

City Studies Insurance Coverage of Employees

City employees will probably be covered by insurance which will be paid for, in whole or in part, by the City, it was revealed Tuesday night at the November meeting of the City Council.

The supposition the employees will be covered is based on the inclusion in the budget, for next year, of $2000 for the purpose.

Representatives of Aetna Insurance, represented by William H. Outten, and of Prudential Insurance, presented their cases Tuesday night. Council deferred acceptance, pending further study.

In general, the insurance would encompass life, disability, and hospitalization.

The City has eight employees eligible for the insurance. Two will reach 65 next July and will be taken off the list since they would be on Medicare.

In other business the Council acted as follows: Signed an ordinance granting Chesapeake Utilities the franchise to install and sell gas. Installation is to begin no later than June 1, 1966.

Agreed to provide equipment to produce a flow of 350 gallons of water per minute from the recently drilled third well. The additional cost would be $813.50. It was originally planned to produce 300 gallons per minute.

Agreed to install Christmas lighting.

Took no action on request to make one block, from Porter Street to Simpson Street, of an alley from one-way to two-way. Motion was made by Councilman Wilson Bradley but there was no second.

Agreed to permit Alderman Arthur Marsan collect delinquent taxes which had been in the hands of Magistrate Maurice W. Carrow, Camden, for collection. The time is getting late and City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann said he had been unable to get in touch with Magistrate Carrow.

Democrats Hear Industrial Building Commiss'n Official

Industries, whose financing was backed by state bonds, have payrolls approximately seven million dollars, Jack Daugherty, a member of the State Industrial Building Commission, told some 50 persons Tuesday night at a buffet of the Ninth District Democratic Club in Farmington Fire House President George "Buddy" Vincent presided.

Daugherty told how the commission was formed after the General Assembly had passed enabling legislation a few years ago. The assembly, he explained, agreed to a ten-million-dollar bond issue to back up the credit of industries desiring to locate in Delaware.

Continuing, he told of several industries locating here, thru the auspices of the building commission, and the activities of local development commissions, of which Harrington has one. These industries employ 2000 persons.

The impact carried the tanker 90 feet down the highway and into the opposite lane, according to New York State Police.

Koehler is survived by his widow, Mrs. Wilda Mae Bradley; three daughters, Mrs. Vivian Watkins, Harrington; Deborah Ann and Miss Jackye Koehler, at home; three sisters and a brother.

3 Killed In Road Crashes

Three men were killed and four persons injured in two separate weekend auto accidents, one a head-on collision.

Dead were 40-year-old twin brothers, James Theodore and John Joseph Loper, both of Viola. Also killed was Guadalupe Sanchez, 34, of Middletown.

The Loper twins were killed near Felton at 10:40 Saturday night when their car ran off Delaware 242 and struck a tree state police said.

The auto, which police said was being driven at a high speed by James Loper, was demolished by the impact. Loper apparently lost control, according to police.

Both brothers died of multiple fractures and internal injuries. They were pronounced dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital, Dover.

Guadalupe Sanchez, 34, of Middletown died after a head-on crash about 10:30 Saturday night on Delaware 896 north of Townsend.

Injured critically in the accident were Charla Dutton, 21, identified as driver of the other car, and her passenger Kenneth Woodall, 21, both of Milford. They were admitted to Wilmington General Hospital.

In Delaware Hospital were passengers of the car driven by Sanchez. They are: Santiago Cavajano, 34, Middletown, who was listed in fair condition with cuts and a broken leg, and Betty Butcher, 30, Townsend, who was listed in serious condition with cuts and internal injuries.

The collision occurred near Ginn's Corner when the Sanchez vehicle, northbound on Delaware 896, crossed the center line and hit the Dutton car head-on, according to state police.

Children Collect $119 for UNICEF

The 1965 UNICEF drive for funds to aid the needy children of the world was conducted by 103 children of the Harrington community last Wednesday afternoon. Under the joint sponsorship of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Asbury and Trinity Methodist Churches a total of $119.14 was collected.

As in the past, the children gathered at the Harrington New Century Club for registering, assignment to a car and driver, and then transportation to the assigned street for the door to door collecting. More than 20 different routes were assigned to the eager little ghosts and hob-goblins and their adult companions.

The task was completed in less than an hour and the groups returned to the club house for turning in their collections and enjoying the refreshments.

Mrs. Allen B. Parsons and Mrs. Frank O'Neal, Jr. have expressed their sincere thanks to their committee members and especially to the children who willingly gave of their time and energy to help these less fortunate than themselves.

The 103 children represented the churches of Asbury, Trinity, Nazarene, Holiness, St. Bernard's, St. Stephen's, Baptist, St. Paul, and a nearby country church. Through their efforts many needy children in the world, will receive necessary medicines, vitamins, serum and food. A job well done.

Farm Supply, Community Esso Servicenter, Pen-supreme, Aiken Fuel, Quillen's Clover Farm Store, Wm. H. Outten Insurance, and Harrington Fire Co.

Passing of the referendum would insure everyone in the City limits with access to sewers. Another element of the project would be the improvement and enlargement of the sewage disposal plant which, explained the city manager, is overloaded. Requests has been received for extension of mains to individual houses but it was deemed more economically practicable to include them in the overall improvement.

The improved sewer system would have lift stations to provide extensions for growth, explained the city manager.

In other business Tuesday night, the mayor said the next meeting, Tues., Nov. 16, would be devoted to a study of water meters, with the entire Council serving as a committee.

The mayor thought the city manager might arrange for a change in the water code which would stipulate that all new water taps have a meter box. This practice is being followed in Smyrna in preparation for the day when meters will be installed throughout the City.

The above-mentioned streets have been curbed. The Dixon Street project ends at Center Street.

Record Handle Here As Racing Season Ends

Kent and Sussex Raceway ended its 20th harness racing season Saturday with its first afternoon and evening program which increased total mutuel handle to a record $3,977,489.

This was an increase of $494,200 over last year's 36-night total of $3,483,289, amounting to 14.2 per cent. The previous season record of $3,927,581 was set in 1963.

Counting Saturday's double-header as one night, the average nightly handle was $99,437, an increase of $2,679 per night over 1964.

Total attendance for the year was 95,445 for an average of 2,386 per night. This was a decrease of 324 persons over last season's nightly average of 2,710, representing 12 per cent drop.

A record of $184,402 in taxes will go to the state. The total is made up of $178,986 in mutuel tax and $5,416 on admissions. This is $60,519 more than the 1964 total. Federal taxes paid amounted to $6,568.

William W. Shaw, director of racing, reported that total purses this year amounted to $231,900, also highest in the track's history. This represents 46.6 per cent of the track's share of the mutuel handle.

Bobby T. Ranch of Hempstead, N. Y., was the top stable, with total purses earned of $4,292. R. S. Floyd Jr. of Bridgetown, Va., was second with $4,170. Guy C. Lockerman of Middletown was third with $4,095.

Everett (Bobby) Hobbs of Harrington won the $100 award given the leading Universal Rating driver with a percentage of 491. In 45 starts he had 13 wins, 11 seconds and 9 thirds. Louis Floyd of Bridgetown won $50 for second with 355. Elton White of Pittsville, Md., finished third with 349.

JACOBS STORE IN THE EARLY DAYS — The first Jacobs Store, in Harrington, was at Commerce and Dorman Streets. Mr. Jacobs is seen in the picture. The Ford did not belong to him, but it does give us an idea of the year the picture was taken, probably about 1915.

RETIRING OF JACOBS STORE PROVIDES INSIGHTS OF PAST

Harrington's oldest firm, in the same family, went out of business Oct. 1, after 55 years.

The merchandising firm of Wilbur E. Jacobs was closed by his widow, Mrs. Georgia Jacobs, who had been operating the store on Dorman Street since Mr. Jacobs' death July 12, 1956.

