

LEVY COURTS TO PLAN WELFARE BILL BATTLE

The Kent and Sussex Levy Courts plan a meeting on methods of action to oppose a state welfare bill proposal which would mean stiff tax increases in their respective counties.

Kent's Levy Court was told Tuesday that residents would face a property-tax increase of almost 100 per cent if the State Home at Smyrna's requests were met by the state.

In Sussex, the Levy Court heard the reading of a letter from the Kent Levy Court president, Glenn A. Richter, asking for a meeting of the two county agencies. Richter also wants a meeting with welfare officials.

Even though the deadline has passed, Sussex Levy Court still has not set a tax rate because of the quandary posed by the welfare proposal. Sussex officials are waiting to see what action the General Assembly will take on a request for $4.45 million for the State Home.

Both the administration and the Joint Finance Committee have recommended that this be chopped to about $2.8 million.

Sussex has been wrestling with the problem for some time. The Kent Levy Court learned something of what it faces Tuesday.

Commissioners were told that if the requests become part of the state's 1967-68 budget, Kent's share of welfare expenses would rise from the current year's anticipated $541,000 to $795,000.

That would bring the county budget to $1,384,852, compared to the current $1,108,000, and leave a deficit of $465,000 for the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Richter and the court's auditor, Harold E. Remley, predicted that under those terms, the property tax rate would have to be raised to 60 or 65 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The rate now is 35 cents.

Next week, however, Remley will submit a revised county budget to the Levy Court, this one based on the assumption that the budget request of the State Home will be cut substantially.

Almost all the increased welfare expenditures would come in the allotment the Smyrna home has requested. The county is paying $266,800, as its share of the home's operational cost this year; under the requested allotment, the county would be billed for $511,861.

In several welfare categories, including the home, the state pays half the total cost and divides the remainder proportionately among the three counties. Kent County pays about 23 per cent of the counties' share for the welfare home, a figure based on Ken County patient days.

Welfare requests in other categories would leave appropriations close to what they are for the current fiscal year.

Anticipated Kent County revenues, assuming the current 35-cent property tax rate, are $919,171 for 1967-68. About $700,000 (Continued on Page 8)

3 Harringtonians Cited In U. of D. Honors Ceremony

Three local students were among a record 181 University of Delaware students cited at the annual Honors Ceremony Thurs., April 27.

They were: Robert J. Rouse, Route 1, received the Alpha Zeta Prize, awarded by the Delaware chapter to the highest ranking sophomore in agriculture.

Francis J. Thomas, 42 Clark St., named as member of Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society in Education encouraging high professional, intellectual, and personal standards.

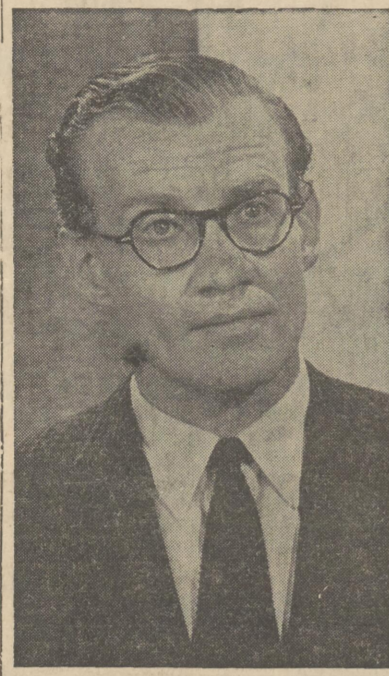

J. Lynn Hopkins, 15 Center St., was made a member of Tau Beta Pi, an honorary society recognizing leadership, superior scholarship, and achievement in engineering.

S/Sgt. Phillippi Due Back From Vietnam

S/Sgt. D. R. Phillippi should be home from Vietnam just about now, if we are to judge from a letter The Journal received this week.

Dated April 20, the letter states the sergeant should be home in two weeks and he wants his newspaper sent to Box 39-A, Harrington.

