

City Outlines Sewer Improvements To Be Voted On In Referendum

The City of Harrington has ascertained its basic principals for improvement and extension of the sewer system, it was revealed this week by City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann.

The City has been working with Dudley Willis, of Edward Richardson Associates, the City's consulting engineers, and the basic plans are ready. They will need polishing only, depending on which way the wind is blowing, before being presented to the voters sometime this year.

Generally speaking, then, there will be seven unsewered areas in the City to be sewered. These are as follows:

1. East and Thorpe Streets
2. U. S. 13 south of the Bridle Bit Restaurant
3. Harrington Avenue and Second Avenue Area
4. North Street
5. Coleman and Mispillion Streets
6. Franklin and Milby Streets
7. U.S. 13 north of Smith Avenue

In other ramifications, service sewers will be designed for areas the City would like to annex, and if a referendum for annexation is successful, the sewers in these areas will be contracted as part of the project.

Continuing, the city manager said some sewers are too shallow to be extended without coming out of the ground, but outlets from these sewers can be provided by interceptor sewers, the routes of which will be as follows:

1. Will follow line of north branch of Brown's Branch and encircle the City on the northeast, north, and northwest.
2. Second interceptor line will follow line of south branch of Brown's Branch and terminate at East and Thorpe Streets sewer.

Besides the contemplated improvements mentioned, sewage treatment facilities will be overhauled.

Turning to cost and financing, are the following approximate figures:

Cost, $952,000. Federal funds available, $192,800; state funds available, $100,000. Cost to City would be $662,000, but it is believed the federal government could also provide another $100,000, leaving the City's portion at $562,000.

The City's cost would be borne by an increased sewer service charge, still to be determined.

Conclusions and recommendations of consulting engineers.

Head Start Takes Shape for Summer

The Head Start program which is a program of preparation for school designed primarily for children who are planning to enter the first grade this coming fall and who need to get a "head start" is taking shape nicely, it was announced today by the Rev. Quay Rice, temporary chairman of Community Action for Harrington. Mr. Rice went on to praise the work of Alan Rutledge and others who assisted him at Harrington School in organizing for the beginning of this summer program which will last eight weeks starting July 5. The facilities of Harrington School will be used as the 10% of the cost of the program which is furnished by the town of Harrington. Mr. Rutledge will direct the program. Three teachers, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Draine and Miss Bloxom will all be sent to Newark for a week of training prior to the opening date. Mrs. Temple and Mrs. Farrow will be nurses and social workers involved and Miss Sarah Lee Webb will be the dietitian. Two school students will be employed for kitchen help. Mrs. Louise Burgess will again act as bookkeeper and secretary, and Howard Wagner is contributing his services as auditor. There will be more news later concerning aides and other personnel employed. Forty-five children have been screened correctly and carefully for the program and plans seem to be under way nicely.

Mr. Rice asks that everyone who has any wheel toys, tricycles, wagons, play automobiles, etc., which is willing to contribute to this program, please get them to him at St. Stephen's or telephone him if there is need to have someone pick up such toys. These are vitally needed and this is a way, Mr. Rice, continued, that everyone can help in this badly needed program Head Start. Everyone should be careful that these toys are in good repair and in no way play time hazards.

CITY STILL PLAGUED WITH ASSESSMENT CASES

Tax assessments on several properties were reduced Tuesday night by the City Council; two properties were added.

The Council has been acting on appeals and usually goes by the result of hearings by the Kent County Board of Assessments.

Hence, the delay. Some tax bills have already been paid. Action Tuesday night saw the following assessment cases:

Harrington Homes, Coleman Street; No. 11 Thorpe Street, $100 to $700. Two lots belonging to Robert H. Quillen, had been placed on Short Street, whereas they were on Simpson Street on land owned by the late R. D. Short.

Other revisions: Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, Clark Street, $6800 to $6200; Mabel B. Longfellow, 307 Weiner Avenue, $600 to $6100; the City put the following properties of Mrs. Longfellow on the tax list: 100 Wolcott Street, $2500; 103 Wolcott Street, $2000.

Mrs. Mary Greenly, Mechanic Street, $4200 to $3800; 213 Delaware Ave., $4600 to $4400. S. L. Sapp Estate, properties on Clark Street, $6200 to $5500, and $6300 to $5380. Alice Font, 24 Mispillion Street, $2000 to $1700.

7 CONTESTS CERTAIN FOR KENT BOARDS

With the filing deadline only hours away, contests are assured in seven of Kent County's 13 school districts.

In three of the districts, Caesar Rodney, Frederica and Wileys, no candidates have filed for the expiring terms.

In three other districts the incumbents filed for re-election Tuesday and are unopposed so far. They are Edward L. Hughes in Kenton; Daniel I. Yoder, in Oak Point, and Andrew W. Byler, in Rose Valley.

Filings Tuesday created two-way contests in the Harrington, Smyrna, Dover and Hartly districts, with a three-way race in Felton.

Filing Tuesday were State Police Capt. James T. Vaughn to oppose Charles M. Duff in Smyrna; Charles T. David to oppose Dr. Lawrence Baker in Dover; Edna M. Gruwell to oppose incumbent Keith S. Burgess in Harrington; Ronald Lawson to oppose Jackie W. Robinson in Hartly and I. Kenneth Richter to oppose Medford Killen and John T. French in Felton.

Vaughn and Duff are competing for the seat left vacant early this year by the death of Harry W. Moor.

David and Baker seek the seat held by retiring board president Charles C. Brown.

Burgess, president of the Harrington board, is the only incumbent facing opposition.

The seats for which no candidates have yet filed are those held by Dr. Harry Neese, president of the Caesar Rodney board; Lister V. Hall Jr. in Frederica; and Jacob Kurtz in Wileys.

All the elections are Saturday, May 14.

CITY NAMES STREETS SLATED FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The City will advertise for bids on curbing and surfacing a number of streets, it was decided on Tuesday night at the Council's regular May meeting.

The extent of the work, however, will depend on the cost and on the amount of the Municipal Aid funds to be received from the state. Last year the sum was around $36,000.

The City will solicit bids on types of improvements, namely: 1. With soil-cement base. 2. The usual gravel base, as has been the case.

Mayor Luther P. Hatfield said he did not think the state funds would allow for improving all the streets which had been engineered. Those ready for improvement are as follows: Third, Wolcott, Franklin, Ward, Mill, Thorpe, Center Street extended, Dixon Street extended, and Ben-

Cropland Program Signup Continues

Olin Gooden, chairman of the Kent County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today that signup for the new Cropland Adjustment Program is still open, even though signup dates for the wheat, and feed grain programs signup have already passed.

The program is designed to fill a need not quite met by the annual acreage allotment and diversion programs in achieving and maintaining supply-demand balance for farm products. It is also expected to provide more hunting and fishing, and other opportunities for outdoor recreation.

CAP is especially attractive for farmers who want (1) to shift from production of surplus crops to other activities, (2) to retire gradually from farming while continuing to live on the farm, (3) to continue working off the farm, or (4) to take advantage of other local employment opportunities.

Farmers participating in CAP will receive adjustment payments related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land, and conservation cost-share payments on the land diverted.

The chairman reported that so far 17 of farm operators in Kent County have applied for agreements under CAP, and 5 of the agreements have been signed. These signed agreements involve about 130 acres of cropland.

Farmers who are interested in diverting acreage under a long-term rather than an annual agreement are urged not to delay filing a CAP application. While no deadline has been set for the signup under the Cropland Adjustment Program, it is not expected that the signup will be open beyond crop planting time. There is also a limitation on the total acreage within a county or trade area which may be placed under such agreements.

Home Needed For Young Child

His name is Jack and he is nine years old. He lives on one of the congested streets of New York City, where his outdoors consists only of garbage-strewn alleys and concrete playgrounds. Jack has never been in the woods, nor climbed a tree. He has never seen a single-family house, nor had a pet. Imagine how happy he would be to spend two weeks in Harrington this summer.

Jack is one of the thousands of New York's under-privileged children who will get out of school soon for the summer vacation. Many of them have never been more than a few blocks from their home.

The Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund provides transportation, medical expenses and liability insurance. They need only the invitations from folks in suburban and rural areas. Your generosity in having one of these little guests will surely be rewarded by the personal satisfaction you experience.

Should you care to share your blessings, please contact Mrs. Frank C. O'Neal, Jr., phone 398-8855, for further information.

Wm. Chambers, Sr. Dies At 76

William Chambers, Sr., 76, former Democratic coroner for Kent County died Wednesday afternoon at his home at Viola.

He was a director of the Delaware State Fair and served on the executive committee. He was a member of Junior Order of United American Mechanics, an honorary member of Bowers Beach and Harrington Fire Companies.

Mr. Chambers was owner and operator of the Chamber's Welding and Repair Shop located at Canterbury from 1921-1965, then his son took over the business. He built and operated a general store at Canterbury from 1924-1950.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mabel Chambers, one son, William Chambers Jr. and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be at Barratts Chapel Cemetery, Frederica.

Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow evening.

DR. H. M. SMITH RETIRES

Dr. Hewitt M. Smith, medical doctor here for many years, announced his retirement this week in a card from St. Petersburg, Fla., one of the stops Dr. and Mrs. Smith have been visiting on an extended vacation.

Dr. Smith does not have a replacement but he advertises his case histories are available.

