

Referendum Passes on Bond Issue For Water System Improvements

Voters aSturday approved a referendum on $150,000 worth of bonds for water system expansion and improvements.

The vote was 8086 to 6908, based on one vote for each $1, or fraction thereof, paid on property and capitation taxes.

The next move will be to advertise the sale of bonds, which will require a month, after which advertisements will be placed for bids.

Mayor Fulton J. Downing said there would be no increase in property taxes since the bonds would be paid off from water sales. He added it is hoped to have the work under way before winter weather sets in.

The improvements to the water system, part of which have been completed, are as follows: (1) An additional water well at Milby Street and the Pennsylvania Railroad; (2) a 10-inch main from the water tower on Franklin Street out Missipillon Street to West Street; (3) a 10-inch main, just east of the railroad and adjacent to it, from the tower to Clark Street at its intersection with Delaware Avenue; (4) a 10-inch main from No. 3 out Thorpe Street, crossing East Street and proceeding eastward to Simpson Street; (5) an 8-inch main from Simpson Street to U. S. 13, thence running south to the City line, and north to Porter Street; (6) an eight-inch main down Simpson Street to Dixon Street and thence to an alley near Center Street in Harrington Manor; (7) an eight-inch main from Liberty and Dixon Streets west on the first-mentioned street to a point near the Delaware Power & Light Company building.

A 10-inch main has recently been installed the full length of Delaware Avenue. This portion of the water improvement had priority because the State Highway Department is planning to improve this street, and also Center Street. Both are state-maintained roads.

Much of his work at the University will deal with the use of dwarfing compounds and oil-wax sprays on plants to reduce drought losses and increase yields. In this research he will work with Dr. Donald Fieldhouse, assistant professor of horticulture. In addition, Read will work toward his doctorate in horticulture and biology.

Scholarship Grant Given to St. Andrew's

Robert A. Moss, Headmaster of St. Andrew's School, has announced establishment of the Delmarva Scholarship, a grant which carries with it a sum sufficient to afford the recipient whatever funds are necessary to make attendance at St. Andrew's possible.

The Scholarship is available for the session beginning Sept. 1965 "to that boy resident on the Delmarva Peninsula south of the canal, who, in the considered judgment of the School, seems most likely to realize in himself the ideals St. Andrew's was founded to promote."

St. Andrew's, an Episcopal Church boarding school located on the shores of Noxontown Pond near Middletown, was established and endowed by the late A. Fleix duPont and his sister Mrs. Irene duPont in 1930, because they believed that a will disposed to good was as essential to development as a well disciplined intellect. The school offers a college preparatory course of study in a Christian environment. Its graduates proceed to college almost without exception.

In addition to being a Delmarva resident, the terms of the Scholarship specify that the applicant must need the material assistance offered, must be prepared to enter the 8th, 9th, or 10th grade, must be possessed of

Gerow Says He Will Vote For Tax Cut If Elected

Joseph C. Gerow, of Frederica, Republican candidate for commissioner from the Third Levy Court District, says he will vote for a reduction in county taxes if elected.

In a prepared report, he says: "The Levy Court is the basic governing body in Kent County. It is not a court of law but it does determine the levy or tax rate on real estate. The present Democrat controlled Levy Court has fixed this rate of 50c per $100 of assessed valuation which is the maximum tax rate allowed by law. As you know, the present Levy Court has also caused a general reassessment of all real estate in the county to be made. They have also declined to make the results of this reassessment known prior to the election.

"In my opinion, unless positive action is taken, all property owners will pay substantially increased taxes next year. I have therefore pledged that if elected I will vote to reduce the tax rate from the present maximum rate so that the total taxes collected next year will be equivalent to the total amount collected during the present tax year. The other Republican candidates for Levy Court are also pledged to reduce taxes.

Carvel Urges Support for M. D. Drive

Delawareans have been urged by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel to "volunteer their services and generous contributions" to the 1964 March for Muscular Dystrophy.

In a statement directing public attention to the annual M. D. drive, Governor Carvel this week pointed out that "this campaign offers the only source of hope for many innocent youngsters, most of whom are doomed to complete crippling and death before reaching maturity," and noted that "these children may yet be spared as a result of the extensive medical research program made possible by contributions to this worthy cause."

Present at the Governor's office as the chief executive made his statement were a M. D. patient, 10-year-old Kurt Freed; Kurt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Freed of Rodney Village, Dover; Mrs. Nettie W. G. Ziegler, of Seaford, president of the Sussex-Kent Chapter, M.D.A.A.; and G. Clifford Lawson, Wilmington, president of the New Castle-Kent Chapter, M.D.A.A.

"This campaign offers the only source of hope for many innocent youngsters, most of whom are doomed to complete crippling and death before maturity. These children may yet be spared as a result of the extensive medical research program made possible by contributions to this worthy cause.

"Highlighting this year's campaign will be the March for Muscular Dystrophy, November 16 to 21, during which volunteers will call upon their friends and neighbors soliciting their support of this great humanitarian campaign.

Republicans and Democrats to Come to Grips in Election Tues.

By Carrington H. Burgess

Terry Tells Why He Seeks Governor's Office

Charles L. Terry, Jr., the Democratic candidate for Governor, this week issued a statement re-emphasizing why he is seeking the office of Chief Executive of Delaware. Judge Terry's statement said: "Many people have asked me why I gave up my service on the Delaware bench to enter the turmoil of active political life. It was not an easy decision for me to make, but I have been very proud of what has been accomplished in Delaware in the last four years in moving Delaware forward. As a native son, I have great love for my state and a great appreciation for all that it has done for me. I could not, in good conscience, refuse to seek the office of Governor and run the risk of seeing the task only half completed." He expressed particular concern about the finances of the state and expressed a desire to see that the balanced budget re-instituted by the present Democratic administration be continued.

His statement continued: "I know that our government needs to be reorganized and consolidated, and I strongly advocate sensible re-organization, but I have never believed that we should throw away that which has proven to be effective merely for the purpose of change or to create a political slogan."

