

"Lighthouse" Was Early Local School Newspaper

"Take Hold of Brother's Hand"

They wandered along so happily,
She had her little brother's hand,
And she murmured softly to the
one by her side,
"Take hold of brother's hand."
Now the young man was embarrassed,
And he didn't know where to stand,
When she said, oh, so softly,
"Take hold of brother's hand."
This young lady is a junior, now,
And she thinks that she is so grand,
But she said this to a freshie,
"Take hold of brother's hand."
Now you can guess just who it is,
And someday, the old man,
May say, yes, take her, but
"Take her by the hand."

Slim Ryan

This poem by Herman Ryan appeared in April, 1924, in "Lighthouse" newspaper,
for which The Journal is indebted to Mildred Grier Vincent.

The four-page publication,
something about the size of the present school newspaper, was printed by The Harrington Journal,
owner of which was the late
J. Harvey Burgess.

A Major Williams, of the Citizens
Military Training Camp,
Plattsburg, N. Y., advised boys to attend the summer camp, Lawrence Harmstead and George McClosky
are two who had attended.
Later, W. C. and C. H. Burgess, present owners of The Journal,
attended.

Mr. Stenger was to take charge of a half-hour health program for the girls, and Mr. Mullen was to do likewise with the boys. These men achieved note as coaches of the baseball team which won the state championship three years in a row.

George Short—"My sister fell down a well yesterday."

Morris Hall—"Did you haul her out?"

George—"No, I couldn't be a brother and assist her (a sister)
too."

Alice (Richards) had eaten fish
for lunch; Agatha (Hughes) had eaten limburger cheese. Reddy (Allen Cain) sitting between them in English class said: "Miss Kemp, may I move?"

Miss Kemp: "Why?"
Reddy: "How can I pay attention to English sitting between Alice and Agatha?"

Miss Kemp: "They do not annoy
you half as much as you annoy
them with your conduct."
Reddy: "Yes, but you can't smell conduct."

The Sophomore and Freshmen
basketball players played at Passmore Hall (now the second story of the building of the Harrington
Dry Cleaners on Commerce Street).

Lighthouse Staff was as follows:
Editor, Alice Richards; assistant editor, Dorothy Tharp; literary editor, Agatha Hughes; sports editor, Allen Cain, and business manager, William Cahall. All were

Felton Cyclist Killed in Crash

A Felton cyclist was killed when struck by a car near Wyoming at 8:45 p. m. last Friday.
The cyclist, Nicholas Parsons, 24,
of Felton, was believed killed instantly when his bike was struck by a car along Route 10. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital. Death was due to multiple injuries. The car which struck Parsons was driven by Thomas Walters, 40, of RD, Felton.

The driver of a pickup truck,
Benjamin Paul Jones, 51, of Tampa, Florida, is in poor condition at Kent General Hospital as the result of a collision with a car on U. S. Rt.
13, east of Felton Sunday evening.
Jones suffered cuts of the forehead,
scalp and face.

Police said Jones disregarded a flashing red light and crossed the highway into the path of a car driven by Vincent Joseph Ward, 55,
of Binghamton, N. Y.

In another accident near Harrington on Saturday, a truck driven by William R. Grigsby of Dover jackknifed when the driver applied his brakes to stop for a red light and swerved onto the shoulder of the road, colliding with a power pole and a traffic signal pole.

The light pole was knocked down
and struck a car driven by Lyman Billings, of Houston, which was stopped on Rt. 14. Grigsby was arrested for exceeding a safe speed and fined $10 and costs, police said.

Blessing of the Trees Deadline Extended

Because of increased interest in the "Blessing of the Trees" program to be held at the Harrington New Century Club on Tuesday, Nov. 26,
the deadline for ordering memorial trees and shrubs has been extended to Nov. 9. Any citizen of Harrington or any organization who wishes to purchase a tree or shrub may call Mrs. Mark Willey or Mrs. Blanche Cahall for details.

Mrs. Quay Rice, conservation
chairman for the Harrington Club has urged citizens and organizations to help beautify their community
by participating in this program.

Nov. 26, those trees and shrubs which have been purchased will be brought to the club house by Paul Lynch of the Delmarva Nurseries to be blessed in a ceremony which will be most impressive. Members of the Harrington Ministerium will take part, as well as members of the local Girl Scout Troops.

Mrs. William Irwin and members of the Cadet Patrol of Troop No. 687 will present the flag ceremony. The Junior patrol of the troop will present a play entitled "Keeping the Woods Clean," directed by Mrs.
Harry John Dill Jr.

All persons and organizations
who are presenting trees or shrubs will receive a scroll commemorating the event.

If you have not done so already,
make that call now to Mrs. Willey or Mrs. Cahall and take part in this conservation and beautification program.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Tuesday, Nov. 12, when Mrs. William Minner and her committee will present the Education program. Albert Adams will be guest speaker and Melvin Brobst
will present several young musicians from the Harrington School. The time is 2 o'clock.

Exley Says He Will Not Vote For Public Accommodations Bill

The majority of the people in his district oppose the Equal Accommodations
Bill now in the House, Rep. George H. Exley said at a covered-dish supper
of the Ninth District Democratic Club
Tuesday night at the American Legion Home.

Saying he could count the proponents of the bill from his district
on the fingers of his right hand,
Exley added, "I cannot support it."

He pointed out the bill "had many objectionable things in it."
For example, violators would be tried by the Human Relations Commission from which there could be no appeal. He believed defendants should be tried by a jury of their equals from which there could also be an appeal.

AUTO-TRAIN CRASH KILLS 2

Two Kent County men were killed
last Friday when their car slammed into a local freight train south of Felton. One was the son of a man killed by a train in July.

State police surmised that the driver may have tried to beat the train through the crossing on Rt. 287.

Pronounced dead at Milford
Memorial Hospital were William
F. Fretz, Jr., 30, of 634 W. Mt.
Vernon Street in Smyrna, and William Chambers, 20, of Clayton.

Chambers' father, William Jennings Chambers, 42, was killed by train while walking along the tracks near Kenton.

Police said two firemen in the Pennsylvania Railroad train saw the car coming toward the crossing — marked only with a "stop, look and listen" sign — at a high rate of speed. One fireman told the engineer, who could not see the car,
to hit the horn, which he did.

