williams. If he doesn't run, this forecast might undergo pronounced changes. While it might be a little early to prophesy, the politicians already are smelling the meat cooking at Dover and Washington.

If he does, and the Republicans are sure to pressure him to do so, his Democratic candidate will almost certainly be another Sussex Countian, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel. The Laurel resident is serving his second term in the office, having served his first from 1948 to 1952, and, under Delaware law, cannot serve a third term.

He has made no statement about running but observers have remarked that some of his activities in office seem to indicate he plans to run for something and the post of United States senator will probably be allotted to his home county. Furthermore, not many candidates will want to oppose Williams. Gov. Carvel, however, has never been undaunted by the prospects of a good scrap.

Turning to New Castle County, U.S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell, serving his fourth term, more than any other congressman has served in the history of the state, will, in our opinion run again. Each time he is re-elected his power in Congress will be increased. As far as politics is concerned, McDowell knows the directions so well the crows follow him to find the shortest way.

The Democrat can not afford to take a chance against Williams, but if the latter does not choose to run, it seems likely McDowell will have a go at the senatorial post. This would shift the battle for representative to the lower county.

However, it appears McDowell will probably run for his present post and retain it.

Turning to the candidates for governor, it seems likely they will come from Kent County, thus enabling each county to have a candidate and to balance the ticket. The name of Lt. Gov. Eugene Lamont, of Wilmington, has been mentioned for governor, but, in our opinion, Kent still has the nod. Democrats mentioned for the post in this area are Judge Charles Terry, County Chairman Vernon B. Derickson, and State Auditor Ernest E. Killen, of Harrington. The last-named, serving his third term, has polled high on the ticket since he does not hold a controversial post.

The Republican candidate for governor could very well be Attorney General David Buckson, Kent resident, and former lieutenant governor and one who served as governor a short period at the beginning of 1962 before Gov. Carvel took office, and after Gov. Boggs had resigned because he had been elected United States senator.

Killen's many years in politics, and his experience in state fiscal matters as auditor, as a member of the Permanent Budget Commission, and as State Election Commissioner, should qualify him for the gubernatorial post. Also, for our money, McDowell and Carvel are the best candidates for Congress.

BUSINESS METHODS

WHAT HAPPENS when an industrialist is encouraged to divert his talents from company to community? A very current example is taking place in Illinois where multimillionaire Arnold H. Maremont, head of the Maremont Corporation and several other giant firms, recently was persuaded by the governor to help solve one of the state's most chronic problems: the high cost of public aid.

What Maremont saw was a vast relief program tending to the needs of 425,000 recipients whose numbers have been growing at the rate of 17,764 per year, and biennial cost to the taxpayer that has leaped from $275,635,000 to $705,000,000 in the past decade. While other Illinois businessmen simply cried for lower taxes, Maremont decided to do something about it. He accepted the challenge to head the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

To begin the overhaul, he first established a special Investigation Unit, headed by a former FBI man, to track down fraudulent relief claims, misuse of funds, and other ailments in the system. He established programs to combat illiteracy and to bolster vocational training. Then, noting the explosive growth of relief families, he went to the heart of the problem and won Commission support for a program to provide modern family planning information and birth control prescriptions to any recipients asking for help.

Whether his methods are right or wrong, Maremont's positive steps reflect a fresh, business-like approach to civic problems. Today across the country, opportunities for new ideas were never wider, and businessmen everywhere should take note. So, too, should tax-burdened communities that want less talk and more action. Let's get down to business.

'Sodom and Gomorrah' At REESE

Bringing to the wide screen in Deluxe color the rich Biblical drama of the world's most notorious kingdom of sin and sacrilege, "Sodom and Gomorrah," is set to play at the Reese Theatre this Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, March 22-23-24-25.

Stewart Granger, Pierre Angeli, and Stanley Baker head a cast of thousands, with flawless direction by Robert Aldrich, "Sodom and Gomorrah" bids fair to be the most important 'must see' picture of the year. With every critic giving it 'raves' the New York Times goes as far as to say "You'll want to see it twice."

