U. of D. Holstein Sets New Milk Production Record

A holstein cow owned by the University of Delaware has set a new state milk production record in the official herd testing programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Breaking the previous all-time record is U. of D. Sequoia Rebyl 5747163 with her new record for junior two-year-olds milked two times daily in the 305-day division of the Dairy Herd Improvement Registry program. Her official 305-day lactation totaled 18,600 pounds of milk and 550 pounds of butterfat.

U. of D. Sequoia Rebyl was bred in the University of Delaware herd. She was sired by Sequoia Ideal Jo 1289173 (GP), a bull that has earned a Silver Medal Production Sire recognition.

This new record was made under the rules of Dairy Herd Improvement Registry, one of two herd testing programs conducted by the Holstein Association. This and the Herd Improvement Registry testing program have a combined enrollment of more than 144,000 Registered Holstein cows in 3,250 herds.

Felton Man Quits Race, Hits 'clique'

I. Kenneth Richter has withdrawn from the school board race at Felton to support John T. French and oppose Medford Killen, whom he labeled an "under-the-table candidate."

The winner of Saturday's election will fill the seat of William C. Eliason, who is not running.

In leaving the three-way race, Richter said his purpose was to throw his support toward French in an effort to "break wide open an inside ring of 600 people who have been running the school board for years."

Richter said Killen's candidity is an "under-the-table affair of this close-knit group." He described the 600 as mostly older, anti-progressive residents.

"They always oppose a tax raise," Richter went on. "The Felton school is in terrible shape. They're going to need three more temporary classrooms next September to relieve over-crowded conditions."

Killen Tuesday night flatly denied he was a handpicked candidate of the board, and praised school officials for "a good job in spite of their problems down here."

He cited the influx of Dover Air Force Base students and the overflow caused by the phase out of some Kent County schools.

"They (the board) thought they had the facilities, but now they find out they don't," he said.

Killen declared that more parents in Felton—including Richter—should attend school board meetings "so they'll know what they're talking about."

Killen said he was asked to run in last year's election, but declined. Richter was an unsuccessful candidate in a field of five in the 1965 election.

Telephone Co. To Crack Down On Malicious Calls

Diamond State Telephone Company disclosed this week a program for aiding persons who receive anonymous, malicious calls in Delaware and to help apprehend those responsible, said M. H. Evans, general manager.

"We are constantly seeking new ways to serve the customer and this program was the result," he said.

Working in conjunction with specially trained telephone personnel are company security forces. They in turn are in close contact with police.

Because of investigative and security techniques involved, he added, the company is able to provide only an outline of how the program works.

A customer lodging a complaint with a local telephone business office is asked to provide preliminary information. The case is referred to the specialist group.

These trained personnel may use telephone locating procedures. They are also skilled interrogators, able to draw from the complainant a maximum of information.

When the source of the anonymous call has been pinpointed, the case then can be referred to police, the district attorney or a magistrate for further action.

As the program becomes more established, it is hoped that files and experience will provide patterns and guidelines to result in even more highly efficient procedures.

KENT HAS 1ST SURPLUS IN 3 YEARS

Kent County had a surplus of $155,495 for fiscal 1965, the first surplus it has recorded in several years, the annual county audit showed Tuesday.

The surplus compares with a deficit of $181,000 for fiscal 1964.

The audit, present to Levy Court by accountant Harold E. Remley, showed that the surplus was used to reduce a deficit which had accumulated over the years to $493,693.

The deficits had been made up as they occurred by short-term loans which were paid off out of future revenue, causing new deficits, Remley explained.

He said the county was able to lift itself into black ink because of the 65-cent tax rate approved last year as a one-year emergency measure.

Remley pointed out an additional $23,000 reduction in the county's bonded debt, recorded in 1964 but picked up in the fiscal '65 audit, has the effect of reducing the county's total debt by $178,495 to $315,198.

Because of a recent property reappraisal and reassessment throughout the county, Levy Court set a new rate last week at 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1965 also showed the county increased its revenue by $202,336 while decreasing expenditures by $134,256.

The principal revenue increase for the year was in taxes, the audit showed. Taxes and penalties brought in $927,482, while state appropriations, fees and other sources of revenue gave the county $1,377,007.

Expenditures, which include county officers' expenses, welfare appropriations, debt service and other items, amounted to $1,221,512, a decrease of $134,256 from fiscal 1964.

The audit stated the reduction in expenditures stemmed principally from decreases in cost of appraisal services and decreases in furniture and equipment purchases. It also noted salaries increased by $15,053 and expenses increased by $6,903.

The report also showed that fiscal 1965 was the third year in which the county's budget exceeded $1 million. It noted welfare costs continued to account for one-half of total expenditures.

Welfare costs in fiscal 1965 were $575,460, a decrease of about $45,000 from the year ending Nov. 30, 1964.

Because of the county's increased tax revenue, short term borrowing from the bank was gradually reduced and completely repaid at the end of the fiscal year, the audit said.

During that year, the county was able to extinguish its liability to the state arising from previous inability to provide matching funds for welfare programs.

Delaware Plan For The Aging Approved

The Administration on Aging, Washington, D. C., recently informed Hector J. LeMarie, Ph. D., executive director for the Delaware Commission for the Aging, that their State Plan had been approved. On a formula matching basis, the sum of $40,000 is now made available to local communities or non-profit organizations to help pay for the costs of new or expanding programs to help serve older persons. Some of the possible programs are Home Visitation, Meals on Wheels, Home Care Programs, Sheltered Workshops, Senior Centers, Employment and Rehabilitation Services. In order to secure the funds, it is suggested that a local council, broadly representative of the community, be formed. The local council will then decide what is needed, the services and their cost to fill the need, and submit a budget request to the Commission for that amount, less what can be furnished locally either in kind or in matching funds. A limited amount of state money is available which can be used as matching funds, so that in some instances the local community group would have to provide very little in order to initiate or expand their program.

Funds will be allocated on a one year basis, for a three year period. Some of the criteria which the Commission will use in deciding whether or not a program should be funded is indicated by the following questions:

1. How universal is the need the program seeks to meet?

2. How much community support does project have?

3. Does it provide for a direct service to the elderly?

4. How feasible is the program?

5. Does it show originality in (Continued on Page 8)

Management Ability Is Biggest Factor In Farmer's Success

The ability to manage is more important in determining a farmer's success than the size of his farm or quality of land or type of enterprise, according to W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware. "There is little doubt about the fact that the real difference between the successful and the marginal businessman—be it farmer or storekeeper—is his ability to manage all the resources available, to adjust to uncontrollable and unpredictable situations, to have a 'sixth sense' that anticipates problem situations and the intelligence and skill of making good management decisions on time and at the right time," McAllister explains.

He adds, "These things tend to (Continued on Page 8)

Keith S. Burgess, president of the Board of Education of Harrington Special School District, announces that at the regular May meeting of the Board the tax rate for 1966-67 school year was reduced by 8 cents making the tax rate for the next year 64 cents per $100 real estate and $11 capitation. Forty cents of this and 80c for each capitation was set at a referendum for current expenses. The reduction came in the bonded indebtedness account of the school district.

By law a tax rate for bonded indebtedness must be set to meet the indebtedness of the district. For the past four years over $8000 of reserve funds have been used in order to keep the tax rate as low as possible. Using these reserve funds have kept the total tax rate since the passage of the bond referendum in 1961 at least 10c below the amount actually required to pay off the indebtedness each year. However, at the close of this school year the reserve fund has been depleted and as a result, the entire amount necessary for the retirement of the bonds and the payment of interest must be raised for the 1966-67 school year.

