

Veterans Day Exercises Set For Nov. 10

The participation of Delawareans and "our good friends from the neighboring State of New Jersey" in exercises at Memorial Plaza, Delaware Memorial Bridge Sun., Nov. 10, was urged by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel this week in proclaiming Nov. 11 as Veterans Day. The bridge exercises, traditionally held on the Sunday nearest Nov. 11, annually constitute Delaware's statewide observance of this event.

Patriotic groups, schools, veterans and civic associations were also urged by Governor Carvel to stage appropriate local exercises on or near Nov. 11 to give recognition to what he termed "the invaluable services of those who wore their country's uniforms."

In his proclamation, Governor Carvel traced the development of the Nov. 11 observance, pointing out that, as "Armistice Day," it initially commemorated the ending of World War I and provided a means of "paying tribute to the heroes of that tragic struggle." Later, according to the gubernatorial proclamation, the name of the holiday was changed to "Veterans Day" in order to expand the significance of the Nov. 11 observance so that "a grateful Nation might pay appropriate homage to all those veterans who have contributed so much to the preservation of this Nation."

Widespread display of the American and State flags on Nov. 11 was also requested. Planning for the Nov. 10 exercises at Delaware Memorial Bridge is presently being completed by a statewide committee of which Robert Tappan, of Wilmington is chairman.

The full text of the Veterans Day proclamation follows: WHEREAS, it has long been a national custom to commemorate Nov. 11, the anniversary of the ending of World War I, by paying tribute to the heroes of that tragic struggle and by rededicating ourselves to the causes of peace; and

WHEREAS, the Congress passed a concurrent resolution June 4, 1926, calling for the observance of Nov. 11 with appropriate ceremonies, and later provided in an Act approved May 31, 1938, that the eleventh of November should be a legal holiday and should be known as Armistice Day; and

WHEREAS, in the intervening years the United States has been involved in two other great military conflicts, which have been added millions of veterans to the honor rolls of this Nation; and

WHEREAS, in order to expand the significance of the Nov. 11 observance so that a grateful Nation might pay appropriate homage to all those veterans who have contributed so much to the preservation of this Nation, the Congress, by an Act approved June 1, 1954, officially changed the name of this national holiday to Veterans Day; and

WHEREAS, it is appropriate that we give our heartfelt thanks to those veterans who, banded together in various organizations, are leaders in proclaiming the American Way of Life and who continue to work for peace in the world; and

WHEREAS, Title I, Sec. 501 of the Delaware Code sets aside the 11th of November as a legal holiday in Delaware;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ELBERT N. CARVEL, Governor of the State of Delaware, do hereby set aside and proclaim Nov. 11, 1963, as VETERANS DAY IN DELAWARE an occasion for remembering the sacrifices of all those who have fought so valiantly, on the seas, in the air, and on foreign shores, to preserve our heritage of freedom, and for consecrating ourselves to the task of promoting an enduring peace so that their efforts shall not have been in vain.

I call upon all state officials to provide for proper display of the national and state flags upon all state buildings and institutions on this day, and urge all patriotic

Carvel Backs Drive For Muscular Dystrophy

Delawareans have been urged by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel to "volunteer their services and generous contributions" to the 1963 March for Muscular Dystrophy.

In a statement directing public attention to the annual M. D. drive, Governor Carvel has emphasized that "this campaign offers the only source of hope for many innocent youngsters, most of whom are doomed to complete crippling and death before reaching maturity."

The full text of Governor Carvel's statement follows: "During the month of November, the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc. through its state and national chapters, will conduct its annual campaign for funds to combat Muscular Dystrophy, a fear-inspiring disease of unknown cause or cure which has stricken nearly a quarter million of Americans, a majority of whom have been children."

"This campaign offers the only source of hope for many innocent youngsters, most of whom are doomed to complete crippling and death before reaching maturity. These children may yet be spared as a result of the extensive medical research program made possible by contributions to this worthy cause."

"Highlighting this year's campaign will be the March for Muscular Dystrophy, November 18 to 23, during which volunteers will call upon their friends and neighbors soliciting their support of this great humanitarian campaign."

"I heartily endorse this worthy cause and urge my fellow Delawareans to volunteer their services and generous contributions to the 1963 March for Muscular Dystrophy."

Fallout Protection Meetings Planned

Despite many sensational fiction stories, mankind will survive an all out nuclear war. While the dangers of such a war come and go, the threat does remain. And the necessity for preparedness becomes more important.

To help people equip themselves for such an emergency, the University of Delaware is holding a series of meetings on fallout shelter construction. Extension agricultural engineer, E. W. Walpole, is in charge of the meetings. They will be held in the Georgetown Agricultural Substation on Nov. 4; in the Dover Public Health Building on Nov. 5 and at Agricultural Hall in Newark, Nov. 7.

Included in each meeting will be types of shelters, selecting a location, drainage and ventilation, and construction details. The session starts at 8 p.m. and will last about an hour. There will be time for a question and answer session.

Pharmacists to Aid In Immunization Campaign Sunday

About 50 registered pharmacists from all parts of the state have volunteered their services to help with Sunday's oral polio immunization campaign, sponsored by the Medical Society of Delaware.