"In all of mankind's days on earth - no sin or spectacle to equal it," says Variety, the newspaper devoted to show business.

"Sodom and Gomorrah" will be presented at the Reese Theatre at no advance in prices.

Small construction contractors are now being added to the facilities inventory listing of the Small Business Administration, Edward N. Rosa, Regional Director of SBA's Philadelphia Office, announced recently.

The SBA facilities inventory is a nation-wide listing of small businesses and their productive facilities. It serves as a reference source for government purchasing agencies which award prime contracts, and provides information to prime contractors on small firms equipped to handle subcontracts. The list would also provide valuable data on small business capabilities in case of a national emergency.

The Agency defines a small construction contractor as one which is independently owned and operated and not dominant in its field of operations, and whose average annual receipts for the past three years, including those of its affiliates, did not exceed $7.5 million. Companies which meet these requirements are eligible for SBA financial and procurement assistance.

The facilities inventory is one means by which SBA encourages small construction firms to enter the Government contracting and subcontracting field. The Agency, in cooperation with Government purchasing agencies, also set aside $2 billion in Federal contracts during the past fiscal year for exclusive bidding by small concerns.

Small companies desiring to be placed on the facilities inventory list may obtain registration forms from SBA's Philadelphia Regional Office, 1015 Chestnut Street, or from the Pittsburgh Branch Office, 107 Sixth St. Forms are also available at field offices of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Veterans Administration, and the General Services Administration.

Information on firms and their facilities is placed on punch cards in SBA's Washington headquarters, and an up-to-date listing is available in the Philadelphia Regional Office.

Several vocal numbers will be sung by the Young People, and a free will offering will be taken for Missions. The service is under the auspices of the Commissions on Missions. You are cordially invited to attend.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa
Farm marketing patterns are making some dramatic changes.

From the consumers viewpoint, farmers are asked to meet higher quality standards, improve packaging, and prepare the products for shipping in more convenient forms.

Produce buyers now specify what they would like to have and the forms in which it should be prepared.

Farmers are specializing in order to reduce their unit costs, and to be able to offer produce in the quantities the buyer wants.

Mr. Moore is attempting to develop stronger market power through a pooling of effort by Delaware farmers.

There were 1700 slaves in Delaware in 1860, of which 205 were located in Kent County.

"The ABC's of Good Lawns," published by the University of Delaware, is a good guide to householders who want to groom a good lawn.

The booklet—Extension Circular 115—may be obtained from the County Extension Office or from the University of Newark.

With springtime here, lawns should be raked and rolled to level out places caused by freezing. Also, bare spots may be seeded and a new lawn may be planted if this was not done in the fall as recommended.

The recommended mixture for spring seedlings is 50 per cent Kentucky bluegrass, 25 per cent Chewings or creeping red fescue, 5 per cent Redtop and 20 per cent Domestic or annual (Italian) ryegrass.

Springtime is the best to get rid of troublesome weeds before they start growing and produce seed. In Circular 115 the following weeds and their controls are discussed: Crabgrass-dacthal and zyttron (Where crabgrass is a problem it is best to avoid spring fertilization).

Widespread use of pesticides in the home and around the farm has resulted in some farm people using them without due regard for safety.

These precautions should be followed to prevent accidents or other harmful effects:

Store in a safe place where children do not have access. Read the label very carefully mixing. Avoid contact with the spray material, (example: do not get the material on bare hands.)

These simple precautions in storing, mixing and applying pesticides should definitely be followed in the approaching months.

The soil test laboratory at the University of Delaware reports that more than 3,000 soil samples were tested in the period between January 1, 1962 and January 1, 1963.

Benjamin Webber, in charge of the laboratory, said that this figure has remained about constant since 1956, the year in which he became acquainted with the program.