Judge Terry also vigorously endorsed the creation of a merit system for state employees, for continuing support for public education, a revision of the magistrate system, and permanent mosquito control. He expressed the thought that these areas were his primary concern; and if elected Governor, he would vigorously endeavor to see that these programs were enacted.

"It would seem that the next General Assembly will have a Democratic majority. Even many Republican leaders have stated that this will be true," he stated, and then continued, "I believe that the last 12 years have shown that only when the executive and the majority of the General Assembly are of the same political persuasion is there progress in moving the state forward."

The Judge stated that he had spoken with most of the Democratic candidates for the General Assembly and that they have pledged their support to him in obtaining the programs which he has advocated. He concluded: "I feel confident that a Democratic victory will continue the program for a better Delaware and the nation."

D.R.B.A. Wise In Purchase Of Land

The Delaware River and Bay Authority will be nearly a million dollars richer because of the wise purchase of 40 acres of land by the Delaware Interstate Highway Division in 1959.

The Division operated Delaware Memorial Bridge prior to the establishment of the present joint Delaware-New Jersey Authority. The late Garrett E. Lyons was chairman.

Today the forty acres are the source of an invaluable supply of fill for the foundations and approach roadbeds for a second bridge which is under construction just north and parallel to the present span.

Consulting engineers estimate they will have removed approximately 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth from this area by December with which to build approach embankments for the second structure.

Under one contract, where fill was furnished from an outside source, it was necessary to pay $2.20 per cubic yard for its purchase and transportation.

Because the fill was available nearby for this project, an award was made to transfer it from the 40 acres at a cost of 95c a cubic yard.

This means that by having its own fill available, the Delaware River and Bay Authority will Charges and countercharges, innuendos and insinuations by candidates of all parties concerned, but particularly by the two major ones—the Democrats and the Republicans, will come to a head Tuesday in the general election.

In the presidential election, the money is on Lyndon B. Johnson, but Goldwater, the Republican, cannot be ruled out—he could be a dark horse.

Running for the U. S. Senate is Gov. Elbert N. Carvel. His accomplishments in his second term as governor, make the Democrat well worth backing in his battle against the incumbent, Sen. John J. Williams. Williams' backers are quite optimistic but anything can happen in an election, especially the forthcoming one.

Harris B. McDowell Jr., Democratic congressman, who has served more terms in the House than any other Delawarean, is after his fifth term and should be a shoo-in against the capable James H. Snowden.

State Level Charles L. Terry, Jr., Democrat, will be opposed by Attorney General David P. Buckson. Terry's running mate will be Sherman W. Tribbitt, speaker of the House in the General Assembly, and an individual about whom we will hear more in the years to come. He will be opposed for lieutenant governor, by Rep. William T. Best.

Other state candidates are as follows — Democratic — for treasurer, Belle Everett; auditor, Charles F. Moore; Republican — Treasurer, W. Glenn Matthews, and auditor, Frank M. Durnall.

County-wide candidates — prothonotary, Frank R. Hayes; register of wills, H. Clifford Clark; comptroller, Raymond Welch Sr., incumbent; sheriff, Carl F. Prettymann, and coroner, William C. Torbert Jr.

Republican countywide candidates—Prothonotary, James E. Jackson, Jr.; register of wills, Fred B. Carey Sr.; comptroller, Loren W. Becker; sheriff, Orville B. Myers, and coroner, Noble S. Warren.

Levy Court, First Levy Court District — James B. Messick, Democrat, against George B. Carroll, Republican; Second Levy Court District — L. Winfred Hughes (D) and Jesse F. Fickes (R); Third Levy Court District—William E. Spence (D) and Joseph C. Gerow (R).

In the Twenty-Ninth Representative District, of which Harrington is a part, Democratic candidate for representative is Maurice Adams against Ralph L. Hummel (R).

The candidate for senator, in the first three election districts, is Allen J. Cook, opposed by Lawrence Ellery (R). In the fourth, fifth, and sixth election districts the Democratic candidate is George A. Robbins, incumbent, opposed by Wilbur R. Myers (R).

The recent reapportionment of legislative districts has made the picture confusing. To find out who is who, see the sample ballot and instructions to voters published elsewhere in this newspaper.

Voting hours will be from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., EST. Voting in the first election district of the Twenty Ninth Representative District is Harrington Elementary School; in the second, at the fire house, and in the third, at Farmington school.

Other polling places are usually the same, but not always the same, as for registration. Voting at Felton will be at the firehouse.

Delaware Food Market Report

"November's sky is chill and drear", said a poet, but a wise person can brighten the family hearth and hearts with happy meals.

Roast turkey, pot roast, apple pie, cranberry salad, and peanut butter cookies are some of many ways that you can bring cheer to our family. This month's bountiful harvest can help you satisfy everyone's appetites and perhaps help keep the budget in tact. Many traditional foods are on the plentiful list for November which is issued by the U.S.D.A. each month. In the spotlight will be turkeys and apples, which will assure a fine Thanksgiving feast.

The 1964 turkey crop is expected to be about 5% larger than 1963, but in terms of weight, the gain may be 7 to 8% because heavier birds are being raised.

The apple crop is a big one also with many varieties to choose from. This makes apple pie a "must" and what about having cheese with it. For a variation, make a cheese crust for the apple pie. For each cup of flour in the pastry recipe, add a fourth cup of shredded sharp cheddar cheese. Then make the pastry as you ordinarily do. Or, another suggestion is to sprinkle about a fourth cup of the sharp cheese over the top of the apple pie as it comes out of the oven. The cheese will melt over the hot pie and give it an attractive appearance and a pleasing flavor.

A big cranberry crop is shapping up too 1,298,700 barrels. This berry lends itself to many festive meals by adding a perky flavor note. Have you ever tried Crimson Cranberry Flambe for a "different" dessert? It's easy to do and a delight to eat. Simply heat your cranberry sauce in a chafing dish. Soak sugar cubes in lemon extract and place in dish and light just before serving. Let each person ladle warm sauce over scoops of coconut covered ice cream balls or slices of pound cake. Have plenty on hand for seconds because this is the type of dessert it is.

