

Three-Year-Old Girl Gets New Lease On Life With Open-Heart Surgery

Three-year-old Debbie Hammond's winters consist of one big merry-go-round of bike riding, playing baseball and rimping with grandmom.

Two years ago, however, as a listless, underweight child, she was given only a 50-50 chance to live.

The change was brought about by alert doctors, an active Heart Association and a modern surgical development known as open heart surgery.

Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Hammond, who live in the small community of Andrewville, near Harrington. She was a normal seven pound, seven ounce baby at birth, but in the months that followed was the source of alarm for her parents.

At the age of three months, Debbie had gained only nine ounces. She ate sparingly and showed little of the activity typical of a child of that age.

The first clue to her ailment was uncovered when she was given an electrocardiogram. Dr. Benjamin F. Burton, Jr., Debbie's pediatrician, immediately referred her to the clinic at the Delaware Hospital sponsored by the Delaware Heart Association.

Dr. Harry F. Zinsser made the diagnosis: a ventricular septal defect, or hole between the two lower chambers of the heart.

Debbie's blood was not circulating normally. Blood from the lungs was being pumped through the hole into the right side of the heart, where it was sent right back to the lungs instead of to the other cells of the body. Debbie's body was not getting the oxygen it needed to function and her heart was becoming enlarged because of the constant overwork.

From that point, things began to happen.

"Her condition was so bad that they rushed everything along," her mother recalls.

At the age of 18 months, Debbie was admitted to the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania for catheterization. She remained in the hospital about a month, and then underwent open heart surgery to repair the defect in her heart. At that point she weighed only 15 pounds.

"Until the operation she didn't have any life, any desire to eat," her mother said. "She just just didn't pay any attention to anything."

Two weeks later, Debbie came home to Andrewville, a different little girl entirely. "She just wasn't the same—if anything, she was even more active than a normal child," her grandmother commented.

In the past year and a half, Debbie has continued to improve. Today, at a healthy 25 pounds, she runs, rides and plays with others of her age, without any restriction of her physical activity. With the benefit of television instruction, she even does a youthful version of the twist.

Heart Fund Drive To Be Held Sunday

The month long 1964 Heart Fund drive will reach a high point on Sun., Feb. 23, when about 6,000 Delaware volunteers will carry the fight against heart diseases to the threshold of every family in the state.

The volunteers will tour the residential sections of towns and cities to distribute health-saving information about the heart diseases and to accept Heart Sunday contributions with which the Delaware Heart Association can help speed the fight against the nation's number one health enemy.

Contributions help expand the Heart Association's program of research, education and community service.

Volunteers will leave at each home they visit a leaflet containing valuable information about heart attacks and other heart and blood vessel diseases.

The Delaware Heart Association is an affiliate of the American Heart Association, the only national voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to combating the diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

More than 65 million heart fund dollars have been invested in research since the Heart Association became a national voluntary health agency in 1948, according to Dr. Richard N. Taylor, president of the Delaware Heart Association.

The expansion of research to speed breakthroughs in the control and prevention of the cardio-vascular diseases is a leading objective of the heart fund drive.

The Heart Sunday canvass in Delaware will be repeated throughout the nation by more than 1,500,000 volunteers. Volunteers will present an official heart fund contribution envelope for the donor's convenience. After the contribution has been inserted, the envelope may be sealed before being returned to the volunteer.

For families away from home, volunteers will leave pre-addressed envelopes. Contributions can be inserted and, with a minimum of effort, mailed to the office of the Delaware Heart Association.

Delaware Food Market Report

Between past-holiday bills and income taxes, budgets may be stretched to their limit this time of year. If so, let's take a look at the grocery bill, particularly meat expenses.

The share of the consumer's dollar going for food declined from 25.6% of "bring home pay" during the 1947-49 period to 19% at present. Of this amount spent on food, one-quarter of each dollar goes for red meat alone. This figure climbs to nearly a third of each dollar when other protein foods such as poultry, fish, eggs, and cheese are added.

There are a number of ways to save money on the meat bill and to definitely get value for the money spent. So let's look at a few.

Price is often the first thing considered when buying meat. Yet, price per pound is only an indication and sometimes a very poor one of the real cost of meat. It does not take bone and fat waste into account. Thus, the price per pound and cost per serving often differ by a wide margin.

For instance, boneless chuck roast usually sells at a higher price per pound than chuck with the bone in. However, the boneless cut yields half again as many servings. The same holds true when comparing cooked boneless ham with regular bone-in ham, because the boneless yields double the number of servings per pound.

Take advantage of meat counter "specials". Meat cuts are often priced at near cost or even occasionally below cost to attract customers into the store. Meats which require comparatively long cooking, such as roast, are less in demand during warm months and therefore offer good prices. As you would expect, steaks often carry a lower price tag when the weather is cooler. To be prepared for inexpensive outdoor meals, freeze a supply now for summer use.

Many times a larger cut of meat is a bargain. With the help of your butcher, a large piece of meat can be easily divided into smaller cuts, to be cooked at different times. Now, for a look at today's market.

Beef and pork supplies continue to be heavy with many "specials" on retail cuts throughout the week. When shopping, don't overlook broilers, turkeys, and ducks. All are more plentiful than a year ago.

Low-cost fresh vegetables to consider this week include: broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, mushrooms, potatoes, radishes, carrots, and spinach. Artichokes are quite plentiful now, too.

Several fruits are selling at lower prices than a year ago. These include: Delicious apples from Washington, bananas, and Naval and Temple oranges.

WHAT PRICE health? BLOOD CELL COUNTING. DETERMINING THE NUMBER OF BLOOD CELLS (RED AND WHITE) PRESENT IN THE BLOOD STREAM IS IMPORTANT IN DIAGNOSING A LARGE VARIETY OF DISEASES. THE COMMON METHOD OF COUNTING IS TO OBSERVE A SMALL AMOUNT OF DILUTED BLOOD THRU A MICROSCOPE. THIS IS KNOWN AS "EYEBALLING" SLOW AND TEDIOUS WORK... IT CONSUMES MUCH VALUABLE TIME ON THE PART OF TECHNICIANS AND OFTEN LEADS TO FATIGUE. DOCTORS HAVE RELIED UPON "EYEBALLING" BECAUSE NO OTHER METHOD WAS AVAILABLE UNTIL... THE PARTNERSHIP OF MODERN MEDICINE AND SCIENCE DEVELOPED AN "ELECTRONIC PARTICLE COUNTER" WHICH AUTOMATICALLY COUNTS CELLS... MANY TIMES FASTER THAN "EYEBALLING AND WITH FAR GREATER ACCURACY! THE "ELECTRONIC PARTICLE COUNTER" COSTS ABOUT $5,000... A COST THAT MUST BE BORNE BY HOSPITAL PATIENTS, BUT ITS CONTRIBUTION TO BETTER AND MORE EFFICIENT CARE OF PATIENTS MAKES IT WELL WORTH THE COST.

PEOPLE AND FAULTS

One of the great lessons to be learned in life is that all of us no matter how great the esteem in which some of us are held, have our faults. The perfect human being has not yet been born, nor should anyone expect to encounter him.

