

Hendricks and Hanson Win Committee Posts

There were only four contests in Saturday's election of the Kent County Democratic Committee and the only incumbent to be challenged, lost.

James Conley, an incumbent, was defeated by James McIlvaine, 107 to 43, in the sixth election district in Frederica.

Conley's wife Mrs. Clara Conley, was defeated 97 to 48 by Mrs. Doris Seamans for the vacant committeewoman post in the same district.

In the other two contests, Harry Hanson beat George Vincent 97 to 64 in the third election district of the 29th in Farmington and Franklin Hendricks beat Clarence Collins 220 to 105 in the second election district of the 29th in Harrington.

A fifth contest evaporated at the last minute when Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford, the incumbent committeewoman in the third election district of the 27th in Dover, withdrew in favor of Mrs. Emma Watson.

Candidates filed for only 40 of the 50 committee posts, leaving 10 positions to be filled by County Chairman Vernon B. Derrickson before the committee's organizational meeting Feb. 14.

Derrickson is expected to be re-elected to his 10th two-year term as chairman at that meeting.

In a special election Saturday in Sussex County, Mrs. Betty Elliott was elected by one vote, 15 to 14, over Mrs. Helen Sullivan to fill a committee vacancy, left when Mrs. Rosemary Tull moved to Georgetown and thus became ineligible to represent the Delmar District.

Reports On Water Conditions In State

The second of continuing monthly reports summarizing water conditions in the state has been issued for December, 1966, by the Delaware Geological Survey of the University of Delaware, headed by State Geologist Johan J. Groot.

Publication of the monthly reports was begun, according to Dr. Groot, because a great many people are concerned about the drought conditions which have existed in Delaware for the past five years, and because of their anxiety about the availability of adequate resources in the present and future.

December's report shows a sharp increase in precipitation, with Greater Wilmington Airport recording 3.81 inches (about 126 per cent above normal) and Dover recording 4.00 inches (about 129 per cent above normal). Water levels rose slightly in three observation wells and fell in five of the wells reported on. However, the declines were extremely small, and according to the report, should not be taken as indicating a general trend.

Although the December flows of the Brandywine generally improved over those for November, the daily average flow of 269 cubic feet per second was lower than the 10-year average of 453 cubic feet per second.

State Poultry Group Sets 1967 Goals

Delaware Poultry Improvement Association approved the action of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO) in supporting a new freight tariff proposal. The approval by DPIA was voted at their recent annual business meeting.

A NEPPCO representative testified recently in New York City at hearings called by the Traffic Executive Association. He spoke in favor of the railroad-proposed freight rate reductions which would save peninsula poultrymen an estimated $3 million annually.

The Delaware Poultry Improvement Association business session included reports of 1966 activities, plans for 1967 activities, budget proposals and election of officers and directors for 1967. Plans were made to hold the annual banquet in late March and to conduct the annual Junior Broiler competition.

As part of its youth program for 1967, DPIA will sponsor a marketing tour to New York City in March, according to E. F. Smith, Kenton, youth program chairman. An out-standing 4-H club member and a Future Farmer of America Club member from each county in Delaware will be selected to go on the tour.

Officers elected at the business meeting include George Chaloupka, Bridgeville, president; Ray Lloyd, associate extension poultryman, Georgetown, secretary, and J. Edward McIlvaine, Georgetown, treasurer. Vice presidents for each county were selected: J. A. Correll, Jr., Newark, will serve for New Castle County; Curtis Marker, Dover, for Kent County, and Joseph Isaacs, Lincoln, for Sussex County. Warren Baker, Middletown, will act as past president.

The Delaware Poultry Improvement Association represents all the poultry interests of the state, including egg producers, broiler growers and turkeymen. It cooperates with regional poultry organizations in promotions and legislative matters pertaining to the poultry industry.

McCormick Makes Final Report On D.R.B.A.

Clarence B. McCormick, Bridgeton, N. J., banker and chairman of the Delaware River and Bay Authority, made his final report to his fellow commissioners this week before turning the chairmanship of the body over to Alexis I. duPont Bayard, who had been serving as vice chairman of the body. Mr. McCormick now will assume the position of vice chairman.

He reported that the Authority found itself in a sound financial position at the end of 1966. Revenues were up at the Delaware Memorial Bridge 3.5 per cent. At the Cape May-Lewes Ferry, also operated by the Authority, revenues rose 14.4 per cent.

