

WAY CLEARED FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS BY HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

As far as the State Highway Department is concerned, it can advertise for bids any time it suits for the improvement on Center Street and Delaware Avenue, both state-maintained roads. Center Street had been giving some trouble because it was thought the widened street would be partly on the property owner. However, Mayor Luther P. Hatfield Wednesday explained the state already had sufficient right of way 40 feet, under old statutes. However, he said, where sidewalks and other private property were involved, it was up to the City to get signed agreements from the property owners. On Center Street, it was revealed Wednesday all property owners but one had signed.

The Highway Department can begin work but the nonsigner, William Palmatory, will have to institute suit in Superior Court to decide if he will be awarded damages from the City, and to what extent, for work on his property. The Council, Tuesday night, after an executive session, motioned to proceed with highway construction without consent of Palmatory.

At a meeting Feb. 2, the Council had agreed to get a price on repairing damages caused by street construction to Palmatory's property. This work included replacement of a hedge and rebuilding a porch. When it was found the costs of this work were estimated at $1000 to $2000, the Council voted against it, saying it would establish a precedent. Hence, Palmatory's only recourse now is Superior Court.

Drainage Problem Occupies Attention Of City Council

The City Council, at its second February meeting, Tuesday night passed a motion requesting City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann secure a plan and get a price on drainage in the general area of the Harrington Shirt factory on Clark Street.

The city manager thought the area should include that running from Simpson Street to East Street. Clarence Collins, a resident of the area and a former councilman, said there was formerly a ditch running from East Street eastward to Dickerson Street but it had been closed. In other business Tuesday night, the Council was told Magistrate L. Gooden Callaway had submitted a list of delinquent taxables, from whom nothing had been collected, for the years 1959 to 1962, inclusive. The magistrate, the Council was told by Mayor Luther P. Hatfield, was continuing work on tax collection.

The mayor arranged for a council meeting to arrange a meeting with the Board of Directors of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company, Mon., March 1, on suggested improvements to the City jail. The fire company owns the building in which it, itself, the City jail, and the City Hall are housed.

An inspector from the State Board of Corrections had inspected the jail and reported it small, overcrowded, and otherwise inadequate.

He recommended a fire wall, a fire extinguisher, and that the cell block be painted and thoroughly cleaned.

City Personnel Gets A Break

Effective immediately, City personnel will have more time off.

They will have eight holidays—New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

A new vacation schedule is as follows: One years' service, one week's vacation; two years' service, two weeks; and 10 years' service, three weeks.

Sick leave—Ten days annually with doctor's excuse after first day.

The schedule was arranged by a personnel committee of Councilman Albert C. Price and Councilman Howell Hitchens. The committee was appointed by Fulton J. Downing, when he was mayor last year, and its action approved by present Council.

In other business, the Planning and Zoning Commission will organize Tuesday night. Its members are George Robert Quillen and Calvin Wells, three years; Mrs. William W. Sharp and James D. Moore, two years; and Mrs. J. Edward Taylor and William Outten, one year.

The commission will pass on building permits, among its other duties.

The mayor reappointed Councilmen Albert C. Price, F. Laurence Price, and Burton Satterfield to a committee on the revision of the sewer and water code.

Business Men, Women To Help In Heart Drive

The business men and women of Harrington will lend their strength to the fight against the heart diseases during February. This is the month set aside as "Heart Month for Business" here in support of the drive of the Delaware Heart Association.

Many have volunteered to canvass the downtown and outlying business districts for gifts for the 1965 Heart Fund as part of the annual campaign to support the research, education and community service programs which combat diseases of the heart and circulation.

"In our nation, state and community, these disease take more lives than all other diseases and causes of death combined," said Mrs. Thomas Clending, local chairman of Heart Month for Business. "The heart and blood vessel diseases constitute the greatest health problem of our times. They include heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, inborn heart defects, rheumatic fever and many others." The annual loss in production in the nation resulting from these diseases has been estimated at more than $4 billion.

"To combat this leading health menace, Harrington's business community has organized a committee to conduct a concerted, solicitation among our business colleagues," Mrs. Clending said. "We have every confidence the effort will be successful."

Volunteers will canvass business offices, stores and professional buildings in the downtown area while others will concentrate on businesses further out of town.

65 Local Students To Take Merit Test March 9

Sixty-five students at Harrington High School plan to take the 1965 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST), Charles Hoff, principal, announced this week.

The test will be administered at the school at 9 a.m., Tues., March 9. All students who wish to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1966 should take the test at that time.

The NMQST is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the eleventh annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts, and individuals.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1964, 1652 Merit Scholarships were awarded; 1146 were provided by 227 sponsors and 506 by the Merit Corporation. There are 4880 Merit Scholars attending 485 colleges in the current academic year.

The test scores of students who are examined in March will be reported to their schools before May 15. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study. Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

More than 14,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. Names of semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for undergraduates. Further, their names and test scores are sent to the two colleges that they list as their preferred choices at the time that they take the NMQST. The order of preference is not shown.

Approximately 38,000 additional students, selected on a national basis, receive Letters of Commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test. Their names and test scores are also sent to their first and second choice colleges.

Each semifinalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance and meet certain other requirements will become finalists in the competition. Winners of merit scholarships will be selected from the finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extracurricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom. Each finalist

MS Chairman Named to Delaware Chapter

Robert E. Whitney, newly elected chairman of the Delaware Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society looks forward to a big year for that organization. Whitney was named chairman at the fifth annual meeting of the Chapter, where he succeeded Lt. Col. Clifford T. Hall.

Appointed sales manager for the Cellulose and Protein Products Department of Hercules Powder Company in September 1964, Whitney has been with that organization since graduation from the University of Minnesota in 1947.

While serving as vice chairman in 1964, Whitney was active in the chapter's annual campaign and later attended the national convention in New Orleans. He came back greatly encouraged that research work sponsored by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society was bearing fruit—and much like the efforts in other fields—the day may soon be at hand where it will no longer be necessary to tell an MS victim there is no known cure for the dread disease.

Multiple Sclerosis, Whitney reminds, is a crippling disease hitting men and women between

This Sunday Is Heart Sunday

This Sunday is Heart Sunday.

The door-to-door solicitation to support the Delaware Heart Association's programs of research, education and service has a particular meaning to all Delawareans, heart patients and non-patients alike.

A total of $150,000 is needed by the Delaware Heart Association in this year's Heart Fund campaign. Part of this money will go to aid heart patients now under study in the state and other Delawareans who have been sent to the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania for special diagnosis and heart surgery.

But patient service is only one of the reasons why area residents will be asked to contribute generously to the 1965 Heart Fund. The Delaware Heart Association maintains a year-round program of research, service and education that is directed toward the eventual conquest of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

This group of diseases accounts for more deaths, in Delaware and in the nation, than all other diseases combined. In 1963, for example, 1704 Delawareans died from heart disease, and an additional 456 died from vascular lesions, or blood vessel diseases.

These totals compared to 770 deaths from cancer, 246 from all accidents, and 187 from influenza and pneumonia.

An urgent appeal to Delawareans to support the 1965 Heart Fund was voiced earlier this week by Gov. Charles L. Terry, Jr., who described the services of the Delaware Heart Association as "direct aids to people responsible for saving many lives that would otherwise have been lost."