With the new assessed valuation of the district caused by the reassessment of Kent County, the Board was able to reduce the tax rate by 8c even though the reserve funds were no longer available.

Toddlers Most Frequent Victims Of Poisoning

The toddler is a curious, complicated, newly-mobile creature who is exploring the world around him for the first time. He explores by seeing, hearing, feeling and tasting—and, for this reason, he is vulnerable to accidental poisoning.

Of the thousands of victims of accidental poisoning every year, 90 per cent of them are children under five years old, according to Frank Boys, extension specialist in agricultural chemicals at the University of Delaware.

A child's natural curiosity helps him learn about the world around him but it also means his parents must take special precautions to protect him from himself.

Adults know certain substances are not meant for eating or drinking, and they consider the taste or smell of many of them unbearable. But a child cannot read, and he doesn't have enough experience to know what isn't edible. He is curious and apparently does not consider these odors repulsive.

So, he tastes. And sometimes the things he tastes are poisonous—bleach, soap, detergent, insecticides, lighter fluid, perfume, furniture polish or any of dozens of other household items.

The biggest villain of all in children's poisoning accidents is common aspirin, which accounts for a fifth of all the accidental poisonings. Vitamin pills and other medicines and drugs also contribute to the statistics.

While the proper dosage of a drug can be beneficial, too much can be poisonous. Parents often entice a child into taking a pill by telling him, "It's candy—so, really, the child can hardly be blamed for eating them 'like candy.'" Boys points out. And sometimes a child will even repeat an act—even after a previous unpleasant experience with the same substance.

One of the most dangerous practices is keeping household cleaning materials—detergent, ammonia, bleach, waxes and other cleaners—under the kitchen sink where they are easily (Continued on Page 8)

School Custodians To Hold Banquet

The annual banquet of the Delaware School Custodians Association will be held in the Capitol Grange Hall in Dover on Saturday, May 21st, the Association's president, Laurence Downes, announced recently.

At this banquet, a school system custodian is honored by being presented a plaque for outstanding service to the Delaware Schools system. The Committee selection is withheld until the evening of the banquet, which is at 6:30 p. m.

Speaker at the DSCA banquet this year will be Frank H. Morris, of Salisbury. Morris was born in Salisbury and educated in Wicomico County Schools. He is a graduate of the University of Maryland where he obtained a B. S. degree in Business and Public Administration.

Before entering the business world, he served in the U. S. Air Force as a 1st Lieutenant.

Morris, whose subject talk will be the relationship between education and the community it serves, is vice president of Shore Distributors, a Salisbury-based wholesale plumbing, heating and air conditioning business with eight branches on the Shore. He is a past president of the Salisbury Junior Chamber of Commerce and was named Salisbury's "Outstanding Young Man" in 1961.

Some of his civic services include being a director of the Peninsula General Hospital, Wicomico County Free Library, Wicomico Nursing Home and also a director of Truckers and Savings Bank. He serves on the Wye Institute, Wicomico Bi-Racial Committee, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Morris, his wife Sue, and four children, have always lived in Salisbury, and are members of St. Francis de Sales Church.

Del. Safety Council Gives Notes On Teenage Driving

If your son or daughter recently reached their 16th birthday, completed a driver training course or just received their state driver's license, then you have a grave responsibility, the Delaware Safety Council announced recently.

"It is your responsibility as a parent of a young adult driver to see that your child learns and maintains good driving habits," James T. Ferri, president of the Delaware Safety Council said. "From the moment your child is issued a license to drive, the community is trusting him to think and act like an adult behind the wheel and meet adult responsibilities."

He continued, "The community makes a demand on your son or daughter that they can't possibly meet. From the moment the license is accepted, your child must immediately think and act like a man or woman while driving."

Ferri said that parents are responsible for protecting their children from any kind of harm from any source. It is also the parent's responsibility to make sure the community is protected from their child.

He advised parents to realize the destruction, damage, death and annoyances a young adult driver is capable of inflicting with an automobile upon their fellow citizens.

"It is well to tell your child that driving is an act of faith," he said. "Whenever you drive, you are demonstrating your faith and trust to your fellow human beings and they are demonstrating their faith in you."

Ferri emphasized that driving is more than obedience to traffic signs and more than a trust in the people you meet.

"It is also an act of integrity, intelligence and understanding of all the factors involved in good driving," he said. "Just as you have to trust your life to the honesty, skill and judgment of strangers, so must they when they drive, put their lives in your hands on advance faith alone."

In conclusion, Ferri asked parents of young drivers to make them realize that each driver, every car he encounters represents one more human being who has staked his life on his respect for the law and on his skill and judgment.

Larry E. Anderson Graveside services for Larry Edward Anderson, 39, were held Monday afternoon at 1 at the Williamsville Cemetery.

He was a Harrington truck driver. He was killed Wednesday in a gun duel with Delaware State Police.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Violet A. Holden and Mrs. Elizabeth White, both of Harrington, and Miss Marjorie Anderson, of Wilmington.

BB Offers Plan On Air Conditioning

Don't get hot and bothered over the purchase of an air conditioner. Instead, get the cold facts from the Better Business Bureau's free pamphlet, "Your Money's Worth—Room Air Conditioner."

Delaware Catholics To Hold Meeting

Months of preparation, planning and organization for the most challenging venture ever undertaken by Delmarva Catholics will approach a long awaited climax, with a series of meetings scheduled during the next two weeks.

Highlighting of the final days of the $7,000,000 fund campaign will be the General Inaugural meetings, the first of which to be held in Dover, Tuesday, May 10.

More than 1500 men organized in the lower Delmarva parishes will gather for this first of four General Inaugural meetings throughout the Diocese. New Castle County parishes will hold meetings at Salesianum High School Gymnasium the following three consecutive evenings May 11, 12 & 13, with approximately 2500 in attendance at each meeting.

Bishop Michael W. Hyle said final instructions are being prepared for more than 9,000 laymen engaged in the 52 parish effort.

Five thousand women, members of the informative committees, representing all parishes, will meet in three meetings to receive final instructions in the person-to-person Public Information Phase of the program. The first group will assemble at Holy Cross Gymnasium in Dover on Wednesday, May 4. Salesianum High School Gymnasium will be the scene for 2,000 women each evening of May 5 and 6, where these representatives of their parishes will be given final instructions for their phase of the Diocesan Development program.

In assembling the organization of more than 12,000 lay men and women who have dedicated themselves to the successful completion of the program, Bishop Hyle has been ably assisted by the pastors, Albert A. Pavlic, general campaign chairman; vice chairmen I. G. Burton and Ernest A. DiSabatino; campaign coordinator, Alex F. Giacco, Sr.; members of the campaign executive committee; Mrs. Clair J. Killoran, Diocesan chairwoman of the Women's Informative Committee; the area co-chairwomen and the lay men and women representing each parish in the Diocese of Wilmington.

Pastors throughout the Delmarva Peninsula are asking their workers to attend the General Inaugural meetings on their specified evenings and they are asking other parishioners to remain at home Sun, May 15, until after campaign workers visit the homes and receive their sacrificial commitment for this diocesan-wide fund raising campaign.

The 52 pastors point out that the 9,000 men who will be conducting the actual solicitation will have made their own generous subscription before they call on others. In addition, the clergy stresses the fact that the volunteers are giving hours of valuable time and contributing freely of their talents to make the program a success.

"By remaining home on Solicitation Sunday, every Catholic will help our workers to complete their calls quickly with a minimum of inconvenience to all concerned," state the pastors.

Miss Delaware To Be Chosen Sun, June 12

Miss Delaware 1966 will be chosen at Rehoboth Beach on Sunday, June 12—and already invitations are arriving for her participation in out-of-state promotions and events.