The occupants of the car saw the train and heard the horn, police guessed, and the fact there were no tire marks or indications that they tried to stop made them suspect the car attempted to beat the train across.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Baltimore said Friday afternoon that any negligence was due to the driver and not the railroad.

"The light was on, the whistle blowing and the bell ringing," the spokesman said.

He said the damage to the locomotive, struck in the left rear, was not extensive and the train continued on later to Delmar. It was coming from Wilmington.

The accident occurred, police said, at 9:40 a. m., 2.4 miles south of Felton on Rt. 287. Fretz was driving the car, a 1957 Pontiac
four-door sedan.

Both men were pronounced dead
at Milford Memorial Hospital. Both deaths were attributed to neck fractures.

Police said a man who lived about 500 yards from the crossing told them he saw the car speed by, heard the train's horn and later heard a crash.

Donovan Raps Proposed Levy Court Reorganization

Senate Majority Leader Leon E.

said the bill included these stipulations:

He had been a patient in the hospital several times since September. Death came at 8:50 Wed-

State to Keep School Aide Dr. Johnston

Dr. Paul H. Johnston will remain
as state supervisor of research and publications, at least until the new superintendent has been chosen, while, Dr. George R. Miller
Jr. says.

Miller said Tuesday at a state Board of Education meeting that Johnston would remain in the job
at least until the board acts and that it probably will not act until Dr. Richard P. Gousha has been on the job a while and can express his opinion.

Parres worked closely with the General Assembly on school-related legislation. Miller said Johnston would do the same if the need arose.

CITY TO CLAMP DOWN ON PAST DUE WATER BILLS

McDowell Urges Full Time SBA Office in State

Congressman Harris B. McDowell,
Jr., (D-Del.), in a recent letter to Eugene P. Foley, Administrator of the Small Business Administration, urged that a full-time SBA office be established in Delaware.

In his letter to Mr. Foley, Congressman McDowell called attention to the fact that a 12-week
"circuit rider" program was established in Delaware in 1962. Despite the fact that Delawareans manifested great interest in this part-time arrangement, this service was discontinued on December 5, 1962.
Congressman McDowell also called attention to the fact that the SBA indicated that "if circumstances should change, the establishment of an office in Delaware would be considered."

Congressman McDowell explained
to Mr. Foley that "in my opinion, circumstances have changed to the extent that I feel a small SBA office
in Delaware is entirely warranted."
Congressman McDowell's letter pointed out a number of factors which he felt were proof of this change and should be considered.
Congressman McDowell said—

"There has been a consistent immigration of new industries
to Delaware.

"The State of Delaware enacted legislation which provides certain development loans to new industries contemplating operations in Delaware and several new plants
have been established near Smyrna, in northern Kent County, and in other areas of Delaware."

"There are other factors which will have a great and favorable impact on Delaware's economy. These include the interstate highway system in northern Delaware, the proposed construction of a second high-level bridge crossing of the Delaware River near Wilmington, the contemplated establishment of a ferry crossing from Lewes, Del., to Cape May, New Jersey, and the construction and upgrading of local municipal sewer and water systems, all these will certainly help to attract new industry
to Delaware."

"There is every expectation that the role of the small businessman
in Delaware will be expanded;
his participation in the benefits of an expanded Delaware economy will also be accompanied by management, production, and financial problems.

"A small SBA office in Delaware
would be desirable and effective in encouraging and assisting small businessmen in Delaware who in the long run are a large part of the nation's economy,
in contributing toward

American Legion Urges Flag Display On Veterans Day - November 11th

A plea to have an American flag flying at every home and business or industrial firm in Delaware on Veterans Day, November 11th, was voiced Nov. 5 by Department Commander Carl W.
Faust, Jr., of the Department of Delaware, The American Legion.

"In the interest of showing the rest of the world the unity of The American People, every home, every business firm, every industrial plant throughout the land should display an American flag on Veterans Day," Commander Faust said.

The State Legion leader explained that the eyes of the world, and particularly those of world communist, are constantly watching for any signs of internal weakness which might forecast the downfall of the United States.

"Here in Delaware, we can
our share toward the discouragement of any such thoughts about a weak, apathetic dispirited American citizenry by flying the Star-spangled banner
on this patriotic holiday," Commander Faust declared.

Persons who have not paid their water rental by Dec. 2 will find it turned off, it was decided Wednesday evening.

City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann, after stating "something should be done about clamping down," presented an itemized list showing delinquent accounts totaling $1706.60 for 1962 and 1963.

There is $3 penalty which will be added to the water account if the valve has to be turned off and on.

The city manager also presented an itemized list of bills for installing of curb. The City paid half and the property owner agreed to pay half. Some delinquencies go back to 1960 and total was $943.07.

In Other Business
City to investigate the paying of 1962 taxes, and water rental by Harry Adams who had shown a canceled check showing he had paid same. The bill had been put in the hands of Magistrate L.
Gooden Callaway for collection.
Mayor Fulton J. Downing explained that there was sometimes a time lapse between when the magistrate received the check and when the City received it. Adams came in when he received a confirmation notice from an auditor working on the City financial report. Many persons, whether they have paid their accounts or not, receive such reports from auditors. The reports are sent out merely to verify the account, not to collect it.

It appears the controversy over the refrigerator trucks of J. Edward Hutson has been settled.

Some residents in the area had been complaining about the noise
from the refrigerator trucks, especially on weekends. The trucks,
which may sit in the Hutson
yards on the back fairgrounds
road, until ready for delivery require a zero temperature. The City requested Hutson and the complainants to appear before the Council Wednesday evening.
Only Mr. and Mrs. Hutson appeared. Hutson stated the trucks had to be checked every three hours, that spoilage of a load could cost from $70,000 to $90,000.

Hutson had his truckyard before the zoning code went into effect.
Thus, he could continue. He said he wanted to erect a building to house them. City officials told him Wednesday night they thought this could be done, under the code, but advised a check with the city attorney. The Council voted to table the complaints, with complainants to receive a letter of the Council's action.

