

KILLEN WANTS CANDIDATES IN THE OPEN

In an obvious jab at Charles L. Terry Jr., chief justice of the Delaware Supreme Court, James G. Smith Jr. last Friday declared "the time for rumors of phantom candidates is gone".

Smith, campaign manager for State Auditor Ernest E. Killen in his bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, said "reluctance in politics is viewed as weakness and Delaware needs a decisive leader as governor in the years ahead."

Smith pointed out that Killen announced three months ago that he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

"Since that time," Smith said, "rumors have been circulated by the crafty and the misinformed" that some other candidate might come forth to challenge Killen for the nomination.

"Each time," Smith said, "none appeared."

Killen is the only announced candidate, but rumors have especially centered around the possibility that Chief Justice Terry would seek the nomination.

Terry, however, has refused to say "yes," "no," or "maybe". He has said members of the Supreme Court should not become involved in politics, and has based his refusal to confirm or deny the rumors on that opinion.

Meanwhile, the rumors have continued, leading many Democrats to believe that Chief Justice Terry or his brother, N. Maxson Terry, chairman of the State Highway Commission, might be encouraging the idea behind the scenes.

The theory advanced by those Democrats is that Chief Justice Terry would retain his Supreme Court post until after he is nominated by the Democratic convention in August. Then, they speculate, the chief justice will resign from the bench and accept the nomination.

Such a plan prevents Terry from openly seeking the nomination, but allows him to retain his Supreme Court position in case he does not get the nomination, they point out.

But Smith obviously wants Terry to either resign from the Supreme Court and actively seek the nomination; or declare he is not a candidate for governor.

"The hour of the undecided is long past," said Smith.

"Mr. Killen, who is vitally aware of the importance of the office to which he aspires and wishes to provide enough time to the voters for fair, deliberate reflection, has spent three months campaigning vigorously and openly from Delmar to Wilmington."

"His platform has been well publicized. Ernie Killen represents responsible experience in Government. He wants to be governor."

"Who will challenge him?"

Killen has served as Commissioner of Elections and State Auditor for three terms. In each election, Smith points out, his majority has increased, and in each election, he won each political sub-division in the state — "a distinction shared by no other statewide candidate in recent history."

ACP's Role Important In Watersheds

Watershed programs are of growing importance to both farm and city. Russell C. Bowdle, chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said recently, "And cost-sharing assistance, available through the Agricultural Conservation program, in most cases is an important factor in getting watershed farmers to commit themselves to carry out the needed land-treatment measures and in speeding up their application."

The chairman pointed out that, in addition to direct agricultural benefits, watershed programs mean (1) adequate supplies of clean water, (2) less damage and expense from floods and erosion and from stream and reservoir siltation, and (3) better, more accessible recreational facilities.

The backbone of any watershed program, he stressed, is the timely establishment by farmers, ranchers, and woodland owners of needed conservation practices on the land in the watershed. Public Law 566, under which the largest number of watershed programs now organized have been developed, provides that Federal assistance for works of improvement

Bus-Car Collision Injures 8

Eight persons were hurt early Monday in a bus car crash which was a weird carbon copy of another crash Sunday which hurt five persons.

In the accident at 2:55 a. m. Monday, a car collided with a Greyhound bus at the intersection of U. S. 13 and Delaware 16 near Greenwood. Three of the injured were in serious condition compared to one in serious condition from the Sunday crash.

The driver and two passengers in the car suffered major injuries, police said. Two were rushed to Wilmington hospitals from Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, for treatment. Five passengers in the bus suffered minor injuries and were treated and released at Nanticoke.

Police said a car driven by John Griffin, 37, of Locust Hill, Va., failed to stop for a flashing red light off Delaware 16 and crossed the path of a bus southbound on the dual U. S. 13.

The bus rammed Griffin's car, and in a duplication of Sunday's collision, the car careened off and struck the nearby Schultz Brother's garage. The garage was hit Sunday and three plate glass windows and a gas pump damaged.

The paths of the vehicles in each accident were the same, and a flashing red light was ignored each time, police said.