Work on the twin span, Mr. McCormick said, was about 70 per cent completed and he expected it to be open for traffic by mid-1968.

McCormick thanked the fellow Commissioners, the Governors of Delaware and New Jersey, and the staff of the Authority for their assistance in 1966 in making the year a successful one.

His full statement follows: "On January 12, 1966, I assumed the chairmanship of this authority after Mr. T. C. Bright resigned from this position to become general manager of the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

"As the two-year New Jersey term period comes to an end, I take this opportunity to express to my fellow Authority Commissioners my thanks for their assistance during my term as chairman. It is with deep satisfaction that I turn the gavel over to my successor, Mr. Bayard.

"In the last year, the Delaware River and Bay Authority has advanced steadily in its construction.

Roth Wants to Modernize Del. Constitution

A bi-partisan effort to modernize Delaware's constitution was proposed Friday night at Rehoboth Beach by U. S. Representative William V. Roth Jr.

Roth joined Governor Charles L. Terry Jr., in saluting Mrs. Mae Hall McCabe, long-time realtor, as he became the first woman president of the Chamber of Commerce in her home town.

Nearly 150 members and guests gathered in the Convention and Civic Center, where Roth as principal speaker urged both major political parties to "forget past positions taken and approach the problem anew of a new constitution, with the idea of what will work best for the citizens of Delaware."

Roth said a modernized constitution is vital if there is to be a genuine federal-state partnership rather than a junior-senior association. This relationship is especially important, he said, in the realm of tax sharing . . . the return of federal tax dollars to the state.

It was Roth's first major address since taking the Washington post held the previous 12 years by Harris B. McDowell, Jr. McDowell will now serve as the state liaison representative with federal government agencies.

Governor Terry in his opening remarks praised the Chambers of Commerce in the state for their efforts to cope with what he termed "the continuing growth and development of the First State." He lauded Mrs. McCabe as a long-time friend and reminisced about the summer vacations he used to spend at the shore resort with his parents. After installing the officers, Governor Terry joined in saluting Mrs. McCabe as First Vice President Richard W. Hackett presented her with red roses.

Mrs. McCabe takes the office held by Harry E. Derrickson, Rehoboth clothier, who called for continued action to bring about needed improvements in the resort city. He called for new plans for off-street parking and construction of additional space to the Convention and Civic Center, for which need has already been found.

He praised the City Commissioners for their continued cooperation and referred them to a printed annual report—the first such document issued by the Rehoboth Beach organization.

Dinner Chairman Milton K. Fried presented Derrickson with a past president's gavel and Chamber Director Miles K. Frederick gave him the organization's parting gift. Dinner co-chairmen were Mr. Hackett and (Continued on Page 8)

New Publication Lists Fertilizer Needs For 1967-8

Fertilizer recommendations for 1967-68 are included in a new publication prepared jointly by the Cooperative Extension Services at the Universities of Delaware and Maryland and Rutgers, The State University.

The recommendations in the leaflet are made on a plant food basis. For each crop listed, the recommendation calls for a specified number of pounds of nitrogen, phosphate and potash per acre. The cost per pound of nitrogen, phosphate and potash is your most important consideration when buying fertilizer, according to the agronomists and horticulturists from the three universities who prepared the leaflet. Once you know the amount and price of any fertilizer grade required for your particular crop and soil, you can easily select the grade which provides the recommended nutrients at the lowest cost.

The leaflet also recommends certain secondary and micro-nutrients such as magnesium, man-

Farm-Home Week Features New Crop Practices

A layer of asphalt 18 inches underground—with crops growing on top—may seem as if it were just an impractical type of parking lot. But it may be a very important innovation in agriculture.

One major disadvantage of the sandy, coastal plain soils found in Delaware is their low water-holding ability. Water rapidly soaks down deep into the subsoil where plant roots can't get at it.

Undoubtedly, a layer of asphalt under the topsoil would keep water from soaking through, but will crops grow on top? According to scientists at Michigan State University, Lansing, crops will. They tried it.

During the University of Delaware's annual Farm and Home Week, Feb. 7, 8 and 9, Dr. C. M. Hansen, agricultural engineer at Michigan State, will report on the asphalt research. He will speak at the Thursday afternoon (Feb. 9) program on soils, plants and water.

After last summer, Delaware farmers don't need to be told what happens to crops when there isn't enough water. But how much water is "enough"? Dr. R. B. Alderfer, professor in the department of soils and crops at Rutgers, the State University, will try to answer that question during the Thursday afternoon soils, plants and water session.