In each of the 41 clinics there will be one pharmacist to handle the vaccine properly and to process the thousands of Delawareans expected to turn out for the clinics. The clinics will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday for the distribution of Type 1 oral Sabin vaccine. Types 3 and 2 vaccine will be distributed at successive clinics in December and January. A complete set of all three vaccine doses is needed for thorough protection.

The pharmacists' participation is a public service effort on the part of the Delaware Pharmaceutical Society. The volunteers have been organized by Jerry Dalman, chairman of the Society's professional relations committee.

Each clinic will contain a complete medical team including a doctor, a nurse, a pharmacist and one or more volunteers. While the pharmacist is thawing the frozen vaccine, preparing it and placing drops on sugar cubes, the physicians and nurses will give the vaccine to persons passing through the line.

Volunteers will record the individuals who visit the clinics and will accept donations of twenty-five cents to defray the cost of the vaccine.

The frozen Sabin vaccine, packed in dry ice, will be delivered to the clinics by representatives of the State Board of Health. Units of the vaccine require about 30 minutes to thaw.

Once thawed, drops of the vaccine will be placed on small sugar cubes to be eaten by each individual.

Small babies, two months and older, who are too young to take the sugar cubes, will have the vaccine dropped into their mouths by the physicians in attendance.

The following is a list of volunteer physicians and the clinics where they will be working: KENT COUNTY—Martin Goldsen, Smyrna Armory; Gene Nelson, Milford Firehouse; Marve Wiseman, State Board of Health Building, Dover; Richard Greulich, Frederica Firehouse; Ev Bryan, Camden-Wyoming Firehouse; Tom Clendening, Harrington Firehouse, and Gerry McNaughten, Jr., Hartly Firehouse.

New Bulletin For Dairymen

A new University of Delaware publication designed to help dairymen do a better feeding job has just been released. The pamphlet, entitled "Feeding Dairy Cows", provides feeding standards for maximum milk production.

W. R. Hesselstine, extension dairyman at the University, says thumb rules have guided dairymen in their feeding efforts for years. Recent feeding research, however, has made it possible to develop more scientific methods.

New feeding standards developed at the University of Maryland consider the milk-grain price ratio, the quality of forage being fed, and the fact that cows eat less hay when they receive more grain.

This new publication includes charts based on the Maryland standards and explains how to use them. Also included are steps to "lead feeding," a system for encouraging maximum grain consumption and a plan for getting the most milk from the smallest number of cows.

Copies of the publication are available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware. Individual copies will be mailed free.

Delaware Food
Market Report

As the holiday season approaches, turkey becomes an increasingly popular "piece de resistance" for everyday and special occasion dinners. Fortunately, for those of us who feels this way, turkey supplies will be large. Most turkeys in the market will be frozen and of top caliber U. S. Grade A. This is the information given by the United States Department of Agriculture when it announced its November Plentiful Foods List.

Other items stated for abundance throughout the month include other traditional favorites. Cranberries are certainly a November favorite and the crop is a large one this year. It is predicted it will be the third largest crop on record. While fresh cranberries are in season, those of you with freezers may want to stock some cranberries aside. These berries are very easy to freeze—they need no sugar or syrup, but rather keep well just as they are in moisture-vapor-proof containers.

The crop of California table grapes, of which Tokay and Emperors are the major varieties, is up this year. So check these items when shopping, as many specials will feature this fruit. Another fruit in good supply is apples. This year's production is estimated at slightly above that of two years ago, but prices will likely average near those of a year ago, particularly in this area.

The national potato crop is slightly larger than last year's and above average. Prices have been declining from the relatively high level during the late summer.

Current prices in some producing areas are slightly above those of a year ago; in others about equal to last year so check prices carefully when you buy as well as quality.

Eggs continue to be a thrifty buy for food budgets that are short on meat money. Grade A large eggs have dropped again in price and this makes them an excellent choice when looking for high quality protein.

Fall and winter-type vegetables are gradually replacing the summer varieties. As home grown vegetables become scarce, prices go up. Eggplant, tomatoes, and corn are all up in price while cheaper this week are cauliflower, broccoli, cabbage, celery, a-corn squash, white potatoes, and cucumbers. Supplies of fresh greens are improving as well as more varieties are becoming available.

Baptist Minister Accepts New Pastorate

The Rev. H. R. Garland has resigned as pastor of the Harrington Baptist Church to accept a pastorate of the First English Church, of Frostburg, Md.

The Rev. Garland came to the Harrington Church October 18, 1960. At that time it was a mission with 19 members. It was constituted into a church April 16, 1961 with 46 members. Since then it has grown to 105 members. The Sunday School enrollment is 111 with 98 in attendance.

Since the Rev. Garland came on the field the group has purchased the old Episcopal church building and the Austin property, which is being used as an educational unit. In October, 1962, the Cooper property was secured to be used as a parsonage. Among other accomplishments of the church was the purchasing of a new Hammond organ in August.

The Harrington Baptist Church accepted with deep regrets the Rev. Garland's resignation. The church had unanimously recalled him for two more years.

The church is in the process of securing a new pastor and will be hearing candidates each Sunday until a pastor is called.

The Rev. Garland moved to his new post Tuesday and will assume his new duties Nov. 3.