Beef again is listed as a November plentiful food. This most popular meat in the American diet rounds out a full year of abundant supplies. Although the top grades of beef have been somewhat below previous levels in recent weeks and prices are up, large quantities of beef are still on hand at relatively favorable prices.

Rounding out the list of plentiful are peanuts and peanut products. Be sure to keep a bowlful of peanuts handy for snack time munching and use peanuts and peanut products in cookies and other baked treats, in salads and sandwiches, sauces and in casseroles.

Trot Lines at K & S Raceway

By Dick Case
The Virginia gentlemen, Willie Webb, Frank Hanna and W. E. Lawson, who have raced at Harrington for many, many years, were given a nice write-up in the Wilmington Morning News Tuesday.

Bobby Webb and Bobby Watkinson are fighting hard to maintain their top positions in the drivers percentage standings and Elwood Long is knocking at the door, too.

The winning driver—he must have 30 or more drives—will receive $100 cash Saturday night and the second driver will get $50. In this case, even the money is not as important as the fame and credit that goes with being the leading driver of the meet.

Some of the stables are leaving late this week for Hinsdale (N. H.) Raceway where Cy Perkins, the regular announcer at K and S is the race secretary, Jim Skinner, Josh Elliott, Henry Palladino, and Eddie Accardi are headed for the hills of New Hampshire.

Young Jimmy DeBerry and Walt Warrington are sending their better horses to Suffolk Downs outside Boston, Mass.

One of the most improved drivers at the meet is Harold (Buck) Gray, a young fellow who gave up the carpenter's trade in 1962 to groom horses and who has been driving for the last two seasons. Buck comes from Bishopville altho his mail address is Bishop, Md.

One of the most talked-about trotters is Harlan Scott, a veteran of the qualifying races who is now in the hands of Jack Parker—and with good results. Parker qualified the horse in 2:11 4/5, then won a race in 2:12 and Monday night was a close second in 2:08 4/5. The 4-year-old is by Harlan and from the Highland Prince are Linda Scott.

Did you know that Danny Murphy is not Irish at all? And of course he is not Scottish, but of Italian extraction.

Just to indicate what toe weights mean to a trotter, last Saturday night the good trotting mare Ann Lin All lost both toe weights and went into a break that probably cost her the race. Just a few ounces on or off makes all the difference sometimes.

Mrs. Essel Farlow was present last Saturday to present the trophy—a silver tray—in the Essel Farlow Memorial Pace. The late Mr. Farlow had served in recent years as the presiding judge at K and S and started to work here in 1947. He died last November from a heart attack.

Friday night's 10-race card is a very good one and features two preferred paces and an all-ages group of note.

Saturday will see the Open pacers go at it again for a $1,500 pot and the president's trophy—an annual award made by J. Gordon Smith, president of the race meet and the Delaware State Fair.

The Open pace will include Talent Show, Justabrook, E de P, Lady Toney, Afton Comet, Scot Hayes, Abbe Fair and Mountain Nib, probably.

Miss Nellie Ann Hobbs is now the marshal at the Suffolk Downs meet and her brother, Ed, is there with Pleasant Time and Hernel Direct.

Bowlers to Bowl For Heart Fund

Entries will be received next week from league bowlers throughout Delaware for the statewide Heart Fund Bowling Tournament.

Mrs. William E. Steward and co-chairmen Wittland and Fidanow of Wilmington and Mrs. Winifred Lynch, of Milford, said that heart fund volunteers will be on hand every night next week to accept one dollar entry fees from bowlers for the competition to take place the following week.

The Heart Fund Tournament, Nov. 8-14, will consist of scores recorded during regular league competition. Bowlers will be ranked on the basis of the number of pins above their league average that they bowl.

County and state roll-offs will be scheduled to determine the winners in those categories.

The tournament, open to every league bowler in Delaware, is jointly sponsored by the Delaware Bowling Proprietors Association and the Wilmington Women's Bowling Association. Mrs. Steward and Mrs. Lynch emphasized that bowlers must enter the tournament before they bowl in order to be eligible for prize money and trophies.

The local volunteers will approach each league that bowls this week with application blanks. Announcements will be made over the public address systems of the bowling centers, and information about the tournament will be posted on bulletin boards.

The co-chairmen emphasized that all of the receipts from the tournament will go directly into the Delaware Heart Association's program of research, education and service which directly benefits heart patients in the state. Contributions are being received from private individuals and businesses to pay for the house, county and state trophies. Prize money will be made up from the entry fees from the participants, with 30 cents of each dollar fee going for prizes and 70 cents going to the Heart Fund.

In addition to the assistance from the local chairmen, assistance in the solicitation of entries is being received from other quarters also. In Milford, members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority are assisting Mrs. Lynch in distributing entry blanks to league bowlers at the Milford Lanes. Martin Sammons, proprietor of the Seaford Lanes, has worked with the Heart Fund personnel from the outset in conducting the tournament in Seaford and in encouraging the participation of league bowlers of that area.

Tournament trophies will be awarded to the man and woman from each of the participating bowling centers who posts the highest score above his or her regular league average while bowling in a league during the week of the tournament. The winners from each local bowling center will meet in county roll-offs, at dates and sites to be announced. Then the county winners will be pitted against each other in a state championship roll-off, with the victors receiving large trophies from the Delaware Heart Association.

FOR THE BIRDS

We're all for them, as are also myriads of other bird lovers and 'watchers'. Our yellow canary and tiny English finch, having lovely coloring of light plum, light orange, and some black feathers, share the same cage replete with metal ferris wheel, their 'private swimming pool', and yes, they have their terrace, and part of the cage is a penthouse.

