

WORK TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK ON DELAWARE AVE. WATER MAIN

The installation of a 10-inch water main on Delaware Avenue is scheduled to begin next week, City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann said he had been informed by the contractor, A. P. Isakson, Inc., of Salisbury.

The city manager said the necessary pipe, fittings, and valves were now on the job site.

The main will run from Clark Street out Delaware Avenue to near the city limits. The current mains will be in use in the meanwhile.

The cost will be $36,923.60.

The Delaware Avenue project is but part of a community project for improvement of water mains. A referendum will be held to float a bond issue of $150,000 for the overall project.

Holding of the referendum is being delayed until the city attorney prepares a resolution calling for a citizens meeting to supply information on the community-wide project, as required by the City Charter.

In other recent City activity, the city manager revealed the City had installed 20 new street identification signs, though the installation is not complete. The curbs are being painted and the parking places on Commerce Street will be repainted in the near future, Mann said.

He also emphasized he would like more support from the citizens on trash-collecting days in doing their part in complying with the city ordinances in the manner in which the trash should be put out for collection. In this respect, it is requested trash be bundled or in containers.

Pratt Files For House From 25th

Another Kent County primary election developed last Friday as Rep. J. Reynolds Pratt, D-Clayton, filed to run for the House seat in Kent's 25th District.

Carroll B. Staats, of Smyrna, a farmer and former member of the Harness Racing Commission, filed for the post last week, and House Minority Whip Glenn W. Busker, D-Smyrna, who is in Missouri because of a family illness, could be a third entrant.

Busker's wife said that "in all probability" he will file for the seat.

Pratt, an insurance agent, is completing his first term in the House.

H. Clifford Clark, of Cheswood, filed last Friday for re-election as register of wills.

A contest loomed in the 15th, when Sen. George A. Robbins, who has a holdover term under the old apportionment plan, is reported seeking another term. Robbins, a dairy farmer, may be opposed by a Little Creek potato grower, Jacob A. Zimmerman, chairman of the State Agricultural and Stabilization Committee. Zimmerman has told friends in the party that he is "considering" running against Robbins for the Senate seat.

Also filing last Friday were Frank R. Hayes, Dover, funeral director, who will run again for prothonotary and Rep. Wallace P. Wooten, D-Fredricka, a grocery store owner, who will seek to represent the newly created 28th

Miss Doris Carlisle Becomes Bride of Robert J. Shultie

Miss Doris Marie Carlisle, daughter of Mrs. Harry P. Carlisle, Sr., and the late Mr. Carlisle, of Felton, became the bride of Robert J. Shultie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Shultie, of Harrington, June 28, at 3 p.m. p.m. at Felton Methodist Church. The Rev. Larry E. Renner and the Rev. Donald Washburn officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Harry P. Carlisle, Jr., of Salisbury, Md., the bride was attired in a lovely gown of Angelmist Taffeta. The basque bodice was designed with a bateau neckline, accented by seed pearls, sequins and bugle beads. Traditional long pointed sleeves highlighted the gown. The bouffant skirt was enhanced by appliques and swept into a bow crested chapel train. Her elbow length illusion fell from a cap of imported net leaves, accented by crystals and lustrous pearls. She carried a white Bible with a large white orchid attached.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Robert Barrett, of Milford,

Southern States Meeting Set For Aug. 5

Election of directors, local board and committee members and Farm Home Advisory members, plus operations reports will highlight the joint Southern State Cooperative's annual membership meeting to be held at the Delaware State Fair Grounds at Harrington Aug. 5. The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m.

The session, a combined meeting, is being held by nine of the Southern States Cooperative retail outlets in Delaware and Maryland. These are:

Southern States Bridgeville Cooperative, Bridgeville; Southern States Cooperative's Denton Branch, Denton, Md.; Southern States Dover Petroleum Cooperative and Southern States Dover Cooperative, Dover; Southern States Milford Cooperative, Milford; Peck Brothers Farm Supply Co., Harrington; Butler's Feed and Farm Supply, Harrington; Southern States Smyrna-Clayton Cooperative, and Clayton and Mills Supply Company, Greenwood.

Patrons and members planning to attend the session should contact the above retail outlets for meal tickets.

A highlight of the meeting will be a special entertainment by Curley Herdman and his West Virginia Boys plus the Diamond State Twirlers Square Dancers with Herb Keys doing the calling.

Samuel Sloan, of Harbeson, a member of the board of directors of Southern States Cooperative will serve as chairman of the meeting. The Rev. Charles H. Poukish, will give the invocation. J. A. McHugh, manager of Southern States Cooperative's regional office in Seaford, will report on the overall cooperative's operations for the fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Other features of the session include special recognition of all young farmers and young homemakers, and a flag presentation by Boy Scout Troop 76.

REGISTRATION SEES GAINS FOR DEMOCRATS

Democrats prevailed in Saturday's voter registration in Kent County, with 438 signing up and thus becoming eligible for the Aug. 15 primary and the November general election.

The Republican side of the ledger "picked up a few," according to Mrs. Blanch Cahall of the Board of Elections. GOP registrants numbered 160.

There were 82 persons who declined to state a party affiliation.

Saturday saw the Board of Elections Office "busier than in many a day," said Mrs. Cahall, as last-minute registrants lined up.

"There was a lot of change in voters, not only change of wards, addresses and such, but some switching of party affiliations," Mrs. Cahall added.

The exact number of party switches in Kent County has not yet been computed.

The margins on party registration were much closer during

DSF Heads For Record Attendance

With a weekend entertainment program including Arthur Godfrey, Bobby Vinton and big auto racers, the Delaware State Fair at Harrington appears headed for a record attendance.

The record attendance mark was set last year when 102,000 persons attended.

Today is Governor's Day and Senior Citizens' Day at the Fair and a large crowd is expected. Tonight Arthur Godfrey will headline the grandstand show. Advance, reserved and box seat ticket sales have been heavy which fair officials regard as favorable for a large turnout.

Tomorrow night (Friday) Godfrey will again appear at the evening grandstand show.

Saturday afternoon there will be another program of big car auto races featuring the same drivers who qualified for last Saturday's races. These include some of the East's best who thrilled a record crowd of over 13,000 persons last Saturday night.

This Saturday night the closing grandstand show will feature young singing star, Bobby Vinton. Fair officials report that the final Saturday of the fair is usually the best-attended day and indications are that this year will be no exception. Advance ticket sales have been very high for both the afternoon and evening shows.

Atlantic City Trip Scheduled

A bus will leave the railroad station at 7 a.m. Sat., Aug. 15, for Atlantic City. The bus will seat up to 40. Charge for the bus is $3.75 (round trip).