4-H News

With Marion MacDonald

Richard Simpson, Houston, was elected president of the Kent County 4-H Links. Josie Moore, Dover, is the new vice president while Secretary is Connie Moore, Dover and Mrs. Becky Nickerson, Dover will assume the office of treasurer. Our Link organization is composed of former and older active 4-H'ers. Each year four persons are selected to join the Links on the basis of their outstanding 4-H work. In Kent County our Links provide support for many programs. Currently they are busy preparing for the achievement banquet. Not only do they provide financial support but also guidance in the development of the 4-H program. Officers who have just completed their service are Mrs. Louise Reynolds, Dover; Ray Starkey, Felton; Mrs. Pauline Hufnal, Newark; and Mrs. Dorothy Marker, Wyoming. As our new club year gets underway, Westville announces that Mrs. Pete Rusanowsky, Willow Grove will work with the clothing project members. She'll provide training for Betty and Mary Clough, Janice Harrison, Beverly Lucks, Margaret Thomas and Susan Comegys. Dover Diamonds has recently announced a group of project leaders—Mrs. Richard Hetski, home economics project; Mrs. Ralph Snowberger and Mrs. William Hershaw, clothing; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Puckett, home beautification; Andrew Beruck, photography; Kenneth DeCelles and William Mooney, from Dover Toastmasters will assist public speaking contestants. Donald Pepper, Oak Grove Blue Hens will assist electric, and Mrs. Martha Benson, Kent County Blue Hens, Dog Project.

4-H project leaders work with the 4-H'ers in specific areas. During the year they assist the members with the record keeping, train them in the skills and techniques involved, help them prepare for the special activities such as demonstrations, judging contests and exhibits. They conclude the year by checking the records before turning them into the clubs organizational leader.

4-H projects are constantly being revised to update the material and bring it into focus in Delaware. This year revisions have been made in the first two food units—they are titled pack and snack, and easy lunches and hearty snacks. Clothing unit one has been revised and new covers are available for all clothing units. The tractor maintenance project has four new units. The second year photography unit is now available. All available projects are listed in the revised project list which all 4-H leaders have and which all club families should be receiving. Four clubs have returned their new enrollments. They are Westville, under leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas, Maryland; Millwood, under leadership of Mrs. Jehu Davis and Harold Davis; Whiteoaks, who's leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiebel and Viola Bobwhites under Smith Roland and Mrs. Grace Kersey.

County medals and trophies will be awarded at the Kent County 4-H Achievement Banquet Nov. 16 at Caesar Rodney. Reservations are due November 1. Link members should contact the 4-H office for their reservations. Club members tickets are available from their local club leader.

Apple Varieties Offer Choices

Popcorn and apples, cider and doughnuts, apple pie and ice cream—fall is the best time to enjoy these apple favorites. Apples are a versatile fruit, and the large number of apple varieties makes it possible to choose a kind of apples for each purpose, explains Janet Coblentz, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

Red Delicious is probably the most familiar apple variety. An excellent choice for the fruit bowl, these are sweet, juicy and crisp. They are easily identified by the five "knobs" on the blossom end. Their companion, Golden Delicious, is another favorite for eating raw.

The best apples to bake whole, Miss Coblentz says, are Rome Beauties, because they tend to hold their shape in cooking. Apples which are suitable for several purposes include Stayman Winesap, Cortland, Northern Spy, York and McIntosh. The Cortland is especially good for salads since it does not discolor when exposed to air, Miss Coblentz points out. Stayman Winesap, York and McIntosh are excellent pie apples.

To keep apples firm or whole during cooking, Miss Coblentz suggests adding sugar to the apples at the beginning of cooking. For applesauce, sugar should be added after cooking. To improve flavor of less-tart apples, she recommends adding lemon juice.

Baked apples are popular as a dessert, and they may be prepared in many variations. Miss Coblentz suggests filling the hollowed-out center with brown sugar, orange marmalade, raisins and nuts, mince, cranberry sauce or relish, or crushed pineapple. Any of these might be topped with an egg white meringue and then baked at 325 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Serve baked apples plain or with cream or a topping made of heavy cream and cream cheese whipped together. For breakfast, serve a baked apple in a bowl of cooked or ready-to-eat cereal.

Applesauce, apple fritters or sauteed apple rings are "naturals" with pork chops or roast pork. For an unusual dessert, serve vanilla ice cream topped with applesauce with a dash of nutmeg or cinnamon.

Apples and cheese wedges make a satisfying "light" dessert. With apples at their peak of abundance, now is the time to enjoy them, Miss Coblentz says.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—My hitch is almost up. I did not have any wartime service. Am I entitled to any educational benefits like the GI Bill?
A—Only if you have a disability resulting from service-connected injury or illness. Congress has made available vocational rehabilitation training in such cases. If so, check with the VA office nearest your home.

Q—Are dividends payable on U. S. Government Life Insurance policies after approval of a waiver of premiums?
A—No. Approval of a claim of waiver on premiums under the Total Permanent Disability provision matures this type of policy. The proceeds of the policy are payable in monthly installments but dividends cease.

Q—I hear a lot about deadline dates for GI loans. Does it make any difference if the veteran is disabled?
A—If discharged (or retired) for disability incurred in the line of duty, a veteran is entitled to the maximum deadline date for the war in which he was disabled. This means July 25, 1967, for World War II service and January 31, 1975, for Korean Conflict Service.