"Since the Delaware Heart Association was chartered on Jan. 21, 1949, the agency has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars to aid the fight against heart disease," Gov. Terry said.

"This money has enabled the Association to finance valuable programs of research including every area of heart and blood vessel diseases. The fact that this type of disease is responsible for the death of more Delawareans than all other diseases combined constitutes a solemn demand for continuance and expansion of the program."

"Just as important as this dedicated research effort has been the direct service to heart patients in our state. I urge every citizen of the state to give generously when your Heart Fund volunteer calls on Heart Sunday," the governor concluded.

World Day of Prayer At Asbury March 5

The 1965 World Day of Prayer observance for the churches of this area will be held Fri., March 5, 7:30 p.m. at Asbury Methodist Church, Weiner Avenue and Liberty Streets, Harrington.

The 1965 theme is "What Doth the Lord Require". The World Day of Prayer, observed each year on the first Friday in Lent, is sponsored by United Church Women of the National Council of Churches. Prayer and an offering for the world-wide mission of the church have been the primary purpose; and, traditionally, for more than 75 years, people have been brought together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries, to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for carrying out the church's mission.

World Day of Prayer is worldwide in character. The same service is used by groups in approximately 125 countries. This experience provides an opportunity for fellowship and christian union.

Some of the projects benefited by this annual offering are—Women's Colleges in Africa, India, Taiwan, Korea, Japan, Pakistan, Hong Kong; Christian literature for women and children; reception and hospitality for students coming from overseas; ministries of concern to migratory laborers; religious work directors for Indian youth and assistance in transition to urban life.

Besides the Harrington churches, all other churches in the area are invited to participate, including Farmington, Felton, Vernon, Houston and Greenwood. Any church may contact Asbury Methodist, Harrington, for additional information.

Career Woman To Be Chosen By B. & P. W. Clubs

The bright beam of honor will silhouette the young career woman during National Business Women's Week, March 7-13th, when the Delaware Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will make its spring-time salute to the working women of the state and nation.

"The destiny of our future lies in the youth of our nation," emphasizes Mrs. Mildred Patterson, state chairman for this week. Announcing the plans for Business Women's Week, Mrs. Patterson states, "The Federation's recognition of youth power will be expressed in action this week through its 'Partnership with phy, recording secretary; Miss Co-chairmen of Business Women's week are Mrs. Jean Bovee, president of Capital City Club who is in charge of all activities of the mid-state area, and Mrs. Audrey Millsapp, recording secretary for Bridgeville, who is leader for the southern area."

Preceding the state activities, 21 local clubs will have selected a young woman, not necessarily a B.P.W. member, 20 to 24 years of age, holding her first position or in college, attractive, poised and of pleasing personality to represent them at the area meetings to be held Sunday, March 7th, the first day of Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Wilhelmina C. Miller, state president; Mrs. Patterson, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth R. Clugston, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Hastings, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Catherine Murrin, 4th vice-president; Mrs. Ruth McElhinny, treasurer, will spearhead a motortour of state chairmen, club presidents and members in a day.

Boggs Introduces Two Bills On Social Security

Sen. J. Caleb Boggs (R-Del.) this week introduced two bills designed to aid social security recipients in Delaware and the nation.

One proposal is that a retired individual receiving social security benefits could earn up to $2,400 before facing a reduction in his monthly benefit check. Under existing law a retired worker may earn only $1,200 before being penalized.

The other bill provides that if a child continues full time in school past the age of 18 his social security benefits also continue. At present these benefits for dependent children now automatically stop at age 18.

Similar bills to improve the social security system have been introduced in Congress this year. Senator Boggs noted that the average monthly Social Security benefit check for men is $88 and for women $69.

"It is evident that in order to live reasonably comfortably, a person must have a source of income to supplement his social security check," the Delaware Senator said.

"The present earning limitation in law, coupled with the present benefits, leaves an individual far below the $3,000 poverty figure mentioned by the President," he said.

"At the present time," Senator Boggs continued, "there are almost 44,000 social security recipients in Delaware, of whom 25,000 are retired workers. It is these individuals who would be greatly aided by passage of my bill."

The county-by-county breakdown of these workers is: New Castle County, approximately 15,000; Kent County, approximately 4,000, and Sussex County, approximately 6,000.

On this other bill, the Delaware senator said that with the emphasis being placed on young people continuing their education "it is important that we realize the continued dependency past the age of 18."

About 500 Delaware students in the 18-22 age bracket would be affected by this bill.

Marsan Lad Suffers Eye Injury

Dallas Marsan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Marsan, suffered a serious injury Saturday when he was struck in the eye by a splinter.

He was rushed to Dover Air Base Hospital and thence to Philadelphia Naval Hospital where surgery took place early Sunday morning.

His address is Dallas Marsan, Ward T, No. 1, Philadelphia Naval Hospital, Philadelphia.

Lack of Law For Meat Checking Hit

The absence of a state law to require meat inspection in slaughter houses was decried Monday by a member of the State Board of Agriculture.

Charles Mills, a member from Rehoboth Beach, told the Joint Finance Committee that only one of 17 slaughter houses in Delaware is covered by U. S. Department of Agriculture meat inspection.

In the other cases, Mills said, "We have only the conscience of the slaughterer standing between deceased carcasses and the public."

Delaware has no law requiring state inspection of slaughter houses, and the single company covered comes under federal interstate commerce regulations.

The other 16 firms apparently do not do enough interstate business to warrant such regulation.

City Sidewalks Eyed By Council

Property owners will be asked to repair sidewalks, if plans of the City Council are carried out. In its second February meeting Tuesday night, the Council agreed the city manager should ask the owners to get the job done.

It all started out when Wilson G. Bradley, First Ward councilman, moved the property owners on Ward Street be notified to fix their walks. They were in terrible condition, he said. On a motion by Bradley, seconded by Albert C. Price, Second Ward councilman, it was agreed property owners should be requested to fix their sidewalks according to the City ordinance.

Specifications for sidewalks, under law, are determined by the Council. Furthermore, it was agreed all councilmen should check the walks in their wards.

In other business Tuesday night, it was revealed an issue at the bulk plant of the Peninsula Oil Company, on U.S. 13, south, had been solved. Mayor Luther P. Hatfield said the company had agreed to build a projecting dyke and it had purchased 16 feet of land from Mrs. Edith Hammond. The action was taken after a complaint from the state fire marshal.

Resolution passed to ask State Highway Department to put Dorman Street, a state-maintained road, on its agenda for improvement.

Police Department requested to take action on cars parked in the wrong direction on streets. Mayor says he knows of one such car on blocks. Police have been checking on the problem.

Oscar Cohee complained paper blew off trash truck in its weekly collections in Harrington Manor. The truck has a tarpaulin but Councilman Albert Price and the mayor recommended a screen. The city manager says very little paper blows off the truck.

Mayor declared the Council would have a meeting to discuss amendment on the City Charter some night. Some would come under the Home Rule Act and others would require action by the General Assembly.

Resolution passed opening the way for the sale of $150,000 in bonds, funds therefrom to be used to improve the water system. The advertisement of bonds started in this week's issue of this newspaper. Sale will be March 22.

MOBIL HOMES EYED AS KENT TAX SOURCE

Council Checks Curbing Payments

The City Council, at its second February meeting, Tuesday night, voted to turn over to the City alderman for collection those accounts for the cost of curbing on which nothing had been paid.