Myron Sloren and Joann Castle will appear tomorrow night at the closing grandstand show at Delaware State Fair, Harrington. The show starts at 8:15 p.m.

Almost two years ago Bobby went to New York for an interview. He made the trip by bus—not to see the countryside but because he couldn't afford the plane fare.

He recorded "Roses Are Red" and within a few weeks "Roses" was the nation's No. 1 song.

Before the rose faded the single had sold more than one million copies in a period when single records were having a rough time.

"It was kind of rough then," Bobby said. "I was struggling to keep my band together in Pittsburgh, but we were fairly successful playing in and around there and once in a while we played for a name star. But making a band a successful business venture is almost impossible. I decided I had to try to make it on my own."

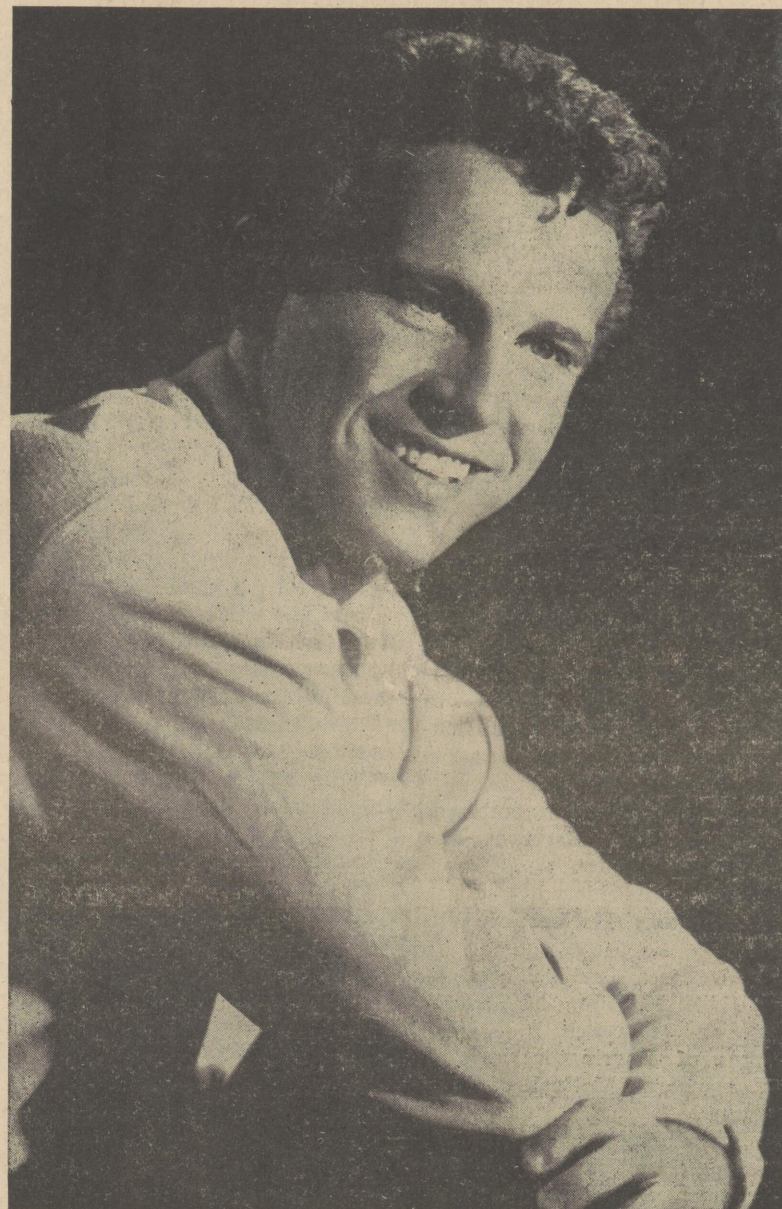

Make it he did! In a single year the blond, green-eyed young singer sold 5 million records.

Bobby's albums kept pace with his singles as fans and record collectors began to fall for his easy delivery and his just-under-rock 'n roll style.

The hit records were a springboard for the versatile, hard-working Bobby. He began appearing on television programs. This led to club dates at top spots all over the country and finally to a starring role in a motion picture, "Surf Party" for 20th Century-Fox.

"I'll always be thankful to the kids," he said. "If they hadn't

BOBBY VINTON, versatile young singer, will headline the grandstand show on closing night, Saturday, August 1. His latest recording, "Blue Velvet," has become a national favorite.

Colors Play Big Role in Bobby Vinton's Hit Records

Colors have played a big part in Bobby Vinton's hit records. "Roses Are Red" was his first million seller. Then came "Blue on Blue" and "Blue Velvet."

But the hits all aren't in blues. His latest top seller is "There I've Said It Again."

Bobby, a native of Pittsburgh, will appear tomorrow night at the closing grandstand show at Delaware State Fair, Harrington. The show starts at 8:15 p.m.

Short Family Holds Reunion

A family reunion was given in honor of Mrs. Samuel A. Short, Sr., of Harrington, at the VFW Building, Greenwood, by Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Cahall, Sun., July 26.

Those attending were her brother, H. P. Swain, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Short, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Camper, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Short, Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Callaway and children, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Betts and children, all of Harrington; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cahall and daughter, New Jersey; Mrs. Madelyn Carter, Dover; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wyatt and son, Canterbury; Miss Lydia Zook, Greenwood; Mrs. Irvin Armstrong and daughter, Middletown. Mrs. Short celebrates her 90th birthday July 28, and her brother celebrated his 84th birthday Sunday. A very delightful day was enjoyed by all.

Assembly Due Back on Monday

If Senate leaders agree, as expected, the General Assembly will return into session Monday.

The decision to return was reached Tuesday night at a meeting in the office of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel attended by legislative and Democratic party leaders.

The governor, who returned Tuesday from an overnight visit at the White House, entertained his guests at a buffet dinner before they settled down to serious politics.

They then decided that at least one more legislative session between now and the November elections is imperative. Several bills on the governor's program are still pending including the divestiture package to which he is assigning primary significance. Two of the key divestiture bills (including HS 1 for HB 388) are locked in Sen. Walter J. Hoey's Senate Finance Committee.

Hoey has said they will remain there pending adoption of an amendment which would reduce the amount of money to be spent for land acquisition in Sussex County. Altogether the bill calls for $3.5 million of the divestiture fund to be spent for the acquisition of land in the state for recreational and conservational purposes. The Milford senator, who filed Tuesday night for reelection, refused to say if his position has changed.

House Speaker Sherman W. Tribbitt, D-St. Georges Hundred, announced that the call for House members to return will be sent out late this week. He said that Lt. Gov. Eugene B. Lamotte was unable to attend Tuesday night's meeting but the Senate members present, including Hoey and majority leader Leon E. Donovan, D-Harrington, indicated that the legislature should return. Both the House and Senate are in recess at the call of their respective chairs which means Tribbitt, the speaker, and Lamotte, who is president of the Senate.

