

CITIZENS' MEETING TO DISCUSS WATER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENTS

The City of Harrington will hold a public hearing at 8 P. M., Fri., June 12, in the Fire Hall on a proposal to float a $90,000 bond issue to drill a well and add water mains.

The decision to hold the hearing was reached Friday night at a special meeting of the City Council. It was verified in resolution form Wednesday night at the regular June meeting of the Council.

The Council came to its decision after City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann cited statistics on the need for improvements to the water system.

He said the present system included two wells, normal capacity of which is a total of 360 gallons per minute when they are operating at 100 per cent efficiency. They are operating at about 75 per cent efficiency, Mann added.

Fifteen years ago, Mann continued, the City used 40 to 50 gallons per day per person. Nowadays, with the addition of numerous devices, such as garbage disposal units, automatic washers, air conditioners, dish washers, the daily consumption of water has increased to 240 to 250 gallons per day per person, he pointed out.

Furthermore, the city manager commented, improved water system is needed for better fire protection.

The proposed improvements would include the following: A 10-inch well, 600 to 700 gallons per minute, in the vicinity of Reed Street south of Clark Street.

A 10-inch main from the water tower to East Street; thence an eight-inch main on East Street to Clark Street to Delaware Avenue and out the last-named thoroughfare to the city limits.

Inclusion of Delaware Avenue was determined by the following factors, Mann said: Numerous leaks have been appearing on the antiquated mains. The state will improve the street, along with Center Street this year. The City would like to install its new mains before construction begins to preclude breaking up the highway.

The city's work would also include replacing house services from the main to within the curb line.

Installation of these mains and well would provide more water for the entire city, since the water tower is already adequate, Mann pointed out.

And at the same time, Mann added, the groundwork for future growth and expansion would be laid with the initial improvements since other improvements are scheduled in a long-range program.

Drug and Cosmetic Quackery
There have been more medical advances made in the past 50 years than in all the previous years of recorded history. Many diseases have been conquered and many more brought under control. Yet even in this "Golden Age of Medicine" the American public is still being victimized by fakes and swindlers in the health field. The older American makes up a substantial proportion of that part of the general population which is duped in this manner.

It's easy to believe in medical fakes when you're sick, frightened, or alone. And it's just as easy to fall for phony cosmetics that promise to restore youth and beauty.

The Food and Drug Administration, whose mission it is to enforce the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, has this to say about the phony remedies promoted for some of the ailments which affect older people: Arthritis and Rheumatism — The severe pain of these diseases makes the sufferer an easy target for the charlatan. Early treatment by a competent doctor is a "must," since it can help prevent crippling. The doctor will also prescribe the most effective pain relievers. But there are, as yet, no drugs which truthfully can be labeled as a cure. Be wary of weasel-worded promotions that don't actually promise a cure—but nevertheless imply it.

Democrats Eye Five For Lt. Governor

Delaware Democrats are eyeing five possibilities for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

This is the only one of the four top posts on the Democratic Party's ticket for the November election that is in doubt, as the Democrats see it.

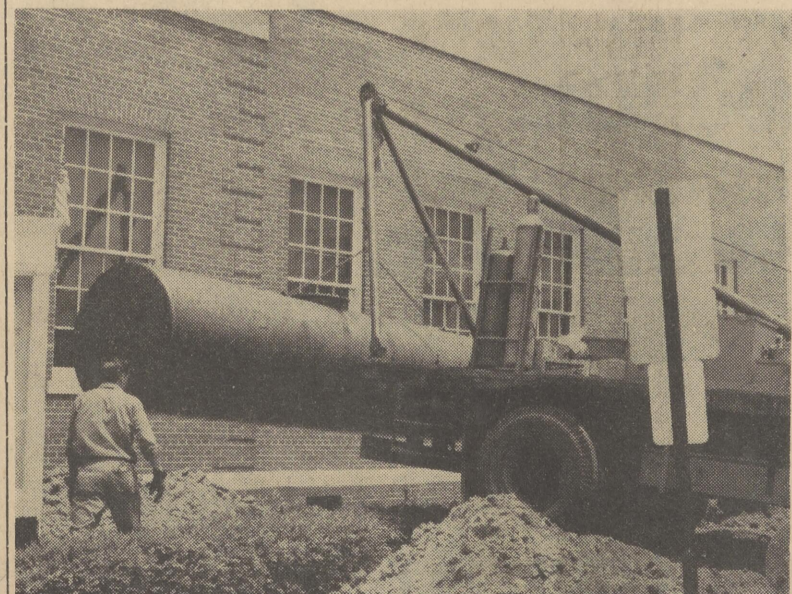

They expect that Gov. Elbert N. Carvel will be the candidate for the U.S. Senate seat occupied by Sen. John Williams, R-Del.; that U.S. Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D-Del., will run for re-election; and that the state convention will try to draft Chief Justice Charles L. Terry Jr. to run for governor.