One of the most interesting invitations, according to Pageant Director Miles L. Frederick, is from the Charleston, South Carolina, Jaycees, who want Miss Delaware to do a taped greeting to our fighting forces in Viet Nam.

Under the title of "Voice of Gratitude," the tape will include the voices of President Johnson, David Brinkley, Johnny Carson, Steve Allen and other well known stars, interspersed by musical selections and the greetings from state pageant winners.

According to Warren A. Kohn, who is promoting the venture for the Jaycees, the tape will be completed and assembled as soon as all state pageants have been completed.

Frederick said that several more contestants have been entered for the Delaware pageant. After the May 15 deadline for entries, all of the names will be released.

Much interest has been aroused by the fact that Miss Debbie Bryant, current Miss America, will attend the pageant—and ticket requests have been received at Rehoboth Beach. The Civic Center auditorium will be set up on a trial basis this week to determine just how many people can be seated after ramps, the Chuck Laskin Orchestra, judges and press are in place. Seating approximately 900 people is anticipated.

POLICE CHIEF IN LIMELIGHT AS HERO

Chief of Police Franklin Rogers, a dedicated patrolman, is back in the limelight as a hero. Last week he was credited with saving the life of a state trooper. Police said a truck driver, one Larry Edward "Scutchie" Anderson, had knocked the trooper unconscious with a rock, and taken his revolver. Chief Rogers exposed himself and drew two shots from Anderson, thus saving Trooper Jesse C. Sheppard, Jr. Other police appeared and Anderson was killed after refusing to surrender.

The Wilmington newspapers have been giving Chief Rogers much favorable publicity. The chief has also received a letter from Mrs. Sheppard crediting him with saving her husband's life.

The chief, heretofore, has been receiving some unfavorable comment in the community. He has done some things he ought not to have done and not done some things he ought to have done, the talk goes.

However, any policeman worth his salt, is bound to receive unfavorable comment, if he does his duty, and if he does not do his duty.

With Harrington's two-man police force (The City has been receiving applications for help), the chief has had to work overtime.

Nevertheless, some councilmen, some time back, sought to have him replaced. Fortunately, more thoughtful members of the city government, did not go along with the idea.

Some councilmen, in the past, have tried to get retired state troopers come here, "but they were not interested."

In the meantime, we'll just have to get along with a hero.

Give until it hurts, then it will not hurt.

He has more troubles than has Ben Casey.

How is it, on a Sunday afternoon, no one appears to be at home, tho we are certain some are visiting one another?

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. CLIFF MILLER

"THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD"

On a balmy day in May,
 When all nature had full sway;
 And birds sang sweetly in the sky above,
 A lovely city lay,
 In the valley deep and green,
 Where thousands dwelt in happiness and love.

Then a cry of distress,
 Ran from east to west;
 Our whole dear country now is plagued with woe;
 For the thousands burned and drowned,
 In the City of Johnstown;
 All were lost in the great overflow.

The above lines are the first two verses of a song covering what was then, and for many years after, considered the world's worst disaster, May 29, 1889, the entire city of Johnstown, Pa. (30,000 pop.) completely washed out by the bursting of a dam on the Conemaugh River at South Fork, ten miles east of the city.

The song became part of a ritual in all public schools throughout the country and went a long way toward impressing and broadcasting the seriousness of it and raising relief for years following.

I was only six months old at the time, but eight to ten years later it was not uncommon to find human bones and skeletons in driftwood piles along the river while swimming and fishing near my home (Blairsville, Pa.) twenty miles west of the city.

I was surprised to learn from the late James Harvey Burgess, they sang the same song in his grade school in Salem, Arkansas.

Like a Paul Revere of old,
 Came a rider brave and bold;
 On a big, bay horse flying like a deer,
 Shouting warnings, shrill,
 "Quickly, fly up to the hill,"
 But the people smiled and showed no signs of fear.