The Smiths recently built a residence on Raughley-Hill Road.

Smith Elected Insurance Unit Chairman

Former State Insurance Commissioner Harry S. Smith returned to the state capital Monday and was elected chairman of the committee charged with overhauling the state insurance code.

The Insurance Code Revision Committee, armed with a $25,000 appropriation, met for the first time Monday and agreed to hire a consultant as soon as possible.

First, the seven-member bipartisan committee had to organize, and it began with the election of a chairman. Smith, a Georgetown Democrat, won out over William F. Lynch II, a Wilmington attorney and chairman of the ad hoc committee that recommended the code revision study. Lynch is a Republican.

The vote was on straight party lines. There are four Democrats, and three Republicans, including the present insurance commissioner, Robert A. Short, on the committee.

It was Short who defeated Smith in 1962 in Smith's bid for a third term as insurance commissioner.

There was a bit of political play, but the committee wasted no time in preparing for the study. Rep. Harry S. Wilson, D-Wilmington, chairman of the House Insurance and Banking Committee, was elected secretary.

The committee voted to seek an extension of the deadline for completion of its work—now set for Sept. 30 to Jan. 15. And it agreed to give would-be committee consultants a month to submit proposals on how they would handle the job.

The committee agreed to undertake a thorough study of all the state insurance laws and to revise and fill in the many gaps.

"One of the great things we can accomplish is to raise the professional status of the insurance agent," said Short, the commissioner.

Smith, the former commissioner, replied: "What we disagreed four years ago, I'm glad to see you now agree with."

RACEWAY STOCK MAY BE OFFERED

The Delaware State Fair Association is planning to grant some autonomy to the Kent and Sussex Raceway and offer stock in the harness track for public sale.

George O. Simpson, general manager of the fair, said the plan is aimed at providing money to build a new plant for the track on the state fairgrounds near here.

He disclosed the plans last week but declined to go into detail or say when it would be in operation. He said, however, the first step would be to file a stock registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Simpson said the fair's attorneys are working on a "separate" plan but it has not been approved by the fair directors.

The fair association owns all the stock in the parimutuel track, and most of the profits from the track are plowed into capital improvements for the fair.

"The fair association itself has never paid and does not intend to pay any dividend to its stockholders," Simpson said. However, Simpson said the stock in the fair has appreciated in recent years.

He did not say whether the fair association or the stockholders themselves would hold stock in the new track, or how much stock would be offered to the public.

Md. Woman Found Dead At Home

The body of Mrs. Emma Hayes Eddington, 79, was found early Tuesday in her home where she lived alone. A plastic bag was over her head, town police said.

Dr. R. H. Beckert, of Bridgeville, deputy Sussex County medical examiner, issued a certificate of death by self-inflicted asphyxiation.

Mrs. Eddington was the widow of J. Robert Eddington, commercial poultry and hatchery dealer of Federalsburg, Md. A native of the Greenwood area, she had lived in Dover, Wilmington and Federalsburg, Md., before moving to Bridgeville in 1962.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Frank A. Holloway, of Selbyville; a brother, Lawrence Hayes, of Wilmington; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Paul Horsey, of West Springville, Va., and two step-grandchildren.

Services were held yesterday afternoon at the Williamson Funeral Home in Federalsburg. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Kent County Levy Court Cuts Tax Rate to 35 Cents

The Kent County Levy Court Tuesday cut the county tax-rate almost in half after learning the property assessments has increased $57 million.

The tax-rate cut, from 65 to 35 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, was approved unanimously after the Levy Court received figures showing a total county property assessment of $197,408,000.

The assessment increase of $57,283,502 is chiefly the result of a two-year reappraisal of county property by an outside appraisal firm. The Clemmishaw Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio, hired by the Levy Court, reported it found many properties which for years had escaped the county tax-books.

Levy Court President James B. Messick called the new rate the lowest in the county's history. It will take effect July 1, the start of the next fiscal year.

All other things being equal, the owner of a $15,000 home will find his tax bill $27 lower next year, because of the reduced rate. Based on an assessment of 60 per cent of market value, a 65-cent rate would bring a tax of $58.50 on a $15,000 home while a 35-cent rate will bring $31.50.

Without Tuesday's Levy Court action, the Kent rate automatically would have dropped 15 cents. Legislation passed last year allowed the county to raise its rate above the statutory 50-cent maximum, as an emergency measure, for one year. Under that bill, however, the maximum becomes effective again July 1.

Messick recalled that county reappraisal was a 1962 campaign issue and that he said during the campaign the reappraisal should have been accomplished 20 years ago.

Commissioner L. Winfred Hughes said the county expects to collect $721,861 in taxes next year. The remainder of its income comes from county agencies which collect fees that revert to the county.

The Board of Assessment figures submitted to the Levy Court showed an estimated 90,937 persons paying a capitation tax of $1.25 each. Included in the assessment figures was $3,046,000 for trailers throughout the county.

The assessment breakdown: Duck Creek Hundred—$19,559,600, a gain of $5,237,959.

Kenton Hundred—$9,332,400, an increase of $3,296,752.

West Dover Hundred—$7,801,600, an increase of $2,127,465.

Little Creek Hundred—$6,342,600, an increase of $1,672,885.

Mispillion Hundred—$16,005,100, an increase of $6,172,885.

North Murderkill Hundred—$22,837,000, an increase of $6,689,830.

South Murderkill Hundred—$14,681,800, an increase of $5,086,116.

Milford Hundred—$17,235,000, an increase of $5,460,455.

East Dover Hundred—$83,012,600, an increase of $20,538,989.

GOP HOPEFULS BLOOMING IN KENT COUNTY

Kent County Republican candidates are blossoming like the dogwood trees after a series of meetings last week in the county's five representative districts.

The meetings produced two candidates for the new five-member Levy Court, several potential candidates for the legislature and the possibility of a three-man race for the nomination for state senator in the 14th District (Dover).

The man mentioned by party leaders as an opponent of Andy Foltz and Edward J. Graham in the Senate race is former state representative Stanley C. Mikell. Mikell said however, he would rather talk about the Kentucky Derby.

"August is a long time off," he said. (The GOP primary is Aug. 20).

He said both Foltz, a former county chairman, and Graham, a retired Air Force officer, are good men. Of his possible candidacy, Mikell said, "Right now it doesn't look like it's in the making."

Some party sources predicted that Graham will withdraw as a candidate and be succeeded by Mikell, but both Graham and County Chairman John B. Carson denied this.

Carson said Ernest Zimmerman of near Little Creek will be the Republican candidate for Levy Court from the 26th Representative District which is represented in the legislature by Zimmerman's brother, Jacob W., a Democrat.

Several men are interested in opposing Rep. Zimmerman, Carson said, including the man he beat in 1964, Glenn A. Richter, of Dover;

Mrs. Walter H. Moore

Layman Richard Adams assisted the Rev. Donald Washburn with the Sunday morning service. The Rev. Washburn's Sunday morning message was "The Meaning of Life". The Junior Choir sang "Scattering Seeds of Kindness." The Sunday morning friendly greeters were Mrs. A. C. Dill and Mrs. Hattie Eaton. There will be a special offering on Mother's Day for the Methodist Country House, Wilmington.

Children's Day Services were held in the Church Sunday evening and very well attended. The Willing Workers Class met Wednesday evening, April 27 for a covered dish supper and meeting. The hostesses for the supper were Mrs. Lynn Torbert, Mrs. Thomas Kelley and Mrs. Dale Hammond. Dale Hammond, the class president, presided at the meeting. Bible reading was by Paul Wolkoski Jr. and opening prayer by Richard Adams. Happy Birthday was sung to those having birthdays in April. The class will present flowers to the oldest mother, the youngest mother and the mother with the most children attending church services on Mother's Day. The class also voted to have their country store and aprons at the Street Fair this year. The class will meet May 25 for a pot-luck supper. June, July and August will be picnics.

Due to the rainy weather the Avon Club of Felton did not go to Wintertur on Wednesday, April 27. The club met this Wed., May 4 for a business meeting and closing tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Moore were in Wilmington Tuesday.

Miss Elma Eaton was a Tuesday luncheon guest of Mrs. Robert Jester at Alexander's, Dover.

Mrs. Lynn Torbert and Mrs. Helen Harrington went to West Chester, Pa., Friday to bring Jimmy Blades home for the weekend. Jimmy, a student at West Chester State College, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Blades.

Wilbert Sherwood Sr., who has been a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. A. C. Dill and Mrs. Bess Hargadine were Saturday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cain Sr.

Mrs. Paul Chase, Paradise Alley Road, returned home last week after being a patient in Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Thomas L. Kates, who has been a patient in the Kent General Hospital, Dover, returned to her home Wednesday of last week.

Saturday evening dinner guests of Miss Elma Eaton were Mrs. Virginia C. Morrow and Mrs. Helen Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hughes spent the weekend in Kirkwood Gardens, Wilmington, with Mrs. Lee Hughes and sons, Billy, Jeff and David. Lee Hughes is still a patient in the Wilmington General Hospital, Wilmington.

Mrs. Evelyn Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Moore were Saturday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Chambers and son, Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Parsons, of Seaford, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Parson's mother, Mrs. A. C. Dill.

Miss Elma Eaton was Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Moore at Betty's, Dover.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Steward spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Thelma McWhite, who moved near Newark, over the weekend.