He will discuss the many factors that determine how much water is required for plant growth. Alderfer has conducted research on the minimum water requirements of plants and on the value of subsoil water to crops.

For sandy Delaware soils, the loss of nitrogen through leaching can be a serious problem. That's why every year Delaware corn growers want to know the best ways to apply nitrogen, how much to apply and when.

Drought conditions will cause a minimum response to nitrogen fertilization. So the method, time and rate of application are important yearly considerations. Dr. E. E. Scarsbrook, agronomist at Auburn University, Alabama, will discuss the economics of nitrogen fertilization especially under dry conditions and sandy soils. His discussion is scheduled for Thursday morning (Feb. 9).

It was announced today by the Rev. Quay D. Rice, Vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, here, that this Sunday the Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware, will make his yearly visitation to St. Stephen's Church, where he will perform the rite of confirmation and preach at the 10:45 service.

In addition to being first of all a preacher of the work of God, we read in the book of common prayer that "the office of a Bishop is, to be a chief pastor in the church; to confer Holy Orders (to ordain), and to administer confirmation". It is the last of these functions that Bishop Mosley will perform this Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m. In the Episcopal Church, as in the entire Anglican Communion, only a Bishop has the authority to confirm.

He and Mrs. Mosley are the parents of three children. They live at Wilmington at Bishopstead, on Wood Road.

Postponement of a scheduled hearing on a sewer bond issue was approved by Council Monday night, contrary to orders by the Water and Air Resources Commission.

The defiance of the commission's schedule apparently has the tacit approval of John C. Bryson. Mayor Fulton J. Downing and City Engineer Dudley Willis met with Bryson Monday afternoon, and said he approved the city's new thinking in regard to a total sewer system.

According to Willis, Bryson seems amenable to a plan which four months ago would not have been acceptable to the commission.

The plan involves sewer line extensions to four areas within the town limits, plus construction of a "polishing pond" on at least ten acres of land yet to be acquired by the city.

When Harrington officials last appeared before the commission, a schedule was established and the mayor and council were notified that any violation of the schedule would result in court action by the commission. The regulation by WAR was not mentioned during Monday night's session.

The council authorized Downing and City Manager Alfred G. B. Mann to obtain an option if possible, on lands to the east and south of the center of the disposal plant, for the location of the pond.

Willis said this proposed system is very similar to a lagoon-type system rejected earlier by council. He said it involves a secondary treatment plant, with the effluent from it turned over to the polishing pond. The pond in turn renders completely refined water back into the streams.

Willis had no definite cost figures, but he said a total system could cost as much as $638,000, with the town's share somewhere between $260,000 and $400,000. The disparity in estimates, is due, he said to the uncertainty in regard to the amount of grants available.

In other action, Mayor Downing asked the council to consider establishing a mayor's office on the second floor of City Hall in order to provide an area for pre-meeting sessions with members of the council. These would not be classified as executive sessions.

Council also asked the Harrington election board to obtain from ballot boxes the names of at least 50 voters who are being contested by former Mayor Luther P. Hatfield. The board will be instructed to get the addresses of those persons believed to be ineligible for voting in the past municipal election.

Service Projects High On List For Boy Scouts

Service projects will be high on the list of activities for Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, and Explorer posts in February as 626 Scout units celebrate the 57th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America in the Del-Mar-Va Council.

Walter Harrison, chairman of the Council Activities Committee, explained that "a major objective of scouting is citizenship training. One way of achieving this objective is through the project method in which Scouts actually learn about citizenship through practice and experience."

Harrison pointed out that the good turn helps Scouts to demonstrate through activities and projects that they are prepared to help others as well as themselves.

Other activities for the anniversary month will include demonstrations and window displays, Uniform day, programs for institutions that use the Scout program and for other community groups, the traditional Cub Scout blue and gold banquets, Boy Scout parents' nights and courts of honor for the presentation of advancement awards, special overnight camps, and participation in religious services.

Many institutions that sponsor more than one Scout unit—for example, a Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troop, and Explorer post—will hold combined activities with the general theme "Scouting round a guy out."

He graciously showed them around the recently renovated building and informally told of the workings of the new magistrate system. Several questions were asked which he answered very satisfactorily. The visit was most interesting and informative.

Several announcements are made by the club: A rummage sale will be held in the club house on Fri., Feb. 10, beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at 8 p.m., and on Sat., Feb. 11, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Century Club News

The subject for the club meeting last Tuesday afternoon was "Light, Law Observation and Crime Prevention", a very timely subject.

