

New Disposal Plant Is A 'Must', Mayor Tells Harrington C. of C.

A new sewage disposal plant and extension of sewer mains is a "must," the Chamber of Commerce heard one of its members, Mayor Luther P. Hatfield, declare Tuesday.

In its monthly meeting at The Wonder R, the mayor said the Delaware Water Pollution Commission could take stringent measures to compel the community to improve its sewer system, but had not done so because the City Government was already taking measures to rectify the situation. The City Council, and city and state officials went to Laurel and Millsboro Wednesday evening to check their systems. Laurel has the lagoon system, while Millsboro has the usual system.

At the Tuesday meeting, it appeared the Millsboro system was favored because it involved less land, and the plant could be more easily improved. Furthermore, it was brought out Tuesday, the contemplated plant here would have twice the capacity of the present one.

Without indicating the particular source, it was said Tuesday a state agency had said we could have an industry here in a few months if we have an improved sewer system.

In other business, it was revealed some $191 was earned at booths on sports day at the school recently, and that returns were not all in. Receipts will be used to partly defray costs of an exchange student next school year. The Chamber of Commerce booth was in charge of Leon Porter and Roland Melvin.

In other business, Ellsworth Saulsbury, membership director of the State Chamber of Commerce, said more legislation had been introduced in the General Assembly in the past two weeks than in the remainder of the session.

He cited the activities of the chamber in Dover, and explained it had secured a more favorable bill on unemployment compensation than the one originally proposed.

Special Program For Junior Technicians In Highway Construction

A special training program, aimed at providing the State Highway Department with personnel, is being revived this year for 1966 Delaware high school graduates.

The program, operated cooperatively by the State Highway Department and the State Department of Public Instruction, is open to Delaware high school graduates who are not planning to continue their education in college.

The deadline or applications, which should be made through the student's high school principal or guidance counselor, is May 16. Successful candidates will be notified by June 1 by the Highway Department.

Approximately 30 trainees will be selected for a five-week training course to be held by the State Highway Department from June 27 to July 29. The training will be directed according to the trainee's competence into one of four jobs: highway inspector trainee, survey inspector trainee, materials trainee or junior estimator.

All expenses for the training, including transportation to a work location to be determined, will be provided by the State Highway Department. Trainees selected for the program will be paid a starting salary of $280 per month, with an increase to $295 per month upon successful completion of the program.

Trainees enrolled in the previous program, who were hired by the Highway Department, were earning $310 per month at the end of six months to a year on the job, $340 per month after two years, and $380 per month after three years.

The intern program to be conducted this summer will be the second such program in the past three years. The first experimental program was conducted (Continued on Page 5)

The chaplain of the Auxiliary, Mrs. William Outten, will place a wreath at the base of the flag pole after the colors have been raised by Benjamin Emory. Judge Marion W. Stevenson, in Family Court, Dover, Thurs., May 19, announced that he will petition the Superior Court to take jurisdiction in the case of Edward Benson, 16, of Harrington, and ordered the youth held to await the outcome in Superior Court.

The Benson case was one of quite a number of juvenile cases matters to come before the Family Court. Most of the offenders reside in the Harrington area.

Benson was before the court on charges of forging a check for $15, assault and battery on a minor with a knife, and numerous disorderly conduct charges. He had been before the Family Court many times previously.

In other cases, Donald L. Henry, 16, and Arthur John Johnson, 17, both of Harrington, were charged with passing a forged check. They were ordered to make restitution and were placed on probation.

Lemuel Scott, 17, Harrington, was charged with passing forged checks for which he will have to make restitution, and then he will be placed on probation.

A 12-year-old Dover boy, charged with petty larceny in the theft of a hunting knife, will have the charges dismissed upon payment of restitution and court costs.

In addition to all of the other juvenile matters before the Court, Judge Stevenson decided a number of cases of juveniles charged with motor vehicle law violations, imposing a fine in each case.

Frederica Man, 25, Found Dead

Francis Timblin, 25, was found dead Thursday morning, May 19, in his apartment at Frederica, by his brother, Leroy, Delaware State Police at Dover reported last Friday.

According to State Police, Leroy Timblin, 28, of Milford, found the body at 10:30 a. m. State police were continuing the investigation.

Walter C. Torbert, Kent County coroner, said that an autopsy has been performed, but that additional tests are needed to determine the cause of death.

Mr. Timblin, a native of Western Pennsylvania, went to Milford after his discharge from the Army in 1960. He formerly was employed at the Bata Shoe Store in Milford and at the time of his death worked at the Du Pont Co.'s nylon plant at Seaford.

In addition to his brother, he is survived by his father, Levi Timblin, of Bradford, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Betty Jean Andrew, of Pittsburgh.

The Callaway-Kemp-Raughley Tee American Legion Auxiliary Unit will be sharing in this great program. Beginning on Thursday, May 26, and through until Memorial Day services on Monday, the little red flowers of remembrance will be offered by members of the unit and the Junior Auxiliary. Mrs. William Jester is serving once again as poppy chairman. Watch for her and her assistants during this weekend, and share in the benefits of the Poppy Day.

New Racing Plant Assured Here With New Corporation

John W. Rollins, whose "Midastouch" has brought him millions through enterprises ranging from autos to pest extermination, will become a full partner with the Delaware State Fair in construction of a $1.5 million harness track.

The new corporation, yet unnamed will borrow $750,000 and raise a similar amount through a sale of stock.

Both the State Fair and Rollins will subscribe to shares in the amount of $250,000, for a total of $500,000 while another $250,000 will be raised by public sale.

Under present plans, which must be approved by the Securities Exchange Commission, the stock will be offered at $10 a share in blocs as low as $100.

If there is a substantial public demand for stock, it is possible that both the Fair and Rollins will back off in equal amounts, to make it available.

"The idea is to assure that no one individual, or organization, can gain absolute control," George C. Simpson, general manager of the Fair, said last week.

It is anticipated that the track will be administered by a nine-member board of directors, with Rollins or an associate most certainly included.

J. Gordon Smith, president of the Fair and of Kent-Sussex Raceway which currently conducts fall racing, hailed the entrance of Rollins:

"For the first time, I have full confidence that the new plant will be built," he said.

The financing plan was expected to be presented to the SEC in Washington this week by Herman C. Brown, Dover attorney and counsel for the Fair.

Brown, who was born in Harrington, is also a harness horse owner, trainer, and driver.

This is not the first venture by Rollins, a former lieutenant-governor and unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor in 1960, into the harness horse field.

Rollins, for example, is a partner with Atty. Gen. David P. Buckson in Purple & Red Stables. He also recently purchased a large farm bordering Rt. 13 in low New Castle County.

At the moment, four harness horses, presumably broodmares, populate one field.

Rollins, it is reported, also owns a large number of shares of stock in Brandywine Raceway, which recently closed its spring meeting.

The new track at Harrington, the pioneer racing plant in the state, will feature a heated and air-conditioned grandstand and club house.

It will be located near the training track, and will be ready for racing the 1967 season.

This year, Harrington is running in September and October, with the action moving on to Georgetown at the conclusion of the fall meet in the Kent County town.