The meetings are the result of a civil defense questionnaire filled out by members of Delaware Home Economics Extension clubs. Walpole says many of the women requested more information and help in shelter planning and construction. Since it was impossible to meet with each family that requested help, a series of meetings was planned. Walpole says there is no effort being made to "scare people into building a shelter. It's like taking out a life insurance policy; you hope you'll never need it but if you do you'll be protected." The meetings are open to anyone interested in fallout protection.

Harry F. Krueckeberg

Ag. Economist Joins U. of D. Staff

Harry F. Krueckeberg, a graduate of Purdue University, has been named assistant professor of agricultural economics at the University of Delaware, according to Dr. William E. McDaniel, chairman of the department of agricultural economics. Krueckeberg, who is completing the requirements for his doctorate in philosophy at Pennsylvania State University, will participate in research and teaching in the area of food distribution. He earned his bachelor of science and master of science degrees in agricultural economics at Purdue University and served as an instructor and graduate research assistant in agricultural economics at Penn State while working on his doctorate.

A Navy veteran, he holds the rank of lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve. Krueckeberg, a native of Ohio, is married and has two children.

Drunk, Disorderly, Or Just Sick?

There he goes, weaving and stumbling down the street. Drunk, intoxicated, clobbered, stoned? Epithets are easy—but it's better not to judge without knowing the facts.

Here's a fact. Doctors warn that certain illnesses or the after-effects of surgery can duplicate exactly the effects of alcohol and narcotics!

Diabetics, for example, can suffer clouded consciousness, slurred speech, incoordination that keeps them from walking a straight line. Before they pass out, they may appear to be "looking for a fight." The danger is that they may fall unconscious, be neglected, and fail to get the insulin they need.

Similar dangers may result from other diseases, including some pulmonary ailments. In emphysema—a disease in which stale air is trapped in the lungs—the blood may accumulate carbon dioxide until a state of intoxication is reached, clouding the victim's mind, thickening his speech, even leaving him unconscious.

Dizzy spells, confusion, shakiness and nausea—all these may come from hypertension aggravated by a hard day at the office or at home with noisy children. Conditions accompanying age can mimic intoxication. Senile folks may act as though they've had too much to drink. And delayed but serious effects can come from a blow on the head.

That's why police have been alerted to think twice before they slap a "drunken driving" charge on some unsteady-acting person who's been involved in an accident. That's why judges are more sensitive to the serious danger of consigning to the hoosegove, cut off from medical treatment, someone who seems to be drunk but may actually be seriously ill. If you're in doubt—or even if you're not—don't automatically assume that someone who acts the part is drunk. At best, it would be unkind. At worst, it could be fatal.

Speaking of Insects

with Dale Bray

Of all the odd ways for an insect to affect man, that of the human bot fly takes the cake. This fly is a native of South America where it lives in the skin of humans. Most insects which infest an animal lay their eggs on or near their victim. Not the human bot fly. Instead, it lays its eggs on a mosquito. The eggs hatch quickly and the larvae hang on the underside of the mosquito's abdomen. When the mosquito lands on a human and feeds, the larvae of the bot fly drop to the skin of the human and enter the wound made by the mosquito.

There are several ways we hope to be able to control insects which don't involve chemical pesticides. Some of these methods have been put to practical use already, but most are waiting for a great deal more research.

The most spectacular method so far is the sterilization technique through the use of radiation. In this procedure, males of a given species are sterilized while they are in the resting or pupal stage. They are then released by thousands to mate with the wild females. If enough sterilized males can be released to outnumber the milk males, the prospects for control are good. Many other factors enter the picture, however, such as promiscuousness in the females which increases the likelihood of the female becoming fertilized. Then, too, sterilized males of some species don't seem to court with the enthusiasm of a wild male so that the female rejects their attentions in favor of the wild boy friends.

This system has worked on the screw-worm fly in the southern United States. In other species there has been some promise, but mostly disappointment so far.

Light traps show some promise as instruments of insect control. Not just any light trap will work. In fact, some lights will draw more pests into an area than would occur if no light had been used at all. This might be all right if the ones lured by the light would continue on into the trap, but not all carry this cooperative act to completion. Some just sit around waiting for a chance to lay eggs on the plants you're trying to protect. Much remains to be learned about the use of light traps before they can be used for control.

Lion Harriers Outrun Unbeaten N. Caroline, 24-33

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High cross-country Lions won their sixth race of an unbeaten season by handing North Caroline of Denton, Md., its first loss since 1961. The Lions established themselves as the top club of the ten now competing in the lower Delaware and nearby Maryland area by the victory scored at Denton last Friday afternoon.

Sometimes in the world of sports an unsung athlete, who has never been able to do much, suddenly turns in a performance that is much better than any of his previous efforts. Such an event occurred Friday. Alfred Melvin, of Goldsboro, had clocked 14.01 for the 2 miles plus course and finished in 13th place when the North Carolina Bulldogs beat the Easton Warriors. Against Harrington, Melvin had determined to take the lead early and hold it as long as he could instead of running somewhere in the middle of the pack as he normally did. The Lions allowed Melvin to open up a good lead knowing that Fred Spence and Lawrence Haymen were the Denton boys to watch. But as the race wore on Melvin did not fade. Dennis Rogers, Wayne Carson and George Bonniwell tried valiantly but could not close the gap. Melvin was clocked in 12.44, six seconds ahead of Rogers and a whopping 77 seconds better than he clocked against Easton. Apparently, he became inspired and ran the race of his life when he saw he had a chance for first place.