Wilbur E. Jacobs first worked in the store of Arthur Hayes, at Anderstown, Md. Hayes, a Greenwood native, will be remembered as a member of Murphy & Hayes, prominent in many fields and especially in timber. The Hayes store still stands and is used as an antique shop.

Mr. Jacobs clerked in a Burrsville store, including the hardware store of Tilghman Harvey, and operated, also, his own general store there.

He came to Harrington and started his general store Jan. 1, 1910, on Commerce and Dorman Street. He constructed his late store nearby on Dorman Street in 1934. In 1950, his old store was occupied by Village Steak Shop and the grocery of J. Reynolds Kates. In recent years, the building was razed.

In his first store here, Jacobs bought or traded for as many as 100 crates of eggs weekly, with oftentimes half that number coming in on Saturday.

This part of the business fell off with the coming of hard roads and because poultrymen began blood-testing their flocks and selling their eggs to hatcheries. This was about the time the broiler business began to gain impetus.

City Eyes Sewer Referendum At the Jan. Municipal Election

The City is planning to hold a referendum on improvements to its sanitary sewer system, it was revealed Tuesday night at the regular November meeting of the City Council.

Mayor Luther P. Hatfield said it was planned to hold the referendum at the time of the municipal elections in January.

For some months, research had been made by Richardson Associates, the City's consulting engineers, on the project.

Passing of the referendum would insure everyone in the City limits with access to sewers. Another element of the project would be the improvement and enlargement of the sewage disposal plant which, explained the city manager, is overloaded. Requests has been received for extension of mains to individual houses but it was deemed more economically practicable to include them in the overall improvement.

The improved sewer system would have lift stations to provide extensions for growth, explained the city manager.

Under the leadership of Leon Porter and his sons, Duraclean also has offices in Dover and Easton, Md.

Road Work In Manor Nears End

The improvement of part of Dixon Street, and all of Gordon Street, in Harrington Manor, has been nearly completed by Paul Scotton Construction Company, Dover.

Two coats of chipped stone have been applied. Application of the third, and final coat depends on the weather. With a few warm days, it could be done this fall, said City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann; otherwise, it will have to be applied in the spring.

Who Has My German Album?

By W. C. Burgess

The former owner is depicted above. I do not know his name, excepting that he was a super, luper, lottin' German Army mailman!

How did I lose this album? I took it up to Dover and left it with a Jewish friend of mine. He showed me where he was born, a place near the German Russian border and told me his folks had been liquidated in Dachau. I left the album with him, and came back a few weeks later to get it. The gentleman had left his place of employment and had gone to Washington.

The man said, "Mr. Burgess, Here is your German album, which your friend told me to give to you." O. K., so I put it under the front seat, forgot it, and we came back to Harrington. Then this friend told me he knew some of the fellows I knew who used to box at Slaughter's Hall (which was above Simpson's Dry Cleaning establishment forty years ago); so we go to see them!

Now this fellow wanted to go to Salisbury to look for a job; so I said O. K. He lets me off in Salisbury. I told him to come right back; he never did. He tore my Volkswagen up at U. S. 13 and Isabella; and bye bye German album. If any one knows of a person with a German album—contact W. C. Burgess, assoc.-ed, The Harrington Journal, Harrington, Del.

This album is somewhere between Harrington and Salisbury, I imagine. This album has pictures of Alaska in the back of it—my pictures. It has pictures in it of King Ludwig's Bavarian Castle—my pictures. It has pictures of Dachau—mine. It has pictures of Saulsburg, Austria—mine.

It has pictures of hangings of Russians or Poles—his. It has pictures of the German Army—his. Pictures of the Ukraine, and the German mailman himself.

Some of these pictures were taken by M. Baden & Company, N 121, Wrzburg, Germany. And anybody knows a photographer keeps records of his work; it is a pleasure as well as a means of making a living.

I sent this picture or a facsimile back to Germany by Bobby Williamson, a long time ago; he goes to the Burgomeister and inquires, and the Burgomeister said the soldier died of natural causes in Munich, several years ago. I did not ask Bobby what the guy's name was.

How did I get the album; I was billeted in a German home; we had just moved in and I usually look around for trespassers even if it was their home.

I looks under a bed, and oh! my! This calls for some explaining. Down stairs I go and talks to the lady of the house!

In your army, lady; this calls for hanging, or execution.

What was it, now! Nothing much dear children, but empty American Red Cross packages! So, I say nothing else to the dear lady; but goes on a W. C. Burgess special.

First, hit the attic; nothing there! Next check the rooms downstairs.

"Well now, ain't that cute; a picture of a German soldier; and it looked like a lieutenant, but I am not sure.

Well, Pvt. B., there has got to be something around here somewhere. Down to the cellar, dog; there are rules against looting, but everybody's-a-doin'-it — including yours very truly.

Boy ersatz candy—plenty of it. Pardon me—I don't think I broke the door down; I think it was unlocked. Boy, if you have ever tasted any lousy candy—try those German (chocolate bars.) Eat one of those, and that is enough to start any war.

They weren't worth taking. Oh! Well! Here are a couple of trunks which ain't workin'. So Junior (me) goes to work on them; and out comes the German album. And so the story unfolds—page by page.

The German mailman in the German album—why he is the same guy what has his picture on the wall. He is the son of the woman and the old man who live there. Turn 'em in; it would have been foolish and WHERE IS MY ALBUM— Add wouldn't have made any difference — excepting the officer's might have kept the German album — although they usually gave us a brake (break) in such cases. The German album went into my barracks bag; and that was that! Nobody in our outfit ever knew I even had it; that is, of course, so far as I know.

The place was Bad Neustadt, Germany. There was a factory there down the street; and they say prisoners used to work One there. That is what the lady told me; and they got the packages to get the crumbs to feed their chickens. — I'll bet those chickens ate better than the prisoner's those packages were intended for! Down the street some of the boys were billeted in a watch maker's hausae (house); so I hauls off and buys me a Jacques (French make) watch for $10 bucks offa Cuzz") Lanier, 1908 Chippewa Street, New Orleans. They call me "Shrewdly"; and everytime that and guy went off they usually had to come and get us. The captain kept sendin' us tho' and we kept gittin' lost—we never could find our way back!

The captain was running around in circles—with the Major and the Lieutenant Colonel right after him just a chewin' and a lot of the times I guess it was over us'ns; never a dull moment. What war, is there one! Well, do tell.

Captain Joe DeLaney, West Memphis Park, Arkansas, to former Pfc. W. C. Burgess: "Burgess!" "Yes! Sir!" "Can't you do like the other boys do?" For once, no answer! I couldn't figure that one out myself — From a "Court-martial in the Rain"—Coming up sometime!

Oh! Well! Why promote a guy and then have to break him! he ain't around long enough to get promoted.

Now guard duty is a terrible thing—it interferes with your sleep—that is, if you let it! About time you get to roasting a little you hear a noise over in the bush! It is some guy making a lot of noise! Don't sneak up on that cat—even if he is roasting; he'll shoot you. Sergeant; hit them bushes a little harder!

So—That same night in Bad Neustadt, Germany — we hear some familiar voices; and a flashlight—a warrant officer and one of our lieutenants. I told the other guard not to say a word—and we looked. The little ninety day wonder and his old buddy, the W/O reached opened up a lid and came up with a jug of snops—and then they proceeded to have one. There was a fence separating us; and that was all. I could have reached right over and snatched the jug. However, they soon left—and they haven't seen us yet—Man it pays to be alert on guard duty.

Boost me over this fence kid; never mind; I can make it myself! Up comes the lid and we put the flashlight to that little hole in the ground and came up with what was left of the schnapps. Needless to say, it sure was one of the most beautiful turn of guard duty I ever did in all my life!

Now, in Germany proper, after we got there; it was O. K. in a small kind of a way!

You move into a house; and the ground squad gets busy! You look around for a fresh excavation (where the ground has been freshly dug) and start digging. You don't have to worry about mines or anything—that is, of course, on private property. After you dig awhile, up comes sugar, flour, candy, and everything they wanted to hide. Oh! Yes! They buried the schnapps there too.