New endorsements are popping up for possible candidates for lieutenant governor. The post has not been allocated to any geographical area, but since it appears the other three major candidates will be from below the canal it is likely the lieutenant governor will be a resident of northern New Castle County. He could be from Wilmington or from the rest of the county.

The most recent entries, by way of endorsement, are Samuel R. Russell Jr., who is chairman of the Governor's Committee on Reorganization of the Government of New Castle County, and Budget Director F. Earl McGinnes.

Both were endorsed Wednesday night—Russell by the Claymont Democratic Club and McGinnes by the Young Democrats of Christiana Hundred.

Salesman Fakes Promotion for H.M.R. Benefit

We at the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded have been informed that an individual, a man who refused to give his name, has been going around attempting to sell religious pictures at $19 each for the benefit of the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded.

The Hospital for the Mentally Retarded has no such representative, and anyone being approached on any benefit for the H.M.R. can easily call the hospital, verifying the same with Mrs. Olive Adams (Telephone No. Millsboro 934-9231).

Anyone wishing to make a contribution to the hospital should make a check in the name of the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded and send it directly to the hospital. You could then be assured the money would be used for the benefit of the pupils-patients.

Fourth Grade Visits Dover

The 28 students in Rufus Bausell's 4th grade took a field trip to Dover last Wednesday, May 27. Leaving school at 8:45 they were accompanied by Mr. Bausell and two mothers who served as assistants, Mrs. John Curtis and Mrs. Alvin Thompson.

Quite a full itinerary was scheduled with a visit to the State Museum first on the list. Christ Church and the grave of Caesary Rodney were also visited before the group assembled at Legislative Hall. Here they noted the desks of their own Senators and Representatives.

A visit to the Governor's office was a highlight of the day, even though Governor Carvel was not present. His secretary kept the group thoroughly interested by showing and explaining to them the many items in the office. Each student also received a souvenir.

Lunch on the Green served as a welcome time out to rest up before continuing on to the John Dickinson Mansion, on the outskirts of Dover and Barratt's Chapel near Frederica.

Before their return to school at 3 o'clock there was an additional stop for refreshments to conclude a happy and educationally rewarding day.

Veterans News

Honors paid America's wartime dead on Memorial Day bring to mind that the War between the States remains the most costly in American lives of all conflicts in which the nation has engaged, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Regional office of the Veterans Administration said VA records show.

Both sides were composed of Americans in that struggle.

Union deaths totaled 364,000. Confederate dead has been set at more than 200,000 by Dr. Joseph Jones, surgeon general United Confederate Veterans.

This total, in excess of 564,000, is the largest American toll in a single war.

There were about 4,000 deaths in the American Revolution and 2,000 deaths in service in the war of 1812.

A thousand Americans died in the various Indian wars between 1860 and 1898.

The Mexican War of 1846-48 recorded 13,000 deaths in service. Deaths in the Spanish-American War totaled 11,000.

Mr. Fields said World War I deaths in service were 131,000 and there were 409,000 deaths in service in World War II.

The Korean Conflict saw 54,000 deaths in service.

Total deaths in all America's wars were 1,189,000.

More than 368,000 widows and children of veterans who died from service-connected causes are receiving compensation payments from the Veterans Administration. 600 of these are paid from the VA Regional Office in Wilmington.

The regular June meeting of the Harrington Fire Company was called to order last Monday evening by President Paul Neeman, with 26 members present.

Hoey To Send Two Divestiture Bills To Floor

A move to force two divestiture bills out of committee was abandoned Wednesday, in Dover, but the chairman said he will report them out when the General Assembly returns June 15.

Sen. Walter J. Hoey, D-Milford, promised to report the measures to the floor as he introduced an amendment making substantial changes in one of the bills along lines he has been demanding in recent days.

A move to petition the bills from Hoey's Finance Committee was dropped, with senators saying they preferred to let them come out without this unusual procedure.

Sen. Allen J. Cook, D-Denton, reported another bill in the four-bill package from the Revised Statutes Committee. Two are out of committee and two remain in Democratic senators caucused both alone and with the governor on the question of the divestiture bills.

Sen. Eugene D. Bookhammer, R-Rehoboth Beach, introduced an amendment to the bill, which would create a trust fund for some of the monies. The amendment would rule out use of eminent domain to acquire land. This is one of the changes sought in Hoey's amendment.

Hoey is seeking to amend the measure which would appropriate $3.25 million—already in the state's coffers—to be used fairly soon.

Basically, it would provide that $600,000 of the $3.25 million be used to develop facilities already owned by the state and reduce the amount of Sussex County would receive from the remaining $2.65 million. New Castle and Kent Counties thus would receive an additional percentage.

Hoey has argued that there is much available land in Sussex County and that a great amount of money is not needed to purchase it, thus removing it from the tax rolls.

Sen. Calvin R. McCullough, D-Holoway Terrace, who on Tuesday began a move to petition the two bills out of Hoey's Committee, Wednesday called Hoey's amendment "the answer we've tried to get."

"I'm glad to do it this way," said McCullough. "It (the amendment) improves the bill, I believe."