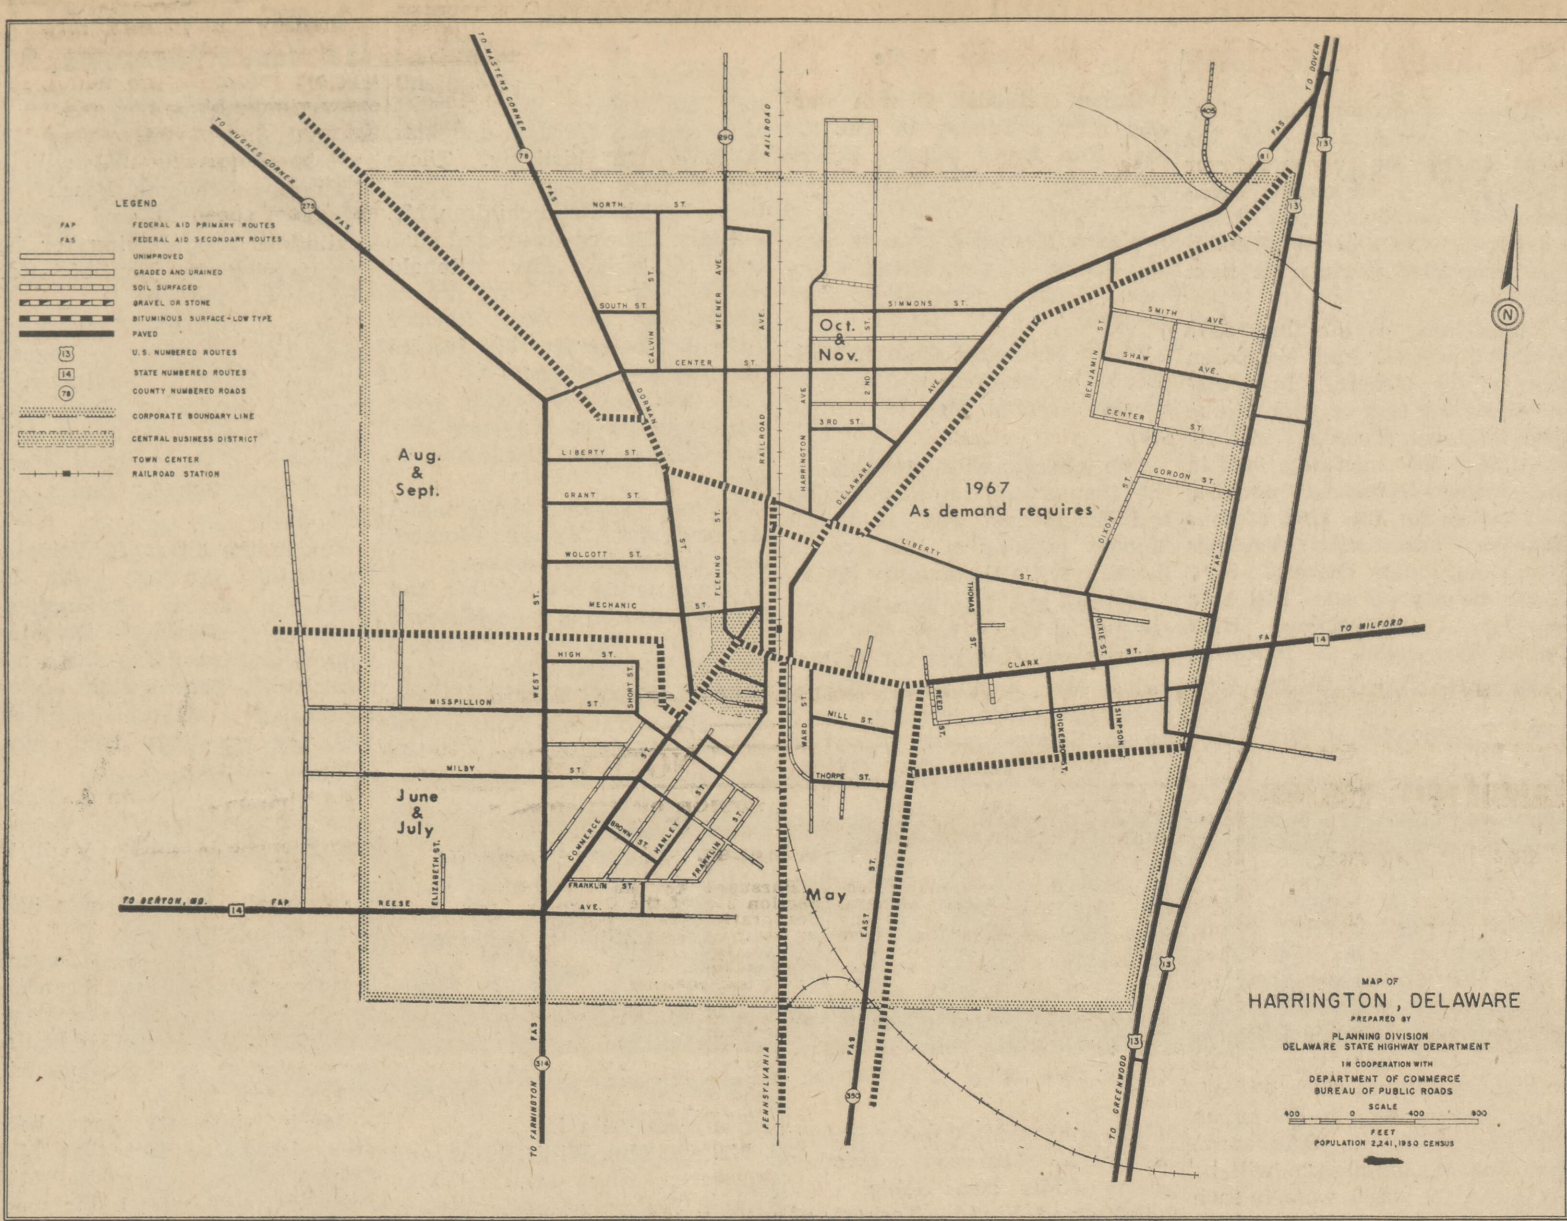

Soon he turned away,
 The brave rider and his bay,
 From the many thousand souls he tried to save,
 They had no time to spare,
 Nor to offer up a prayer,
 They were whirled at once into a watery grave.

The stone-arched railroad bridge, at the "Point," where the Conemaugh and Stony Creek Rivers join, withstood but formed a blockade for the mass of floating buildings and debris with many survivors still in and on them.

There the whole mass caught fire and all were lost.

In beautiful Westmont Cemetery on top of the hill above the business section of the City is a well-kept plot with 2100 gravestones called "THE UNKNOWN DEAD"

At least this many were washed away or burned in the raging and uncontrollable fire at the bridge.

ROUTE OF INSTALLATION OF GAS MAINS—The installation of mains for natural gas is under way by Chesapeake Utilities. The above map gives a good idea of the route and the contemplated completion dates.

Natural Gas From Texas Made Available To Harrington Residents

Chesapeake Utilities Corporation was formed by consolidating several gas companies located in Dover and Seaford, Delaware and Salisbury, Maryland and in 1958 natural gas was first introduced through a subsidiary company found in 1955, Eastern Shore Natural Gas Company.

Natural gas was first introduced on the Eastern Shore late in 1958. The wide acceptance of natural gas resulted in more than doubling sales.

Transporting natural gas from wells in Texas, Louisiana, and the off-shore areas in the Gulf of Mexico, pipeline builders, the modern trail blazers of progress, are constantly opening new trade routes to link millions of gas users throughout the country with vast reserves of miracle fuel.

For all potential residential, commercial, and industrial customers who agree to convert their present gas equipment to natural gas during the first year, Chesapeake will run the necessary lines from the street to the appliances, install the meter, and convert the appliances at no cost to the customer.

The time table for the installation of gas mains is shown on the map. Chesapeake plans to complete each section before moving to the next. This work is scheduled to be completed by November. It is possible that Harrington Manor will have to be completed the following year.

ey he had saved. Yet at one time he was reputed to have owned one of the largest collections of jewelry in the United States.

Lavinia married again. The husband was named Count Primo Magri. They ended their professional careers in the "kidshow" at Coney Island. She died in 1919, at the age of 78, a very advanced age for a middle-aged woman.

"A TOM THUMB WEDDING"

I was so surprised recently when a member of the Mother's Auxiliary of the Cherub Choir of Asbury Methodist Church phoned and said they were planning a Tom Thumb Wedding. I had not heard of a Tom Thumb Wedding for over thirty years. Many today never heard of General Tom Thumb. Being a circus fan for a number of years, I would like to give you readers some information about this most remarkable person.

Charles Sherwood Stratton (General Tom Thumb) was born in 1838. Phineas Taylor Barnum discovered him when he was five years old, weighed 15 pounds, and was only 25 inches tall.

Tom Thumb was put into a uniform, taught a few songs and dances, and patiently coached on what to say and how to conduct himself. In December, 1842, he was taken to New York to work at P. T. Barnum's museum for $3 a week plus expenses for himself and his mother.

Crowds packed the museum to see little Charles Stratton. It is estimated that at least 80,000 persons saw him during his first engagement, and he himself said ruefully years later that he had been kissed by a million ladies.

In 1844 Barnum decided to take General Tom Thumb to Europe. His trip to England proved to be a great success. He was presented to Queen Victoria and many members of the court. Tom Thumb met the Prince of Wales and was a favorite of the Duke of Wellington.

General Tom Thumb had a special coach which was 34 inches high and drawn by four matched ponies.

Barnum left England and went to Paris. The General was received three times by the King Louis Philippe. After a three year tour, they returned to America. I might add that I have a very unusual photo when General Tom Thumb and wife, Commodore Nutt and Miss Minnie Warren, all midgets, appeared at court before Louis Napoleon and the Empress Eugenie, at the Palace of the Tuilleries, November 29, 1864.

Love came into the life of General Tom Thumb and he married Mercy Lavinia Warren Bump on February 10, 1863. With Barnum, they visited Australia, Japan, Shanghai, and Singapore. After this trip, the General retired. His height at this time was 27 inches. He bought a yacht and race horses, and in other profligate ways, squandered almost all the mon-

New Chemical weed controls and irrigation make it practical. Yields of five tons or more per acre are the bait. This compares with less than one-ton yields at present.

We will need a new design of planter if we go to 12-to 20-inch rows. But we can eliminate tractor cultivation except for the use of a rotary hoe in the early stage of growth.

Some people would like to try soybeans in narrow rows. We know this works well in Delaware if weeds are controlled.

The recent long rainy period delayed corn planting for many Kent County farmers. We would suggest that it may be wiser to plant some acreage to soybeans, rather than be late with corn planting. The outlook for soybeans is good. The support price is about $2.50 per bushel and we've heard of contracts offering $2.70 per bushel.

Soybeans should not be planted before May 20. But full season corn will return lower yields if planted much after this date.

Corn and soybeans spread the weather risks a little better than either alone. Too, the harvest schedule can be spread better.

Insect control suggestions for ornamental plants are offered by Professor Donald MacCreary as follows:

Watch for boxwood leaf miner adults (a tiny yellow fly). Last year the first ones were observed May 16, in the Newark area.

ware.

The agricultural preserve is a new form of zoning advanced by California farm leaders. They believe it offers genuine hope that prime crop land can be saved before it may be lost to urban pressures for homes or industry.