Draft Terry Luncheon Monday Brings Out Over 200

About 200 persons showed up Monday at a luncheon to boost the candidacy of Chief Justice Charles L. Terry Jr. for governor.

About half the Democrats who attended were Kent Countians, and about half of them didn't hear the speeches, since the crowd overflowed into side rooms.

Terry has said for many months he is not a candidate for the nomination.

The only Democrats who have announced are Robert H. Reed, a Dover businessman, and State Auditor Ernest E. Killen.

Maurice A. Hartnett III, a Dover lawyer and director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, called the luncheon and estimated that three times as many persons attended as had been expected. He said he called about 15 persons and asked them to invite others.

Hartnett said there is an informal committee backing a draft of Terry.

The other speaker was Kent Democratic Chairman Vernon B. Derrickson, who was at one time considered a possibility for the nomination. He circulated boxes of "Draft Terry" buttons.

Hartnett said the question is not who wants to be governor but who would make the best governor. He said Terry is known in all three counties, which he called essential for victory, and is highly capable and respected.

He explained that, as a judge, Terry cannot announce his candidacy but obviously is aware of the draft movement.

"He hasn't said he wouldn't accept," said Hartnett, "so the only presumption is that he would accept."

He said there will be a slate of delegates committed to Terry in almost all districts of Kent County. Both he and Derrickson urged Democrats to work for his nomination.

COOK, DONOVAN, EXLEY FIGHT FOR NOMINATION

Kent Senate Scrap Looms

The first Democrat vs. Republican contest in Kent County shapton, and Rep. George Exley (D-Harrington) have all filed for the nomination in the new district.

Sen. Allen J. Cook (D-Kenton), Sen. Leon Donovan (D-Farmington), and Rep. George Exley (D-Harrington) have all filed for the nomination in the new district.

The districts now represented by Sens. Cook and Donovan were thrown into the same senatorial district under reapportionment, along with Sen. Henry T. Price (D-Smyrna), who has made no decision about what he will do.

Rep. Exley's representative district was also eliminated, so he, too, has decided to run for the senatorial nomination. He is serving his second term as representative.

Under the new apportionment, the 13th senatorial district embraces the former first, third, fourth, sixth and ninth representative districts, including Smyrna, Clayton, Kenton, Hartly, Willow Grove, Harrington, and Farmington.

The area includes three senators who will be replaced by only one.

Rep. H. Dawson Shulties (D-Willow Grove), is another member of the present General Assembly who may decide to seek the senatorial nomination in the new district.

Sens. Cook and Donovan are both veteran legislators, with Cook now completing his second term in the Senate. Before that, he served time in the House. He is also a past President Pro Tem of the Senate.

Sen. Donovan is Democratic majority floor leader in the Senate during the present session. Prior to his election to the Senate, he served two terms in the House.

State police at Bridgeville said Wednesday the prisoner, Harry Herman Griffin, 24, was picked up by Harrington police Tuesday afternoon.

Griffin was discovered missing during a routine check of the cell block at 9:45 a. m., Tuesday. Police said he had pried a lock off the cell.

State police detectives took Griffin into custody Monday and charged him with burglary and grand larceny in connection with a break-in at Swain's Hotel here last Dec. 23.

2 Seek Democratic Nomination For Levy Court

Two persons filed for the Democratic nomination for commissioner for the Second Levy Court District this week.

Mrs. Laura Belle Wilson (Mrs. James T. Wilson) filed Tuesday, as did Raymond Welch, Sr., who seeks a second term, and who filed Monday.

Deadline for filing is today.

Sussex Democrats OK Moore For Lt. Governor

Dr. Charles F. Moore, Seaford dentist, has been endorsed by the Sussex County Democrats for the lieutenant governor nomination.

The endorsement came at a recent meeting of the Democrat executive committee held in Georgetown. The same group also endorsed Governor Elbert N. Carvel for the nomination for U. S. Senator.

Dr. Moore has been practicing dentistry in Seaford since his discharge from the Navy in 1948. In 1950 he was elected to a two-year term in the State legislature from the 4th Representative District in Sussex County. He was also a member of the State Board of Health for eight years, and served the last two years of his tenure as president of that agency.

Although there have been other announced candidates for the lieutenant governor post, Dr. Moore is the only one to date who has been officially endorsed by a county organization. In his (Continued on Page 4)

Cape-May Lewes Ferry To Soon Show Profit

The Cape May-Lewes Ferry will show a $50,000 profit after its first month of operation.

This was the report General Manager Nolan C. Chandler presented to the Delaware River and Bay Authority at its monthly meeting Tuesday.

Chandler based his estimates on the first 26 days operation during which the two vessels transported 86,800 passengers and 2,770 vehicles between Delaware and New Jersey. The daily average is 876 vehicles.

Vehicle traffic was almost evenly divided. There were 11,277 from Cape May and 11,493 from Lewes, Delaware. The same held true for passenger traffic. There were 43,307 from Cape May and 43,490 from Lewes.

Chandler expressed amazement at the acceptance of the new service across the last water barrier on the East Coast. He said the 26 day figures equalled those of the first nine months of the Chesapeake Bay Ferry service in 1930.

Chandler reminded that ferry traffic has built to the point where four passenger vessels could be employed. This would not be feasible he said until all construction is completed and efforts will be made to let the public know that only temporary service was expected to be rendered this summer.

Turning its attention to a new span parallel to the Delaware Memorial Bridge now under construction, the Authority approved three contracts.

Award for construction of cables went to Bethlehem Steel Company at $4,487,415.00. The next bidder was U. S. Steel at $5,172,405.00. Consulting engineer's estimate stood at $7,443,060.00.

John D. Lawrence and Son, Inc., Westville, New Jersey, will build the new Administration building for $650,852.00. Next bidder was Frederic G. Kraft & Son, Wilmington, $676,000.00. The estimated cost was $790,000.00.

The firm of Steers-Perini-Pomero, New York City will build the west approach land and water piers for $1,83,016.00. Ruckman and Hansen, Fort Wayne, Indiana were next bidders at $1,869,327.00. Engineer's estimates for the project was $1,998,737.00.

The Authority stated that on bidder had been lower on land (Continued on Page 5)

Fence Talk

With George Vapaa

The Field Day program at our Substation farm near Georgetown is a week later than usual, scheduled for Wed., Aug. 12. The main reason for the change is that we want to demonstrate the mechanical harvesting of tomatoes. And you just can't hurry maturity dates.