Mrs. Lillie Blades was Sunday dinner guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Torbert.

Jay McGinnis, a senior at the University of Delaware, Newark, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion McGinnis.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Raughley and guests, their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Elton Raughley, of Wyoming, attended the annual food show given by Covey and Company, at Seaford, Sunday afternoon.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday, May 2, at the church. Mrs. Charles Harrison was in charge of the worship service, which consisted of a hymn, scripture reading and prayer. Mrs. Marion McGinnis was program leader and conducted a very impressive pledge service. Mrs. McGinnis was assisted by Mrs. Charles Harrison, Mrs. Howard Henry and Mrs. Bess Hargadine. The service closed with a hymn and a prayer. Mrs. Russell Torbert, acting president, presided at the business meeting. Regular reports were given by the secretary and treasurer. It was announced that the annual Peninsula Conference will be held at the Civic Center, Rehoboth Beach, May 26. The treasurer reported that $96.57 was cleared from the recent soup sale. W.S.C.S. reports of chairmen are to be in by May 5. A rummage sale is planned for Thursday and Friday of this week. Mrs. Russell Torbert is chairman of the sale. St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Notes

Calendar for May 6 - 12

SUNDAY—8 a.m. Holy Communion. 9:30 a.m. Church school. 10:45 a.m. Morning prayer, sermonette and adults' sermon. 12 noon Coffee hour. 12:15 Meeting of Women of St. Stephen's.

12:45 p.m. Episcopal Church broadcast "The Witness" with Robert Young as master of ceremonies.

MONDAY—6:30 p.m. Scout dedication and flag ceremony.

7:30 p.m. Meeting of Vestry.

TUESDAY—7 p.m. Pre-marital counseling.

WEDNESDAY—7:30 p.m. Healing service.

THURSDAY—7:45 p.m. Choir rehearsal.

This coming Sunday, May 8, we salute all mothers in the church militant and in the churches triumphant and expectant as well. In recent years Mother's Day has become the festival of the Christian home. Therefore the sermon for this morning will deal with that subject. We pray for all mothers that the coming year will be blessed in every way.

Next Sunday, May 15 is Rogation Sunday at which time the service of blessing of grounds and equipment used in the production of crops will be held again at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winkler and family, on the Frederica Road. Also again this year the people of Christ Church in Greenville will be the guests of St. Stephen's both for the rogation service and for an out-of-doors covered-dish dinner. All families of the church are asked to bring at least two covered dishes and the men will be in charge of purchasing and preparing meat, beverages, and bread.

The following Sunday (May 22) the congregation of Christ Church in Greenville has invited the people of St. Stephen's, as many as can go, to attend their 11 a.m. service and to stay for a buffet luncheon and a tour of the old DuPont powder mills nearby and of the Hagley Museum. Any persons desiring to go to this who have not already let Carrington Burgess have their names should do so certainly no later than this coming Tues., May 10. Anyone needing transportation to and from Greenville should be in contact with the vicar.

Members of the Women of St. Stephen's are reminded that this coming Sunday is the day on which their United Thank Offering is presented. The United Thank Offering is used primarily for missions both at home and abroad and over the years literally millions of dollars have been given in this way by the women of the church. Those who present their U.T.O. boxes should place them in the collection plates at the time of the offertory.

It will be noticed that on Monday at 6:30 p.m. an azalea which was given by Girl Scout Troop No. 679, the troop which is sponsored by the Women of St. Stephen's will be dedicated. This will take place at the flag pole and will include the flag ceremony of the Girl Scouts of America. Everyone is invited to attend. The people of St. Stephen's very much appreciate this gesture of gratitude on the part of the girl scouts.

It was announced in last Sunday's news items and bulletin that about 15 youths would attend the Kent County Episcopal youth retreat at Camp Arrowhead on last weekend. We are happy to announce that St. Stephen's had 2 youths there out of a total of about 40 youths from the Convocation. This speaks very good for St. Stephen's and we are happy to be able to commend our leaders of youth on such good response.

Next week beginning with May 17 and ending on Ascension Day which is May 19, the Rev. Seymour Flinn will be the guest of St. Stephen's. Mr. Flinn was missionary for six years to Uganda on the Nile. He will come to St. Stephen's however, to speak primarily on the total mission of the church which will naturally include missions but will not be devoted to it exclusively. He will meet with the various organizations of the church, all of which will be notified either at their meetings or by letter as to times they will meet. On one of these evenings there will probably be a covered dish dinner honoring Mr. Flinn and for the entertainment of our ow church family. Please watch the newspaper and bulletins carefully for future announcements concerning this matter.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. CLIFF MILLER

HUMAN RELATIONS

As we near the end of the school year and read so much about finding employment for the graduating seniors, I am reminded of my own complications when I arrived at a similar stage. Some of "Winnie's Hobo Wanderings," also help bring them to light more vividly, and he asked me to give him the story for its human relations effect.

Together with my two buddies (John Cornelia and Harry Clossen), we set out for the harvest fields of the midwest, equipped with three tooth brushes and one razor. We had absolutely nothing else but the clothes we wore, and they were well-worn clothes. We averaged six dollars apiece. Hitch-hiking had not yet been invented, because this was before the days of automobiles and improved roads. Transportation was by rail and hobo language for getting there by freight was "roughing it." By passenger (without funds was "blind - baggage.") We chose the latter to leave our home town of Blairsville, Pa., on the main line sixty-five miles east of Pittsburgh, where we climbed aboard train No. 1, while making a passenger stop. We got between the rear of the engine and front of the first mail car. Got off at East Liberty Street (first stop in Pittsburgh) at 11 p. m. Climbed over an iron fence under Penn Ave. overhead street bridge into the hands of a policeman who naturally took us for ruffians, and we sure looked the part since facing coal dust and cinders from the engine.

We intended to get a street car to the Schenly district where we had an address of an old friend, John Sullivan, who moved there from our home town three years before. Told our story to the officer, who was very cooperative. He took us to a police station in the Schenly district and had us tell our story to the sergeant, who evidently checked up on the Sullivan address while we were washing our faces, then let us sleep in the bunk room and had John Sullivan there to greet us in the morning. Another officer went into a restaurant with us nearby and bade us good-bye and good luck after saying we were his prisoners eating on the city. He directed us by street car, to Carnegie, west of Pittsburgh, where we boarded a rattler (freight) to Columbus, Ohio. Three days later on the Rock Island, somewhere near Bloomfield, Iowa, we were forced to detain at a water station while they were setting off cattle cars on a siding.

A cattle hand informed us that a nearby rancher could use some help, so we washed up and took off across the wide open spaces and found plenty of good hard work that did a lot for us, physically, financially, and mentally during almost three months in the fields, in the straw and in the raw. Were paid three dollars a day and fed well. That was big money in those days, and with no place or time to spend any of it, we came away from there ninety dollars richer than when we arrived. We worked from sunup to sundown, and then ran three and a half miles to the nearest bathing spot, a small tributary to the Des Moines River, sprawled out in haymow on rainy nights, and straw stacks in good weather.

We were hale and hearty, but a little homesick and had plenty of time to think up plans for getting back home without having to draw on our hard earnings. Back at the cattle pens we made sure the wood pin that held the small sliding end-door of one of the cattle cars near the middle of the train, was left out.

"That's where we came," we closed the door, put in the pin and made our way around above the cattle, to where we could crawl in on our bellies above the iron-rod hay racks overlooking the 28 steers that filled the car.

This was at a m. on the Friday morning, and we lay in that cramped prone position until 7 p. m., Saturday, while moving into Kerr's Island yards on Pittsburgh's north side.

We never could have stood this much punishment had it not been for the fine physical condition we were in, and we were really "taking it" because we were on a high-wheeler making good time, and "going back home."

There is no trip that thrilled me more,
 No matter where I roam,
 'Tis this that I would sing about,
 The one that brings me home.

The swinging of the cars to me,
 Was rhythm for a poem,
 The creaking, grinding of the wheels,
 Kept saying, "going home."

It's fine to seek the roamer's lot,
 And through strange places roam,
 But how I loved the music,
 When the wheels sang, "going home."

* Assoc. Ed's Note: A high-wheeler is a "cannon ball, a hot rod, or a manifest. These trains are through freights. They make better time than a passenger train. They do as much speed as the tracks will take. Noteworthy is the 'Strawberry Express' that used to come through town going between ninety and one hundred miles an hour. She was steam, and the firemen had to shovel coal all the way from Norfolk to Philadelphia. You see they had to keep the whistle blowing all the way."

Mrs. Andrew J. Palmer Sr.

Mrs. Fannie D. Palmer, 78, died Monday in Pleasant View Nursing Home, Dover, after a long illness. She was the widow of Andrew J. Palmer Sr. of Frederica.

Mrs. Palmer was a member of Trinity Methodist Church in Frederica and was a native Delawarean.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs.

Edna Morrison, of Dover; two sons, Andrew J. Jr. and William R. Thomas, both of Frederica; two brothers, Herman Thomas, Frederica, and John Thomas, Milford; four grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild.

Services were held yesterday afternoon in the church. Friends called at the Lofland Funeral Home, in Milton, Wednesday night.