Each distinguishes within separate cups its particular kind of (drupe) seeds and they share French millet seed trees, birdie wafers, bird treat, My-T-Mite powder, lettuce, celery, etal. Their food pantry includes song food, but it isn't needed. Their melodic trills and warbling are symphonic concerts of cheerfulness from time of A.M. uncovering until we retire.

Their gaiety and busy-ness is entertainment for and they conversely are entertained by our cats, Lord Spotsie and Sir Jolsen. Sometimes we close the French doors and enjoy their having full flight privileges within the music room.

They enjoy vocal and piano practice, music, and persons talking. They evoke admiration and much happiness whatever the daily doings or the weather.

VA To Reopen National Service Life Insurance

The Veterans Administration is preparing to handle next May's flood of applications for the re-opening of National Service Life Insurance as provided for in the bill President Johnson signed into law, October 13, 1964, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington, Delaware, VA Regional Office reported recently.

Mr. Fields said that more than three million veterans with service-connected disabilities, and an unknown number who up to now have not applied for service-connection but can do so in order to obtain insurance, may now be eligible to buy up to $10,000 in permanent GI insurance coverage.

It is estimated that more than 3500 Delaware veterans with service-connected disabilities may be eligible to buy this insurance.

In addition, Mr. Fields pointed out, another unknown number of veterans whose disabilities are not service-connected may also be able to purchase up to $10,000 in coverage.

They may do this under terms of the new law on or after May 1, 1965, and before May 3, 1966. The VA is planning before

May 1, 1965, to mail further details and application forms to all veterans receiving monthly compensation payments.

These veterans whose disabilities are service-connected but who are not drawing compensation will not be included in this mailing. For these, and for other veterans who believe they may be eligible, full explanatory material and application forms will be on hand at all VA Regional Offices by April 1965.

Mr. Fields said no applications can be accepted before May 1, 1965. Because of this, the VA requests that veterans do not write, phone or call for applications until after April 1, 1965.

Persons now on active duty with the Armed Forces and certain Philippine veterans are not eligible to take part in the insurance re-opening.

Expenses of all medical examinations that may be required must be borne by the applicant, Mr. Fields said.

To buy this insurance the veteran must: a. Have been eligible for National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) between October 8, 1940 and January 1, 1957.

b. Have now either no GI insurance or less than the $10,000 in authorized coverage.

c. Be in one of the following three groups—

(1) Veterans with service-connected disabilities who meet standards of good health.

(2) Veterans whose service-connected disabilities alone do not permit them to meet standards of good health.

(3) Veterans whose nonservice-connected disabilities as of October 13, 1964, the date the bill was signed into law, prevented them from buying commercial insurance at the highest rates.

Higher premiums will be charged those veterans in groups two and three. In all cases the premium rates will cover administrative costs as well as the policy value.

The new policies will be issued at low non-dividend premiums which will compare favorably with the net cost of World War II GI insurance.

In addition to the re-opening of NSLI, Mr. Fields said the new law allows veterans to convert a modified life plan. The one-year time limit does not apply to this provision. The VA plan to notify all term policy holders of this new modified plan at the time of their renewal.

This plan is an inducement to term policyholders to convert to a lifetime level premium plan before the premiums on renewable term insurance become prohibitive with increasing age. Some three million NSLI policyholders still hold term insurance policies VA reports indicate.

The advantage of this modification is that it permits conversion to permanent type insurance at lower premium rates than possible before, but the face value of the policy will be automatically reduced by 50 percent when the insured reaches the age of 65.

The policyholder has the option at that time to restore the full amount of coverage by purchasing ordinary life insurance without medical examination.

Science In Agriculture Theme of U. of D. Careers Day

A Careers Day on "The Sciences—Their Application in Agriculture," is being planned by the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware. It will be held on Saturday, November 7th in Agricultural Hall on the University campus.

Dr. William E. McDaniel, director of resident instruction at the University, says that the day is designed to inform high school students interested in a college education in the biological, physical or social sciences on ways they can prepare for employment in agri-industry.

He says the application of science to the growing of food is only one of the professional goals of those involved in agricultural study and research. The broad field of what he calls "agri-industry" provides opportunities in the areas of research, development, manufacture and sales of many commodities including machinery, equipment, chemicals, feed and supplies.

According to McDaniel, "interests in the sciences can be developed by students to prepare them for employment opportunities in the processing and marketing of foods as well as for careers in education.

The Careers Day is aimed especially at high school juniors and seniors, but other high school students are welcome. High school administrators, counselors, science teachers, vocational agriculture teachers and parents of students attending are also welcome.

The program starts at 10:00 a. m. in Agricultural Hall with tours of exhibits covering agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, animal science, entomology, horticulture, plant pathology, poultry science and soils. At 11:30, Dr. George M. Worrlow, dean of the school of agriculture and vice-president of the University, will discuss the sciences and their application in "agri-industry." Visitors will also have an opportunity for informal discussion with school for agriculture faculty members during a box lunch immediately following the formal program.

Registration for the Careers Day is October 28th. All inquiries should be sent to Dr. William E. McDaniel, director of resident instruction, school of agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark.

Plans for taking the 1964 Census of Agriculture in Kent County were announced by Meryle Uffelmann, newly-appointed census crew leader for the county. The job will be done in three stages, the crew leader said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed. Shortly after November 9, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural boxholders in the county. This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and fill in answers to the questions. In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to collect the questionnaires. At the time of this visit the enumerators will help farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with. Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in this county on Nov. 9. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work, the crew leader estimates. The census of agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U.S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

Fence Talk

With George Yapa

Traditional land and water conservation concepts are being changed to encompass new public concerns. This process has resulted in programs to provide for wilderness preservation, open space development, establishment of green belts, and the use of tax machinery to foster more desirable land uses.

A growing number of citizens are convinced that the big push of economic expansion in America is destroying the beauty and usefulness of large areas of our countryside. There is worry that "uglification" of the landscape is outstripping thoughtful and orderly progress.