After a short business session at the club house, the members were invited by Mrs. O. T. Roberts, acting chairman, to go to the headquarters of Justice of Peace Court No. 6 on U.S. 13. Previous arrangements had been made for this visit by Mrs. Francis Winkler, and they were cordially received by Magistrate Wallace Wooten, of Frederica, who was in charge at that hour.

He graciously showed them around the recently renovated building and informally told of the workings of the new magistrate system. Several questions were asked which he answered very satisfactorily. The visit was most interesting and informative.

Several announcements are made by the club: A rummage sale will be held in the club house on Fri., Feb. 10, beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at 8 p.m., and on Sat., Feb. 11, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A public card party will be held on Monday evening, Feb. 20. The annual bridge tournament will start on March 6.

The next meeting of the club, Feb. 14, will be in charge of Mrs. H. Arthur Hoffman, Mrs. Reese Harrington, Mrs. L. J. Kulkula, Mrs. C. Fred Wilson, Mrs. Horace Johnson, Mrs. W. A. Nichols, and Mrs. Allen B. Parsons.

Mrs. Jacob Hatfield

The Greenwood Lions Club has set the date of the Annual Beauty Contest for the evening of April 29th this year. Girls interested in entering the contest should contact Mr. Jacob Hatfield, 349-4255 as soon as possible. As you know from previous years, there are pictures to be turned in for the program book and other matters necessary to get the contest under way.

Will the mothers of the little girls please take note that we would like to have them signed up and pictures in by the last day of February if at all possible. Our printer gets busier every year, and he is asking that we have our copy over there earlier than ever this year. Little girls wishing to sign up may contact either Mrs. Al Short, Jr., 349-4161 or Jake Hatfield, 349-4255.

Little Miss Hilary Dayne Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Keith, entertained some of her little friends at a birthday party on Sunday afternoon at 2, celebrating her second. Some of the youngsters were ill and not able to attend, but those present were Miss Cindy Davis and Miss Anjanette Davis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Davis; Miss Rochelle Ash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ash; Master Robert Reardon, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reardon, of Newark; Miss Karen Case and Master Blair Case, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Case, of Newark. Mrs. Lawrence Meredith, who is the children's "adopted" Aunt Mary, came along to join the mothers and daddys in the fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith were Thursday night dinner guests of Miss Ethel Rash, at Canterbury.

Our Greenwood readers will be glad to hear news of a former Greenwood boy, Kendall Conaway. He is now A2C Kendall Conaway, stationed at a RAF Base near Petreborough, England.

On December 14, the Conaways welcomed a daughter, who has been named Cindy Cheryl.

The Conaways expect to be returning to the States about next August.

Kendall's mother, Mrs. Edna Short Conaway, visited them in England last spring. She was also a former Greenwood resident, but is now associated with the Methodist Manor House.

On February 5, the Rev. Louis Dennis will bring the message at Greenwood Methodist Church in place of the regular morning service at 11 a. m. All three of the churches and any interested persons are invited to attend.

Mrs. Edgar Wroten, Lyman Wroten and Mrs. Lawrence Cannon attended the viewing and funeral of Charles Wroten, of Philadelphia last week. Mr. Wroten was a brother of Edgar Wroten. The funeral was held in Yerkes Funeral Home and interment was made in Arlington Cemetery.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grace, Jr., and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bowden and children, and Gordon Eskridge.

Last week, Mrs. Lester Workman flew by TWA jet from the Friendship Airport in Baltimore to Phoenix, Arizona, to attend the commencement exercises of her son, Ralph M. Harmon, who graduated with honors, from the American Institute for Foreign Trade. This was the 39th graduating class from the only post graduate school in the U. S. to train men and women for careers in International Business. Ralph was one of 10 in a class of 80 to receive awards. He received two in Foreign Trade. The exercise began with a party at 6:30, followed by a banquet dinner at 8:30. The speakers were French, Portuguese, Spanish, and English.

Ralph has signed a contract with the Bridge and Iron Works of Chicago, to do business both in the United States and foreign cities where he will be traveling. He graduated in 1952 from Greenwood High. He has also graduated from Southern Methodist University, and for two years was a civil engineer for the Dallas Oil Company, working in South America, and also in the Trinidad Islands.