The motion was made after one by Councilman Bradley requesting the account of Horace Riley, Liberty Street and Delaware Avenue, be written off. The motion stated the reason for wanting the write-off was because of an error by the engineers and the city manager in the Liberty Street improvement. There was no second to the motion.

Tuesday night's meeting revealed all curbing delinquents had been sent final notices to pay up. The City, in recent years, has been paying half the cost of curbing, in street improvements, with the property owner paying the remainder.

Getting back to the Riley case, which has been hanging fire several years, Bradley says Riley was promised his sidewalk would not be bothered in the improvement of Liberty Street. It was however, replaced. Bradley says the replacement extended six or seven feet "back on Mr. Riley's land." He, Bradley, had thought the situation was all ironed out, now it's back again.

Councilman A. Price wanted to know "if the agreement (not to disturb sidewalk) was in writing. It was not. Clarence Collins, former councilman, says he attended a meeting when property owners were told their sidewalks would not be disturbed. The Council, in the time of the Liberty Street improvement, voted to go ahead on the engineer's plans. Mayor Hatfield, who was on the Council at the time, said the engineer showed one thing, but measurements showed something else."

In other business, the Council turned the list of delinquent taxpayers, for 1964, over to the magistrate for collection. It was emphasized that after taxes had been given for collection, payment could not be accepted at City Hall.

Veterans and their families in Delaware received a total of $13,620,461 in cash benefits and services during fiscal year 1964. Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office announced.

Actual distribution of this sum is outlined in the 1964 annual report of the VA, now on sale at the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

In Delaware, compensation for service-connected disabilities and pension for total non-service-connected disabilities was paid to 6,327 living veterans in the amount of $5,357,881.

Death compensation and pension were paid to the dependents of 2,328 deceased veterans in the amount of $1,966,414.

A total of $1,908,062 in insurance and indemnity payments was made to Delaware veterans and their beneficiaries.

An average of eight (8) disabled veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict in Delaware trained during the year under the vocational rehabilitation program to overcome the ## Levy Court's Drive for Additional Revenue Will Bring Mobile Homes Under Reappraisal by the Same Standards as Other Housing.

The commissioners learned Tuesday—as they authorized borrowing $40,000 on a short term loan to meet current expenses—that trailers only pay a flat rate of $15 per year, and that amount goes only to school boards.

The county, which collects taxes for the school districts, does not receive a share of the collections or a fee for acting as collection agent.

Chester J. Bricker, heading the reappraisal of Kent County lands for J. M. Clemishaw Co., said he has been reappraising trailers and mobile homes by same method as other properties in the county. He has been setting a value on the trailer and property, rather than depending on a flat fee.

The reappraisal will give the county funds from mobile homes for the first time.

A recent report on Kent County by the Over-All Economic Development Committee said that 10 per cent of all housing in the county is accounted for by mobile homes.

Levy Court President James B. Messick, calling the issue one belonging to the Board of Assessors, said there might be a problem of collection on transient trailers, such as those used in construction projects. He said, however, that a tax stamp might be used in such cases.

Trailers in parks, excluding those on private lots, now pay a $2 fee to school districts. Messick said that anything involving real estate becomes assessable including trailers. Commissioner L. Winfred Hughes, agreeing with Messick, said trailers should be subject to taxes as are other properties.

The Delaware Code defines trailers and mobile homes, and provides for collection of taxes on their value by school districts, but not by the county.

One of the primary problems, Messick said, is compiling a comprehensive list of trailers. Park owners are required to keep records for school assessment purposes.

Those on a private lot, however, would be listed as improvements on the lot.

The commissioners may ask an amendment to the code section to permit counties, as well as school districts, to collect taxes on trailers.

Meanwhile, they need more funds to meet current expenses, a standard problem in the months before tax bills are sent out and due.

Veterans Receive $13,620,461 In Benefits During '64 Cancer Education Program Launched

The lives of a sizeable number of Delawareans will be saved if a public education program launched earlier this month by the Delaware division of the American Cancer Society is effective.

This was stated by Franklin B. Drummheller, chairman of the board of the Delaware Division of the American Cancer Society, who stressed the importance of public attention being focused on colon and rectum cancer.

"This disease kills more men and women than any other type of cancer," Drummheller said. "In spite of this, it is potentially highly curable. Three out of four persons could be saved if the disease was detected early and properly treated."

Cancer of the colon and rectum is a leading cancer in incidence as well as a cause of death. There are some 70,000 new cases diagnosed each year. Nearly 40,000 Americans die of the disease annually.

A primary objective of the local program, Mr. Drummheller said, "will seek to alert the adult population of this community of the need for an annual health checkup which includes the use of diagnostic aids that can help their physicians detect colon and rectum cancer in its earlier and most curable stages."

THE C. of C. TRIES TO ATTRACT INDUSTRY

The Chamber of Commerce continually tries to attract industry. Some 70 members, through active participation or thru supporting the Chamber thru their dues, have been working on this project for many years.

The Harrington Ministerium appeared before the City Council Tuesday night and stated it felt the economic development was somewhat at a standstill and wanted to know what it could do to improve the situation. The answer is: Continue to do the good job you are doing. Prospects for industry check the City's churches.

The ministerium thought the Council solicited industry. Not so; however, the Council has always been co-operative in securing industry and is in a position to grant tax and utility inducements.

The ministerium was told the Chamber of Commerce was the group working full time in industry. The group, which should have asked the C. of C., wanted to know what the chamber had done to attract industry.

A Council member, who does not belong to the chamber, answered: "Nothing." Someone, also not a member of the chamber, wanted to know if the chamber was active. The secretary of the chamber answered: "Very."

We repeat, the chamber has been working for years in an attempt to attract industry to Harrington, and at its own expense.

We have not publicized some of these attempts because to do so would have invited competition from other communities in Delaware and nearby Maryland.

Some years ago, the March-Brownback Company, manufacturers of gray castings, of Pottstown, Pa., was ready to purchase the Norris Adams land. The company was led by two partners, one of whom wanted to come here; the other wanted to stay put.

The company had arranged to borrow money for the move when the partner who wanted to move here, the president of the firm, died of a heart attack. That settled that deal.

An Elkton firm was interested and C. of C. members went to Elkton, as they did to Pottstown, at their own expense, but the Maryland firm got a better local offer and stayed put.

Fairly frequently, industrial scouts are here. Sometimes, they want everything for nothing. One firm, employing 30 persons, wanted the chamber, or the City, to give it $15,000 to move its equipment and train help. Since the State Industrial Building Commission might back loans to reliable firms coming into the State, the scout suggested we put up the building and pad the cost. It could be done in Tennessee, he said, but Tennessee was too far away.

Ad infinitum. The scouts come in town. They look at the land and get the prices. They do not tell us the names of the firms they represent. Nothing gets in the newspaper on these visits. The scouts must return, but not if we inform the whole state they've been here: they might get a better deal elsewhere.

The C. of C. has advertised in The Wall Street Journal for industry. It has published one of the most attractive brochures in the State and mailed 1400 to industries which could afford to settle here. We still have brochures which we give to persons and firms who show a keen interest in the community.

When a West Coast firm was in the office of Gov. Carvel, Harrington C. of C. was the only one represented which had a first-class brochure to present.