Hoey said after the session ended that he will report the bills out "as soon as we come back." Some legislators are visiting the Bordentown, N. J. reformatory Friday, so there will be no meeting. Next week the governor will be away.

Specifically, Hoey's amendment, which was placed with the bill, would make the following changes: The words, "and maintenance" would be added to "acquisition of public lands."

The $600,000 would be divided among the State Forestry Department ($100,000) for development and maintenance of lands already under its control; to the park commission ($250,000) to develop and maintain lands at Ft. Miles; to the highway department ($100,000) to develop and maintain picnic and parking facilities now on land under its control; and to the park commission ($150,000) for development and acquisition of ponds and land sites in Sussex County.

The remaining $2.65 million would be appropriated as in the original bill—except the $800,000 in the other part would have reduced it from the $3.25 million—with 61.5 per cent going to the park commission, 23 per cent to the game and fish commission, and the remaining 15.5 per cent to the three county levy courts and to Wilmington.

But the amendment would limit the use of the park and game and fish funds to New Castle and Kent Counties, excluding Sussex.

Also, the Kent County Levy Court would receive 38.90 per cent of the allotment to the levy courts and Wilmington, instead of the 24.03 in the original bill. Accordingly, Sussex would drop from 24.87 to 10 per cent.

QUACKERY

(Continued from Page 1) great progress—but beware of unproved remedies. Beware, too, of the phony who promotes his product to the public and claims the medical profession is against it and him.

Your doctor keeps up with what is being done in cancer research and will refer you to a specialist, if necessary. An authoritative source of cancer information is: The American Cancer Society, 219 East 42nd Street, New York, New York 10017.

Heart Disease — There are many kinds of heart disease—now often called cardiovascular disease. Proper diagnosis is essential to proper treatment. There is no single treatment for all heart conditions.

One rule for preventing a heart attack is to avoid overweight. Your doctor will help you choose a diet suited to your needs. Garlic is not good for high blood pressure, nor are safflower oil capsules a preventive for heart diseases and strokes. An authoritative source of information is: The American Heart Association, 44 East 23rd Street, New York 10, New York.

Lost Manhood—This type of cure has been with us as long as sex, and is one of the oldest swindles in the book. Vitamin E is an example of one type of worthless product that has been promoted for sexual rejuvenation. Here again your best bet is to consult your doctor.

Wrinkles—These are an unwelcome but inevitable gift of time. There are many good, inexpensive creams and lotions on the market today to help lubricate the skin and alleviate dryness. But, there are no creams, ointments, masks, or plasters that will prevent, correct, or remove wrinkles. Beware of products that have such extravagant names—or slogans—as "Eternal Youth Oil," "Magic Wrinkle-Remover," or "Miracle Hormone Cream for an Ageless You."

Baldness — The most common form of baldness is hereditary. There are no drugs or treatments that can bring dead cells back to life—or that "feed" hair roots and scalp. Be particularly skeptical of advertisements that present case histories and testimonials.

How do you recognize quackery? Here are some pertinent questions to guide you: —Is the formula or treatment something "exclusive" or "secret"?

—Does it promise a quick cure? —Is it advertised by case histories or testimonials? —Does the sponsor clamor for medical investigation and recognition?

—Does the sponsor claim medical men are persecuting him or fear his competition? —Are the recognized treatments belittled? If the answer to any of these is "yes"—be wary. Investigate before you invest! Save your money—and maybe your life!

ual routine business was conducted. The treasurer, Mrs. Earl Sylvester, gave the annual report on the finances of the Society, which showed that a very successful year had been enjoyed, all bills paid to date and a substantial balance with which to begin the new year, the first meeting of which will be held on September 8. The members were reminded that the annual fall bazaar will be held, possibly the early part of October. It is the custom to hold this bazaar at the same time the O.U.R. Class of the church holds its fall supper. The regular program and refreshment hour were dispensed with so that the members could join members of the congregation in the Fellowship Hall at 8 o'clock, where a reception was being held for Rev. Charles Poukish and family, who have returned to Trinity for another year. More than 100 adults and innumerable young people were present to welcome the Poukish family back. Mr. Poukish gave the invocation, and those speaking in behalf of the various organizations were Ellwood Gruwell, lay delegate to the annual conference; Manlove Bradley, supt. of the church school; Mrs. S. M. Williams, president of the W.S.C.S.; Leroy Calhoun, president of the O.U.R. Class and Men's Fellowship; Alfred Mann, city manager and Randall Knox, Jr. lay leader of Trinity. Mr. Knox had the privilege of presenting to the minister a gift from the congregation. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ernest Raughley, who in addition to introducing the speakers, had arranged with Melvin Brobst, organist and choir director, for a musical program. There was group singing, vocal and instrumental solos and duets. The refreshment committee in charge was headed by Mrs. Harry Adkins and Mrs. Earl Sylvester, who were assisted by the women of the church, as well as some of the men, in serving homemade ice cream and homemade cake.

WHY ARE SOME ACME MARKETS BEING PREVENTED FROM SERVING THE EASTERN SHORE?