On Saturday, Mrs. Workman enjoyed a lovely ride around Arizona with her son and his wife, seeing the orange and lemon groves, cactus, yucca, and also, they saw Barry Goldwater's home. One delightful phase of that day was a visit with the Rev. William A. Davis and his wife, who are serving a pastorate there. Rev. Davis is our own "Dicky" Davis from Greenwood. After a wonderful time, Mrs. Workman flew home by way of Washington, D. C., on Sunday.

Yeako - Freer Wedding

A lovely wedding took place in the Greenwood Methodist Church on Saturday, January 14, when Miss Bonnie Mae Yeako, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Yeako, Jr., became the bride of A2C Terry Lee Freer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Freer, of Newburgh, N. Y.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John E. Taylor, pastor of the church. The church was decorated with white mums and glads.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chiara lace, fashioned in a sheath silhouette with a Sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves. A scalloping of lace accented the empire waistline and her court train of lace bordered in crepe was attached at the shoulder with two bows. She carried white rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Miss Brenda Friedel, and the bridesmaid, Miss Rita Givens, wore identical dresses of blue net crepe combined with Chantilly over satin with blue accessories and carried blue carnations.

The best man was Tom Way from the Dover Air Base. The bride's brother, Jimmy Yeako, served as usher. Mrs. James Anthony played the wedding music. Movies were taken by Gerald Pearson.

The bride's mother wore light blue brocade with matching accessories. The bride's nephew, Rudy Hammond, was ringbearer, and her niece, Rhonda Hammond, was flower girl.

A reception was held in the VFW Hall before the couple left for a short wedding trip in Maryland.

They will reside at Magnolia, Del.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

February means sharp icicles and keen appetites, so plan to take the edge off winter's chill with hearty meals, and enjoy the plentiful supply of food the month affords.

Beef supplies for February will be as liberal as a year ago, according to the American Meat Institute. Much of the beef coming to market is and will continue to be the "finished" beef that makes for excellent roasts and steaks. Does this suggest a special menu for St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, or Bachelor's Day, Feb. 28?

In planning appropriate menus for the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington, remember that pork was the meat that helped to build this nation. Today's pork is more tender and lean than in the days of the pioneers, but it still is a leader in body-building, high-quality protein. Another good reason for adding pork to the shopping list: February promises a fair supply of pork. Supplies of hogs that have been held back for the new income tax year are now released, and marketings are increasing, and prices are a bit lower. Bacon has dropped considerably — about forty cents below the average of last summer and early fall.

Eggs are the answer to a menu planner's dilemma, for they can be served at any meal any day. The wise shopper knows that smart egg buying and cooking pays off in good eating at comparatively small cost. This February egg production is expected to come on February 8 and is the beginning of Lent. More announcements will be made of our weekly observance of Lent next week.

Next Sunday morning at the 10:45 service it will be our pleasure to have the Rev. James A. Kirkwood, a native of Zambia, North Rhodesia to preach. The Rev. Mr. Kirkwood comes to St. Stephen's as part of our observance of Theological Education Sunday. Visitors will receive a cordial welcome and will be invited to remain for the coffee hour which follows.

ed to continue well above year-earlier levels. Enjoy eggs and use them often in casseroles, desserts, breads, and just as eggs in Egg Foo Young, Curry or Benedictine.

Oranges will continue to be among the best buys at the fruit counters throughout the coming month. Include grapefruit often in the menu too; it fared well this growing season. Both white and pink varieties are readily available and both are of fine quality.

Other plentiful for the month of February are canned salmon, dry beans and green split peas. Keep a ready supply of all of these on hand for nourishing soups and casserole dishes.

Fresh, crisp celery, rich in flavor and aroma, now rates the spotlight; it becomes popular as exceptionally plentiful and full of this crisp vegetable because big Florida and California crops are now coming to market. Both states are producing above average crops. Celery is a top flavoring agent to enhance soups, sauces, casseroles, salads, stews, and scores of other dishes. There is nothing like the crisp green stalks for nibbling, in the salad bowl and relish tray too.

Veterans News

Delaware veterans who hold GI insurance will receive an estimated total of $553,200 in dividends during the year 1967.

The dividends will be paid on the anniversary date of the policy, according to Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington VA Regional Office. This is the same procedure VA followed in 1966.

Nationally World War II veterans will be paid approximately $196,000,000 over the 12-month period, Mr. Fields said.

There are 4,222,000 World War II Veterans in the nation who have National Service Life Insurance in effect. The average payment will amount to approximately $46.