YOU DEAR OLD MOTHER OF MINE

Sometimes in the hush of the evening hour,
 When the shadows creep to the west,
 I think of the twilight songs you sang,
 And the boy you lulled to rest.

The wee little boy with the curls on his head,
 That so long ago was thine,
 I wonder if sometimes you long for that boy,
 You dear old mother of mine.

And now he's come to man's estate,
 Grown big in body and strong,
 And you'll hardly know that he was the lad,
 Whom you lulled with your slumber song.

The years have altered the form and the life
 And his heart is unchanged by time,
 But he is still your only boy as of old,
 You dear old mother of mine.

Pledge Service Held at Asbury

"Dreams and Realities" was the theme for the pledge service of the Asbury Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Audrey Schreck was leader for the program, assisted by Mrs. Fred Greenly, who gave devotions, Mrs. William W. Sharp, Mrs. Fulton J. Downing, Mrs. Guy Winebrenner, and Mrs. William A. Minner. They discussed the varied projects which are maintained by the pledge monies from the societies.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. George W. Hanson, a member of the Asbury Society.

Mrs. Floyd Nasser, president, told of two important meetings which will be held in the near future. The first is "A Day on Campus" to be held on Tuesday, May 17 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Wesley College, Delaware Hall. A full day's program for those attending has been planned. Anyone wishing to go to the meeting should call Mrs. Nasser before Sun, May 8. The second meeting is the annual meeting of Peninsula Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service, to be held at the Civic Auditorium in Rehoboth Beach on Thurs., May 26 at 10 p.m. Theme for the day will be "What Does the Lord Require of You?". Mrs. William J. Garrett will bring the presidents message and Dr. Elizabeth Miller, a medical missionary, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Miller, formerly of Wilmington, has recently returned with her husband from Nepal where they have served for the past eight years. Anyone who can attend this meeting as a delegate, should call Mrs. Earle Nelson before May 8, so that she can make the reservations, and arrange for the necessary credentials.

Highlighting the meeting also was the annual awards for greatest attendance by a circle during the past year. This was presented to Mrs. William Stokes leader of Rebekah Circle for a total attendance of 103. Second best attendance was presented to Mrs. William W. Sharp of the Mary Circle with 83 members. Mrs. Stokes was also awarded a prize for having the most new members join the Society during the year—5. A grand total of 495 members attended the meetings during the 1965-66 term.

Mrs. Mary Willey, membership cultivation secretary, announced that Mrs. Louis Hopkins had joined the Rebekah Circle this month.

The bazaar at the Neighborhood House in Wilmington is scheduled for Sat., May 28. All societies in the Peninsula Conference are asked to send items for the affair. Mrs. Fulton Downing will be taking any items from Asbury Society to Wilmington this Friday. Members wishing to send items for the fish pond, used articles, men's toiletries, arts or crafts, aprons, etc., should get the things to her before Friday.

The Rebekah Circle served as hostesses following the adjournment of the meeting.

The June meeting will be "Chosen For Action" with Mrs. Guy Winebrenner leader, and Mary Circle as hostesses. The date will be June 7.

It's no disgrace to make the most of convenience foods. In fact, at times it pays to take advantage of the "built in maid-service". With a little imagination "store bought" foods can become gourmet creations. Consider the rolls of refrigerator biscuits—the kind that come from the dairy counter. Use them to make a hot loaf of "French bread". Remove two rolls from the package and place the ends together to make one long loaf on a baking pan. Shape gently with your hands so all the sections will hold together. Brush the top with egg white and sprinkle with poppy seeds, sesame seeds or whatever else you have on hand. Bake at 400 degrees for about 30 minutes. When the loaf is done it will pull apart at the ready-made sections for neat slices. You can serve it as is or split the sections part of the way through, spread on a little garlic or herb butter and pop back into the oven a few minutes.

Use individual biscuits to make delicious "stickies" for a breakfast treat. Start with a muffin tin—one with the teflon coating will be especially nice. Into each cup pour about a tablespoon each of melted butter and a dark syrup—either maple or corn syrup. Add a few chopped nut meats. With kitchen shears or a knife cut each biscuit into thirds and gently form the pieces into little balls. Swish them around in the syrup mixture and arrange three in each cup. After 8 to 10 minutes at 400 degrees you'll have delicious cloverleaf stickies. Cheese pocketbooks make an excellent addition to a special dinner. Roll each biscuit out flat. Place a small cube of cheddar cheese on top and fold in half Parker House Style. Seal the edges. Bake 8 to 10 minutes at 400 degrees. To make bread sticks, roll a biscuit between your hands until it looks like a pencil. Swish it through melted butter, place it on a baking sheet and sprinkle with your favorite herb. Bake 8 to 10 minutes at 400 degrees.

FENCE TALK

with George K. Vapaa

Preserving green space near growing cities continues to draw attention. A new study in northern Virginia shows that a large, well-managed dairy farm can support land values of about $800 per acre in the best soil areas. But, says William J. Stevens, chairman of the National Capital Regional Planning Council, raw land sells for more than the usual enterprise can support in all but the most outlying portions of the urbanizing area. If farming is to play a role in preserving open space, he adds, farmers need to be paid for the purchase of development easements. Or farms could be purchased and leased back for farm operations, as at Columbia, Maryland.

Howard Papen sent me a news clipping from a New Jersey township along the same vein. Howard lives west of Dover and is a member of the Kent County Planning Study Committee. The story tells how Hillsborough proposes to buy easements on 4800 acres of farm land for open space uses. It seems that new housing is blanketing the area with little land set aside for parks or recreation.

Nearly every farm has a selling price or asking piece. The use of an easement, or a lease back agreement, can provide for more orderly growth. It can reduce leap frogging development along our roads caused by scattered sales.

Perhaps $500 per acre is an upper limit as farm value of land in Kent County. Anything above this has an element of speculation. The easement value would be the difference between farm value and value for residential or other development. More on this later.

Weeds! Weeds! Weeds! Farmers and gardeners are concerned about them. So a word about controls, particularly the new chemical weed killers. Use them with a degree of caution. Follow the label instructions exactly. Chemical weed killers are very specific for given crops. You can rarely use them in the average garden where a number of different vegetables are being grown. Too, you must be careful with weed killers on lawns. They may do a good job of controlling weeds in your lawn, but if you are careless, they can also damage your trees, shrubs or flowers planted close by.

In general chemicals work best when the weeds are young and small. This is an excellent time to use 2-4-D broad leaved weed killer on the lawn.

Time for termites to show themselves. So make your regular inspection around the home. Look particularly around the foundations. No wood should be in contact with the soil. So pay particular attention around the door steps. Look for mud tunnels a half-inch wide or so running from the soil to the wooden frame of the foundation. If the wall has cracked a bit, check this carefully for signs of termites.

Don't confuse termites with other ants. Termites are "fat

Ornamental Disease Notes

By Wm. J. Manning, J. W. Heuberger

Twig blight, caused by the fungus Phomopsis juniperovora, has been found recently on several species of juniper in Kent and New Castle Counties. Most species of juniper, as well as some species of cypress, false-cypress and arborvitae, are susceptible.

Twig blight is first noticed when the tips or branches turn brown. This is followed by progressive die-back until an entire branch is killed. Little black specks are usually visible on dead leaves and stems. These are the fruiting bodies of the fungus.

Infected plant parts should be removed and destroyed to prevent further dissemination of the fungus. Acti-Spray, which contains the antibiotic Actidione, should be used according to the manufacturer's recommendations. If this is not available, use maneb at the rate of two tablespoonfuls per gallon for three applications spaced ten days apart.

Die-back of Periwinkle—Vinca minor—has been common in New Castle County this spring.

The disease is caused by the fungus Phomopsis livella. The first recognizable symptom of the disease is when young shoot tips turn dark brown. This is followed by wilting and die-back of the stems to the surface of the soil. Most of the affected stems are blackened and soft. The disease is most common after rainy, cool periods.

Sanitation plays an important part in the control of die-back of periwinkle. Remove badly-infected plants and plant parts and burn them to destroy the fungus present in them. Then spray with maneb or ferbam at the rate of two tablespoonfuls per gallon of water. Make three applications at 10-day intervals.

A GROUP OF POULTRY STORE BUYERS from nearby cities are shown above as they tour Delmarva under the sponsorship of the Delmarva Poultry Industry Association. Their tour gave them an opportunity to see that Delmarvalous chicken is of superior quality because of the excellency of facilities and conditions under which the whole cycle of broiler production is handled here on Delmarva. In addition to informational sessions and film presentations, they actually saw a hatchery, a feed mill, a broiler-growing operation and a processing plant.

Panama Ag Officials Visit Farms, U. of D.

Three directors of agriculture from Panama recently concluded a 21-day visit to Delaware. Ernesto Cordovez D., Remberto Lombardo and Manuel Sayvedra, all from the Panamanian Department of Agriculture, Commerce and Industry, visited Delaware farms and people to become familiar with North American agricultural methods.

Close personal contacts between Panama and Delaware help create a friendly atmosphere that is as important as the information on crops and cattle the agriculturists received, according to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, director of the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service. This visit is one of a series of contacts between Delawareans and Panamanians.