The marine sergeant sent a copy of the service newspaper, "Stars and Stripes," and two copies of "Sea Tiger," official publication of III Marine Amphibious Force, Vietnam.

Fire Company Report

By Al Price

The firemen met Monday evening in the fire hall with President James Temple presiding.

Fire recorders report for April is as follows: 5 alarms (4 rural-1 city), 52 miles traveled, 61 men in service, 6 1/2 hours in service, 13 average men per fire, 23 man-hours in service. No loss reported.

Ambulance report for April—24 trips, 59 men in service, 24 hours in service, 59 1/4 man-hours in service, traveled 552 miles.

Delegates to Kent County Firemen's Association meeting, Wed., May 17, at Marydel, 7:30 p.m.: Norman Clough, Calvin Minner and Barry Fry.

The following applicants for membership were voted upon and declared members of the Company, after receiving a favorable vote: Rev. Wm. H. Halliburton, and Ralph Moore. Subject to the payment of initiation fee and membership dues.

Delegates to Delmarva Volunteer Firemen's Convention in Rehoboth next Friday and Saturday are: James Temple, C. Douglas Mills, Paul Neeman and Franklin Derrickson.

The Delaware State Volunteer Firemen's Association will conduct memorial service at City Plaza in Dover this Sunday beginning at 2 p.m. Each company is requested to participate in these services by providing a six-member color guard. The company voted to take part in these services and sending a color guard.

President Temple appointed the following committees:

Fund Drive Committee — Albert C. Price, chairman; Bill Outten, co-chairman; Donald McKnatt, Dale Dean, Robert Wilson, Melvin Wyatt.

Fire Essay Committee — Bill Outten, chairman; Paul Neeman, Albert C. Price.

Armed Forces News

Technical Sergeant Donald A. Dell, whose wife, Doris, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hutson, of R. D. 2, Harrington, is on duty at Tuy Hoa AB, Vietnam.

Sergeant Dell, a computer supervisor, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces, America's overseas air arm in Southeast Asia, the Far East and Pacific.

Before his arrival in Southeast Asia, he was assigned to the 436th Aerial Port Squadron at Dover AFB.

The sergeant, a graduate of Quincey (Mass.) High School, is a veteran of the Korean War and World War II.

Quillen Bill Would Bar Certain School Construction

In the House Thurs., April 27, Rep. George R. Quillen, R-Harrington, introduced by request a bill (H.B. 130) to prohibit new school construction in school districts proposed for consolidation. Certain exceptions are provided. Construction would be permitted if the boards of the districts proposed for consolidation including the district desiring to construct a building, were in agreement that the building was

Keith S. Burgess Unopposed For School Board Post

Keith S. Burgess, a frequent candidate for the Board of Education, will be unopposed in the school election Sat., May 13.

Burgess, a rural mail carrier, has served on the board but was defeated for re-election last year by Mrs. Edna Gruwell.

Term of office is five years. Burgess, a brother of the publishers of The Journal, will replace James Rash, board president.

Other candidates in the area are as follows:

Felton — Incumbent William Meyers, Donald Pommell, and James Pizzadili.

Frederica — Samuel Shumar. Houston — Mark Dufendach. Greenwood — Robert E. Messick, incumbent, and Elwood H. Webb.

Milford — Claud L. Tease.

Kent Woman Found Dead In Her Home

A 44-year-old woman was found dead in her home Saturday, the victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, according to state police.

They identified her as Miss Imogene R. Collier. She lived alone in her four-room house on County Road 348, the Horse Pond Road, about 2 1/2 miles south of Dover, and was found in a bedroom by a relative Saturday morning, according to police.

They classified the death as suicide and said the victim had shot herself in the head with a single-barrel shotgun. They said there were no signs of foul play. Police said the shooting probably occurred late Thursday night or early Friday morning.

She was taken to Kent General Hospital, Dover. The medical examiner's office listed the cause of death as brain damage attributed to a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Police said they are continuing their investigation. Miss Collier was a part-time secretary. She was born in West Virginia and had lived in Dover most of her life.