The crop field trials are showing some very fine differences and the plots are in good display condition. We cordially invite everyone to visit during the day. Free guided bus tours start at 10 a.m. and continue through the afternoon.

A fried chicken lunch and cold watermelon are traditional treats in the grove area of the farm.

Many folks like to bring plant specimens and talk with our University specialists at the Sick Plant Clinic. Likewise, poultry housing design and management programs are drawing unusual attention.

A county planning study committee has taken the first steps to analyze the growth of Kent County. Allen Cook, of Kenton, was selected as chairman of the six members appointed by the Levy Court.

The group will perform a voluntary advisory service for the Levy Court until such time as enabling legislation permits a formal planning commission.

Bob Paslay, assistant director of the State Planning Office, outlined several possible avenues of effort at the organizational meeting recently. Of greatest interest to me was the emphasis on long range, comprehensive, physical, general planning. Social and economic development are related areas which must be considered, although other groups may give greater attention to them.

The comprehensive plan, which should emerge in time, should be a logical system of policies—a reference point, rather than an end in itself.

Initial efforts will be concentrated on collecting significant county growth facts, acquainting the general public with them, and attempting to gain some consensus on areas of development effort.

Delaware farmers hoping to get gasoline tax refunds must file the proper papers before September 30.

The refund is for any federal tax paid on gasoline bought between July 1, 1963, and June 30, 1964. It's well worth the effort to fill out the form because the amount of refund is four cents for each gallon bought if Federal Tax was paid on the purchase. For example, if a farmer used 1,000 gallons, the total refund would be $40.

A simple card form, Internal Revenue Service form 2240, is all that's needed. Cards have already been mailed to farmers who filed last year. New applicants may get forms from the nearest Internal Revenue Service Office, or by writing the District Director of Internal Revenue, Wilmington, Del.

Gasoline eligible for tax refund includes that used in the actual farming operation—even gasoline used by custom operators while working on your farm. Gasoline used on highways, regardless of purpose, is not eligible for Federal gas tax refund—nor is gasoline used for processing, packaging, freezing or canning.

No purchase receipts are required to be sent with claims, but records verifying claims must be available, in case an inquiry is made.

The dairyman who keeps a score sheet on each of his cows makes herd improvement progress faster than non-record keepers.

What's more, he has proof. Over the past 5 years, Delaware herds using production records have posted a gain in per year milk production of almost 1900 pounds per cow. The annual gain for all cows in the same period was about 500 pounds.

Last year across the nation, the average cow under dairy herd improvement programs produced 11,286 pounds of milk containing 434 pounds of butterfat. Delaware's 3,934 D.H.I.A. cows produced 11,373 and 441 pounds of fat, both slightly above the national average.

About 12 per cent of the nation's dairy cows are currently on test, compared with 20 per cent for Delaware. Dairyman who have not participated in a testing program should do a little pencil work to see what production records are worth. The 45 cents a month or approximately $5.40 a year for individual cow records seems like good business.

Agricultural chemicals have become almost as essential to modern farming as sunshine and rain. There are chemicals to improve both the quantity of crops and livestock. There are chemicals to control weeds, insects, rodents, diseases, and to improve soil fertility.

And if these aren't enough, you'll also find a bushel or two of solvents, cleaning agents, drugs on most farms.

Chemicals can be handled and stored safely provided certain precautions are taken. The rules are very simple. Despite the ease with which chemicals might be used safely, accidents involving chemicals happen every year. Excuses usually go something like this: "I didn't know he was big enough to reach the bottle," or "I didn't read the label."

There are four primary things to remember in handling chemicals safely.

1. Read the label carefully. Know what is in the container, what the chemical will do, degree of potential danger, how to use it, how to store it, how to get rid of the unused portions and empty container, and what to do in case someone accidentally gets the chemical on or in his body.

2. Use chemicals according to directions. Manufacturers spend millions of dollars determining how chemicals can best be used.

3. Store chemicals properly. Don't underestimate the ability of children to get into places they are not supposed to be. Never put chemicals into unmarked containers, or containers other than the one they came in.

4. Get rid of unused portions and empty containers. Old and odd bits of chemicals or empty containers cause clutter. But read the label before you get rid of any chemical. Burial is usually the best way. Burning may produce harmful fumes, poisonous ashes, an intense fire, or even an explosion. And never pour chemicals out or toss the container on a rubbish heap.

4-H News

With Marton MacDonald

Another Delaware State Fair is nearing its end; but now for many 4-H'ers the expectant premium checks are eagerly awaited. Hope you were able to visit the 4-H building. Many hours and many hands together prepared this exhibit of our youths work. Among those assisting in receiving exhibits and displaying were: Linda and Beatrice Stayton, Chris Jump, Merry Hollis and Karen Brown, Houston Cardinals; Thelma Thomas, Susan Peschek, Chuck Link and Rachel Blechman, Whiteoaks; Sarah Moore, and Janet Clendaniel, Chestnut Grove and 4-H leaders, Mrs. Alvin Brown, Mrs. Herb Stayton, Mrs. Francis Thomas, Mrs. Albert Comegys and Mrs. Martha Benson.

Kent County Dairy Princess Lillian Dixon will have several appearances in connection with the State Fair. A television appearance was made on July 24 and she'll lead the livestock parade on Governor's Day along with her two court members Thelma Thomas and Delores Tinley.

Junior Council members attending their recent picnic and hayride had quite a ride provided by Roland Starkey. About 40 Council members attended this annual event. During the next month all 4-H'ers should be busy on their record books. All records are due into the local club leaders on Sept. 1. Members eligible for State Awards must turn in complete reports to their leaders; including the required photographs. This takes time so plan ahead. And "Make Your Best Better" as you prepare your record reports.

Research Still Feature of U. of D.'s Field Day

When the University of Delaware started its Farm and Home Field Day in 1945, the main goal was to show off the research work being done there. Although there were only 20 projects under way at the time, the research workers were proud of their accomplishments and felt the people of the state should have an opportunity for a first-hand look at the results.

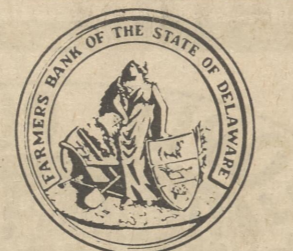

While many aspects of the annual event have changed, the original purpose remains the same—to review the research projects under way and to get first-hand reports from the researchers about their work. In 20 years a lot of things have been added—educational exhibits, a program for the ladies, bus tours of the farm, free watermelon and even a few speeches. One year there was a helicopter demonstration, and not too many years back a special display of antique farm equipment and a threshing demonstration with a steam tractor.

All of these things are still looked upon by those who attend as icing on the cake. The real reason they make the annual trip is to see the research.