We have wildlife preserves in Delaware, such as the 14,000 acres at Bombay Hook. And the Tidewater heavy industry zone points clearly the use of several thousand acres of ground for years to come. Why not the same idea with farm preserves?

What might this tool mean for Delaware? First a farmer will be more willing to make long term farm investments for buildings and equipment if he were assured he could wear it out over a period of time. The community will benefit with a healthy farm industry. The open land use will provide park-like benefits yet remain on the tax rolls. We can have our land of pleasant living, and enjoy it.

Voluntary contracts to control non-farm development rights are the heart of the California land conservation act of 1965. A contract calls for a minimum ten-year period when the property owner gives up his non-farm development rights. The county acquires these rights as a trustee. There may or may not be a payment (or kind of rental) for these rights, depending on the restrictions.

Both land values and land tax assessments tend to stabilize during the period of the contract. Should the assessment be raised for any reason, a penalty payment would be made by the county under the terms of the act. Payment would be more than the increased taxes paid.

The basic ten-year contract is renewed each year automatically, unless the property owner or local government does not wish to renew. If not renewed, the payment rate is reduced by 10% per year during the remaining life of the contract. Non-renewal also gives notice to land developers and tax assessors that a change may occur. Since land values may then rise rapidly, taxes will go up while the payments decline. So unwarranted windfall gains are reduced.

We will tell you more as we hear from the author of the act, Dr. J. H. Snyder, agricultural economist of the University of California, at Davis.

Wisconsin researchers tell us that narrow row may save our baby lima bean industry. So Bob Stevens, our extension horticulturist, would like to have a few growers try the method in Delaware.

Spray with DDT or malathion. Malathion also will control the boxwood psyllid, a tiny, cottony covered insect that is found in the cupped terminal leaves. Aphids have been reported from several areas on roses. Control with malathion. Two species of shoot moths damage pine shoots in Delaware. Control Nantucket pine tip moth by spraying about May 10 and July 20. The European pine shoot moth can be controlled by spraying approximately June 25. Sevin is effective against both species. Treat on all three dates if there is doubt as to the species involved. The birch leaf miner will be entering birch leaves within the next week or 10 days. Protect leaves by a spray of Cygon or malathion.

Many American holly trees show yellowed and falling leaves. Most of this injury is caused by the holly leaf miner feeding between the leaf surfaces. Control will have to be postponed until the terminals show 3-4 new leaves. Spray then with DDT or malathion. Repeat in 10 days.

Apple blossom time came later than usual this year — May 5, when it usually occurs in the middle of April. Why? You tell us. March was reasonably warm, tho April averaged cooler temperatures than normal.

I have yet to hear of any reports of damage to fruit trees or garden vegetables because of the light frost in some areas of the county on May 4. Our last killing frost rarely comes after April 20.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Fresh vegetable marketings are increasing seasonally and current prospects indicate supplies will be relatively large by mid May. Because of increased acreage and better yield, spring vegetable production is expected to total substantially larger than last year. Sharply increased output is likely for lettuce, tomatoes, celery, sweet corn, peppers, broccoli, and spinach. Onions and carrots are the only major vegetables expected to be in relatively light supply. With larger supplies of most vegetables, overall prices to growers probably will average sharply below the high prices of last year. This saving

Hog prices dropped sharply in April—more than most farm economists had expected, but prices are expected to recover moderately through June. Consumer resistance to high prices has been partly responsible for the reduction in retail. Dealers report that recent decreases of some fresh cuts improved the demand.

Discover Wonderful Del.

The month of May is a marvelous time to discover Hagley Museum, certainly one of the best-known wonders of wonderful Delaware.

Stretched along the banks of the Brandywine River, the Hagley grounds, site of the first DuPont powder mills, are at their most beautiful in May. Thousands of dogwood trees and azaleas, as well as many other spring flowers, are in bloom. The river murmurs pleasantly over its dams, and the mill-race reflects the overhanging blossoms. One can stroll along tan bark paths or take a jitney bus ride through the grounds.

But there's much more than a beautiful riverside to be seen at Hagley. The first museum building, near the gatehouse, was built in 1814 as the Hagley Cotton Mill. Now it houses, on the first floor, what must be a unique exhibit, fascinating alike to adults and children. Dioramas and working scale models demonstrate the development of the use of water power for mills, and show how American industry grew during the colonial and federal periods. Part of the exhibit shows the beginnings of the DuPont powder mills on the Brandywine.

Four new exhibits on the second floor of the museum describe the iron, steel, textile, and paper industries.

 Upstream from the museum, spaced out between the river and the raceway, are the remains of 21 powder mills, each of which was once powered by water through a flume from the raceway. One pair of rolling mills, and the water-wheel between them, has been restored as an example.

The Exhibition Hall, reached either by a stroll past the powder mills or by the bus, was built in 1858 as a machine shop. Now it contains a series of working models and dioramas demonstrating the successive steps in the manufacture of black powder.

From May 10 through June 5 it will be possible to visit "Eleutherian Mills," the house built in 1803 by Eleuthereus Irenée duPont, founder of the powder mills, for his family. It was the home of five generations of the duPont family, and contains furnishings that reflect the interests of the family over 150 years. Set on a steep hillside overlooking the powder yards, the house can be reached by boarding the jitney bus at either the Museum or the Exhibition Hall.

Near the duPont family residence is a small stone office building which was built in 1837 and which served until 1890 as the office of the company president. This first office has now been restored, and will be open at the same time as the house.

It was in 1952, on the 150th anniversary of its founding, that A. I. duPont de Nemours & Company endowed the Eleutherian Mills-Hagley Foundation as a non-profit educational institution to trace the development of industry along the Brandywine and to relate this regional development to the story of the nation's progress. At the same time 185 acres, the site of the first duPont mills, was set aside for the museum. Probably nowhere else in the United States is there an exhibit quite like this one, and certainly not one in such a setting.

The museum and grounds are open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Hagley Museum is on the Brandywine, on the north side of Delaware Rt. 141. The turn-off is marked one-half mile east of the intersection of 141 with the Kennett Pike (Rt. 52). To reach it from Rt. 202, turn west on 141 and after crossing the Brandywine turn sharp right at the sign.

Ornamental Disease Notes
 The home owner is confronted with a fairly wide range of fungicides for control of ornamental diseases. Many of these, such as ferbam, zineb, captan and maneb, will afford control of many diseases; others, such as dodine, folpet, Karathane and surfur are specific for certain diseases. Thus, it is essential that the homeowner read the label to see what diseases the particular fungicide will control; in addition, it is necessary to read the label to find out how much material should be used. Usually, the amount is expressed as pounds per 100 gallons of water and as tablespoons or teaspoons per one gallon of water; however, in some cases, it is only expressed as pounds per 100 gallons.

A table has been prepared for the readers of "Ornamental Disease Notes" as an easy reference

Delaware Measles Immunization Program

Delaware health officials hope Dennis the Menace is as troublesome to the measles in the state as he is to his comic strip family and friends.

If he is, he could wipe out the disease once and for all in Delaware.

The affable little tike, whose graphic adventures are followed by millions of Americans, is being used to promote the measles immunization campaign in Delaware this month.

Clinics will offer free measles immunization to Delaware children between the ages of one and six in Kent and Sussex Counties on Saturday, May 21, and in New Castle County on Sunday, May 22.

Permission has been received for the use of the cartoon character from the Hall Syndicate, Inc., distributors of the comic strip.

A cartoon of Dennis with the headlines, "I got my measles shot—how about you?", has been received from the artist who draws the character.

The familiar figure of Dennis will appear on posters, billboards, printed information pieces and other materials.