In 1965, a group of Delawareans toured Panama. Making the trip were former governor Elbert N. Carvel; Ernest Davidson, director of the state highway department; Dr. Richard Gousha, director of the state board of education; Dr. Maynard Mires, director of the state board of public health; Dr. Paul Dolan, professor of political science at the University of Delaware; and William Frank, Wilmington newspaper columnist. With Edwin Golin, director of the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) in Panama, they traveled more than 900 miles in a jeep caravan to study projects to promote economic development.

The North Americans indicated their intention to invest time, know-how and money in Panama. Working with the Alliance for Progress and USAID, they decided to emphasize increased agricultural production.

Cordovez, Lombardo and Sayvedra are not strangers to the United States; all three are graduates of colleges of agriculture in this country. This year they devoted their vacations to a trip to Delaware to seek out ways to help increase agricultural production in Panama. "Although Panama and Delaware vary greatly in climate and soil conditions, methods used to improve agricultural production should be similar," according to Cordovez.

The visitors were particularly interested in soybeans and corn; yields on Panamanian farms are low compared to Delaware yields. "Your farmers use more fertilizer and better seed, and they have much better weed control," Cordovez said.

Research is under way in Panama to develop hybrid corn varieties that will be adapted to Panamanian growing conditions. A hybrid cross with Mexican corn seems most promising, according to Sayvedra.

Herbicide weed control in soybeans and corn interested the visitors. Mechanized cultivation for weed control is often a problem on the small farms of Panama, and chemical weed control may be one of the answers to improved yields.

Except for a few that are larger, most Panamanian crop farms have about 75 acres, Cordovez pointed out. The cost of just a tractor can be prohibitive for a farmer with only 75 acres, he said. Therefore, at the present time, only the larger farms are mechanized, although the government is fostering the growth of cooperatives and trade unions to help increase mechanization.

The Panamanian agriculturists are taking samples of several soybean varieties back with them. If these varieties can help improve the yield per acre, a soybean oil industry may be developed in Panama.

"Delaware's broiler industry is impressive," Cordovez stated. Although Panama's poultry industry is small by comparison, it is large enough for the present market. "Chicken is a special treat to us; it is much too expensive for every day." The type of contracts and the type of handling, marketing and equipment which helped the broiler industry reduce poultry prices in Delaware were, for this reason, particularly interesting to the agriculturists from Panama.

Livestock, both for beef and milk, is the main agricultural industry in Panama. The University of Delaware's award-winning Holstein herd was a highlight of their tour, according to Lombardo. Purebred Holstein, Brown Swiss, Charolais, Angust, Santa Gertrudes and the Brahma or Cebu are all raised in Panama.

"We will take back information that should be of great assistance to us," all three visitors agreed. "However, the friendliness we found everywhere will be the most important memory of our visit."

4 Del. 4-H'ers Attend Tea At White House

Personal greetings from President Lyndon B. Johnson and a tea given at the White House by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Orville Freeman, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, were highlights of the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C., April 17 to 22. Four Delaware 4-H Club members were among the 225 delegates at the conference.

Kay Aist, Newark; Dolores Tinley, Dover; Cecil Holland, Townsend; and David Lloyd, Georgetown, were selected on the basis of their 4-H activities, leadership abilities, citizenship and community service, according to James O. Baker, state 4-H leader. Vice-president Hubert Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture

Alaskan Miss Enters Chicken Festival

Miss Susan Ellsworth of Juneau, Alaska, will be traveling 4500 miles to cook her recipe entitled "No Fuss Chicken-Rice Bake" in the finals of the National Chicken Cooking Contest.

It was through her Home Economics Extension Agent, Miss Charlotte Tompkins that Susan heard of the contest. Because Susan is a most competent cook and lends an enthusiastic charm to all that she does, Miss Tompkins encouraged Susan to submit a recipe entry.

Susan's culinary artistry will be put to test against 65 others in the Junior Division of this great national event that attracts non-professional cooks from all parts of the country. The national cook-off will be held in conjunction with the annual Delmarva Chicken Cooking Festival June 16, 17 and 18 in Pocomoke City, Md.

Susan is the oldest of five children. Her mother is a nurse, working in a local hospital. Her father built their two story log house in which the family lives. She works part time at the local post office. She is a Junior 4-H leader, has led a food project for younger children and did a great part of the planning for the 4-H camp last year.

It should be extremely interesting having Susan here on Delmarva to tell about her native area. Already we have learned that there are no roads or railroads leading into Juneau. In order to take a car from Juneau one must put it on a ferry to Prince Rupert or go north to Haines and drive back. It is also interesting to note that Alaska will be celebrating 100 years of American ownership in 1967.

Susan's recipe is: NO - FUSS CHICKEN-RICE

BAKE

1 (3 oz.) pkg. Lipton Dry Onion Soup; 1 (10 1/2 oz.) can Cream of Mushroom Soup; 1 1/2 cans water; 1/2 cup dry rice; 1 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 lb. cut-up broiler-fryer chicken.

Mix all ingredients together. Place in shallow baking dish. Arrange chicken on top. Sprinkle with 2 teaspoons paprika. Bake 1 1/2 to 2 hours at 350 degrees. Serves 4. (May cover with foil).

U. of D. Students Win Top Honors In Poultry Judging

The University of Delaware poultry judging team won honors in the poultry production division of the Southern Collegiate Poultry Judging Contest April 21 and 22 at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Teams from nine state competed.

In addition to team honors, Irvin C. Ware, Penns Grove, N. J., was awarded a first place trophy in the individual poultry production judging; Edward G. Hahn, Claymont, placed second. Both students had perfect scores, making a tie breaker necessary. Vaughn I. Elliott, Laurel, was the third member of the winning team. All three team members are seniors in the College of Agricultural Sciences. Daniel Palmer, instructor and research associate in the department of Animal Science and agricultural biochemistry, accompanied the team as a coach.

The contestants were required to judge by sight alone the past production performance of 25 birds. The competition involves decisions under pressure and a view of poultry from the standpoint of the whole animal instead of the microscopic level, according to Palmer.

The Knoxville Dogwood Festival coincided with the contest; team members also participated in a tour of the Dogwood Trail, attended art exhibits and a dramatic presentation.

Boat Trips For Delmarva Chicken Festival Visitors

Visitors to the Delmarva Chicken Festival, June 16, 17, and 18, will see a piece of Florida tucked away in Pocomoke City on the lower Eastern Shore. Florida is represented by the tropic-like jungle of cypress and other vegetation growing along the edges of the Pocomoke River that empties into Chesapeake Bay at the Virginia boundary after winding its way many miles from Delaware through Wicomico and Worcester Counties.

Visitors to the Festival can avail themselves of this scenic beauty by taking boat rides on the river boat "Paddle Queen," a 75-foot, 100 passenger, Coast Guard approved, diesel propelled water going vessel from out of the past, on Thursday and Friday, of the festival from 10:00 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Avid fresh water fishermen should bring their rods and reels when visiting Pocomoke because it has been considered by many to be the best fresh water fishing to be found anywhere. Those catching trophy size bass, pike, crappie and the like, can enter the National Bass Round-up which will be in progress during the Festival. There is no entry charge and all fish caught by hook and line will be weighed and certified without cost. Fishing is permitted day or night and no licenses are needed to fish the Pocomoke and its tidal ponds.

Because the river is a tidal stream, there is both upstream and downstream flow, making it ideal for float fishing. Most anglers say low tide is best for bass fishing because the bass are forced out of the cypress swamps which border the river into the main stream.

Bill Burton, outdoor editor of the Baltimore Sun Papers, calls Pocomoke his favorite freshwater fishing spot.

Simplify Mowing With Proper Preparation

Warm weather, spring rains and now green grass—obviously mowing season is here. Keeping lawns beautiful will be much easier if the lawn mower works well. Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware, points out.

Clean and tune up the motor of a power mower now, so that it will do a good job all season, he recommends. Sharpen the mower blades so it will cut, not shred, the grass.

This is also a good time to set the mower at the proper height for grass cutting. Bluegrass and fescues should be cut about two inches above the ground. The green blades of grass manufacture food for the plant; therefore, the plant is injured when they are removed in mowing. The degree of injury depends on the amount of blade cut.

If bluegrass and fescues are cut much shorter than two inches above the ground, root growth may stop for several days or even weeks. Try not to remove more than half of the leaf blade at each mowing, advises Dr. Mitchell.

Naturally, how often the grass is cut is also important. The lower the grass is cut, the more frequently it should be cut to avoid removing more than half the leaf blade at one time. That is the reason most putting greens on golf courses are cut three or four times a week. With close mowing, frequent mowing is necessary.

Debris usually piles up on the lawn during the winter months; clean off the stones, sticks, toys, bones, wire and papers before mowing. This is one of the ways to help prevent lawn mower accidents, according to E. N. Scarborough, agricultural engineer at the University.

He also suggests that running a power mower is not a job for children; only a person familiar with the mower should operate it. In fact, all people and pets should keep away from an operating mower. Never leave the engine running while the mower is unattended. If the mower becomes clogged, shut off the engine and disconnect the spark plug wire before unclogging the blade. Follow the same safety rules for riding mowers as for push type mowers. Never allow an extra rider to sit on the mower.

Don't operate electric mowers when the ground is wet. The operator will be in danger on wet ground if the cord is cut or if the mower has a short circuit.

Mow across embankments—never up or down, recommends Scarborough. Always push the mower; if it is pulled backward, objects struck by the blade will fly back and may hit you. Never allow the mower to pull you; adjust the speed to your walking speed. Use the slowest blade speed possible. High blade speeds are not only dangerous, they also cause excess mower wear.