Now, I wonder how the old man and his wife are doing; and I hope their son is not really dead, but I am afraid to even guess at that. The Burgomeister in German towns is really the thing; that is, they really have the power.

The German album does not have any names on it at all—Maybe it's former owner, didn't like to put his name on it either; and neither did I—now I wonder—"Who has my German album?"—It sure is a Jonah!

Veterans News QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Would you tell me if a 100 per cent disabled veteran can take out a loan on the new GI "J" insurance, and if so how much could he obtain?

A—There are no loan provisions on the new GI "J" insurance that is now being sold to disabled veterans.

Q—I have one dependent and receive pension under the new pension law. What are the income limits for the various rates of pension?

A—With annual income of not more than $1,000, the pension rate is $105 monthly; with income of not more than $2,000, the rate is $80 and with income of not more than $3,000, the rate is $48.

Q—I recently moved and wish to file a change of address for delivery of future VA compensation checks. Can I use the change of address form on the envelope containing my last payment?

A—Yes. But do not forward the change of address to the Treasury Department. Mail it to the VA office having custody of your records as a veteran.

Q—I applied for and have been accepted for the newly re-opened NSLI insurance. I now find that the payments for $10,000 are too expensive for me. Can I reduce this amount?

A—Yes. You can reduce it to any amount in excess of $1,000 in multiples of $500.

Q—Can you please tell me where I may obtain a record or discharge of a man who was in the Navy during the years 1915 to 1918?

A—You might write to the Officer in Charge, Discharged Enlisted Personnel Records Branch, U. S. Naval Records Management Center, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Mo.

Q—Could you tell me if my husband is eligible for a GI loan?

He was inducted into the service in March, 1943 and was discharged in February, 1946.

A—He would appear to be eligible. By adding, according to the formula, ten years to his date of discharge (February, 1946 to February, 1956) and then one year for each 90 days he was on active duty (there are 11 such 90-day periods in his two years and 11 months of service) we reach February, 1967 as the expiration period for his entitlement. However, he should check with his VA regional office to make this more explicit by using the actual dates of induction and discharge.

Q—My son is leaving for military service. Can he purchase a government life insurance policy?

A—Yes. Under recent legislation, he will be automatically covered by a $10,000 policy and a certain sum will be deducted from his monthly pay unless he specifically states in writing that he does not want all or part of this full $10,000 insurance coverage.

Q—What is the age limit (deadline) for applying for the total disability income rider on National Service Life Insurance policies?

THE DRINKING DRIVER

"Most drivers don't believe that a few drinks can affect their driving," James T. Ferri, president of the Delaware Safety Council stated recently. "The growing increase of accidents involving drinking teenagers indicates that they believe it also. This belief contributes to about half of all motor vehicle accidents," he continued, "and out of 19 teenagers killed in Delaware last year, 7 had been drinking."

Everyone's driving is affected to a degree by even the smallest amount of alcohol. It first attacks the cerebrum or "judgment control," section of the brain, dulling normal inhibitions and confusing reasoning, while increasing confidence.

Alcohol's effects are far more deadly to a teenager than an adult. An experienced driver is more likely to know how he will act and feel after a few drinks and adjust his driving to this impediment. Many reactions in varied situations are automatic. The teenage driver is not only inexperienced at driving, but at drinking as well.

Another of alcohol's dangers to teenagers is "psychological intoxication." Although not really intoxicated, a teenager may psychologically convince himself that he is and actually shows symptoms of abnormal excitement, recklessness and poor judgment; hardly a safe condition in which to drive an automobile.

Contrary to popular belief, teenagers are not introduced to drinking by wild companions. Studies show that teenagers learn to drink by observing their parents. Since alcohol is commonly kept in the home and consumed on many occasions without misfortune and with apparent enjoyment, teenagers adopt their parents' attitude that drinking is not morally wrong and associate it with adulthood. In an effort to assume adult roles, they begin drinking at an illegally early age.

Ferri suggested that parents discuss the disastrous consequences of drinking and driving with their teenagers. Sit down and explain your own feelings and ask his point of view. Discuss the drinking situations he may encounter and the ways to handle them.

"Your teenager can learn the realities of alcohol and driving from you," Ferri said. "Kids, cars and alcohol are a potentially dangerous mixture . . . and ignorance of these facts can be deadly."

William T. James Becomes Assessor For City of Dover

William T. James, Dover's new city assessor, has assumed his duties and is now adjusting the records on recent real estate transactions.

James is a former resident of Harrington. His mother is Mrs. Jesse Crockett, the former Florence Howell.

James succeeds the late Thomas E. Baker, who suddenly died more than a month ago following ten years' service as assessor.

The new assessor will maintain offices in city hall where information will be available to interested persons concerning listed assessments on real estate located within the city limits.

Since this office, in recent years, has been compelled to make almost daily changes in the assessment records, the first task confronting James is recording the changes that have taken place since Baker's death.

A long-time Dover resident, James has served as sheriff and deputy sheriff for Kent County and also, as an insurance adjuster.

He is currently president of the Robbins Hose Co. and has been nominated for chief of the Dover Fire Department when the present chief, Jack T. Roe, retires.

Kaffeeklatch With Eleanor K. Voshell

As a working wife, what are your rights? This question can be asked even in the happiest homes. Sometimes it's a light-hearted question and other times it's a serious business.

Do you have the right to earn money by working outside your home whether your husband agrees or not?

Yes. In our democracy married women have the freedom to choose whether to work or not to work. However, partners to a marriage find that a big decision like this needs open and frank discussion. It is vital that the well-being of the children receive first consideration.

Does a working mother have any tax offset for child care expenses?

Yes. The Federal law and some State income tax laws permit certain deductions for child care expenses. Talk with your local tax office or a lawyer to find out about this.

Can you use the money you earn in any way you wish?

Yes. In most states it is your separate property and you may buy things, or invest your money, or keep it in your own bank account. However, in the eight community - property States, earnings belong to the common fund and usually are controlled by the husband.

If you work in your husband's business, do you have a legal right to be paid?

No. Legally, in most States your husband does not have to pay you if you work in his business. Some States, however, allow you to make a contract with your husband which obligates him to pay you for working in his business or profession.

Can you establish a separate business?

Yes. In most States you may have your own business that you can set up and run with your own property and earnings. A few States require court approval for you to do this, and some States require your husband's consent. Also, you are responsible for the debts of your own business; your husband does not have to pay them any more than you have to pay his.

If you buy or contribute money toward a major family purchase, such as a car or a television set, what are your rights to ownership?

Unless there is a title or a record establishing otherwise, such purchases are generally considered to be the property of the husband. It is wise family practice to put the bill of sale in both names. This will help protect your interest in the event your husband dies or the marriage ends in separation or divorce.

Amer. Education Week Plans For Caesar Rodney

The Caesar Rodney High School will observe American Education Week from November 7-13. The theme for 1965 is "Invest in Learning." The activities for the week, keyed to that theme, will call attention to the vital role of education in preserving the American way of life in an age of rapid technological and sociological change.

An invitation was extended to the parents by the principal, Archie R. Jordan, inviting them to visit their child's classrooms during American Education Week and particularly on Tuesday, November 9.

The basic purpose of AEW is to make every American aware of the important role education plays in a democracy, and to help him realize that good schools and colleges are, to a very large degree, his personal responsibility.

Parent - teacher conferences will be conducted during the afternoons of November 10th, 11th, and 12th. Parents who desire a conference with their child's teacher should call the high school office for an appointment. Teacher initiated conferences will be scheduled and letters will be sent home. Students will be excused from school at 1:15 during the conference days.

Dramatic Conf. At U. of D. Nov. 12

Two national leaders in educational and community theater will speak at the 26th Delaware Dramatic Conference at the University of Delaware on Fri., Nov. 12.