The testing program is free of charge and is offered to any resident of Delaware. More home owners with gardens are sending in samples each year.

Recommendations resulting from the soil tests are made by the Agronomy and Horticulture Departments of the University of Delaware School of Agriculture.

Crossbred sheep produced as many as 27 more weaned lambs for every 100 ewes bred than did purebred sheep in an eight-year study conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Nearly 3,000 ewes were bred and more than 2,500 lambs were weaned during this study, conducted at Beltsville, Md., by a team of scientists headed by Dr. George M. Sidwell of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

The scientists are trying to determine how much production improvement can be expected from crossbreeding, the most desirable breeds for crossing and the ideal number of breeds to use.

Greatest improvement in production came from mating 3-breed crossbred ewes to rams of a fourth breed. On the average, these matings resulted in about 27 per cent more weaned lambs, weighing about seven pounds more, than matings of purebred rams and ewes of the same breed.

Mating of 2-breed crossbred ewes to purebred rams of a third breed was slightly less effective. Such matings produced 14 per cent more lambs, about 10 pounds heavier at weaning, than matings of purebred rams and ewes of the same breed.

Least effective in the crossbreeding program were matings of purebred ewes to purebred rams of other breeds. These matings produced only 2 per cent more lambs weaned, averaging only about six pounds heavier than purebred lambs.

Dr. Sidwell emphasizes that the success of crossbreeding depends on adequate numbers of high quality purebreds for crossing purposes and good herd management to capitalize on the advantages gained by crossbreeding.

The study is being continued, with Suffolk and Dorset sheep replacing the Shropshire and Southdown breeds, so that more crossbreeding comparisons can be made with additional breeds.

Delaware Food Market Report

Protein packed meals pose no problem when dairy products are included. Milk, often called "nature's most perfect food," provides about 30 per cent of your daily nutritional needs and, yet, takes only 15 to 20 per cent of the food dollar.

Milk and dairy products offer an excellent alternate for meat in meals. A quart of milk supplies 49 per cent of the daily protein requirement for an average man. One-half cup cottage cheese or an one-inch cube of cheddar cheese offers the same amount of protein as an average serving of meat. To make this all better, milk and dairy products are easy to use, convenient, and quick to fix and completely satisfying.

Adding to the favorable outlook for weekend food shoppers are increasing supplies and lower prices on fresh vegetables. Reflecting this up turn in supply this week, there are special sales on cabbage, tomatoes, lettuce, celery, carrots, green peppers, escarole, and endive.

More stores are carrying California asparagus this week, along with better supplies of broccoli, cauliflower, and cabbage from the West.

Supplies of imported fruits are also on the increase, and are expected to be a big factor here in the next five to six weeks. When shopping, be sure to check these fruits, pineapple, nectarines, honey dew melons, peaches, bananas, and seedless white grapes.

Prices are reasonable to low on many of them and they will help to pick up sagging appetites. Other fruits to check include strawberries, grapefruit, Anjou pears, and avocados. The meat picture continues to look good and there is enough variety to make every meal a delight. Meat specials for this week include Porterhouse, Club, and T-bone steaks. Beef roasts on sale include: sirloin tip, round, and rump roast. Chuck roasts are also low-priced.

Fresh pork cuts on special sale are spareribs, rib roast and chops. Sausage and bacon are also low in price.

In the poultry departments, Cornish hens are nudging chickens as good buys. Turkeys of all sizes continue to be an economical choice. Junior Broiler chicks will be distributed on March 25 and 26 to the twenty-five Kent County 4-Hers who have entered this program. These 4-Hers will be raising their 50 chicks nine weeks. At the end of this period a contest is held at Harrington.

The Junior Council recently presented a program for the Capitol Grange, Dover. Members participating were: Thelma Thomas, Marydel; Connie and Josie Moore, Eddie Bergold, Janet Clendaniel, Dover; Allen Metheny, Hartly and Louis Starkey, Houston.