The key to mental happiness—or one of the important ones—is the realization that we must overlook the faults of our friends, and even of our enemies, and do our best to appreciate the good qualities, and bring out the best in our fellow man.

The realization that we also have our faults, and that therefore we must make amends—even at times when we think we are not in error—is important to keep in mind. The key here is to realize that we must sometimes make amends, or make apologies, or forgive others, when we think we have done no wrong.

In this connection, it is often said and it is still true, that a smile can do more, during the course of the average day, than anything one can say, and can do much more than some people realize. Many things can be said—if they are said with a smile—that otherwise would produce edged feelings, resentment or antagonism.

—The Boonville (Ind.) Enquirer

YOUTH MUST DEVELOP ITS OWN INITIATIVE

There's a lot of talk over the country today about "finding and developing the creative and brilliant youngsters in our midst."

The theory seems to be that they are buried under a bushel or in the sand, and if no one digs them out and applies some sort of pressure onto them, they'll be lost to society and the nation.

We'd suggest that the process of digging themselves out is a major part of development—and that, to make it effective, they must do it themselves.

Certainly opportunity should be wide open to any youth who wants to take advantage of it. Mostly, we think it is—meaning that, with very few exceptions, anybody can get an education today who's willing to work for it.

And after the education, opportunity is wide open to any youth who has a goal and has prepared himself for it—probably there never was a time when that was as true as it is today.

In taking advantage of that opportunity, the youth is going to need personal strength and initiative—and lots of it.

So it seems to us the goal of earlier education should be to teach fundamental knowledge and in so doing, create in the pupil a thirst for more, a desire to understand, a questing mind, and a knowledge of how to go about further learning.

In putting that into effect, the more of it he does himself, the more self-reliance he will develop, the more initiative he will find, and the more good he will acquire from the process.

The problem of education and youth leadership, it seems to us, isn't so much "developing" the brilliant youth, as it is to open the vista of knowledge and thought for him and—to that extent—help him to develop himself.

Too many of the theories today seem to involve too much pushing and too much dictation—and that, we think, is much more likely to hinder his real development than to help it. —Fort Smith (Ark.) Southwest Times-Record

MEDICAL MYSTERY

The doctors admit that "as of now, we can't cure colds," and add, "anyone who tells you he can, deserves at best considerable suspicion."

Such is the word of the American Medical Association on the subject of "the common cold," which says that while most people know it can't be cured, "we still waste a lot of time and money on pills and nostrums and treatments—all in the faint hope that maybe this time something will help." The AMA also takes a dim view of vaccines for cold prevention, declaring that it is "unlikely that a vaccine will help much."

Grandma had the right idea, if you ask the AMA. "If you get a cold," it advises, "stay home in bed. Keep warm. Gargle to ease a sore throat. Take aspirin for the discomfort. None of this will cure the cold, but it will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the cold virus."

But don't think the medicos are giving up. Research goes on to find the cause and "possible cure" for colds and the AMA expresses the hope that: "Perhaps the answers may be found some day."

We may be sure they will let us know when that happens! —The Wynne (Ark.) Progress

COLLEGE PROGRAM EYED FOR ELDERLY

People who realize they are growing older but still have a lot to offer their community would go to college to broaden their cultural horizons. They would be taught by retired professors and teachers, who pass the age limits for full time faculty work but are too healthy and mentally fit to vegetate. Those are the broad requirements for a pioneer educational program proposed at Bowie State College, Maryland, which is attracting the attention of educators throughout the country.

The organizer is Bruce L. Melvin, who said, "I didn't know I was old until the University of Maryland kicked me off the faculty two years ago just because I had reached 70." His objective is to encourage older persons to assume teaching responsibilities in their own communities, to work for the betterment of their neighborhoods and to achieve full potential in their older years.

It is a splendid idea for both students and teachers, especially as there will be no entrance requirements. Anybody can go to college now, if they are old enough. —Cobb County Times, Marietta, Georgia

First State Expecting Large Tourist Trade

Judging by the amount of interest being shown by visitors to the State of Delaware booth at the Pennsylvania Sports & Outdoor Show, being held this week at Harrisburg, the "First State" can expect an unusually large influx of vacationists from Pennsylvania this spring and summer, reports the Delaware State Development Department.

The thousands of sportsmen and others who are in daily attendance at this year's sports show in the Farm Show Building are reported as seeking and receiving information concerning Delaware's summer resorts, its fresh water and salt water fishing facilities, its museums and historic sites.

According to the Development Department the most popular items are proving to be the various Development Department publications, such as "Welcome to Delightful Delaware" (vacation brochure), "Historical Guide to Delaware" and "Delaware Calendar of Events"; and literature describing the attractions of Rehoboth Beach and Lewes.

Among other materials being distributed from the Delaware booth are folders describing the Winterthur, Hagley and Delaware State Museums, the John Dickinson Mansion, and special days at historic New Castle and Dover.

The Delaware display occupies 200 square feet opposite the main entrance to Harrisburg's spacious Farm Show Building, and was prepared by David S. Hugg of the Development Department. It consists of a large, two-paneled background, supported at each end by tall box columns. The large center section lists the state's major tourist attractions, which are also depicted in eye-catching large black and white photographs. Colored transparencies, housed in illuminated box columns, call attention to the scenic beauty of the state.

The display is being manned by Mrs. Raymond Coffman, a former Delawarean now residing in the Harrisburg area. Following the close of the show Saturday evening, the display will be dismantled and will be returned to Delaware by Mr. Hugg.

In addition to vacationland and resort area displays, the Sports Show presents acres of the newest sporting goods and sports equipment, wild life and camping exhibits, special outdoor living projects featuring school children, and one of the largest boat shows ever held in the East.

Other attractions include archery, casting, field dog demonstrations, a junior life marksmanship school, a golf clinic, animal acts, a big game trophy exhibit and public trout fishing "for keeps." Visitors also may see new sport cars, stage and water shows, and a full program of daily contests and exhibitions.

Show hours for the remainder of this week are as follows: Thursday and Friday, 1 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. Visitors from Delaware will find a warm welcome awaiting them at the Delaware booth advises the Development Department.

Milford Hospital Auxiliary Is Collecting Dues

The 1964 membership dues for the Women's Auxiliary of the Milford Memorial Hospital are being collected now. Mrs. Vincent Lobo, Jr., is local chairman for the collection of the dues which are $1 per year. Assisting her is Mrs. Fulton Downing. Members who have not been contacted are urged to send their money to either of these ladies sometime in the next two weeks.

In a recent "Progress Report" of the Auxiliary it was noted that 1963 was a year of "purpose" with a goal of 1,000 members for the organization. The response was fine with a grand total of 1,008 memberships at the end of the year. With this money the Auxiliary was able to purchase a life-saving respirator for the hospital. The 1964 dues will be earmarked also for a special purchase. Watch the papers for the announcement. In the meantime, remember that Mrs. Lobo and Mrs. Downing will be only too glad to add your name to the active list of members.