Dr. Edward F. Gliwa, New Castle County health officer and chairman of the statewide immunization campaign, expressed his appreciation for the use of the drawing of Dennis.

"We hope to make an impression on the youngsters as well as their parents in this immunization program," he said. "In this cartoon character, we think we have a vehicle that appeals to both."

In spite of the use of the cartoon character, Dr. Gliwa said, the measles program is no laughing matter.

Delaware is racing against the clock in an attempt to immunize its children before an epidemic of the disease breaks out.

New outbreaks approaching epidemic proportions have already been reported in Philadelphia and New Jersey.

The result has been a number of deaths among infants as well as serious secondary effects.

A total of 34 clinic locations have been obtained for the statewide campaign.

Sussex County clinics, which will be open from 1 to 4 p. m. Saturday, May 21, are: Georgetown, Laurel, Lewes, Selbyville, Seaford, Millsboro, Rehoboth, Milton, Frankford-Dagsboro, Millville, Bridgeville and Delmar.

All will be held in the fire halls with the exception of the Frankford-Dagsboro clinic, which will be held in the John M. Clayton School.

Kent County clinics, which also will be open from 1 to 4 p. m. on Saturday, May 21, are: Dover (State Health Building), Camden-Wyoming (gymnasium of W. B. Simpson School), Felton (fire hall), Harrington (fire hall), Milford (Milford Health Center), Frederica (fire hall), Magnolia (fire hall), Smyrna (Candee Building at the State Home and Hospital), and Hartly (fire hall).

Three Wilmington clinics have been scheduled in the Public Building, 10th and King Streets; the Pierre S. du Pont High School, 34th and Van Buren Streets; and Bayard Junior High School.

All will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Sunday, May 22.

Other New Castle County clinics, which will be open the same hours as the ones in Wilmington, are: Claymont Fire Hall, Elsmere Fire Company No. 1, Brandywine Fire Hall, Newark Aetna Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, De La Warr High School, Brandywine High School, Stanton Junior High School, George Read Junior High School, Oglethorpe Junior High School.

Navy Seeking Men For Viet Nam

To bolster the manpower needs for Navy men in the Southeast Asia area, the Navy is seeking re-enlistees in certain critical ratings for a guaranteed one-year tour of duty in the Viet Nam waters.

Prior Navy men who have been discharged more than three months in the 5th and 6th pay grades of these rates are eligible to apply for this program: Boat-swain's mate, quartermaster, signalman, engineman, construction electrician, equipment operator, construction mechanic, builder, steelworker, utilitiesman, storekeeper, commissaryman and ship serviceman. Ex-Navy men in the Gunner's Mate rating in the 4th, through 6th pay grades are highly desired.

All personnel re-enlisted under this program will be transferred direct to the U.S. Naval Station, San Francisco, Calif., with advance leave, if desired. All other benefits of re-enlistment remain in effect.

Cancer Crusade In Delaware Reaches Halfway Mark

Contributions to the 1966 Cancer Crusade in Delaware have reached the half-way mark.

The Delaware Division of the American Cancer Society reported this week that more than $70,000 has been received thus far.

No firm goal has been established, although Society officials have expressed the hope that last year's total of $150,000 will at least be reached.

Mrs. David C. Porter, chairman of the board of the Delaware Division, urged Cancer Society volunteers to renew their efforts "in this, the final portion of the 1966 Crusade."

Of the contributions received to date, nearly $6,000 have come from New Castle County. Additional Crusade gifts from Kent and Sussex Counties are expected in the next two weeks.

Mrs. Porter also urged Delawareans to read carefully the literature available to them from their Cancer volunteers. This literature offers suggestions for protection against cancer, including descriptions of symptoms of the disease which can aid in early diagnosis and cure.

Wesley College Receives Grant

A grant of $250,000 has been received by Wesley College from the Longwood Foundation. This gift is to be applied to the cost of the new Annie Jump Cannon Science Building.

The Longwood Foundation had previously awarded a grant of $550,000. The total cost of the building, both construction and furnishings, will amount to $990,000.

Construction of the science building is on schedule for completion by the middle of June. All equipment and furnishings are to be installed during the summer, and the building will be ready for use at the opening of the 1966-67 academic year.

The annual fall convocation, to take place on September 13, 1966, will center about the dedication of the Annie Jump Cannon Science Building.

The three-level colonial brick building will house complete facilities for the teaching of the physical sciences. The ground floor will be devoted to Biology, with laboratories, storage rooms, classrooms and offices.

An elevated lecture room seating 140 will reach to the second story level. The first floor accommodates Physics and Engineering. The computers and photographic dark room are located on this floor, in addition to a foyer at each entrance, offices and classrooms.

The division of Chemistry and of Mathematics will occupy the top floor. Offices, storage rooms, classrooms, and complete laboratories for inorganic and organic chemistry, qualitative analysis, a balance room and hot room are planned.

The Cannon Science Building will be completely air conditioned, and the three levels are connected by an elevator, provided for the distribution of supplies and heavy equipment to the various departments.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I understand that in order for a veteran to use VA hospital facilities for a nonservice-connected disability he must signify that he is unable to pay for the service required. Is this right?

A—For a veteran to be treated in a Veterans Administration hospital for a nonservice-connected disability, first it must be determined by a doctor that the veteran needs hospitalization, secondly a bed must be available and third the veteran must state that he could not afford to pay for this treatment in a private hospital.

Q—Are compensation or pension payments for a veteran's child discontinued at age 18?

A—Payments for the benefit of a child may be continued to age 23 if the child is unmarried and is attending an approved school.

Q—Is it true that a veteran who has received a service-connected disability payment for more than 20 years cannot have it taken away from him? My husband received a service-connected disability of 20 per cent in 1945. He was told that after 20 years he could not have his disability taken away from him and also that it could not be reduced. Is this correct?

A—If a veteran has had a service-connected disability for 20 years, the service-connection will not be taken away from him unless it was obtained through fraud and his compensation cannot be reduced below the lowest per cent that he held during that 20-year period.

Blood Bank Of Delaware Expands Benefits

Blood Bank of Delaware's recent expansion of benefits for group members is producing its expected effect of stimulating formation of new groups, its president announced.

Brig. Gen. D. Preston Lee, who heads the statewide non-profit blood program, said the Blood Bank's office has received dozens of calls, mostly from employers, asking for information on how to organize groups.

The Blood Bank provides unlimited replacement of blood used by members in Delaware hospitals, and since last month has provided similar benefits for its group members in out-of-state hospitals. Benefits in out-of-state hospitals are limited in the case of individual members.

Gen. Lee pointed out that many firms already have enough employees who are individual members to form a group immediately, making available the broader benefits of group coverage. He said a call to the Blood Bank office will produce any help they need in organizing a group. Dues for group members are paid in a lump sum once a year through their employer or other group sponsor. Individual members pay their dollar per year dues directly to the Blood Bank. Both types of members agree to furnish a pint of blood when called—currently every four to five years—or pay $25 in lieu of a blood donation.

The Blood Bank began operating 11 years ago, and was originally intended to operate primarily on a group basis. It now has over 50,000 people enrolled, and covers more than 200,000 subscribers and their dependents—more than 80 per cent of them on an individual basis.

Directors of the Blood Bank last month broadened group benefits to stimulate this type of membership, in accordance with the plan's original concept.

Gen. Lee said that future membership growth is expected to be largely in the group category, and will assist in achieving the Bank's ultimate goal—complete coverage for everyone who lives or works in Delaware.

Following the service there will be an outdoor covered dish dinner to which each of the families of the church is to bring two covered dishes. Meat and bread will be purchased and prepared by the men of St. Stephen's, and beverages will be furnished by the women of St. Stephen's.