Acme Markets Reports Record Sales Net Down

For the 16th consecutive year, Acme Markets, Inc., rang up a new record for sales. According to the firm's annual report, released Tuesday, Acme sales reached $1,200,759,822 in the 52 weeks ended April 2, 1966. This represents a gain of 3.4% over last year when sales reached $1,161,198,293 in 53 weeks.

However, earnings dipped to $3.73 per share, down from $4.58 a year ago, adjusted for the 5% stock dividend paid March 31, 1966. Net earnings declined to $10,450,140 from last year's $12,883,599. Profit margins were narrowed by higher costs of products, materials, supplies and wages, as well as intense competition in areas where Acme does business and a brief though costly work stoppage in Philadelphia.

Despite the decline in earnings, profit performance improved in each succeeding quarter during the fiscal period.

Acme opened 32 new food stores during the year with 15 of them at Alpha Beta, headquartered at La Habra, California. At the close of the fiscal period, Acme had 902 stores in operation. The firm closed 56 food stores where operations were unprofitable or where new stores served the same areas.

"Although we closed more stores last year than we opened," Paul J. Cupp, chairman of the board, said, "We had a net gain in total sales area and sales per square foot of sales space. Our plans call for an increased number of stores to be opened in the current year."

Major expansion projects included a milk plant in La Habra, Calif., distribution centers for perishables and frozen foods in Philadelphia and a canning plant in Hurlock, Md.

Mr. Cupp is optimistic about Acme's future. "Since the start of the new fiscal year, our sales trend has improved steadily," he pointed out. "While April sales were $94,646,636 or 3.63% ahead of a year earlier, May sales, so far, have exceeded those of May last year by a higher percentage than the April increase.

Authority members received a progress report on the second span which asserted that it is 54.5 per cent completed. The consulting engineers state that letting contract dates are being met and hopefully the project can be completed by late 1967.

The Authority also gave final approval to a $41,744.28 contract for the furniture for the new administration building.

A contract was approved for the purchase of six new patrol cars for Delaware Memorial Bridge Police. Southard Ford of Penns Grove, N. J., was the lowest of three bidders at $7,463. Trade-ins were involved according to Director Miller.

Committee of 39 Urges Passage Of Merit Bill

The committee of 39 urges the members of the General Assembly to pass House Bill 594, which establishes a merit system for state employees. This bill, as introduced on May 24, meets to a very substantial degree the criteria that they believe are important for a sound merit system. Its enactment would represent a considerable achievement toward good government in Delaware.

The merit system of House Bill 594 would end the chaotic lack of a statewide personnel system.

It provisions, if coupled with an adequate salary scale, would make the state an attractive employer for capable people. This bill represents the improvements promised by both parties in past election platforms.

D.R.B.A. To Consolidate Services

The Delaware River and Bay Authority, with an eye on economy, today voted to consolidate the services of its Consulting Engineers and may take similar steps with Traffic Engineers.

The Services of Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Quade and Douglas, New York Marine Engineers were terminated from Cape May-Lewes Ferry operations. Further work at Delaware Memorial Bridge and the Ferry will be supervised by the two consulting engineering firms, Howard Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff and E. Lionel Pavlo, New York City, consulting engineers.

Chairman Clarence B. McCormick said the action was taken after receiving approval from Delaware Trust Company, acting as trustee for the Authority.

Director William J. Miller, Jr. informed the Authority that because of delays in completing a contract for bulkhead and dredging at the Cape May Terminal of the ferry, there will be a 43.85% increase in cost. The contract awarded January 28, 1964 to Buckley and Company, of Philadelphia will bear a final price tag of $4,101,214.15.

A contract was awarded to W. V. Pangborne, and Company, Inc. Philadelphia, lowest of three bidders for lighting the West Approach roadway of the second single suspension span. The cost will be $538,002.00. Engineers had predicted an estimated cost of $841,085.00.

The Authority also gave final approval to a $41,744.28 contract for the furniture for the new administration building.

A contract was approved for the purchase of six new patrol cars for Delaware Memorial Bridge Police. Southard Ford of Penns Grove, N. J., was the lowest of three bidders at $7,463. Trade-ins were involved according to Director Miller.

Beware Of 'Bargains' For The Garden

Gardeners, eager for flowers in the spring, have their appetites whetted by colorful illustrations in advertisements. Many flowers and ornamentals are advertised for sale; most of them are good plants at a fair price.

But not always; occasionally ads are misleading, according to Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. No matter what the ads imply, there is no perfect plant, he warns. No one plant will grow in both sun and shade, under all possible soil conditions, to any height desired and be covered with blooms all season long.

Attention-Men of the Church: A quotation from Bishop Mosley concerning last year's laymen's conference which was held at St. Andrew's was, "The best one I have attended in 17 years of attending." This year's laymen's conference is to be held again at beautiful St. Andrew's School near Middletown beginning Friday evening, June 17, with registration from 5:00 to 6:30 p. m. and ending on Saturday, June 18, after lunch. We are delighted to announce that the Rev. Victor Kusik of St. Mary's in Bridgeville, will be the Friday night speaker, and the resource person for the conference. All laymen are urged to set this date aside and to attend.

On Tuesday, May 31, there will be an organizational meeting for the 1966 summer softball league at 7:30 p. m. at St. Stephen's.

We repeat our announcement concerning our summer program of activities which begins on June 12. During the summer the 8:00 o'clock service of Holy Communion will continue except for the month of July, during which time the vicar will be on vacation. Then at 10:00 o'clock each Sunday morning there will be a family service in the nave of the church at which time all children and adults except the two and three year olds will worship together. Then during the sermon hymn, children of kindergarten and primary age (grades 1, 2, and 3 this year) will go to their classes. Those older than this will remain with their parents during the rest of the service of divine worship. Children of nursery age will attend church school during the entire hour. On Holy Communion Sundays, the teachers who have, due to their teaching, missed Holy Communion, will be invited to receive after the morning service. Coffee hour will continue throughout the summer and will be held immediately after the 10:00 a. m. service.

Many Christian denominations will practice self-denial this coming Sunday. It has come to the attention of Christians in America that countless thousands of the people in India are in great need of the bare necessities of life. This particular season finds this need greater than ever. The late Prime Minister Nehru once made the statement that if half of his people could read the directions on seed packages, their economic situation would be no problem. One can see from this that at present it is not possible for the individual Indian to be able to better his situation. Surely Christian people will want to share of their abundance with their fellow children of God in India.

It has been necessary to call a special meeting of the members of the Vestry this coming Sunday at 12:15. This will be a short but important meeting.

Our Trip to Dover

I enjoyed my trip to Dover. Our chaperones were Mrs. Tatman, Mrs. Reedy, and Mrs. Aiken. Our bus driver was Mr. Porter. I like how they spun flax at the Museum. At the Museum I bought a glass. When we went to building No. 2, we saw a cabin. Inside the cabin was an eel trap and a bear's trap. I liked Christ Church. It had beautiful windows. The fourth grade ate lunch on the bus. That's what I enjoyed most. —Maxine Travis

Our Trip to Dover

Mrs. Nelson's class went on a trip to Dover. We visited the Dickinson Mansion and saw the living room and the fire places that heated the rooms. Next we went to the State House and saw the room where Governor Terry helps to make Delaware's laws. From there we went to the museum and some of the workers showed us some of the old antiques. We went to the jail and Lt. Landers showed us around and some of the cells. I enjoyed the trip very much! —Ronnie Mosley

Our Trip to Dover

Mrs. Nelson's class took a trip to Dover Thursday, May 12. They went to the John Dickinson Mansion, Delaware State Museum, Kent County Correctional Institution, Court House, State House, and the Christ Church.