Throughout each year the Auxiliary achieves its purpose of benefiting and serving the Milford Memorial Hospital by maintaining various projects. To list a few, they are the gift shop and cart, the Christmas shop, the baby picture service, the improvement of the Nurses' Home, the Candy Stripper program, and the largest project of the year, the hospital fair. Each of these activities is important to the hospital.

All the women of Harrington are cordially invited to become members of the Milford Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. The dues are small, but the work they accomplish is great. Send yours in today.

Southern States Holds Regional Meeting in Dover

Southern States Cooperative's dollar volume in its purchasing division for the first six months of the 1963-64 fiscal year showed a 4.8 per cent increase over the same period last year, but net savings were down slightly.

This information was contained in a report presented by J. H. Bucholz, Richmond, Va., of the cooperative, to members at a regional meeting held in Dover, on Feb. 19, 1964.

These sessions—there are 47 of them being held in a five-state area—are held annually by the cooperative.

Mr. Bucholz told the session that volume for the purchasing division stood at $44,640,061 for the first half of the fiscal year as compared to $42,595,350 a year ago. In marketing, volume was $4,533,160, down 11.8% from a year ago, with only egg marketing showing an increase. Poultry marketing volume was down, as was the marketing of grain. The dip in grain marketing reflected both curtailment of small grain production through government programs and two years of severe drought in much of the cooperative's operating territory.

In helping farmers ride out the drought disaster, Bucholz pointed out that Southern States has supplied farmers with more than 25,000 tons of feed at reduced costs during the first six months of the fiscal year. In addition, a considerable volume of seed was made available at cost in the drought areas. Total cost of this drought aid program during the six months period was about $100,000. Also during the same period the cooperative shipped 43,621 tons of hay at out-of-pocket cost to stricken farmers.

Increases were reported in feed, seed, petroleum and miscellaneous farm supplies, while fertilizer volume dipped slightly.

Net savings for the period reached about $550,000 for the six months period, down from the $730,000 reached a year ago. In pointing out the sound financial condition of the cooperative, Bucholz told members that the organization has about $6.00 of current assets for each $1 of current debt.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a discussion on "Meeting the Changing Credit Needs of Farmers Today," by a special credit panel. The panel was composed of Charles Gee, representing the Bank of Delaware, of Smyrna; Edward Evans, a representative of the Production Credit Ass'n. of Dover, and Paul Bickford of Dover, representing the Farmers' Home Administration. J. A. McHugh, Southern States regional manager of Seaford, was the panel moderator.

The members were also shown a color film entitled "This Business Called a Co-op for This Businessman Called a Farmer." Samuel Sloan of Harbeson, a director of the cooperative, presided at the session.

Guest young farmers attending the meeting were: Robert Eggs, Felton; Owain Gruwell, Felton; Ronald Wright, Harrington, and Carl Wright, Harrington.

Attending the session from this area were Charles L. Peck, manager of Peck Bros. Farm Supply Co., Inc., local Southern States retail outlet at Harrington, and board members Ellwood Gruwell, Elbert Harrington Jr., Francis Winkler, Alvin Brown, William Parker and Ray Collier.

Also attending were Norman F. Butler, manager of Butler Feed and Farm Supply, local Southern retail outlet at Harrington, and board members Tony Girardi, chairman; Maurice Wright, and Louder Vincent.

Funeral services will be held from the McKnatt Funeral Home, Harrington, Friday afternoon, Feb. 21, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Milton Elliott, Girdlewood, Md. and the Rev. Charles Koukish, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington, will officiate. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery, Harrington. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

Unity in Design Sought for Home

When creating costumes and interior decoration, aim for unity in the elements you use. Elizabeth Langsdale and Lavonia Hilbert, specialists in clothing and home furnishings from the University of Maryland recently told homemakers at a University of Delaware program.

Making a blueprint for good design, Miss Langsdale said, calls for working with many elements—color, line, form, pattern texture, light and space.

Color ranges from neutral to warm and cool. She said successful color schemes have common elements. Emotions are tied to color, too. We speak of being "thrilled pink" or having "a blue Monday." The color we use in homes and clothing often sets a mood for feeling.

Line and form are seen as one. Action or rest can be stimulated by the way lines move. Horizontal lines, for example, give a feeling of rest, while curved lines change the direction of your eye movements.

Space is emptiness, but it has to be present to make other elements more effective. Picture windows, letting the expanse of nature become a part of your living atmosphere, are a trend that shows use of this idea.

Texture and lighting are other elements of design that can be varied to give the effect you want. Patterns can be geometrical, conventional or natural. They can be broken down into repetitions of color and lines where some parts stand out and others recede.

Miss Hilbert defined balance as creating a feeling of equality on all sides. But balance is not a half and half proposition. A dress or living room—half brown and half orange—might give some people nightmares, indeed. That's why large areas of dark color are balanced by small patches of bright color. Neutral colors are used to tie them together.

Having appropriate elements in proportion and repeating some of them lend rhythm to the mood you create in your designs for living. Buttons on the front of a dress are an example of this rhythm. They also give unity.

Most important to good design is a focus of interest. Focus is the place where your eye goes. In room design, it can be achieved by the color, form, or line, or by emphasizing one of the other elements. In clothing, where your purpose is to accent the face and neck areas, you will find that the same principles apply.

The elements used in design can be used to give distinct, striking effects, or comforting harmony, depending on how you use them. And the smart home designer quickly learns how to take advantage of this.

U. of D. Appoints New Director Of Marine Lab.

Dr. Charles G. Wilbur, dean of the graduate school and professor of physiology and pharmacology at Kent State University, has been appointed director of marine laboratories at the University of Delaware.

He will assume his new duties as director and professor of biological sciences on July 1, 1964.

Dr. Wilbur becomes the third director of Delaware's marine program which was initiated in 1951. Previous directors have been Dr. Eugene Cronin, now with the University of Maryland, and Dr. Carl N. Shuster, Jr. who has become the first director of a recently opened Public Health Laboratory at Narragansett, R. I.

In addition to his post at Kent State, Dr. Wilbur has been head of the biology department at St. Louis University, taught at Fordham University, and served as an associate in physiology and pharmacology at the University of Pennsylvania. He also was a professional lecturer in biological sciences at Loyola College, Baltimore, and for eight years worked as a scientist with the Army Chemical Corps Medical Research Laboratories.

A graduate of Marquette University, Dr. Wilbur received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Johns Hopkins University in physiology and chemistry. He also holds a certificate in aviation physiology from the Air Corps School of Aviation Medicine.

Dr. Wilbur is author of more than 50 publications which have appeared in technical and professional journals. In 1961 he was awarded a fellowship by the New York Academy of Sciences in recognition of his scientific achievements. He is especially interested in research on the heart, and has conducted a number of studies aimed at determining man's physical health through a comparison of the size of his heart to the size of his body.

He is a member of many professional, educational and social organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma XI, the American Physiological Society, the International Society of Bioclimatology and the Marine Biological Association of the United Kingdom. He also is one of a group of lecturers who travel to colleges and universities throughout the U.S. under the auspices of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—As an amputee, I have been receiving a pension for non-service-connected disabilities. During my present hospitalization, it was necessary to amputate my other leg. Can I receive a greater pension now?

