

TAYLOR AND CALLAWAY EXPLAIN VETS BENEFITS

Samuel Taylor, chief contact officer, Veteran's Administration Regional Office, Wilmington and L. Gooden Callaway, service officer, Department of Delaware, American Legion, explained veterans benefits Thursday evening, April 8, at Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee, Post No. 7.

At the outset, a capsule history of the Legion was given. It is the largest organization of war veterans in the world, formulated in France at the close of World War I.

It promotes 100 per cent Americanism, opposes Nazism, Fascism, Socialism, and all issues contrary to the principles of individual liberties and freedoms.

It helped write and guide the GI Bill of Rights in 1944, thru Congress. Basic benefits of this bill today is hospitalization for service-connected or non-service-connected disability for peace-time or wartime veterans.

Out-patient treatment—Any veteran may receive this service, either in a VA hospital, or by appointed fee-designated doctor named by the Veterans Administration in the veteran's local area.

Pensions— for service-connected as well as non-service-connected disabilities. Recipient must have served at least 90 days in service and have been discharged under honorable conditions. Amount of pension is determined by per cent of disability rated from 10 per cent to 100 per cent in multiples of 10.

Burial—Any veteran can be buried in a national cemetery with a burial allowance of up to $250, plus transportation costs paid to the funeral director to this National Cemetery and need does not have to be shown. A marker is also provided at the head of the grave at no cost.

Dependents available benefits—A pension on a graduate scale is paid to the surviving widow, depending on her annual income.

New Insurance Law effective May 1st, 1965.

To be eligible for this new insurance:

1. You must have had service between 1940 and 1957.

2. You must have a service-connected disability, whether or not you now receive compensation.

3. If you do not have a service disability, you must have a non-service disability so severe that you cannot obtain insurance from private insurance companies.

You cannot, however, carry in all more than $10,000 of veterans G. I. Insurance.

This insurance is very much like the G. I. Insurance which was available in the past, except that, (1) no term insurance is now available; (2) the premium will be based on your present age; (3) the cost of administering the program (42 cents a month for any size policy) is part of the premium.

William Mark Chambers

William Mark Chambers, 20-months, died Wednesday, April 7, in South Baltimore General Hospital.

He was the son of Donald and Rosalie Chambers of Baltimore, formerly of Frederica.

He is also survived by a brother, Donald Jr., and three sisters, Deborah, Barbara and Joanne, all of Baltimore, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Rachel Green, of Frederica.

Services were held Sunday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Milford.

Police Car Crash Ends Two-State Road Chase

Corporal Robert Miller, 28, of the Seaford police, escaped injury shortly after midnight Monday when his car crashed near Hickman while he thought he was chasing another vehicle.

The car he thought he was chasing also had crashed off the road a few hundred feet earlier. Its driver, Kenneth Albert East, 22, also escaped injury.

But he did not escape arrest. Delaware and Maryland state police, who had joined Miller in the chase, doubled back after making sure Miller was not hurt and soon found East in a wooded area of Caroline County.

The chase had begun 12 miles and several minutes earlier when, according to Miller, he at-

McKinnat Elected President of HHS Alumni Association

Donald McKinnat was elected president of the Harrington High School Alumni Association at its meeting Tuesday evening held in the high school. Other officers elected were as follows:

Mrs. Mary Tamman Tucker, vice-president; Mrs. Jane Hughes Moore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Patsy Jack Garey, recording secretary; Mrs. Zita Zimmerman Hatfield, historian, and William Manship, treasurer.

The annual banquet-dance is to be held Saturday evening, May 15, at 6:30 o'clock. Following a short business meeting and entertainment, Lou Parris and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing in the field house.

The honored classes for this year are the classes of 1915 and of 1940.

It's Official! Women Equal!

The status of women in Delaware moved up a notch Wednesday with the final approval of a constitutional amendment to allow them to vote.

As Sen. Margaret R. Manning, R-Marshallton, told her colleagues, HB 11 is "wiping out an anachronism" since women have been able to vote since the ratification of the 19th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution in 1920.

But the Delaware Constitution was not amended until Wednesday.

Sen. Calvin R. McCullough, D-Holloway Terrace, entered the chamber during the discussion, and not having heard the explanation, asked to be recorded as "not voting." Following howls of laughter he changed his vote to "yes" adding he was "scared" not to vote for it.

Testimonial Dinner To Be Given Clem Nevin

Officers and members of the Departments of Delaware, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary, will join members of Blue Hen Post No. 6483 and its Ladies Auxiliary in honoring Clement J. Nevin, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at a testimonial dinner here Saturday, May 1.

Arrangements for the May 1 affair, which will be held in the cafeteria of Milford's new junior high school, are now being made by a joint post-auxiliary committee consisting of Commander Robert Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Eurie M. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. David S. Hugg, James C. Sullivan, Dr. James R. West and John J. Deeney.

Commander Nevin, a Milford resident, has made an outstanding record as V.F.W. state commander the past year.

Penny Hearing To Be Held in Dover May 12

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the Pennsylvania Railroad request to halt downstate passenger service will be in Dover May 12.

It will be at 9:30 a.m. in the Superior Courtroom in the Kent County Courthouse, according to an ICC order.

Sailor OK After Harrington Crash

A West Virginia sailor is in good condition at Dover Air Base Hospital, Tuesday, after a car in which he was a passenger ran off the road an overturned near Harrington at 2 a. m. the same day.

John Morris was a passenger in the car driven by Edward Langfield, 20, New York. Langfield fell asleep at the wheel and ran off the road. The auto turned over two times, coming to rest on its left side after skidding about 100 feet, police report.

Both Morris and Langfield were taken to Milford hospital. Langfield was examined and released. Morris was taken to the Dover Air Force Hospital.

Langfield was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate Elijah Harrington, of Felton.

Isaacs' Bill Asks School Board Hike

A bill to increase the size of the State Board of Education was introduced Wednesday in the House by Majority Leader M. Martin Isaacs, D-Georgetown.

The measure (HB 165) would expand the board membership from six to nine and have the board president serve at the pleasure of the governor. Under present law, the board elects its own president and all six members serve three-year terms.

Isaacs said merely that the bill was intended to "reorganize the board" but offered no elaboration.

In Georgetown, the board has been under fire of late for its resolution ordering the phase-out of separate Negro school districts. The fire was directed principally at Dr. Richard P. Gousha, state superintendent of public instruction.

The state superintendent named by the board, would not be affected directly by Isaacs' bill. It would have eight of the state board members serving three-year terms and the president serving at the governor's pleasure—that is, until the governor named someone else.

All nine would be named by the governor.

The bill would not permit partisan domination of the board, and in fact would require that at least one member not be from one of the major political parties. It says: "No more than four members of the board shall belong to the same political party."

Present law requires that no more than three of the six members be of the same party.

The bill would retain the requirement that the board include at least one resident from each of the four subdivisions—Wilmington, New Castle County outside of Wilmington, Kent County and Sussex County.

The measure Wednesday night won the endorsement of one member of the present board, Dr. Hiram N. Lasher of Millsboro.

"It sounds like a good bill to me," said Lasher. "It would permit the board to set up a committee system to deal with all these important jobs we have."

Harry C. Jester

Harry C. Jester, 60, a former Milford resident, died Wednesday in the Fair Acres Nursing Home, Chester, Pa.

He had been a farmer and automobile mechanic.

He is survived by a son, Harry C. Jr., Chester; his father, Harry G., Milford; four brothers, George, Charles and Carl, all of Milford, and Arthur, Harrington; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Betts, Milford; Mrs. Alice Watson, Federalsburg, Md., and Mrs. Ida Mae Fransier, Pennsylvania, N. J.

Services will be held at 2 Saturday afternoon at the Lofland Funeral Home, Milford, where friends may call after 7 tonight.

Mrs. G. F. Tunnell

Mrs. Martha Louise Tunnell, 87, died Monday at her home, 17 American Ave., Dover. She was the widow of Gustave F. Tunnell.

Survivors include three sons, Ervin of Dover, Marvin of Virginia Beach, Va., and Armour, with the U.S. Air Force in England; five daughters, Mrs. Hazel Hodge, Mrs. Betty Hughes and Miss Mable Tunnell, all of Wilmington, Mrs. Myrtle Pleasanton of Kirkwood and Mrs. Marian Guy of Dover; a brother, Carl Remus of Wyoming, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Services were today at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton.

Ex-Felton Man Killed By Car

Lawrence Heyd, 84, formerly of Felton, was killed last Friday when struck by a car at Hewlett, N. Y.

The car victim had been living in the New York community since 1900.

Mr. Heyd is survived by one son, Robert, of Colts Neck, N. J., a brother, Leslie, and one sister, Miss Dorothy Heyd, both of Felton.