Surviving are her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Wilbur, Harrington; a daughter, Miss Patricia Johnson, Washington, D. C., and three sisters, Miss Jimmie Collier, Washington; Mrs. Ann Nutter, Harrington, and Mrs. Bettie Pusey, Wilmington.

Services and interment were private.

Welfare Limit Sought

A proposal to deny public assistance to more than one illegitimate child in the same home or family was introduced in the House of Representatives Thurs., April 27.

The same legislative idea has appeared periodically in bills for at least 10 years but has always been quietly dropped. This time the proposal comes from Rep. George R. Quillen, R-Harrington, and the other Kent and Sussex Republicans.

Quillen said he introduced the bill to make good on a campaign promise. He said he realizes the measure has little chance for passage.

Other legislators said the bill proposes an overly simple solution to a complex problem. Also, they said, it would penalize children who did not ask to be born.

The bill was not assigned to the Health and Welfare Committee, where its chances of being buried were high. Instead it was put in the Revised Statutes Committee.

Felton Pre-School Registration May 8

Pre-school registration will be held during the week beginning May 8 at the Felton School for all students entering the first grade in September, 1967. Those pupils whose last name starts with the letters A to M should report to the office of the school nurse on Tuesday, May 9, between 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Pupils whose last name starts with the letters N to Z should report at the same hours on Wednesday, May 10. Parents who are unable to register their children at the specified time, may do so at another time during the week by calling 264-4563 for an appointment.

Birth certificates showing birth date on or before December 31, 1961 and immunization records must be presented at registration time. The prospective student must accompany the parent at registration time as a readiness test will be given each child. The child and parent will also have the privilege of visiting a first grade classroom and tour the elementary building, "necessary and desirable." When consolidations became an accomplished fact and the new board determined the construction needs of the consolidated district, it would be permitted to proceed. Similarly, any district would be permitted to go ahead with desired construction if it were determined that the district would not be involving in consolidation with any other district for at least 10 years.

Harold Baynard Killed In Felton Auto Accident

Two fatal accidents last weekend in Kent County raised Delaware's highway death toll to 41. The victims:

—Harold Baynard, 33, of Harrington, who died in Milford Memorial Hospital 12:30 a.m. Saturday after an accident south of Felton.

—Daniel Wirth, 23, of the 436th Aerial Port Squadron, Dover Air Force Base, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kent General Hospital, Dover, 11:45 p.m. Friday.

In the same period last year there had been 30 highway fatalities in Delaware.

State police said Baynard was

4 Del. 4-H'ers Attend National Conference

A Partner-in-4-H Award presented to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and a special breakfast held for U. S. Congressmen were highlights of the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C., April 22 to 29. Four Delaware 4-H club members were among the 230 delegates at the conference.

Jane D. Copper, Odessa; Dorothy Hopkins, Lewes; Charles R. Ebling, Townsend; and Ronald E. Pritchett, Bridgeville, were selected for their exceptional personal development and for major achievement in community service, leadership and citizenship, according to James O. Baker, state 4-H leader.

The citizenship theme for the 37th annual 4-H Conference was "Springboard for Action". Special events included a symposium on "The Democratic Process in Our Government" and a briefing on world situations by the Undersecretary of State, Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, and other state department officials. Les Brown, administrator of the International Agricultural Development Service and former 4-H'er, spoke on "American Agriculture in a Hungry World".

Further highlights of the Conference were "Friends of 4-H Day" naming of six new Partners-in-4-H in addition to Mrs. Johnson and the Clover Cotillion hosted by Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Orville L. Freeman.

The 4-H delegates also met with 86 German rural youth who are beginning a 2-week tour of the U.S. The visitors are members of the German Young Farmers Organization (Bund der Deutschen andjudent), which is similar to 4-H. Throughout the Conference, delegates had the chance to share ideas with each other on improving 4-H programs where they live, and to learn better ways to carry out citizenship duties back home.