AN OPEN LETTER TO OUR CUSTOMERS

Many of our customers, whom we esteem highly, have been asking our store managers when all of our stores will be open. We wish we could give you a definite date. Acme Markets has been your neighbor for many years. We have been proud to operate in your communities as members of the community. Our customers have always been a prime consideration. The success of Acme Markets depends in large measure on the hard work of our employees and the continued patronage of our customers. We do believe that you are entitled to an explanation. The closing of some of our stores is not of our making; it is not of our choosing. We want to re-open all of our stores immediately, and the only reason we have not been able to is because of the irresponsible actions of officials of Baltimore Local 692 of the Retail Clerks International Association. Acme Markets has always respected the right of our employees to make their own decision as to whether they want to be represented by a labor union. We have consistently refused to sign an agreement with Local 692 of the Retail Clerks International Association covering our employees on the Eastern Shore without our employees first voting by secret ballot—unmolested and uncoerced—whether they want to belong to Local 692. There have been many National Labor Relations Board elections covering our employees on the Eastern Shore. Our employees have consistently voted against the Retail Clerks and other unions. The inconvenience suffered by our customers is related to the fact that we respect—and will continue to respect—the right of our employees to make this decision. The only time we will deal with a union covering our employees on the Eastern Shore, or elsewhere, is when they themselves make that choice. We are asking for your cooperation because we believe you will support us in this fight. These are the facts. The Food Employers Labor Relations Association, which represents the seven major supermarket chains in the Baltimore area, has been negotiating for many months with Local 692 for a new contract. The contracts covering all of these major chains expired on the same date. Our joint negotiating committee did not want this strike. We offered Local 692 of the Retail Clerks a very generous wage increase for all our employees. We offered a better vacation schedule and improved health and welfare benefits, that were in keeping with and in many instances far better than the general pattern of wages and fringe benefits negotiated by unions in other industries throughout the country. As a matter of fact, the wage increase and the fringe benefits we proposed to the union placed our companies at a very serious competitive disadvantage, because this same union—Local 692—had already negotiated new contracts with other competitors that are far below our already existing wage levels, and the union has never been able to give us a satisfactory reason why it signed such substandard agreements with those competitors, and at the same time asks us to increase our costs. We are sure that you as customers can appreciate our concern in seeking to maintain a proper balance with our competitors, so we can continue to offer you first quality food and other products at the lowest possible prices. It was made clear to the union that any proposal that was made by the employers' committee would apply to all member companies of the Food Employers Labor Relations Association. This was why we had a joint negotiating committee representing all the member companies. This was the same procedure that was followed when the last agreement was negotiated over three years ago. Without warning or notice, which resulted in the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of perishable merchandise, the union struck Acme Markets in an attempt to divide and conquer. We consider this an act of bad faith, and we had to fight back for our own survival. We did not violate any rules of ethics. We did not violate any law, since it is common knowledge that the United States Supreme Court has clearly sustained this course of action in order to protect a company against an attempt to destroy it. The union knew that when it struck without notice against any member of the Food Employers Labor Relations Association this would result in the closing of all member stores. The union knew that a strike against Acme Markets would be a strike against all members of the Food Employers Labor Relations Association, because we were negotiating jointly. This strike takes on special significance for our customers and employees on the Eastern Shore because one of the union's demands is that we force all our employees on the Eastern Shore into Local 692, despite the fact that they have rejected the Retail Clerks several times. We refuse to be a party to such conniving. We feel confident that our actions meet with your approval. In order that our employees may exercise their freedom of choice without suffering the pressure of lost wages, Acme Markets has established a policy of continuing to pay weekly wages to our Eastern Shore employees whose stores are closed because of the irresponsible action of Retail Clerks Local 692. How long will our stores be closed? We wish we knew. We can only say this: We will not be coerced; we will continue to fight to preserve our ability to service our customers with the best merchandise at the lowest possible prices, and we will continue to support our employees' democratic right to make their own decisions, free from intimidation and coercion. Acme Markets, in conjunction with all the major food chains that make up the Food Employers Labor Relations Association, have responded to an appeal from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and we are meeting in Washington with representatives of Local 692. It is our sincere hope that we will be able to end this strike by negotiating a new collective bargaining contract that will permit us to continue to bring our customers our food products at the lowest prices possible. At the same time, we shall continue to defend the fundamental rights of our employees. We ask your continued understanding and cooperation.

Sincerely yours, M. Ruark Division Manager

FENCE TALK

With George Vapaa

A limited access road down through the state has been very much in the news lately. I'd like to pitch in a notion that can help increase economic growth. Very briefly, such a road could very well come down the state on the crown, or high point, of the watersheds. It could range three to five miles west of the railroad to a point in the neighborhood of Harrington, where it would cross both railroad and dual highway and continue south to the state line.

The main advantages are that it would minimize the need for large bridges crossing streams, and most of the prime crop land would be avoided.

Land drainage is being rapidly improved in the state. Much of this is in the pockets or depressions at or near the crown point. The drainage benefits both highways and crop lands.