Spence and Haymen were fifth and sixth just ahead of Bob Smith and Roger Redden of H.H.S. Smith was finishing for the first time in three races after conquering the stomach trouble that plagued him earlier. Redden, who likes to run barefoot, started in last place since he didn't want to get into an early traffic jam with some of the Bulldogs, who wore spiked shoes. He also ran an extra few yards at least on one occasion but still overhauled 33 of the 40 harriers, who started ahead of him. It was a tough, gritty performance. Carson in third place was nearer the top than in any previous start of his three year cross-country career and was only four seconds behind the flying Rogers. Marshall Hatfield in ninth and Ellis Myer in twelfth were first year runners but did very well against the preannually strong Marylanders.

North Caroline has an undefeated jayvee team and usually stipulates that after the first seven men on each team finish the remainder of the field will be considered as running in a separate or junior varsity meet. Such a stipulation was not made Friday. Otherwise their jayvee team would have bit the dust for the first time this year as did the N. C. varsity.

A recapitulation of the test shows that Roger Betts, 15th in the varsity race, would have then been declared as the winner of the jayvee race with a good clocking of 13.33. Bobby Matthews and Henry Minner were right behind Betts.

It now appears that an undefeated regular season is assured for the Lions. Only Milford and Milton remain. Milford was beaten here last week in an easy victory for H.H.S. Milford, in turn, had no trouble with Milton in an earlier test.

Harrington is looking past these two foes to the two post season tests, the state meet and the Harrington Invitational. The Lions hope to be Class B state champions in the state meet to be held in Rockford Park, Wilmington, Wednesday afternoon. Although most of the schools in this test are much larger than Harrington it appears that St. Elizabeth High School of Wilmington, another small school, will be the Lion's chief rival. It appears that such schools as Claymont, A. I. duPont, Tower Hill, Howard, Archmere Academy, Corpus Christi, Brown Vocational and others can not threaten either of these two tiny schools.

Fish & Game News

Delaware's waterfowl season opens at noon today, Nov. 1. Geese and brant may be hunted through Jan. 9. The duck season is a split season—Nov. 1 through Nov. 23 and Dec. 9 through Dec. 30. All persons over 16 years of age must purchase a federal migratory bird stamp, $3, to hunt migratory waterfowl (brant, wild ducks, geese) in addition to a regular Delaware hunting license.

For those looking for a place to hunt there are approximately 6,000 acres of marshland managed for public waterfowl hunting by the Delaware Game and Fish Commission, Dover. It is well to become familiar with special regulations as each is managed to provide the maximum sport for the hunter. A map is available from the Commission.

Woodland Beach wildlife area is east of Smyrna with Marshes stretching from Bombay Hook north to Woodland Beach. There are ten blinds for public use on a first come, first served basis.

At the Little Creek Wildlife Area one mile south of Little Creek, all blinds must be completed one week before the opening of ducking season. Hunting is restricted to stationary blinds within the impoundments.

The six hundred thirty five-acre Primehook Wildlife Area is near Milford. The commission-built blinds are on a first come, first served basis. A narrow skill that can be poled or driven by a small motor is the most practical means of transportation in this marsh.

Management of the Assawoman Wildlife Area near Ocean View has been intensified this year. Although the refuge area has been enlarged considerably to build up the waterfowl population, the surrounding open waters contain many good hunting sites. It would be advisable for hunters to consult the resident caretaker at the entrance to the area for hunting information.

The most southern portion of Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, the 1769 acre Kelly Island, will be opened in 1963 to the hunting of migratory waterfowl by written permit.

Daily permits may be obtained at the checking station located at Port Mahon from 9 a.m. to sunset on opening day, Nov. 1, and from one hour before sunrise to sunset each hunting day thereafter.

For further information contact: Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, R.D. 1 Box 147 (White Hall Neck Road) Smyrna, Del., Phone 653-9345.

Aerial Waterfowl Count

Ducks and geese have been moving into Delaware marshes for several weeks. Federal Game Agent Robert Halstead reports that the populations of Canada geese, black ducks and mallards was higher in the October '63 count than it was last year at this time. Of the 32,500 birds counted October 14 there were 10,000 geese, 7200 black ducks and 5500 mallards. Pintail, teal, wood ducks and baldpate were spotty in our coastal marshes.

Hunters Urged to Follow NRA Code of Ethics

Sportsmen are urged by the Delaware Game and Fish Commission to respect the rights of landowners and always ask permission before entering upon someone else's land. In posting land the owner is only reminding the sportsman of the law.

"Hootenanny Hoot" At Reese Nov. 1-3

Yes, it's 1963, and everybody's doing it. And if the family want a big Hootenanny time—all roads, crossroads, and by-roads lead to the Reese Theatre to see MGM's full length hootenanny musical appropriately named "Hootenanny Hoot" starring all the great Hootenanny stars, such as: The Bros. Four, Sheb Wooley, Johnny Cash, The Gateway Trio, Judy Henske, Geo. Hamilton IV, Joe and Eddie, Cathie Taylor and Chris Crosby. It's one giant jubilee of "Hootenanny" the whole family can't help but enjoy. Audie Murphy in "Showdown" is the co-feature plus a Tom & Jerry Cartoon Carnival.