Council agreed City to pay current for Christmas lighting program
of the Chamber of Commerce.
Thomas Peck, the chamber president, said the annual Christmas parade would be held Sat., Nov. 30, at 1 or 1:30 p.m. The schedule of when the ornamental lighting will be turned on will be worked out by the Police Department which will also be operating the lighting.

Agreed to ask N. B. Downing & Son, Milford, if the City can purchase five used citizens band radios on trial for a total of $425.
The City had received a much higher price for only four. The City would install a radio in the police car, City hall, city truck,
and city manager's car, with one radio for spare. Councilman Luther Hatfield said he would like more foot patrol on the part of the police and suggested a walkie talkie for them to keep in touch with the police car when so doing.

Phone Company Improves Frederica Plant

A major dial equipment addition has just been completed in Diamond State Telephone Company's "335" (Frederica) central office, reports Walter McClure,
the company's local wire chief.

The new dial switching equipment, installed at a cost of $24,000 increases the capacity of the Frederica office to serve 178 more subscribers, McClure explained.

He pointed out that the telephone company will spend $45,000
this year for the construction of outside plant facilities, such as cable lines.

This type of expansion is required to keep pace with the ever increasing demand for telephone facilities, he said, the number of telephones have doubled here in the past 10 years.

There are now 1200 telephones
served by the Frederica Office, compared with 600 in 1953.

Three times Dupont's squadron ran the gauntlet of fire from shore batteries. The battle over, both forts were rubble and a key port was lost to the bold strategy of Adm. Dupont.

Half of Dairymen Using Green-Chop

Delaware dairymen are changing their ways when it comes to the forage crops they grow and the methods they use to harvest them.

A survey of 100 dairy farmers conducted by the University of Delaware reveals that they are finding new ways to produce more feed per acre of crop land. Such things as green-chop forage and year-round use of silos are creating new systems of forage production.

Dr. W. H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University, says that ten years ago the average dairymen used one acre of ladino clover-orchard grass pasture per animal. Silos were used in the winter for corn silage and sudan grass was thought of only as a pasture crop.

Today, Mitchell says, more and more farmers are shifting to green-chop—a system where forage crops are harvested while they are still green, chopped and stored in silos. Fifty per cent of the farmers surveyed chopped some of their forages, and year-round use of silos was the rule rather than the exception.

The average dairyman in the survey utilized three-fifths of an acre of ladino clover — orchard grass, one-fifth acre sudan grass and one-fifth acre small grain as grazing crops for each animal. The rest of the animals' roughage diet was being supplied through green chop, sudan grass, alfalfa hay and corn silage.

Mitchell says these adjustments can be attributed to rising costs of farm land—thus a need to get greater production per acre—and a need to expand herd size to create more economical production units.

While there are probably other reasons behind their actions, the survey makes it clear that dairymen are becoming more aware of the necessity of getting maximum yields from their forage acres.

NUMBERS GAME

The way you look, talk, act, work . . . what you wear, do or say . . . who your children are, to whom you are married, what your health is or abilities are . . . makes not one bit of difference anymore.

Big government and big business have changed all that.

You are now a number. You can be written to, called, foreclosed on, hospitalized or buried without even the faintest hint of your Christian name, heritage or ancestry.

This number bit has been going on for 30 years, but with the post office, internal revenue department and telephone company joining the trend, you, as a personality, are just about through.

Take this individual, for instance. A brief letter addressed only in numerals could be delivered—even by special delivery—to this one person. Like this . . .

(social security number)

808 9

(street address—808 S. Ninth. There is no 808 N. Ninth in Edinburg)

78539

(The postoffice number for Edinburg, Texas)

So the letter could read:

441-03-0444

808 9

78539

Isn't that lovely?

It could be possible for you to pick up your telephone in New York City and say only these words to the operator (although I doubt if the telephone company is quite ready for this):

441-03-0444

512-383-3255

. . . and you and I could be talking person-to-person. Mother Bell, you know, is converting to numerals all over the country—a little at a time. Instead of DUDLEY 3, Edinburg will soon become 383. And with the area code system the number is preceded by 512. So our number is preceded by 512. So our number will be 512-383-3255. Don't know how Bell will get the social security numbers made available, but they will in time.

So remember this, you businessmen, the next time you have letterheads printed. Be sure to include in that letterhead your social security number, your numeral address, your post office number and your numerical telephone number. Perhaps you can have it all up in the right hand corner of your four-color letterhead. Like this:

441-03-0444

78539

512-383-3255

Now, if occasion arises when more information is necessary—for instance, if you're writing to your home mortgagor, your return address need not have the social security number—only the loan number. Like this:

2-10-25059

78539

If you want to, add the social security number:

441-03-0444

Another point is to be sure to tell your wife that she will know you have expired if she gets a letter addressed to:

V 60 355

808 9

78539

Open it in a hurry. It has a check for $10,000 in it. Oh, what's the use. Guess we might as well enjoy it.

Powder Puff Mechanic Program Held Tuesday

"Do you feel that a 16-year-old youngster is capable of driving a car by himself just because he has a license?" "What can we do as club women to promote safety?" "Which direction should you turn your steering wheel when the car skids on ice?" "How do I disconnect the horn wires if it starts to blow and won't stop?" "Where is the differential?" "What is the easiest way to put on chains?"

These and many other questions were posed and answered Tuesday when the "Powder Puff" Mechanic program, a joint effort of the Delaware State Federation of Women Clubs and the Delaware Safety Council, was held in Harrington. More than 20 women representing Women's Clubs in the lower part of the state were present at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at 10 o'clock Tuesday to learn the answers to these and other questions concerning safety and their automobiles.

Mrs. Robert O. Lane, safety chairman for the State Federation was on hand to bring greetings to the ladies and to introduce the gentlemen who were the instructors and lecturers for the meeting. Austin C. Chidester, Jr., field representative of the Delaware Safety Council introduced Lt. Robert Bain of the Wilmington City Police. Lt. Bain spoke on Pedestrian safety entitling his talk "What You Don't Know May Kill You." He told of the recent drive in the city of Wilmington to lessen the pedestrian violations and the system of warning and violation tickets issued during the past year. He stressed the fact that not knowing the laws and rules of the road is dangerous for both pedestrian and driver.