The conference is open to representatives of all school and community theater groups in the state. Co-sponsors are the Delaware Dramatic Association and the University of Delaware Dramatic Center.

Speakers will be Jack Morrison, theater education specialist for the arts and humanities branch of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and Melvin White, executive secretary of the American Educational Theatre Association.

Joining Morrison and White in a Community Theater division panel discussion in the evening will be Dr. C. Robert Kase, chairman of the university's Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech.

The conference program will include sessions on scene and light design, a report on the European tour of "Kiss Me, Kate," a high school student panel, and other relevant subjects.

Morrison's key position in the H.E.W. Department makes him one of the best informed persons in the country on the recently-passed Education Bill and the Arts and Humanities Foundation Bill as they relate to educational and community theater. He is on leave from the U.C.L.A. faculty and is a former president of the American Educational Theatre Association.

White is currently a director of the American National Theatre and Academy and was on the Brooklyn College theater faculty. He holds a key position in the American Educational Theatre Association, which takes in most of the directors of theater in schools and colleges at all levels.

Prospective delegates from school and community theater groups are urged to send reservations before this weekend to Dr. Kase at the University of Delaware.

Three Information Nights Scheduled By U. of D.

Kent County high school students will get helpful information about the University of Delaware on Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the first of three information nights scheduled by the university.

The evening session will start at 7:30 at the Caesar Rodney High School in Camden-Wyoming.

Prospective college students and their parents will be able to meet with college deans and heads of several departments.

Following a brief discussion of the university's admission policies by Dr. Edward R. Ott, director of admissions, there will be three 30-minute meetings on various subjects.

Describing programs and opportunities in their disciplines will be the deans of the Colleges of Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Science, Business and Economics, Education, Engineering, and Home Economics, and chairmen of the departments of Military Science and Nursing. Other topics to be discussed in separate meetings will be the Community College for Northern Delaware, financial aid, and student life.

Kent Counties unable to attend the Nov. 9 meeting are urged to attend either of the other two information nights scheduled by the university. They are Thurs., Nov. 11, at Georgetown High School, and Thurs., Nov. 18, at Salesianum High School, 18th and Broom Sts., Wilmington.

The Jacobs store advertised in The Harrington Journal, continuously, for more than 46 years.

The well-liked, well-mannered, civic-minded, storekeeper was a member of Harrington Better Business Association (now the Chamber of Commerce), the Rotary Club, and Trinity Methodist Church.

A Democrat, he was state senator in 1931, state auditor in 1945-46, and, after a new town charter was drawn up in 1935, he was the first mayor to be elected by popular vote.

As state senator, he was chairman of the Statutory Committee and, almost alone, put Statute of John M. Clayton and Caesar Rodney in Statuary Hall in the Capitol in Washington. Until this feat, Delaware was the only state not represented in the hall.

"Laughing 20's" At Reese Nov. 5-6-7

Reese Theatre patrons are in for the laughing time of a life time when they witness Laurel & Hardy's "Laughing 20's" listed for presentation this Fri. - Sat., Sunday, Nov. 5, 6, 7. Critics are free in their statements saying one might laugh his pants off.

The George Fine Surveys, Inc. in a sworn and notarized statement testified: "Our staff clocked 253 solid belly laughs".

With the 20th Century Fox hit, "The Reward" with Gilbert Roland and a great international cast holding the top spot, this surely might add up to one of the most entertaining offerings of the season.

Mother and Dad has an opportunity to give the family a rare treat. All children under 12 years free if with parents.

A glance at the Reese Theatre program in this newspaper might guide one to many happy hours of entertainment.

more the blanket will take on the properties of that fiber.

Acrylic fiber blankets, such as Acrilan and Orlon, are lightweight, wear well, give an acceptable warmth and are naturally mothproof. However, they may tend to pill or fuzz with wear and laundering. Some of these blankets are also static prone. Higher quality blankets are now treated to resist pilling and static, Miss Reed says.

Nylon is occasionally used in small amounts to add strength to blanket fabric blends.

Rayon is used extensively in blends with Orlon, nylon, acetate, cotton and wool. Blankets in these blends are attractive, soft, fairly warm and lightweight. Less expensive than pure wool or all-acrylic-fiber blankets, they generally do not stay as attractive as they should for long. Proper laundering of these blankets is particularly important to prevent shedding nap and rippling edges, Miss Reed warns.

Fiberwoven blankets are the newest on the market. Rather than being woven as usual, fiber loops are mechanically interlocked in tight chains. Miss Reed says these are still very new; exhaustive studies of their wearing qualities are not yet finished.

Anti-bacterial finishes added to some blankets supposedly help control the spread of disease by preventing germ growth. However, recent studies show that such finishes, at present, have little or no effect on the growth of germs, says Miss Reed. Repeated washing seems to be the best bacteria control method, she adds.

"Religion and The Retarded"

Open house and parent's day will be held in recognition of National Mental Retardation Week, which is being observed in all institutions for the mentally retarded throughout the United States and is co-sponsored by the Delaware Association of Retarded Children, Inc. and the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded under the direction of Dr. Peter A. Pepper, superintendent.

The program is entitled "Religion and the Retarded". Panel discussion will be held pertaining to religion. We have asked the parents to submit questions regarding their children's religious outlook. The panelists will be Father Paul J. Fallers, of St. Michael's R. C. Church, Georgetown, and the Rev. Ivon P. Downing, of Roxana Methodist Church, Roxana, H.M.R. chaplains. Blankets Available In Many Fibers

Cool fall evenings remind homemakers it's time to get out winter blankets. If you need new blankets this fall, you have a wide range of colors, sizes and fibers from which to choose, says Miss Janet Reed, extension textiles and clothing specialist at the University of Delaware.

No matter what the color, size or fiber, the basic purpose of any blanket is to provide warmth. Heat from the body is trapped by the nap of the blanket, keeping a layer of warmth next to the skin.

The warmth of a particular blanket—other than an electric blanket—depends on the construction as much as on the fibers used. The thickness, density and resilience of the nap is a guide to quality, says Miss Reed.

Look for a firmly woven fabric in addition to a thick nap, she advises. Hold a small section of the blanket to the light to see if there are spaces in the weave. Rub the nap between your fingers to be sure the nap does not shed.

Thermal blankets do not depend on nap for their warmth. Their "leno weave" resembles a loose crochet stitch. Thermal blankets are used the year around; for winter use an additional cover is often needed.

About two-thirds of the blankets on the market are woven of synthetic fibers. Nonetheless, natural fibers have many advantages also, says Miss Reed.

Wool blankets are exceptionally warm and serviceable with a soft feel. However, wool may shrink or felt unless carefully laundered or dry cleaned. High quality wool blankets may have a mothproof finish. Some of these finishes will last the lifetime of the blanket.

Blends of different fibers are often used. The larger percentage of a particular fiber, the

Ashram To Be Held in Dover

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, Christian missionary, author, and founder of the Christian Ashram movement, will conduct an ashram in the Dover area, sponsored by several Methodist congregations, and by the Dover Ministerial Association, beginning Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14, at 3 p.m. and continuing through Monday afternoon, Nov. 15. The ashram will be held at the Wesley Methodist Church in Dover, where the Rev. William Hemphill is pastor.

The word "Ashram" (pronounced AH-shrum) comes from the Sanskrit and means "Religious Retreat". Dr. Jones has adapted the ashram principle to establish "a living Christian fellowship in which the whole gospel for the whole man is lived, taught, shared and experienced."

Several hundred persons are expected to participate, and more than thirty ministers and laymen have agreed to serve as prayer group leaders.

Dr. Jones will speak at 4 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. on Sunday, and at 10:30 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. on Monday. At 6 p.m. Sunday, participants will have dinner together at Dulany Hall Dining Room of Wesley College. Lunch on Monday will be served at Wesley Church.