About 196,000 World War I veterans will receive $15,000,000 with their average payments running near $76 each. Dividends for World War I veterans likewise will be paid on the anniversary date of the policy.

Dividends in 1967 will be slightly lower than those paid in 1966 because approximately 200,000 fewer policies are eligible to receive dividends this year. Last year, $209,000,000 was paid World War II veterans while $15,200,000 went to World War I veterans.

In Delaware 314 World War I veterans will receive an estimated $24,000 while 11,399 World War II veterans will get an estimated $529,200.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

RETIREMENT

I find the most difficult part of retirement is: having to drink coffee on my own time.

As mentioned here on many occasions, the real answer to successful retirement is contentment and good health. To acquire these, one must keep active at something he likes and can do without too much pressure.

While discussing this with some of my old RR cronies at a recent testimonial in Philadelphia, someone recalled the sudden departure of one of our longtime buddies who used to let us know he didn't agree with our line of thought and was going to "Live the Life of Riley," as soon as he reached Milepost 65.

RETIRED

He dreamed of the day he'd have enough cash,
 To retire to a life of ease.
 To do all the things he had wanted to do,
 To work or to loaf as he pleased.

He'd catch up on reading the books he had bought,
 And stacked on the library shelf,
 He'd eat where he liked and sleep when he liked,
 And have no one to please but himself.

The hobbies he never had time to complete
 He could revel in now any day,
 There'd be no one to tell him what had to be done,
 And he'd work if it pleased him, or play.

He could walk in the sunshine or rest in the shade,
 With never a thought or a chore.
 Who was there to tell him to go or to stay
 If he wanted to go to the shore?

He'd buy what he wanted to eat or to wear,
 His days would be his to expend.
 He'd go out with the boys if they wanted him to,
 And he'd stay with the gang to the end.

He'd nourished these dreams since the days of his teens,
 He was sure of the things on his list.
 They buried him just at the twilight of life,
 He'd been chasing a "Will-o'-the-Wisp."

HE WHO KNOWS

He who knows not, and knows not, that he knows not,
 is a fool, shun him,
 He who knows not, and knows that he knows not, teach him.
 He who knows, and knows not that he knows, is asleep,
 wake him,
 He who knows and knows that he knows, is wise, follow him! — Persian Proverb.

FENCE TALK

By George K. Vapaa

Shout out the call for Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware on February 7, 8, and 9. That's a Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in Agricultural Hall at Newark.

Detailed schedules of the events are available from our Kent County Extension Service by calling us in the old Dover postoffice building, Telephone 736-1448.

For me some of the more interesting programs will be a session with the staff of the Delaware Advisory Council on Wednesday, the potato growers meeting to consider nematode problems on Thursday and the field crops lectures on Tuesday. But for all there will be a full range of programs to select from. Several will be running at the same time.

We find this method of scheduling an ideal way to show the work of the College of Agricultural Sciences to best advantage. Most of our staff workers are available because field work is limited during the winter months. We have had a chance to summarize field reports from last year, and are laying out the projects for the new crop year.

We hope that you and your neighbors will come to be part of this full and varied program.

Your part in ASCS was the subject of a meeting for newly elected farmer community committee members last Tuesday. ASCS is the agency to administer federal farm programs, and the abbreviation for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Nine local communities are designated for Kent County. Three committee members and two alternates serve each community. They were elected in November to serve for one year starting in January.

J. Heyman Roosa, of Milford, the county committee chairman, presented certificates of election and information packets to each newly elected member. Together with the other two county committee members, Russell Bowdle, of Harrington, and E. T. Horsey, of Smyrna, he also led discussion groups to explain the 1967 Agricultural Conservation Program.

A new practice for the control of Johnson Grass was announced. This is to be a community wide effort. A special county project provides increased cost sharing for small farms of less than 100 acres when total family income is less than $3000 from non-farm sources. Past experience shows that very few small farms have been able to perform conservation work.

Kent County programs call for self-certification of planted acreage. The county office provides measurement service for those who want an "official measured acreage". Charles Maske showed the new committee members how this work is done.

Defense Responsibilities, including a film "About Fallout", were given by Lister V. Hall, Jr., chairman of the County Agricultural Defense Board.

The Emergency Feed program is available in Kent County for those farmers who can qualify. The county agent, yours truly, outlined how it works. Very briefly, if you will be out of livestock feed because of the 1966 drought and have trouble getting money credit, call at the county ASCS office 697-3601 or call me at 736-1448.