Trooper Joseph B. Ewing of the Delaware State Police spoke on "Woman at the Wheel." In his work as accident investigation officer he has found that inattention to the job at hand, e. g. driving the car, has been the cause of many crashes. He also described some of the accidents that he has investigated in nearby areas in lower Delaware.

Mr. Chidester completed the morning session of the workshop with a talk on "Co-Pilot Charm," and the aid that a passenger can be to a driver in observing route numbers, looking out for problems that the driver may not readily observe as the concentrates on the road ahead. Most of all he stressed preventability, remarking that most accidents can be prevented by being safety wise and safety conscious. A film was also shown.

The afternoon session was held at Fry's Amoco Station where the "Let's Get Acquainted With Your Automobile" demonstration was conducted by Robert Carter, safety supervisor of the Diamond State Telephone Company. Here the women were shown the various parts of the car and their purposes explained. Practical demonstrations of changing a tire and the putting on of chains received close attention of the audience.

The Harrington New Century Club president, Mrs. Francis Winkler and Mrs. Quay Rice, safety chairman, were hostesses for the day.

Three-S Drive Campaign Underway in Kent

The Three-S Citizens Campaign this week launched an intensive campaign in Kent County to rally support for six legislative measures aimed at improving the state's prison and youth training schools.

This effort is being headed by the Three-S co-chairmen for Kent County, Mrs. Max Terry of The Green, Dover; and John B. Maybee, Dover attorney.

Committees to conduct the citizens' drive for correctional reform have been organized in each of the county's ten representative districts. Committee members have been studying the legislative proposals prepared by the Governor's Committee for a State Correctional program. Their current task will be to contact all Kent senators and state representatives to explain the importance of the bills.

The vital need for adoption of the six-bill package as quickly as possible was stressed by Russell W. Peterson, state chairman of the Three-S drive; I. Hammond Cabbage, chairman of the State Board of Corrections; W. Lyle Mowlds, chairman of the Youth Services Commission and Edward J. Kelly of Camden, a member of the governor's correctional committee.

The bills, which form the keystone of plans to improve the correctional facilities, are:

HB 296 - setting up a modern probation and parole system; HB 297 - establishing a state Department of Corrections to administer both the prisons and the probation-parole setup; HB 298 - enlarging the Family Court professional staffs; HB 397 - establishing a statewide Family Court; HB 414 - authorizing construction of a downstate juvenile detention home and a minimum - security diagnostic and reception center for juveniles in the Wilmington area; and HB 415 - approving erection of a consolidated youth training school.

In his statement, Cabbage emphasized: "The entire Board of Corrections supports these bills 100 per cent. We have reviewed the bills thoroughly and have them gone on record in favor of them.

Speaking as head of the state's facilities for juvenile offenders, Mowlds said: "These are good bills and I hope they will be passed soon. We are particularly anxious to start construction of these badly needed buildings as quickly as possible."

Peterson, who heads the citizens' committee backing the bills, stressed that "These measures contain only the bare minimum needed for ending our correctional problems. They are essential if any kind of real progress is going to be made."

Kelly, pledging his support to all six bills, said:

"We need better probation and parole procedures as soon as possible. The Family Court staffs must be expanded and improved, along with construction of the proposed new buildings to house juvenile offenders. We have already made some fine progress. Few Delawareans realize that the excellent work being done at the 308 West Street residence for ex-prisoners is known throughout the world."

20,000 Leagues Under The Sea

Entertainment and relaxation by the entire family is needed just as much as the medicine prescribed by the doctor, because enjoyment is medicine for both mind and body.

It goes without saying that the enjoyment offered by Movie Center this Fri.-Sat.-Sun., Nov. 8-9-10 in the presentation of Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" is all-family entertainment providing relaxation embracing the finest in motion picture production. Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas, and Peter as the stars, this mighty color and Cinemascope hit takes one beneath the sea in adventures never before photographed. The co-hit is "Tarzan the Magnificent" with Gordon Scott and Jack Mahoney.

We suggest you glance at the Reese Theatre program to be found in this newspaper.

Visitation of Officers Held At Asbury Church

Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, a large number of members of the Trinity and Asbury Women's Society of Christian Service groups met in Asbury Church to observe the fifth annual visitation of officers of the Dover District.

Mrs. Floyd Nasser, president of the host group, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Mark Willey, leader for the evening.

The program was entitled "Are You Christ Called?" and was most inspirational. Taking part were: Mrs. Fulton Downing and Mrs. Guy Winebrenner as speakers. Mrs. Downing discussed "The Call to Service in Personal Relations." Mrs. Willey closed the service with remarks on "The Call to Wider Service." Also taking part were Mrs. William Kramedas who sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus" and a duet by Mrs. Abner Hickman and Mrs. Jehu Camper "Jesus Calls Us." Mrs. David Greenly was the accompanist.

Mrs. Nasser presented several well known ladies who have served in various capacities in the Women's Society. Mrs. William W. Sharp, first president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Peninsula Conference was the first to be recognized, followed by Mrs. Earle Sylvester, who also served as president on the Conference level. Mrs. Ernest Raughley, a former recording secretary of the conference society was also asked to stand. Current officers of the Dover District who were present were Mrs. Donald Shelor, of Seaford, vice-president, Mrs. Ethel C. Bull, Dover District Secretary of Social Christian Relations and Mrs. Olin J. Shockey, Jr. Secretary of spiritual life. Mrs. Samuel Williams, president of the Trinity group was presented also.

A social hour concluded the evening. The next meeting will be Dec. 3 at 7:30 with a regular business meeting and Christmas program will take the place of the covered dish supper originally scheduled for that date. Mrs. B. Norman Hopkins will be the leader.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

Fred Mott, our soil conservationist, and I spent a couple of hours the other day developing a recreation business plan for a small farm south of Felton. We feel that this is one of the best uses for small farms that no longer pay their way as crop land.

It is not easy, nor is it simple. Nor is it suited for everyone. But a vacation farm, or a riding stable, or a pay picnic area, or pay camp sites, can provide a good source of income for folks who like other people. And as with any business, success comes with careful planning and sound management.

Fred and I feel that the first essential in Delaware farm recreation is a good farm pond. Water sports such as boating, fishing, swimming or ice skating can make a farm holiday more attractive and repay their costs.