Griffin was in critical condition at Delaware Hospital with severe head injuries, a fractured hip and broken collarbone.

Other passengers hurt were Joseph C. Caster, 48, of Kilmarnock, Va., in fair condition at The Memorial Hospital with paralysis from a broken back. James Griffin, 33, of Popping, Va., is in serious condition at Nanticoke, with four fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

The bus was driven by Joseph Womble, Jr., 51, of Irvington, N. J.

'65 Wheat-Seed Grain Substitution Announced

To permit greater flexibility in farm operations, substitution between wheat and feed grains will be authorized under the 1965 program, Russell C. Bowdle, chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced. The program determination is announced early so that farm operations for next year may be planned before wheat program sign-up.

Agricultural legislation provided for such a substitution in the 1964 and 1965 wheat and feed grain programs, but it could not be put into effect for 1964 because of the lack of time.

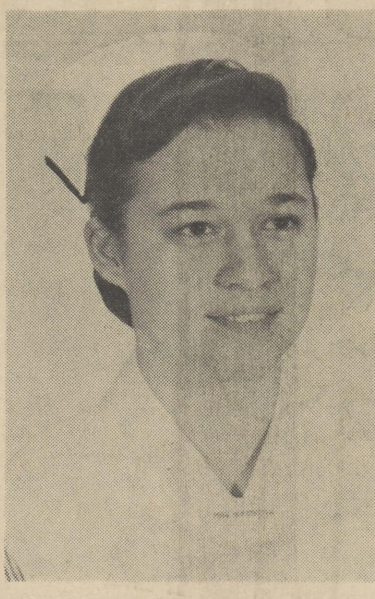

The chairman explained that the substitution will apply on individual farms only if the farm has a feed grain base or oat-rye base, and a wheat allotment. The substitution provisions may be used by producers who meet at least the minimum diversion for both wheat and feed grains.

As under this year's wheat program, marketing certificates will be issued in 1965 to program co-operators; however, the number of certificates allocated to a farm will not be increased because of the substitution of wheat for feed grains. The certificates will be provided for the smaller of (1) the normal production of the wheat acreage allotment, multiplied by the domestic and export allocation percentages — which will be announced this month, or (2) the wheat acreage planted for harvest multiplied by the normal yield.

The total wheat production of producers who carry out wheat program provisions will be eligible for price-support loans even though the wheat acreage is in excess of the wheat allotment because of the substitution provisions.

When feed grains are grown in place of wheat, the feed grain production of program co-operators will be eligible for price-support loans. If price-support payments are authorized as a part of the 1965 feed grain program, substitution of feed grains for wheat will be limited to the normal production of the feed grain base less the diverted acreage (at least the minimum diversion under the feed grain program).

If a producer requests it, an oat-rye base will be established on the basis of the farm's 1959-60 average oat-rye acreage as adjusted. Wheat may be substituted for such crops. However, corn, grain sorghum, or barley may not be planted as a substitute for the oat-rye base acreage. If an oat-rye base is established, the producer will need to meet the minimum diversion for it also.

Jobs In Farming Require Skills

Those who are successful in operating today's modern farms will need elaborate skills and the most comprehensive knowledge available in plant, animal, and soil science, according to a University of Delaware educator. Ralph Barwick, assistant professor of agricultural education, says there will be rewarding jobs waiting for those who train themselves in these areas. In fact, according to present estimates, there are 60,000 job openings each year in the area of production agriculture for farm managers and highly skilled technical workers on large, highly mechanized farms.

Barwick classifies production agriculture as the "on-farm" functions of producing food, feed, and fiber, in the giant complex called agriculture.

Measured by any standards, modern farmers are businessmen. Investments on the average well-equipped farm exceeds $50,000. And Barwick says this figure will rise to as much as $150 thousand within the next two decades. The total investment in land, buildings, machinery, and equipment exceeds $207 billion—more than two-thirds of the total value of all corporate stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Barwick feels that employment opportunities in this growing segment of the agricultural complex are excellent. But he points to the need for more training as farms grow in size and investment. Already farm owners are investing an average of $24,000 per farm worker. The man who uses specialized farm equipment needs special skills. He says the ultimate farm manager is already college trained, but he must be continually re-trained to keep up with changes. Those farm operators who must rely on high school vocational agriculture training also have a need for special training to update their skills and keep abreast of efficient methods of production.