John Dickinson Mansion has a parlor in it, summer kitchen and many more rooms. It was built in 1740. They saw where John Dickinson slept.

The State Museum had a cobbler sitting on his bench. It is a dummy dressed like a cobbler and it frightened the children! They saw the log cabin the Museum had. It had a loft for children to sleep in. The mother and the father slept in the bed.

They went to the jail. The man said that many law breakers tried to get out but failed. He also said he's had about 17,000 people in jail over the years. He took them through some of the cells.

At the Court House they saw a real trial. At the State House they saw the governor.

At the Christ Church there was no one around so they just looked. I enjoyed the trip because there were exciting things to see. —Rachelle Reedy

Our Trip to Dover

We went to Dover Thursday on a class trip. We left at 8:45. Our bus driver was Mr. Porter. Our chaperones were Mrs. Reedy, Mrs. Aiken, and Mrs. Tatman. Each person brought his own lunch. Our return was at 1:45 p.m.

One place we visited was John Dickinson Mansion. We saw all of the Mansion that could be seen, and saw a lot of the things we had studied.

The Delaware State Museum was very interesting. There were three buildings to the Museum. One had things that belonged to a cobbler, a blacksmith, a harness maker, a grist mill, and an old Swedish log cabin! They had things in a showcase that they had found around the cabin too. The other buildings had antiques and souvenirs.

We also saw the Kent County Correctional Institution, where they had people locked up. When we came out they said that Mrs. Nelson's class was the best class that had been through there.

In the Court House we saw a little bit of a trial. We saw the State House also.

Christ Church was lovely! Caesar Rodney was buried there. I liked everything I saw! I liked the trip very, very much! —Judy Tatman

We ate on the bus because it was too cool. We sang songs on the way up. I enjoyed my trip to Dover. —Ruth Minner

I WENT TO THE BARBER SHOP

I went to the barber shop and the man was cutting another man's hair. He told the barber shop man not to cut his hair bald. The barber shop man cut his hair bald. After the man went home and looked in the mirror he saw his hair was bald. Then he went back to the barber shop. Then the barber shop man saw the lady's wig. The man put it on his head.

Our Trip to Dover

I hoped I would like it where we were going! I wished it would soon be 8:45 p.m. so we could leave to go on our trip to Dover! Finally it was 8:45 and our fourth grade left in a bus. The

Our Trip to Dover

On Thursday, May the 12th, Mrs. Nelson's class and 3 chaperones went to Dover to see different things. I enjoyed going in the Court House. A Court House is a place to go when there is a trial. Right To Work Membership Soars

"The membership of the Delaware Chapter of the National Right to Work Committee has risen steadily since its inception in March, 1966," said Richard Hardesty, chairman of the group.

"From the small group of 19 who attended our first meeting," he continued, "we now have over 80 members around the state of Delaware who are actively interested in the eventual passage of a Right to Work Law. Most of these new members were not aware that Compulsory Unionism is legal today in Delaware."

"Contributions and memberships have been pouring in at an astonishing rate from people from all walks of life," Mr. Hardesty said, "pointing out that there is a basic need for an extensive educational program in this state, designed to alert Delawareans to the dangers of compulsory unionism."

"Our program is a long-ranged one," he continued, "but one that we have great faith in. We are here to stay."

George W. Neumann, executive secretary of the committee also stated, "We are taking a close look at H.B. 346 which is apparently intended to unionize the schoolteachers, a few of whom are on our committee already."

Social Security News

by W. J. Bulkley

46,910 people in Delaware received a total of $42 million in social security benefits in 1965. W. J. Bulkley, social security district manager in Dover, said recently. This is an increase of $5 million and 2470 people over the year before.

16,403 of these persons lived in Kent and Sussex Counties. They received $13.4 million of the total.

A large part of the increase resulted from changes made by the social security amendments of 1965. These changes included a 7% increase in monthly benefits for widows as early as 60, payment to full-time students to age 22, benefits for some persons over age 72 who previously did not qualify, and payment of disability will last 12 months or more. In addition, a number of older people found they were eligible for social security benefits when they applied for medicare.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. CLIFF MILLER

"In Flander's Field The Poppies Grow"

That heading and poem, originated during World War "One", and the thought back of it has been kept alive by the noble efforts of the American Legion and the thought back of it has been kept alive by the noble efforts of the American Legion and associated auxiliaries throughout the country through distribution of poppies to all who care to contribute to this worthy cause which is doing so much toward relief of suffering from all wars since 1918.

Yesterday, today and tomorrow (16-17 and 18) are the dates set aside locally as Poppy Days. Mrs. W. R. Jester, local chairman for the drive has set up distribution points throughout the town.

So let us not forget the price,
 Nor lightly hold the sacrifice,
 Of Earnest daring Yankee Boys,
 Who gave their lives and earthly joys,
 And all they e'er held dear to them,
 That we might profit in the end.

I heard a man laugh,
 And I heard a man cry;
 I saw a man live,
 And I saw a man die.

The happy man served,
 Spent a lifetime at giving;
 The sad one retreated,
 And died while still living.

Assoc. Ed's Note: Dear W. Cliff: Pop said never to put Mr in front of a man's name in a newspaper unless it is Mr. and Mrs. (something people could never earn the title (Mister) in a lifetime's worth of trying—Mister is only for the social elite. I don't own such a title as Mr. myself. Down in the south it—the name Mister—was used to design the difference between a colored man and a white man. — and that is rapidly going out of use.

Now—back to the turkey trot—I wonder if DeGaulle is going to send all of our dead soldiers back. It seems like there is nothing like a vain man looking for glory.

If he is going to undermine us—and send our living soldiers back—how about our dead boys. The French would not stand for that one. DeGaulle was too important at the time to take a chance on letting him take Paris. Eisenhower (German for "iron man") wouldn't let him go in. LeClerc and his French 2d. Division took Paris.—and we have a DeGaulle on our neck. It is strictly personal, too.

What brings this little tirade up is, "Yes, Mr. Miller, the French are keeping our cemeteries for the World War I boys in good shape.—They run the flag up each day, and also, the cemeteries I saw were all on high ground. They had gray tombstones—the boys from World War I did—while the boys from World War II were sometimes buried on ground that was a little lower—and their tombstones were plainer—just plain white—but one thing—in any direction you look—they were lined up—straight up, cross-wise all lined up, just like you used surveying instruments on them. "I saw one of the cemeteries from World War I several times. The cemetery was between Paris and Rheims. From my memoirs—"W. C. Burgess—"AWOL IN PARIS." With apologies to the public—it looks like those little narrow streets caved in again.—we got losted, we did."