Dr. William McDaniel, Director of Resident Teaching, University of Delaware, will be attending the March Leaders Meeting to be held at the home of the Jehu Davis's Milford. Linda Maloney and Faye Robbins demonstrated the making of pizza at the recent Millwood Club meeting. Then they served their wares for refreshments. May I invite you to become a part of these activities by joining 4-H. Contact a local leader or call Marion McDonald at 736-1448, Post Office Building, Dover.

Final Statistics of Juniors Are H.S. Cage Season Intramural Champs

Coach Bill Smith's Harrington High basketball Lions won six games and lost eleven during the past season. A most comprehensive set of statistics kept on each of the starting five players gives a clear picture as to the contribution of each Lion to the team effort. Strangely enough the average of all the figures shows that the boys were evenly matched in the caliber of their play.

Jeff Adams led in assists and in points. Adams nosed out Barry Fry in the race for the best all-around player. Fry led in shooting percentage and was second in rebounds.

Tom Milspaw ranked first in foul shooting percentage and in rebounds. Milspaw and Jeff Adams will graduate in June.

Injury Ruins Starkey Bid for State Mat Title

A healthy Lewis Starkey is probably the best 165 pound scholastic grappler in Delaware. The husky Harrington lad was prevented from proving the fact at the Seventh Annual Delaware Interscholastic Wrestling Tournament by an unfortunate accident that rendered one arm practically useless. In Friday night's action at the University of Delaware, Starkey was wrestling the Diamond State Conference Champion, Bob Robertson of Smyrna. Robertson accidentally fell on the Lion's arm, causing a pulled muscle. Lou pinned the Smyrna lad in five minutes and thirty seconds, but by the next afternoon his arm was of little use. Dave Bartholomew of Wm. Penn won a 6-3 decision over the crippled gladiator and was mighty glad to get off that easy as Lou gave him plenty of trouble. Bartholomew, the Blue Hen Conference champion, then went on to win the state title.

George Bonniwell finished third at 120 pounds despite missing six weeks of practice and competition during the middle of the season. Bonniwell, fifth in the state last year, might have been no. 1 this time if he could have been on the Lions' squad all winter. George lost a decision to Mike Kattes of De La Warr in his opening bout. Harrington has felt that Kattes should have been warned for stalling as he refused to mix it up. When the referee made no move in this direction, Bonniwell was forced to make all the aggressive moves. Kattes, a clever defensive wrestler then pulled out a close decision. The Harrington lad then captured his third place medal by defeating Ed Hershberger of Caesar Rodney and Elliott Workman of Georgetown, in addition to pinning Bob Dugger of Tower Hill.

David Greenly and Jim Cain were beaten in their first matches but both did well in defeat. Cain dropped a 14-8 duke to Lee Deputy of Conrad. Greenly, like Cain, a freshman, matched Paul Leary of De La Warr advantage for advantage until the Blue Hen Conference 95-pound champion managed to pull out a close 14-10 verdict in the closing seconds.

Coach Mike Mack's boys made a tremendous showing for a second-year team from a small school. Prospects are very good for next year with most of the team back. George Jerread, 138 pounds, is the chief loss. Bonniwell and Starkey may narrowly elude them this time. David Greenly, Jim Cain, Larry Garey, John Petrosky, Raleigh Davis are younger wrestlers, who did very well in their first cracks at the mat sport.

"THE ROCKS," WILMINGTON — This is the spot where Peter Minuit and his Swedish band on the ships Kalmar Nyckel and Fogel Grip arrived in 1638 to establish the first permanent settlement in Delaware Valley. It will be the scene of rededication ceremonies on Friday, March 29 with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Prince Bertil of Sweden participating. The ceremonies are open to the public. Fort Christina Monument will be named a national historic site through Department of Interior action and the Swedish log cabin, which stood at Price's Corner for many years will also be dedicated by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel. The Swedes brought the log cabin to the United States.