Bernard F. Hillenbrand, Executive Director of the National Association of Counties, blames seven "scourges" for destroying our landscape: automobile graveyards, open garbage and trash dumps, dilapidated signs and billboards, unwarranted "spot" leapfrog development, water and air pollution, homes built on river flood plains, and the lack of local planning.

The spreading discontent is not solely esthetic—it is also practical. For example, communities seeking new industries have learned that good transportation, sufficient labor, and adequate water supplies are not enough to make a satisfactory industrial location (although they are essential). The men making the decisions on new sites for industry are also looking for attractive surroundings—a landscape unmarred by spoil banks, polluted lakes and streams, helter-skelter developments, and run-down farms. Business increasingly demands that its employees have attractive places to live and that they be able to enjoy recreational opportunities.

It means that a new kind of erosion is being recognized—the erosion of natural beauty. It means more attention is being given to the quality of water and air, as well as soil; and also to the efficient use of space in situations where some crowding has begun. People are awakening to the costs of misuse and neglect of these resources, just as they have become aware of the costs of damage to farm land over the last three decades.

Soil surveys, land use planning, watershed programs, and land treatment practices are directed toward goals that are principally economic. But these traditional tools of resource development also contribute greatly to the enhancement of living values (some people call them "amenity" values). They aid substantially in the re-creation of a well-managed and beautiful countryside that contributes to the good life.

The public speaking course for residents of Sussex County has been moving along very nicely according to reports from Miss Fran Shoffner at Georgetown. The same program will start at the Dover Air Force Base School for Kent County people on Nov. 2.

Fran says their group is getting sound training with actual practice under criticism in effective speech making. It is an excellent course for club presidents, chairman or for others moving into leadership roles. The group meets weekly for a seven week period. Call our Extension Service office at 736-1448 if you would like more details.

Two weeks ago I watched sorghum molasses made by a time worn method in Mississippi. Stalks of sorghum were hand fed into a primitive press powered by two mules walking in a circle. The juicy squeezings were piped thru a bamboo pole to an evaporation pan heated by a roaring hard wood fire. Right next door was a modern, college, research farm.

My host was B. C. Hurt Jr., the director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Pontotoc. He and I served as World War II aircraft armament officers together in North Africa.

It is interesting to visit and see how others are doing things. I picked up an idea for portable individual calf pens designed to minimize parasite problems. Cotton culture was a new experience. And I brought home some Crowder peas, which grow very well down in the south, but less so in Delaware.

Over 40% of our Kent County wheat farmers have signed up for the 1965 wheat program. We had 249 farmers of a total of 616 who are taking part.

The biggest reason for the sign-up in this voluntary program is the benefits offered to cooperators because they voluntarily reduce their planted acreage. Cooperators receive marketing certificates and diversion payments for bringing production in line with need. Also they can be eligible for crop loans.

It is interesting to note that larger wheat farmers are most interested in the sign up. Over half the allotted acres in Delaware and 90% of the allotted acres nationally were signed.

Fall freshening heifers should be taken off the "back forty" before they freshen and work them in with the milking herd. This is one management practice that can pay dividends.

Moving the heifers in with the milking cows about one month before freshening gives them a chance to become acquainted with their new milking partners. It gets the fighting and bickering out of their system before they have to go to work.

Then, too, you can start feeding some grain and other feeds that your milking cows get and by the time the heifer calves, she is accustomed to the new ration. There is no break-in period. She is ready to produce milk.

Another reason for bringing them in early is that most heifers pastures get pretty short on food and water in the fall. The period just before freshening places an increased demand for food for a heifer. Don't shortchange her now—you can really cut into her production ability. That first lactation can be a real disappointment.

The good dairyman will recognize these three important reasons for bringing heifers in with the milking herd a month before freshening. It can mean extra production and extra profit and more satisfaction with your new crop of milkers.

Soil structure isn't harmed when lime spreading trucks are used on dry sod. Also, you can often get a fall discount on lime. A third argument in favor of liming now is that the lime will have a chance to be better incorporated into the soil and will therefore be of maximum benefit to next years crops.

A number of people have inquired about the application of nitrogen during this time of year. While fall application isn't as efficient as use in the spring there is often more labor available during the fall, and you don't have to worry about bogging down in the mud.

If your soil and labor situation favors fall application, you shouldn't be overly concerned about the 10 to 30 per cent loss of nitrogen which can be expected through the winter. With the application of 50 to 75 pounds of elemental nitrogen this fall, you should be able to obtain a one ton per acre increase in hay yield next year. Naturally, price and availability are important factors which need to be considered in determining which kind of nitrogen fertilizer to apply.

Manure should be used on those fields where it will do the most good. Give next year's cornfields top priority.

The poorer the sod being plowed under for corn the more important it is to topdress it with manure. To produce top corn yields, large amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium are needed. A 10-ton manure application per acre reinforced with superphosphate is equivalent to about 500 lbs. of 10-10-10 per acre.

Other places to use manure to good advantage are winter wheat fields that will be overseeded next spring to legumes. However, use only light applications (6 to 8 tons per acre) of a well-shredded straw manure. Apply during winter after the ground is frozen.

Permanent pastures which are mostly grass will also benefit from manure application this fall and winter. The best rate of application is 10 to 12 tons per acre.

Usually good legume stands should not be topdressed with manure. The nitrogen in the manure is not needed and can do some harm by stimulating grasses which will push out the legumes. If the field is to be plowed next year, this is not a problem.

In all cases, reinforcing manure with superphosphate at the rate of 2 lbs. per cow per day, or 50 lbs. per ton of manure is a good practice.

One-Room House Plan Available From Ag School

Plans for a one-bedroom house, suitable for a vacation cabin, or a year-round home for retired persons or a young couple are available from the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware.

Developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, this "efficiency house" is of frame construction with concrete slab-on-grade and a trussed roof.

The bedroom is separated from the living and kitchen areas and is sound cushioned from the entrance hall by closet walls. A second bedroom could be added with the entrance through the space now occupied by the linen closet.