Oh! Yes! I have ridden 'the blinds'—blind baggage—from coast to coast; but I am not a 'bindle stiff.' Neither doesn't carry a bundle on a stick. All this was doing the depression—1929 to 1935. Most all the laws of relief started from that time. The Townsend Plan first originated in California—and I am quite sure—that was the forerunner of Social Security.

"The Wedding of Tom Thumb" Burgess Masten's Hall - Harrington - 1923

By "Wild Bill" Burgess

Occupation—Taxi Driver, Gambler, Caddie

Now my Uncle Jewell Matthews tagged that little monicker on your "Ole' Daddy" years ago down in Miami, Florida. After twenty-five or thirty years—I'm still a legend down there—no one, or very few—and my brother, Byron Wayne, is one of them—would know me by my true name. You see, I worked on the Miami Springs Golf Course in those days—and everybody had a nickname—you wouldn't know a guy by his right name if he told you!

If you have to look ahead—look ahead for something nice, like maybe a "Payday on the Wabash," or something like that—Never look ahead for something bad—that will always show up when you least expect it—So! Let us go down "Memory Lane." — Once again!

It was "The Tom Thumb" Wedding. Everybody gets it in the neck sometime—"It takes two to tango!"—I guess it is "Just the way of living."

The dame says to herself—"What am I marryin' this fool for?" Oh! Well, Maybe I can train him; and if I can't, Oh! Well! Out of the fryin' pan and into the fire!"

"Maybe it was just 'the slow boat to China'—and the last one at that—Maybe I better hop aboard!"

Now the poor man says, "Any woman that has me, has got to be crazy; maybe she'll just take me as is—that is—without any changes." "They call it subterfuge"

Now the woman says to herself: "Here I feel bad; I want to take it out on somebody, and here I am single; I can't stand it; I guess I will have to get on the matrimonial handwagon; 'Heavens to Betsy'—which literally means —"Oh! What's the difference."

And then the fun begins. Now I wonder if poor ole' Tom Thumb got into the show—"Or was it just a little bit of wishful thinking by the Arthur!" "Arthur was one of my hillbilly uncles down in 'Arkansaw'!" "Boy what a show!" Grandma and Grandpa lived in the bayouts —

Grandma to Uncle Ott: "Get goin' son, we need some meat on the table." They never had to worry about salted meat or nothin' winter or summer. Uncle Ott grabbed a shotgun, and away we go; down into the swamps.

"We hadn't even gone a hundred yards until we came across a ring-tailed coon; uncle brought him down and we had coon for dinner—they call it dinner—the noon repast—we call it lunch. I was kinda hungry; so I made a big mistake—I grabbed a leg offa that ring-tailed coon—and I couldn't eat it all. The meat was too rich!"

Scene: Tom Thumb Wedding; Masten's Hall, Harrington, Delaware; time: 1923, approximately.

Masten's Hall was a small theatre over Trotta's Store. There used to be a hallway between Burton Smith's and Trotta's Store (formerly Shaw's Appliances) and now and then the boys would give a minstrel show or some home talent plays up there—and so it was. Out on the stage trots ole' W. C. with a gal friend—and as usual what a foul up—the gal had on a big train—(a dress with a long tail on it)—and ole' W. C. accidentally stepped on it—and it went rip up; but it didn't hurt too bad; at least nothing was showing.

You know it rally is a wonder—when you are young—stage fright is usually the last thing in your mind—they call it fortitude—or tranquility—you are at peace with the world.

And here went the song:

I'd love to live in love land,
 With a girl like you;
 With every day a holiday,
 With skies of baby blue,

Where sweethearts live forever,
 And friends are always true;
 I'd like to live in love land,
 With a girl like you!

Then the girl hauls off and sings the same thing; excepting she substitutes boy for girl in the song.

Too many friends are squaking to me; why don't you write some more articles! I just tell 'em I don't feel like it; even Doc Smith says, "I like your articles; you ought to write a book."—Make it a ledger, doc."

You know—even 'the bindle stiff' gets tired of the same old canned heat all the time—he has to go legit—and work a while to get a little better brand of schnapps.

The 'bindle stiff' goes to the back door and says, "Lady, may I have something to eat?" The lady says, "Yes, as soon as you chop some wood."

The bindle stiff says, "Lary, I came here to eat, not to work." And away he goes. He spends three hours begging a meal; when he could work and get it for one hour's duty.

The point I am trying to put over is this: "Sometimes, people get tired of reading 'so-called canned articles.' They are cut and dried; expertly written, and everything! They sometimes come to me and complain—so then, some of our staff has to get down close to earth and write something! Of course, the articles are not written correctly—but they come from the heart—and from experience; so your old trouble shooter from the complaint department is signing off! Please turn that hill billy music down so I can enjoy my meal!

Oh! Yes! I have ridden 'the blinds'—blind baggage—from coast to coast; but I am not a 'bindle stiff.' Neither doesn't carry a bundle on a stick. All this was doing the depression—1929 to 1935. Most all the laws of relief started from that time. The Townsend Plan first originated in California—and I am quite sure—that was the forerunner of Social Security.

The hobo—he will work and work hard, too, he just works long enough to get a stake to move along on.—That is I; and Cliff Miller has done a little of that, too—in his younger days. Bring in some of your stories—writing is too much like work. How do you know—maybe I really would like to catch another fast train in the night. But I am not as fast as I used to be.

Veterans News

Application blanks for Educational benefits under the new GI Bill are available now at Veterans Administration offices throughout the country and at all major colleges, universities, high schools, and educational centers, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office, announced May 19.

Information pamphlets and personal assistance in filling out the applications can be obtained at any VA office, at colleges and other educational institutions.

Earliest date for courses under VA payment has been set by law as June 1, 1966, Mr. Fields said, with payment to be made the month following each month's study.

There will be ample time for those who expect to enter the summer session to complete the necessary paper work before the June 1 date, Mr. Fields said.

A normal summer school enrollment is expected, with the big rush for enrollment in September for the fall semester.

This post-Korean educational program will be open to all veterans with more than 181 days active duty service, any of which occurred on or after February 1, 1955; if less than 181 days service, he must have been discharged or released for a service-connected disability. The

Asbury W.S.C.S. Notes

On May 17, five members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Asbury Methodist Church joined women from other societies at Wesley College, Dover, for a "Day On Campus." Those attending from Asbury were Mrs. Ethel R. Bull, Mrs. Frank Derrickson, Mrs. Fulton J. Downing, Mrs. Edgar I. Graef, and Mrs. Floyd Nasser.

The day began with a meeting of the group at 10 a. m. in the Simpson Room of Dulany Hall. Included in the morning activities was a talk by the Rev. Following luncheon, Mrs. I. C. King, president of Dover District, gave a resume from the 7th Assembly. The Wesley College Chorus under the direction of Miss Ona Weimer, presented an excellent program. Mrs. Charles Z. Dukes, vice-President of the District, spoke on "Helping College Students Discover Truth," to close the afternoon program.

Mrs. Nasser announced this week that the local society will serve refreshments at the Book Harrington Public Sale on Saturday, May 28.

Circle leaders will be contacting members of their circle to ask for donations of cakes and pies, or sandwiches. Hot dogs and cold drinks will also be offered for sale. Anyone who can help during the sale is asked to call Mrs. Nasser, Mrs. Francis Winkler or their Circle leader.