The 1964 Field Day on August 12 offers one of the largest displays of research. Nearly 100 acres are divided into plots. Each plot is designed to yield the answer to a specific problem. Some are used in finding new varieties of field and vegetable crops, new methods of controlling weeds and insects, and new production techniques that insure better yields and higher crop quality.

Because of their economic importance in the state, corn and soybeans lead the parade of research endeavors. More than 20 University of Delaware researchers are involved in corn and soybean research. About 3,000 different soybean plots are being studied by 12 researchers. They are looking into such things as weed control, planting dates, varietal differences, seed quality and the development of new, improved varieties.

One of the corn projects deals with the use of nitrogen solution—weed control mixtures as a means of reducing the number of trips across a field for an effective job—in another test, 14 hybrids are being grown under varying levels of fertilization and moisture.

THE CONTINUED GOOD REPUTATION OF FAMED NAVY "CHOW" IS IN THE CAPABLE HANDS OF ITS COMMISSARYMEN—COOKS, BUTCHERS AND BAKERS. IN ADDITION TO PREPARING ALL TYPES OF FOODS AND BAKERY PRODUCTS, THE CS, MEN AND WOMEN, DEVISE MENUS, KEEP COST RECORDS, ORDER PROVISIONS, CUT AND BONE MEAT, AND INSPECT FOOD FOR WHOLESOMENESS.

Other research that is being highlighted includes:

Production testing of 100 different commercial hybrids. Variety tests, weed and disease control, spray mulches, and fertilization of vegetable crops.

Windowless broiler house that has been in use for a year.

Herbicides for controlling weeds in peach and apple orchards.

Two mechanical tomato harvesters will be demonstrated, harvesting tomatoes developed at the substation especially for mechanical harvest.

Chemical Cleared For Fly Control On Dairy Cows

An insecticide for use in dairy cattle "backrubbers" has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Dr. Dale Bray, entomologist at the University of Delaware says "Ciodrin," a relatively new insecticide, is the only one approved for dairy cattle.

Although other insecticides have been used in backrubbers for beef cattle, he says none of them have been considered safe enough for dairy cows because of residue problems in milk. The Food and Drug Administration has taken the position that any trace of an insecticide in milk is too much. And they have withheld clearance on all chemicals that fail to meet this test. Bray says that if used according to the manufacturer's recommendations, Ciodrin leaves no residue in milk.

In addition to its use in backrubbers, Ciodrin can be used as a spray directly on the cattle, and around the dairy barn. If properly handled, it will control hornflies, face flies, house flies, and stable flies. For backrubbers, Bray recommends using a one per cent solution of Ciodrin in a suitable oil according to manufacturer's directions on the container. Do not use this same solution as a spray, the entomologist warns. It should be mixed with water for spraying, according to the directions.

Hedge Care Detailed in U. of D. Publication

There are many reasons for planting a hedge around your property. You may want to keep small children in—or for that matter, out, create an outdoor living area, or you may be seeking the beauty that hedges can provide. All of these things can be accomplished with the right hedge according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. In a booklet just released by the University, entitled "Hedges", Stevens describes the many kinds of hedges, how to plant them and how to care for them.

According to Webster's definition, a hedge is "a row of closely planted shrubs, bushes, etc., forming a boundary or fence; hence, anything serving as a fence or barrier; restriction or defense." Stevens says, true to the definition, hedges are used in all of these ways. Some people use them well, others plant some bushes and hope the end product does what they want.

Most people plant hedges for either protection, enclosure, windbreak, or beauty. And in theory, any shrub or tree could be grown as a hedge. But Stevens says certain species lend themselves better to such plantings.

In this publication, he lists the characteristics of 40 common hedge materials, and how to care for them.

For example he points out that American Arbor Vitae is particularly suitable for hedges or windbreaks, and is less expensive than most other evergreens. On the other hand, certain holly plants are difficult to grow, and quite susceptible to insect damage.

Drawing and photographs indicate clipping techniques, and suitability of certain plants for their assigned purposes.

Copies of the publication are available by writing to the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark. Ask for extension bulletin 80, "Hedges".

Kent Home Doings

Perishable fresh vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce, broccoli, green onions, asparagus and Brussels sprouts, keep best at home when refrigerated, preferably in the hydrator. Because of its design, this section permits a little circulation of air but retains the moisture in vegetables well.

This is important, explains Katie Thomas, Kent County Home economics extension agent, because retaining the moisture in vegetables helps them keep their vitamin A and vitamin C, or ascorbic acid, as well as their crispness and flavor.

After five days at standard refrigerator temperature—about 40 degrees F.—leafy, dark-green vegetables and broccoli lose about half of their original ascorbic acid. Although the loss sounds large, deep green, leafy vegetables have such a high initial value of ascorbic acid that they are still good sources after this substantial loss. They can be expected to provide more ascorbic acid than freshly harvested snap beans, and perhaps more than fresh tomatoes.

Green peas hold their nutrients better if left in the pod until ready to use. If you shell them put them into plastic bags before refrigerating.

Cabbage is a more stable source of ascorbic acid than most other leafy vegetables. If kept in cold storage at temperatures below 40 degrees F., it retains three-fourths or more of its ascorbic acid for as long as two months.

Among other vegetables that retain ascorbic acid well are peppers, snap beans, lima beans, and tomatoes.

Tomatoes bought or picked before they turn red keep their nutrients best if they are ripened out at room temperature—but not in the sun. Do not ripen tomatoes on a hot window sill or in the refrigerator. The bright red color does not develop when the temperature goes above 85 degrees F. for very long. And tomatoes become soft and watery and subject to decay if ripened in the refrigerator. Ripe, firm tomatoes held in the refrigerator or at a cool room temperature for several days do not lose much ascorbic acid, but when they become overripe, the loss of ascorbic acid is rapid.

Miss Edith DeLong

Newark Girl Describes Trip To Ceylon

(Editor's note: Miss Edith DeLong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. DeLong, 56 Sunset Road, Newark, is spending six months in the island country of Ceylon as a U. S. representative in the International Farm Youth Exchange program. A college graduate and biological technician, she is one of several hundred young people from 43 countries participating in this year's exchange program, designed to promote better understanding among people of many nations. Delegates share ideas and ways of life with people of their host countries by living and working in the home of rural families. Following is Miss DeLong's first report on her visit, which began last month.)

Thirty delegates gathered at the 4-H center June 19 for an orientation program prior to departure to countries all over the globe; Korea, Belgium, Ecuador, Norway, Turkey. As well rounded and dynamic a group I'd never come in contact with before. Our orientation covered U. S. foreign policy briefing; U. S. Department of Agriculture problems, trends and policies; Extension Service and USDA make up and functions; U. S. export and import development, as well as a survey of U. S. methods, types and diversity in agriculture. Following last minute reminders about health and travel, we went out many directions.