Services were held Tuesday morning at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with burial in Hopkins Cemetery.

Telephone Co. To Start Work On Television System

Telephone Company construction work on Delaware's state-wide three-channel Educational Television system is on schedule, reports Harold Short, ETV coordinator for the Diamond State Telephone Company.

The telephone company is investing some $2,500,000 for facilities to carry the voice and video signals via microwave and coaxial cable from the central studio in Dover to some 160 schools in the state, Short explained.

"Our target date for placing the system in operation is September, 1965. Presently, construction work is a little more than half completed," he said.

The ETV installation will require construction of seven microwave relay towers. The towers will be located in Wilmington, Newark, Stumps Corner, Dover, Farmington, Seaford and Georgetown.

The TV signal will leave the central studio in Dover and be relayed up and down the state via microwave.

After leaving the microwave tower, the signal will be sent over coaxial cable to one central school in a school district or districts and then sent to each of the individual schools over coaxial cable.

"Some 380 miles of coaxial cable will be required to link the 160 schools to the statewide system," Short added, "we expect to have all the cable work completed by early July."

Short pointed out that because of the internal resistance in the cable, 460 special electronic pole-mounted amplifiers will be connected.

Dover Dist. WSCS Annual Meeting April 21

The annual meeting of the Dover District, Women's Society of Christian Service, the Methodist Church, will be held in Georgetown, on April 21. Registration will be at 9:30 A. M. and the meeting will begin at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. I. C. King, president, announced that the featured speaker will be Miss Maryruth Nickels, regional secretary of the woman's division. Miss Nickels holds a Master of Science degree from Indiana University in Counseling and Guidance. She has been a special term missionary in India, and a guidance counselor in high school for seven years. Since 1962 she has been a field worker with the woman's division.

Annual reports will be compiled in booklet form and distributed. The pledge service will include all members of each local society. The pledge is made for the woman's division, General Board of Missions, The Methodist Church. Every Methodist woman is urged to attend. A special nursery will be provided. Reservations may be made with Mrs. William R. Faucett, R. D. No. 1, Georgetown.

Farm Test Bill Draws House OK

The bill to require testing of grain moisture meters won strong endorsements from farm organizations at a public hearing Wednesday and later passed the House.

The bill (HB 53) won unanimous approval in the House after passage of an amendment requiring that the State Board of Agriculture make the tests at grain dealers' places of business rather than at the board's Dover headquarters.

Rep. Harrison W. Phillips, D-Laurel, voted for the measure after voicing some opposition at the hearing on the ground that a dishonest dealer still would be able to cheat farmers after the testing was made mandatory.

Lt. Gov. Sherman Tribbitt will be guest speaker at a dinner sponsored by the Democratic Women's Club on Tuesday evening, April 27th, at the Delaware State Fairgrounds Restaurant in Harrington.

This will be a covered dish dinner to be held at 6:30 p. m. The price of tickets will be 50 cents each and a covered dish per couple.

The chairman for this dinner is Mrs. Mary L. Brown; tickets, Mrs. Roland Hitchens and Mrs. George Graham; decorations, Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr.; food, Mrs. Jonathan Hopkins and Mrs. James Wilson.

2-Hour Fire Rips Farm In Sussex

Volunteers from eight fire companies Tuesday failed to halt wind-lashed flames that devastated a poultry farm near Greenwood.

Within two hours the farm of John Green Jr. — three long chicken sheds, a barn and attached livestock stall and a 2 1/2 story frame dwelling—was leveled.

Green made no estimate of the loss. A Greenwood fire fighter, Earl Obier, an insurance agent, said, "with all the equipment and that large house, it'll probably be more than $150,000."

Hours after the blaze began, the poultry man glanced at the smoking ruins still being hosed down by firemen and commented, "She sure didn't leave me very much, did she?"

The only structure not ravaged was an old wooden storage shed. It surprisingly escaped the fire's wrath, though it stood between the Green home and the chicken sheds.

The gusty westerly winds, estimated by observers at speeds of 40 to 50 miles an hour, spat sand and soot at firemen and hurled glowing embers into a forest a mile and a half away.

The embers ignited a number of small woods fires. They were soon extinguished, however, by state forestry workers assisted by volunteer firemen from the farm.

The property is on Delaware 36 two miles from the intersection of U. S. 13 and Delaware 16, near Greenwood.

Green said that no livestock was lost. The few pigs normally in a pen next to the barn had been turned into the fields.

However, the chicken sheds where the fire originated were scheduled to be filled, within a few hours, with 40,000 young chicks. Green said he was in the process of readying the sheds for the delivery.

The alarm was telephoned to the Greenwood Fire Company at 10:20 a. m. after, according to Green, he walked out of the house to see smoke pouring from one of the 300-foot sheds.

He told State Fire Marshal William R. Favinger that he yelled to his wife to call the fire department and then attempted to get in the shed. "I just couldn't get in there... there was just too much smoke and heat."

An assistant engineer with Greenwood volunteers, Ralph Spanish, said the wind "played some pretty weird tricks with the flames." He described how the fire leaped across one of the chicken houses and set another aflame before the middle one.

Flames spread to the barn and the farmhouse next, with firemen not sure which ignited first.

Green couldn't believe how quickly the flames spread and ate through his home from the roof to the foundation.

"The firemen were spraying water on the house at the time," he explained, "when this spark (he indicated its size was about as big as his fist) landed on the

Conference Slated By DSEA on Pension System

A State-wide conference centering around the Delaware State Employees Pension System has been scheduled by the Delaware State Educational Association (DSEA), it was announced today by William A. Richey, president of the Association.

Invitations have been sent to all local association presidents and other interested members of the DSEA.

The conference is set for Saturday, May 1, Holiday Inn, Dover. It will begin at 9:00 a. m., and end just before noon; all participants have been invited to take part in the observance of Old Dover Days.

On hand to discuss the state pension plan now in effect will be Andrew C. O'Neal, Deputy State Treasurer, State of Delaware. The Social Security phase of the system will be discussed by W. J. Bulkeley, District Manager, Social Security Administration, Dover.

"We have had a number of requests for information about our pension system and we hope this will fill a real need," Mr. Richey said.

Legislation pending before the present General Assembly will be presented by Charles R. Harris, executive secretary, DSEA.

5 FIREMEN HURT IN HOUSE CAVE-IN

Five volunteer firemen escaped serious injury Sunday when they were trapped as a burning farm dwelling collapsed.

The blaze at 8 p. m. leveled the two-story frame house owned by Edwin Gruwell, five miles west of Felton. The property was occupied by Marvill Pritchett.

Caught under the falling timber and brick showered upon them when the roof fell in the firemen sustained lacerations and abrasions. All were treated and released at Kent General Hospital, Dover, where they were taken in the Harrington Fire Company ambulance.

The injured were identified by the hospital as Charles Roland, 35, Thurlow Vanderwende, 19, Donald Darling, 24, William Stubbs, 22, and Charles Reynolds, 32. Stubbs and Reynolds live in Felton, the other three volunteers reside in Viola.

Felton Fire Chief J. Barratt Simpler said the house was a total loss but he said a loss estimate has not yet been fixed. Simpler said the investigation is continuing in an effort to determine the origin of the fire.

Harrington firemen joined the Felton volunteers at the scene. Members of the Frederica Fire Company moved equipment to the Felton Fire House in a back-up move.

Simpler said the house was fully involved when the first firemen and equipment reached the scene. Pritchett, who lives alone, was not at home when the blaze started, Simpler said.

People of all faiths will be welcome to come and go as they can during the three hours. There will be special music and congregational singing. An offering will be given by the congregation for the benefit of the poor of the Harrington area.

The Ministerium takes pleasure in inviting all citizens of Harrington to this service, and has written all places of business urging that they either close or make it possible for their employees to attend at least a part of the service.

Mrs. Austin Bright

Mrs. Nora Wilson Bright, 82, died Thurs., April 8, at the Fletcher Nursing Home, Felton.

She had lived in the Harrington area most of her life and was a member of Pilgrim Holiness Church here.

Services were held at the Fleischauer Funeral Home, Greenwood, Sunday afternoon. Burial was at Hollywood Cemetery here.

She is survived by her husband, Austin Bright; six daughters, Mrs. Thelma Hoeflich, Dover; Mrs. Emma Vanderwende, Houston; Mrs. Pauline Morgan, Harrington; Mrs. Belyia Vandrewende, Harrington; Mrs. Nora Bozman, Easton, Md., and Mrs. Betty Brown, Harrington; a brother, George Welch, Chester, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Ethel Sapp, Harrington; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Mary Jesten, Felton; 19 grandchildren, three step-grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Milford Calls April 30 Vote On Tax, Teacher Salary Boosts

Milford school district taxpayers will be asked Friday, April 30, to approve a tax increase in order to raise teacher salaries.