The coming of the mighty motion picture, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" with Kirt Douglas, James Mason, and Peter Lorre, Fri.-Sat.-Sun., Nov. 8-9-10 adds another "must see" hit to the agenda of coming attractions to Movie Center. Gordon Scott as Tarzan in Paramount's "Tarzan the Magnificent" is the thrilling co-feature.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

When did you last go to bed hungry? Most of us would confess such a time in childhood—when we were sent to bed as punishment without supper. But 3 out of 5 people in the world go to bed hungry every day.

My car radio offered the news that the Communist countries can no longer feed their people. So that even Lenin must admit the failure of Marxist dogma to provide for its people. For the Russians and Chinese are buying wheat and corn.

Even as I rode home, I was thinking about the hog meeting just ended. Glen Jones, a superb hog breeder near Townsend, had fed out six test hogs at 10 to 15% better than Hampshire breed performance standards. The six hogs averaged 200 lbs. of weight in 141 days or a rate of gain of 1.73 lbs. of pork per day. He used only 2.75 lbs. of feed to get a lb. of pork. This is approaching broiler standards.

Further, they were not simply fat hogs. Lard or fat pays no premiums. Mrs. Consumer wants lean pork. So part of Mr. Jones' test procedure was to measure the choice cuts. The 1964 model hog is bred long, lean and tender. The six hogs averaged 30.1 inches of loin length (where the chops and bacon are found). They averaged only 1.14 inches of back fat depth, and a "loin eye" of five square inches.

He used five distinct feeds to make these gains. They varied at different stages of growth chiefly in protein, minerals, and antibiotics.

But feed is only part of his story. Careful breeding records and good judgment or management are chiefly responsible. This is where Mr. Khrushchev and Company have failed. The profit motive and the promise of reward for that "extra effort" do not exist under communism.

More power and credit is due Glenn Jones and farmers like him. He has demonstrated the techniques and broken the barriers that have limited one segment of farm production. The end result is more nutritious, tasty and cheaper pork for us as consumers. This is a service, and we should be grateful.

Field crickets can cause serious damage inside the home as this season. Crickets attack cotton, linen, silk and fur. They may also damage articles made of nylon, wool, and plastic fabrics. Clothing and paper stained with perspiration, greasy food, milk or syrup, may also attract these insects.

Don't fall in love with your cows! The only way to make money and stay in the dairy business is to divorce yourself from those low producers when they pass the point of profitable production.

Ask yourself these questions. If the answer is "yes" to most of them the romance should definitely be over. If the answer to most of the questions is "no" you should be making money in the dairy business for a long time to come.

1. Is her production 25 per cent below the herd average?
2. Is she an old cow?
3. Will she be dry more than 9 weeks?
4. Does she have a record of mastitis (udder troubles)?
5. Can you fill her stall with a good producer?
6. Does she have a history of milk fever?
7. Has she had a record of breeding troubles?
8. Is she a hard milker?
9. Does she have trouble at calving time?
10. Have her dam and granddam been culled?
11. Is she freshening at the wrong time of year?
12. Is she in good condition?
13. Is the price of beef good?
14. Are you short of feed?

Clean fall plowing, that "starves out" disease organisms, helps in many cases. Rotating beans with other crops helps break the diseases' life cycle. And using clean, disease-free seed of resistant varieties will help combat many soybean diseases next year.

President Kennedy last week issued an executive order creating a cabinet level Rural Development Committee. Secretary of Agriculture Freeman said the action "has thrown the full force of the Federal Government" behind local Rural Areas Development (RAD) efforts. The Committee, of which Freeman is chairman, includes the Secretaries of Commerce; Health; Education and Welfare; Interior; Labor; and Treasury, and the administrators of the Housing and Finance Agency, and the Small Business Administration.

Fall treatment with heptachlor-control alfalfa weevil is still being recommended, but resistance to the insecticide and change in life cycle of the insect are being reported in spots in Eastern States. Reports are scattered, but enough to cause concern about future effectiveness of the control. Spring treatments of malathion and methoxychlor may be used where heptachlor is not effective.

Sixty golfers per acre per month is the yield obtained on the Warren and Robert Clark farm near De Moines, Iowa, as reported by assistant state conservationist J. Dale Scott. Within three years the father-son team converted 80 acres of a 240-acre farm into a 9-hole golf course which attracts as many as 500 golfers on good weekends.

Along with the space craft, special foods and liquids used by the astronauts will be displayed. American are making more money today and spending it too, according to a USDA study. Disposable income in the second quarter of '63 was up three per cent to an adjusted annual rate of $2,116 for each person in the country. But expenditures kept pace, as consumers bought five per cent more durable goods—cars, appliances, furniture, and two per cent more nondurable goods such as food. Spending for services was up four per cent. We continue to spend 10 per cent of our incomes for food, amounting probably to $398 per person this year. Ten years ago it was 23 per cent of a smaller income.

The wonderful world of nylon today!

The world today knows nylon in a host of products in daily use: hosiery, textile uses of all kinds, tire cords, plastics, etc. Literally there are thousands of uses made of nylon.