A—You may now be eligible for an additional allowance for aid and attendance after discharge from the hospital. This is not a general benefit but one made based on individual circumstances. You will have to apply to the VA for it.

Q—As a non-veteran, may I buy a GI home when it has been repossessed and again offered for sale?

A—The Veterans Administration has for sale to anyone who can qualify as to credit standing a large number of homes which have been foreclosed following non-payment by the GI purchaser. See your real estate broker, since most brokers are cooperating with the VA, to find out if any of these foreclosed homes are in your area.

Q—Can I make a personal loan from the VA to meet a financial emergency?

A—No. The benefits granted to veterans by Congress do not include provision for personal loans.

Cystic Fibrosis Clinic Opens At Wilm. General

Through the efforts of a small group of Wilmingtonians, many of them parents of children with cystic fibrosis, future CF youngsters in Delaware can look forward to faster diagnosis and accessible treatment facilities. This will be made possible by the operation of a special cystic fibrosis clinic in the Wilmington General Hospital, opened with funds received from last fall's CF campaign.

The opening of the facility was announced by Richard C. Cecil, president of the Delaware Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, after final approval was received from the hospital.

Arrangements have been made for the operation of the clinic one day each month, under the direction of Dr. Herman Rosenblum, Dr. Edward Sewell, Philadelphia pediatrician in charge of the chest clinic at Children's Hospital, will serve as a consultant to the clinic. Other members of the Wilmington General staff will assist in the clinic operation.

Present plans call for the clinic to open at 10 a.m. and close about noon on the second Thursday of each month.

Thus for the first time, children diagnosed as having, or suspected of having cystic fibrosis, may be taken to a medical facility in Delaware. Previously they have had to be taken to Philadelphia, where two cystic fibrosis centers are located.

President Cecil said that the opening of the clinic represents the culmination of one of the aims of the local CF Chapter.

"Our long-range goal is, of course, the discovery through research of a cure or means of prevention of cystic fibrosis," he said. "But even before that, we must see that children already stricken with the disease receive adequate diagnosis and treatment."

"The members of the Delaware Cystic Fibrosis Chapter would like to express their deep gratitude to all of the contributors to our campaign, who made this achievement possible," he continued.

The cystic fibrosis facility is located in quarters used at other times as a surgical clinic. It contains certain basic diagnostic equipment, such as a device for conducting the sweat test. Children with CF have large amounts of sodium chloride in their perspiration, one of the characteristics used by doctors to determine the presence of the disease.

Also present is intubation equipment, making it possible for tubes to be placed into the upper part of the small intestine of children for the collection of pancreatic secretions—another test used in the diagnosis of cystic fibrosis.

In addition to detection and treatment of the disease, the possibility of research on the clinical level is "an immediate possibility," according to Mr. Cecil. It is expected that studies will be conducted in conjunction with other cystic fibrosis clinics in the Middle Atlantic area.

This would not be experimentation, but rather systematized observation of the course of the disease and evaluation of methods of treatment.

This phase is an important one, for the cause and cure of cystic fibrosis remain mysteries. The disease is a comparatively new one to the medical profession, having been diagnosed as a separate disease for the first time in 1938.

The opening of the Wilmington clinic is a part of a nationwide expansion plan aimed at augmenting and extending the effectiveness of cystic fibrosis centers. In the near future, the number of clinics in the U.S. is expected to number about 90.

In addition to the CF clinics, there are 31 Cystic Fibrosis centers located in medical schools and their affiliated teaching hospitals throughout the United States. All have been established with the help of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation and are maintained with its support. The foundation plans to have 50 such centers in operation within the next two years.

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited children's disease affecting the glands of external secretion, including the sweat, saliva and mucus glands. Thick, gluey mucus clogs the lungs and sometimes the digestive tract and other parts of the body. Without early diagnosis and intensive medical and home treatment, half the children born with cystic fibrosis die before they are eight years old; but when the disease is caught and treated in its initial stage, patients may survive into their teens and beyond.

Children's Bureau Provided for 68 Children Last Year

The Children's Bureau of Delaware, a state-wide adoption agency, provided care for 68 children from Kent and Sussex Counties in 1963. This was an increase of nine children from the two counties over the previous year. Twenty-three of the children were from Kent County and forty-five from Sussex County. The Bureau accepts children for care whose parents are unable to make permanent plans for their future. Children are either placed directly with adoptive families under agency supervision or for a temporary period in boarding foster homes prior to adoption placement. The agency is non-sectarian and inter-racial.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Children's Bureau held Monday in Wilmington the report of the agency's services for 1963 also revealed that the number of couples from downstate adopting children through the agency has declined. A total of eight families in Kent County received a child to adopt in 1963 from the Bureau but only one family in Sussex County did. Concern was expressed that residents of both counties were not availing themselves as much as they might of the adoption service. One hundred and one children were placed with adoptive parents by the agency in 1963, the majority of these being white infants under two years of age. The report stressed the need for more white families interested in adopting a child over two and Negro families interested in adopting children from infancy up. Inquiries concerning adoption procedures can be addressed by letter to the Children's Bureau of Delaware, 1310 Delaware Avenue, Wilmington, Delaware 19806 or by telephone to OLYMPIA 8-5177. Pamphlets explaining the services are available upon request.

Mrs. Angelo J. Smith, Jr., president of the board of directors, announced that the 1963 Kent and Sussex County Appeal which includes the annual Blue Carriage Ball held each year in August in Rehoboth had raised $7,195 to date to help support the agency's services to families and children downstate.

Among board members re-elected at the annual meeting on Feb. 17 for terms of three years were: Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich and Mrs. John J. McNeilly, of Rehoboth; Mrs. Joseph S. C. Mach, of Seaford; Mrs. Otis H. Smith, of Lewes, and Mrs. John O. Snyder, of Milford. Included in new board members elected also for a term of three years was: Mrs. Warner W. Price, Jr., of Smyrna. Other downstate members of the board of directors whose terms did not expire are Mrs. William K. Paton, Mrs. Alden B. Richardson III, and Mrs. M. Hayes Wilson, Jr., of Dover; Mrs. Henry D. Sipple and Mrs. Carl A. Zoller, of Rehoboth, and Mrs. John E. Wilson, III, of Smyrna.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q—A friend of mine—a World War II veteran—pays his GI insurance premiums once a year and saves money. Can I do the same with my Korean GI term policy?
A—Yes. Holders of all forms of GI insurance—whether World War I, World War II or Korea veterans—can pay premiums on a yearly, rather than a monthly or quarterly basis. Notify the VA office to which you send your insurance premiums of your intention.
Q—I have just paid off my GI loan in full. Will this automatically entitle me to another GI loan?
A—No. Repayment in full does not entitle you to another GI loan.
Q—I am moving and I don't want a mix-up in receipt of my VA compensation check. I plan to tell the VA but they may have mailed my check before they receive my notice. Is there anything I can do to avoid a mix-up?
A—Notify the VA but also notify the Post Office, giving your old and new addresses. This will insure the forwarding of any check that is placed in the mails before VA can correct your address after your change-of-address is received.
Q—I have read that the terminal date for the GI loan program is July 25, 1967. Does that apply to all veterans?
A—No, only veterans of World War II. Korean Conflict veterans should add ten years to the date of their first discharge from active wartime service and then add one year for each three months of such service. The date reached by this formula is their personal deadline date for GI loans. However, it cannot be later than Jan. 31, 1975, which is the final date for all Korean Conflict eligibility. World War II veterans have a similar formula but their terminal date is the earlier July 25, 1967.
Q—My term insurance is getting too expensive and will be worse as time goes on. At this time I cannot afford to convert all of it to a permanent insurance plan. Can I convert part now and the rest later?
A—Yes. You may convert as little as $1,000 or more in multiples of $500 after the first thousand.
Q—Is any Korean veteran with a service-connected disability eligible for vocational rehabilitation training?
A—No. The veteran must be found in need of vocational training to overcome the handicap of his disability in order to receive the training.