These educational needs point to a program of continuing education, according to Barwick, that will permit those involved in production agriculture to learn about technological advancements and new practices as quickly as possible. "With high levels of education," he says, "all of America's farmers could greatly increase their efficiency and their standard of living."

5 Injured In Greenwood Crash

An 18-year-old Seaford youth, John William Sullivan, is in serious condition at Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, after being thrown through the windshield of his truck in a crash Sunday.

Police said a car driven by Mrs. Evelyn Keefer, 36, of Mercersburg, Pa., crossed U. S. 13 on Delaware 16 about 7:30 a. m. and hit Sullivan's truck which was coming south.

The truck went 86 feet beyond the collision, police said, smashed into a gas pump at the Schultz Brothers garage and hit the building.

Mrs. Keefer and her sons, Wayne, 13, and William, 9, were released after treatment at Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford. A third son, David, 14, wasn't hurt. Another passenger, Jennifer Forbes, 19, also of Mercersburg, also was released after treatment.

Sullivan received a fractured skull and cheekbone and was transferred to the Wilmington hospital from Nanticoke.

Mrs. Keefer was held under $2000 bond by Magistrate Paul H. Faulk, Greenwood, charged with assault and battery by automobile.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk organza over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. Corded peau d'ange lace appliques dusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins accented the bodice and the front of the controlled skirt. The back waist featured a self fabric rose. Miss Sandra Weaver of Greensboro, Md. was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Betty Ellen Dill of Greensboro, sister-in-law of the bride, Fern Blake of Marion Station, Md., Elizabeth Butler of Westover, Md., and Maria Pizzadilli of Felton.

The attendants were dressed in identical Nile green pea gowns. The sheath frocks featured scoop necklines and elbow length sleeves. The floor length overskirts were fashioned with tulip hemlines accented with self fabric roses. Their matching head-dresses consisted of peau taffeta roses with circular veils. They carried cascades of yellow roses.

Miss Cynthia Karcher of Greensboro, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a long white frock of silk organza and carried a basket of yellow roses.

Best man was D. Wayne Dill of Greensboro, brother of the bride. Acting as ushers were Francis Karcher of Greensboro, uncle of the groom, Earl Anthony, Robert Dean and Ralph Withers.

The summer classes enrolled a total of 143 boys and girls in classes for beginners and the more advanced students. Rehearsals of the three bands were held on a weekly basis.

Seventy-four of this summer's classes together with eleven chaperones went to Philadelphia last Saturday where they had a ride on the Delaware River for two hours on the Show Boat, after which they went to Connie Mack Stadium to see the Phillies play Cincinnati.

Youth Held In Rape Attempt

A 17-year-old boy is in the Sussex Correctional Institution charged with the attempted rape of a 93-year-old woman for the second time in two years, at Greenwood.

State police said the assault try came Friday evening when Lawrence Coverdale allegedly entered the woman's home through an unlocked kitchen door. She reportedly fought him off, scratching him in the process.

The youth broke and fled the house, police said, but not before he ripped a telephone from the wall. Through a description furnished by the woman, he was later apprehended at Greenwood.

Coverdale, who police said, avoided prosecution because the woman's family failed to press charges in the earlier case, will be arraigned in Family Court.

Police said they do not know the identities of the boy's parents.

C. of C. Trade Days Are Promising

The outlook for Delaware State Fair trade days this weekend looks very promising, it was revealed Tuesday at the July meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at The Wonder R.

Madalyn Tharp, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, reported gratifying success in promoting funds for the publication of a map showing places of business, churches, and civic buildings and suggested the map be distributed at the Delaware State Fair here the last week this month.

The Chamber moved attempts be made to secure a distribution point this fair; if not, to secure one next year.

In other business Tuesday, it was announced a picnic would be held at Riverdale Tues., Aug. 11 at Riverdale. This will take the place of the August meeting.