We are getting lots of self-help suggestions in booklet form for those who may be interested. Just call Fred at 697-3376 or me at 736-1448. We will be happy to help you develop your plans.

Every 33rd Dairy animal in Delaware is a registered Holstein. Nationally 265,000 Holsteins were registered last year. And 65% of all Holsteins are bred to A-1 sires, or artificially inseminated.

These facts were given at our county Holsteins meeting held at the Viola Community hall of Bob Heilman, the area fieldman. There seems to be an increasing interest in pure bred cattle as reflected by their higher levels of production over grade stock.

Grade animals are not usually as carefully selected for production. It is easier and quicker to improve milk production when cow families, and their production records, are known.

A five state Holstein planning conference was held last weekend in Dover. Breed shows, sales, barn meetings and other events were scheduled for the next year. Hosting the events was Purnal Friedel, of Viola, the president of the Delaware Holstein-Friesian Association.

If you are one of the thousands who are hunting this season, make sportsmanship and safety a part of each trip. More hunters are in the field than ever before. Everyone should use common sense in handling guns.

The true hunter displays both sportsmanship and safety. He knows how to use the right gun for the right game. He is safe and courteous to other hunters and landowners. For bird hunting, he takes a trained dog to retrieve cripples. He puts out campfires and cigarettes carefully, breaks matches before dropping them, and in other ways, shows consideration and uses precautions.

Here are ten rules of hunting safety that should be followed:

1. Treat every gun as though it were loaded.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your auto, camp and home.
3. Be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun unattended, unless you unload it first.

Zoologists have proven there is no scientific basis for assuming that early nut collecting by squirrels means a severe winter.

Squirrels hide their winter food in many caches and sense them out when the food is needed. And they always store about 10 times more food than they actually need.

By leaving many of these caches of nuts and seeds untouched, squirrels perform a valuable service to mother nature by starting new trees. Their value as tree planters far outweighs their disadvantage as consumers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman says that "Prospects for record wheat exports should not be mistaken for a long range solution to the wheat problem in the U.S." The secretary says there's no reason to believe that any sales to the Soviet Union and its bloc will be anything but a "one-shot" deal resulting from poor growing conditions in the Soviet Union and throughout Europe.

USDA has announced changes in the price-support program with the goals of making the program more effective, less costly, and simpler. Changes, which become effective with '64 price support program, will make farm storage loan money available more promptly after harvest; provide more incentive for a farmer to redeem and market his loan collateral instead of delivering to CCC; strengthen market prices and increase farm income by providing earlier price support coverage; place greater responsibility on farmer committees for local administration of the price support program.

Weedy woods are not profitable. An unmanaged woodland, like an uncared for garden, may produce mostly weeds, according to Arkansas Extension foresters. But a woodlot that has been pruned, thinned, weeded and protected from fire, insects and diseases can be expected to produce continuous crops of readily marketable timber at a profit to the owner.

The sale of U.S. wheat to Russia will have more effect in reducing government wheat stocks than in changing the current price of wheat.

University of Illinois agricultural economist T. A. Hieronymus says that wheat prices are likely to change very little between now and next spring. The government will sell more wheat out of its stockpile than the carryover will be reduced. The net effect will be a decrease in reserve stocks.

He says the most significant point in the government's decision to sell wheat is that these sales will come out of government inventories. If the government is to take over part of the 1963 wheat crop that farmers have placed under loan, then wheat prices will not rise above the support price.

With Marion MacDonald

Burnt bread can happen to anyone. It did when Linda Stayton, Houston, was preparing for publicity photos. But as a 4-H'er she quickly prepared a second loaf. Louis Starkey, Felton, was planning to have a mound of soybeans harvested for his photo and trouble struck when his picker broke down. No problems arose at Rita Hall's, Frederica, our canning winner. Alex, Susan Benson's welch terrier behaved as a gentleman for his photo. The land judging contest results were released this week with Kent County's team placing first.

Wesville 4-H Club members composed this top team. Harvey Thomas, Marydel, 1st; Janice Harrison, 2nd; Ken Proud, New Castle, 3rd; Jay Robbins, Frederica, 4th; Mary Krax, New Castle, 5th; and Bob Sheranko, Marydel, 6th. Representing Paradise 4-H Club was John Hall and Jay Robbins.

In preparation for the Crop Judging Contest Nov. 26, Kent County 4-H'ers are urged to attend the training school Nov. 13 at Caesar Rodney High School at 7:30 p.m. William Mitchell, University of Delaware will provide the training. Any 4-H'ers may participate.

Thirty local 4-H leaders elected Dan Hudson, Frederica, as their President, with Mrs. Sally Comesy, Hartly, Vice president and Mrs. Annabelle Brown, Houston, as secretary. Leaders received information on the new Foods records from Miss Janet Coblentz, Foods and Nutrition Specialist. 4-H clubs are swinging into action quickly this year. Dover Diamonds secretary, Cheryl Cordray, reports that Toni Fragale, president, demonstrated how to make Marshmallow Crispiers at their last meeting.

Speaking of Insects

with Dale Bray

Several years ago Ray Pierce and I sat in my office talking about what happened to insects in the winter. This proved to be a most interesting discussion and as a result Ray wrote a newspaper story on it which I regard as the finest one of its kind that I've ever read. Several people have asked me to repeat it. So here it is—

When the chill of fall begins to creep into the air, the squirrels start hustling nuts a bit faster and the birds cut out for the South. Rabbits start looking about for likely holes-in-the-ground and turtles take a dive in the mud.

What do bugs do? Simple, they move into the nice warm houses with the people!

Dr. Dale Bray, Entomologist with the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware, announced this calamity calmly, pointing out that most of the new residents of your happy home won't do you much harm unless you happen to have a natural dislike for things that crawl.

Dr. Bray mentioned elm leaf beetles, box elder bugs, Asiatic Oak Weevils, lady beetles, house crickets, cluster flies and wasps. Most of this buggy rabble will just meander around the premise harmlessly, but you have to watch those pesky crickets—they're not much for table manners. They'll eat you out of house and home!

If you're not interested in creeping type house guests, Dr. Bray has a few suggestions that may give the bugs an indication that they are not wanted.