First Lady Offers Heart-Warming Salute to Heart Fund Volunteers

Dear Friends, My highest praise goes to the 1,750,000 volunteers who will visit their neighbors on Sunday, February 23rd, to raise funds for the campaign against heart disease and other circulatory diseases. Heart disease respects no barriers of class or region or sex. Many homes have known its mark of pain and suffering. Its challenge is constant and our response cannot be less than the need and the opportunity. I am sure that the volunteers will be received most cordially as they go on their errands of mercy and good citizenship. Sincerely, Lady Bird Johnson Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson

E. P. Neilan to Speak at DPI Kick-off Dinner

Edwin P. Neilan, of Wilmington, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be the keynote speaker at the Kick-off dinner and meeting for the annual Delmarva Poultry Industry association fund drive at Salisbury, Thurs, Feb. 27.

He will call his talk, "Free Enterprise in Action - The Delmarva Poultry Industry," according to fund drive chairman Willis T. Hancock, who arranged for Mr. Neilan's appearance.

Speaker Neilan has a long acquaintance with the Peninsula's poultry industry, and its problems and achievements, Hancock pointed out. Now president and chairman of the board of the Bank of Delaware, he has been an officer there for 18 years.

Born in Mason County, Michigan, Neilan is a graduate of Rice Institute and attended law school in Texas before turning to banking. He is a past president of the Delaware Bankers Association, as well as being active in a long list of state and national banking groups and in community organizations in Wilmington itself.

A Lt. Commander in the Navy in World War II, he has served at various times since then as a member of the Advisory Committee on Naval Affairs and as Chairman, Delaware Advisory Council on Naval Affairs, 4th Naval District.

Hancock reported that more than 100 volunteer fund drive workers are expected to attend the kick-off dinner on Feb. 27 to hear Mr. Neilan and to receive final instructions for the fund drive period culminating May 19 in the poultry industry's annual $100-a-plate dinner. Goal for the drive this year is $160,000, up $3,000 from the $157,000 subscribed by 4,586 farmers, businessmen and others last year.

The fund is used to support research, industry improvements and promotion activities of the Delmarva Poultry Industry Association, Hancock said. These activities are designed to expand Delmarva markets and bring a larger share of the U. S. poultry dollar into the economy of the Delmarva Peninsula.

Prevent Poultry Disease By Sanitation

Sanitation is an answer to the problem of Chronic Respiratory Disease in chickens because other methods, such as drugs, are not completely effective, stated Dr. Morris S. Cover, director of the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station, at a recent Poultry Health Conference in New Hampshire.

Dr. Cover related that small groups of chickens can be raised free of chronic respiratory disease when provided with sanitary living conditions. The disease has been traced to a mycoplasma organism. Other types of mycoplasma are found in man and livestock.

Dr. Cover advised poultrymen to select birds with no clinical signs of infection from uninfected groups or from two-year-old breeders. Injecting a drug or antibiotic into these selected birds also helps, if followed with its use in the feed or water.

Transmission has been shown to be from hen to chick through the egg, and thus hatching eggs can be dipped in a drug or antibiotic to control spread by this means. Hatch and raise them in small groups, Dr. Cover suggested. Examine cull chicks during the growing period for evidence of infection, employing a sanitary means, isolated from the flock, to dispose of them.

When the producer loses part of his chicken crop for any reason, his profits are cut. This is reflected in higher consumer prices. Solution of poultry problems thus has benefits for both groups.

Cover's talk was sponsored by the University of New Hampshire, which annually draws scientists and poultry industry leaders to discuss better poultry health.

This is American History Month, sponsored by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

The Delaware State Fair starts to plan early for that big week in July. George Simpson, the general manager, has been busy with a host of committees aimed at making the Fair truly "bigger and better than ever". The secret of presenting a good fair is advance planning.

We'll not reveal the advance ideas yet. But you will be pleased with the featured stars, the new fireworks shows, some completely new exhibits, and several special events already set.

Bombay Hoop Wildlife Refuge will be featured in a Philadelphia telecast on Saturday morning, Dr. George Webster's farm show, Dale Cogeshall and Clayton Hardy tell how the refuge operates and point up the long range goals. Fred Mott, our soil conservationist pictures practices that farmers can use, while yours truly emphasizes the farm profit possibilities with recreation enterprises. Call us at 736-1448 for the booklets that explain these possibilities in greater detail.

"American Farm Policy" is the title of a new book by Dr. Don Paarlberg, of Perdue, due to appear on March 2. We are told that its a good agricultural political history of the last century.

Paarlberg takes this stand: Move toward individual decision-making in agriculture, with government strengthening the process but not substituting for private action. This is not a plea for a "return to the free market", but a "move toward freedom". Or put another way, agriculture is changing so rapidly and being influenced by so many outside forces that government action is needed to give added stability.

We can illustrate the point with this conversation last week with a highly respected local farmer: "Vapaa: Why did you sell your cows?"

Local farmer: "I had to decide whether to modernize my buildings or do something else. It would have taken a bulk milk tank, a new milk house, and who knows what else. I think the dairy business will change even more until it finally settles down. Luckily, there are several other ways for me to use my farm profitably. I like milk cows, and will probably come back to them when the profit possibilities improve".

I like this comment on the work of seven Secretaries of Agriculture from Paarlberg's book: "Able people, viewing their problems from different value standards, coming up with different answers. They appear to be out of step but are in fact marching to the best of different drums." This is the essence of partisan politics.

Farmers planning to sign up for the 1964 Feed Grain program have until March 27 to enroll. Kent countians should make inquiries to Lister V. Hall Jr. at the county ASC office on the dual highway south of Dover.

Two major changes have been made in this year's program. The maximum acreage which may be diverted has been raised to 50 per cent (from 40 per cent) of each farm's feed grain base. The payment rate per acre for diverting 40 per cent or more will also be higher than in 1963.

The largest acreage for which payment can be made for diversion is 50 per cent of the farm's feed grain base, or 25 acres if this is more than 50 per cent of the base. As in the past, the smallest acreage that can be diverted for payment is 20 per cent of the base.