The purpose of the conference was to help each delegate gain a greater knowledge of the processes of democratic government, increased understanding of significant issue facing the American people, and to more fully accept personal citizenship responsibilities and opportunities.

The 4-H program is part of the national education system of cooperative extension work in which the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the state land-grant universities and the counties share. About 372,000 men and women serve as unpaid volunteer local club leaders assisted by nearly 142,000 4-H'ers called junior leaders.

fatally injured about 9:30 p.m. Friday when his car swerved off Rt. 284 and hit a bridge abutment about a mile south of Felton. He died as a result of a skull fracture and multiple injuries, according to police.

Wirth's car was involved in a collision with another auto operated by John A. Forbes, 37, of the Felton area, at U.S. 113A and Rt. 26 at Rising Sun.

Both vehicles caught fire and Wirth was trapped in his car, police said. Other motorist managed to pull him out of the wreckage, police reported.

The air base said Monday an autopsy showed the death of Wirth was caused by shock due to cuts on the lungs, spleen and multiple rib fractures. Wirth is survived by his widow and his mother, both of Park Ridge, Ill.

Forbes was arrested by police on a charge of manslaughter by auto. He was released from Kent General Hospital after being treated for cuts and abrasions and taken to Magistrate Court 7, Dover. He provided $2,000 bail for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Tyson A. Cohee on May 10.

The Magnolia Fire Company ambulance taking Wirth and Forbes to the hospital was involved in an accident at the intersection of U.S. 113A and Rt. 356. No one was injured and a private ambulance from the Torbert Funeral Home, Dover, finished the run to the hospital. Police said another Dover airman, Tommie Davis, 30, was driving the car involved in the collision with the ambulance. This accident is still under investigation.

Democratic Federation Plans News Releases

The Delaware Federation of Democratic Clubs will make plans for issuing news releases, it was revealed Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the group at Alexander's Restaurant, Dover.

Enacted as a part of a projected publicity campaign, it was voted to have representatives of the federation and of the Delaware Democratic Women's group study prospects for a combined release.

It was also suggested, at the Tuesday meeting, the news release also cover statewide group of young Democrats. Some thought "too many cooks spoil the broth."

Another project considered Tuesday night was the initiation of a Founders Night at which all former presidents of the federation would be honored. October was suggested for the date. No action was taken.

The group will meet the first Tuesday in June.

THREE DOWNSTATE AUTO ACCIDENTS LEAVE EIGHT HURT

Eight people were injured in three separate downstate auto accidents last weekend, Delaware State Police report.

—Two Seaford men were injured early Monday when the car they were riding in flipped five times after running off a highway near Seaford.

—Four people were injured in a two-car accident north of Felton Saturday.

—A Wilmington area man and a Dover woman were injured Saturday night in a two-car accident on U. S. 13, 2 miles south of Cheswood.

In the Seaford accident, state police said, the driver, Charles Fleetwood, 22, suffered cuts of the head and a passenger, Jay Eller, 20, abrasions of the right arm and leg.

Both were taken to Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, where Fleetwood was admitted. His condition was reported as satisfactory Monday.

Eller was released after treatment.

The accident occurred on Delaware 30, about 3 miles north of Seaford at 12:05 a.m. Police said the southbound car, traveling at a high speed, apparently failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the left side of the road, turned over five times and came to rest on its top.

The Felton mishap occurred at the intersection of County Routes 240 and 241, four tenths of a mile north of Felton, at 11:20 a.m. when an auto operated by Charles Shilling, 38, of Clifton Park Manor, Wilmington, suffered a cut lip when his car and one driven by Jane Fuller, 22, of North DuPont Highway, Dover, collided near Cheswood. She received abrasions of the knee and a cut lip.

Both were taken to Kent General Hospital, Dover, and released after treatment.

MILFORD HOSPITAL WING OK'D

Construction of a three-story wing at Milford Memorial Hospital, to cost $1,623,600 and to emphasize care of the elderly, has been approved by new Health Facilities Planning Council.