Articles for the sale may be left at the home of Mrs. Nasser any time Friday afternoon, if they cannot be taken to the sale on Saturday.

All members are asked to participate in this project.

that I received while in the service. Is it too late to file a disability pension from the VA.

A.—There is no time limit as to when a veteran may file a claim for a disease or injury he feels was obtained while serving in the armed forces.

Q.—I am a veteran's widow and received a monthly check from the VA of $50.40 a month up until the time of remarriage. My second husband died shortly after our marriage and I would like to know if I am entitled to my first husband's VA pension, since I am no longer married?

A.—Remarriage following the death of the veteran makes the widow permanently ineligible for a pension from the Veterans Administration, based on the death of that veteran, unless the purported marriage is void or has been annulled.

Q.—I served in the U. S. Army from February 13, 1947, until I was discharged honorably in July of 1948 at the end of my enlistment period. I would like to know if I am considered a veteran of World War II.

A.—The term "World War II" means the period from December 7, 1941 to December 31, 1946.

with George K. Vapaa

Beach erosion, wind erosion, and water erosion in many forms will be targets of the new plant materials center near Cape May, N. J. Fred Mott, our Kent County Conservationist, drove me over to the new Soil Conservation Service facility. It will serve an area from Massachusetts to North Carolina along the East Coast.

The March 1962 storm showed the need for concern to hold soil in place. Adapted grasses seem to offer the best solution.

John McLeod, the Cape May Agent, served as master of ceremonies for the opening dedication. Over 200 conservation leaders attended.

The new experimental station is close to the seashore resorts. John reminded us that farmers can live in harmony with the recreational development needs of the area.

We met Dr. Thornton, developer of the new Tuftote Bermuda Grass, in the greenhouse. He told us the new variety was developed from a single plant found in central Africa.

A New Jersey inventor, Charles Baldwin, of Pennington, has developed an entirely new design in small tractors. It features 4-wheel hydrostatic drive, or more simply hydraulic drive and controls.

It's a bit larger than the new garden tractors, but uses standard parts except for the frame. A 15 H.P. Wisconsin gas engine supplies the power. It has a safety "dead man's" throttle, and stops when the foot is lifted off the treadle.

Mr. Baldwin has designed it for the nursery trade with special cultivating tools. One rotary hoe moves in and out between plants as the tractor moves down the row. The machine simply stops if the operator tries to use it above its design capacity. This means fewer breakages of parts.

We wonder why larger tractor makers have not used the hydraulic principle for driving their machines up to this time. Is there a good reason to stay with what we have?

Farmers have been taking undeserved blame for the rising inflation around us. The fact is, the farmer has been doing a terrific job in growing a big supply of cheap, nutritious food. For this he averages perhaps 37 cents out of the consumers' dollar.

Most of the rest of that dollar goes for processing and distribution costs. He receives perhaps nine cents per quart for the milk you drink. It's still very much of a bargain at three times this price to the consumer.

Broilers are the best bargain to be found most of the time on Delmarva. Few products have come up with more built-in-aid services. Remember the old way chickens were bought 25 years ago? Out of a crate live, killed by wringing the neck, picking the feathers, taking out the internal organs, and finally, perhaps boiling it for hours to tenderize it. Today, out of the package and into the pan for a tasty, tender treat indeed.

Farmers, as producers of raw food products, find their sale prices lag behind processed goods and tend to fall sooner because it is harder to control the supply or demand. What's wrong with his sharing in a general price rise? Blame it on the farmers' declining voting strength. Somebody has to take the blame, we're told.

A coquettish, hitchhiking bug, used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture since 1963 as a symbol of all foreign agricultural pests, now has her official name "Pestina." The Department uses "Pestina" to represent countless plant and animal pests and diseases—including insects, nematodes, and diseases—that could be brought to the United States from abroad. In recent years, agricultural inspectors stationed at airports, seaports, and border crossings have stopped an incoming plant pest on the average of once every 16 minutes around the clock. More than half arrived in items carried by travelers.

The Peace Corps has launched a major campaign to recruit American with agricultural experience to help 16 developing nations in summer assignments. Agricultural specialists are needed for two-year tours in India to help alleviate that country's pressing food shortage.

Current requests for agricultural volunteers are more than double those of past years. This demand reflects the critical food situation in many areas of the world. A wide variety of assignments is available, utilizing every type of agricultural background.

Training programs for 10 countries in Latin America, four in Africa and two in Asia will get underway this summer. These programs include volunteers for Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guinea, Honduras, India, Morocco, Nepal, Nigeria, Peru and Venezuela.

Rural youth, farmers and retired farmers are especially needed for these programs. Rural young people with 4-H or FFA backgrounds are needed to help develop youth clubs, while volunteers with practical farming experience will work directly with farmers to encourage improved farming practices.

D.C., A.R.C. To Hold 61st. Annual Meeting

The Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross, will hold its 61st annual meeting on Thursday June 16, at 12 noon in the Gold Ballroom of the Hotel DuPont in Wilmington.

Tribute will be paid to the Red Cross service to military families, formerly known as home service, which is marking its fiftieth anniversary this year. This service gives help to the families of men and women in the armed forces and to veterans and their families.

This Red Cross service also gives free counseling on personal and family problems; supplies financial assistance in emergencies, and assists with communications between servicemen and their families.

The meeting will open with a colorful procession of Red Cross volunteers attired in their uniforms of community service. They will highlight community services of first aid, water safety, nursing, service to military families, youth, production, hospital and motor service activities.

A slate of officers and members of the executive committee will be selected and 16 directors will be chosen for one and three-year terms.

The second Lamont duPont, Jr. Memorial Award for outstanding Red Cross volunteer community service will be awarded.

John J. De Luca, state Red Cross chapter chairman will preside.

The meeting is open to the public. Luncheon reservations should be made with the Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross, 910 Gilpin Avenue, Wilmington, Del. 19806, or by telephoning OLYMPIA 5-3341.

Peach Blossom 4-H Club News

The frost didn't hurt the Peach Blossoms at the Kent County Reddy Foods Contest held in the Dover Grange Hall they had seven girls taking part.

Donna Rust and Barmetta Hassett received white ribbons for their dishes prepared.

Terry Bowman's fried chicken and Becky Messick's blueberry muffins earned 2nd place ribbons.

Three became county winners. Debbie Salmons prepared tasty roasted carrots and won in the vegetable division. Susan Synder prepared a macaroni dish and won in the main dish class. An apple pie caught the judges' eyes from June Hassett as she won in desserts. These girls will prepare their dishes in front of state judges June 11 at the Delmarva Power and Light in Harrington.

Then this past Saturday night, six girls from our club modeled garments they had made in the County Dress Review. Becky Messick and Barmetta Hassett came home with seconds. Debbie Salmons and Terry Bowman won blue ribbons and so did Rita Messick and Susan Keilbasa. But Rita and Susan received more, as both were named to the honor court. Susan was the luckiest girl of the 80 or more girls taking part, for she was chosen Kent County Dress Review Princess! She received a dozen red roses.

Just think what can happen when the sun hits the Peach Blossoms!