It seems foolish to destroy good crop land with such a road. Too much of this sort of thing weakens our strong agricultural base.

I see little advantage in placing a limited access road too close to the bay or too close to the western border. We should stimulate economic growth on both sides of our roads. Why should Delawareans subsidize Maryland growth with a west side highway? And we haven't learned yet how to build in the Delaware Bay to any extent.

Of course, we might like the shelf out in the bay, and gain new lands. Or we could do the same thing with some of our extensive marshes. But land in Delaware is not yet as critical as it is in Holland with its polders in the Zuider Zee.

The Delaware Rose Society meeting came off very nicely last week. Some 25 people saw Mrs. Ann Barcezewski of Newark place two classes of roses with reasons.

Roses are scored on a point basis. In this case 25 points for form, 25 points for substance, 20 points for color, 20 points for stem and foliage, and 10 points for size. Form deals with the symmetry or regularity of the bloom. Substance is concerned with the freshness and vigor of the bloom.

Mrs. Nellie Troyer won a prize of rose food as winner of the downstate group. Mr. Clyde Behney, of Wilmington, won a gift certificate from the Red Mill Nursery as the winner of the upstate group.

Blooms for the judging were furnished by Harold McDonald, of Harrington, Mrs. W. G. Davis, of Dover, and Mrs. Sally Brayman of Dover.

Alex Cobb of Newark, the program chairman, asked if there may be enough interest in a division of the Delaware Society downstate. A planning meeting is proposed for the near future. Anyone interested should inquire at the Kent County Extension Service office, telephone 735-1448.

Your enthusiasm for a good lawn can actually do more harm than good. U. S. Department of Agriculture plant experts say. If you apply concentrated inorganic fertilizers too heavily, you'll actually burn the grass in two or three days. Burned areas may appear in spots or streaks, or you may see a brown look on your entire yard. To prevent injury, apply the fertilizer evenly in recommended amounts when the grass is dry, then water immediately. If your lawn is burned, water generously to wash off excess fertilizer and reduce injury. Ground agricultural limestone is safer for lawns than hydrated lime. To find how much to apply, have your soil tested. Our county extension service has information on soil testing, a free service of the University of Delaware. Call 736-1448.

Sheep shearing is one of the important jobs to be done each year with the flock. If this job has not yet been completed, it should be done immediately. All sheep should be shorn by the middle of May. Early shearing helps maintain wool quality. Lambs do better when their mothers are shorn early, and ewes are more comfortable, graze more freely, and as a result, milk better.

Be sure sheep are dry when you shear them. Do the job on a clean, dry floor. Remove all manure locks and other foreign matter before rolling up the fleeces. And roll with the clean skin side out. Tie the wool with paper wool twine, and store the wool in a clean, dry place until it goes to market.

If a commercial shearer takes care of the flock, plan your schedule so you can be present at shearing time, to be sure of maintaining quality.

While you have the sheep up for shearing, it's an ideal time to treat for internal parasites. Spray or dip for external parasites ten days to two weeks after shearing.

The annual wool pool sponsored by the Delaware Sheep and Wool Association will be held June 20 at the State Fairgrounds in Harrington, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Any wool producer may participate.

Adding to farm income is one of the main attractions of starting a farm vacation business. However, a recent survey of farm businesses in Ohio revealed some disadvantages which merit consideration. Expenses for accommodations depend on whether you have to remodel a present building or build a new one. These cost vary greatly. Additional work in caring for guests, loss of privacy and difficulty in spacing reservations rather than having them bunched at the end of the summer were also cited. While a few farmers grossed over $2,000 from their seasonal business, others were unsuccessful and had no guests.

British scientists are spraying desert sands with nine parts mineral oil and one part latex rubber and getting crops to grow on the sand. The spray lays a fine mesh network of rubber film over sandy soil to halt erosion. Sprayed on sand dunes, the material allows grass seeds to germinate and grow, eventually holding the sand in place. Tests have shown that seeds of peas, lettuce and onions can grow satisfactorily through the rubber film. The method also controls rainfall and channels it into areas where it can be used more effectively; a third use is to stabilize soil structures which break down easily during rain.

A study of decision making on Ohio farms seems to confirm the view that, while profit is a major factor in decisions, it's not the only factor. Among one group of 45 farm operators surveyed, more than half said that such things as personal preference, lack of knowledge about returns from alternatives, aversion to borrowing money, desire for more leisure, and operator-landlord disagreement played a significant part in their decisions about the way they ran their farms.

Plastic covers that increase soil temperatures speeded the germination growth and maturity of sweet corn in recent U. S. Department of Agriculture studies. Covering rows of irrigated sweet corn with strips of clear polyethylene advanced maturity a week over corn sown in bare soil. Shortening maturity time makes corn less subject to insects, diseases and poor weather, researchers said.

Delaware Food Market Report

"No more pencils, no more books," sound along school corridors and across college campuses as June graduates put the lid on their desks and pick up their diplomas. Most naturally, the first thing they will want to do is celebrate, and a rousing, lively party served outdoors on a beautiful warm day is just the summer course for mothers to take!