In other respects, the 1964 program is generally the same as last year. The voluntary program combines corn, grain sorghum, and barley in a single feed grain base for each farm. Farmers participating will qualify for price support payments and payments for diverting land to conservation use. They also will be eligible for price support loans on all feed grains produced.

Corn, grain sorghum, and barley growers can analyze how possible participation in the feed grain program might affect their income and farming operations. Budget forms to assist in this analysis are available at our Extension office.

Liberal grain feeding of ewes should begin about one month before lambing and continue until several weeks after the ewe gives birth.

We recommend from one-half to three-quarters of a pound of a twelve per cent protein mixture per ewe each day, in addition to good quality hay.

Although ewes should never be allowed to become excessively fat, this type of feeding will keep them in condition. The idea is to feed according to their needs at each specific stage in their lives.

An agricultural engineer at the New York State College of Agriculture has buried 400 feet of steel pipe eight feet under the earth on Cornell's poultry experiment farm to test the removal and return of heat to and from the ground. The basic idea is to move air through the pipe, where it would be warmed in winter and cooled in summer. The engineer has been seeking a ground depth where temperatures will remain fairly constant throughout the year.

In summer, heat from air traveling through the 18-inch diameter corrugated pipe would be transferred to the cooler earth. This warmed air would aid in removing moisture built up in the structure being conditioned.

Broilers return $68 per thousand in Georgia. A study of costs and returns of broilers in Georgia, the nation's leading broiler state, shows 1962 contract returns average $68 per thousand birds sold. Net income per farm for typical Georgia broiler growers averaged $777. Compare this with the Delmarva area where the average grower received $5,542, and Maine where the average was $4,137.

Supervise Hired Labor for High Dollar Return

Getting the most from dollars spent for hired labor on the farm calls for good farm management practices, according to W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

"Labor Management on the Farm", a new booklet by McAllister, gives hints for farmers and farm managers on planning for increased production and better work from hired labor. Hiring, work schedules, and job supervision are emphasized.

When hiring, working conditions and benefits should be clearly explained, says McAllister.

Work schedules, planned for each day of the week, even out the week's work load. McAllister suggests having a separate list of odd jobs to be done when progress on other jobs is halted.

Supervision means less time wasted because the worker doesn't know how to do a job, or because instructions to him have not been clear. Time losses are also dollar losses for the farmer, both in wages and farm materials. Workers need supervision, but also want some responsibility and a word of praise for the success of the farm business, McAllister adds.

Free copies of "Labor Management on the Farm" are available from the Department of Rural Communications, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

Delaware Sends Two To Junior Poultry Meeting

Two junior Delaware poultry growers were among delegates from 26 states at the 11th Junior Poultry and Egg Fact Finding Conference, Feb. 13-16 in Kansas City, Mo.

Nina Tammi, 18, Rt. 2, Newark, and Frank S. Bennett Jr., 17, Clarksville, participated in sessions on production, marketing and career opportunities in poultry farming. They were accompanied by Mrs. Alice Hopkins, a 4-H leader, Rt. 2, Newark.

Miss Tammi annually raises 500 birds for laying flock replacements. The 10-year 4-H member was a 1963 national winner in the 4-H poultry program and received a $400 college scholarship. Nina has given numerous demonstrations and participated in 10 state and regional poultry judging contests. Through the years, she has helped with the family egg business, which markets eggs through stores and restaurants in the area. Project earnings, according to Nina, have paid her first year's tuition at the University of Delaware, where she is a freshman. She hopes to teach mathematics in high school following college.

Frank Bennett, Jr., the other delegate, is a senior at Lord Baltimore high school and plans to remain in poultry farming after graduation. He intends to increase his present yearly number of 44,000 broilers, build a new broiler house and double the capacity of another. Bennett markets his broilers at the Delmarva Poultry Exchange. He has won numerous awards for his exhibits at the state fair and has earned honors in county and chapter FFA.

The Jr. Poultry and Egg Fact Finding Conference met in Kansas City in conjunction with the Instid by Eastern Shore Poultry Exchanges' Fact Finding Conference for Business, which includes several thousand poultry businessmen.

Highlighting the Junior Conference were marketing demonstrations, panel discussions of poultry production and management, and career opportunities in the poultry industry. Equipment displays and tours were also featured.

Co-sponsors of the conference were the Institute of American Poultry Industries, Cooperative Extension Service, National 4-H Service Committee, and the Vocational Agricultural Branch, Office of Education. Trips for Miss Tammi and Bennett were provided by Eastern Shore Poultry Exchange, Selbyville.

Dairymen to Visit Ice Cream Seminar

Delaware milk and ice cream processors are scheduled to visit the University of Connecticut for a seminar on ice cream processing and to tour dairy ice cream businesses on Feb. 26 and 27, Dr. W. R. Hesseltine, extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware, has announced.

Professor Leonard Dowd, head of the dairy manufacturing section at the University of Connecticut, will conduct the Wednesday evening seminar and act as host for the group.

Dr. Hesseltine stated that the trip was planned to interest dairymen in ways to expand their own dairy businesses.

Reservations and inquiries may be made by contacting Dr. Hesseltine at Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Century Club News

The Fine Arts program at the Harrington New Century Club will be presented Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 25, by Mrs. James D. Moore, chairman. A presentation and explanation of famous paintings of the Metropolitan Museum of Art will be the highlight of the afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Moore with the arrangements will be Mrs. Ridgely V. Vane, Mrs. James F. Coady, Mrs. Howard Thistlewood, Mrs. Floyd N. Nasser, Mrs. Horace C. Johnson, Mrs. Granville B. Hill and Mrs. H. Arthur Hoffman.

A short business meeting will precede the program at 2 p.m. All members are urged to be present.

Rapid Growth Lambs Return Higher Profits

Highest profit in lamb raising comes from rapid growth, Don Kniffen, Rutgers University extension livestock specialist, said recently at a session for Delaware sheep producers. Producers who are able to sell 100-pound lambs at three to six months of age invariably have lower feeding costs than those who keep them longer.

Lambs held past maximum growth months, Kniffen said, mean higher feeding costs, more risk of infection and disease, and the possibility in the smaller breeds that weight gained may be fat rather than muscle. Early marketing also means higher prices and greater carrying capacity for your pastures.

The objectives of the sheep grower are usually determined by the type of meat consumers want, Kniffen related. Formerly, "prime" cuts were heavy with fat, but buyers today want leaner meat.

This type of meat is found most often on lambs up to 100 pounds. When dressed, they yield 40 to 50 pounds of marketable meat. Principal cuts are taken from the back and legs, so producers should breed for these qualities.

Kniffen stated that the factors which determine rate of growth are breed, sex, nutrition and type of birth, whether single or twin.

Selection of a ram influences the kind of flock you are building. Kniffen feels that the quickest and cheapest way to improve a flock is through careful selection of a ram. Look for the meat features of the market lamb when deciding on a ram.

The ram should have good width, a long, wide loin, a wide square dock, a heavy, muscular leg with a deep twist, a straight back, straight, strong legs and strong pasterns. He should also be typical of his breed, be above average in weight for his age, have a long dense fleece free of hair of black fibers, and be free of wool about the eyes.