Harrington Youth Wins Broiler Raising Contest

Harold Liles, a 16-year-old Harrington FFA member, was named 1966 champion in the Delaware Junior Broiler Contest, Thurs., May 19, at the State Fairgrounds.

Liles won $25 and a trophy presented by Warren Baker, president of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association.

His entry of seven birds averaged 5.18 pounds live weight at eight weeks and one day of age.

The average weight of the more than 900 birds entered in the contest by 132 Delaware FFA and 4-H members was 4.37 pounds and about three-fourths of a pound heavier than commercial broilers raised in a similar period.

Giant Foxtail Costly Weed For Farmers

Giant foxtail is slowly spreading throughout Delaware, and unless stopped it will cost Delaware farmers thousands of dollars again this year, according to Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware. This foxtail came from the Midwest, where it is appropriately called "the worst animal weed."

Damage isn't confined to yield reduction; it may cost $5 to $10 per acre to control this weed after it gets started. Recent research at Purdue University seems to show that giant foxtail may contain poisonous substances in its roots which slow corn growth.

The research workers found that corn roots did not grow as large in cartons containing giant foxtail root residues mixed with soil as the corn roots in untreated soil. According to the scientists, their results are not final proof that toxins are present in the roots of giant foxtail, but they strongly suggest this possibility. If true, not only does giant foxtail compete with agricultural crops for nutrients, moisture and sunlight, but the weed may also release substances to slow plant growth.

Foxtail takes over easily if left unchecked, since a single plant may produce more than 20,000 seeds a year. These seeds will remain viable in the soil for years. A good control program should prevent the production of new seeds to hold the foxtail in check, according to Dr. Mitchell.

The most important time to control foxtail is the first few weeks after planting. Pre-emergence herbicides, early rotary hoeing and good row cultivation can help provide early control. The rotary hoeing is effective on the foxtail seedlings before they appear on the surface, while the herbicides attack the young seedlings as soon as the seed germinates. Since weeds between the rows are easily controlled by cultivation, it is usually most economical to apply the pre-emergence herbicides just over the rows in a 14-inch band. This is the area hardest to reach with the cultivator.

In fields where giant foxtail is primarily at the ends, Mitchell says there is no need to treat the whole field with chemicals. Apply them only where the weeds grow.

For pre-emergence treatment on corn, use Atrazine, he recommends. For soybeans, use Treflan before planting, incorporated in the soil. Lorox or Premerge for pre-emergence treatment, or Sinox PE at emergence. In fence rows, roadsides, ditch banks and other non-crop areas, use dalapon. For personal safety, and to prevent problems, Dr. Mitchell urges following label directions explicitly.

Ornamental Disease Notes

By Wm. J. Manning, J. W. Heuberger, Black Spot of Rose

Black spot of rose, very destructive disease of roses, has been observed in several home gardens and in the rose spray plot at the University of Delaware.

It is easily recognized by the presence of circular black spots up to 3/4 inch in diameter on the upper surface of the leaves. These spots characteristically have fringed margins. Individual spots may merge to form larger, irregular spots. A yellow ring or irregular area soon forms around each spot and the leaves fall prematurely. Loss of leaves weakens the plants, reduces flower formation, reduces cane size, causes flowers to have lighter color and less fragrance, and reduces resistance to winter injury.

The fungus (Diplocarpon rosae) that causes this disease depends on water for its dissemination. One of the best controls of this disease is to keep the foliage of the plants dry when they are watered. Since the fungus is present on old leaves on the ground, mulching or removal of fallen leaves are two methods of preventing future leaf infections.

Many spray materials have been tested for black spot control. Ferbam, Polyram, Daconil, Fore, Manzate or Dithane M-22 at two tablespoonfuls per gallon of water will give satisfactory control. Applications should be made weekly until October. If the weather is very dry, however, spraying is unnecessary.

Rose varieties Red Radiance, Dr. Van Fleet, Erskine, Coral Creeper, Pink Princess and April Glow are considered to be resistant to black spot.

Zinnia Leaf Spot

Zinnia leaf spot disease is now appearing on Zinnias.

The first signs of this common and troublesome disease are small, reddish-brown spots with grayish centers on the leaves and dark brownish-black cankers along the stems. Later, flowers are spotted and blighted, and the leaves shrivel and die.

Control by spraying with maneb at the rate of one tablespoonful to one gallon of water, or zineb at the rate of one and one-third tablespoonfuls to one gallon of water, or ferbam at the rate of one and one-half tablespoonfuls to one gallon of water. Apply at weekly intervals until flowering.

Kaffeeklatch with Eleanor K. Voshell

How do you spend your food dollar? If yours is a typical family, one-half of your food money goes for meat, milk, and eggs.

About one-fifth of food money is spent for vegetables and fruits. The rest is nearly equally divided among grain products, fats, oils, sugars, and sweets, and such miscellaneous items as spices, coffee, tea, and other beverages.

It pays to buy meat very carefully since it takes the largest bite from your food budget. Price alone, is not a dependable guide. Figure the number of servings per pound as well as the price.

If there is no bone, a pound of meat makes three to four servings. Bone in meat will give about 2 servings. Spareribs may cost less than pork loin roast, but the amount of meat per pound is certainly different.

Before deciding on a cut of meat, consider the amount of bone and fat you are buying. It may be better to buy a large cut and divide it into steaks, stew or soup meat, and grind some for hamburger. Meat trimmings, bone and some of the fat can be used to make soup or gravy.

Price and food value are not always related. Many low-cost meats have high food value. The lean parts of beef, veal, lamb, and pork are much alike in nutrients. Pork does contain more thiamine.

Beef is the most popular meat, but don't neglect the others. Poultry, veal, lamb, pork, or fish will give variety and may offer better buys. Eggs are an excellent protein food and may be used in place of meat.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

It's time to get out the grill, clean and polish it up and move more meals outside in the open air. Luckily, there's an increase in beef production, it's not much about 5% more than a year ago, but it comes at a time when there is an increased demand for beef. Much of this beef is high quality beef that is ideal for cooking.

Wholesale pork prices have advanced considerably since the middle of last week. Many farmers continue to be busy in the fields with spring crops and this has retarded movement to markets. Fresh pork butts, steaks, and smoked hams are the key items in pork at most meat counters, and prices are fairly economical. Broiler-fryers are holding steady at the increased price level of a week or two ago. Turkey marketings from the new crop are expected at least a month earlier this year and this meat is slowly becoming a better value. Some handlers report that the smaller herds are the most plentiful right now.

Vegetable supplies are steadily increasing in volume and quality is much better for the majority of vegetables on sale this week. Cabbage is an excellent example, since supplies are good with virtually all cabbage coming from the new crops. Quality is at a peak of goodness. Although sweet corn shipments are much below a year ago, they are increasing sharply from an early spring crop in Florida and Texas which is estimated to be about 24% above last year. Other vegetables to check are lettuce, asparagus, cucumbers, green beans, peppers, and potatoes.

Fruit supplies are in-between seasons with the exception of strawberries. Many growing areas are shipping in top quality berries and prices are quite reasonable now. Florida watermelons are increasing in volume and quality continues excellent. Pineapples are in light supply and cantaloupes follow suit. The first of the western sweet cherries have also made an appearance at many local markets and prices are high. Most citrus prices have advanced across the board as the season closes.