The C. of C. has always supported community improvements, believing these to be inducements to industry. The water tower was the outcome of a visit of a C. of C. committee to the City Council. The Chamber supported the recent bond issue for improvement of the water system. Industry wants water.

We seldom hear a complaint from Chamber members about industry: the ones who usually complain are those who are doing nothing about it. They want someone else to carry the ball.

The Chamber worked to keep Bond Bread here. It put up part of the money for a site for the National Guard armory. It donated $50 recently to the exchange-student program. It recently agreed to donate money to install permanent lighting on the water tower.

Any complainant reading The Harrington Journal should have known these things. The C. of C. helped keep the Harrington Shirt Corporation in town. It helped keep Ace Manufacturing Company here after its building burned on U.S. 13.

The chamber not only tries to get new industry: it tries to keep and aid the old.

This peoration is not a defense of the chamber, it needs no defense, it is merely an explanation. The public needs to be continually informed. The church bell rings every Sunday.

Membership in the Chamber of Commerce is available to everyone of good character. Everyone can take part, whether they are in business or not.

Which brings us to a closing point. It is the duty of all citizens to help make Harrington attractive to industry. If you are able to help and do not, you have no valid reason for squawking.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF FIRE STRUCK?

What would you do if fire struck your home or apartment tonight?
What escape route would you take? Suppose it was blocked—what then?

These are questions people rarely think to ask themselves, according to the Delaware Safety Council.

"Yet, your life and the life of your loved ones may well depend on how you have prepared—in advance—for fire. Ignorance and panic have cost thousands of lives in home fires," said James T. Ferri, safety council president.

In case of a fire in your home, the Council president said, you should know:

- 1. What escape route you will use.
- 2. Who will help small children, oldsters or invalids.
- 3. How to notify the fire department or the volunteer fire company. And when. (Get everyone out of the burning building first—then phone firemen.)
- 4. What you should do if someone's clothing catches on fire. (Use water if it's handy, or smother the flames by rolling up in a coat, rag or blanket. Don't run—that only fans the flames.)
- 5. What to do if your own clothes catch on fire. (Cross your arms under your chin to avoid breathing the smoke from burning clothing; then smother the flames.)

"But best of all," Ferri said, "prevent fires before they get a chance to start."

He suggested every Delawarean check his home for such hazards as:

- 1. Oily cleaning rags and paint rags.
- 2. Rubbish in the attic, basement, garage.
- 3. Fireplaces, chimneys, flues, furnaces that are dirty and in need of repair.

And he said other hazards to beware of are:
1. Smoking in bed.
2. Leaving matches within the reach of children.
3. Burning trash and refuse in the open, instead of in a suitable incinerator.

A Tribute To Mother Emory

A very charming lady from over Maryland way, Moved to our town some years ago And decided she would stay.

She joined the Loyal Workers Class, And is always in her place. Thru, rain or snow or summer heat, We see her smiling face.

Whatever she is asked to do, Her answer is "I'll try". She keeps our cash, she pays our bills, And when she kept our minutes, They were records quite worth while.

When we have suppers, bakes and such, To make a little money, Dish washing, cashier, soliciting, She works until it isn't funny.

And so tonight we have gathered here, To show our love for one, We hope for many years to come, Will join us in our fun.

This poem was composed by the late Mrs. Clyde Miller, who was teacher of the Loyal Workers Bible Class of Trinity Church.

She entertained the class at her house in honor of Mrs. Sadie Emory's birthday at least 15 or 18 years ago and she read the poem.

Mrs. Emory has been a guest at the Mackline Nursing Home at Houston for the past two years and Mrs. Macklin honored her with an open house on her 90th birthday anniversary, Feb. 3.

Refreshments were enjoyed by all and on leaving wishing Mrs. Emory many happy returns of the day.

Many pretty gifts and a shower of birthday cards were received.

Mrs. Brobst's Fifth Grade MY PERFECT DAY by Mike Trotta

On my perfect day I might get all hundreds on my papers. Maybe there would be no chores for me to do when I get home from school. We might go to a basketball game — or it might even snow!

MY PERFECT DAY by Norman Short

My perfect day would have to be this. I would sleep until one o'clock. Then for breakfast, lunch, and supper I would eat submarines. To drink I would have cokes. For snacks I'd have cakes, pies, cookies, and candy. That's all I'd want for a perfect day.

MY PERFECT DAY by Gwyn Melvin

My perfect day was when I became a princess. I went to the castle and just sat around. In the castle there were maids and servants to wait on me. I had a wonderful day at the castle.

MY PERFECT DAY by Lori Pardee

One day was a perfect day. It was a Friday and I was in school. We didn't have any tests that day. All we did was play. Later we had a party. When it was time to go home we got our report cards and everyone got good marks!

MY PERFECT DAY by Donna Mahony

Once I had a perfect day. It started when I didn't get up until ten o'clock. I had just what I wanted for breakfast. After lunch I got a big ice cream cone. Then I went to the barn and rode a big black horse named Drammen. Then I woke up—it had been just a dream!

MY PERFECT DAY by Olin Davis, Jr.

My perfect day was in the springtime. In the morning the birds were singing and the sun was shining. I knew it was all for me. At school I got all hundreds. That night I hit four home-runs in a baseball game. I'll never have a better day.

MY PERFECT DAY by Karen Yoder

My perfect day was the day when it snowed and we didn't have to go to school. I watched it snow for quite a while. Then I went out and played in it. I went sledding and I made a snowman. My friend and I made a fort, and then we all had a snowball fight.

MY PERFECT DAY by Joann Thompson

Once we got a letter from my aunt. The letter said for us to go to a reunion on Saturday. My aunt lives in New Jersey so we were going to have a long ride. In the same mail there were two more letters and a package. One letter was from my friend inviting me to her birthday party. The other letter was from my grandmother. In the package were presents for all of us.

MY PERFECT DAY by Mike Tatman

My perfect day was in the sum-

Q—I had National Service Life Insurance prior to January 1, 1967 and let it lapse. I am now uninsurable by any commercial company at their highest rates because of disabilities not the result of service. May I apply for insurance when the new insurance law becomes effective on May 1, 1967?

A—Yes, if you can establish that your uninsurability existed on October 13, 1964, the date the law was passed.

Q—A number of buddies at the plant had injuries or diseases in service but did not file a claim with the Veterans Administration. Should we file now to establish service connection in order to qualify for insurance under the program effective May 1, 1967?

A—Yes, information and assistance may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I am a World War II veteran with only 18 months active duty, and I was separated from service due to a service-connected disability. Am I eligible for a VA guaranteed loan?

A—Yes, if all other loan requirements are met. The deadline for World War II veterans who were separated due to service-connected disability is July 25, 1967.

Farmers Must Change or Perish

Delaware farmers must change or perish according to a Purdue University Agricultural Economist. Speaking at the University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Week Feb. 9, Dr. Paul R. Robbins, farm management specialist said that if the average farmers want to keep up with the pacesetters, they're going to have to "run like the dickens."

"There just isn't much room for non-competitors in a business where numbers are declining as fast as farmers have been declining."

Robbins said the pacesetters are doing things differently than the average farmer. He listed these areas:

- They have control over enough resources to be efficient and productive.
- They produce in volume, whether it be acres, pounds of milk or bushels of grain.
- They are specialists at the things they do.
- They are mechanized and automated for top efficiency.
- They are able to tie all of the factors of production into a neat package that yields an adequate income.