Young people create fun for themselves; all a parent has to do is supply plenty of good food. A popular, tasty meat and a colorful, hearty salad, crusty buns, crisp fresh vegetables and lots of ice cold milk make an appealing menu for all ages.

Take advantage of the abundant supplies of high quality beef and give the gang beef to eat. Why not serve Company-Perfect Bar-B-Que Burgers, they are terrific. Place 5 lbs. of ground beef in a large mixing bowl along with 1 1/2 cups tomato juice, 1 1/4 cups fine bread crumbs, 1 1/2 tablespoons salt and 3/4 teaspoon black pepper. Mix until blended. This quantity will yield about 2 dozen burgers. Make into patties and refrigerate until the chef is ready to cook them. To prepare the sauce, combine 3 3/4 cups catsup, 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 1/4 cups vinegar, 3/4 cup Worcestershire sauce, and 5 tablespoons prepared mustard. Simmer mixture for about 10 minutes. Cook patties until done as desired, place in split buns and top with sauce.

Lobsters are in heavy supply, so watch for specials but remember the usual—the larger the lobster, the higher its price. Quality of all sizes is reported to be fine. So, here's another idea for a smaller party for the gang.

Vegetable buys to consider this week when you shop include: Beets, broccoli, asparagus, carrots, lettuce, mushrooms, onions, and some potatoes. When buying potatoes, be sure to check for quality, too many sprouts, off odor and shriveled skins are all signs of poor quality and are no bargain at any price. Tomatoes range from low cost repacks to high cost hothouse varieties and quality needs to be checked carefully on these, too.

Fresh fruit choices are fewer in number than vegetable choices. However, there are good buys on bananas, California oranges, strawberries, pineapples, rhubarb, and watermelons. Honeydew melons are better in quality than they have been, but they are fairly expensive. Very few fresh peaches are arriving at local markets but prices are high.

By studying these changes, Dr. Catts hopes to find how much use the areas can take and still maintain their natural character. The study will also help to determine the best ways to increase public use of the land through park management while preserving their wildlife appeal.

Four types of wildlife areas will be studied, tracts of hardwoods—birch, oak and hickory—in New Castle County will be first on the researchers' agenda. Areas for later study are the loblolly pines in Sussex County,

University Research Scientists to Study Delaware Wildlife

As rising population increases the demand for land, conservationists have been forced to take a new look at what can be done to minimize the use of woodland for recreation and public purposes.

As this nation's population grows, new pressures are being exerted for new land uses. Conservationists are being forced to study what can be done to maximize the use of woodland for recreation and public uses, and still preserve their wildlife attractions.

A Delaware wildland ecology study has been initiated under the direction of Dr. E. Paul Catts, entomologist at the University of Delaware. He is heading up a team of researchers studying the problem over the next five years.

The estimated $30,000 annual cost of the study has been made possible through grants from the U. S. Forestry Service (McIntire-Stennis Forestry Fund) and the Christiana Research Foundation.

In evaluating the purposes of the study, Dr. Catts says preservation of natural conditions is not the biggest problem facing ecologists and conservationists. We have already done this by setting aside tracts of lands for refuges and public parks, he points out. Both of these serve useful purposes, but they also have disadvantages. Refuges permit wildlife to live undisturbed; but in doing this, the public is denied use of the land. On the other hand, public parks are the largest source of wildlife in its natural state for most Americans, but the presence of humans, whether a few or a great many, upsets the natural balance. As in picnic camping areas, the coming of man is a signal for changes in surrounding plant and animal life.

Dr. Catts points out that one square foot of area could yield as much information on population of insects as three or four acres required to track the habits of a squirrel or bird. From plant density, the ecologists will be able to estimate how many animals could live on the food they supply.

He foresees some compromises in land use, but states that more accurate information is required before scientific management can be started.

Greet the Heat With Summer Salads

Summertime is salad time. And it's a logical choice since most people prefer light meals in the summer—and homemakers eager to avoid hot stoves, are in search of meals that are cooling, quick and easy to prepare.

Colorful touches to any meal can be found in molded, arranged or tossed fruit and vegetable salads, says Janet Coblenz, extension foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware.

Whether used as a refreshing accompaniment to a meal, or as the main course, salads offer plentiful nutrients, frequently with fewer calories. Chilled summer fruits enhance other flavors and are just as well suited for main course as for dessert.

When selecting greens for leafy salads, don't limit yourself to lettuce, Miss Coblenz reminds homemakers. Spinach, escarole, endive, watercress, romaine and cabbage are others from which you can choose. Nutritionally, watercress provides four times the vitamin A found in lettuce; spinach has nine times more vitamin A than an equal serving of lettuce. Greens that are darker in color, tender and crisp have the best taste—and the most vitamins and minerals for your family, she states.

After washing salad greens, thoroughly dry with a towel or in a lettuce basket and store them in plastic bags or containers to insure crispness. Be sure greens are dry when assembling salad so dressings will not be diluted.