Box elder bugs seem to have a distaste for malathion, especially when a teaspoon of common household detergent flakes or liquid have been added to the mixture.

If you don't have any box elder trees around you aren't likely to run into any box elder bugs anyhow.

The elm leaf beetle is a bug of another color. They will travel long distances from elm trees and they also show favoritism as to hosts. They like particular houses for reasons not yet known to scientists or householders.

Most any insecticide will kill the elm leaf beetle but you have to see him to spray him, and they tend to show up one at a time since they are just bidding their time till spring when they can go back to their first love—the elm

Delaware Food Market Report

Delaware Food Market Report

It's time to start thinking about making fruit cake, plum puddings, and other holidays foods that should "season" before using. The ingredients for these foods are now arriving in local markets. This is definitely a signal that the holiday season for food shoppers is really getting underway.

Prices on the popular 4-ounce packages of candied fruits are averaging about the same as last year, and they are not likely to change much before Christmas. The larger packages are a little less expensive, so if it's quality you need choose the larger sizes.

Shell nuts are in good supply also. Now available in many forms are: Black walnut, English walnuts, Brazil nuts and many other favorites.

With a record crop of pecans in the offering, and large harvests of walnuts and almonds predicted by the United States Department of Agriculture, shoppers might consider freezing nuts for the winter months ahead. It's an easy job, simply place in a Mason jar, close tightly and put in the freezer. This way the nuts stay fresh for as long as a year.

For the weeks ahead, expect very liberal beef supplies. The number of heavy cattle nearing market weights is up sharply from last year at this time. Furthermore a United States Department of Agriculture report shows that on Oct. 1, farmers expected to market 15 percent more fed cattle during October, November and December than for the same period last year. Fed cattle are the source of the higher quality beef. These liberal supplies are reflected in retail prices. Other god choices this week at the meat counter include: pork, broiler-fryers, turkey, and a few cuts of lamb.

Many vegetables continue plentiful due to the fair open weather we have had. This situation could change over night. Right now the list of low cost selections reads like a market report from August rather than early November. This week, choose from among beets, cabbage, celery, broccoli, brussels sprout, carrots, cauliflower, endive and escarole, Iceberg lettuce, onions, squash, sweet potatoes, numerous leafy greens, potatoes, and mushrooms.

The early maturing citrus crop has brought larger receipts of grapefruit and oranges than usual for this season of the year. Quality is good to excellent making these fruits an even better buy. Apples are another leading fruit choice, as are avocados, grapes, and bananas.

According to the Labor Department, consumers paid less for groceries last month but more for housekeeping items. These and other mid price fluctuations resulted in no change in living cost for October.

Proper Handling, Cleaning Maintain Flavor of Ducks

When the man of the house risks pneumonia and the common cold to sit in a chilly, and usually damp, duck blind, he probably thinks the least his wife can do is to cook the ducks properly.

But, between shooting and cooking is the important task of handling and dressing them so they'll be in the best possible condition for oven or freezer. Without getting into the standing argument in many families of who cleans the game—hunter or homemaker—there are several steps that help keep the birds in good condition until they're ready to be cooked, according to Janet Coblentz, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

She says ducks should be kept as dry as possible in the field. Dry ducks are more pleasant to handle, and, most experts agree, easier to pick. The birds should be cooled soon after shooting and should be kept cool from then until they are cooked. Miss Coblentz points out.

One of the simplest ways to pluck the bird is to hang it by one leg and pluck downward toward the head. Sometimes it is necessary to singe the bird to remove pin feathers.

The wings, neck and often the legs are cut off and then all internal organs are removed.

Miss Coblentz says that while some hunters simplify the cleaning task by skinning the bird, she doesn't recommend it because much flavor is lost in cooking when the skin is removed.

Ducks are usually roasted fairly quickly in a very hot oven, so they should not be stuffed with a dress. However, Miss Coblentz says, apple slices and a stalk of celery may be placed in the cavity for flavoring, but these are discarded after cooking.

After going to the efforts of getting the birds, it pays to handle them properly so the flavor will be at its best, she says.

Wise To Look For 'Liveability' In House Plan

If you're house-hunting, how can you tell whether a house or house plan will serve your needs? Katie Thomas, Kent County extension agent, home economics, says there are six features which especially affect the "liveability" of a house. She suggests careful study of room placement, circulation, storage facilities, ease of furniture placement, ease of maintenance and capacity for electrical power.

Placement of rooms in a house is one of the most difficult features to change if it proves unsatisfactory, so it's a good idea to think through your family needs and way of living. Mrs. Thomas recommends that the kitchen and backdoor be located near the garage or carport. Remember the many trips you make from the car to the kitchen with groceries and other supplies. The kitchen should be within easy reach of both front and back doors and should be near the children's indoor and outdoor play areas.

The living room should be shielded from the front door—to save wear and tear on the carpet and to allow for privacy. Bathroom facilities should be convenient to all parts of the house, yet provide privacy. Laundry facilities should be conveniently located and yet placed where operating noise won't be disturbing.

Rooms should be arranged so you don't have to go through one room to get to another. Some houses are so poorly planned that you have to cross the living room every time you go from the kitchen to the bedroom or other parts of the house.

Coat closets should be located near the entrances to the house, and there should be adequate storage room in living, sleeping and working areas. Closets should have ceiling to floor access, or much space will be wasted.

Mrs. Thomas suggests trying to visualize furniture placement in a house or house plan. Would you have to go around the bed to get to the closet? Can the living area furniture be arranged conveniently in more than just one arrangement pattern?

Surface finishes of such areas as walls, floors and sills should be easy to maintain. Electrical outlets should be adequate and conveniently located. Be sure you would not have to walk all the way across a dark room to turn on a light at night. And be sure grounded wire has been used for all electrical circuits.

Many of the problems and annoyances people have with their homes are just little things, but by thinking about them before you buy, they are easier to avoid.

U. of D. to Hear Professor's Views On NATO

Col. William R. Kinter, professor of international relations and political science at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at the University of Delaware Thursday evening (Nov. 14).

An authoritative speaker on foreign affairs and national security policies, Col. Kinter will discuss the topic, "The Crisis in NATO: Political, Military and Economic Aspects." He will speak in the university's Student Center at 8 p.m. The program is sponsored by the school of business and economics.