Clifford T. Foster Jr., planning council executive director, said the wing will serve a definite need in the growing Milford community, particularly in light of its long-term care facilities.

The planning council was created March 1 and the Milford construction plan was the first project it considered for approval.

The council's prime function is to coordinate the planning of health services and facilities throughout Delaware on the basis of need. It is financed by citizens, corporations and foundations and has applied to the federal government for project funds.

The wing will be L-shaped and contain 177 beds, 56 for long-term patients.

Also in it will be a four-bed intensive care unit and facilities for expanded emergency, clinical laboratory, electrocardiography, radiology and physical therapy departments.

Foster pointed out that a study by the University of Delaware's Division of Urban Affairs has indicated that Greater Milford, which had 40,818 residents in 1965, will grow to 57,887 in 1975.

Groundbreaking will be in August, Foster said, and the project is scheduled for completion in two years.

A four-story wing was added to the hospital in 1954 and this increased the number of beds to 141, not including 20 bassinets. Last year the hospital admitted 5,506 patients who stayed a total of 37,449 days.

The wing will be financed by $498,000 in hospital funds on hand, $225,000 in pledged donations and $400,000 in federal Hill-Burton Act funds. The rest will be borrowed, Foster said.

The planning council has no authority to require health organizations to submit plans for approval but Foster said that to receive community support for a project, especially financial, such approval is important.

Council officers are in the Community Services Building, 701 Shipley St., Wilmington.

H.H.S. Alumni To Meet May 10

There will be a special meeting of the Harrington High School Alumni Association next Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the high school cafeteria.

Felton OKs 2 Tax Hikes For School

Felton residents Saturday voted by a 2-to-1 margin to almost double their school tax rate to build a new high school at Killen's Pond.

"I am highly gratified at the support the people of our school district have given to the proposal," Dr. Howard E. Henry, clerk and supervising principal, said Monday.

Voters also approved a proposal to raise the operating tax rate and current expense capitation tax.

The building proposal, approved 305 to 142, will increase the debt service from 37 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to 65 cents. The $5 capitation tax for debt service remains unchanged.

This money goes for the new building, slated for completion in September 1969, which will house 700 junior and senior high students.

"This finally gives us a chance — in fact, we're overcrowded now — to take care of our students," I. Kenneth Richter, pre-

Anita Speaks To Trinity Women

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Trinity Methodist Church were pleased to have Miss Anita Sapunar address them on Tuesday evening, Miss Sapunar, an exchange student from Bolivia, is living with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peck and is a senior at the high school. She showed slides from her country and made numerous comparisons of Bolivia and the United States. Anita's presentation was delightful, and a small gift was presented to her by Mrs. Tharp Harrington, program chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Ernest Raughley presided at the business session, and announced that the Peninsula Conference annual meeting will be held at the Youth and Civic Center in Salisbury on Thursday, May 25. Theme for this meeting is "Praise to Thee, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit", with Mrs. J. Boyd Tyrell, regional secretary, as the keynote speaker. Elected as delegates from Trinity to attend the session were Mrs. Earl Sylvester and Mrs. Richard Shultie; Mrs. Ellwood Gruwell and Mrs. Wilbur Jacobs will serve as alternates.

The Nominating Committee, consisting of Mrs. Harrington, chairman, Mrs. Samuel Williams and Mrs. Frank O'Neal, presented the following officers and secretaries of lines of work for election: Mrs. Shultie, president; Mrs. William Garrett, vice president; Mrs. Arnold Gilstad, secretary; Mrs. Sylvester, treasurer; spiritual life cultivation, Mrs. Gruwell; campus ministry, Mrs. Harold McDonald; Christian social relations, Mrs. O'Neal; missionary education and service, Mrs. Lewis Slaughter; program materials, Mrs. Jacobs; supply work, Mrs. Lewis Clymer; local church activities, Mrs. Orie Hobbs and Mrs. Wesley Wright; nominating committee member, Mrs. Fred Bailey; sunshine committee, Mrs. Leila Hopkins and Mrs. William Jester. All were duly elected and will be installed at the June meeting.