The L-shaped kitchen has ample space for preparing food. Being close to the terrace adds to the convenience for serving meals outdoors.

A spacious work room with modern equipment and storage areas is located near the kitchen, bathroom, and rear entrance. This provides a place for hanging work clothes and washing up before entering other areas of the house. There is sufficient floor space for sewing, ironing, and children's play. For the older family, the space may well serve for hobbies in addition to the normal household activities.

Agricultural engineers at the University indicate that this house is economical to build and can be constructed with a minimum of building knowledge.

Complete working drawings are available for one dollar per set from the agricultural engineering department, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark. Ask for plan number 7154.

4-H News

With Marion McDonald

Excitement reigns in five Kent County homes as 4-H'ers prepare for National Club Congress. Karen Brown, Houston Cardinals member, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown, will represent Delaware as our state health winner. Karen's interest in health has developed as she became a Candystripper in Milford. As a six-year club member Karen has been active in judging, demonstrations and exhibiting throughout her 4H career.

Sam Dixon, Clayton will attend congress as agricultural state winner. Sam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dixon, Jr. has carried projects in dairy, swine, tractor and poultry. Sam received the County Tractor Operators Trophy this year. Field crops is the area that has brought honor to Harvey Thomas, Marydel. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas, Harvey has spent many hours not only on his own acreage but assisting his dad on their seven farms. Active in club work for nine years with poultry, swine, garden and photography projects Harvey has a full record. Among his interest have been his numerous garden exhibits at the Delaware State Fair, judging in vegetable, poultry and soil contents, and demonstrating in the tractor area. He has provided guidance to younger club members as a Junior leader, first became interested in the Junior Broiler program four years ago. Before that eight week program ended Cliff joined 4-H and was instrumental in the revising of the Paradise 4-H Club. His project in Poultry includes both broilers and layers. He markets both meat birds and his eggs locally. From his poultry project he's expanded into Dairy through the FFA program. In 4-H he's represented the state at NEPPCO where he was on the Poultry judging, demonstrating and with his club in talent shows and special service club activities. Connie Moore, Chestnut Grove member has won the clothing award trip after several years of work toward this goal. During her seven years in 4-H

Connie has made over 80 garments. This has included outfits for her younger sister Debbie and her niece. Last year Connie was president of the Kent County Jr. Council and secretary of the Kent County Links. She was a member of her club's clothing judging team who received a trophy for this activity this year. For two years Connie has been chairman of her club's achievement day held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moore.

Other awards presented during the recent achievement banquet were the window display held in October during National Club Week. Houston Cardinals placed first, Kent Light Horse Club, 2nd and Andrewville Speedies, 3rd. The Kent County Order of Links presented the Silver Cup to the outstanding 4-H club of 1964 to the Westville 4-H Club under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas, Mrs. Sally Comegys and Mrs. Pete Rusanowsky.

The Farmers Bank of Delaware, Dover with Marvel Watson making the awards presented trophies to: Dairy judging: Louis Starkey, Tom Davis, Becky Tatman; Delmar J. The L. D. Calk Memorial Dairy Trophy was won by Louis Starkey, Houston.

Two new trophies were presented this year. Clothing judging team award went to Chestnut Grove, Connie Moore, Fredia Carey, and Debbie Moore. Foods judging went to Westville 4-H Club, Karen Webb, Susan Comegys, and Nancy Webb. B. Carroll and Sons Tractor Trophy was presented to Sam Dixon by George Carroll, John Metheny representing H. & E. Weevil a Problem, But Alfalfa Still Good Crop

Recent difficulties with the control of the alfalfa weevil and the identification of insecticide residues on alfalfa have created an atmosphere of doubt and concern about the future of this crop. But a University of Delaware entomologist says there is every reason for optimism in the alfalfa production picture.

Dr. Dale Bray, chairman of the department of entomology at the University says the much publicized pesticide residue problem stems from the use of two chemicals, heptachlor and dieldrin. Both chemicals were labeled, for use on alfalfa with practically the same application dates and rates recommended. Both chemicals were registered for use on the basis that such usage would leave no residue on first cuttings of the alfalfa crop. This type of registration is usually termed zero tolerance according to the entomologist, but technically speaking zero cannot be defined, even with the most sensitive methods of chemical analysis. This is where the problem developed.

After the chemicals had been used on farms, detection methods were refined and improved to the point where traces of chemical residues could be found in hay that was once thought to be insecticide free. When the same refined testing method was applied to dairy products, the chances of finding residue in the milk were multiplied many times. Unfortunately these new methods were not perfected until after a great deal of heptachlor and dieldrin had been applied in the fall of 1963. Since then, labels for both chemicals have been cancelled for use on alfalfa. Malathion and methoxychlor have been registered with a defined tolerance on alfalfa hay and are being recommended in Delaware. This indicates that cows getting less than the allowed amount of insecticide will not pass residues on to milk. It also means that testing methods now in use can detect these levels and further refinements will not alter the minimum tolerance according to Bray.

While these chemicals are recommended only for spring application, they can give satisfactory control of alfalfa weevil if applications are carefully timed.

While the problem is complex and progress slow, the outlook for controlling this alfalfa weevil pest is good according to the entomologist. He says, in the meantime, control of alfalfa weevil is going to be difficult but the alfalfa crop is an important forage crop and should not be discarded.

High School Students to See Ag. Labs at U. of D.

Agriculture is much more than farming, and those students who pursue a college education in the agricultural sciences at the University of Delaware are finding job opportunities in many agriculturally-oriented industries.

While there are thousands of jobs in the area known as production agriculture, Dr. William E. McDaniel, director of resident instruction in the University's School of Agriculture, says that college graduates in agriculture are most often employed in areas that supply agricultural producers with feed, chemicals, fertilizer, machinery, power and other needs. These industries, along with marketing firms, agricultural financing institutions and similar industries, are employing more than half the graduates from the University's School of Agriculture.