A meeting of the Retail Merchants Committee will be held Tuesday at The Wonder R.

The C. of C. will have a float in a parade at the state firemen's convention here Sept. 10-12, inclusive, cost to be no more than $75.

Wheat Certificates Payments To Be Made

With wheat harvest virtually completed in Delaware, Chairman Jacob Zimmerman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee recently stated that wheat farmers will begin getting income boosting certificate payments right away as a result of participation in the 1964 wheat program.

In total, these certificates and acreage diversion payments are estimated at $152,000 for the expected 399 participants in the 1964 program in the State. The certificates and diversion payments will raise wheat returns and mean substantially more income than anticipated before the new wheat program was put into effect.

The new program also provides for an increase to $1.30 per bushel in the national average wheat price-support loan rate from the $1.25 average required before the new program was authorized.

The Chairman pointed out that market prices for wheat during the past several years have reflected changes in support prices. Both participants and non-participants will benefit to the degree that the higher loan price under the new program increases

Wound Fatal To Accused Wife-slayer

The 34-year-old Hartly construction worker who state police say shot his wife to death Tuesday night and then turned the gun on himself died Wednesday in Delaware Hospital.

Hospital officials said Floyd N. Long died at 10:50 a. m. Wednesday. He had never regained consciousness.

His wife, Mrs. Shirley C. Long, 29, a stenographer for the Hercules Powder Co., was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital after the shooting. Delaware State Police said the shooting occurred about 6:25 p. m. at her apartment, No. 4, building 72, Clifton Park Manor Apartments, near Wilmington.

Robert C. Hutchison, New Castle County Coroner, said autopsies showed both victims had died as a result of brain destruction caused by bullet wounds.

Police said Long, employed by the Edgell Construction Co., Dover, shot his wife in the head twice with a .22 caliber revolver during an argument, then shot himself in the left temple.

They said the Long's two children, who had been living with Mrs. Long at Clifton Park since the couple's separation a little over a year ago, were playing outdoors near the apartment building at the time of the shooting.

Long, according to Ralph Turner, director of the New Castle County Family Court, was on a suspended jail sentence for assault and battery handed down by Family Court Judge Joseph P. Hurley on May 26. Hurley placed Long on three year's probation with the provision that he not "molest, harm or threaten" his wife.

Police said he arrived at Mrs. Long's apartment Tuesday afternoon and waited for his wife's return from work.

Of Local Interest

Miss Phoebe Bullock, who is attending Goldey Beacom, in Wilmington, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Richard Bullock. Miss Carole Wirick, who is also attending Goldey Beacom, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Wirick.

The Retail Merchants Committee, combined with all the business places and professional men in the community are welcoming the Delaware State Fair. A map of the city locating all the businesses by number is being published in three downstate newspapers. Many of the merchants are advertising certain "Special Sales" for this weekend July 17 and 18.

A mid-summer sale of this type is not an usual event for Harrington, and the merchants are hoping that this July special will remind their customers that excellent values can always be found in Harrington. There is always free parking in the downtown area and in the shopping center. Come to Harrington this weekend and take advantage of the many bargains being offered.

An effort is being made by the committee to have every business decorate their windows with the theme of the Fair by July 24. The winners will be judged by some of the fair officials. Already several of the shops have prepared their decorations early enough for this week's July special.

4-H News

With Marlon MacDonald

Fourteen 4-H'ers vied for dairy judging recently. County team members are: Louis Starkey, Houston Cardinals; Tom Davis, Millwood; Becky Tatman, Paradise; John Davis, Millwood; Wayne Collison, Honey Bee's; David Robbins, Paradise; Bill Simpson, Houston Cardinals; and Sam Dixon, Chestnut Grove. Alternates are: Edna Dixon, Lillian Dixon, Chestnut Grove; Craig Elaison, Paradise; Steven Robbins, Paradise; John Comegys and Nancy Webb, Westville. Judging was done at Carl Vincent's (Guernseys), L. Robbins Webb (Ayrshires) and Howard Wilkins (Holsteins).