Three farmers who operate big farms on the Delmarva peninsula reported on their experiences with high investment, large volume farms. James Fuchs, of Preston, Md., said farmers should judge each crop on its own merits. If it doesn't pay, don't produce it. He also said that farmers should produce what the land is best suited for and shoot for maximum yields. "Farmers should adopt new and good ideas promptly, but be sure the ideas are good. Many farmers have practically ruined themselves with half-brained ideas that didn't work out."

E. C. Fry, Charleston, Md., who operates a large volume dairy operation said farmers must keep up to date. "To do this they must make some change every year. As an example, he pointed to his switch to feeding high moisture ground corn to dairy cows. He harvests the corn at 30 per cent moisture and stores it in an upright silo. It is then augered into feed bunks for the cattle."

Clifton Murray, Selbyville, soybean grower and poultryman listed these steps to successful farming: Prepare a master plan for all crops and all fields, maintain a complete set of efficient field records, take soil samples and fertilize accordingly, select varieties and seeding rates from practical experience and test plots.

He said over-seeding is one of the worst things being done by Delaware farmers. He suggested that each farmer plant his own test plots, checking for varieties, planting rates, chemicals and fertilization rates and methods of application.

Robbins listed the difficulty of acquiring enough resources for farming as the biggest problem facing young farmers. And he raised this question: "How can a young farmer pay for a quarter of a million dollar farm investment in his lifetime?" He said those farmers who are lucky inherit a farm from their dad, other are smart enough to marry a girl who has one, the remainder are forced to rent a farm, borrow the money and buy one, or a combination of the two.

He said the big trend in the corn belt is to part-owner tenure. This means ownership of 40 to 400 acres as a home base for livestock and a rental arrangement for all additional acres needed. He cited one tenant who had 14 landlords in addition to his own farm. "This trend to part-owner farms is having its impact on the livestock business. Less livestock is being produced on rented land. Landlords are often unwilling and probably wisely so, to build expensive specialized livestock facilities since the tenant may move by the time the facilities are completed. Also added improvements often add little value to the farm."

The farm management specialist said Indiana farmers are finding it necessary to constantly increase their volume. Records on 600 Indiana farms in one study indicated that average acreage had increased from 250 acres in 1950 to 375 acres in 1963—an average increase of almost 10 acres per farm per year. At the same time capital requirements were also changing. The total investment jumped from $75,000 per farm in 1950 to $180,000 per farm in 1963—an increase of $8,000 per farm each year.

While land investment increased labor, requirements remained constant. The average Indiana farm in the survey had 1.8 workers in 1950 and in 1963. In fact the number of men per farm averaged about the same in 1963 as it did in 1928 when the records analysis started.

In pointing out the fallacies of becoming big before a farm operator is skilled enough Robbins said many small Indiana farms that are efficiently operated make more money, than many big farms that are poorly operated.

The Indiana economist said the real pacesetters have moved in the direction of specialization. But, he pointed out that when a farmer puts all his eggs in one basket he has to be sure it's a good basket and that he has the managerial ability to keep the basket from tipping.

Believe In Yourself, Speaker Tells Homemakers

Everything from personal happiness to world peace really comes from within each individual, a consultant to the National 4-H Club Foundation told women at Farm and Home Week Thurs., Feb. 11.

Miss Dorothy Emerson explained there is a need for each person to believe in himself and to have a sense of self-adequacy. "If people felt adequate within themselves and were at peace with themselves, there would be no wars, because the causes of war would be gone," Miss Emerson asserted.

Unless you have self-respect, it isn't easy to get respect from others, she said. She urged her audience to smile all the time—not just when it seems "necessary"—and to wear becoming clothes, because "the way you look begins to make you feel that way." Too often, she said, mothers do too much for their children and acquire a self-sacrificing attitude that neither their children nor they themselves can respect. Children have more respect for a mother who thinks enough of herself to look nice and simply be a nice person than they have for a mother who over-indulges them, Miss Emerson said.

Besides making you look better, she said, smiling makes you feel better. You can't possibly smile without feeling a little more relaxed as you do it, she said.

Worry is crippling, Miss Emerson believes, and too many people worry about too many unimportant things. Get to the essence of a situation and don't worry about details, she urged. "We make our own and others' lives miserable over such trivia!"

People don't really use their minds very well, she said. She urged her audience to exercise their minds, to be careful observers and to expand their minds by being willing to accept new or seemingly far-fetched ideas. "Many times we have to change our minds," she said. "Do it willingly; don't stay in your rut."

Many people talk to keep from really thinking, she commented. "We owe it to ourselves and to those around us to spend some time alone with our thoughts. Just be still and think," she urged.

Self-renewal is important to everyone, Miss Emerson said. "Invest in education, whatever your age. Read all you can, devote some time to a hobby, be good to yourself."

Miss Emerson suggested, "List your goals for the next ten years and at the same time list the immediate steps you can think of to achieve them. Make promises to yourself—in writing and signed, so you will keep those promises."

"Do something about your problems; worry is crippling, but action cures fear. Make yourself do what you ought to do when you ought to do it," Miss Emerson urged.

"When things seem too bad, just remember there couldn't be a negative if there weren't a positive," Miss Emerson said. "It isn't wicked to be happy."

Per Unit Costs Key Dairymen Told

Dairy farmers have four clear choices if they want to improve their income situations; reduce costs below present levels, sell more, get higher prices, switch to some other enterprise that offers an opportunity for greater profits. That's what W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware, told a group of dairymen attending a special dairy session at Farm and Home Week Feb. 10.

To reduce per unit costs—the cost of producing a pound of milk—he said dairymen may find it necessary to increase total costs and variable costs per acre and per cow. This means spending more on fertilizer—feed, spray material, etc., to reduce unit costs.

McAllister said that since feed costs make up more than half of the total milk production cost, it is the first place to start looking for savings. "A 10 per cent reduction in feed costs would yield a greater cost reduction than the total of any other item on the expense ledger except labor."

Since labor is the second biggest cost item it is the next place to look for savings. This can be accomplished through labor saving equipment and by making labor more productive. "Making yourself and your hired labor more productive is the easiest way to reduce labor costs," he said.

The economist said lowest cost per cow is not necessarily the mark of a good dairyman. The important point is cost per unit, and total units produced.

He cited an example of two dairymen—one producing 14,000 pounds of milk per cow, the other getting only 10,000. The top producer spent $40 more per cow for feed but got 4,000 more pounds of milk.

McAllister suggested two additional alternatives for dairymen seeking lower costs—use land to produce the highest value crop that it is suited for; get higher yields per acre from those crops that are grown.

These possibilities allow a dairyman to get bigger without adding more acres and they result in lower feed costs, thus lower per unit milk costs.

Agricultural Associations Meet In Milford

Committees representing the New Jersey Agricultural Marketing Association; the Maryland Agricultural Marketing Association; and the Delaware Farm Bureau Marketing Department met in Milford Fri., Feb. 12.

The contracting and marketing of peas, baby limas, Fordhooks, and snap beans was thoroughly discussed by these groups all of which are affiliated with the American Agricultural Marketing Association which has affiliates in more than twenty states.

The ultimate objective is to increase the net income of the grower and it is felt that this can be accomplished by bargaining between the growers and the processors both are needed in the picture and each is dependent upon the other.