Kniffen stated that rate of growth as indicated by 30 and 120-day weights is a good measure of desirability for a stud ram. Breeding performance of his dam is also important to consider. Commercial breeders need not be as concerned about blood lines or color. Since the ram influences the characteristics of every lamb he sires, your investment here will have lasting dollar returns.

Junior Broiler program entries are available now. Any youth 10 to 19 years of age is eligible to enter the Junior Broiler program. Participants raise fifty chicks for eight weeks, then submit seven cockerels for state-wide competition. Entries are available from 4-H leaders, 4-H club office (2nd floor, Dover postoffice) and from P.F.A. teachers. Entries are due by March 13.

Allen Metheny, Junior Leader of the Whiteoaks Club, reports they've started their club Demonstrations with two first year members. Kathleen Wiebel showed the club how to plant flower seeds while Penny Foltz did a foods demonstration. I understand that Nancy Konschak presented a program on nutrition that was most informative.

Dover Diamonds welcomed two new members, Linda and Tony Rucker. The clothing members meeting with project leader, Mrs. Bernadine Coleman were: Vickie Bedwell, Regina Donophan, Carol Henshaw, Ava Willey, Shawnee Puckett, Mary Boone, Paula Castellini, Given Ferguson, and Cheryl Cordray. Mrs. Puckett, home beautification leader worked with Shawnee Puckett and Ava Willey at a special meeting. Biggest news is the addition of a future 4-H boy to the Willey family.

958 Accidents Reported to MVD

A total of 658 traffic accidents involving damage in excess of $100, were reported on the streets and highways of this state during January, an increase of 85 over the number reported during January of last year.

The records of the Financial Responsibility Division of the Motor Vehicle Department disclose that of the accidents reported during January, 751 took place in Wilmington and rural New Castle County, an increase of 64; while 107 were reported in Kent County, an increase of 2, and Sussex County had 100, an increase of 19.

Of the drivers involved in the accidents reported during January 213 were from out of the state, and there were 293 persons reported injured in these accidents.

Felton Nips Harrington, 41-40

The upset of the year in Delaware High School play nearly came about Tuesday night at Felton High School. Harrington's Lions narrowly missed a triple-header sweep. In the afternoon Jim Hawpe's Jayvees won from Felton 60-47. In the first game Tuesday night Vi Testerman's Lionesses bested the Felton girls 32-21.

The folly of trying to match Felton at their own style of fire house, race-horse basketball has been discovered by practically every Henlopen school this winter. When the smoke cleared some of the vanquished loop rivals had scored a barrel of points only to trail by many tallies.

Coach Bill Smith's strategy worked like a charm as the Lions played a deliberate, ball-control game, holding the leather waiting for a good shot. The local led at halftime 23-18 and still had a five point lead going into the final period. The Green Devils pulled out the skimpiest of victories with a 13-7 last period edge. Their previous closest game was a 11 point victory. Felton usually scores from 80 to 100 points a night.

Harrington matched Felton from the field and had a higher shooting average from the charity stripe but lost because the winners converted 9 out of 22 to the Lions 8 of 18. Coach Joe Kerns will probably alert his charges to be on the lookout for possible ball-control type offenses from other Henlopen rival for the balance of the season.

Barry Fry and Bill Adams led all scorers with 17 and 14 points respectively, as Felton's high-powered scorers were all held below double figures.

Bill Green's 9 points led the winners. The Green Devils will be at second-place Bridgeville Friday, while Harrington will entertain Delmar. If the Lions can duplicate Tuesday's play the Wildcats had better seek a hole.

Mustangs Trample Lions, 72-57

Bridgeville's second place Mustangs defeated Harrington for the second time this season as they downed the Lions by a score of 72-57 here on Friday night. In the earlier clash only two points separated the teams.

Bridgeville took a 20-12 first period lead, widened it to 38-22 at halftime and 57-36 at the three quarter mark. A 21-15 Harrington bulge in the final period proved to be way-too-little and much-too-late.

Barry Fry and Bill Adams led the cellar-dwelling Lions with 17 and 12 points respectively. BRIDGEVILLE G F P Daugherty 1 2 4 Smith 1 0 2 Hopkins 8 1 17 Dukes 6 2 14 Zavacky 3 0 6 Rust 4 4 12 Calloway 7 3 17

Felton Streak Reaches Eleven

Felton High School's Green Devils had a few anxious moments Friday night when they hosted Dover Air High but they eventually won going away by a count of 87-69. The Devils have won all eleven of their starts this winter and need six more victories to wrap up an all-winning season and the Henlopen Conference Championship. Since they have met and handily defeated every other club in the loop it appears they have a good chance to go all the way.

The Falcons held the Devils even in the first quarter but were outscored in the next two periods to trail by six markers going into the climatic frame. The winners outshot them by almost two to one to chalk up the win. The Falcons surprised by deadlocking the Devils in action tosses but the Birds were clobbered 25-7 in that all-important free throw department.

Each Felton starter was in double figures as Jim Blades scored 24, George Reible 22, Bill Green 17, Bill Barr 14, and Dave Wood 10.

Chap Wasson's 24 led Dover Air as teammate Dave Morris added 20. Morris used to play for Felton High. We shudder to think how tough the Green Devils would be if he had not transferred.

Greenwood Ousts Delmar From Fourth Place

The Greenwood High basketball Foresters grabbed fourth place in the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference by defeating the previous occupant Delmar 48-39 at Delmar Friday night.

The home team put up a stiff battle but the Foresters had the scoring edge in every period to slowly but surely draw away from the losers.

Greenwood's record is now three wins and eight losses while Delmar has a 3-9 log. Schulze, Woodall and Henry led the victors with 13, 12 and 11 points, respectively. Greenwood had a decisive 17-12 edge in field goals.

Biddy Basketball Notes

Bill Minner's Warriors remained unbeaten by taking a low-scoring contest with the Globetrotters. Ted Layton's Hawks won two to remain a half game behind in second place. In the fourth game Saturday, the Celtics outscored the Eagles 11-5.

This Saturday's play winds up the regular season. The Hawks can force a tie for the title by defeating the Warriors. If the Warriors best the Hawks, Bill Minner's boys will be outright champions. A third possibility exists. If the Warriors lose both their remaining games, the Hawks will be the kings.

RESULTS—Hawks 36 - Eagles 9; Warriors 10 - Trotters 4; Hawks 29 - Trotters 14; Celtics 11 - Eagles 5.

Lion Matmen Shine Despite Loss

Coach Frank Glazier's Harrington High matmen made an unexpectedly strong showing Friday afternoon before they were defeated 27-17 by a Wicomico High team that is undefeated in six Eastern Shore starts.

The Salisbury Indians had beaten Harrington by 30-15 at Salisbury earlier in the season and had been expected to do even better this time out because Bob Smith, the Lions' tough 165 pounder, is out with an ear infection. His absence caused the locals to forfeit in that division giving Wi-Hi a 5-0 lead before hostilities started.