Mrs. Jacobs gave an account of the District annual meeting held in Milford last week. Five Trinity Society members attended.

A resolution in memory of Mrs. Pearl Nichols was submitted by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Raughley.

Mrs. Gruwell conducted devotions and, with members of the Martha Circle, also served refreshments.

May 7th Church Choir Festival Of 400 Voices

Four hundred singers representing fifteen churches of Kent County will participate in a festival of church music in celebration of Dover's 250th Anniversary at the Dover Middle School Auditorium on Sunday evening, May 7 at 7:30 p.m. As audience seating is limited, admission will be by ticket, which is free, but which must be obtained from singers of participating churches.

This will be a colorful occasion with each choir wearing robes of their own churches, and filling the entire balcony section of the auditorium when seated. Youth Choirs will open the program singing the Fred Waring arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic". Mrs. Edwin F. Englehart will direct the Youth Choirs in this selection.

A special feature of Dover's 250th anniversary has been the music contest for the best arrangement of the hymn tune called "Chester" which was the most popular hymn tune of the colonial era and it is still used today. The winner of the $50 prize in this contest was Harold Haines, teacher of instrumental music in the Dover schools and a native of Dover. Mr. Haines will direct his arrangement of "Chester" when the four hundred voices present it May 7. Mr. David Prettyman, instrumental music teacher at the DAFB schools, is director of the brass ensemble playing in the arrangement of "Chester". The trumpets and drums will be featured also in the singing of the "Battle Hymn".

Ten church choirs will perform individually, after which the massed choirs will close the concert with a thrilling performance of Lewandowski's, "Psalm 150," directed by Edwin F. Englehart, instrumental teacher at Caesar Rodney Schools and director of the adult choir of the First Baptist Church of Dover.

Gordon Dyke, general chairman of Dover's 250th Anniversary and William Tell, chairman of special days, Thomas Flynn, Hugh Price, Ralph Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Englehart, Rev. Curtis Ross and Mrs. William J. Storey, as chairman, make up the music committee who have planned this event.

Charles Paradee is chairman of ushers. The accompanists, in addition to regular accompanists, individual choirs will bring, will be: George Wiltshire at the piano and Thomas Flynn at the organ.

Seaman Recruit Garry N. Harris, 19, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Harris of 125 Wolcott St., Harrington, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Broiler Growers Launch Clean-up, Fix-up Campaign

Delmarva broiler growers are currently starting an area-wide improvement program with a "Clean-up - Fix-up Campaign" during the month of May, according to Donald Wilber, Salisbury area broiler producer, who is serving as chairman of the DPI Growers Committee. "Our goal is to improve labor efficiency and working conditions," said Chairman Wilber.

Wilber states that those who cooperate in this campaign will receive many benefits. Making minor repairs as they are needed will reduce the need for expensive major repairs. With everything in working order, operating the broiler unit will be easier and more pleasant.

On most farms, the place to start is on the grounds surrounding the broiler house. To make this job less tedious, have other members of your family join in the walk this area together. Using bushel baskets and a wheelbarrow, things can be thoroughly picked up and placed in the pick-up truck to be hauled away.

The next phase of the clean-up program might be to inventory things stored in the feed room and other buildings. Take items which have no further use and are cluttering up the area and add to the load to be hauled away. Materials and equipment of value should be stored in an orderly manner so that they can be found when needed. Glass jars with lids make excellent containers for bolts, screws, nails, etc. While doing this, clean up, oil and make minor repairs to tools and equipment before storing. Re-arrange the shop work area for convenience in completing repair jobs quickly.

Since a major part of this campaign will include painting, a paint work center will be helpful. When the opportune time comes, all brushes, paint, turpentine, sandpaper, wire brushes, caulking compound and rags should be ready. This will also be a big aid each time you stop painting.