With me is another IFYE delegate, Dick Augsburger, 20, a senior at Ohio State University majoring in Agricultural Education. He is from a general and dairy farm of 150 acres in Ohio.

We flew from New York City via Paris, Rome, to Tehran. There after a lengthy discussion with two Iranian baggage men sputtering wilding in Arabic we rescued our baggage checks and boarded a plane to Bombay and Colombo.

As the jet came slowly down, the green island nestled under a fluffy white cloud layer could be seen. The Ceylonese art professor murmured, "Ceylon, my country." He was returning to a tropical hide-away after a year of study in Italy.

There we were above a green carpet interrupted only occasionally by water collecting "tanks" canals and rice paddies. As we landed at the airport we were engulfed by coconut palms, shrubs and flowering bushes on all sides. The airport would make New Castle look like Idlewild. Inside the cement building they checked us through with little confusion. Dick and I made friends with about seven Ceylonese so they showed us to the right places. Didn't open our bags. There came a note from the Cultural Affairs Officer to take the BOAC bus to a hotel in Colombo, the capital.

The 18-mile journey was through dense jungle. Along the road's edges were houses of cement with tile roofs or roofs thatched from coconut palm leaves and houses of woven siding and thatched roofs, all completely open with a minimum of furniture and upkeep and a maximum of people and confusion and green plants and animals. Oh, the animals—cats, dogs, bullocks, many legged ones are in abundance.

Occasionally there were vendors selling tropical fruit, vegetables and wood. We saw many small shops, each one selling everything from carcasses to plastic purses. Many nursing homes and hospitals are all along the road.

As in America, there was often a photography stand or a Singer sewing machine store; these shops are not spacious, well lighted, clean stores. They are most often only shelves stacked high with much merchandise, open to weather surrounding the sales person. The customers jam in front of the rickety counters to bargain. In Colombo there is, in addition, a department store featuring household goods and clothes of western type. As we got further into town there were more cars, buses, people, bullock carts, bicycles, etc., all going every which way. The greenness and foliage is unbelievable and so are the heat and humidity. Delaware "ain't seen nothing!"

The corner "drug store" does not exist. In town, only, there are a few "chemists" who carry some standard remedies, a variety of patent medicines, soap, tooth paste and a sprinkling of imported beauty aids of recent years ago. It doesn't matter that the stores aren't enclosed, for the weather is year around 83 to 87 degrees. The men wear shirts tucked into a long skirt wrapped around instead of pants. The shirt is sometimes folded up when working. There are dump trucks and some big machinery. You see, most imports have been cut off because of their lack of foreign exchange and suffering economy. I understand 10, even 5 years ago, there was lots more available to the people than what is now.

With the ample rainfalls provided by the monsoons, Colombo is indeed a tropical paradise of green foliage and colorful blossoms. She is blessed too, by constant sea breezes from the mighty Indian Ocean. There is a constant thrash of waves on her rocky coast line. We went to the hotel and there was a U. S. Information Service girl and a photographer. The photographer went wild—and we looked so sharp after four hours' sleep in two days, humidity, rain in Bombay and 29 hours of sitting cramped into a seat under our hand luggage. We had a Coke while she took the photographs back. Our pictures were in every paper on the island!

Road Linking Ferry With GSP To Be Opened Soon

A new approach road linking the Cape May-Lewes Ferry with the southern terminus of the Garden State Parkway will be opened to traffic Thurs., July 30, it was announced by William J. Miller Jr., director of the Delaware River and Bay Authority. Constructed by the Authority at a cost of $420,000, the new two lane paved limited access road extends nearly two miles from the New Jersey terminal of the Ferry directly to the Garden State Parkway Exit "O". The approach road when opened Thursday will eliminate the present series of detours from Exit 4-A of the Parkway at Rio Grande over secondary roads to the ferry terminal.

Miller said opening of the new road is another step toward final completion of the terminal facilities. The new Ferry service began operation on July 1 while construction was still under way. Early Autumn dates are set for completion of terminal buildings service areas and other improvements.

RBHS Registrations End After Aug. 10

Mail registrations for 11 University of Delaware extension courses at Rehoboth Beach will be accepted through Aug. 3. After that date, students who wish to take courses must register in person Aug. 10 at Rehoboth Beach High School.

The registration will be held from 8 to 10 a.m. and from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Classes will meet daily from Aug. 10 until Aug. 23, a compressed three-week schedule. Class meetings will all be two and a half hours. Textbooks will be available only at the first class meeting.

Courses offered, with starting time listed, include: 8 a.m. - supervision: principles and practices; 9 a.m. - mathematical concepts for elementary teachers II; basic human development; 10:30 a.m. - problems in elementary social studies; 1 p.m. - corrective composition; the contemporary novel in England and America, educational measurements; 7 p.m. - investments, creative problems in theatre, introduction to economics I and social abnormality.

All courses carry three credit hours, except corrective composition, which is a non-credit course.

BEST WINDOW—Collins Clothing Store took first place in the competition for best-decorated window during the July trade days, sponsored by the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, which featured the Delaware State Fair. St. Stephen's Receives Award

On Rogation Sunday this past spring, the children and youth of St. Stephen's decorated small offering envelopes for an offering which was to go to buy seeds for the Missionary District of Uganda in Africa. Canon Seymour Flynn is the Missionary from Delaware to that area. In each church in the Diocese of Delaware, two winning decorations were picked, one from the small children and one for the youth. The winner among the children at St. Stephen's was Roxanne Mertz, with Idelette Rice in second place, while the winner among the youth was Susie French with Sue Perry in second place. The envelopes decorated by these young winners were sent in to the Diocese and along with other churches in Delaware were sent to Uganda to be judged.

Imagine the delight of the congregation of St. Stephen's to find that among all of the envelopes of the Diocese, Susie French, who lives near Felton, and is a member of St. Stephen's, had decorated the winning envelope. Therefore, Canon Flynn sent to Susie, a beautifully hand-carved warrior from Kenya in Africa. This award was presented at 11 o'clock this past Sunday and was on display in the Parish House during Coffee Hour.

Susie's envelope was decorated with a picture of Africa, with a small leaf indicating the location of Uganda, and above, the words "Africa Needs Seeds". The envelope was wrapped in red netting used for wrapping onions. It was selected, it is thought, for its originality as well as for the artistic way in which it was decorated.

We should like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, who took her time to judge the envelopes which were decorated here at St. Stephen's. Other children and youth who took part in this contest were: Leah Coady, Denise Huff, Billy Huff, Joan Huff, Virginia Huff, Robin Porter, Susan Huff, Billy Winkler.

We all had a lovely time visiting together and hope we can meet again next year.