The livestock training tour resulted in Gary Simpson, Houston Cardinals, high scorer followed by Donald Zern, New Castle and Lillian Dixon, Chestnut Grove. Other Kent Countians judging were: Jay Robbins, Paradise; Edna Dixon, Chestnut Grove; Roy Schepens, Danny Carey, James Harrison and Harvey Thomas, Westville, and Bill Simpson, Houston Cardinals. Kent County leader Mrs. Mary Thomas, Westville 4-H Club accompanied the members. Swine was judged at the Glen Jones Farm, Townsend while sheep and beef were judged at the University of Delaware farm.

All 4-H'ers who are eligible to compete for state awards should be working on their standard report forms. These are being sent to members and leaders.

Remember many 4-H exhibits are due at the 4-H building Wednesday, July 22. Consult your premium list again for these important dates.

Delaware Food Market Report

Hot weather may have its wearily aspects, but certainly it has its compensations in the bounty of fresh fruits and vegetables that grace the markets. Mid summer finds all favorite varieties on hand and in many instances at peak quality.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Fruits and Vegetable News Service, the agency that regularly keeps tabs on supplies and prices of fresh produce, reports the longest list of low-cost fruit buys in many months. Here is the agency's suggested list for good buys: limes, lemons, mangoes, nectarines, cantaloupes, watermelons, blueberries, California oranges, and Santa Rosa plums. Other small fruits that are now in season include: blackberries, raspberries, currants, and goose berries. These fruits are not necessarily low priced, but they have short seasons and many people use them in making jams and jellies.

Green apples are beginning to come to market and this is good news for those of us who look forward to green apple pie time. Local early summer apples are now available—in many instances quality needs to be watched due to the drought we have had.

Supplies of fresh vegetables continue to fluctuate. Many local crops have been hurt by the recent dry weather, however, supplies in other areas have been shipped in. With recent rains, this situation should become more normal with an abundance of fresh vegetables available at all vegetable bins. This week consider snap beans, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, sweet corn, cucumbers, green peppers, all types of lettuce, summer squash and onions. Other possible selections include: eggplant, spinach, cauliflower, beets, green peas, and tomatoes. These last will be more expensive but are still well worth considering.

The same delightful problem will confront you at the meat counter - an abundance of several low-cost meat selections. Beef and broilers continue to head the list but veal and lamb on special sale will offer a change of pace. Don't overlook frankfurters, hamburgers, and the variety meats. They are usually low-cost and quick-cooking for hot weather meals.

This is the season of greatest consumption of ice cream, America's leading dessert. More than 200 flavors are available. The most popular is vanilla - followed by chocolate and strawberry. During this month watch for new and unusual combinations as you shop for ice cream.

For a cool refreshing dessert consider serving sherbets, ice milk, and ices as well as ice cream. All are available in a wide variety of flavors.

"Cleopatra" To Play Reese Starting Aug. 5

The operation of Movie Center for a single week runs into a large amount of money. The playing of "Cleopatra," alone for an entire week presents another problem. Do enough people want to see this 40 million dollar super production, "Cleopatra"? Seven days is a long time to run a single picture in a town the size of Harrington. Yet, to play it, a contract had to be signed for an entire week.

Quietly a canvass has been going on with Movie Center patrons during the past two weeks. More than one was confronted with the question: "Would you like to see 'Cleopatra.'" at the Reese with its Giant Sound System and special presentation innovations?"

Enthusiasm mounted to the extent the management received many letters stating their unqualified desire to see this great picture, and that special effort would be put forth to see that their friends and relatives visited the Reese Theatre during its engagement.

A contract was signed with 20th Century Fox calling for a seven day presentation, starting at the Reese Theatre, Wednesday, Aug. 5.

"Hell, fire, or brimstone," so says the management. Folks of Harrington and vicinity are going to see Cleopatra."

Del. First State In Fertilizer Use

Delaware farmers lead the nation in the use of fertilizer according to a survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Based on tons applied per square mile, Delaware farmers used more phosphorous and potash than any other state, and were second only to Indiana in the use of nitrogen.

The average application per square mile in the state was 13.4 tons of "oxides" of these plant nutrients—a term used by soil scientists to measure plant food applications. Based on the actual tons of fertilizer spread on the ground, this figure swells to over 40 tons per square mile.