In addition to his teaching post, Kinter is deputy director of the University of Pennsylvania's Foreign Policy Research Institute. He also serves as a consultant to the Stanford Research Institute, Palo Alto, Calif., and has been senior advisor to the Johns Hopkins University Operations Research Office.

His military career of 21 years' duration includes combat experience in World War II and the Korean War and a number of important staff posts. He also has served on the staffs of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was a consultant to the President's Committee to study the United States Military Assistance program.

Col. Kinter is widely known as a public speaker and author. He has collaborated on such widely read books as "Atomic Weapons in Land Combat," "Forging a New Sword," "The Haphazard Years," "Protracted Conflict," "A Forward Strategy for America," and "The New Frontier of War."

In 1961-62, he appeared in the CBS television series, "This is Strategy."

A writer for the Carnegie Corporation of New York "Quarterly" said recently, "Kinter is a dweller in that dawning zone—which lies between government and the universities, between research and action, between civilian men and military men."

His University of Delaware lecture will be open to the public without charge.

SHD Construction Projects Are Few

The State Highway Department will have the smallest number of construction projects to be continued through the winter months this year than at any time in recent years.

In addition some of the projects that are continued through the winter months will be completed in the late spring, thus leaving very little construction work for the summer season next year.

The absence of construction for the past year, which would have permitted the Highway Department to have proceeded with engineering and design work on more projects, will cause a dearth of employment on highway contracts next year.

The continuing projects in New Castle County will be some work on Freeway projects and the widening and resurfacing of Washington Street extension and New Bridge Road.

The single project in Kent County will be at Frederica Bypass while in Sussex County the projects will be the widening and resurfacing of Route 26, from Bethany Beach to Clarksville, and the new bridge at Indian River Inlet.

There is no work in progress on any dirt road improvement projects at the present time and there will be none of these to continue through the winter until the next construction season.

During the winter months the Department will receive bids on several projects that can be worked on during the next construction season.

These include the improvement of Basin Road in New Castle County, the reconstruction of the Lebanon Road in Kent County and the reconstruction of a bridge at Millsboro.

The above three projects are being financed with the remaining funds made available in the 1961 bond issue.

None of the engineering and design work on the projects contained in the bond issue program, now before the legislature, has been started by the Highway Department due to the lack of construction funds to cover this work.

Harriers Stop Milton For 7th Straight Win

Still doing business at the same old stand was the story Thursday afternoon as Coach Harold McDonald's H.H.S. cross-country team added its seventh straight victory of an unbeaten season. The visiting Milton Warriors were shut out by a 15-47 score as Ed Cox their No. 1 harrier and Wayne Brittingham their No. 2 runner missed the meet because of football practice. Cox was carried from the field at Ocean View Saturday afternoon with a broken ankle suffered in the football game between Milton and Lord Baltimore.

Dennis Rogers was the first man across the finish line at Killen's Pond, Thursday, as he clocked the fastest time of his career. His 12.20 was only 4 seconds off the course record, on the new, revised 2.4 miles layout. Jim Harvey, of Easton, set the mark in September and may compete here again on Nov. 13 in the Invitational.

Capt. Wayne Carson, the 21-man-squad's only senior, continued to amaze as he pushed Rogers to the new mark. Carson's third place against North Carolina last week was his previous best effort. In finishing second he lopped 23 seconds off his previous best try.

George Bonniwell, Bob Smith and Marshall Hatfield were third, fourth and fifth. Roger Betts was seventh and Ellis Myer was ninth to become the last Lions to figure in the lopsided score.

Frank Cain, always a boss when the weather gets cooler, closed with a rush in 13.15, his best time ever. Bob Matthews was only a second behind at 13.16. Sophomore Matthews, Hatfield and Myer were not out for cross-country before this year (discontinuing a brief fling by Matthews as a seventh-grader) but have proven to be the finds of 1963. The last two named have already earned their varsity letters and have demonstrated such ability, that Coach McDonald is confident that his Lions will still be very tough after Rogers, Smith, Carson and Bonniwell are graduated.

Donald Wells, Jack Dickerson, Harold Mullins, Bob Dean and Nick Morris were in a group of Lions, who either logged new personal records or missed by only two or three seconds. Dickerson chopped off 18 seconds.

Eighth-graders, Dean and Morris, have showed their dust to many a junior and senior this autumn. The picture at H.H.S. is exceedingly bright with promising harriers in every grade from the eighth on up.

Lions Extend Unbeaten John M. Clayton

Harrington High's football Lions scored first at John M. Clayton Friday night and put up a stiff fight all the way before yielding to the unbeaten Bears by a score of 16-6.

Coach Graham Dill of the winners stated that the Lions gave his club its toughest battle of the year and that his ground game was contained better than in any contest for the last five years. On two occasions the Bears were stopped on the 2-yard line as the Lions turned in inspired goal-line stands.

Barry Fry startled the home fans with a 40-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. The Lions threatened on other occasions but lacked the speed necessary to go all the way.

Clayton scored nine points in the second quarter as Fry was tackled in the end zone for a safety and Frank Esham tallied on a 30-yard run-pass from Tim Timmons, who also added the point after touchdown on a run. The local's pass defense was effective except for this one costly lapse.

Wayne Long, the Henlopen Conference's second leading scorer, made the last touchdown on a five yard run and ran over the extra point, also as he continues his battle to overhaul the leader, Jim Layfield, Millsboro's All-State back. If our memory is correct, Long won the Henlopen scoring title as a freshman in 1960.

Rusty Jack was outstanding on offense for the third straight game. He almost scored a second T.D. on a sweep around left end but was halted by a Bear, who made the tackle, even though he had to fight off a blocker on each side of the field to do it.

Gary Harris was terrific on defense. Wayne Porter played another fine game. Larry Garey and Art Taylor turned in fine defensive efforts. On one play Taylor took the ball away from a receiver after the latter had made the catch and in so doing prevented another J.M.C. score.

Ron Hughes and Barry Fry were others singled out by Coach Frank Glazier for good play. The Lions were outstanding in punt coverage and in running back punts. On one play the locals formed a wedge ahead of Bill Adams, came straight up the middle and then broke him into the clear along the right sideline. After a lengthy gain the little guy was brought down by a couple swift stringbeans.