Delaware Girl To Attend Canadian 4-H Conference

Beverly Ann Wiebe, 17, 2206 Jones Lane, Wilmington, will be one of eight United States "4-H Ambassadors" attending Canada's 34th National 4-H Club Conference. The event will be held in Ottawa and Toronto, Nov. 11-17. Miss Wiebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wiebe, is a freshman home economics major at the University of Delaware. She is in her eighth year of 4-H work as a member of the Brandywine 4-H Club.

The Canadian 4-H conference held annually during the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, is a showcase for every phase of Canadian agriculture. Those attending the conference will tour places of interest, participate in banquets and parties, exchange ideas about 4-H programs, and share knowledge of their cultural, economic and political heritage.

Special events for the delegates include a tour of Canadian government buildings, the National Art Gallery in Ottawa and the Ontario Museum in Toronto. They will participate in a half-day program set in the Niagara Falls area.

Miss Wiebe has earned many high honors in 4-H club work, including a trip to the 1964 National Club Congress in Chicago, the state public speaking championship in 1963, queen of the New Castle county dress revue, and presidency of her 4-H club. She has won many state and county awards in 4-H judging an d demonstration competition, particularly in the area of clothing construction. She is currently enrolled in her fifth year of clothing work in a tailoring project. She has also carried projects in junior leadership, breads, home improvement, entomology, foods and lawn beautification.

In selecting her to represent U.S. 4-H members, the National 4-H Service Committee cited Miss Wiebe for her excellent 4-H record, her untiring work for community betterment, and her efforts in health and charitable endeavors.

The U.S. delegates are sponsored by International Minerals & Chemical Corporation of Skokie, Illinois.

The seven other states to be represented are Alabama, California, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, New York and Virginia. Selection of delegates was based on competence in leadership and citizenship and personality.

The U.S.-Canadian exchange program is coordinated by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs, the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Azaleas Respond To Proper Care

Azaleas respond to good care, so many of the problems gardeners have with azaleas can be remedied, according to Robert Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

At this time of year, some gardeners find leaves yellowing on their azaleas. Yellowed leaves are danger signs; if not properly cared for, plants may soon be dead, Stevens warns.

Too much fertilizer, too close cultivation or too little moisture are frequent causes of yellowed azalea leaves. All can be taken care of easily.

A good rule to remember when fertilizing azaleas is to fertilize only in the early spring. Use organic fertilizers blended especially for azaleas before May 1. Ste-use only as much as is advised use only as much as is advised on the package, he adds.

After spreading the fertilizer, wash it into the ground. Never cultivate the fertilizer into the ground, Stevens warns.

In fact, never cultivate azaleas for any reason. Their feeding roots are very close to the surface of the ground, and cultivation may easily destroy the roots, causing yellowed leaves or even dead plants. Weeds are much better controlled through mulching, Stevens says.

Azaleas should have a permanent mulch, he adds. Two or three inches of peat moss works well. This mulch not only controls weeds, but it also keeps the roots cool and helps conserve moisture.

Insufficient moisture may also cause leaves to yellow. Azaleas particularly need watering now in the late fall, especially since the summer was so dry. Water thoroughly, Stevens recommends.

Hardy azalea varieties planted in the proper location do not need winter protection. However, if you have had trouble with winter injury in the past, protect them from winter wind and sun with some type of windbreak. Burlap screens are often used. Sun and wind usually do more damage than the cold itself, Stevens notes.

How long does it take to make an inch of topsoil? It takes nature from 500 to 1000 years to make an inch of good topsoil. It can wash away overnight!

Chicken Cookoff To Be Held in June

It's kickoff time this month for America's annual national chicken cookoff.

Entry blanks and rules for the 1966 version of the National Chicken Cooking Contest became available this month on Delmarva and throughout the United States. They feature a glamorous display of national and state prizes for home cooks of all ages from 9 to 90.

The National Cookoff, featuring state finalists in all four divisions of the contest, will be held June 16, 17 and 18 at Pocomoke City, Md., as part of the 19th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival. Entries close January 31.

National prizes this year include an island paradise vacation trip for two for the range division winner to either Hawaii, Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands (which-ever is closest to the winner's home) with two-way transportation by Pan American jet clipper, plus pocket money and accommodations at a glamour hotel included.

The national junior champ wins a $1,000 shopping spree at the John Wanamaker Department Store in Wilmington, immediately after the national cookoff next June. Top junior miss wins a Bobbie Brooks wardrobe. New rules this year in the junior division permit contestants to cook on either range, portable appliance or outdoor barbecue grill.

Prizes of Stieff sterling silverware go to those who cook in the Junior Division. All who cook in range and outdoor barbecue division will receive McCormick gourmet spice racks.

Host group for the national cookoff this year, as always, is Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., the Peninsula's poultry association. Donald L. Malloy of Pocomoke City, Md., is general chairman of the Delmarva Chicken Festival which sets the stage for the National Chicken Cooking Contest.

Long known as a major national food event, the national cookoff attracts scores of the nation's leading food editors and communicators as visitors each year and stimulates year-round attention on the food pages of the nation's newspapers and on radio and television shows devoted to cooking and homemaking.

ASC Elections Set For Nov. 9

Farmers yesterday got a "last minute" reminder about important elections which will be held in Kent County on Nov. 9. The elections are to choose ASC farmer-committeemen who will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

According to Russell Bowdle, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, these ASC Committeemen have broad important program responsibilities. This makes it all the more urgent that representative farmers be elected to the job. Programs administered by the committeemen include the Agricultural Conservation program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, the national program, and farm storage facility loans. Other duties are assigned to the committeemen by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

Last year over 650 farmers in Kent County took part in one or more programs managed by the ASC committeemen. Funds paid out under the committeemen's supervision amounted to over $590,000. Last year also, over 36,000 acres of farmland in the county were improved under the Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing arrangement. This cost over $252,000, with over half coming from the participating farmer, the balance from ACP.

Explaining the election procedure, the chairman said that each year qualified voters — farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committeemen administer — elect a community committee from among their own number. The chairmen, vice chairmen, and regular members of these committeemen also serve as delegates to a county convention, where the ASC county committee is elected.

Tues., Nov. 9, the annual banquet will be held at the Felton Fire Hall at 7 p.m. Harold J. Hartley, manager of the fruit and vegetable division of the American Agricultural Marketing Association will be the speaker. Mr. Hartley was appointed manager of the American Agricultural Marketing Association's fruit and vegetable division on Jan. 1, 1962 where he assists in correlating the fruit and vegetable marketing activities of the various state marketing associations affiliated with the American Agricultural Marketing Association. Mr. Hartley joined the American Farm Bureau Federation Staff on May 1, 1959, as assistant director of AFBF's commodity division, specializing in the fruit and vegetable phases of Farm Bureau's commodity programs.

Mr. Hartley came to the Farm Bureau staff from Carbondale, Ill., where he served as executive secretary treasurer of both the Illinois Fruit Council and the National Peach Council. He was born and reared on a farm south of Centralia, Ill. His father, Harold E. Hartley, is a fruit and dairy farmer and is vice president of the Illinois Agricultural Association (Farm Bureau).

A 1950 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, with a bachelor of science degree in agriculture, he was employed that year by the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation as county fieldman at Manchester, Iowa.

Mr. Hartley was appointed manager of the American Agricultural Marketing Association's fruit and vegetable division on Jan. 1, 1962 where he assists in correlating the fruit and vegetable marketing activities of the various state marketing associations affiliated with the American Agricultural Marketing Association. Mr. Hartley joined the American Farm Bureau Federation Staff on May 1, 1959, as assistant director of AFBF's commodity division, specializing in the fruit and vegetable phases of Farm Bureau's commodity programs.

Mr. Hartley came to the Farm Bureau staff from Carbondale, Ill., where he served as executive secretary treasurer of both the Illinois Fruit Council and the National Peach Council. He was born and reared on a farm south of Centralia, Ill. His father, Harold E. Hartley, is a fruit and dairy farmer and is vice president of the Illinois Agricultural Association (Farm Bureau).