The attractions of the 1967 Wheat and Feed Grain Programs were given by William Bowdle and Lister V. Hall, Jr. The backlog of surpluses is largely gone, but without the programs, they might build up quickly. The result would be a drastic drop in market price. So perhaps the principle goal of the programs is to continue improvement of farm incomes, while at the same time, keeping fair consumer food prices.

Most of us do not think deeply about the community or environment in which we live. But most of us enjoy outdoor living with its health giving benefits.

Some of us see a threat to the few open spaces available near urban centers. They may be woodland, parks of one sort or another, or productive farms. We think that people should work to keep some of this open land close at hand.

A few ecologists, or environmental scientists, are busy at work studying our woodlands. One plot of land receiving very close study is the woodlot behind the football stadium at the University of Delaware. One can bebers of animals, birds and plants truly amazed at the large number growing within a naturalized area.

How intensively should such lands be used by people? We know that these areas can be overused, so much so as to change the nature of the area.

Copies of a new bulletin, titled: "Trees-Woods-Urbanization and You" are available free at our offices. It tells what work our staff is doing, and more that might be attempted. It suggests that the planting of trees can develop very effective buffers against land uses which do not mix well together. Growing trees can block off building eyesores, noises and smoke. Trees planted together also make surface water control a bit easier. Few will argue the need for watershed preserves to keep our water supplies clean and abundant.

So why not write or call us for this bulletin?

Kaffeeklatch

With Eleanor K. Voshell

Manners are a must in the supermarket. All too often consideration for others seems to stop at the supermarket.

Do you recognize yourself in any of these typical scenes? —The aisle ahead is jammed, and shoppers are moving slowly. The trouble—two women picked the center of the aisle for a friendly chat.

—Carelessness is always common with stocked displays. But the shopper who won't stoop to pick up and replace a can she knocked off the pile creates a hazard. And she could easily call a clerk to sweep up a jar she broke.

—Check-out lines are, at best, hectic. No wonder, when all those women are pushing to get ahead of the rest. Five persons ahead, the line stops — the woman who made it to the cashier forgot to have her fruit weighed.

—Express lines are for shoppers with only a few types of products. If the woman at the cashier has five loaves of bread and ten cereal boxes, the person behind her shouldn't get in line with fifteen different items.

—The aisle past the cashier is blocked. To get through, one woman has to push an empty cart to its proper place. It belonged to the woman who just left.

—By the time a shelf of fruit have been through an entire day, it is usually battered. Thanks here goes to the woman who handles ten oranges before she chooses one, leaving a bruised mess behind.

—It's 5 p.m. and the supermarket is crammed with business people who can't shop anytime except after work. Then come the housewives—they had all day to shop, but they chose this busy hour. Chances are they used too parking space for their cars, too.

Farm-Home Week

Puts an Expert At Your Elbow

New fabrics—new foods—new appliances; every year homemakers are faced with new products for their homes and families. The new products bring up many bewildering questions. Which innovation will really fill a definite need? Are they worth the extra cost? How will it taste? How will a new fabric wear? How should all these new things be cared for?

Education Of Exceptional Children

Most children attend school, sit in class with all five senses working, and learn. But what of the child who can't attend school, the one who can't hear, the one who can't hold a pencil, or the one who can't speak?

Education Of Exceptional Children

Special arrangements by the university, the ETV network, and Delaware school officials will make the series of 25 taped lectures available without charge to parents and others interested in the subject. The credit course in the College of Education is taught by Dr. Robert M. Smith, associate professor. Its afternoon schedule of telecasts is open to any one interested at various locations.

Lion Cagers Edged By Lord Baltimore

Lord Baltimore's Eagles invaded Harrington Monday night and escaped with a narrow 54-50 decision. The Eagles are taller and more experienced than Harrington and had won three of six games, against the Lions' single victory, going into the fray.

Lord Baltimore's miserable showing at the four line helped H.H.S. considerably, as the fighting Lions led most of the way, though never by more than six points. The home team had a four point lead after three quarters but cooled off suddenly and L.B.'s 15-7 fourth period margin gave them the nod.

The victors hit only four of nineteen free throws. The Lions had 14-for-28, a fair showing, but 19-for-28 would have been enough to change the outcome.

The Eagles outpointed the locals 25-18 in action tassets.

Bill Moore paced Harrington with a career-high 21 points. Nick Morris added 10 more.

Jim Hawpe and his boys are doing a very good job, in our opinion, as they put up a lot of opposition for a club that had only one reserve returning from last year's squad.