"Our purpose is to attract superior teachers to Milford and to retain the most competent teachers now on the faculty," John Kuhlman, publicity chairman for the referendum, said Wednesday night in announcing the action.

Kuhlman, a Milford teacher, said the town is now in a poor competitive position in regard to the hiring and keeping of good teachers. This opinion was supported by C. T. Dickerson, secretary and superintendent of schools in Milford.

The proposal by the Milford Board of Education would provide local funds to pay a salary supplement of $500 a teacher.

To finance this it calls for an increase of 25 cents per $100 real estate assessed valuation and a $4 capitation hike. The present real estate rate is 52 cents, plus four cents library tax. That 56 cent rate would rise to 81 cents if the voters approve. The current $8 capitation tax would rise to $12.

The tax hike, according to backers of the proposal, would ease what they call a critical situation.

Milford teachers salaries are

Substation Farm Manager Feted At Retirement Dinner

Emmor F. (John) Turner, manager of the University of Delaware's experimental farm at the Georgetown Agricultural Substation, was honored at a retirement dinner Tuesday evening, April 6, Turner will retire this year after more than 23 years' service as farm manager.

A native of Illinois, he began as substation farm manager in January, 1942, shortly after the University purchased land to develop as an experimental farm. Among his responsibilities have been supervising farm labor, keeping weather, cost, labor and other records and maintaining buildings, grounds and machinery at the substation.

More than 200 co-workers and neighbors attended the dinner, with William H. Henderson, Sussex County agent, serving as toastmaster. Dr. George M. Worliow, dean of the School of Agriculture and vice president of the University of Delaware, spoke briefly. Other participants in the program honoring Turner included Crawford Bailey, representing his church; Charles Scott representing Turner's neighbors, and Eugene P. Brasher, chairman of the department of horticulture at the University, representing his co-workers. Edward H. Ralph, associate ag-

Easter Foods Are Sure Sign of Spring

How did the bunny ever get mixed up with eggs and Easters anyway?

Miss Janet Coblentz, extension food and nutrition specialist at the University of Delaware, explains that Easter customs are a mixture of Christian celebration and old pagan spring festivals. In India and China, the rabbit and egg were symbols of the new spring birth of crops and cattle. It did not take long for these symbols to be included in a Christian festival that came at the same time of the year.

Other lands have had customs that sound strange today. In Old Russia even the lowliest peasant might greet the Czar on Easter Sunday by giving him a kiss on the cheek while saying "Christ is Risen." In some countries the hearth fires would be put out at sunset of Holy Saturday to be relit with candles blessed by the church.

Easter customs are associated with foods, too. Rich foods have been absent during Lent, which make an Easter feast all the more welcome. In this country we traditionally serve ham, usually decoratively glazed and garnished. Special Easter breads and cakes are a delicious feature of the season, Miss Coblentz reminds us.

What could be more traditional than Hot Cross Buns? she asks. They can easily be made from a hot roll mix. Add 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon allspice, 1/4 teaspoon cardamom and 1/2 cup seedless white raisins to the flour mixture. Prepare as directed on the package, shape into 18 balls and let rise until doubled on a greased baking sheet. Bake 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven. When cool, frost the top of the buns in the shape of a cross with 3/4 cup powdered sugar, 3/4 teaspoon lemon extract and 3 teaspoons water combined.

Try a few quick tricks with packaged refrigerator biscuits for an easy, tasty Easter breakfast, suggests Miss Coblentz. Quick cinnamon twists are done in less than 10 minutes. Pull each biscuit to about 6 inches in length. Dip in melted butter, then in a mixture of 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts and cinnamon sugar. Bake for 8 minutes in a 475 degree oven.

Cinnamon-Pecan Biscuits are also delicious, she says. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons honey, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon grated orange peel and 1/2 cup chopped pecans. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until pecans are glazed. Flatten refrigerator biscuits on baking sheet, and spoon the pecan mixture over them. Bake as directed on package.

Hard-cooked eggs are a must for a traditional Easter breakfast. Miss Coblentz says they will be much more tender and flavorful if the heat is carefully controlled. She suggests covering the eggs with water at least one inch above the eggs. Cover the pan and bring eggs rapidly to a boil, immediately remove from the heat and let stand for 15 minutes. Cool promptly and thoroughly to prevent dark surface on the yolks and to make the shells easier to remove. If desired, instead of allowing the eggs to stand 15 minutes without heat, after bringing the eggs rapidly to a boil, they may be kept in water which is just below simmering for 20 minutes.

Decorating with eggs is a colorful way to greet spring. Although hard-cooked eggs may be decorated, emptied egg shells could be used for more permanent arrangements. To empty raw eggs, carefully make a small hole with a large needle in each end of the egg. Pierce the egg yolk before blowing. Hold the egg over a bowl and blow gently. When empty, rinse the egg with cold water and allow to dry.

Let your imagination run riot when you are decorating eggs, says Miss Coblentz. Dye them, of course, but do not stop there. For easy but artistic results, she suggests using flowers, ribbon, sequins, beads, buttons, rick-rack, colored cellophane tape, small candy, or colored sugar.

Egg trees will display the beauty of decorated eggs most effectively. They can be made from bare twigs or branches, depending on the final size wanted. For a small tree an inverted funnel works well as a base. Put the twigs in the hole of the funnel, and cover it with Easter basket greenery. Tie eggs on with loops of cellophane tape or with ribbon slipped through the blowing holes. Large branches can be firmly planted in a flower pot filled with any reasonably firm material such as modeling clay, plastic foam, crumpled chicken wire or even hard-packed soil.

Armed Forces Notes

Airman Second Class William W. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Martin, of 114 Mechanic Street, Harrington, has received special recognition for his academic achievements at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Airman Martin, a student in a course for radar repairman, has attained honor roll status for achieving superior scores on two consecutive blocks of instruction. The airman is a graduate of Harrington High School.

Army Sgt. Benjamin E. Smith, whose wife, Betty, lives at 116 W. Milby St., Harrington, qualified as expert in firing the high-powered M-14 rifle at Ft. Riley, Kan., March 29.

The expert rating is the highest mark a soldier can achieve in his rifle qualification test.

Smith, assistant platoon sergeant in Company A of the division's 1st Supply and Transport Battalion, entered the Army in 1956.

He attended Booker T. Washington High School, Dover. His mother, Mrs. Cora E. Smith, lives on Route 1, Felton.

Army Pvt. George W. Cripps, son of Colonel and Mrs. George W. Cripps, 208 David Hall rd., Dover, took part in a massive assault on Vieques Island, near Puerto Rico, April 9 as part of a joint service airborne and amphibious exercise.

Cripps was one of more than 1,700 paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., who were airdropped into the island under simulated combat conditions.

The airdrop provided a climax to QUICK-KICK VII, a two-week exercise that involved 10,000 troops representing the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

A driver in Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion of the division's 505th Infantry at Fort Bragg, Cripps entered the Army in September 1964 and received basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

The 18-year-old soldier attended Caesar Rodney High School in Camden.

Army Cap. Samuel M. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey O. Simpson, 140 Evergreen dr., Dover, took part in a medical field training exercise conducted by the 30th Medical Group in Germany, April 2-8.

Captain Simpson participated in various maneuvers designed to evaluate mass casualty and medical evacuation procedures.

The captain, commander of the group's 428th Medical Company near Ludwigsburg, entered the Army in October 1961 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in July 1963.

Captain Simpson, a 1949 graduate of Dover High School, received a B. S. degree in 1953 from Springfield (Mass.) College.

Army Pfc. Arthur W. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Harris, Route 1, Box 326, Dover, was assigned to the 7th Infantry Division in Korea, April 1.

Harris, who is a rifleman in Company A, 1st Battalion of the division's 31st Infantry, entered the Army in February 1963, completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and was last stationed at Fort Devens, Mass.

The 21-year-old soldier was graduated in 1963 from William Henry School.

Army Specialist Four William T. Warren, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Welton E. Warren, Route 1, Denton, Md., took part in a massive parachute assault on Vieques Island, near Puerto Rico, April 9 as part of a joint service airborne and amphibious exercise.

Specialist Warren was one of more than 1,700 paratroopers from the 82d Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., who were airdropped onto the island under simulated combat conditions.

The airdrop provided a climax to QUICK-KICK VII, a two-week exercise that involved 10,000 troops representing the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Warren entered the Army in September 1962 and is a supply clerk in Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion of the division's 505th Infantry.

He is a 1962 graduate of North Carolina High School.

Governor Spells Out Reorganization Task

(This is the text of a message to the General Assembly by Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr. on a New Castle County reorganization bill.)

Once again it is my privilege to address a joint session of the legislature and I am delighted today to have the opportunity to speak in the House chamber for the first time during my term of office as governor.