Molded salads which include fruit, vegetables, meat or cheese are favored by homemakers who prepare them in the cool of the morning or evening, notes Miss Coblenz. For family-size or individual servings, fruits, vegetables and cottage cheese provide innumerable combinations for your creative touch, she says, basis for a main course salad. For your creative touch, she says, Miss Coblenz notes that salads are gaining popularity with men as mid-day and evening meals. Tuna, salmon, shrimp and crabmeat are perennial seafood favorites. Ham, chicken, pork and beef salads can be prepared to suit hearty appetites.

More information and recipes on summer dish salads are available from Miss Coblenz at the University of Delaware, Newark.

Lion Thinclads Had Banner Year

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High track team had probably their best-balanced team ever as the Lions had an undefeated regular season and placed well in every multi-team, invitational meet entered.

School records were broken in several events, some of them several times. The upstate newspapers conceded that Harrington had a powerful team after the opening meet with Dover Air Base High in which the Lions achieved the rare feat of winning every event on the program, 13 in all. Even mighty Milford, champ of the big school Diamond State Conference, could not do as well against the Falcons.

On April 18, H.H.S. finished a strong third in the Peninsula Relays at Wilmington's Baynard Stadium behind perennial track powers, Wm. Henry and Tower Hill.

May 6th in the Milford Invitational, the Lions mile relay team shattered the H.H.S. school record of 3:43.5 set four days earlier in the Kent-Sussex County Championships at Delaware State College, Dover. Dennis Rogers, anchor man for the Lions, made up four yards on his leg as the Lions were clocked in 3:39.1, Milford, the race winner, was timed in 3:39 flat. Harrington surprised nearly everyone by finishing fifth in a field of sixteen schools, many of them much larger than H.H.S. Trailing the Lions were schools like Dover and Wicomico High of Salisbury.

At Millsboro, May 20th, Harrington set several records in winning the Henlopen Conference Championship and doubled the score of the second place team. The locals capped the fine season by scoring in several events at the Delaware Inter-scholastic track and field championships held at the University of Delaware in Newark.

Several seniors piled up a large number of points and will be sorely missed next spring. Bill Adams tied for second place in the pole vault in the Henlopen championship meet and anchored the 880 relay team to an upset second-place finish despite a severely cut foot. Wayne Carson set a school record of 11:35 in the two mile run and racked up many points in the mile and half-mile runs. Barry Fry was a powerful quarter miler and ran on quartets that twice broke the Lion mile relay record and also set a new standard in the 880 relay.

Randy Knox started the season as the school's top high jumper and performed capably in that event. However, he proved to be much better in the javelin and broad jump. His tosses of the spear brought him thirds in the Seaford and Milford Invitationals, fifth in the state meet, second in the Kent-Sussex Counties test and first in the Henlopen meet. He broke the school record twice as he neared 154 feet in competition. In the broad jump he won the loop title and came in fourth at Newark with a near-20 foot jump.

Tom Lord improved steadily all year in the 100 yard dash and upset the dope in the conference meet with a second place finish and a fast 10.6. The 100 had been picked as one of the Lions' worst events. Tom also ran with Fry, Richard Black and Bob Smith on the record-breaking 880 relay foursome.

Joe Taylor proved to be one of the finest performers on the squad when all the facts are known. At 165 pounds he was putting the 12 pound shot against giants of 250 pounds or more. In fact it appears that it would be a tossup as to whether he or Milford's Lance Clark is the best shot putter on a pound-for-pound basis in the state.

Joe broke the school record six times including twice at the University of Delaware in the final meet. His best toss was a terrific 44 feet 7 1/4 inches. At the start of the season before he started his bombing, the Lion record was 39 feet 11 inches.

Next week we'll praise the achievements of the non-seniors and try to predict the outlook for 1965.

Navy Assigns Name "Phoenix" to TFX Missile System

The Navy has assigned the name Phoenix to the missile system being developed by Hughes Aircraft Company as the primary armament for the Navy F-111B (TFX) aircraft. The long range, air-to-air Phoenix missile is named for a large bird mentioned in Greek and Egyptian mythology. According to myth, the bird always died by setting its nest on fire, but a new young phoenix would rise from the ashes.

Tickets For All-Star Game Now Being Sold

Tickets for the 1964 Delaware All-Star Football Game are now being sold throughout the state by Delaware Lions, District Governor W. J. Houston Warren, of Dover, announced this week.

Lions Frank Beebe, Dave Clements of Milford, and Thomas Peck, of Harrington, met southern Delaware Lions Clubs with representatives from 19 to organize a ticket selling campaign for the annual game which is played on behalf of Delaware's mentally retarded children. The meeting was held at the Rehoboth Beach cottage of R. R. M. Carpenter, Jr., president of the Delaware Foundation for Retarded Children, sponsors of the annual game.

This year's football contest is scheduled for Saturday, August 22, at the University of Delaware. Delaware Lions have supported the benefit game for the past seven years.