ASC Elections Set For Nov. 9

Farmers yesterday got a "last minute" reminder about important elections which will be held in Kent County on Nov. 9. The elections are to choose ASC farmer-committeemen who will serve for the next year as local administrators of national farm-action programs.

According to Russell Bowdle, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, these ASC Committeemen have broad important program responsibilities. This makes it all the more urgent that representative farmers be elected to the job. Programs administered by the committeemen include the Agricultural Conservation program, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, the national program, and farm storage facility loans. Other duties are assigned to the committeemen by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

Last year over 650 farmers in Kent County took part in one or more programs managed by the ASC committeemen. Funds paid out under the committeemen's supervision amounted to over $590,000. Last year also, over 36,000 acres of farmland in the county were improved under the Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing arrangement. This cost over $252,000, with over half coming from the participating farmer, the balance from ACP.

Explaining the election procedure, the chairman said that each year qualified voters — farmers who are eligible to take part in one or more of the farm programs which the committeemen administer — elect a community committee from among their own number. The chairmen, vice chairmen, and regular members of these committeemen also serve as delegates to a county convention, where the ASC county committee is elected.

Discover Wonderful Del.

About seven miles west of Delmar, in the southwest corner of wonderful Delaware, on a road that becomes Maryland Route 467, is a small wonder.

Protected by a sheltering roof is a stone with the arms of Lord Baltimore carved on its south and west sides, and the arms of William Penn's family on its north and east sides. It was put in place in 1768 by the English surveyors, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, to mark the southwest corner of the "three lower counties" belonging to William Penn, and is the corner stone of the North-South part of the Mason-Dixon line. Next to it is a smaller stone placed there by an earlier surveying party determining the southern boundary line from Fenwick Island on the Atlantic to Chesapeake Bay.

The Mason-Dixon line is usually thought of as the long straight boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland, famed as the hypothetical division between North and South in the Civil War. But actually Mason and Dixon's first concern was the north-south line. Their survey finally settled a boundary dispute that had gone on for the better part of a century.

Before the Dutch turned over what is now Delaware to the English Duke of York in 1664, Lord Baltimore, the proprietor of Maryland, was already looking for ways to convince the Dutch, or someone, that the area really belonged to him. When the Duke of York deeded the land to William Penn in 1682, things became even more complicated.

The argument between William Penn and Lord Baltimore went back and forth from the Court in London to the New World, and made a lot of trouble for the settlers in the new colonies. Nobody in "the three lower counties" could be sure who would want taxes or land rents, and when a settler took out a patent on his land with one colony, the officials of the other would often seize his property or even throw him in jail. Feelings were ruffled and there were riots, and even quasi-military expeditions. Things were so bad that for a time around 1737 the King forbade either proprietor to permit any more settlers.

Finally in 1750 the English Court of Chancery drew up a compromise dividing the peninsula down the middle, giving the eastern half to the family of Penn, and the western half to Lord Baltimore.

With relief that the long argument was over, the proprietors set up a joint commission, and local surveyors ran the south boundary line east from Fenwick Island in 1751. But then the commissioners began to argue, and in 1760 Lord Baltimore and the Penns retained Mason and Dixon. By 1768 the job was done. They had completed the North-South boundary to the famous 12-mile radius from New Castle, and ran a line as far west as the Indians would permit.

According to Mason and Dixon's 1768 report, they placed "a remarkable stone" at the end of every mile, and the stones every five miles were distinguished by having the arms of Lord Baltimore carved on the west side, and those of the Penns on the east. A U.S. Coast and Geodetic survey undertaken in 1960 showed that most of the stones were still in position, although many were in poor condition. The two states are now working together to repair the stones and to maintain them.

Delaware Food Market Report

Prices on beef, lamb, and veal are all about the same as they have been for the past two weeks. Pork prices, however, are easing downward a bit, though supplies are now believed to have leveled off. Bacon prices broke slightly this week, with first grade bacon down as much as five cents on the pound. Penny decreases in the prices of sausage and spare-ribs are balanced by penny increases on pork loin roasts and end chops.

If its economy you are looking for, then when you shop be sure to check specials and the less costly cuts. With beef look to chuck for economy. Chuck cuts are flavorful, but having more connective tissue, are not so tender as those from the hind quarter. Here are a few pointers about chuck which will help you know what you are buying and how it may be cooked.

Basically, the chuck is divided into two equal parts—the blade and the arm. Steaks and roasts may be cut from either parts. The blade portion borders on the wholesale rib section of the carcass and is cut forward toward the neck. Blade cuts have quite a bit of bone and may contain sections of the blade bone, backbone and rib. However, most of the meat in the blade cuts is more tender than that in the arm cuts.

Arm roasts and steaks are cut from the lower part of the wholesale chuck just above the shank. You can recognize them by the rib ends, the round arm bone, and the small round muscle that lies next to and is about the same size as the arm bone. Arm cuts have a high proportion of lean meat, but they do require long, slow cooking to become tender.

Good buys in frying chicken and turkeys are available this weekend making both economic protein choices. Roasting chicken and chicken hens are also priced reasonable.

All varieties of fresh apples are pouring into local markets, many are low in price making them outstanding buys. Good supplies of grapefruit are coming in and quality is definitely improving. Supplies of Florida oranges have slowed down due to the heavy rains and generally wet weather in the state. Shippers are having difficulty in finding oranges that will pass the state's maturity test and as a result many more packing houses are concentrating on grapefruit. Heavier shipments of grapefruit will mean lower prices. Tangerines are beginning to arrive locally, however, the supply is small now. Cranberries, bananas, grapes, coconuts, and pears complete the list of fresh fruits in best supply.

Easton, 1st; Lions, 2nd, In 12-team Invitational

The thinclad extravaganza known as the Harrington Invitational cross-country meet hosted a record number of teams on Wed., Oct. 27th. Easton Md. High edged the defending champion Harrington High Lions by a score of 52-66. The best Milton team in that school's eight-year harrier history finished a strong third with 81 points. Cambridge was fourth with 103 followed by North Carolina 147, Milford 169, Seaford 180, Millsboro 222, Caesar Rodney 224, Lewes 267, South Dorchester, Md. 285 and Greenwood 292.

Greenwood would have moved up two places and beaten both Lewes and South Dorchester if Clarence "Lightning" Allen had been available. Allen had run a fine race against the strong Milton team just a few days before but has since dropped out of school to join the U.S. Army. Clarence Chance, of Easton, was the surprise winner of the first place trophy as he defeated Gerry Garey, of Harrington and Tom Baker, of Caesar Rodney, who each held one-second, regular season victories over Chance. Steve Owens, of Seaford, the pre-race favorite, had easily beaten both Garey and Baker in dual meets this year but faded badly in the latter stages of the race and slipped from first to ninth place.

Owens has been a strong cross-country runner in dual meets for three years but each season in the Harrington Invitational he has not done quite as well as he did against the same runners earlier in the campaign.

Chance, Garey, Baker and Owens were running together as they approached the final turn some 200 yards from the finish. Owens dropped back first, then Baker and finally Garey as Chance put on a driving finish. On Sept. 24, on the same rugged 2.4 miles Killen's Pond course Garey had clocked 12:24 to beat Chance's 12:25. This time, the Talbot Countian was timed in 11:54. Garey's previous best effort here was 12:11.

The course record at Killen's Pond was set last year in the Harrington Invitational when Seaford's Charley Heidel scorched the turf with a blistering 11:39. Dennis Rogers, of Harrington, had 11:43 and state champion Bob Stuber, of A. I. duPont did 11:44. Heidel, Rogers, Stuber, Chance, Garey, Owens and Jim Harvey, of Easton (11:58) are in the super runner category, as the only harriers of the several hundred to compete here in the last three years, to break 12 minutes.