Chicken Adds Another Feather To Its Crown

Chicken, the world's most versatile and universal feast dish, has added another feather to its crown.

Once again, the National Father's Day Committee has chosen it as the typical American dish to be served at their annual Fathers Day Luncheon, May 26, in the grand ballroom of New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The committee's choice for 1966's Father-of-the-Year will be announced at the luncheon.

Jim Beard, New York City, famed cookbook author and gourmet, has nominated "Alpine Chicken Breasts" as the recipe for the luncheon and his recommendation for serving on Father's Day, celebrated nationally on Sun., June 19. The recipe was one of the top winners in the barbecue division of the National Chicken Cooking Contest finals last June at Salisbury, Md. Beard was a judge at the contest.

Other nominations for their favorite Father's Day recipe have come from Silvie Schumann Reice, editor-in-chief of Ingenu Magazine; Helen Feingold, food editor, TV Guide; Eleanor Ney, women's editor for Westchester Publishers, and Dora McCann of "The McCanns at Home" show, Station WOR. Like Beard, all were judges at last year's chicken cookoff in Salisbury.

Mrs. Reice recommends a recipe with the unlikely name of "Delicatessen Chicken". She terms it a real he-man dish. It won second place for finalist Nanette Brown of Philadelphia, last June in the junior division of the national cookoff at Salisbury.

Helen Feingold's favorite is called "Apricot Caroussel Chicken" and it was one of the top prize winners in the cooking contest's portable appliance division. Most suitable for Father's Day, according to Eleanor Ney and Dora McCann is a dish they sampled and tested as chief judges of the senior division of the 1965 National Chicken Cookoff. It's called "Parmesan Fried Chicken".

Sponsors of the Chicken-Father's Day promotion this year include the Delmarva Poultry Industry Association and the Sunbeam Corporation. They plan distribution of the four Father's Day recipes chosen by the food editors both in family-dinner form as cooked at the National Chicken Cookoff and also in quantity form suitable for restaurant and hotel use.

Here are the four recipes, family style and also as adapted for quantity use by TV Guide's Helen Feingold:
ALPINE CHICKEN BREASTS
Walter Schmelzer, Detroit, Mich.
4 chicken breasts boned and skinned
8 slices Switzerland Swiss cheese
3 tbs. well-drained sauerkraut
4 tbs. Thousand Island Dressing
1/2 cup butter
Line fire box with foil; let coals burn down until covered with gray ashes. Cut the breasts in halves and pound them gently in a plastic bag until they are 1/4 inch thick. Lay out 4 breasts and on each place a slice of cheese large enough to cover the breast almost to the edge. Place 2 tablespoons of sauerkraut on each cheese then a tablespoon of dressing, another slice of cheese and top with a chicken breast. Fasten with skewers or picks all around to hold the mixture in. Fashion a pan with a double thickness of aluminum foil large enough to hold the 4 chicken breasts bundles. Put 1/4 cup of the butter in the pan over the coals and melt. Grill the breasts six inches from the coals for 30 minutes turning often and baste with the remaining 1/4 cup of butter to keep them from burning. Serves four. Cooking time 30 minutes.

25-SERVINGS-INDOORS
25 whole chicken breasts, boned and skinned
50 slices Switzerland Swiss cheese (about 2 pound thinly sliced)
3 cups well drained sauerkraut
1 1/2 cups Thousand Island Dressing
3 cups butter or margarine
Follow same directions as for above recipe.
PARMESAN FRIED CHICKEN
Mrs. A. J. Redmon
Donaldsonville, La.
1 2-2 1/2 lb. ready-to-cook frying chicken
2 cups Mazola Corn Oil
2 tbs. Parmesan grated cheese
1 tbs. salt
1 tsp. red pepper
1 tsp. paprika
1 cup self rising flour
1 cup milk
Dip chicken in milk, add salt, mix flour, cheese, pepper and paprika together; work into chicken until well coated; fry in corn oil at 350 degrees, turning 2 or 3 times with fork or tongs until cooked tender, (about 30 minutes). Never pierce; regulate heat 300 to 325 degrees and brown as cooked at the National Chicken Cookoff and also in quantity form suitable for restaurant and hotel use.

APRICOT CAROUSEL CHICKEN
Mrs. Ralph J. White
Melrose Park, Pa.
1 3 1/2 lb. frying chicken, whole
1/4 cup melted butter
2/3 cup pured apricots
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 tbs. sherry wine
1 tsp. salt
Wash chicken in cold water, pat dry with paper towel. Rub inside cavity with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Truss chicken for spit roasting in the Sunbeam Caroussel

Broiler. Place chicken on spit, and add 1/2 cup water to drip tray, as per appliance directions. Brush outside surface with melted butter. Cover and begin roasting. While chicken cooks, make glaze by combining apricots, wine, brown sugar and salt. After one hour, stop broiler, remove cover and coat chicken with glaze. Recover and continue roasting for 15 minutes or until tender. Makes 4 servings.
Makes 24 servings
6 broiler-fryers, 3 1/2 lbs., whole
2 tablespoons salt
1 1/2 cups melted butter
1 quart pured apricots
1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
3/4 cup sherry
Follow same directions as for recipe above.

ly cracked black peppers and caraway seeds. Bake uncovered for 1 to 1 1/4 hours, basting every 15 minutes with the pan juices. Remove chicken to serving platter and pour remaining juices over it. Garnish with the pickles of your choice and serve with plenty of rye bread. The preparation time is 10 minutes and the cooking time is 1 to 1 1/4 hours. This serves 3 to 5 people and it is as good served hot or cold.
Makes 24 Servings
25 chicken breast from 3-3 1/2 lb. chicken (split to lay open but not cut in half)
2 tablespoons monosodium glutamate
1 tsp. onion salt
1 tsp. garlic salt
6 slices hard salami (I use Genoa style)
3 tbs. margarine
1 tsp. Dijon style mustard
1 1/4 cups tomato juice
3/4 cup dry red wine
1/2 tsp. coarsely cracked black peppers
1/2 tsp. caraway seeds.
Preheat oven at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. During this time I prepare my chicken. Gently pull the skin lose from the chicken breasts but do not detach it. Mix monosodium glutamate, onion salt and garlic salt together and rub well into both sides of the chicken breasts. Lay chicken breasts skin side up into large, shallow roasting pan. Use two slices of salami per breast. Place on the meat of the breast and then replace the flap of the skin. Cream margarine and mustard together and spread evenly over the breasts. Pour the wine, and then the tomato juice slowly over the breasts. Sprinkle with coarse-

Wool Payments Under Way In County

Incentive payments to Kent County growers under the 1965 national wool program now are well under way, according to Olin Gooden, chairman, Kent Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. As of April 26, such payments in the County—on shorn wool and unshorn lambs, amounted to $738.83.

The payments on wool represent the percentage necessary to bring the producer's sales returns up to an announced support level. Lamb payments are made under the program to encourage the normal marketing of lambs with the wool on and to prevent unusual shearing of lambs.

The chairman also reminded growers of the continuing need to keep complete records on their sales of wool and lambs and to report their purchase of unshorn lambs when filing applications for program payment.

Where lambs have been owned by more than one producer, the program payment is pro-rated among the various owners. Deductions are made from the payment to any one producer equal to the amount of payment due to prior owner on the liveweight of his sale of unshorn lambs; the payment to each owner is based on the weight gain of the lambs during its ownership.

Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more and which had never been shorn at the time of sale. Likewise, wool payments are made only to a producer who has owned the sheep or lambs from which the wool was shorn for at least 30 days.

The wool payment program was first authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954. It was extended by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 to cover marketing through December 31, 1969. As changed last year, the support level for wool in the future will be related to changes in production and other costs.

The 1966 support price for wool, announced November 24, is 16 cents a pound, 3 cents a pound higher than the support price for 1965.

"JOLLY" IS THE WORD FOR JIM BEARD, as he clears the decks in his Manhattan kitchen for an advanced test-run on his favorite Father's Day recipe, Alpine Chicken Breasts. It was one of the top prizewinners last June in the National Chicken Cooking Contest held in Salisbury, Md. Father's Day is celebrated nationally Sunday, June 19.

Mr. Beard, referred to by one and all as America's foremost authority on delectable food and fine drink, has lent his talents as a judge for the National Chicken Cooking Contest many times and is hoping to come to Pocomoke City June 16, 17, and 18. Mr. Beard's latest book is titled, "Menu's for Entertaining"; his delightful articles appear in "House and Garden", "Woman's Day," and other leading magazines; he is the star of his own television show; and he uses Delmarva Chicken exclusively in his private lecture classes at his home in Manhattan. How does this culinary genius rate the NCCC? When queried by Allen Associates after the 1965 event, he said, quote: "Don't change a thing. It's the greatest." Tributes like these help keep the National Chicken Cooking Contest the important food promotion it has become.

Delaware Food Market Report

That customer demand for beef has not slackened a bit is certainly evidenced by the fact that approximately the same amount of beef has been marketed so far this year as last. But, there will be a $3 or $4 wholesale price increase. The last two weeks receipts have been down as much as 25% and retail prices are reflecting it a bit this week as prices are lower on chuck roast, a few steaks, and steer liver. Most cattle now being marketed are heavier in weight and better in grade finish—yields are also improved.