The Lions won five of the 11 bouts contested and were in the running until the end of the final bout. Bruce Disharoon, Salisbury's class 85 pounder was pinned by David Greenly in their previous match for his only loss in seven bouts. The Indian got revenge Friday by decisioning Greenly to hand the latter his first defeat this winter.

Richard Dryden, owner of a 6-1 log, won by decision over Lion Dan Adams, a comparative new-comer, at 103 pounds. At 112 pounds, Steve Welch of the locals made a fine showing although dropping the decision. He is very young and will be heard from before long if he continues to improve at his present rate.

Jim Cain kept his winning streak going in the 120 pound division as he outclassed Gibbons of Wi-Hi. Cain has only two losses against ten wins. George Bonniwell is the only Lion with an unblemished record this winter. George was in charge all the way as his rival, Hastings, barely managed to avoid being pinned in the 127 pound setto.

At this point the Lions started to run out of experience and had to go with newcomers Mike Bakota and Mike Kohel. To the delight of the home crowd both tyros came through with victories to send Harrington into a 12-9 lead after trailing 9-0 after the first three matches. Bakota, at 133 pounds, showed the results of his weight-lifting training as he opened the bout by dumping Davis on the seat of his britches shortly after the word "go". He kept the Indian in hot water most of the way to win 6-0.

Kohel took the 138 pound clash after a see-saw duel with Dayton. Don Fry gave away 16 pounds but managed to hold off his rival until the second round. Charlie Tribbitt trailed Wilson of Wi-Hi 3-0, fought back to 3-3 tie, fell behind 5-3 and got back to 5-4, when the 165 pound bout ended.

Lewis Starkey faced a reluctant foe at 180 pounds but would have none (reluctance that is) and swiftly clutched his rival to his bosom and flattened him in 65 seconds. The Indian proved to be no pansy, however, for he thrashed mightily for half a minute before the muscular Starkey finally satisfied the referee.

Willie Bonniwell was over-matched in the unlimited bout as he scales 181 and Atkinson of Wi-Hi weighs 240 pounds and then some. Observed in the stands were several former grapplers, during the Mike Mock regime, who are still in school and gave up the sport for an astonishing variety of reasons. We hope they are proud of the good showing made by the eleven courageous lads who had the Wi-Hi coach pacing the floor all afternoon.

Wait until next year. Only George Bonniwell will not be back. Also, this 1964 team has eighth-graders and freshmen on it. Just a little more experience and vah-vah-vo.

Lion Jayvees Win Ninth

Jim Hawpe's Harrington High junior varsity basketball team won their ninth game in eleven starts Friday afternoon at Bridgeville.

The game was not as close as the score 47-38 might indicate. The Lions held a comfortable 38-24 lead after three quarters and Bridgeville closed the gap a little against the Lion reserves in the fourth quarter.

Sam Knox, Marshall Hatfield and John Greenhaugh, led the locals with 10 points each. Steve Motter, Dan Manges and Ellis Myer played good all-around games to help send Bridgeville down to defeat. Harrington hosted the Mustangs in a previous meeting at Harrington.

All work is to begin within ten days after execution of the contract and must be completed before July first. Contractors will receive monthly payments for construction completed each month.

Miller did not give cost estimates on the two projects. He said that when bids are received and the low bidder is announced, then negotiations begin for a signed contract after which work proceeds. The Authority opened bids Feb. 17 on several major construction projects for the twin to Delaware Memorial Bridge involving some $13 million. Work on that structure will begin just as soon as the contracts are executed, Miller, said.

Lion Jayvees Beat Felton, 60-47

Harrington High's junior varsity basketball team, coached by Jim Hawpe, defeated Felton by a score of 60-47 Friday afternoon here. Felton had handed Harrington its first loss of the season in a previous contest at Felton.

The stellar rebounding of Ellis Myer played a big part in the victory as Harrington led all the way. Another crucial factor was the 14-3 edge from the foul line enjoyed by the Lions as Felton trailed by only 23-22 in field goals.

John Greenhaugh opened the scoring with a free throw. Dean Manges dropped another for 2-0. Greenhaugh pushed in a field goal from up close; Manges drove down the middle for another and Marshall Hatfield grabbed two rebounds and converted them into more buckets before French hit for Felton to make the score 10-3. Harrington, Sam Knox scored on a fast break to end the first quarter scoring. Manges made several steals and interceptions in the first period and played well defensively throughout the game.

Will Dill, Felton's sophomore ace, could make most of the varsity squads in the Henlopen Conference. He hit for three baskets in a row to get Felton, close at 14-11. Two fielders by Manges and six points by Knox pulled the Lions into a 26-13 halftime lead.

Trailing 43-24 at the end of three periods, Felton put on a sprint that saw them outscore the Lions 23-17 for their best showing of the afternoon. Will Dill caged one of his many soft push shots, sandwiched between a brace of Greenhaugh fielders. Bob Matthews passed off to Motter for two points and the biggest Lion bulge of the game at 49-28. Will Dill and Co. made five baskets so fast that this reporter's pencil couldn't keep up. Dill got four and possibly all five. Hatfield relieved the pressure with a three point play. Two Green Devil baskets brought the battling five closer at 52-41. Knox converted two free throws and Manges scored from outside before "Red" Dill and a teammate matched those points with a pair from action. Hatfield rebounded and scored and added another basket to close out the contest.

Greenhaugh 17, Knox 15, Hatfield 11, and Manges 11 led the winners, while Will Dill led all scorers with 22. Mitch Godwin added eight points for Felton.

Foresters Bow to Bridgeville

Greenwood's Foresters dropped a 68-54 decision to Bridgeville's Mustangs in a game played at Greenwood Tuesday night. In an earlier contest between the schools at Bridgeville the Mustangs grabbed a cliff-hanger but the Foresters this time were whipped by their first half let-down.

The Mustangs led 39-20 at halftime and won handily though outscored in the second half. Dave Henry and Buell Schulze led the Foresters with 15 points apiece. Dick Hopkins (22), Gary Rust (17) and Bob Callaway (16), paced the winners.

Entomologist Joins U. of D. Faculty To Give Seaford Lecture Series

Dr. Dale F. Bray, professor of entomology at the University of Delaware, left recently for Dominica, West Indies, to participate in the first two months of a three-year study by the Smithsonian Institute.

In addition to Bray, who will collect insects, the Smithsonian-Archbold Biological Survey and Expedition includes members from the Smithsonian who will study plants, birds, and animals. The study was financed by Dr. Bruce Bredin, Wilmington industrialist. John D. Archbold, of Fox Lease Farms, Upperville, Va., has provided quarters on the island for members of the group.

Dominica is a small island near Puerto Rico, 30 miles long and 12 miles wide. Bray stated that its mountainous surface makes it one of the richest islands from a biological viewpoint. It is sparsely populated and not suitable for agriculture. Part of the study is to chart changes that take place in animal life as population increases, and help plan how to regulate animal life.

Bray said that several years will be spent cataloguing the specimens taken during his two month stay on the island. Chairman of the entomology department at the University of Delaware, Bray is also a member of the Entomological Society of America and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.