On three previous occasions since Jan. 19 I have stood before you to speak on matters of great import to the people of Delaware, subjects in which we shared responsibility and a mutual desire to see achievement.

I am equally grateful that response on each of those occasions was such that we enjoyed a meeting of minds and were able to enact into law some of the most significant legislation of our time. Additional results in the financial field are still pending but I am certain we will do what it is necessary to do.

I am equally grateful that we were able to accomplish our ends in the way that men of good will should show progress, that the problem was recognized by each individual who searched his own conscience and voted freely for the well-being of his constituents and posterity without any promise of favors from me or anyone in the executive department, and without any coercion or persuasion except those of reason and logic.

Stable Rule
Members of the assembly, the bill I am supporting here today is a good bill that will give stable government to the state's most populous county for many decades to come.

I have read this bill and I support it freely. I emphasize that point because never at any time have I agreed to support this particular bill in return for a vote from any senator or representative for any bill that had been before this session, or any bill that will be before this session.

It was my great pleasure to inform the people of this state on Jan. 19 that I stood before them without political obligations that would encumber my work as their governor. I am proud to say that I could repeat those same words and take that same oath today.

Furthermore, my confidence in the General Assembly is positive. I am certain we will continue to examine and act upon each bill as it comes forth with full regard for our solemn commitments to the people of this wonderful state.

House Bill Due
I propose today, as I indicated earlier, to speak on the reorganization of the government of New Castle County. A bill, designed to carry out the campaign pledge made to the people of this state, has been carefully prepared and will be introduced by the speaker of the House with the cosponsorship of all of his Democratic colleagues from the county affected.

The basic problem which gives rise to the demand for reorganization is simple. The growth and shift of population in New Castle County, and particularly in its unincorporated areas, has been phenomenal. As a result, about two-thirds of the total population of the county resides outside the incorporated areas. These new and transferred residents live almost entirely in single family units and require a multitude of services for their tax dollar which only a sound and efficient county government can adequately provide.

The levy court system is designed for a rural or semirural society. Three men elected to serve both as the executive and legislative arm of the county cannot, even with great dedication, effectively serve an urban county with its peculiar and complicated problems. The need in this urban situation is obvious. The legislative and executive functions of government must be separated. The legislator of the county government must devote his time as a lawmaker and as a representative of his constituents. The executive branch of county government must be headed by a county executive elected at large. The operational functions must be clearly channeled.

Carvel Study
As you all know, former Gov. Carvel appointed a bi-partisan committee to study county government reorganization. That committee made a comprehensive report which has been reviewed and thoroughly analyzed. Specific legislation was recommended.

I recognized the value of that report during the campaign. On Oct. 12, 1964, I devoted one of my major campaign addresses to the subject of county reorganization.

I said the finding and proposals of the governor's committee were "well considered" and "though provoking." In regard to Governor Carvel's committee, I further stated on the occasion of that Wilmington address that: "I agree with them in general principle and, if elected governor of the State of Delaware, I will make every effort to encourage legislation designed to replace the antiquated levy court system which now governs this county and spends its taxpayers' money."

It was not my campaign position that I was in any way bound by every detail of the legislation proposed by Governor Carvel's committee. I appreciate the fine public service that citizen committees render. But the ultimate authority for enacting laws rests with the General Assembly, and the responsibility for suggesting and approving legislation rests with the governor. The General Assembly and the governor cannot and should not delegate their responsibility, even if a committee is composed of their own appointees. Consistent with this view, the bill that I support has been changed in some respects from the bill proposed by the governor's committee.

Elected Terms
For example, I believe, as a matter of guiding principle, that it is improper to legislate elected officials out of office. The report of Governor Carvel's committee would have done just that to certain elected officials of New Castle County. Now I could not support such legislation, and the administration bill preserves the office of such officials, as consistent as possible with the new system of government until the expiration of their terms.

But the substantive reforms recommended by Governor Carvel's committee are preserved. I supported three principles in particular during the campaign, and all three are contained in this bill. First, this bill creates an executive council type government to replace the plural executive-legislative concept of the present levy court system. Second, this bill regroups county agencies by function.

Third, this bill requires the government of New Castle County to have a merit system for county employees along specific guideline. Consistent with the general principles of home rule, it leaves the details of such a system of personnel administration up to the representatives of the residents of the county. The bill leaves the present merit system, as adopted by the levy court last year, in effect until further legislative action is taken by the county council.

Tax Points
There are many important changes in the law contained in this bill which runs one hundred and four pages. I will not attempt to summarize all its provisions. There are, in addition to the areas touched upon by Governor Carvel's committee, vital forward steps in the field of taxation, including the elimination of the custom that the General Assembly should fix a maximum tax rate and recognition of the double taxation that has hampered development of incorporated areas.

There has been some indication that the provision of the bill empowering the executive to name special and emergency policemen may not be entirely satisfactory. The Citizens Crime Commission of this state expressed an objection in its annual report and law enforcement officers have called the section to my attention. It is for you to determine if it should be changed.

While these substantive changes are complex and may cause some disagreement, I anticipate no major objection to them that cannot be overcome by minor amendment.

The only loud objection that has been raised has been political. This bill creates six county council districts by serially combining the twelve senatorial districts that now exist in New Castle County. It gives every voter in New Castle County the right to vote for the president of the county council since he is elected at large.

GOP Criticism

I have read in the paper where certain Republicans have indicated that the district provisions favor the Democrats.

In a recent letter to one of those Republican leaders, I commented:

"It would be ideal, as I have said on numerous occasions, if we could carve out six districts in New Castle County in which neither party would have any undue advantage and in which the best and most able candidate would, all other things being equal, emerge victorious.

"Unfortunately, the residential patterns that exist in our northernmost and most populous county, precludes such a possibility. It is inevitable that one party or the other is going to have some slight political advantage. I cannot conceive of the possibility of a General Assembly so heavily dominated by Democrats as is the 123rd, enacting a law which would give partisan political advantage to the Republican Party.

The basic question in any event is not which party gets the advantage. The basic question is the reasonableness of these districts. Democrats outnumber Republicans by registration, not only in the City of Wilmington, but in outer New Castle County as well. It is said that these six districts will normally produce four Democratic districts and two Republican districts. Under the circumstances, given the composition of the General Assembly and the current registration figures in New Castle County, I feel that the districts are patently fair. Even if the speculation as to election outcome proves correct, bipartisanship on the council will be assured.

District Lines

Furthermore, it should be remembered that the governor's committee made its report before the redistricting of the General Assembly. It is obviously easier to administrate a county council district election if the established political boundaries are recognized. It also makes more sense to follow established lines as a matter of intelligent communication to the voter. Finally, it should be remembered that the districts established will never satisfy everyone and, since the legislation requires redistricting every ten years, the political dispute and machinery for resolving it is to some extent built into the system.

In view of all the speculation about election outcomes, there is another point that should be stressed. I do not believe that any positive statement can be made in advance concerning the outcome of any election. We live in an era where both houses of the Maine legislature are Democratic, where Vermont has a Democratic governor, and where South Carolina and Georgia were carried by the Republican presidential nominee. In Delaware, you can see more voter independence in every general election. Let us trust the people to exercise their franchise with sound judgment and high principle.

The legislation being introduced today does the job that needs to be done. It gives New Castle County a system of government that can supply the services needed and demanded by the residents of New Castle County. Everyone interested in the legislation will have an opportunity to study it between today and the date of the legislature's return to Dover. I urge each of you to consider it carefully and to enact this legislation as promptly as possible upon your return. If you do, you will once again demonstrate your intention to keep faith with the people.

Easter Seal Campaign Raises $41,500 So Far

The current Easter Seal campaign has raised $41,500 so far, and is running approximately five per cent ahead of returns at the same points last year, according to state chairman Lewis H. Talley, Sr.

Contributions to the annual appeal to the Delaware Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which will run through Easter Week, have raised $38,700 in New Castle County and $2,800 to date in Kent. No reports have yet been received from the Sussex area.

The statewide goal of $75,000 is needed, Talley pointed out to continue direct services to the handicapped, including expanded operations at the Delmarva Rehabilitation Center, Georgetown, and Fairlee Manor summer camp. The chairman expressed "full confidence that we will reach our goal; right now, we need to hear from those persons who have contacted either by mail or by door-to-door volunteers but who have delayed sending their gifts."

At this same time last year, the campaign had raised $29,000 Talley said. All returns so far are from partial reports. New Castle County has a $55,000 goal while Kent County is aiming for $8,000.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

The Veterans Administration's Guardianship program now serves more than half million beneficiaries and protects income amounting to more than $275 million annually throughout the country. Leon Fields, manager of the VA Regional Office, Wilmington, said. The estates of veterans and their dependents thus protected are valued at approximately one billion dollars.