Delaware Food Market Report

August again, the time of mixed emotions. There's real joy in the abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables, a bit of sadness that supplies can't last, and also weariness of summer chores, like preserving canning, etc.

August is an especially good month to watch for time-saving ideas. Food pages, advertisements, and store displays will have all kinds of suggestions as part of the "National Sandwich Month" promotion.

An excellent selection for imaginative sandwich makers is beef. There will be an abundance of beef again says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Although supplies are not as great as they have been in recent months, they will be well over a year ago. This beef continues to be of high quality. As a double-check on quality, there are several signs alert shoppers note. The best beef has a large amount of meat in proportion to bone, and it's lean, firm, fine-textured, and of a uniform bright light red to deep red, with streaks of fat throughout. The bones should be red and porous, the fat covering, firm and creamy-white.

Pork production will be about 5 per cent less than a year ago, estimates the American Meat Institute, but there is sufficient supply to warrant an honored spot on your shopping list for a pork roast or a baked ham. Prepare the roast in the cool of the day to be served later on buns with a tangy barbecue sauce.

Turkey offers an endless variety of sandwich combinations. Prices for both large and small turkeys have been running well below a year ago. During August, you may expect these favorable prices to continue, since turkey marketings are 10 to 20 per cent greater than a year ago.

If you have tried only a limited number of plum varieties in the past, August is the month to experiment with new ones. California's plum crop is a large one with many varieties in abundant supply. Plums during August tend to be larger than those marketed earlier. They are also a darker red, although some light red and green varieties will be available. Some plums are round, some pointed, and most are quite sweet when ripe. Crisp, juicy, nearby vegetables will be even more plentiful in August. Look for such summer favorites as sweet corn, green beans, cabbage, tomatoes, cauliflower, squash, onions, salad greens, beets, and eggplant. Of course, you can also find fine shipped-in vegetables, too.

Supplies of soybean and cottonseed oils remain at very high levels. These are the main oils used in the manufacturer of salad and cooking oils.

Marshyhope Watershed Plan Approved

Congressman Harris B. McDowell, Jr. (D-Del.) announced that the Subcommittee on Conservation and Credit of the House Committee on Agriculture approved the Marshyhope Watershed Project Plan.

The Marshyhope Watershed Project involves about 60,000 acres of land area in Kent and Sussex Counties and about 40,000 acres in Caroline and Dorchester Counties, Md.

In testimony presented to the Subcommittee, Congressman McDowell urged that favorable consideration and approval be given to this project. Congressman McDowell said:

"The magnitude of the Marshyhope Watershed Project tends to emphasize the importance of the planning arrangements for watershed improvements, management, and protection as required under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

"It underlines the dedicated efforts of hundreds of farm families and local groups to solve this complex watershed problem which transcends county and state lines over the past thirty years.

"It underscores the need for Federal, state, and local cooperation in developing and improving watershed programs aimed to prevent floods, increase the supply of usable water, and prevent soil erosion and sedimentation thereby augmenting the availability of productive and fertile farmland.

"I salute those citizens and organizations in the States of Delaware and Maryland and those employees of the Federal government who cooperated in conceiving a constructive plan which in the public interest and which promises to yield solid gains in agriculture and for our economy in general."

W. O. T. M. Notes

Chapter No. 1229 met July 23 for their regular business meeting and for the sad occasion of draping the charter for one of their oldest and most active members, Mrs. Marie Zanks.

Mrs. Irene Short, of Milford, a member of the College of Regents, was able to attend the meeting after a long illness.

Peter A. Pal, a prominent Moose member from Philadelphia, spoke to the group and congratulated Mrs. Iva Banning and Mrs. Anne McWilliams on their recent trip to Moose Heart where they received their college degree.

There are still a few more days for the fair booth to function if you haven't been able to help with your time or donations of pies or cakes you may still be able to do so.

11 a.m. Morning worship. Message by the pastor. The Youth Choir will sing a special number. 6:30 p.m. Training Union. Muriel Rifenburg, training Union director.

7:30 p.m. Evening worship. Message by the pastor. Youth choir will sing.

Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. Bible study and prayers. 8:30 p.m. Adult Choir practice.

Many thanks to all who helped in the Milford census, especially to Pat Vallia and Glenda Cooper, who worked each day so faithfully.

Last Sunday our Sunday School attendance was 75 compared to 73 the previous week. Our morning worship service was attended by 83 compared to only 72 the previous week.

The pastor's message was entitled "Union With Christ".

During the training union time at 6:30 there was a panel discussion with the young people taking part. The adults formed the audience and also took part in adding comments on the questions. The questions were submitted by a various number of the youth. Rev. Halliburton took part as asking the questions to the panel to answer. Panel members were: Pat Villa, Glendora Cooper, Charlene Pritchett, Clarence Hackett and Clark Lilly. The center of the discussion was on various problems young people face today as Christians. There were 31 present.

During our evening worship service Brother Clarence Hackett took charge of the service. This was his concluding message in his series during the weekend youth revival. There were 45 present during the service.

High School Football Physicals Listed

Coach Frank Glazier has announced that boys wishing to play football at Harrington High School this season may report for their physical examinations on Thursday, Aug. 6 at 10:30 a.m. Candidates should report to the nurse's office.

Players from last year's team can pick up their equipment Saturday, Aug. 1 at 9 a.m. Newcomers can get their gear at 10 a.m. Coach Glazier has had to schedule these details early this year since he will be busy working with the Gold Squad which will be practicing for the annual Blue-Gold All-Star game at the University of Delaware.

Glazier's analysis of his 1964 team shows that defense again should be the Lion's strong point. Eight defensive starters are back. The kicking game should be tops with Richard Black punting and Harry "Butch" Bitler kicking off.

The offense poses the big problem. The Lions scored 85 points in Henlopen Conference competition and the graduated Barry Fry and Bill Adams accounted for 84 of them. Ron Hughes, a lineman in 1963, will be given a shot at fullback. Rusty Jack appears to be the main scoring threat with help from Wayne Porter, Charley Taylor, Chuck McNally and Raleigh Davis. Frank White, a transfer student, has no previous football experience but is faster than any previous Harrington High player with the exception of Jim Schiff, who played here on the Lions' first team in 1957. If White makes the grade as a back he will give the Lions the great speed needed for breakaway runs. Lack of a speedback has hurt the locals for several years.

Football is now in position to become big stuff at H. H. S. as a result of other developments. New bleachers can seat 1100 fans. Lights are being installed to enable the Lions to play at night. The team will be resplendent in brand new eye-catching pro-type uniforms. A talented backfield coach named Bill Leitheiser, of Lancaster, Pa., has been added to the coaching staff presently consisting of Head Coach Frank Glazier and defensive mentor Jim Hawpe.