Nylon is produced in 38 countries by 112 firms. But perhaps more importantly the first nylon plant in the world was built right here in Seaford in 1939. Throughout America nylon means the livelihood for nearly 1.5 million working people and their dependents. More than 19,000 are directly engaged in the manufacture of nylon—more than 3,000 people make nylon in Du Pont's Seaford plant.

Throughout its 25-year history, nylon has been called the miracle fiber and few would deny its right to be so called. It is nonetheless the achievement of thousands of human talents and the Seaford plant is proud to be part of this achievement. Our people here have played a vital part each step of the way during a quarter of a century of nylon progress. It can be expected then that the Seaford plant and its people will be contributing to some of the more significant chapters in nylon's history yet to be written.

Wolverines Clinch Tri-State Conf. Championship

The Wesley College Wolverines clinched the Tri-State Conference Championship for the second straight year with a 52-13 victory over Potomac State College at Keyser, W. Va., Saturday. This was the Wolverines' final conference battle. They had previously defeated Montgomery College (36-0), and Baltimore College (28-6). There are four grid teams in the conference.

After a scoreless first quarter, Wesley began a scoring marathon early in the second period, when Bruce Kyle recovered a Potomac fumble in the end zone for the Wolverines' first touchdown. Bob Langrell's kick tallied the extra point.

On a downfield drive, Gary Blackney ran the ball 8 yards to put over Wesley's second score, and almost immediately in the next sequence of plays, Bruce Marine intercepted a Catamount pass to score again. Near the end of the quarter, end Phil Boyle recovered a Wesley fumble to score again. Bob Langrell, former Lewes High School athlete, kicked successful conversions after each of these touchdowns.

Coming into the third quarter with a 28-0 lead, the Wolverines scored again, as Paul Shaddinger, freshman fullback from Levittown, Pa., carried for another Wesley score.

Later in the period, a pass from quarterback Mike Dellose to Phil Boyle, brought the Wesley score to 40-0.

The home team scored in the waning minutes of the third period on a pass from Holcombe to Thorne. Lapevic's kick was good for the extra point.

In the final quarter, the Wolverines hit again with the pass from Dellose to Sylvester.

Potomac's Holcombe culminated a Catamount drive with a two-yard run for the hosts' second score. Lapevic's kick was blocked by Wesley's Jim Persinger.

With only 28 seconds remaining in the game, Wesley end Tink Smith returned the Potomac kick-off with an impressive 87-yard scoring run.

Concluding ceremonies of the game included presentation of trophies to the winning and losing teams by the Mineral County, W. Va., Centennial Committee, and trophies to the outstanding offensive and defensive backs and linemen on each team, as judged by six West Va. high school coaches.

Recipients of the awards to the Wesley Squad were: Roger Creveling, Pleasantville, N. J., tackle, best offensive lineman; Bruce Kyle, Baltimore, tackle, best defensive lineman; Bob Sylvester, Dover slotback, best offensive back, and Bruce Marine, Wilmington, halfback, best defensive back.

The Wolverines travel to Philadelphia this Saturday to meet Drexel Institute of Technology frosh, returning to the home field the next week, after a four week absence, against the Bainbridge Naval Preparatory School.

Del. Phys. Ed. Teacher to Speak On Girls' Sports

A. Bruce Frederick, a physical educator at Oak Grove School, Elsmere, will leave Nov. 2 for the University of Oklahoma at Norman to speak before several sections of a National Institute on Girls' Sports.

The institute is the first of its kind to be held in the United States. Its purpose is to up-grade the programs in gymnastics, track and field and to improve the competency of teachers.

The institute will be conducted Nov. 4 through Nov. 9. It will be co-sponsored by the U. S. Olympic Committee and the Division of girls' and women's sports of the National Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Frederick will speak on several topics, one of which is closely related to his recently released book on equipment for physical education.

Another talk will be on practical application of physics and mechanics in teaching gymnastics. He will also act as a general consultant in gymnastics.

Frederick is a current member of the education committee of the U. S. Gymnastics Federation which is challenging the leadership of the Amateur Athletic Association in international competition. He is a recognized authority in the gymnastic field and currently edits a column on education for the "Modern Gymnast", a national gymnastic journal.

Lions Best Milton, 49-20 For First Victory

Frank Glazier's Harrington High football Lions broke into the win column Saturday afternoon with a 49-20 triumph over the first Milton High football team in eight years. The visiting Warriors were playing their first game of the season. They had scrimmaged only jayvee teams prior to Saturday. Milton surprised the locals by scoring twice in the first half as they took the wraps off a couple of pretty good prospects named Cordrey and Leroy Willey. Lack of scouting reports on the Warriors and possibly some overconfidence by the Lions aided the losers' attack. At any rate, it appears that the locals will get plenty of drilling on defense this week, as unbeaten John M. Clayton will host Harrington Friday night.

Harrington did not have to kick at all against Milton as the Lions moved the ball almost at will. Wayne Porter was used as a ball carrier for the first time after starting on defense. He did very well as he displayed some extremely good moves.

At the start of the contest, Rusty Jack carried the ball from the Milton 48 to the 21. Barry Fry went to the 10 with a pitch-out. Fry passed to Richard Black on the 5. Jack went through the middle of the line to score. Fry faked two handoffs and circled right end to put the Lions out in front 7-0.