Now is the time to make sure that wire doors are in good repair. The wire mesh in the windows should be checked individually. With warmer weather coming, windows and outside doors will be open to provide comfort. It is important that all wire mesh be tight to eliminate the entrance of wild birds and predatory animals.

Mr. Wilber feels that May is a timely month for the DPI Growers' Committee to launch this campaign. Getting an early start on weed growth will keep the grounds in good appearance. Minor repairs can be made to the broiler house during the cool mornings without creating too much disturbance to the broilers. At this time, there are many days ideal for outside painting.

"Such a campaign on the part of our broiler growers will not only create better working conditions and improve our labor efficiency; but the improved appearance, generally, will do much to maintain a desirable image of the entire Eastern Shore and its multi-million dollar poultry industry," concluded Mr. Wilber.

Rotation With Corn Reduces Cucurbit Scab Says Agent

Rotating corn with cantaloupe and cucumber crops may reduce the effects of scab, a serious fungus disease in Delaware. On test plots at the University of Delaware's Georgetown Substation, fewer cucumbers and cantaloupes were scab-infected and more cantaloupes survived after corn was grown for a year.

Dr. Donald Crossan, associate professor of plant pathology at the University, reported on the cucurbit research at the recent meeting of the American Phytopathological Society. In the study, plots with continuous plantings of cucumbers and cantaloupe were compared to plots planted to corn for one year.

The continuous cucurbit plot had 43 per cent of the cantaloupe and 27 per cent of the cucumber fruit infected with scab. This compares to 30 per cent cantaloupe and 15 per cent cucumber infection in the corn-rotation plots. In addition, 60 per cent of the initial stand of cantaloupe seedlings was killed by damping-off in the continuous plot; the number killed in the corn-rotation plots was significantly lower, Crossan reported. The number of marketable cucumbers was also higher in the corn-rotated plots.

Scab is caused by a soil-borne fungus. Crossan pointed out that fungicides only partially control the disease and no commercially-acceptable scab-resistant cantaloupe or slicer-type cucumber varieties are available. The results of the study suggest that rotating with corn may be valuable in reducing scab. Further tests are underway to evaluate the effect of longer rotation periods, according to Crossan.

FENCE TALK

By George K. Vapaa

The Marshy Hope Tax Ditch will be ready for a public hearing and referendum on May 16. Some 700 landowners rely on this ditch system to drain their farms. Those affected are invited to be at the Harrington School field-house at 8 p.m.

The Kent County tax ditch commissioners will conduct the hearing. These are: Norman Shorts, of Smyrna; John G. Tarburton, of Dover, and Alfred Biggs, of Houston.

The basic purpose is to form a tax ditch company and to obtain a tax ditch court order under the 1955 Delaware Drainage Law. This will provide for land easements and rights of way for construction and maintenance operations.

Affected landowners are urged to visit the Harrington City Hall on May 9, 10, 11, 12, 15 and 16 to see the detailed plans and proposals. The tax ditch commissioners have selected this as the most central location for display. A qualified technician will be on hand from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to explain how each individual is affected.

State and federal funds are available for all of the construction costs. Landowners will be required to pay maintenance costs after construction is completed. These figures will be available at the Harrington City Hall at the time stated.

Uusikaupunki, Suomi. Yes, the spelling is correct. The English translation is New City, Finland. The "new city" celebrated its 350th anniversary on April 19, while out "old Dover" celebrates its 250th birthday next week.

I visited my cousin and his family there some six years ago. His son has mailed a first day cover letter which commemorates their event.

It seems that the Swedish King, Gustafus Adolphus, was ruling king in 1617. Finland has been the traditional battleground between the Swedes and the Russians for many centuries. How many Americans appreciate the accident of geography which isolates us from foreign invaders? Can we remain smug about this blessing much longer?