The Marketing Associations of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina have indicated that their problems are similar to those in this immediate area and they are interested in forming a regional group which might be more effective.

J. Ward Cooper, assistant director, Commodity Division of the American Farm Bureau Federation was present and exhibited contracts from various sections of the country which are being carefully studied by the Committee members. Mr. Cooper said, "In order to tide growers over bad years, opportunity for profit must be great in the good years. Since, in contract farming, we cannot project our production at the time we sign our contract, the marketing conditions we agree to must offer opportunity to profit in excess of the amount necessary to maintain our operation, live and build our reserves for one year."

Meetings of this type are being held in California, Wisconsin, and other major producing areas and the growers are being kept current on the situation throughout the country.

Broiler Hatching Egg Industry Could Add to Profit

The economy of the Delmarva peninsula could gain some $16 million a year if the hatching eggs used in Delmarva's broiler industry were produced on the peninsula, a Delaware poultryman told poultry producers at Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 9.

Alden E. Loberg, general manager of Cobb, Inc., Seaford, pointed out that Delmarva, "the grand daddy of all broiler areas, is, today, the only major broiler area that is not producing most or all of the hatching eggs it uses in broiler production."

During 1964, he said, only about 25 per cent of the eggs needed for Delmarva's broilers were produced on the peninsula, and this is actually less than the amount produced here in 1961. Loberg said transportation costs alone for importing some 25 million dozen broiler hatching eggs, mainly from southern states, is about a million dollars a year. Total cost for these eggs is about $16 million a year.

If a broiler hatching industry were developed on the peninsula, this amount of money would stay in Delmarva, Loberg pointed out. In addition, the economy would benefit in other ways since "many other millions would be spent on houses, equipment, breeders, feed, medicine, vaccines and other supplies necessary to support this new industry."

It would also benefit soybean and corn producers because it would mean the need for another 50,000 acres of farm land devoted to these crops to supply the additional feed needed, Loberg said.

"But even more important than the overall economics gains from this additional hatching egg production," Loberg said, "are the potential advantages in providing the broiler industry an opportunity to produce a better quality broiler for less money."

Other potential advantages he cited include closer control over the quality of hatching eggs and, therefore, the broiler chicks—particularly in disease control—and a closer control of standards of hen house management and egg handling.

Primary obstacle to establishing a broiler hatching industry on the peninsula, Loberg said, is the present lack of sufficient knowledge in rearing the pullets and managing the hens in the laying house, which, he explained, requires a completely different approach from that used in the broiler industry. He said, however, that this obstacle would be relatively easy to overcome by bringing poultrymen with this experience to the peninsula and by training poultrymen already established here.

A second obstacle, Loberg said, is a disease problem on the peninsula, which he attributed to the fact that Delmarva has been in the broiler business longer than any other area in the country.

A need for capital to finance both breeder hens and new housing, as well as the availability of the proper type of housing are other obstacles which must be solved before the hatching industry can increase to any great degree, Loberg said. He recommended that Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., devote some of its time and money to helping to solve these problems. Neither the climate of Delmarva nor the capacities of its feed mills would prove to be obstacles to establishing the new industry, Loberg asserted.

"Top quality hatching eggs can be produced successfully on Delmarva if the industry is willing to face up to the basic needs for know-how, disease control, new and adequate housing and additional capital to finance both the houses and the breeders," Loberg said.

"The rewards from this business will be tremendous, not only from the standpoint of the broiler industry itself, but also from the standpoint of the overall economy of Delmarva."

Top Dairy Cows Named At Farm And Home Week

An unregistered Holstein cow who produced 11,800 quarts of milk in a 305 day test period has been honored by the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association. In ceremonies at the University of Delaware's Farm and Home Week Feb. 10, Big Babe, owned by John Green and Son, of Middletown, was named the top producing cow in Delaware for 1964.

Centerdel Pabst Star Leona, owned by W. L. Phipps & Son, Wilmington, was cited for the highest production of butterfat. She produced 1033 pounds in 10 months of testing. This registered Holstein has also received national honors for lactation and lifetime production accomplishments.

Another registered Holstein, Centerdel Ona Tuebie owned by W. Lewis Phipps & Son, Wilmington, was given the top lifetime production award. "Ona", has produced 94,269 quarts of milk in 11 years of production.

Other top awards went to: Makemar Ridgely Sunbeam, in the under 35 months of age group, who produced 19,110 lbs. of milk. She is owned by Mrs. Donald Farquhar and C. D. Buck Jr., Buena Vista Farm, New Castle; a University of Delaware registered Holstein for the high fat production for a 2-year old; Nanticoke Regal Carnation, owned by Ockle Bros., Seaford, for the 36-47 month fat class with 773 pounds of fat.

The high milk record for cows 6 years and over was won by Hayland Skyliner Maria, who produced 24,970 pounds of milk. She is owned by Maurice Adams, Harrington.

Eight animals and 6 herd owners shared the 12 awards. The Phipps herd won 5 of them.

Woodrow Haas, Wyoming, President of the Delaware Dairy Herd Improvement Association, made the presentations.

We repeat the announcement which has been made for two weeks now, in the hopes that many reminders will bring results: During Lent on five Thursday evenings, beginning with March 11th, the Rev. Victor Kusik of St. Mary's in Bridgeville, will be here at St. Stephen's to lead us in a series entitled "The Drama of the Bible in Five Acts." This will be preceded each Thursday by Evening Prayer—every one lives by a plot. Certainly every Christian has his or her favorite Bible story or book. Few of us, however, have any real knowledge of how the whole plot fits together in a unity. It will be Mr. Kusik's goal to help us come to see the unity of the whole plot of the Bible. Certainly this should break down our ignorance of the Bible and create in us a greater love for it and an enthusiastic desire to read it. Each session will be followed by discussion, with coffee in the parish hall. Visitors are invited.

This past Sunday the ticket committee for the Shrove Tuesday pancake supper began distribution of tickets among members of St. Stephen's. Tom Cledeming is in charge of the sale of tickets. Any one who did not get his or her share of tickets to sell, should get them no later than this coming Sunday. Shrove Tuesday falls on March 2nd this year. The pancake supper, which is an annual tradition at St. Stephen's and is sponsored by the Men of St. Stephen's, has won some fame in these parts and attracts large numbers of people. The cost of the supper is $1 for adults and $.50 for children under twelve. Everyone is invited to eat as many pancakes and sausages as he desires. The people of St. Stephen's invite their friends and neighbors in Harrington to come to their pancake supper.

The Episcopal Young Churchmen are looking forward to their evening meeting at 6:30 p.m. on the first Sunday in Lent, March 7. On that Sunday there will be shown for them a full length movie called "The Devil is a Sissy", featuring Mickey Rooney, Bobby Breen and other stars. It is the pleasure of the youth of St. Stephen's to invite other youth groups in Harrington to participate in this enjoyable and instructional evening with them. Invitations are being extended to the various church youth groups. If by chance any youth of Harrington would like to see this motion picture, but are not members of a youth group of any church, they are invited to come at 6:30 p.m. March 7. Everyone coming will be asked to make a small contribution toward the expense which is rather great when ordering a full length film.

Attention—Women of St. Stephen's: Advance notice is given of your next meeting which comes at 7:30 p.m. Mon., March 1st.