Dr. William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware says this standing is particularly significant because it includes the total area of the state, not just farm ground. This means that even though Delaware has a high percentage of land taken up by roads, towns, woods and marshes, the rate of fertilizer application on those acres that were under cultivation was sufficient to give the state the top rating.

Mitchell says the high per square mile use also reflects an interest on the part of non-farm people in proper fertilization. "These backyard gardeners are aware of the need for soil testing and adequate fertilization, and they are doing something about it."

Another factor accounting for Delaware's high fertilizer use is the concentration of certain high-yield crops in the state. Mitchell says farmers are much more will-

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. T. Burton Bowden and Terry, joined members of their family for a picnic at Lewes Beach.

We have a nice note on our desk from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dearman, who were former residents of our community. I quote: "Dear Mrs. Hatfield, as you perhaps know we have moved to Georgetown and are operating a business under the name, 'Charles & Dot's Market.'"

"We have been very successful and have met many new friends who have been wonderful to us. My mother, Nora B. Rust, lives with us. She has been very sick the past ten days, but is much improved at this writing. For many years she wrote the Fisherman's District column and I thought perhaps you would like a little news for your column."

"Mother has had many new friends visit her and also many old friends from back home. The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Geiger and children, formerly from Todd's Chapel, have moved here and are neighbors. Other visitors have been: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sharp, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taylor, from Greenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Ebon Coates, from Harrington. We more than appreciate all the cards, flowers, and other things that the new folks did for us during her illness, even taking clothes home to iron.

Charles Dearman has been on the sick list also, but is improved at this writing. Signed-Dorothy R. Dearman."

Sick Plant Clinic Planned For Field Day

Farmers, home gardeners and house plant fanciers puzzled by the causes and cures for their ailing plants will have an opportunity to get the experts' opinions on their problems at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Field Day on August 12 at the Georgetown agricultural substation.

Field Day visitors are invited to bring plant specimens to the Sick Plant Clinic, where problems will be diagnosed by specialists in entomology, horticulture, agronomy and plant pathology.

Dr. John W. Heuberger, head of the department of plant pathology and chairman of the Sick Plant Clinic, said microscopes and other equipment will be set up for use in diagnosing plant diseases and other ailments.

At last year's plant clinic, problems diagnosed included infestations of insects and mites, chemical deficiencies, improper use of fertilizer and drought-caused ailments. Visitors brought a wide range of specimens ranging from soybeans, corn and peanut plants to strawberries, peaches, African violets.

Heuberger recommends that visitors bring a whole plant for diagnosis if possible—field and garden crops and flowers—or a branch of a shrub or tree. If wheat market prices. As a result of the new program farm income nationally from the 1964 wheat crop now is estimated to total about $2.1 billion, a small decrease from the $2.3 billion for the 1963 crop but in marked contrast to the sharp decline anticipated without a new program. Certificate earnings and diversion payments under the new program will account for an estimated $450 million of the estimated $2.1 billion 1964 wheat crop income.

An insect problem is suspected, the visitor should bring a specimen of the damaged plant, along with the insects found on it. He explains that it is often necessary to examine the roots or other parts of the plant in order to determine what causes the problem and the best method to cure it.

Along with the sick plant clinic will be exhibits of common insects, plant diseases and weeds. Staffing the clinic will be Dr. Heuberger, Dr. Dale F. Bray, and Prof. Donald MacCreary, extension entomologists; Prof. Rob. F. Stevens, extension horticulturist; David Tattall, New Castle County agent in ornamental horticulture; and Dr. W. H. mended soil-conservation measures and farm plans.

Since the watershed plans provide no P. L. 566 funds for land-treatment measures except in certain critical situations, ACP assistance has been invaluable in helping accomplish watershed conservation objectives, Mr. Bowdle said.

Throughout the country, land-treatment measures were performed during 1963 alone in about 1200 organized watersheds by the owners and operators of more than 132,000 farms and ranches. Farmer-and-ACP investment in watershed conservation work for the year amounted to about $43 million.