Memorial Day Parade Set

The annual Memorial Day parade will take place next Monday, May 30, beginning promptly at the close of services at Hollywood Cemetery.

All units are requested to form at the Quillen Shopping Center at approximately 10:30 a. m., and will proceed up Park Street to Delaware Ave., to Center Street where they will proceed to Weiner Ave., turning south to Commerce and making a U turn at Milby Street and returning back thru Commerce to the Fire House where the units will disband. All groups planning to participate are urged to do so, and while there are no prizes for competition, this tradition of observing Memorial Day should have instead the patriotic zeal of one that did.

The parade will once again be under the sponsorship of the American Legion, C.K.R.T., Post No. 7, of Harrington, in charge of Melvin Brobst who will have the three bands of the Harrington Special School District in line of parade. Everyone is reminded to display their flag on this day.

Wool Pool Set For June 18

The Delaware Sheep and Wool Association will hold its annual Wool Pool at the Delaware State Fair Grounds, Harrington, on June 18, from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. Dr. Emory C. Lefell, associate professor of animal science at the University of Maryland, will grade the wool.

Prices paid to producers at the annual pool are based on competitive bids received from several large buyers. Prices for this year's pool will be available from Mrs. Vera Rambo, Houston, on June 10.

For top prices, producers should tie each fleece separately with paper twine, separate tags and dirt from fleeces and deliver them clean and dry. Original receipts, needed for ASC wool payments, may be obtained on the day of sale.

All producers in Delaware are invited to attend. Further information is available from Dr. George A. Morrow, extension livestock specialist at the University of Delaware, or from county agents in Dover, Georgetown or Newark.

Delaware Measles Immunization Program

More than 6100 Delaware pre-school children received measles vaccine in clinics last weekend, in what was described by the immunization chairman as a "disappointing turnout".

Dr. Edward F. Gliwa, New Castle County health officer who directed the statewide program, said that he estimated about 12,000 pre-school children are still unprotected and thus stand the chance of suffering the crippling complications which often accompany measles.

Turnout was moderate in most suburban areas and small towns and light in the city of Wilmington. The largest turnout in the city, at Public Building, recorded 320 children.

Dr. Gliwa attributed the relatively small attendance to prevailing apathy about the disease. "We tried to stress that measles cannot be considered a harmless childhood disease, that it does pave the way for serious secondary complications, including death."

He urged parents of pre-school children who did not receive the vaccine to have these children immunized in the near future. He re-emphasized the danger of a measles break-out in Delaware comparable to that experienced in Philadelphia and nearby New Jersey.

The State Board of Health is making vaccine available to pre-school children at the 29 well child conferences in the state as well as the Community Action centers in the greater Wilmington area. The location of these conferences and centers may be obtained by phoning any County Health Unit of the State Board of Health on Wilmington Health Dept.

Parents may also take their pre-school youngsters to private physicians for immunization.

The busiest measles clinic in the state was the one held in Elsmere, where 518 children received the vaccine. Second in attendance was Newark's Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder, which was host to 440 children.

In the Kent and Sussex County clinics, held on Saturday afternoon, more than 2400 children were immunized. The largest turnout was recorded at the State Board of Health Building in Dover, where 343 children received the vaccine. The Milford Health Center, with 240 children, was the second largest clinic downtown.

In addition to the 32 clinics located in schools, fire houses and public buildings, one mobile unit was used downstate and two (three) in the Wilmington area. These traveled through populous areas accompanied by sound cars, offering free vaccine on the spot.

The weekend program for pre-school children was the second and final phase of a two-part program to curb the incidence of measles in Delaware. The first part was the immunization of school age children, which was recently concluded after more than 3,300 children had been immunized.

The immunization program was jointly sponsored by the State Board of Health and the U. S. Public Health Service, with the endorsement of the Medical Society of Delaware. Dr. Gliwa expressed his appreciation for the many volunteer personnel who staffed the clinics, including private physicians, representatives of the Pharmaceutical Society of Delaware, Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross, National Foundation, and Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society of Delaware.

Blue Shield And Blue Cross Del. 65 Programs

All Delaware residents who are 65 and older may apply for coverage under Blue Cross and Blue Shield Delaware-65 programs," said Edward J. Dugan, enrollment manager of the local organization. "A special three-week enrollment for these senior citizens will be held from May 23 through June 10," Dugan said.

Delaware-65 programs are companion plans to Medicare, Dugan explained. Though Medicare coverage is broad, there are some expenses not covered that persons 65 and over have to pay. To keep them from having to make these cash outlays, Blue Cross and Blue Shield have developed the Delaware-65 programs.

Coverage for persons who enroll in Delaware-65 programs by June 10 will be effective July 1—the same day that Medicare starts, Dugan said.

There are five different Delaware-65 programs available to combine with Medicare. They do not duplicate any Medicare benefits. Instead they fill in, supplement and add benefits to coverage under Medicare's Part A—the hospital benefits—and Medicare's Part B—the surgical-medical benefits.

Three of the five available programs of "Delaware-65" are available to those persons 65 and over who signed up for the Part B of the government's Medicare program which provides important surgical-medical services at $3 a month. They are: — Program 1 of "Delaware-65" which costs $6.83 a month per person and provides the most health protection. This program "1" includes hospital services, surgical-medical services and extended services.

—Program 2 of "Delaware-65" which costs $5.06 a month. This does not include extended benefits. However, it does include hospital services and surgical-medical services.

—Program 3 of "Delaware-65" which costs $2.03 a month. This covers hospital services in combination with Medicare.

There are also two programs available for those persons who have not signed up for Medicare's surgical-medical program called "Part B". They are: — Program 4 of "Delaware-65". This costs $6.08 a month. The hospital benefits are designed to combine with Medicare—as on the other programs. However, it offers the regular Blue Shield Plan "B" surgical-medical benefits. It does not cover Extended Benefits.

—Program 5 of "Delaware-65". This costs $7.85 a month. The hospital benefits combine with Medicare's hospital benefits as on other programs. It offers the regular Blue Shield surgical-medical benefits of the plan "B" and it also offers "Delaware-65" Extended Benefits.

Full details on the May 23 to June 10 enrollment will be included in special newspaper advertisements to appear in all newspapers in Delaware. Literature and applications are available at any Delaware Plan office—in Wilmington, Dover, Milford and Seaford.

Six Lions Get H.H.S. 4th In 10-Team Meet

Harold McDonald's Harrington High track team did not expect to win the Henlopen Conference crown this year, as it has done in four of the last six years, but hoped to record a strong, third-place effort behind the powerful Bridgeville and Milton thinclads.

The Lions have been hampered all year by difficulties of one sort or another but have managed to do a little better than break even at this writing. It was a vastly different team that took to the track at John M. Clayton in the Henlopen Title meet, than the club that opened the season with a victory over Lewes of the Diamond State Conference. With older runners flunking out, quitting the squad, suffering injuries or illness, Coach McDonald had to go with eighth and ninth grade boys in several events. Thus, to slip only one notch further down than expected was a monumental achievement. And this feat was engineered by only six, gummy Lions, Gerry Garey, Frank White, Jim White, Dan Hicks, Harold Coleman and Jim Simpler.