Below is given the calendar for Lenten Services at St. Stephen's. If any one finds that he or she cannot possibly come to the 10 a.m. or 7:30 p.m. Ash Wednesday Service, and desires a service at a different time, please let the vicar know. The vicar is happy, also, to announce that on Ash Wednesday at 12:05, in addition to the services held here, he will be the preacher at the Ash Wednesday noon time service at St. Mary's in Bridgeville.

Asbury Methodist Church Notes

"The Seed Grows Secretly"
Man, from a biological point of view, is a misconception. This is the theory of life that is held by many peoples of our world today. They say that man must be remade to fit the world because he has been outstripped by progress. There is no need of God who has fallen short having been overcome by our biological world. "No God Needed", is the thought. What, O' Man, will be the tomorrow under your control? Why do you pace the decks of concern?
Both the Cathedral and Crusader Choirs will bring the special music.
The evening worship service at 7 o'clock will be in full charge of the M.Y.F. that will read the scriptures, say the prayers, do the ushering and take the offering. John Greenhaugh will bring the evening message. The subject will be "Youth in the Twentieth Century".

Warriors Upset Lion Matmen, 27-18

Harrington High School's wrestling team suffered an unexpected defeat at Easton last week and have a record at this writing of three victories, four losses and a draw with Milford.

Any experienced coach will relate that it is hard, almost impossible at times, to get an athletic team, especially a young team like the Lions, to take seriously an upcoming joust with a comparatively weak opponent. This is all the more true when the young team has done very well against stronger opposition. In the case of the locals, the Lion matmen gave Wicomico (twice), Georgetown and Milford, all the opposition they wanted but did not look as good in defeating weaker opponents at Dover Air and Millsboro.

Easton is probably much better than when they suffered a 42-8 lambasting from Wicomico but we still feel that the Marylanders caught the situation to the utmost. We don't think they could do it again and we'll find out on March 3rd, here.

Terry Donovan was a 3-0 winner at 98 pounds over D. Tull. Dan Adams lost 8-4 to C. Tull at 106 pounds. Adams has not been able to make this weight previously this year and appeared to be too weak to turn in his normal good effort.

David Greenly (115) picked up his sixth victory against a draw and a narrow decision loss when he pinned R. Keene in the second round.

L. Newcomb (123) pinned Steve Welch to tie the score at 8-8.

Jim Cain (130) put Harrington in the lead for the last time when he hoisted Nelson into the air and dropped him to the mat on the way to a 5-0 decision. Cain won his first three matches of the season, lost the next three, but appears to be on the way back with two straight wins. He is starting to look like the Jim Cain of last season.

Easton knotted the count at 11-11 as Allan Jerred dropped a 5-3 decision to Schwaninger. Bill Harcum was beaten 10-3 by Smith and Harold Coleman was defeated 6-0 by Wiley. Coleman, (148), an eighth-grader, continues to do well against much older and more experienced opposition.

Bob Smith (157) was edged 2-0 in the key match of the evening. We feel he had his man beaten but that an error in judgment by the referee gave Easton that bout and the match right then and there.

Charlie Tribbitt (168) eked out a 2-2 draw with Verden. Lou Starkey, the undefeated Lion 180 pounder, stood Fairbanks of Easton on his head and pinned him in a little more than 90 seconds.

Trailing 22-18 the Lions could have still pulled the fat out of the fire if sophomore Ed Wheatley could have managed to pin Lewis, of the Warriors. This was a forlorn hope because Lewis has been grappling for four years as against five weeks for Wheatley. The Lion did his best but was the loser near the end of the first round.

With the dual meet season drawing to a close it appears that the Lions could have been undefeated at this writing had the several Lions with experience, who did not come out this year, also Harrington fans in goodly ready for action on Nov. 20. We can think of at least a half dozen lads in this group.

Nevertheless, we feel that an outstanding job has been done. Also Harrington fans in goodly numbers are following the Lions to every match.

Felton Romps To 28th Straight Triumph

Felton High School's basketball Green Devils went to Dover Air Base High on Friday night and waltzed to their 28th victory in succession by a score of 84-56. In Delaware scholastic cage history only two winning streaks were longer than the one the Feltonians are currently working on. Wilmington High had a string of 31 straight in 1930-31. The Devils may get that one this season. Milford High won 45 games in a row before bowing to Lewes in January of 1940. That Bucs team included Holzmueller, Fred Maxwell, Nehi Wilkins, Tom Palmer, and Joe Griffith. It is not likely that Milford's mark will ever be beaten.

Felton hardly worked up a good sweat against the low-flying Falcons. A 26-10 first quarter advantage by the winners revealed the handwriting on the wall as the home team went down to its sixth defeat in eleven games.

Eleven of the winners saw action as Jim Blades showed the way with 25 points. Bill Barr had one of his better nights with 20 points. Dave Wood added 16 tallies.

Blades made 5 of 6 free throws to boost his average 3 notches to a very fine 77%.

Mustangs Beat Lions, 85-69

Earlier this season Bridgeville's Mustangs had a hot first period and managed to lead mighty Felton for a little more than one quarter, at which time the roof fell in. Hosting Harrington on Friday night the Red-and-White were "on" for the entire first half. The resulting halftime lead of 48-28 was enough to carry the home team to victory as Harrington, paced by outstanding accuracy at the free throw line, held a slight upper hand for the last two periods.

Sam Knox had the highest point total of his varsity career, totalling 21 points on 10 baskets from action and also made his only foul shot.

Glenn Smith, the team's season-long high scorer, tossed in 18 tallies and missed only one free throw of nine attempted. Glenn is closing in fast on a 70% average. Over half of the professionals cannot match this accuracy. John Greenhaugh had a good night in the scoring columns with eight buckets and 17 points.

is awarded a certificate of merit attesting to his outstanding performance.

All finalists are considered eligible for Merit Scholarships financed by NMSC and sponsors. The National Merit Scholarships provided by NMSC are awarded on a basis of state representation and without special individual criteria of any kind. Many sponsored Merit Scholarships include additional criteria such as the finalist's relationship to an employer of the sponsoring organization, his residence in a certain area, his college preference, or his career intention.

The scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1500. The average stipend awarded to freshmen merit scholars in 1964 was $757 annually, or about $3000 for the four years of college. Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend. Each scholarship constitutes a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

Greenwood Takes Third Place

Carl Baker's Greenwood High Foresters gained sole possession of third place in the strong Western Division of the Henlopen Conference by trimming the Delmar Wildcats 73-60 at Greenwood Friday night.

The victory was the eight in 11 games for the Foresters and was achieved by the process of coming out on top in each quarter and thus gradually pulling away from the cellar dwellers.

A quartet of Greenwood's scored most of the points for the winners. Drew Clendaniel was the pacemaker with 22 points. Also in double figures for G.H.S. were Dave Henry (16), Ron Breeding (16), and Duane Anthony (13). Once again it was demonstrated that it does not pay to foul the Foresters. Henry entered the contest with a whopping 64 points on free throws this season. He added 12 more in 15 tries to maintain his near-80% average. Of the 12 Henlopen teams in action Friday night only half of them could outscore this one lead from the charity stripe. Three more entire teams had only one or two points more by this method than did the Greenwood head.

Duane Anthony canned five of seven foul shots and Drew Clendaniel already popping them in at an astounding 82% made four-two to up his average to 84%. The Foresters as a team aged 19 of 25.