As a means of emphasizing this point, the University is planning a high school careers day in agricultural sciences on Nov. 7. The title for the event "The Sciences—Their Application in Agriculture". The program, which starts at 10 a.m. in Agricultural Hall, includes a tour of the departments of the University and an opportunity for the students to see demonstrations and exhibits on the application of science to agriculture.

Included in the tour are stops in the poultry science laboratory where a process of using chicken eggs for developing virus vaccines will be demonstrated; an exhibit in plant pathology demonstrating kinds of fungi and bacteria that affect plants and living specimens of diseased plants.

The department of agricultural economics will demonstrate the use of calculators in preparing material for computer information. Students will operate the calculators to solve mathematical problems. The horticultural department plans to show how plant growth can be controlled with chemicals, and devices for measuring climatic changes related to plant growth.

One of the most graphic demonstrations will be in the animal science laboratory where students will see microscopic animals from the stomach of a cow projected on a large screen. These animals, called protozoa, enable a cow to digest many kinds of feed. Other stops include the department of entomology, soils and agricultural engineering.

McDaniel credits the flexible curriculum in the School of Agriculture in preparing graduates to accept the wide range of opportunities available to them. He says they can either work for advance degrees in the agricultural sciences or enter agriculturally-oriented business or industry. At present 40 per cent of the School of Agriculture graduates seek advance degrees at graduate schools throughout the country.

Careers Day is aimed at high school juniors and seniors. Other high school students, high school administrators, teachers and parents of those students attending are also invited.

Following the tours of the various departments, Dr. George M. Worriow, dean of the School of Agriculture and vice president of the University, will discuss the sciences and their application in agri-business. Visitors will also have an opportunity to visit with School of Agriculture faculty members.

Those interested in attending should contact Dr. William E. McDaniel, director of resident instruction, School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark.

Social Security News

Social security amendments, signed into law by President Johnson Oct. 13, will bring new or higher benefits to more than 100,000 totally disabled workers and dependents. The newly signed legislation removes a restriction on the retroactivity of applications for disability insurance benefits. This restriction had caused some disabled workers and their dependents to receive reduced social security benefits or to lose their disability insurance rights entirely.

Under the previous law, an application for disability insurance benefits, filed after June 30, 1962, could establish a period of disability beginning no earlier than 18 months before the date of application. Workers who had been disabled for more than 18 months and who did not apply until after June 30, 1962, found that they were either ineligible for disability insurance benefits or were eligible for only reduced amounts.

Most of these disabled people and their families will now receive benefits as a result of the change in the law. Letters have gone to those newly eligible for benefits telling them what steps will be taken to process their claims for benefits. Those made eligible for higher benefits will get the increase with the checks delivered to them early in December.

Severely disabled workers who have worked under social security for at least five out of the ten years before they became disabled, but who have not yet applied for social security disability insurance benefits, should get in touch with their social security district office promptly.

Back benefits will be payable for up to 11 months—back to the month of November 1963—for most of those made eligible under the new law and whose applications are on file before the end of this November.

These back benefits will amount to about $30 million and that $2 1/2 million additional in benefits will be paid out for November 1964 as a result of the elimination of the restriction on the retroactivity of disability insurance applications.

Another provision of the bill signed by the President extends through April 15, 1965, the time within which persons who have been in the ministry (or in practice as Christian science practitioners) for at least two years since 1954, may elect to be covered by social security as self-employed persons. The previous deadline for their election of social security coverage had been April 15, 1962.

Further information on these changes on the Social Security law can be obtained at the Social Security office located at 230 West Lookerman St., in Dover.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am 35 years of age and my $10,000 World War II GI Life Insurance is still on the term plan. Next month it must be renewed for another five year term at a premium cost of $90 per year. Should I convert to one of the permanent plans say 20 or 30 Payment Life?

A—Term insurance costing you $90 per year at age 35 will cost $470 per year if you have to renew it at age 65 and $731.60 per year if renewed at age 70.

Premiums on permanent plans provide more than protection in the form of cash, loan and other reserve values. For complete information, get in touch with your VA Regional office or write to the VA office where you send your insurance premium payments.

Q—I was retired from service because of disability. Must I file a claim for compensation with the Veterans Administration in order to qualify for vocational rehabilitation?

A—No. A determination of your entitlement will be made if you apply for training.

Q—Is it too late to file a claim for illness incurred in service?

A—No. A claim can be submitted to the VA at any time.

Q—My husband and I are receiving pension for two children of a deceased veteran who are living with us. Will the pension continue if we adopt the children?

A—Yes.

Q—Is a peacetime veteran protected by a re-employment rights?

A—Yes, if he left other than a temporary job to enter service and if this service did not exceed four years. Usually he must apply to his former employer within 90 days after separation from active service. However, reservists and National Guardsmen who perform service of from three to six months must apply within 31 days of their release from active duty.

Q—A principal beneficiary under a National Service Life Insurance policy elected to take the proceeds on a monthly installment plan, even though a lump sum settlement was available. He died before receiving all of the installments. Who receives the unpaid portion of the policy, the contingent beneficiary?

A—The remaining installments would not be paid to the contingent beneficiary. Where the principal beneficiary has the installment plan, even though a lump sum settlement was available, the rights of the contingent beneficiary are wiped out. The commuted value of the unpaid installments would be paid to the estate of the principal beneficiary.

Harriers Win 17th In Wilmington Run

The Harrington High cross-country Lions, led by Bill Kramedas during the absence of Coach Harold McDonald, racked up their 17th consecutive victory by easily defeating Corpus Christi High of Elsmere, Monday at Rockford Park, Wilmington. H.S. won all ten meets in 1963, including the state championship run, and have now emerged victorious in seven races this year.