In the State of Delaware, Mr.

Fields said, the Wilmington office serves approximately 1092 beneficiaries, involving $1,400,000.

Roughly four-fifths of the 547,000 beneficiaries of the Guardianship program in the nation are the children of deceased veterans, Mr. Fields explained. The others are veterans or adult dependents of veterans who are incapable of managing their own financial affairs.

Chief attorney in 64 VA Regional Offices throughout the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Philippines, administer the program. They participate in some 70,000 guardianship proceedings in local courts each year and conduct approximately 100,000 personal interviews with the beneficiaries in their homes.

Mr. Fields said the Chief Attorney in the Wilmington VA Regional Office provides benefit entitlement information, advice, counsel, and any liaison with local agencies that may be needed.

The VA Guardianship Service is responsible for making sure that the beneficiaries receive the maximum benefit from the amounts paid to them. Funds received are invested or deposited in the communities where the beneficiaries live, to be used as the present and future needs of the beneficiaries may require.

Fence Talk

With George Yapa

Happy birthday, John Turner! A few of his many friends jammed the Asbury Church near Georgetown last Tuesday to celebrate his quarter century of managing our University Substation Farm. He will retire on July 1 and we wish him many years of pleasant retirement.

Dr. Morris Cover, our director or research, presented a framed certificate which summarized John's long service. Fran Shoffner our Sussex Home Economist, assembled and presented a thick volume of testimonial letters. Frank Gordy, our substation director, presented a wallet with a surprise cash gift provided by John's many friends.

The quality most often mentioned and deserved in testimonials was John's unfailing kindness and interest with people. A research farm has many projects and many project leaders with unusual demands at or near the same time. John's tact has already become legendary.

Our water supplies are the most abundant, the least appreciated, and the most abused of our natural resources, according to Robert Rider, of Bridgeville. He is chairman of the agricultural committee of the Delaware Bankers Association. He was talking to the Water Management Forum at the University of Delaware last week.

We were told by R. D. Varrin, a state geologist, that we have plentiful supplies of water at the moment. We use only a fifth of the rainfall. But at some seasons, supplies tend to be critical. He suggested more storages in high flow periods — ponds and the like.

It does seem likely that we will soon face a need to allocate water supplies more closely. The Delaware River Basin Compact with our neighboring states has made a start. We can hope too that new methods will be developed to conserve our water reserves. More people, new industry, increasing pressures for food will strain our supplies.

Visiting farm groups are always welcome in Kent County. We've just had two busloads, 83 people, from Cortland County, N. Y. They were dairymen, who each year take a four-day trip with their county agent, Ira Blixt.

Dr. William Crosswhite and Dr. William Hesselstine showed them our linear programming work on the Woodrow Haas dairy farm located west of Wyoming. Major Pederson and Sgt. Adney guided them thru a C-124 aircraft and the air freight terminal at the air base. Our Capital Grange folks served a Del-marvalous chicken dinner. Frank Gordy, Bill Henderson and Ray Lloyd of our Sussex County substation staff, pointed up the importance of broilers in Delaware. Dr. John Hammond, Bill Stevens and Bob Rider took them thru the Newton Company automated feed mill and around the extensive farm operations. Lack of time prevented a visit to our Delaware State Museum.

Our Delaware dairymen will spend three days on farms in Connecticut in the middle of August. Bill Hesselstine has just sent out the first draft of the schedule which includes a stop at the World's Fair on the return trip. More on this later.

Liquid fertilizers give about the same results as dry fertilizers, agronomists explain. The form of the fertilizer which supplies the nutrient makes little difference to the plant.

A gallon of liquid fertilizer weighs approximately 10 pounds. I takes about 10 gallons of a liquid fertilizer to equal 100 pounds of dry fertilizer providing both materials are the same analysis. For instance, 10 gallons of 10-10-10 liquid fertilizer equals about 100 pounds of 10-10-10 dry fertilizer. This means that both the 10 gallons of the 10-10-10 liquid and the 100 pounds of the 10-10-10 dry fertilizer supply 10 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphate and 10 pounds of potash.

To realize equal crop response from liquid and dry materials, apply both forms of fertilizer in the same manner. If the dry material is to be plowed down, so should the liquid. If the dry fertilizer is to be drilled at seeding, so should the liquid be drilled at seeding time. Therefore liquid fertilizers give about the same results in crop production as do dry fertilizers if the materials are applied at equal rates and are properly placed in the soil.

Some 1500 farm families have been helped with operating credit in Delaware by the Farmers Home Administration since the 1930's. Losses have been very low, less than 1%, because it is carefully supervised credit. This is in spite of the fact that it is available only to those who cannot obtain credit from other lenders.

I met last week with the state advisory committee as they reviewed their activities. Ed Holter, Jim Bryan, Howard Bailey, all from the state office, as well as Paul Bickford, our county supervisor described the different programs. These include farm housing loans, senior citizen rural housing, soil and water conservation, forestry, disaster and emergencies, cooperatives, and most recently, new economic opportunity loans.

The FHA is a government agency which was created during the depression years to help people develop their limited resources on the farm. The help is still confined to the rural family unit. The key words are low income — family farm — supervised credit. The goal is to build a sense of responsibility to our economy rather than a liability. The record shows considerable success.

We were told that the average FHA borrower "graduates" to other credit sources in about 12 years.

Must detergents add to our water pollution problem? The answer is no. A change-over to new detergents is scheduled to be completed by June 30, 1965.

What are these new "soft" detergents? A detergent is called soft (biodegradable) if it breaks down rapidly under conditions found in treating sewage. The action of bacteria cause the decomposition of the surface active agent (surfactant) in detergent. The difference between surfactants is largely a matter of speed of degradation since even the "hard" detergents degrade in time. Conditions found in sewage treatment plants or septic tanks also influence the speed of break down.

What does the change involve? The change-over to new detergents involves a chemical change in the hydrocarbon part of the surface active agent molecule. These new detergents will be marketed under familiar brand names. Manufacturers report that the improved products will perform as well or even better than those now in use.

How much of the water pollution problem will be solved by changing to "soft" detergents? A panelist at the annual Agricultural Outlook Conference said, "The best estimates show that only 10% or less of organic pollutants coming from sewage plants are surfactants. The remaining 90% are potentially much more dangerous to health. The change will eliminate excessive foaming which has caused some problems. It may be that elimination of foam will actually be undesirable since without the foam there may be a tendency to forget the 90% of the pollutants that can't be seen. Sewage disposal facilities often have not kept up with a rapidly increasing population. Conditions in some septic tanks may be even worse."

Do you know that — Distinguished world experts on the arts, sciences, industry, communications, world events, and family living have proclaimed detergents a "symbol of culture". A package of household detergent has been included among significant items encased in the Time Capsule which the Westinghouse Electric Corporation scheduled for burial at the New York World's Fair. When archeologists dig up the "curiosities" 5,000 years hence, future homemakers may say: "Weren't women lucky in the good old days!"

Mixing chlorine bleach with other household cleaning agents can be dangerous. It is never wise to mix household cleaning products unless label directions indicate that it is safe to do so. Because of familiarity with chlorine bleach as a laundry aid, many homemakers overlook the caution statements on the label. They know that the mixture of chlorine bleach with laundry detergents or soaps is not a health hazard.

But some products used in the home are sufficiently acid to cause the formation of chlorine gas. For example, most toilet bowl cleaners and some rust removers contain strong acids. These products should never be mixed with chlorine bleach because of the possibility that even pleasantly irritating or even dangerous amounts of chlorine gas could be released.

Never mix chlorine bleach with household ammonia. Such a mixture usually produces chlorine fumes. Exposure to these fumes can be unpleasant, causing watering of the eyes, irritation of the nose and throat, and nausea.

Like any other household chemical, chlorine bleach should be used only according to directions.

4-Hers Named Delegates to National Conf.

Five Delaware 4-H Club members have been named delegates to the National 4-H Conference April 25 through 30 in Washington, according to James O. Baker, state 4-H leader.

Chosen to represent Delaware at the national event are Joyce M. Hayes of Greenwood, Roberta J. Hopkins of Newark, Lea M. Tammi, of Newark, John C. Dickerson, of Laurel, and Thomas C. Parvis, of Houston.

The five were selected on the basis of their 4-H activities, leadership abilities, citizenship and community service, Baker said. Purposes of the conference are to help the delegates learn more about important national issues and problems facing America and to help increase their understanding of democratic values and citizenship responsibilities.

Washington, D. C., is an effective environment to study the conference theme, "Our Heritage—Foundation for the Future", Baker explained. Joyce Hayes, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hayes, has been active in 4-H work for eight years. She was a state winner in the 4-H dress revue and in clothing and dairy foods projects, and she placed second in the state Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contest. She attended the 4-H citizenship conference in Washington, D. C., recently and, is a senior at William C. Jason High School, Georgetown.