Dill, 30, Moore, 25, Help Felton Sink Rebels

One more bucket and the Red Dill-Chris Moore combine would have been enough to do Selbyville's Rebels in Friday night. As it was, the final score was Felton 77 - Selbyville 56.

This was Dill's second 30 point effort this season. He is third in the state in points scored and third in average. Two inexplicable eight-point games prevented him from holding down first place in average output.

At any rate the state scoring champion could very well come from the Henlopen Conference with Greenwood's Maurice Hughes No. 1 currently and Dill No. 3.

Selbyville was only two points off the pace at halftime but Felton swiftly drew away, thereafter.

It's a big league sport on a small scale.

It's as typical of America as the proverbial hot dog, corn-on-the-cob and rock and roll.

It's the thousands of boys doing what they love best—playing baseball. Not on a sand lot as did our generation but on a regulation field.

It's the thousands of boys learning one of the most basic rules of life—good sportsmanship.

It's the little 9 year old in an oversize uniform looking at his manager with adoring eyes as if he were Hank Bauer.

It's the same coach who inspires the lives and respect of his team through his knowledge of boys and this program.

It's a lot of dedicated people who will overcome any obstacle to give this program to the youth of America and the world. Who work hard and long to reach their objective with no thought of personal compensation in mind.

It's days like this with people gathered together for a banquet—the invocation when we call upon God to bless these boys and keep them straight along the base paths of life.

It's the moment of silence when the Star Spangled Banner is played and the flag is raised.

This is the moment when my love for the program is most intense. As I stand and watch the eager-innocent faces of the boys, a lump comes in my throat and a tear to my eye.

When the call play ball is heard and another game unfolds, I can see the men of tomorrow in these boys of today. Twenty years hence they will stand with our grandsons and feel the same thrill. Only they will be able to say, "Son, did I ever tell you when I played on a Harrington Little League Team."

Maybe with the rapid growth of this program throughout the world, these boys will some day go out to meet other countries—not with guns on their shoulders, but with bats instead. Maybe then, we can exchange the iron curtain for the back-stop, the dictators for the much maligned umpires and the fox hole for the dugout.

This is the Little League program to me. It's what I want guaranteed for the kids of today—but even more important, for the kids of tomorrow.

Little League Banquet Was A Big Success

The third annual Harrington Little League Banquet was held on Saturday night at the Harrington High School cafeteria. This year's affair was the best attended yet and was well received by those in attendance.

Jack Dill did a fine job in the master of ceremonies role. Mayor Fulton Downing thanked the people behind the Little League setup in Harrington stating that many of them were unsung, yet were helping these boys to play by the rules, just as they must in the game of life.

New officers presented were: President, Dave Welch; secretary, Emma Carroll; treasurer, Jeanette Harrington; publicity director, Cliff Miller; umpires, Jack Apt and Lewis Kemp; scorekeepers, Charlotte and Tharp Harrington; groundskeeper, concession stand operator and other wise man of many hats, Earl Yoder; Minor League managers, Tom Peck, Ralph Gray, Noble Woolleyhan, Aaron Hurd; banquet committee, Jean Short, Emma Carroll, Jeannette Harrington, Clara White. "As usual, the grub was outstanding."

Mark Berryman, Seaford postmaster, is an assistant to Pat Knight, of Dover, the District 1 Little League commissioner. Mr. Berryman's oration "What Little League Means To Me" brought down the house. Look for it elsewhere on this page.

Dick Hall, relief pitcher of the World Champion Baltimore Orioles and recently traded to the Philadelphia Phillies was the featured speaker.

Hall states that the championship year of 1966 furnished his greatest thrill in baseball, "I'm still walking on air." As a Philly now he'd like to see an Oriole-Phillies World Series, come October. After an interesting talk, the articulate, personable giant (6 ft. 6) asked the lads assembled if they had any questions. A person entering the cafeteria 2 seconds later would have sworn that 50 kids had to leave the room at once. Picking one hand out of that forest started the ball rolling. Many minutes and many questions later the Oriole-Philly had to call a halt, in order to get on with the business of autograph signing. One good thing, it doesn't take long to sign "Dick Hall."

145 — S. Welch, Harrington, dec. Berotti 3-0.

154 — Rush, Dover Air, dec. Moore 3-2.

165 — Webb, Harrington, pinned Rowland 5:03.

180 — Jackson, Dover Air, dec. Donovan, 5-3.