Christ Church of Greenville is reciprocating by inviting as many of the people of St. Stephen's as can go to attend the confirmation service at Christ Church at 11:00 a. m. on the following Sunday, May 22. After the service there will be a reception for the bishop and the confirmants after which the people of St. Stephen's are invited to a luncheon at the Winterthur Museum Pavilion Gardens. This should come at the time when the gardens are in full bloom. If time permits, there will follow a tour of Hegley Museum. All members of St. Stephen's who desire to go should be in touch with Carrington H. Burgess at the very first opportunity and certainly no later than this coming Sunday, May 15. Those desiring a ride to and from Greenville should let the vicar know as rides will be available.

For a long time the people of St. Stephen's have looked forward to a coming visit by the Rev. Seymour Flynn, who for six years was a missionary to Uganda-on-the-Nile. That visit will occur this coming week and will extend over a period of three days, Tuesday, May 17, Wednesday, May 18, and Ascension Day, May 19. While the Rev. Mr. Flynn will indeed speak and lead discussions on foreign missions, his visit will center primarily around the question, what is the Mission of the Christian church today. On Tuesday he will meet with the men and women of the church from 7:30 p. m. until 8:45 p. m. in the parish hall. On Wednesday, May 18th, there will be a covered dish dinner at the parish hall for all in the parish.

After the dinner the youth of the church from the 6th grade up, along with the adults, will have the privilege of hearing the Rev. Mr. Flynn again. On Ascension Day, Thursday, May 19, there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 p. m. The service will include the Laying-On of Hands and anointing, and the Rev. Mr. Flynn will preach.

The Rev. Mr. Flynn's coming has been arranged by the Diocese. During the year he is visiting every parish and mission in the Episcopal Church in Delaware. Every member of St. Stephen's is urged to give top priority to the three evenings, May 17 to 19.

Kent Man Held In Knife Death

State police have charged Gilbert Ayers, 37, of near Felton, with manslaughter in the death of another Felton man Saturday.

The victim, Severn Wynder, of Allen's Trailer Park, near Felton, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital in Dover, about 6:30 Saturday night.

Police said the two men were involved in an argument over a debt Ayers allegedly owed Wynder. They said the argument developed into a knife fight between the two men near Wynder's home.

Ayers was arraigned at Dover Magistrate's Court and held at Kent County Correctional in lieu of $5000 bond.

H.H.S. Nine Defeats Clayton, Lord Baltimore

Frank Glazier's hard-fighting Harrington High School baseball Lions rallied to down John M. Clayton and trounced Lord Baltimore later to boast a seasonal mark of five wins in seven games.

The Lions are tied with Felton for third place and are assured of at least a .500 finish since only three games remain on the schedule. Two of these are tilts with toughies, Felton and Milton. Selbyville (1-5) is the remaining foe.

At Dagsboro-Frankford, the Bears touched Lion ace Ellis Meyer for two first-inning runs but the senior righthander fired blanks at the host team the rest of the way.

Harrington picked up a single run in the second inning, finally got the equalizer in the sixth frame, then exploded for three tallies in the seventh and last inning to win 5-2. Sam Knox, Dean Manges and freshman Terry Yoder contributed doubles to the rally. Yoder has been called Bob Yoder and Bill Yoder in print lately (not here, of course). At the rate he is going they will know who he is before much longer.

Sam Knox had two of the Lions seven hits. Myer held the losers to the same amount of base knocks.

Lions Get Third In Peninsula Relays

One of the most interesting and rewarding outings enjoyed by the Harrington High track teams is the annual trip to Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, for the Peninsula Relay Carnival. The Lions usually do well there and often bring home a bushel of engraved plaques. The great 1961 team, coached by Jim Hawpe, won the Group III team championship. The handsome team trophy may be seen in the bulging trophy case at the school. That team set two carnival records. Their medley mark still stands.

Last year's fine team captured runnerup honors and lugged home 24 plaques as every Harrington runner in the six races qualified for an award.

The 1966 group is practically a brand new team. Yet, despite their inexperience, the young Lions turned in a good third place finish and received a dozen plaques. These were being shown around town Saturday morning by the proud lads.

The opening event, the 440 relay, saw the Lions just miss second place as anchorman Frank White made up several yards on Tattall's classy Webb Jones. Dan Hicks, Jim Harris and Jim White ran for Harrington, also.

The two mile relay team was third as Larry Bonniwell led off with a 2:14 880 and Gerry Garey anchored with a 2:17. Garey fought back to pass a Corpus Christi runner, who went by the Lion a hundred yards from home. The two seniors' clockings were the best of the year for H.H.S. Freshman Paul Marshall and sophomore Nick Morris, did a good job on the middle stints.

In the 880 relay, the Lions were running third several yards behind Tower Hill when Jim White, on the third leg, caught the Hiller runner. Frank White fought off a Green-and-White challenge to give his team a second place behind William Henry's record-setting effort. Marshall Jackson and Dan Hicks completed the Lion quartet.

Larry Bonniwell is proving his value to this team by his versatility. As a pole vaulter, he has cleared 10 feet, 3 inches. This had been a weak spot. He helped out as the squad's best javelin thrower until Jim Simpler developed. At Baynard Stadium, he ran a 2:14 half mile, and a sub-57 seconds quarter mile. H.H.S. is now respectable in four events, that had been trouble points, because of his efforts.

Seventh-Grade Athlete Runs 2:19 Half Mile

Chris Wetherhold, a seventh-grade distance running prospect, was the outstanding performer in the junior high track meet held at H.H.S. last Thursday afternoon. Wetherhold attracted attention from Philadelphia to Salisbury in March, when he won a 12-and-under mile run in Wilmington against tough competition, in a terrific 5 minutes and 17 seconds.

Thursday afternoon he ran only the fourth competitive 880 of his budding young career. Instead of taking it easy on the first lap like he ordinarily does, Chris took the lead at once, ripped off a swift 67 seconds first lap and then raced to a 2:19 half mile, ignoring a brisk wind. This made him the owner of the fastest 880 of the year at H.H.S., junior high or senior high.

Eighth grader John Brown stayed close enough to the flying Wetherhold to lower his half mile time from 2:29.5 to 2:24 flat. This pair of prospects are the most faithful and hard working athletes on the team and the results prove it.

After the race on Thursday, the best four half milers at Harrington High were in junior high. Wetherhold's 2:19 led the list, followed by freshman, Paul Marshall (2:21.8) and Oscar Matthews (2:22). Brown's 2:24 was fourth best.

Senior Larry Bonniwell captured the top spot at the local school when he ran a 2:14 half mile on Friday night. Jim Ryan, a college freshman, is the fastest miler in American history with a 3:55 plus clocking. Ryan never ran a 2:20 half mile until he aww a sophomore.

Closer to home, Henry Knotts a 4:38 miler in high school and a state cross-country champion was running the half mile in 2:22 as a high school freshman. Now we have a lad, who was 13 in April, down to 2:19 in the seventh grade after only four starts. It staggers the imagination to try and predict just how fast he will someday run with what may turn out to be a long, illustrious career ahead.

Felton Nine Wins Two Close Games

Felton High's Green Devil baseball team remained tied with Harrington for third place in the Henlopen Conference by winning two close games from Sussex County rivals, Millsboro and John M. Clayton.

Millsboro broke a scoreless deadlock with three runs in the top of the fifth and appeared to be in the driver's seat with only 2 1/2 innings to play. Felton picked up two runs in the bottom of the fifth and added a trio of tallies in the sixth to win 5-3.

Felton had only four hits to six for the Blue Devils. Second-sacker Moore had two-for-three. Porly Coulson and Will Dill also hit the pill. Dill was the winning pitcher.