Roberta Hopkins, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hopkins, has been active in 4-H Club work for seven years. She attended the National 4-H Club Congress twice, in 1962 for her entomology project and in 1964 for achievement. She was president of the Forest Oak 4-H Club for two years and attended the citizenship conference in Washington, D. C., in 1964. She is a senior at Newark Senior High School.

Lea Mary Ellen Tammi, 18, daughter of Leo Tammi, has been active in 4-H club work for nine years. She attended the National 4-H Club Congress twice, in 1963 and 1964. She won the state award for poultry from the 4-H Delaware Poultry Improvement Association and was the top individual egg judge in 1962 at the North East Poultry Producer's Council Exposition. She participated in the National Egg Cooking Contest in 1963. She has won community awards for academic achievement, for public speaking, and for a project in the 1961 State Science Fair. She is a freshman at the University of Delaware.

John C. Dickerson, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Dickerson, has been active in 4-H Club work for seven years. He has served as president of the Laurel Progressive 4-H Club, and has been an officer in the Future Farmers of America. He was in charge of the conference on "Smoking and You" in Seaford. He is a senior at Laurel Senior High School.

Thomas Parvis, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Parvis, has been active in 4-H Club work for eight years. He won county medals in gardens, in health and safety, and a scholarship in vegetable judging. He attended the National 4-H Club Congress in 1962 and is a senior at Milford High School.

Delaware Food Market Report

Holiday food shoppers will find ample supplies of most meats for the festive meals. In many homes, ham is the traditional meat for Easter dinner. If this happens to be the meat of your choice, you will find enough but they are not as plentiful as a year ago. Prices, however, are about at the same level as last year. Turkeys and broilers are abundant and quality is excellent. These two meats are ideal for both Easter and Passover meals. Beef supplies continue plentiful so you may be considering a standing rib roast for the holiday.

Fishing operations are on the upswing now and receipts of fish at local markets are increasing and will reach a peak in early summer. Shellfish supplies also increase sharply during April and May. The fish to check this weekend are flounder, cod, haddock, porgies, shad, sea bass, halibut, and whiting. Scallops, clams, and crabs are important shellfish items during spring.

Eggs are abundant and prices remain relatively low. This exceptionally is good news since both major spring holidays, Easter and Passover, call for generous quantities of eggs for preparing many delicious meals as well as for the Easter bunny.

If you are getting ready for dyeing, then size and shell color is important. After Easter morning it's important to know what to do with so many hard cooked eggs. Be sure you use only dyes that are certified by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration for then it's safe to eat these eggs. Refrigerate as soon as possible and use within 3 or 4 days. There are many excellent dishes that can be made from hard cooked eggs, for instance, Spanish deviled eggs, egg and ham casseroles, etc.

Fresh vegetable receipts are beginning to pick up as spring comes closer by. Such items as dandelion greens from New Jersey, asparagus from California, spinach and kale from Virginia, plus celery, broccoli, beets, carrots, and eggplant are all good buys this weekend.

You will continue to find plenty of citrus fruit at all local markets. Cantaloupes, watermelons, a few peaches and some plums are available but prices are high. The better buys are found among apples, honeydew melons, strawberries, and rhubarb.

"Hush! Hush! Sweet Charlotte" at Reese, Apr. 16-17-18-19

Giant Easter Variety Show—Hush! Hush! Sweet Charlotte, The years will soon erase, A lover's lies, his pleading eyes, The fear upon his face.

Betty Davis, Alivia De Havilland and Josep Cotten in the most exciting-talked about show of this year or any other year—tops the Giant Easter Variety program listed to play at the Reese, this Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 16, 17, 18, 19.

Winners of 7 academy nominations, "Hush . . . Hush . . . Sweet Charlotte," all critics agree is the ultimate in thrills, suspense, and exciting entertainment. Coupled with a Giant Easter K-Toon Circus, including Tom & Jerry, Popeye, and Woody Woodpecker, plus the special presentation of "Keep America Singing," makes this one of the most important holiday shows of the season.

It's big news in anybody's language. The circus is coming to town. Mom and Dad-Sister and Brother too—all agog, with the announcement that Samuel Bronstein's "Circus World," is coming to the Reese, Fri., Sat., Sun., Mon., April 23, 24, 25, 26. John Wayne as the two-fisted boss of a three ringed traveling wild west show-ringing, loving, brawling his way around the world. The beautiful Rita Hayworth, Lloyd Nolan, Richard Conte, and Claudia Cardinale in the supporting cast makes this another "must see" hit in the coming parade of great entertainment.

2 U. of D. Seniors Awarded Scholarships

Vernon Charles Manuel, Jr. and Jan Albert Konings, seniors at the University of Delaware, were presented National Food Brokers Association Scholarship awards for 1965 at the eighth annual Delaware Conference on Food Distribution, April 4 to 6, at the University of Delaware.

The association established the scholarship awards in 1957. Eighty-five have been given to students at 15 universities; eight of these students have been from the University of Delaware. Charles Neugebauer, vice president of Hearn Brothers, Wilmington, and chairman of the University of Delaware Food Trade Advisory Committee, presented the awards.

Manuel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Manuel, 286 Richard Bassett Rd., Dover. Vernon, specializing in food distribution in the School of Agriculture, plans to study for his master's degree at the University. He has been on the dean's list for the past three semesters and is serving as president of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a 1960 graduate of Caesar Rodney High School, Camden.

Jan Konings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Talg Konings of Zeist, Holland. He attended high school and Groningen Agricultural College in Holland and came to Delaware in January, 1964, to obtain his degree in agricultural economics, specializing in food distribution. In December, he was one of the students chosen to attend the Delaware Chamber of Commerce College-Business Symposium.

Awards for the Delaware Food Distributor of the Year, National Food Distribution Research Scholar of the Year, and the National Food Distribution Educator of the Year were also presented by Neugebauer.

Joseph Breen, vice president of Huber Baking Co., Wilmington, was named the Delaware Food Distributor of the Year. Breen is a graduate of Temple School of Commerce, serves on the University of Delaware Food Trade Advisory Board, and is active in Wilmington community activities.

David Gardener of the Food Warehousing Committee was posthumously named the National Food Distribution Research Scholar of the Year.

Don Parsons, retired director of Super Market Institute, was named the National Food Distribution Educator of the Year. Parsons is now a special advisor for food distribution students and advisor to the staff on self-improvement in teaching at the University of Delaware. A message from Watson Rogers, president of the National Food Broker's Association was read by Robert Voight, vice president. "Don Parsons, after his retirement, has made his talents and experience available to further educational and training programs. He continues to serve the food industry from academic halls."

"Fresh Opportunities for Profits through People" was the theme of the Food Distribution Conference. Service for success was emphasized.

Dwane Orton, chairman of the "Think" editorial board, International Business Machines, summarized, "Our knowledge of methods within business has changed drastically and will continue to change, but our fundamental concept must stay the same — service to people." He pointed out that the economic front is the focal point of the struggle between communism and capitalism. That front turns on service to individuals.

Success in the store depends on the shopper—whether she buys, or passes by. The last three feet between the self and the cart are the most important in the store because the supermarket has no personal sales people to sell goods. The shopper is on her own, said Eugene Yates, director of research at the Point-of-Purchase Advertising Institute. What is sold depends on the customer's list, on the goods visible, and often on the special advertising within the store, he said. Impulse buying is responsible for 51 per cent of supermarket purchases, the customer's list for only 31 per cent.

Yates reminded the delegates that the success of a supermarket depends on creating an image of their store that will make the shopper want to come—and come again. The store should be interesting, exciting, and appealing—in quality, prices and ideas. As Dr. Theodore Leeds, professor of food marketing at the University of Massachusetts, said, "Creating the right store image is important, but equally important is how the store lives up to its image."

Talk to your customers; make their visits pleasant for your benefit as well as theirs, stressed Michael O'Connor, executive director of Super Market Institute. However, he reminded food distributors, your employees cannot sell for you if they are not sold. The store image depends to a great extent on the employees.

Set standards for your employees, recommended Gordon R. Parkinson, manager of the operational planning department for Trans-World Airlines. Men tend to live up or down to the reputations we establish for them, he said. He advised persistent employee training as the key to excellence and to the maintenance of public trust.

Dogs Running At Large

In order to clear up unfounded rumors in the state concerning the policy of the dog control division of the Delaware Game and Fish Commission concerning dogs running at large, Chief Warden James C. White has issued the following statement.

First, let's read the law: "No dog shall be permitted to run at large anywhere in the state between the first day of March and the first day of October, next following, in each year, unless accompanied by the owner or custodian and under his immediate control.