Jim Lohr's Easton Warriors ended Harrington's three year dual, triangular, quadrangular meet winning streak at eighteen straight victories, when they defeated the Lions in the season's opener. However, the locals, that day, ran slower than they had done previously. Therefore, Coach McDonald and his lads hoped to do better and beat the Marylanders in the Invitational. Six of the Lions responded with their fastest clockings of 1965. The seventh missed his best by only two seconds. Yet four of the septet ran slower than they did in 1964. To this last fact, then, can the second-place finish be attributed.

However one must remember, that sports are supposed to be fun, that these Lions of ours are still kids, that it should be expected when they are distracted by girls, cars and other goodies and finally that, although they did not perform up to their full potential, they still beat 10 out of 11 rivals. This is the equivalent of 10 wins and 1 defeat in any other sport. Also only Milton, Greenwood, South Dorchester and Millsboro have smaller enrollments than Harrington in the 12 team field.

Coach McDonald lost four men from last year's seven-man undefeated varsity, but is nevertheless compiling a terrific record for 1965. A good minor league farm system keeps a fresh supply of fine new prospects coming up each autumn.

Marshall Hatfield (11th), Nicky Morris (16th), Gary Simpson (18th) and Dan Hicks (19th) were other Lions to figure in the scoring. Morris, a sophomore, sliced 10 seconds off his personal course record of 12:47 done last year in winning the junior varsity division of the Invitational. Simpson at 14 is a year younger than Morris and is in his first season of cross-country. Thus, his fine clocking of 12:40 has to rank with senior Garey's effort as the two finest Lion performances of the meet.

Greenwood's Foresters unveiled two fine runners in Ron Breeding (13:19) and Heinz Retz-laff (13:22). These lads are first year harriers but are nearing the magic 13 minute mark which divides the good harriers from the very good. Both could crack "thirteen" with only three or four more starts.

Art Latham, of Millsboro, won the respect of the 200 plus watchers as he ran the whole race with his arm in a sling. His team had the necessary five finishers, plus a sixth Blue Devil so could have competed without him. However, the plucky Sussex Countian finished the grind anyway.

Sports fans of this area should be proud that such a fine attraction as the Harrington Invitational could be staged by Harrington High School. Teams from Wilmington to South Dorchester, Md., some 75 miles south of here have competed in this meet. This year's record field of 12 teams came about when every school invited agreed to come.

The huge field of 87 harriers necessitated dropping the two Wilmington teams, A. I. duPont and Corpus Christi, who ran here in 1964. Over 20 schools on the peninsula from Caesar Rodney to Salisbury, Cambridge, and further south now field cross-country teams. Each year sees a couple of new teams pounding up hill-and-down dale.

Some of the people responsible for the smooth operation of the meet were Steve Kliment of the school's custodial staff, who was chief architect of the finish chute; Albert W. Adams, school superintendent and Mayor Luther Hatfield, who helped line up the finishers in the chute. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wood of the H.H.S. faculty helped Coach Harold McDonald at the finish line.

Nancy Taylor and Thorbjorg "Toby" Kristvinsdottir, Iceland's gift to Harrington High School, served as checkers to assure that all 83 finishers negotiated the entire 2.4 miles distance.

16 of 21 Lions running in the two races had their fastest clockings of 1965. Home meets at Killen's on November 9th (the Henlopen Conference Championships) and November 11th (a dual meet with Lewes and Caesar Rodney), will undoubtedly see even swifter running on the part of some of the rapidly improving locals.

The Little League Baseball will hold a meeting on Nov. 9. This meeting will be held over the First National Bank at 8 p.m. The league will welcome all members, parents and interested persons.

Ron Morris Romps To Invitational JV Victory

Ron Morris continued his amazing late-season improvement as he soundly trounced all opposition in a field of 10 teams and 65 runners.

Morris' winning time of 12:42 in the junior varsity race would have gotten him 20th place in the 84-man varsity race. Only a little more than two weeks ago Ronald had not run the Killen's Pond layout in faster time than 14 minutes and 50 seconds. However, he has learned what cross-country is about in the last two weeks and is chipping off seconds in huge blocks of 50 and 60 at a time.

Rick Holland, of the North Carolina A team and Morris went to the top at the start and steadily moved away from all pursuit. They traded the ead back and forth a few times. At two miles Holland had a five yard lead but Morris caught him and left him in the "North Woods" to win by the astounding margin of 25 seconds.

Harrington's A team of Morris, seniors Don Walls, Ken Eilers and John Greenhaugh, Oscar Matthews, Jim Simpler and Jack Warrington won the meet easily with a low, low total of 28 points. Easton was a distant second with 68, North Carolina A had 87 followed by an extremely youthful Harrington B team with 105. The B team was made up of one Freshman, two eighth graders and four seventh graders and finished ahead of Cambridge, 133, Lewes 155, Greenwood 169, North Carolina B 208, Milford 258 and Milton.

Ken Eilers twisted an ankle at North Carolina and had to compete in the race without benefit of any workouts, but still managed a good 13:24 for fifth place. Jim Simpler continued his excellent running of the past month as he reached a new low of 13:24 just a whisker behind Eilers. Simpler can get under 13 minutes easily next year and make a peninsula-wide name for himself either in '66 or '67. Jim has always had the speed, now he's improving in the endurance department and this makes an unbeatable combination.

John Greenhaugh 13:29 for seventh place indicates that the big senior would have been an outstanding harrier by now, if he had given cross-country a try a couple of years earlier. As time goes by, it becomes more apparent that it is a mistake to count out any healthy boy of near normal weight, as a possibility in cross-country. Only the grossly overweight boy should not be considered. Greenhaugh's improvement from 17 minutes to his present clocking is another example of a fine prospect who was overlooked.

Oscar Matthews, a freshman, and eighth-grader Jack Warrington came in ninth and tenth, followed by the first Harrington B harrier, seventh grader, Chris Wetherhold. The latter two Lions set new personal course records. Bobby Rash and Danny Hitchens, a pair of seventh graders, each ran faster at Killen's Pond than ever before to take 16th and 18th positions.

Roger Klapp, Gerry Cagle and Louis Kemp were other Harrington B performers to join the personal record-breaking parade. Two unofficial participants from H.H.S., Allen Derrickson and Martin Adams, also negotiated the grind in finer style than ever before.

The Eagles had a punt blocked by the Colts but got a lift when the pigskin rolled past the line of scrimmage to be recovered by a Bird. Each Coach praised the opposition and both squads were lauded by the referees. First year players receiving accolades were Danny Porter, a low, hard tackler for the Eagles and Rick Wilson of the Colts, who learned the center position and played a mistake-free game at that position. The Colts team must be the best Blue-and-White squad since the HLF was former. It appears that, for this year at least, their doormat days are ended. The Eagles and Bears meet Sunday afternoon. The Eagles can regain sole possession of first place with a victory.

Lions Are Third In State Harrier Meet

Harrington High's cross-country Lions picked the wrong day to perform below par and as a result had to be content with a third place finish in the Group Two Delaware State Scholastic cross-country championship meet held at Rockford Park on Tuesday. Tower Hill, the school located just 200 yards from the state title course at Rockford Park, Wilmington, won easily as an expected tough battle with Harrington failed to materialize.

Milton, a school trounced by the Lions some thirty times in the past eight years including twice this year, became the first Kent or Sussex County school ever to defeat H.H.S. in cross-country, as the Sussex County Warriors put six runners in the first sixteen finishers. Every Lion starter was beaten by boys they had defeated earlier. Charley Price, of Jason High, running in the first cross-country race of his life, defeated five of seven Lion harriers. Ron Morris, a Harrington boy, won the junior varsity state championship in 12:34, a clocking which was bettered by only three locals in the big race.

Gerry Garey, a senior, got his first official clocking on the Rockford course with a good 12:11 to finish sixth. Marshall Hatfield, who posted identical 12:32 times as a sophomore and junior, got down to 12:18 this time. Nick Morris, a state junior varsity champion last fall in 12:43, lowered that figure by 15 seconds to finish twelfth. Gary Simpson, a 14-year-old first-year harrier, did a good job with a 12:49. Simpson is one of the few cross-country runners in Group 2, the small school section, with a chance to pick up a state harrier title since this year's champ, Jeff Brokaw of Tower Hill, has three more years of competition left. The Lion, an eighth grader, could pick up the title as a senior if not before.