Most liberal supplies of pork and lack of improvement in consumer demand have resulted in lower prices on hogs and pork wholesale. More supplies are in the 230 pounds or over class—the less desirable—and these animals are in lowest demand. Check smoked hams, pork butts, spare-ribs and some bacon for fair to good buys.

Fryer wholesales have definitely advanced, however, specials can be found on whole birds as well as cut up parts. Turkey roasts vary in price according to quality and the amount of white meat—the all white roasts are the most expensive. There are some good values in whole turkeys, also.

Green peppers are cheaper, and so are cucumbers. Celery hearts have dropped as much as 3 cents on the dollar. Quality on green beans has improved and prices are more reasonable. Cabbage, cooking greens, squash, asparagus, carrots, radishes and sweet corn are other vegetables to check when you shop this week.

Lettuce is a problem this week. Supplies are somewhat less and quality is off. If it's salad greens you are shopping for, be sure to check lettuce carefully before buying, or better yet, consider using other greens such as spinach, endive, and escarole.

Strawberries are in the spotlight at most fruit counters. This is the peak of the season for California berries and North Carolina berries last week. Louisiana is also shipping top quality berries and if weather permits, picking will start in Virginia this weekend. The volume of Florida watermelon is increasing and pineapples from several sources are lower in price. A good volume of oranges are still appearing though demand is relatively slow. Bananas, avocados, cantaloupes and grapefruit are other fruits to consider.

Mrs. Scott Osborne
Mrs. Lucinda Osborne, 91, a native of West Virginia, died Fri., April 29, at the State Home in Smyrna after a long illness. She had been a resident of Wyoming and was a widow of Scott Osborne.
Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William G. Saunders, of Walkersville, W. Va., and Mrs. Carl Prince, of Wyoming.
Funeral Services were held from the Berry Funeral Home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was in Mt. Olive Cemetery, Sandtown.

SPORTS

KEITH S. BURGESS — Sports Editor

Sports Odds And Ends

A recent issue of Delaware Track and Field News, which is published by the Delaware Track and Field Club mentioned former H.H.S. and West Chester State distance ace Dwight Hackett in three different articles.

Dennis Rogers was lauded for his fine season in cross-country at Southern State College in Arkansas.

Randy Knox and Chris Wetherold also received plugs in the issue, Knox for his good work on the University of Delaware track team and Wetherold for his great 5.17 mile in a 12-and-under race in Wilmington.

We bumped into Glenn Smith in the barber shop this week, which brought to mind a theory we have concerning good high school athletes, who enter college. Would it not be a good idea for college coaches in any sport, to recruit a few student volunteers to go over the records of newly-admitted students and ascertain what sports the freshmen participated in while in high school? Some pretty good prospects simply don't respond to the impersonal approach of a sign on a bulletin board stating "Baseball practice starts tomorrow." But if a coach or a member of his staff would talk to these newcomers individually and issue a personal invitation it might result in the unearthing of a "diamond in the rough" from time to time.

Glenn Smith, Roger Betts and Barry Fry are three graduates of H.H.S., who might very well help some University of Delaware teams like Randy Knox is helping the Hen's track team.

Smith cleared 5 ft. 9 in. in the high jump and is now taller and stronger than when he participated here. He might be able to do a pretty good job in baseball, too, since he was an excellent pitcher and infielder.

Barry Fry was a fine high jumper, broad jumper, quarter miler and half miler for Coach Harold McDonald's H.H.S. track team. He neared 53.5 in the quarter and could be approaching 50 seconds flat by now if he had been persuaded to don the Blue and Gold.

Roger Betts was a hard-working No. 7 harrier on the cross-country team that was undefeated in his senior year. But the high school distance of 2.4 miles was actually too short for Roger. One day the older Lion harriers felt like a longer run. After finishing the course at Killen's Pond they did not stop but headed for town. Betts ran seven miles in a swift 40 minutes and 40 seconds. None of the six harriers who could beat him at the high school distance could better 45 minutes. This would indicate that Roger is much better in a longer run. The college distance of 4 to 6 1/4 miles should be made to order for him.

But, we repeat, you must recruit. You cannot merely put up a sign and wait for the candidates to flock in. This, of course, applies to any high school as well as any college.

To some people, it is impossible for an athlete to be a good scholar. Fortunately, there are many good scholar-athletes around who give the lie to this theory. 36 Penn State athletes made the honor roll after the fall term. Five of these posted perfect 4.0 (A-plus) averages. Two of these were cross-country runners, one was a gymnast, one was a wrestler and one was a football player.

Don Robertson, a sixth grade teacher at Georgetown, was an outstanding basketball player for Harrington's town team ten or twelve years ago. Don is now training and driving harness horses in addition to his teaching duties. He owns a string of horses and trains and drives for other owners. Combining the two occupations means a pretty busy life, but Robertson likes it.

Chester Short and Jim Hawpe are doing a good job umpiring high school games in Kent and Sussex Counties. One day recently Bill Muehleisen, like Hawpe, a H.H.S. coach, decided to drive the pair to an assignment and watch them in action. We were driving by Hawpe's house when he and Short came down the steps in their umpires' togs to get into Muehleisen's car. We let loose with a hearty "Boo, Boo." Muehleisen did a swift double take as if to say "My gosh! They haven't even left Harrington and already the booing has started!"

Arnold Palmer's many followers known far and wide as "Arnie's Army" dog the steps of the great golfer as he clubs his way to wealth. Recently to our surprise we discovered one of them had invaded our domicile near Wheeler's Park. Our eight year old son, Matt, informed us that Palmer would win the recent Tournament of Champions, although he trailed Gay Brewer by five strokes going into the final round. Patiently we explained that top flight golfers hardly ever blow a lead like that with only eighteen holes to go. As golfers know Palmer made up the five strokes and then downed Brewer easily in a playoff. What can a fond parent retort to "I told you so, Daddy."

Two 12 year old identical twins named Lon from Frederica, complete with Tom Sawyer-like red hair and freckles, showed up in our yard last week to play "war" with two eight year old friends. One twin and one younger boy made up each of the opposing "Armies". Before the battle ended one of the eight year olds, on two occasions "shot" his partner by mistake.

The cleverest ad lib we've heard lately came from Mike Adams, Henlopen Conference champion wrestler at 95 pounds. At a drive-in restaurant we asked Adams "How come you are alone in the back seat of that car, while the other three fellows sit in the front?" His instantaneous reply was "You're not allowed to have four on the front seat."

Harrington Drubs Millsboro, 19-6

Hurrah for Daylight Saving Time! Harrington High's baseball Lions, coached by John Phillips, due to the absence of the ailing Frank Glazier, won a marathon struggle from Millsboro Tuesday afternoon and evening. If Eastern Standard Time had still been in effect the contest would have been shortened due to darkness. Fans had time to go home, eat the evening meal and return in time to see plenty of action.

Millsboro's record of 3-1 entering the game would indicate that they are a much better club than the 19-6 score indicates. The Blue Devils led with their ace, Gary Cordrey, but he couldn't find the plate. At least three other hurlers followed him and did not do much better. The quartet walked batters and hit others with reckless abandon. When they occasionally came in with a good pitch an error would occur on a batted ball or a Lion would belt out a base hit.

Harrington scored nineteen times in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings. Millsboro trailed 2-1 after 2 1/2 innings but were never in the ball game after that as H.H.S. won its third in five starts.

Tom Simpler had his breaking stuff working to perfection as he made enemy batters look foolish time after time. Simpler fanned several Blue Devils as he chalked up his second victory of the season. He scattered nine hits.

Harrington 10 hit attack was led by catcher Dean Manges with a triple and two singles. Manges led the Lions on the basepaths also, as the locals displayed some excellent baserunning. A Manges steal of third base was a thing of beauty as the stocky receiver with the built-in limp scored five runs.

Sam Knox and Steve Motter tallied four times each. Motter threw out a Millsboro runner trying for third and later scored one himself as he alertly dashed in on a passed ball and collided with a startled plate umpire who was a little slow getting out of the way.

Knox, Motter and Manges were credited with six runs batted across.

Harrington and Millsboro are now tied for fourth place in the 12-team Henlopen Conference.

Milton Defeats Felton, 11-3

Milton High School's Warriors are threatening to add the Henlopen Conference baseball title to the basketball crown they won this past winter.

The Warriors defeated Felton at Milton by a score of 11-3 and now own a 5-0 record with six games left to play. Delmar is also undefeated but won each of their three victories by the narrowest of margins. Two were extra-inning affairs.

Felton was held to four hits by winning pitcher Bill Cordrey, but three of these were home runs. Lloyd Shelman hit two round-trippers and Bill Dill connected for the other.

However, the well-balanced Sussex Countians racked up 10 hits off Bob Dill, including home runs by Don Millman and Curt Hudson.

The Green Devils led 1-0 after their half of the opening inning and were still in the ball game at 2-2 until Milton unloaded a six-run third inning.

Felton Trips Rehoboth, 9-3

Felton High evened its record at 3-3 as they made a profitable trip to Rehoboth Tuesday afternoon. The Green Devils opened up a 9-0 lead in the first four innings then coasted to a 9-3 victory.