(b) The owner or custodian of every dog shall, at all times, between the hours of sunset and sunrise of each day, keep such dog either (1) confined within an enclosure from which it cannot escape, or (2) firmly secure by means of a collar or chain or other device so that it cannot stray from the premises on which it is secured, or (3) under the reasonable control of some person or when engaged in lawful hunting accompanied by the owner or custodian (c) Whoever, being the owner, custodian, possessor or harbinger of any female dog, allows such dog to run or remain at large in this State while in heat, shall be fined not more than $10.00.

(d) In New Castle County, no dog shall be permitted to run at large in any district or zone classified residential in whole or in part or in any residential area, locality or development, within any district or zone, unless such dog is accompanied by the owner or custodian and under his reasonable control."

This is policy of our dog control division.

(1) Dogs are never picked up from the owner's property unless (a) A dog has bitten someone and must be confined for observation.

(b) The owner of the dog requests that the enforcement officer pick it up

(2) When a dog is picked up—in 95 per cent of the cases, wardens pick up dogs because a neighbor has formally filed a complaint

(a) The owner of the dog is contacted if the dog has a license tag attached to its collar and we are able to determine the owner from the license number.

(b) When the owner cannot be contacted the dog is held in the state pound for three days.

(3) A warden has to see a dog at large, or the complainant must sign a warrant before an arrest is made.

All dog owners who have been served a summons for a dog running at large are given time to pay their fine and reclaim the dog. In many instances SPCA members find homes for the unclaimed dogs. Game and Fish Hearing April 30.

On Friday, April 30, at 8:00 p. m. the annual fish and game hearing will be held in the Capitol Grange Hall, S. Governor's Avenue, Dover.

The purpose of these hearings is for sportsmen to discuss with the Commission proposed changes in hunting and fishing regulations.

Of major interest will be regulations that determine seasons for quail, pheasant, rabbit, squirrel, dove and waterfowl.

Waiting List Established at Wesley College

A waiting list for all entering resident freshmen students has been established at Wesley College, announced Joseph R. Slights, Jr., director of admissions at the college. Beginning of a waiting list for women students was announced by Mr. Slights on March 5. Applicants for enrollment at Wesley College for the term beginning in September 1965 have exceeded last year's by better than 30 per cent, according to Mr. Slights. He added, "The number of freshmen resident spaces available each year, for both men and women, depends upon the number of returning sophomores requiring room space." There are remaining, only a limited number of openings for non-resident men or women students.

More Efficient Use Of Water Seen As Answer To Rainfall Shortages

With 97 per cent of the water on earth contained in the oceans, and two per cent in ice caps and glaciers, precipitation remains the main source of water for human needs, a soil physicist told participants at the annual Delaware Bankers' Agricultural Forum Wednesday afternoon at the University of Delaware.

Dr. William A. Raney, chief soil physicist in the Soil and Water Conservation Research Division, Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, said that while a few experiments in weather control have shown some success, the real answer to water shortages is better and more efficient use of the naturally available supply.

In a panel discussion that followed, Robert D. Varrin, hydrologist and assistant research professor of geology at the University, told bankers that while Delaware's total supply of water is adequate at present, the distribution of water in the state is often poor. This has been the case during the growing seasons in the past three years, when precipitation was unusually low in the summer.

L. C. Raniere, meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau Agricultural Service at Rutgers University, said that when forecasts are 100 per cent accurate and when improved methods can be used to get forecasts to the public more quickly, the farmer will be better able to adjust his schedule to the weather. According to Raney, these improvements in forecasting will enable the farmer to adapt his management methods to the weather and eliminate the desirability of trying to change the weather.

At present, irrigation is the chief method of adjusting the amount of moisture on certain farm crops, but irrigation can be an expensive proposition and will not prove economical nor practical in many situations. Costs of irrigating can range from about $80 to more than $250 an acre, according to E. N. Scarborough, agricultural engineer at the University. Therefore, the farmer must very carefully determine whether this expense would be a practical solution in his own situation.

A farmer who is not farming efficiently without irrigation will not find irrigation the solution to his problems, according to Edward H. Ralph, associate agricultural agent in Sussex County. He said a farmer should not consider irrigation unless he already has an efficient weed and disease control program, an accurate record keeping system and is following recommendations indicated in soil test results. If he is not doing these things, Ralph said, irrigation will not make him any more efficient. Ralph also pointed out that when irrigation equipment is used, irrigating should start early in the season, and it should be used particularly during the critical growing periods of various crops. Extensive research is under way at the University of Delaware to discover materials that will enable plants to retain enough moisture to thrive through periods of dry weather. Several materials and methods are being tested, and, according to Dr. Donald J. Fieldhouse, research horticulturist, some of these materials may be perfected for general use within the next few years.

The Delaware Bankers' Agricultural forum is sponsored annually by the Delaware Bankers' Association in cooperation with the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware. More than 200 attended this year's luncheon and program.

Consumer Forums To Feature Programs on Drugs

Invitations to the fifth annual Consumer Forums have been sent to more than 550 representatives of civic and service clubs in Delaware, according to Miss Janet Reed, extension textiles and clothing specialist at the University of Delaware and chairman of Consumer Forums.

With "Drugs and the Consumer" the theme for this year's programs, Consumer Forum will be held Wed., April 21, in Wilmington and Thurs., April 22, in Dover.

Howard L. Binkley, director of economic research for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association, will speak at both sessions. In addition, Irwin B. Berch, district director of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, will speak at the Wilmington forum, and Joseph X. Phillips, a Food and Drug Administration inspector, will speak in Dover.

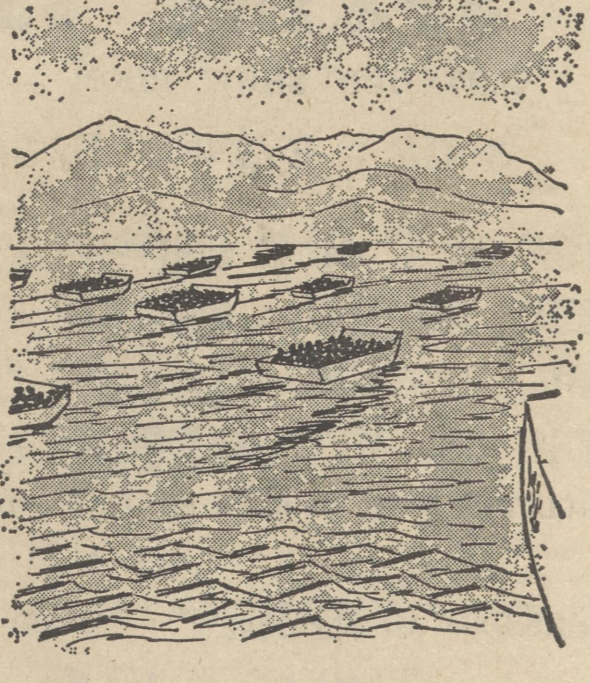

Objectives of this year's Consumer Forums, Miss Reed said, are to help consumers understand the contribution of industry to health and progress, the place of regulation and control in the pharmaceutical industry and the place of the consumer in the use of prescription drugs. Civic and service clubs throughout the state have each been invited to send two representatives to Consumer Forum. Representatives north of Dover will attend the Wilmington forum in the Gold Ballroom of Hotel DuPont, and those south of Dover have been invited to the session at the Treadway Inn, Dover. Each of the forums will begin with a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Consumer Forums are sponsored annually by the home economics extension staff of the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Delaware.

Lion Trackmen Best Lewes For 7th Straight

Coach Harold McDonald's Harrington High track team had no trouble with Lewes, as the locals rolled over the visiting Diamond State Conference Pirates by a score of 93-25 on Thursday afternoon.

Harrington was undefeated in 1964. The Lions finished first in 6 outings but defeated 17 teams in the process including 9 Henlopen foes in the conference championship meet.

Lewes won only the javelin outright, but managed a tie in the 220 yard dash. Harrington won 12 of 14 events.

Frank White and Bob Smith were double winners for the Lions but the most outstanding performance of the day was turned in by Glenn Smith, who jumped 5 feet 7 inches in the high jump. He cleared the bar by two or three inches and should break George Pfeiffer's school record of 5 feet 9 inches before long. This was a mighty good effort for the first outing of 1965.

White was hampered by a sore leg and did not approach his best times in winning the 100 and tying Walls of Lewes for first in the 220.

However, in the 880 relay the little speedster showed the crowd a thing or two. On the anchor leg he trailed Walls by three yards, but suddenly appeared to shift into another gear as he quickly caught the surprised Walls and then held on to give H.H.S. a one-foot victory.

Smith was not pressed as he ran a good 440 and a fair 880 to capture each event. He later ran the anchor leg on the winning mile relay four.