Garey and Hatfield received engraved plaques for finishing in the first ten runners. The Lions vie for the Henlopen title here on November 9th and host Caesar Rodney and Lewes in the finale November 11th. It is hoped that the poor showing in the state meet plus some remarks made by Bob Edgerton, the Milton coach, will spur the Lions to another victory over Milton in the Henlopen Conference championship, 1, Tower Hill, 29; 2, Milton, 46; 3, Harrington, 62; 4, Corpus Christi, 111; 5, Jason, 124; 6, St. Elizabeth's, 175. Harrington places in a field of 48-6, Garey, 12:11; 9, Hatfield, 12:18; 12, Morris, 12:28; 17, Hicks, 12:48; 18, Simpson, 12:49; 19, Matthews, 12:50; 24, Adams, 13:10.

A couple of smashes by McNally and a penalty brought the hungry Lions to the 10. A Motter jump pass was hauled into the end zone by Steve Welch. McNally added the extra point on a smash into the line behind good blocking by Ed Wheatley and Jim Cain. A short kickoff after the score followed by two quick gains put Millsboro in good shape. However, a Blue Devil backtracked trying to go wide and was pinned for a loss by Elroy Hendricks, Gayle McReynolds and Mike Kohel. On fourth down the Blue Devils were in good field position for a gamble for a first down. Scouting reports on them indicated they often gambled in such situations. When the regular punter did not come in the Lions were sure that they had the play diagnosed correctly as a fake key. But a kick did come, caught the Lions flatfooted and ended up on the 1, putting the locals in hot water. McNally bottled out of danger and the receiver helped no end when he obligingly fell down. A long pass just missed at the goal line prior to the end of the half. Both sides punted early in the second half. The Lions picked up their own fumble for a loss before Davis turned the right flank

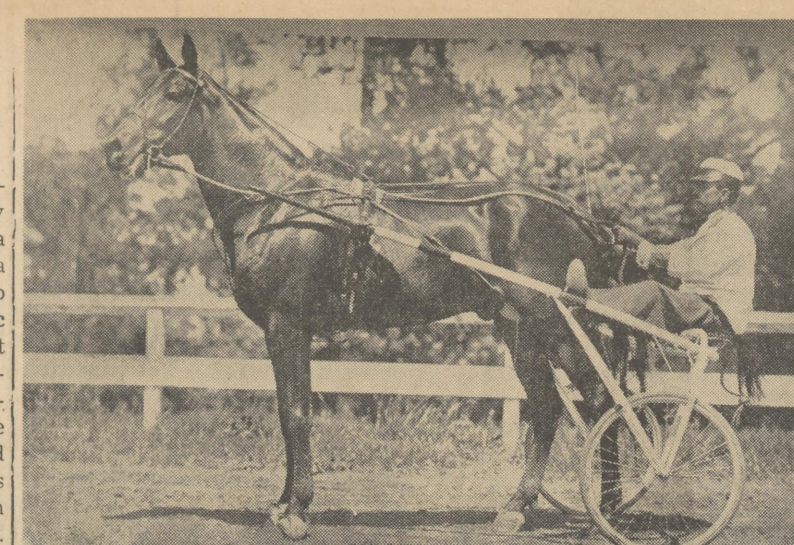

Colts and Bears Play Scoreless Tie

In one of the best played games in the history of the Harrington Little Football League the Eagles of Ted Layton and the Bears of Fred Mertz and Ray Wetherhold battled to a scoreless tie at Harrington High stadium on Sunday afternoon. The two elevens now share the league lead with identical one win and one tie records.

Each side moved the ball well but could not muster a scoring drive. Penalties were few in the defensive struggle. The Eagles' entire 1964 backfield is gone. The Colts, on the other hand, retained all four of last year's starting backs, Louis Kemp, Ricky Welch, Chuck Hurd and Dennis Layton, but lack experience in the line. The Red and White had one drive halted when a five yard gain was canceled by a fifteen yard clipping penalty for a net deficit of 20 yards. The Colts were marching toward a possible score when time ran out on them at the half. Another Eagle threat was halted by Kemp. Bob Tyler had the ball with a couple blockers out in front of him and two or three Colts to get by. Kemp came up fast from the rear and downed Tyler with a desperate, diving tackle.

The Eagles had a punt blocked by the Colts but got a lift when the pigskin rolled past the line of scrimmage to be recovered by a Bird. Each Coach praised the opposition and both squads were lauded by the referees. First year players receiving accolades were Danny Porter, a low, hard tackler for the Eagles and Rick Wilson of the Colts, who learned the center position and played a mistake-free game at that position. Gridders Defeat Millsboro, 7-0

Harrington's underdog Lions ended their season's record at three wins and three losses as Millsboro fell to the host Lions by a score of 7-0 on Friday night. Playing without injured regular quarterback, Sam Knox, for the second straight game the Lions struck quickly for a score in the second quarter and made the seven points stand up by blanking the Blue Devils. After receiving the opening kickoff the Lions picked up eight yards on carries by Steve Motter and Chuck McNally before punting on fourth down. The Blue Devils tried Wayne Porter's end but he stripped the ball carrier of his interference then helped with the tackle after turning the play in. The confused Blue Devils didn't know who to block in the defensive alignment used by the Lions. Millsboro punted but soon regained possession as Lions punted after a gain of five yard by Raleigh Davis. A pass by the visitors was good for ten yards but Motter caught a back trying an end sweep and M.H.S. again had to punt. The locals were profiting on almost every exchange of kicks since McNally was consistently getting more yardage than the opposition. Davis caught the punt on his own 47 and Mike Kohel blocked the first Blue Devil coming down under the punt. Kohel is a specialist at this phase of the game. Motter and McNally flattened two others and Davis raced to the Millsboro 25-yard-line. The losers halted the drive but couldn't penetrate the Lion defense. A short kick came out only to the Blue Devil 26. Coach Glazier cited Ed Wheatley, Mike Kohel, Mike Welch, Gayle McReynolds and Elroy Hendricks as improving ball players who were among those contributing to the victory. The Lions travel to Rehoboth tonight in an effort to get over the 500 mark once more.

Ron Morris Wins State Championship JV Run

Ron Morris, the West Street Whizzer, won the Group Two state junior varsity title race at Rockford Park, Wilmington, on Tuesday afternoon. Morris just 2 1/2 weeks ago was getting beat by teammates two years his junior, by margins of two minutes. But since then the 15-year-old has come on like an express train. Morris broke the tape in 12 minutes and 34 seconds to break the old record of 12:39 set by another Harrington boy, Bob Matthews, in 1963. Still another local, Nicky Morris, won this event last fall in 12:43, giving the Lions the individual winner each time the race was held. Ronald hung back in the early stages of the grind and let the front runners tire each other out. Approaching the Rockford Tower near the end of the first lap, he burst by four others into the lead and drew steadily away with only Jim Simpler, of H.H.S. within 100 yards of the leader. At the finish Morris had a big victory margin over Steve Cairns of Tower Hill. Meanwhile, 12-year-old Chris Wetherhold, who trailed all seven Tower Hill runners for much of the first lap, had forged steadily ahead to collar five of the older Hillers and was calling on the sixth in the homestretch. Chris clearly passed John Labat a few yards from the finish. Labat tried hard to get the third place spot back but in his attempt he ran straight into the young Lion's left shoulder blade. It was neck-and-neck at the finish line but the finish judge shouted "Green, Green," for Tower Hill. Some Harrington observers though Wetherhold arrived first, but the Hiller should have been disqualified anyway for running into a rival from behind. Imagine the frustration of the Lions upon learning that the finish judge was none other than Bob Behr, the Tower Hill cross