Will Dill picked up the victory. He and first sacker Payne paced the victors with two hits each. Felton had a thin 8-7 margin in basehits but obviously made much better use of their bingles than did the Seahawks.

Twin Double Okayed For Rosecroft

A return of twin double wagering on an "experimental basis" has been approved for Rosecroft Raceway's 32 night racing opening May 13 by the Maryland Racing Commission. When last presented at Rosecroft in 1964, it brought a high payoff of $20,908.20. The track will continue its daily double parlay on the first and second races every evening.

With almost 2,000 applications for the 1,143 stalls, Rosecroft Raceway officials are assured a full and fast field for the nine nightly races. Some 200 horses are already working out at the Oxon Hill, Md., oval. The others will arrive from racing in the New England and Philadelphia areas.

Rosecroft Raceway president, John W. Miller, points out, "With racing on a year-round basis in the East, Rosecroft Raceway will have good horses, ready to race. They will be acclimated to the weather and to competition."

The all weather racing strip at Rosecroft Raceway is in fine shape, in spite of recent rains said Mr. Miller. Since the new track was installed two years ago, records have been set in eight of Rosecroft's ten major stake races including the track's first sub two minute mile.

DeLong's Terrier Wins at Dog Show

Mamie DeLong's Boston Terrier, Julie's Royal Ginny, won Winners and Best of Opposite Sex at Penn Treaty Kennel Club Show, Sun. May 1, at Chester, Va. Ginny also went Winners and second in Variety Group at Salisbury Match in April.

Prince's Royal Perfection went Winners at Penn Treaty. "Skitch" is well on his way to championship title.

(Continued from Page 1) Court. He will oppose the incumbent, Dr. William E. Spence, a Democrat, in the 28th Representative District. The five Levy Court seats will be filled from the five representative districts.

Jones, who parents live in Seaford, served at Dover Air Force Base from 1955 to 1960 and returned to Dover when he retired in 1964. He now is an insurance agent.

Clinton E. Wooleyhan, GOP 28th District chairman, said the district committee also has picked R. Leon Pleasanton, a farmer near Rising Sun, to run for the representative seat now held by H. Dawson Shulties, a Democrat.

Wooleyhan said the Republicans have high hopes of beating Shulties in the normally Democratic district, which he carried by 48 votes in 1964.

In the 29th Representative District, where the Republicans have had trouble finding candidates in the past, two men are being mentioned as possible opponents to Maurice Adams, a Harrington Democrat.

Carson said they are Frank Thorpe, a farmer who lives west of Harrington, and Fisher M. Carpenter of Milford.

Republicans in the 25th and 27th Representative Districts, comprising northwest Kent County and most of Dover respectively, have yet to come up with candidates, Carson said.

B. & P. W. CLUBS

Mrs. Margaret L. Hastings, of Seaford, is serving as convention chairman and will present the theme, "Believe - Plan - Work," at the opening session Saturday morning, following the keynote address by State Senator Margaret Manning, of Marshallton.

Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Sherman W. Tribbitt, Senator and Mrs. J. Caleb Boggs and Rep. and Mrs. Harris B. McDowell will be guests at the banquet Saturday evening. Miss Betty Lee Talbot, of the Christiana Club, of Wilmington, will be toastmistress.

Mrs. Mary E. Durrill, Dover, is convention co-chairman. Other assignments include: credentials, Sussex County Club of Georgetown, Mrs. Laura W. Gillespie, chairman; badges, Wilmington Club, Mrs. Eleanor Ayers, chairman; manual, Brandywine Club, Mrs. Janet Rajchel, chairman.

Also handling convention duties are Miss Miriam Hoffman, chairman of Young Career Women project; Mrs. Wilhelmina Miller, nominations and elections; Mrs. Elsie Barnes, meal reservations; Miss Elva Chandler, by-laws; Miss Ruth Ellen Reihm, publicity; Mrs. Doris Coughlan, seating; and Mrs. Ruth Dorn and Mrs. Ruth Fernell, hostesses.

The Capital City Club of Dover will hostess the pre-convention board of directors meeting on Friday evening.

The convention body will elect five delegates and alternates, as well as nominating and legislative committee members, for the national convention in Atlanta, Ga., July 24-28.

Miss Allias will install the new state officers at the Sunday luncheon, the final convention event.

Mrs. James M. Ward

Mrs. Melissa E. Ward, 92, died Wednesday in Nanticoke Memorial Hospital after a long illness. She was the widow of James M. Ward.

A former resident of Bellefonte, Pa., Mrs. Ward had been living near Seaford with a son, William J. Ward Sr., for the past four years.

She also is survived by two other sons, James C. of Seaford, and Henry C. of Fort Myers, Fla.; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph E. Thompson, of Rennerston, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Sophie C. Blease, of Columbia, S. C.; 16 grandchildren; 33 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Services will be Saturday afternoon at 1 in the Wetzler Funeral Home in Bellefonte, Pa. Friends may call at the McKnatt Funeral Home in Harrington tonight (Thursday) and at Wetzler's Funeral Home Friday night. Interment will be Union Cemetery, Bellefonte.

Miss Dorothy Heyd

Miss Dorothy Heyd, retired senior secretary at the Felton High School, died Tuesday in Milford Memorial Hospital, shortly after being admitted.

Her age was not disclosed. Miss Heyd, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Heyd, was a graduate of the University of Delaware and the Pierce Business College in Philadelphia.

She taught in Middletown and Rehoboth Beach before turning to secretarial work.

Because of failing health, Miss Heyd retired last November. She was a past president of the Delaware Education Secretary's Association, the Avon Club, Felton Methodist Church, and was secretary of Trophy Grange Lodge No. 22 at Felton. She was also a past president of the Felton Alumni Association.

She was the recipient of the professional standard certificate from the National Association of Educational Secretaries, and was among the first four to receive the award.

Her only survivor is a brother, Leslie Heyd, of Felton. Services will be Friday afternoon at 2 at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton. Interment will be at Hopkins Cemetery, near Felton.

TUBERCULOSIS

Treatment today is not the long, expensive, and confining process that it once was. The new drugs are relatively inexpensive and work quick. Facilities are available for those with advanced TB who require more extensive therapy. Light cases can often be treated at home without going to a hospital.

At the time of physical check-ups for you and your family, ask your doctor about the tuberculin skin test. The mobile chest X-ray units take regular visits to each neighborhood. A visit to the X-ray unit, or an X-ray arranged through your doctor, is also a good means of checking for tuberculosis.

GUN DUEL

Harrington Police Chief Franklin Rogers said he arrived to offer assistance and as Sheppard ran after the fleeing man, shouting for him to halt, Rogers attempted to keep him within sight while driving ahead in his police car to cut him off.

Sheppard, according to Rogers, then got into the Harrington police car and the two drove ahead of the suspect, still keeping him within sight. South of the fairgrounds, the two left the car and began approaching the suspect.

This is what ensued, as told by state police and Rogers:

Sheppard, who was running ahead of Rogers, shouted again to Anderson to stop, drawing his gun. As Anderson halted, Sheppard saw a rock in the fugitive's right hand and at Sheppard's command Anderson dropped the rock.

As the trooper holstered his gun and attempted to handcuff Anderson, the suspect wheeled about and hit Sheppard with a second rock hidden in his left hand.

As the dazed officer stumbled across the railroad tracks, his assailant grabbed the revolver and fired two shots at Rogers who was only a few feet away. Rogers said he fired as he saw the gun being raised and jumped between a set of tracks for cover.

Still wielding Sheppard's .38 caliber revolver, Anderson started to run along the tracks toward the fairgrounds, Melvin said.

Rogers went to the assistance of Sheppard, helping the officer to his feet. Sheppard then returned to his car for a .12 gauge riot gun and the chief radioed for help. By this time troopers from Georgetown and Bridgeville barracks and Dover headquarters were swarming into the area.

Melvin said Anderson, who was crouched and partially hidden between the tracks, was ordered several times to surrender but he only fired shots in reply.

Troopers were forced to shoot back in self-defense, Melvin said, and Anderson was fatally wounded. The suspect was struck several times, but Lt. Melvin was unable to say where he was wounded. An autopsy will be scheduled, police said.

CITY PLAGUED

Refused to permit two persons to install trailers in City limits, contrary to City laws.

Appointed Theodore Rifenburg sewer and street man. He will be on trial three months at $60 per week, with $25 per month for use of his truck.

Voted to purchase liability insurance for city employees at $474 per year. It had been provided in the budget.

City manager to measure West Street to see how much does not have a sidewalk. It is particularly needed because two schools are on it.

Mayor broke tie to put on ballot in January elections action to grant persons 70 years and over, earning less than $2500 yearly, abatement from capitation taxes. It was figured about 200 persons would be eligible. The tax is $8.50; thus, the City would lose $2000.

On the request of Mayor Hatfield, William Palmatory was ejected from the meeting by police. Palmatory, a regular at council meetings, had not seen eye to eye with the mayor and had not hesitated to say so, in no uncertain terms. Palmatory has made no bones about how he is dissatisfied with the loss of land when the state widened the former street. This issue was settled in Superior Court for a small sum.

Lately, Palmatory has been looking into his tax assessments.

Blood Type Must Be Same In Transfusions

The televised national health test demonstrated that we Americans don't know as much as we should about keeping ourselves healthy. For instance, many television viewers didn't know their blood types.