Dennis Rogers remained unbeaten for 1964, as he trailed Corpus Christi's Bob Beattie for a large part of the first lap, but then took over the lead to win going away in 11:56. Jim Fry, of the host team, was second in 12:16. Fry has beaten Rogers once in four races, but this victory was scored in 1963's state meet. Next Monday this pair figures to fight it out for first place in the 1964 state championship race, 1963 champion, Mac Thornton, of Tower Hill and runner-up Ron Stuber, of A. I. duPont will also be in the big field, but rate no better than third and fourth choices when one considers their performances to date this autumn.

Foresters Lose To Seaford, 15-49

Greenwood's cross-country team lost to a strong Seaford quintet on the Greenwood course Friday afternoon. Steve Owens was the race winner in 12:27. Clarence Allen was Greenwood's top performer, grabbing seventh place with a good 13:55. The Foresters were hurt by the absence of Earl Yoder and Don Huey, two of their better performers.

Tom Bragg, a junior high runner, was not running as a varsity harrier but came in tenth in 14:16 as the second Forester to complete the 2.3 miles grind.

Other junior high runners, also competing just for the workout, were Steve Willey (14th) and Frank Spence (15th).

Lion Harriers Nip Seaford, 28-29

Seaford's improving cross-country team missed by a whisker in their bid to end Harrington's two-year winning streak at seventeen straight.

The race took place on Seaford's rectangular, one-lap 2.4 miles course on Wednesday afternoon. The Lions were led in this one by Coach Harold McDonald and Bill Kramedas, who made a point of the fact that Seaford for the strongest team on the Lion schedule. If the Lions were complacent in this one it probably took the form of statements or thoughts like "Oh, well, if I don't do well today one of my teammates will take up the slack because we have seven good guys and Seaford has only three." The joker in the deck was Parris, of Seaford, a distant thirteenth in the first Harrington-Seaford meet, held at Killen's Pond exactly three weeks earlier. Running on his home course Parris sprang into seventh place and gave the Lions an awful fight. Now, Seaford has four good guys.

Dennis Rogers, Owens and Heidel, of Seaford ran together all the way before Rogers opened up a little daylight to win his eighth race in as many starts. The Seaford duo have been the Dennis runners able to make Dennis really put out this fall. Gerry Garey outkicked Cordrey of Seaford for fourth place. Ellis Myer held off the surging Parris for sixth place. George Bonniwell, Marshall Hatfield, Dan Hicks and Roger Betts gave the Lions the next four places and the cliff-hanger triumph. Now hear this!

If Garey had lost his stretch battle with Cordrey or if Myer had yielded to Parris or if Jon Owens in 12th place could have caught any one of the four Lions ahead of him, Seaford would have been home free. It was that close.

Many of the Lions ran better than in the first battle between the teams and this improvement proved to be the deciding factor.

The meet was one of the type that is ideal for explaining how to score a cross-country race. The figure beside each runner's name is his finishing position in the race. Keep in mind that low score wins.

Greenwood Upsets Milford In J. V. Harrier Meet

Coach Gene Carlisle's Greenwood High junior varsity harriers scored an upset victory over the Milford jayvees at Greenwood Monday afternoon.

The all-freshman unit will improve the Greenwood varsity greatly next fall, we predict.

Jarrett of Milford was the individual winner, followed by Tom Bragg. "The Hickman Hurricane," Steve Willey and Frank Spence, Bragg's time again was good enough to give him a spot on several of the varsity teams in this area including Milford and Seaford.

After Spence came across the finish line, George Eskridge, (7th) was the lone winner of the Green and White to occupy one of the next five positions. That meant if the Foresters were to keep their pre-race vow and win, a Greenwood runner had to finish tenth, eleventh, or twelfth. To the surprise of almost everyone, Fred Grimm came bolting in to a hero's welcome as he ran minutes faster than in previous efforts to give his team a narrow 26-29 victory.

1. Jarrett, M., 13:48; 2. Tom Bragg, G., 14:04; 3. Steve Willey, G., 14:51; 4. Frank Spence, G., 14:52; 5. Hersholt, M., 14:53; 6. Currie, M., 15:20; 7. Geo. Eskridge, G., 15:21; 8. Hobbs, M., 15:22; 9. Hall, M., 15:23; 10. Grimm, J., 15:26.

Eagles Hand Bears First Loss, 12-0

This writer attended the battle of unbeaten teams at Harrington High School Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

We recorded every play of the contest, but our copiousness did not pay off as we absent-mindedly tore up our notes the following day under the mistaken assumption that the scribbles were from another struggle a week before.

Therefore, we won't be able to chronicle this epic struggle as completely as we would like since we will have to get by on what we can glean from interviewing three or four other spectators and on what we remember.

The start of hostilities was delayed for a half hour or so since the scheduled referee failed to put in an appearance. A quick phone call brought a substitute in the form of Albert W. Adams, local school superintendent. He and a football enthusiast, Fred Martz, did a very capable job.

The Eagles, coached by Ted Layton, kicked off to last year's champions, who are led by Bill Morris. The Bears could not move the ball so the Red and White clad Birds marched 50 yards to score the first of their two touchdowns. Quarterback Jackie Redden faked a handoff to one back, then again to another, but held on to the pigskin to score standing up on a sweep of left end.

The Bears attempted to capitalize on the speed and shifty ball-carrying of Gordy Jarrell as they ran mostly to the outside during the fray. Gordy made several spectacular runs, one of which was called back, but could not go all the way. Eagle defensive ends, Gary Smith and Bob Taylor, did a good job all afternoon as they managed to turn in most of the plays attempted around

Milford Harriers Best Greenwood

The Milford High cross-country Buccaneers won a meet on the Greenwood course Monday afternoon. McNatt of Milford was the individual winner in 12:41.

Coach Gene Carlisle's Foresters were again without the services of two regulars. However starting improvement by Clarence "Lightning" Allen and Rick Huey makes it appear that Greenwood is a coming threat in lower peninsula cross-country.

Sophomore Allen, a 13:55 performer in his last outing, dropped all the way down to 13:17 this time and came very close to finishing in the runnerup position. Huey came in ninth and was almost a full minute faster than