H.H.S. To Have Cross-Country Cake Race

There is an axiom that states "Anything worth doing is worth doing well." For several years the cross-country standouts in Delaware have been Dave Curtis and his Brandywine Bulldogs and Harold McDonald and his Harrington High Lions. The Bulldogs are at or near the top in the New Castle County and big school groups every year. For six years Harrington has been the top small school in the state, the No. 1 team in Kent and Sussex Counties and has never been worse than second in the entire lower peninsula area which includes Maryland schools such as Easton, Centerville, North Caroline, South Dochester, St. Michaels, etc. In fact the Lions have never lost once to any other Delaware small school or any team from Kent and Sussex Counties.

Such success does not come by accident or can one say that Brandywine and Harrington are annually blessed with superior material. One answer lies in the willingness of the coaches to never give up in the constant drive to get as many boys as possible out for the team. One gimmick that has helped Brandywine is the cake race.

After the cross-country and football season are over, this unusual race is held. The cross-country varsity has a match race against all the boys from the eighth to the twelfth grades inclusive. The boys from the student body are given a one minute head start. Coach Curtis states that on two occasions the students defeated his varsity. In addition to the team score, each of the first ten boys to cross the finish line wins a cake.

At Brandywine some very fast boys have turned up in these cake races. Two of these are Don Ladd and Ed Bell. Ladd, now on the Delaware harrier team, was third in 1960 when the Lions' Harry Knotts won the state championship. Ladd was the winner last week when the U. of D. Blue Hens defeated Temple and Swarthmore in a triangular meet.

Ed Bell has won all of his 11 starts this fall. He has beaten the 1962 state champion, Bob Cooper, of P. S. duPont, twice.

Bell and Ladd were "discovered" in cake races and came out for cross-country the next autumn. Coach Harold McDonald will give the cake race a trial in late November. It will be held on the school ground and will cover something like 2 1/4 miles, compared to the Killen's Pond course of 2.4 miles. The varsity could lose this one as many former harriers are in the student body. Among these are Albert Ratledge, Richard Brown, Don Draper, Jim Ralph, Larry Bonniwell, Charles Taylor, Randy Knox, Wayne Melvin, Dennis Spicer, Nelson Reed, Frank Welch, Donald Minner, Bill Abbott, Allan Jerred, Bob Beene, Danny Hicks, Lester Minner, Barry Fry and others. Since the football season will be over many of the gridiron gladiators may enter since they will be in good physical condition. With a 60 second lead, these boys could be very hard to catch, especially if they start running at once.

Eagles Down Colts With 26 Point Second Half

Les Simpson's Harrington Junior Football League Colts held Ted Layton's Eagles to a scoreless tie for half the game Sunday afternoon but the Red and White rallied in the second half to emerge from the fray with a 26-0 victory.

The Colts received the opening kickoff as Bill Garey was stopped on his own 24 yard line. Three plays failed before David Hurd crossed up the defenders by running for 10 yards and a first down on a fourth down gamble. Hurd carried twice more and in sorties up the middle and around right end added 20 yards. The Eagles halted the march at this point, but were unable to advance and punted.

Garey sneaked for four yards, but Hurd was thrown for minus seven on the next play. Roger Klapp returned a Colt punt 20 yards.

Gary Simpson was dropped for a four yard loss by Jay Konesey. Hurd did the same to Klapp.

After an Eagle kick, Garey gained three yards and Hurd tackled on four more. Hurd, needing a yard for a first down went for 10 to the Eagle 32 on an off-tackle smash.

The Colts were halted by the end of the half. They tried and failed on an onside kick play as the second half started. Nick Morris, on the first play from scrimmage, was apparently trapped behind the line of scrimmage but broke away on a 42 yard scoring jaunt. The extra point attempt was no good.

Later, the Eagles started another drive to paydirt as Klapp toted twice for a first down. Morris went 30 yards to the Colt 10. Klapp went over for the score. Garey tackled Klapp to stop the extra-point try.

Klapp got revenge as he stopped Garey son after on a fourth down and inches to go effort.

Jr. Football Team Ties Dover AFB Beats Rehoboth

The Harrington Junior High football team played a good defensive battle against Dover Air Force Base last Wednesday, Oct. 30. The local boys managed to hold the Dover team to a 0-0 tie, twice holding on downs when threatened within their ten yard line.

Although unable to muster the necessary offensive punch to score, the defensive line played an outstanding game. The staunch defense included Willie Bonniwell, Danny Smith, Jimmy Simpler, Mike Welch and Wayne Melvin.

Monday, the Junior Football team traveled to Rehoboth and returned victorious 19-6. The local lads finally "found themselves" and played a football game that might be the envy of any varsity coach.

Moving with the precision of a veteran team, Harrington scored a touchdown on their first play from scrimmage. Bonniwell, moving to his right, after taking a pincushion from the quarterback, tossed a 35-yard strike to Jim Simpler, who was all alone deep in the secondary and scampered the remaining 25-yards for the touchdown untouched.

Later in the same quarter, Bonniwell found his left end, Donny Fry, open in the end zone and tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass. Ed Wheatley plunged through the middle for the extra point and Harrington led 13-0.

Late in the third quarter, Ed Wheatley went around left end and behind fine blocking, ran 30-yards for a touchdown, making the score 19-0.

The opposition scored in the fourth quarter on an intercepted pass.

Although moving on the ground easily, the Harrington team found their passes clicking so tossed 12, completing 10 with one interception, quite a feat for lads of this age.

Mrs. Lamb urged the women to realize their power individually and as a group.

"If every woman would use the power within her, we can accomplish anything," Mrs. Lamb told the group.

"If every woman would use the power within her, we can accomplish anything," Mrs. Lamb told the group.

She outlined a four-fold program of participation for women to aid in Farm Bureau work.

Turning to government affairs, Mrs. Lamb urged participation of women in politics.

"Big government has failed because little government has," she said. "None of us take enough interest in little government to give it the support it needs."

"Those who fail to do their part in democracy are worse than those who actively work for the overthrow of the government," Mrs. Lamb said.