Body blows that hurt the Lions severely was the absence due to illness of polevaulter, half miler, quarter miler Larry Bonniwell; Ernest Wright, quarter mile and mile relay; Marshall Jackson, 880 relay and the disqualification of Jim White in the 220 semifinal. Bonniwell was a threat to win the pole vault and place in the half mile. He and Wright would have beaped up the mile relay quartet to such an extent that it could have picked up some points.

Jackson's absence cost the Lions a meet record in the 220 yard dash. Frank White won the 100 yard dash as expected. White ran three heats of the 100 and two 220 trial heats. When the 800 relay event was called White was to run the final or anchor of 220 leg. Jim Simpler, who has not run much this year, did a good job considering this fact, in Jackson's place but White was forced to open up the throttle in order to anchor H.H.S. to victory.

White had now competed in six races and was at the point of exhaustion. He had run in two straight events and was scheduled to go in the next one, the 220 final. Meet director Barney Briggs called a 20-minute recess which enabled Frank to snap back a little. But in the final the little speedster was nipped by Bridgeville's well-rested Ken McDaniel. McDaniel did not run in the 880 relay. The Mustang set a new meet record of 22.6 eclipsing the old mark of 23.2. White clocked 22.7 in losing to a rival he had trounced eight or nine times in a row this year. If Jackson had showed, White could have coasted in the 880 relay and could then have been expected to retain his mastery over McDaniel.

Gerry Garey recorded Harrington's third victory as he shattered the conference two-mile record of 11:29.4 set by Crisco of Bridgeville last year. Gerry expected tough competition from Hatton, of Dover Air and Curt Hudson, of Milton, both of whom trailed Garey by only a yard in earlier eight-lappers this campaign. Hudson fell back early as Hatton took the lead. Garey picked up the pace after a mile and a half and gradually moved away from the Falcon on the last lap to win easily. Hatton just barely survived the charge of the fast-closing Hudson to finish second. Garey's clocking of 10:54.1 was a whopping 35.3 seconds under the old loop mark and was only one-tenth of a second away from his H.H.S. school record. A little more competition on that last lap would have broken that too.

Harold Coleman, a short freshman, was competing in the high jump with a group of older, taller basketball types and cleared 5 feet, 5 inches, almost his own height to capture third place. Bob Matthews ran a 5:06.2 mile, which would have given him first place in any conference dual meet this year but was not quite good enough to get in the first five this time. Harrington track fans could not help but wish that the conference had not dropped the junior high meet. Since the Henlopen does not have giant squads like those in the neighboring Diamond State Conference and does not have the two hurdle events it should be possible to give the stars of tomorrow a chance to strut their stuff. By starting an hour earlier and lining up enough held it could be done. Almost overlooked was the Jim White story. Jim had beaten every Henlopen Conference rival, including McDaniel and excepting brother, Frank. Through a mixup Jim was denied a chance to run in the 220 final. He then was selected to lead off in the mile relay. Like many 220 men he was reluctant to try the much tougher 440 yard stint but had done well, two days earlier, in his first try at the distance. An H.H.S. supporter on the sideline was assigned to clock the younger White but was caught napping at the gun. Dipping quickly into his pocket he started the stop watch as White smoothly shifted into gear and ran away from all his rivals in the opening leg of the fast heat. The timer estimated a loss of a second in starting the watch and incredulously stared at the timepiece which registered a starting 52.5 seconds. White may have bettered, unofficially, of course, Jim Schiff's school record of 53.6 and he will be back next year.

A trio of eighth and ninth graders immediately lost the lead built up by White. If Wright and Bonniwell had not been absent H.H.S. would have made their rivals step in that climatic event.

Greenwood Defeats Millsboro

Greenwood is still clinging to the cliff in the Henlopen Conference championship race after squeaking by Millsboro 4-2 at Greenwood Monday afternoon. The Foresters have won six games in seven starts and must win all its remaining four contests to get a share of the crown with Milton.

Millsboro scored two runs in the second inning and had visions of an upset until Greenwood combined walks and errors to score four runs in the bottom of the fourth inning. Both pitchers, Gary Cordrey, of Millsboro and winner Ron Breeding of Greenwood allowed only two hits and pitched scoreless ball except for the one bad inning each suffered.

Frank White, Henlopen Conference 100-YARD DASH CHAMPION

Blooper Costs Myer No-Hitter

Ellis Myer, a senior righthander, came mighty close to ending his high school career with a pitcher's dream game, a no-hitter. Myer gave up a bloop single to right field in the third inning and that was all as the Lions trounced Rehoboth 14-0 here on Monday afternoon.

Two were out when the lone Seahawk hit was recorded. Myer fanned the next hitter on three pitches.

Harrington's victory ended a fine season with eight victories in eleven games. Frank Glazier's Lions are tied with Delmar for second place in the 12-team Henlopen Conference. Felton with a 7-3 record can make it a three-way tie by winning its final contest. Greenwood with a 6-1 log can deadlock Milton (10-1) for the pennant by taking its final four games. If the Foresters lose one of four they will gain undisputed possession of second place. By capturing two of four they will still finish no worse than a share of the runnerup spot.

Harrington opened with four runs against the winless Seahawks and led 9-0 after three innings. The Lions eventually scored in five of the six innings in which they batted. The inept visitors dropped fly balls in the outfield and, on occasion, saw routine grounders become hits when infielders couldn't get the ball to first base in time to flag a hustling Lion.

Tom Simpler pitched two innings of hitless ball after the Lions moved out to 10-0. In one inning Chuck McNally clouted a drive over the left fielder's head for a triple. Myer, the next hitter, duplicated this feat.

Steve Motter had two hits in four attempts to fatten an already hog-fat average. Dean Manges had two RBI's. Motter scored twice while Sam Knox, McNally, and Myer tallied twice each. 14 Lions saw action and 10 hit safely. Only Dennis Spicer, Calvin Bonniwell, Marshall Hatfield, and Lester Green did not join the hit parade.

Lions Trip Felton, Motter Bats In Four Runs

Frank Glazier's Harrington High baseball Lions were very impressive in a 4-1 victory over Felton here on Thursday afternoon. Felton has a strong club and one of the best pitchers in the loop in Will Dill. The Green Devils are a strong hitting team. Since Felton plays only two sports, baseball and basketball, the Lions get just three chances a year to post victories over the Greens, one in baseball and two in basketball. With F.H.S. reigning supreme in both lately, it has been several years since the last Harrington's ace Ellis Myer is also one of the premier hurlers in the Henlopen Conference. Against Felton Myer was superb

Little League Openers Played Saturday

A doubleheader played Saturday afternoon at the Moose Home opened both the Little League and Senior Little League seasons. David Newnom pitched a no-hit game as his Moose Club Club (how about that) defeated the Legion 6-2. Newnom led his teammates at the plate with two hits in four trips.

Losing pitcher Brinley Brode did a creditable job also giving up only six hits. Both sides scored twice in the first inning. The Moose Club broke the tie with two runs in the third frame and added singletons in the fifth and sixth innings.

A veteran baseball man from out of town, who has seen every Henlopen Conference team play, was so impressed with the Lions' performance that he remarked "That team looked like a championship team to me".