Jerry Elliott of Delmar took game honors with 26 points.

Armed Forces Notes

Army Pvt. Lawrence C. Tucker, Jr., whose wife, Diane, lives at 1885 Kissingwood Rd., Augusta, Ga., was assigned to Signal Company, 3d Special Forces Group, 1st Special Forces at Ft. Bragg, N. C., Feb. 2.

Special Forces were created by the Department of the Army to provide, in time of war, a unit through which the Army can develop and employ guerrilla warfare forces against the enemy in support of military operations.

Tucker, a wireman in the company, entered the Army in May, 1964, and completed basic combat training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

The 20-year-old soldier, whose parents live on Route 1, Box 160, Greenwood, attended Milford High School.

Lionesses Beat Bridgeville, Bow to Felton

Harrington High School's girls varsity basketball team edged Bridgeville away Friday night 23-20 and were in turn nosed by Felton 25-21 here on Tuesday night.

The victory at Bridgeville was the fifth of the season for V. Testerman's girls. The teams played on a virtually even tussle throughout the game with Harrington outpointing the host team by one point in the first, third and fourth periods to gain the win.

Marilyn Walls had 12 points to lead the winners.

Against Felton the same pattern was evident for the first three periods as Harrington had a three point lead going into the final chapter.

Felton notched the victory by scoring seven points in the fourth quarter while Harrington was blanked.

Smith of Harrington and French, of Felton, tallied eight points each to deadlock for game scoring honors.

Felton now leads the Western Division of the Henlopen Conference with Harrington a game behind in second place. The conference winner in this section will earn the dubious honor of facing the Eastern Division winner for the loop crown.

A lot of emphasis is placed on girls' basketball on the other side of the circuit with the result that some fine distaff teams are produced. Most years the league champion will come from the Eastern Division.

Bridgeville Downs Greenwood, 69-43

For one period it appeared that Greenwood's Foresters might repeat an earlier upset over Bridgeville's tall and talented Mustangs. Trailing 9-6 after one quarter in the Tuesday night tilt at Bridgeville, the Mustangs began to gallop and tallied 37 points in the next two periods while Greenwood could make only 10. When the Foresters began to find the range in the final stanza and tossed in a high 24 points, they discovered they were farther behind than before, as the high-scoring home team rang up 26 markers.

Bridgeville has a 10-2 record while continuing their futile chase of streaking Felton. Greenwood's 8-4 record leaves them in third place in the Western section of the Henlopen Conference.

Duane Anthony was high for Felton with 11. Dave Henry had one point less than Anthony.

J.V. Matmen Wrestle Well At Easton

Thursday night at Easton a trio of youthful Harrington High wrestlers did a fine job in exhibition bouts.

Louis Kemp, a 12-year-old seventh-grader, started slowly against an older and heavier Marylander but came on strong to pin his rival in round three.

Freshman Allan Greenly, who wrestles in the 103 pound class, gave away thirty pounds to a strong, fast Warrior but made a surprising showing (to the Easton fans that is) by staying the limit. Allan lost by one point but again showed a lot of ability and promise.

Bill Webb, another ninth-grader, also drew a larger opponent but handled the Eastonian with such ease that Bill grew careless and almost lost the duke in the closing moment. Webb won 5-4.

Coach Bill Muehleisen has several good prospects among the reserves. Others are David Hurd, Chuck Hurd and Roger Moore.

Felton Drubs Harrington, 96-59

Felton High School's basketball specialists stretched their winning streak to 29 games by easily moving past Harrington here on Tuesday night. Felton has a 12-0 record for 1964-65, while the Lions have seven victories in twelve games.

The Green Devils were ahead 27-11 and 51-25 at the end of the first and second periods, respectively. The Lions fared better in the second half but still lost ground all the way.

Jim Blades, the state's third highest scorer and teammate Bill Barr divided 42 points evenly to lead the Felton offense. Phil Clark and Dave Wood added 15 and 14 respectively.

Glen Smith took game honors for Harrington with 22 points. The Lion is averaging 17 points a game with 205 points in 11 contests. If he can continue to score well in the Lions' remaining five tilts he will become one of the highest scorers ever to play here.

It was reported at the fifth annual meeting that Delaware Chapter is now comprised of 1677 individuals, each of which contributes $3 a year or more to the program. This is exclusive of the more than 17,000 other individual contributors throughout the state.

The Chapter sponsors a clinic at Delaware Hospital which is under the supervision of Dr. Dewey A. Nelson, who was also chairman of the Chapter's medical advisory board in 1964. Dr. Thomas S. Vates, M. D., will serve as 1965 chairman, while Nelson will be the Board's secretary.

The chapter has a catalogue of multiple sclerosis patients throughout the state and has been able to assist many in the clinic or through personal aid such as procurement of medicine, prosthetics, nursing service or guidance.

Last year's campaign produced more than $28,000 it was reported, a share of which was assigned to the national organization for research work. The balance is used for local activities.

cases of colon and rectum cancer can be diagnosed by proctoscopic examination", said Mr. Drumheller. The proctoscope is a slender tube with a light which permits the physician to see the inside of the rectum and the lower part of the colon.

The program to inform the general public has the support of the state medical society. It centers around the American Cancer Society's educational film, "Life Story". This is the real life story of Harry Leonard, a Minneapolis, Minn. labor leader whose life was saved because he had an examination of the colon and rectum in time. Dr. Owen Wangenstein, chairman of the department of surgery, University of Minnesota Medical School, is the medical authority in the film.

Educational literature about colon and rectum cancer will be made available by the Delaware Division of the American Cancer Society. The support of press, radio and TV, and community leaders will be enlisted in furthering the life-saving program.

Fence Talk (With George Vapaa)

The tractor dynamometer is a machine that measures the torque and speed of the power takeoff shaft to indicate the horsepower developed by the engine. It is a valuable tool in the hands of a competent mechanic. Not only does it indicate the power output, but a mechanic can observe the engine under load when most tractor ills are more readily noticed.

When a dynamometer test shows that horsepower is lacking, a simple procedure will frequently correct the problem. This includes servicing the air cleaner, checking the spark plugs and governor, replacing the necessary parts, and adjusting the carburetor and timing. A malfunction in any one of these five areas will result in a loss of power and/or increased fuel consumption. Timely service of the tractor can result in horsepower increases up to 11 per cent and fuel savings to 14 per cent.

Your local tractor dealer may have a dynamometer. Make that appointment for your tractor's "physical" now. The cost is small when compared to a savings of 14 per cent in your annual fuel bill.

Off-flavored eggs are usually caused by improper storage conditions. The egg shell is porous and can easily absorb odors because small amounts of air pass through the shell to keep the egg healthy.

Moldy conditions, perfumed detergents, odors from onions, apples, cabbage, citrus fruits, and oils can show their effects on causing off-flavor in eggs.

Remember eggs are a food and should be handled like one. Good ventilation, sanitation, and proper storage conditions are a must in preserving the flavor of fresh eggs. Clean surroundings are necessary also. It takes a clean refrigerator, egg holding room and clean egg cartons to keep odor out of eggs.

Cigarette smoking has fallen off, but the cigar and pipe smokers are burning the stuff like mad. Consumption of cigars and cigarillos per male (18 years and over) is estimated at 150 — up some 20 per cent over 1963 and the highest number