Harrington blocked a Milton kick soon after and recovered the oval on the Warrior 37 yard line. Jack gained 15 yards around right end. Milton stopped the threat by recovering a fumble on the 12. Garry Harris crashed through to drop Wayne Brittingham on the 7. The Lions took over on the 25 after a short kick by Milton.

Jack, behind good blocking, swept left end to tally and then smash through the line to add the extra point for a score of 14-0 as the first period ended.

As the second period opened Brittingham plunged for a Warrior first down. Bill Adams threw the same play for a loss on the next play. Larry Garey, who is becoming an expert at intercepting passes, picked one off and returned it 40 yards but the officials called the play back. Apparently the locals had twelve men on the field. Two line plays carried to the Lion 47. With fourth down coming up and inches to go Cordrey crossed up the Lions, who were massed to stop another try up the middle. The Warrior burst off tackled and romped 47 yards to pay dirt. A pass play clicked for the point after touchdown.

Leading 14-7 the Lions then tallied what proved to be the winning points. Fry picked up a dropped kickoff on the two yard line and came out to the twenty as he shed five or six would-be tacklers on route.

Bill Adams made a sparkling, broken-field run of eighty yards as he side-stepped several Warriors on the way. Jack ran for the extra point and it was H.H.S. 20-M.H.S. 7.

Milton came right back as Cordrey passed to Leroy Willey for a 65 yard pass-and-run scoring play and the former ran the point across to get the Sussex Countians back into the game at 21-14. Willey was the anonymous No. 10, who was not listed on the program.

Charles Taylor returned the ensuing kickoff to the H.H.S. 41. Jack went for 14 to the Milton 45. A Fry-to-Black pass clicked for seven yard. Jack drove to the 30. Fry worked the quarterback keeper play for 22 yards. Charles Taylor circled left end to score the fourth Lion touchdown. Fry ran the point across as the half ended with a score of Harrington 28, Milton 14.

Dennis Simpson returned the second half kickoff out to the 32. Wayne Porter added four yards. Fry swept left end and tried to lateral after a gain of five but the ball fortunately went out of bounds. Jack made one of the day's best offensive efforts as he maneuvered through heavy traffic, stayed on his feet as a couple tacklers hit him, then pivoted out of the grasp of another and went 59 yards to score, outrunning several Warriors after he got into the open. How about the 220 or 440 next spring, Rusty? A Fry-to-Black aerial was good for another point.

With 11 yards needed for a first down, Milton didn't kick on the fourth down and the Lions got the ball in Warrior territory. Charles Taylor carried twice for a net gain of 30 yards. Wayne Porter darted through the middle for eight yards and then again for four to score. Ever hear of a fictional character called "The

Bears Defeat Colts In Junior Football

Bill Morris' talented Bears downed a fighting, but out-gunned Colt eleven by a score of 20-0, in a Harrington Junior Football League game played at Moose Park on Sunday afternoon.

The Bears now boast a record of three victories and a tie in four starts. The winners with six capable ball-carriers in Roger Bullock, Mike Adams, Gary Minner, Jon Marsan, Oscar Matthews and Gordy Jarrell unveiled another threat, Wayne Reid. The rich get richer.

The Bears received the opening kickoff. Mike Adams passed to Wayne Reid for a first down. The Colts recovered a fumble. The Bears took over on downs on the Colts 40 yard line. Dennis Layton, a fine defensive player, broke through a wall of blockers to pin Adams for a sizeable loss. John Swain batted down a forward intended for Jon Marsan. The Colts could not advance the ball and Swain got off a good punt.

At the start of the second quarter, Gordon Jarrell of the gold-clad Bears, intercepted a pass and sprinted to the Colts six yard line. Marsan carried for no gain. Adams tried a sweep but the play was stopped by Bill Garey and one of the Hurd boys. Matthews tried the other end and went into the end zone. Swain had a crack at him on the five but was dealt a crunching black across the knees just as he reached the runner. Adams swept right end for the extra point.

Trailing 7-0 the Colts were held for downs and had to punt. Good coverage enabled the Blue boys to down Roger Bullock in his tracks as the half ended.

The Bears defensive unit, which set up the first score, did the same for the second tally. Jon Marsan recovered a Colt fumble at the start of the second half. Bullock made a gain to the loser's 15, that was good for a first down. Dennis Layton again halted the advance, momentarily, as he caught the quarterback behind the line of scrimmage. Matthews drove to the 7 and repeated on the next play for a first-and-goal-to-go situation. Gary Minner plunged for the touchdown. The Colts stopped the point-after-touchdown try. Later in the third period the Bears threatened as Bullock dogged a couple of tacklers and outran the rest only to have the play called back because of illegal use of the hands by one of his over-zealous mates.

The Bears blocked a Colt punt in the last period. Reid carried for eighty yards and a first down.

Bill Garey raked in a stray aerial but the Colts could not capitalize on the break. Speedy Gordon Jarrell made a long punt return to set up the final score of the afternoon. Marsan darted around right end for 19-0. Reid hit over the middle to add the extra point.

David Hurd made a nice run for the Colts on the last play of the game.

The Harrington Junior Football League continues to draw good crowds and displays some fine football. These kids are 9 through 13 and may weigh no more than 115 pounds at the start of the season. Some graduates of the program are now playing at Harrington High School. In the near future these kids should bolster the school teams in a big way.