John M. Clayton proved to be a formidable foe at Felton Monday afternoon. Red Dill started and brother Will relieved him as the visiting Bears scored in each of the first four innings and in five of the first six frames. The Bears led 3-0 and 4-1 before Felton scored six big runs in the third inning as the Dill brothers clouted doubles.

Clayton added runs in the fourth and sixth innings to draw up to 7-6 before yielding.

Felton outhit the losers 8-6 with Lloyd Shelman getting two hits in three trips. Will Dill had 2 RBIs.

Foresters Down Eagles, 9-5

Greenwood High's baseball Foresters have trouble getting on the diamond these days because of the weather. Thursday afternoon the Foresters won their second contest in only three starts by outslugging Lord Baltimore 9-5.

The Foresters belted out 10 hits in the game and led 7-0 after 1 1/2 innings. The Eagles had their only good inning when they scored four times in the bottom of the second frame.

Ron Breeding was the winning pitcher. At the plate the stickouts were: Buell Schulze, 2-for-3 and 3 runs; Steve Willey and Frank Spence, 2-for-3 and Bill Beauchamp, 2-for-4. We have been calling this last fellow "leftfielder Beauchamp" but decided it was time to find out his first monicker. Spence drove three runs across the plate.

Jim Schiff's H.H.S. 100 Mark Tied By F. White

Jim Schiff, the fastest sprinter in ten years of track and field at Harrington High School, had one of his three school marks tied at the giant Milford Invitational track meet last Wednesday night. Frank White blazed a 10 flat 100 yard dash to tie Schiff's 1959 effort, one of the oldest marks on the books. Schiff later became a standout trackman at the University of Maryland and will complete his work toward a degree in dentistry next month. Jim also holds the 220 (22.4) and 440 (53.6) records at Harrington High, although he ran the 440 only once in his career. He defeated both the Milford and Seaford Invitational champions in that race.

Frank White won his semi-final heat with his record-tying effort, but was nipped at the tape in the final by Jim Cannon, of Seaford with both boys clocking 10.1 seconds.

Harrington's team performance was a good one as the Lions finished ahead of more than half of their rivals despite the absence of five key performers.

Gerry Garey, a fine schoolboy two-miler, hurt his foot in an accident at home and could not compete. Larry Bonniwell was unable to make the meet and three quarter milers, who made up three-quarters of the mile relay team were not available. One quit the squad before the meet and the other two have departed since.

Nevertheless, several bright performances sent H.H.S. fans home with a glow. White's 10 flat century was probably a meet record. Dan Hicks ran his best 100 (10.5) to give the Lions two sprinters of only six in the final. Hicks also leaped very close to 18 feet in the broad jump for the first time this year.

Jim White surprised in the 220 when he upset previous conquerors, Lloyd Cearley, of Dover Air, and Ken McDaniel, of Bridgeville. Jim's 23.5 was his best ever and gave H.H.S. two of the six finalists in the longer dash. In the final, Frank White, tired from his six earlier races, finished fourth. Jim White appeared to have fifth place sewed up but officials ruled for Sing of Lewes.

Nick Morris, a new pole-vaulting recruit this season, cleared nine feet at Seaford, two weeks earlier. This was his best leap ever. Rain washed out all competition until the Milford meet but the sophomore proceeded to jump nine feet, nine inches.

Ernest Wright was timed in 58.5 in the 440 to break 60 seconds for the first time. He may have bettered that time in the mile relay as he ran with three substitutes hurriedly gathered together by Coach Harold McDonald. Bill Moore, Martin Adams and John Flamer did a pretty good job considering their youth and inexperience. Flamer leaped to a new personal mark of 17-5 1/2 in the broad jump.

Marshall Jackson, Dan Hicks, Jim White and Frank White raced to a seasonal low of 1:38.1 to win a heat of the 880 relay. Seaford had a faster time in another heat but the Lions' clocking was good enough for the runnerup spot.

Oscar Matthews, a freshman, lowered his life mark in the 880 to a good 2:22. Bob Matthews did well in the mile run despite a pulled leg muscle. Jim Simpler made the javelin finals with a toss of 135, his best competitive throw ever.

AGING PLAN

be a visual display of the fact that the farmer has good management ability. Good managers make bigger incomes and, therefore, accumulate capital and land so their farm business grows. As the business grows it can support more and larger equipment, attractive buildings and other signs of prosperity." He points out that good farmers tend to gravitate toward the best quality farm land. "Admittedly," McAllister says, "some farms can be too small or too poor and some enterprises have low earning power that even a good manager would find it difficult to make a success. But a good manager will recognize the limitations and do something about it rather than let them limit his success the rest of his life." A farmer's management ability is always evident. "As an example," McAllister says, "Right now as farmers plant their crops they are following management procedure that will have a big influence on their success for the rest of the year. One of the basic weaknesses of poor managers is their failure to control the little things that make up the whole management job. By that I mean such things as failure to see that corn planters are working correctly before planting 100 acres—and three weeks later find there is only two-thirds of a stand. The tendency is blame the seed, the weather or somebody except yourself. In many cases, management is at fault—wrong size seed plates, worn plates, didn't check out planter for accuracy, planting at too high a speed, planting too deep, poorly prepared seed bed or other types of human errors that good management prevents."

Management is doing things right or seeing that they get done correctly—and this means looking after details, McAllister points out.

A check list can help a person to develop a system of "thinking through" the details. When a farmer starts a job he could check off in his mind such things as the optimum time for doing a job; the materials and equipment needed to do the job correctly and on time; and the right procedure to follow.

One of the big problems of the farmer, says McAllister, is that he is constantly under so much pressure to get the job done that he doesn't take time to organize the work and follow through on details. But this follow-through on details is likely to be the difference between being average or being in the top 10 per cent of successful farmers.

In order to carry the additional work load of the Older Americans Act money is also being made available to increase the size of the office staff of the Commission. The Commission is presently seeking the services of a qualified deputy director who has a master's degree in social work or a related field. Organizations, persons, or communities interested in securing funds or more information should communicate with the Commission for the Aging, P. O. Box 57, Smyrna, Delaware 19077.

Medicine, and we hope for a large attendance to honor Dr. Hufnagel. Dr. Hufnagel is professor of surgery and director of experimental surgical laboratory at Georgetown University Medical School and is world-renowned for his success in the development and implantation of a heart valve which bears his name.

In presenting the memorial lecture, Dr. Hufnagel joins a long list of eminent and outstanding men in the cardiovascular field which includes Dr. Thomas Killip, III, Dr. Ormand C. Julian, Dr. Howard B. Sprague, Dr. Louis Katz, Dr. Julian Johnson, Dr. Myron Prinzmetal, and Dr. Irvine H. Page.

In 1965 Dr. Hufnagel was recognized by being chosen for the Notre Dame Centennial of Science Medal, Metropolitan Heart Guild's Surgeon of the Year, Villanova University's Mendal Medal of Science and the Susan and Theodore Cummings Humanitarian Award.

accessible to even the youngest "explorer." The bathroom medicine cabinet is another source of danger. The best way to prevent poisoning accidents is to keep potentially poisonous substances completely out of reach of the child—preferably locked securely in cabinets or drawers, Boys points out.

If a child does eat a poisonous material, call the physician immediately, and have the label of the substance handy to tell the doctor the ingredients it contains, Boys advises. If the doctor is not immediately available, call the nearest Poison Information Center. This organization, which operates around the clock, can provide information on more than 20,000 substances that cause poisoning. In Wilmington, the number is Olympia 5-3389.

A folder, "Practice Poison Prevention," written by Boys, gives additional information on accidental poisoning. It is available free of charge from the Mail Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Del. 1911.