At the Rehoboth meeting, Lions heard All-Star Game Chairman H. Lloyd Taylor describe the ways in which the $250,000 netted for the previous eight contests have been used to aid the mentally retarded of our state.

Deputy District Governors Curtis W. Melvin, Harrington; and Harvey Melson, Georgetown, have been designated to coordinate club sales in lower Delaware.

Tickets for the game may be purchased at Peck Bros. Farm Supply.

Frank Collins Led H. H. S. Batters

Frank Collins, a senior outfielder, was the leading hitter for Jim Hawpe's Harrington High School baseball team this past season. Collins hit safely eight times in thirty trips to the plate for an average of .266. Frank's total of eight hits was a team high in that department. Glen Smith was a close runnerup with .259. Smith tied with Mike Wamsley for first place in runs batted in with eight each.

Collins was the only senior to play an important part in the season-ending four-game win streak that gave the Lions an acceptable 5-6 record for the season after losing six of their first seven games.

The team as a whole batted .206 and scored an average of 4.81 runs per game as against an average of 5.09 runs per game scored by their 11 Henlopen Conference opponents.

Walter Perdue pitched four of the five victories for the Lions and twirled a no-hit game and a one-hitter. Plans are underway to place the ball used in the no-hit game in the school's trophy case. We have been unable to pinpoint the date of the last no-hit game thrown by a H.H.S. pitcher but it appears to have been at least a quarter of a century ago.

Migration of Eels A Mystery

In recent weeks, possibly because of low water and better visibility fishermen report sighting larger than usual numbers of eels. In Delaware waters we have both the American or freshwater eel and the Sea Lamprey.

Lampreys belong to a class separate from true fishes. Lacking jaws they use their suction-cup mouths and rasping tongues to eat into the flesh of fishes they attack. These villains of the sea have invaded the Great Lakes and are a menace to commercial fishing. Slime eels, as they are sometimes called, are anadromous, spawning in freshwater streams, laying their eggs in a shallow nest. Burrowing young remain in the streams about three years before returning to the sea. Some species grow two to three feet long. Slime eels are common marine pests and scavengers in water over 100 feet deep. They eat dead fish and those trapped in nets.

The American eel, dark gray to black and glistening, inhabits Delaware streams also. The American eel is one of the best known and one of the most mysterious of fishes. Its life history was practically unknown till the 20th century, and even now the story is far from complete. The American eel is catadromous, migrating to salt water to lay its eggs.

When the freshwater eels of North America are between five and eight years old, they make a remarkable journey from freshwater streams flowing into the Atlantic Ocean to the Sargasso Sea, a huge area of floating seaweed in the Atlantic Ocean between the West Indies and Azores, where they spawn and die. The baby eels, before they become elvers only a few inches long, are thin flattened and transparent creatures. Elvers begin their hazardous return trip to their respective coastal streams. American eels take a year to reach their destination and are miniature adults when they arrive.

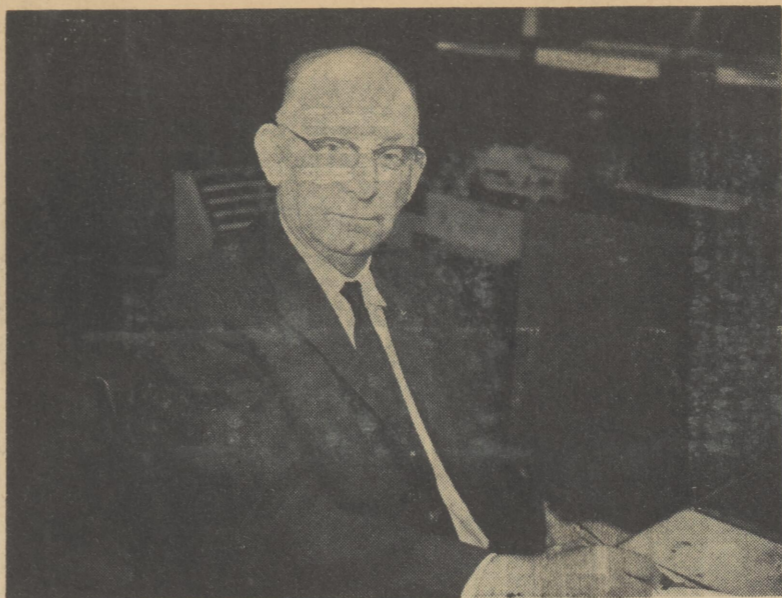

In addition to the eel spawning area in the Sargasso Sea, their is another in the western North Pacific from which the Japanese eel larvae are carried by circulating currents to the Chinese coast as well as Japan. There is a third in the western South Pacific from which the Australian eel is carried to southeastern Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand, and a fourth in the Indian Ocean. There are no other eel spawning grounds known anywhere in the world and freshwater eels occur only where coasts are washed by currents circulating from these three spawning areas. Thus there are no freshwater eels in the western areas of the United States and Canada or in South America, and none in Africa except on the north coast.

Just as the salmon, during their long arduous migration to spawn their gut degenerates so that neither the lamprey eel nor American eel eats during this period.