Henlopen Conference discus champion Richard Black is the real surprise of the early going. He also plays baseball and told the writer that he is practicing the diamond sport six days a week, plus every physical education class. This leaves no time for track. Yet, he exceeded his championship loss of last year by four feet in the discus and ran the fastest stints on the winning 880 and mile relay units. The tall senior displayed a beautiful, fluid stride as he picked up a lot of yardage in the shorter race to set the stage for White's dramatics.

Determined Gerry Garey, ran the last mile alone as he set a school record of 11:32.6 in the two mile run to eclipse the mark set by Wayne Carson at the University of Delaware last May. Garey worked out with former Harrington High and West Chester State College great, Dwight Hackett, on Sunday afternoon and with the big guy's help and tips clocked a 11:27. Garey should break 11 minutes in the near future.

Charles Tribbitt, a senior, is doing well in the shotput. In his first try at throwing the 12 pound ball, Tribbitt won the test with a toss of 38 feet 7 inches. Considering his inexperience, it is possible that with practice he may eclipse Joe Taylor's fine school standard of 44 7/16 set last spring.

Artie Taylor has a big pair of shoes to fill also in the broad jump. Randy Knox, a 20 foot jumper, is now on the freshman team at the University of Delaware. Artie passed for his first test with flying colors as he leaped 18 ft. 1 in. to win against Lewes.

Frank Cain and Dennis Rogers won the pole vault and mile run with 9 feet 3 inches and 5:11 respectively.

Bruce Layton, a most welcome addition to the squad, was third in the shot put, second in the javelin and gained ground on his leg of the 880 relay. If the previous standard of five points scored wins a varsity "H" still holds, Layton's got his already.

Larry Garey and Henry Minner really moved in the last 220 yards of the 440 yard run to capture second and third places behind teammate Bob Smith. Larry was second in the pole vault and ran on the mile relay quartet to amass 7 1/4 points. Henry, took third in the high jump to complete a Lion, 1, 2, 3 sweep.

Raleigh Davis placed second to White in the 100, third to the dead heat in the 220 and led off in the 880 relay race.

Second place winners were Harry Bitler (shot put), Danny Hicks (broad jump), and Marshall Hatfield (two mile). Hatfield, despite a bad leg lowered his personal best effort to 12:04. Since he has done 12:07 for 2.4 miles in cross-country it is evident that when he returns to top form he may get under 11 minutes too.

Green Devils Win Baseball Opener, 11-6

Felton High's 1964 Henlopen Conference second-place nine won its 1965 debut by rallying for five runs in the last inning to break a 6-6 tie and down John M. Clayton 11-6 at Dagsboro.

The Green Devils went with their No. 2 hurler, Jim Blades, in order that the No. 1 flinger, Bill Dill, would be ready for Harrington April 15.

Blades was tagged for 10 hits, while the Devils were getting eight off the offerings of Burnley Wilder, a transfer from Wilcoomico High, of Salisbury, Md.

Felton jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the second inning but the Bears picked up three in their half of the same inning and eventually knotted the score at 6-6 in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Bob Dill and Phil Clark had two hits each for the winners, while Wilder had a perfect day at the plate with three hits in as many at bats for the losers.

Army Offers Combat Arms Travel Option

New young men can stop dreaming about those far-away places, and start seeing some of them. Under the Combat Arms Travel option of the Army's "Choice Not Chance," enlistment program, they may choose the overseas area they wish to serve in... and have it confirmed before they enlist.

But before a man starts packing his bag for Europe or the Far East, he should stop and evaluate himself. Can he convince his Army recruiter that he is an "action guy" capable of doing the man-sized job ahead?

As a combat soldier, he's the "teeth and claws" of the Army—an Army that has only one purpose: to protect and defend the United States of America; to fight the land war and win it. There's no battle... no victory... and no lasting peace without him. Because only a combat soldier can take and hold enemy territory. Ships can't occupy a ridge line. Planes can't dig enemy guerrillas out of a cave. Missiles can't capture and hold a city. But he can, if the job needs doing. Because with all our advance in military science and technology, man is still the ultimate weapon.

Sound rough? It's no picnic. That's why it takes a man—a big man—to carve a career out of the blue steel of combat soldiering.

Know such a man? Then suggest he select the Combat Arm best suited to him—Infantry, Armor or Artillery—and his choice of Europe or the Far East as a travel option; qualify through testing and know his choice is guaranteed—all before he enlists. See your local Army recruiter for details of this and other "Choice Not Chance," enlistment options. Call Msgr. Walter R. Frazier, 218 S. Governor's Ave., Dover, Del., phones 736-6937 or 674-1360.

2-HOUR FIRE

"They kept spraying water on it but nothing helped." Favinger commented, "those firemen didn't stand a chance of stopping that blaze. Not with that wind." The fire marshal described the fire as "one of the fastest moving ones I've ever seen."

While hoses were turned on some remaining hot spots, including two flaming fuel tanks, Favinger began taking photographs of the ashes that were once chicken houses. Although his investigation is still in progress, he said a heater in one of the chicken houses may have caused the fire.

Additional aid for the Greenwood volunteers was summoned from both Kent and Sussex Counties: Farmington, Bridgeville, Ellendale, Harrington, Houston, Milford, and a 5,000 gallon water tanker from the Memorial Fire Company at Slaughter Beach.

H.H.S. Nine Opens Wild Coon Hunt At Felton, April 15 Tomorrow

Coach Frank Glazier's Harrington High baseball Lions open their season at Felton April 15. The Green Devils will be favored as they have most of last year's second-place team back, they have already played and won one game and they will be playing at home.

Coach Glazier will probably start Rennie French on the mound with Richard Black in reserve if needed. Steve Motter will be in back of the plate with Ellis Myer on first base.

Rusty Jack at second base and Sam Knox at shortstop form the keystone combination. Glenn Smith will be at the hot corner.

Outfielders are Mike Wamsley in left, Dean Manges in center and Bob Rouse in right. Other on the squad are Chuck McNally, Tom Simpler, Lonnie Wirick, Bob Matthews and Marshall Hatfield.

On Monday, April 19th the Delmar Wildcats will be at Harrington in the home opener.

Little League Baseball News

In 1962 James O'Neal, who had managed the traveling Little League, organized a sanctioned Little League composed of four teams. This league gave 60 boys aged 9 through 13 a chance to play organized ball during the summer months. The Moose Lodge offered the use of its diamond, so—with the help of several interested persons, various clubs and organizations the League had a very successful first year of organized baseball.

At this same time the League also sponsored a Minor League, boys aged 8 and boys who were older, yet needed some baseball playing experience and knowledge of the game before going on to Little League.

In the spring of 1963, President James O'Neal initiated a second unit to the League; Senior League, which included boys aged 13 through 15. This league added an additional 60 boys to our Little League Baseball program.

The League members then voted to enter both a Little and a Sr. League team in tournament play. This was an incentive for each boy to try to make the tournament team.

To keep this youth program operating it requires a considerable amount of time and money. The time comes from interested parents and men who manage and coach the teams and our League Officers. Then there is always the question as to how to finance such a program. Again our organizations, clubs and interested persons are responsible for a greater part of our financial aid. The League has sponsored teenage dances, rummage sales and this spring, sponsored a bake. The Little League boys also conduct an annual tag day. This is all done to raise money with which to operate the league and meet expenses.

Why do we need so much financial aid? Each year the League Charter from National Headquarters costs $50.00, League insurance is mandatory which is $205 per season, baseball equipment annually costs approximately $450. The League is also responsible for the light bill which cost $186.90 last year.

What can you as a parent do to help continue this program for the boys of our community? If you have a boy aged 13 through 15 give him $2 for his insurance fee plus a photostatic copy of his birth certificate and send him out to the school Saturday at 1 p.m. to register and enter the tryouts for the Senior League team. Then—when the season opens in May, come out to the Moose Lodge and watch your Little League play baseball under the lights.

Let us continue to remain "dedicated" and keep this baseball program "rolling" and help our boys of today develop into better citizens of tomorrow!

Special training programs were established by the telephone company.

At Milford a telephone company school trained the installers and repairmen on the use of special TV test equipment.

Another school was established in Talleyville, where 29 switchmen, repairmen and installers were trained in the latest techniques of lining-up and maintaining electronic equipment at each of the seven microwave towers.

"We trained eight telephone men at our Milford training school for FCC radio licenses—they are all now qualified for ETV work and maintenance," Short explained.

"Four of our men attended a telephone company school in Philadelphia where they studied "Studio-Video Transmission," he said.

Short explained that the ETV installation required four phases of operation.

The first was engineering and planning. The second was placing cable and construction of microwave towers, third was training our craftsmen in new techniques of splicing, testing, maintenance and repair. And the fourth is testing the system.

"The engineering and training phases are now completed and we are halfway through our construction phase which will be completed in July. Then the testing phase of the program begins."