Others are: Frank White, Frank Cain, Jim Cain, Danny Smith, Jim Reese, Renny French, Bruce Layton, Ed Wheatley, Tom Simpler, Steve Motter, Jim Simpler, Bob Rouse, Walt Perdue and Charlie Tribbitt. Most of these boys have some previous experience. It is expected that this number will be much larger by the start of practice on August 25.

Brandywine Raceway Notes

Brandywine Raceway's driving fraternity welcomed into its illustrious ranks this past week one of the brightest up-and-coming reinsmen in the business, 32-year-old Jack Quinn, who's fresh from achieving the greatest success in the nation this year while campaigning at one raceway during a single meet.

The Canadian-born teamster, who now calls Harrington home, took Laurel Raceway by storm during 32 nights under the lights, sweeping the dash-winning crown with 39 first in 156 starts. Not only did he handle a record number of mounts during the Maryland campaign, but he chalked up more wins than any driver during a single meet in that track's 17-year history. His nearest rival was Pat Hubbard, another Delawarean, with 14 victories. Quinn also had 31 placements and 15 shows, out of the money less than 50 per cent of the time.

There were nights he failed to get his picture taken in the winners' circle, but he made up for those failures by posting a slew of doubles, triples and even one quadruple. His four-win night was July 9, the same night that the famed Jack "Tie" Wilcutts brought home four winners here at Brandywine.

Quinn's mounts that night came in the 2nd, 3rd, 7th and 9th. Only Winged Star in the 7th was a longshot, paying $16.20. Wilcutts' quadruple was achieved with winners in the 2nd, 4th, 6th and 7th, and his sole outsider was Doctor Chief in the 2nd at $56.70.

Quinn, a tall, slender driver, has 16 horses in the Brandywine paddock. His principal patron is George C. Francis, of Westfield, N. J., for whom he trains and drives Gussie Hanover, Victory Frost, Winged Star, Some Treat, Living Faith and Black Lite.

Last year, Quinn's eleventh in the sulky business, he racked up 51 first, 60 placements and 61 show-finishes. He's about to break that record with the season only half-way through, since he had a 10-14-3 record in 69 starts at Rosecroft Raceway, Oxon Hill, Md., before launching his eye-opening Laurel campaign.

Brandywine Raceway, which goes nightly until September 12, has an 8:25 post time, and Twin Double wagering on the 6th through the 9th races.

PRISONER FLEES

Clarence E. Dyer, Griffin was ordered held in $1000 bail. Unable to post the bond, the suspect was lodged in the lock-up pending transfer to the Kent Correctional Institution.

After his capture Tuesday, Griffin was arraigned again before Magistrate Dyer charged with prison escape. The Magistrate ordered another $1000 bond on this charge.

Clothes and a television set were reported lost in the hotel looting.

KENT SENATE

unworthy or questionable bills sponsored by others.

McGinnis introduced legislation which led to creation of Delaware's first Public Defender and he is also the sponsor of two important educational bills that are still pending—the equalization act (HS 1 for HB 67) and the bill to create five-member school boards in all districts throughout the state which passed the House but is stalled in the Senate.

He also steered through the legislature a bill which increased the number of harness racing days for Brandywine Raceway, Inc. enabling it to discontinue the practice of buying dates from a "phantom" track in Sussex County, Delmarva Raceway, Inc.

The district is the only one in Kent County where Republican registrations outnumber those of Democrats.

McGinnis filed immediately following a luncheon for a few friends and members of the press Wednesday. Simpson became the first Republican to file for county or legislative office when he submitted his application after a meeting of the county committee Tuesday night. The committee set fees at two per cent of the total salary the official would receive.

Safe Driving Rodeo Underway

Driving a model car down a 'highway' on a specially devised driver reaction machine held the attention of the 49 State finalists of the 13th annual National Teen Age Safe Driving Rodeo at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington, D. C.

The machine checks driver reaction time to simulated driving conditions and was the first test of a four day series to determine the nation's top teen age safe drivers. The winners will be announced at an awards banquet Thursday evening.

The teen age safe driving rodeo is sponsored by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Lincoln Mercury division of Ford Motor Company.

The first place Rodeo winner will receive a $2000 college scholarship and a Comet Caliente convertible automobile; the second-place winner receives a $1500 scholarship, and the third-place contestant a $1000 scholarship.

During their four day stay in the nation's capital the Rodeo finalists will take examinations on attitude; rules of the road; personal interview; a skill test on the parking area at the D. C. Army; a road check in Washington, D. C. traffic.

The skill tests and road test take place Tuesday (all day) at the D. C. Army.

The Rodeo finalists who have come to Washington are scored on a basis of 1000 points and are penalized for errors as they take the various tests. In past years, the top winners have scored over 800 points.

In their off hours the contestants will see a Washington Senator ball game; hear a concert at Watergate and be honored at a reception in the Senate Caucus room.

Ocean Downs Raceway News

Although the weather held down the attendance the first two nights of the Ocean Downs Raceway meeting last weekend, crowd enthusiasm and wagering were great.

This coming Saturday night's card at the Downs will be highlighted by a $1,500 Invitational Pace featuring the best pacers on the grounds and Race Secretary Don Roberts expects to have two or three others come in from Brandywine Raceway for the big event.

Roberts said he had invited Nock's Frosty, a speedy 3-year-old owned by Norman Nock, of Pocomoke City, Md.; Robert Long's Radiant Vastar from Dagsboro, and Hi Scotch from the Walt Warrington stable.

Spear's Boy, winner of the invitational last Saturday night in 2:04 4/5, Robert Captain and Doc Gerberich's Abbe Fair are three of the likely local starters.

Bill Collins' Roberta Captain and Abbe Fair finished second and third to Spear's Boy, respectively.

Next week the famous Del-Mar-Va colt stakes will be raced. The 3-year-old trot goes Wednesday and the 2-year-old trot will be contested Thursday. Then the 3-year-old pacers face the starter Friday and the 2-year-old pacers will race Saturday night for a purse estimated at $8,000.

Pennsy to Stage Excursion to World's Fair

The Pennsylvania Railroad will stage another excursion to the World's Fair at New York Sat., Aug. 15.

Patrons, riding in an air-conditioned train with coach lunch and beverages available, can purchase a bargain package ticket.

Tickets from Harrington, which includes entrance to the fairgrounds, are $11 for adults and $6 for children from 5 years to 11 years.

The railroad officials request patrons buy their tickets in advance.

Stopping places are Delmar, Laurel, Seaford, Bridgeville, Harrington, Dover, Clayton, and Middletown.

The train will leave here at 6:40 (D.S.T.) and return at 2:03 a.m.