I remember New City, or Uiki (to use a common abbreviation) as an old town on the southwest coast. A ferry boat makes a daily trip to Sweden. There is also a sawmill, or was it a paper mill? Only eight per cent of the whole country is tillable to crops, mostly small grain. The dairy enterprise is the major livestock program.

My cousin's name is Erkki for Eric. His wife is Toini, his son is Turikka and a married daughter is Mirja - Majja.

The son seems to read American news. He asks about Cassius Clay and his draft problem. He also speaks of "a good beginning already of spring, but yesterday it was snowing." New City is at about 61 degrees latitude. Compare this with about 38 degrees latitude for Dover.

Finns came to Delaware with the early Swedes in 1638, and in later colonizing expeditions. Powell's "History of Delaware" describes these experiences. By 1655 the Dutch had conquered the Swedes and Finns. Soon after, in turn, the English conquered the Dutch. The thirteen colonies declared their independence of England to end the colonial period.

There is little evidence today that Scandinavian influences have persisted through the years in Delaware. More's the pity. The use of the sauna, or Finnish steam bath house for example. More perhaps on this at some later date.

Would you like a garden calendar? Bob Stevens, our extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware, has prepared some timely gardening tips in calendar form. We will gladly give you one if you will call at our office on the second floor of the old Dover postoffice, or telephone for it at 736-1448.

Our office secretaries, Mrs. Betty Rollison and Mrs. Barbara Roos, actually assembled the calendar. It was a much bigger job than we first suspected. A matter of typing and pasting up the masters for offset printing. Then running off the sheets front and back. Next collating or putting the sheets together. Finally, folding for stapling. We have 2000 of the completed calendars.

The major push for May is pruning spring flowering shrubs. The calendar has before and after sketches telling how the job should be done. Avoid shearing flowering shrubs. There is nothing more beautiful in the spring than a well-pruned forsythia. Nor is there any shrub more forlorn than a sheared forsythia.

A hint for this weekend? Plant your tomatoes, sweet corn and other vegetables. Also seed or transplant annual flowers.

Irregular dead spots showing up in your lawn? The damage may be due to snowmold fungi, also called winter scald. Good cultural practices give the best control. Remove thatch from lawns in the fall and rake up matted leaves. Avoid the use of nitrogenous fertilizers in the fall. This is the word given by our extension plant pathologists at the University of Delaware.

Look for weevils now. The strawberry weevil or "clipper" nips off the blossoms and fruit. It can be controlled with methoxychlor up to within three days of harvest.

We're getting a build up of alfalfa weevil. We have a special fact sheet on this that you can have by phoning 736-1448. Malathion and or methoxychlor will give control. Sevin has been cleared for use on alfalfa right up to harvest. But sevin will not control the pea aphid if it is also a problem. Malathion or diazinon will.

Less than three months remain for veterans of World War II to use their guarantee privileges for a loan to purchase a home, farm or for business purposes, Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional office pointed out.

Present statutes provide that the absolute cutoff date for World War II veterans will be on July 25, 1967. This deadline is the result of Congressional action which has delayed the final date of eligibility several times.

Mr. Fields also pointed out that the cutoff will not affect veterans of the Korean conflict or veterans who have served since January 31, 1955, as these veterans are covered by different legislation.

Almost seven million loans have been guaranteed by the Veterans Administration to veterans since the beginning of the program following World War II, about 27,000 of them in Delaware. One out of every five homes constructed in the United States following World War II was with VA guarantee.

The Veterans Administration will guarantee up to 60 per cent of the purchase price of a home for a veteran with limitation as to the total purchase price.

Mr. Fields urged veterans planning to purchase a home to make their selection as soon as possible, avoiding the last minute rush for certification.

4-H News

With Marion McDonald

In keeping with the busy Dover celebrations the Kent County 4-H Dress Revue May 6, at 8 p.m. will feature some old and new fashions. The old fashions will be borrowed but the new are the creations of some 70 4-H girls. These 4-H'ers will model their outfits at 8 p.m. at the St. John's Lutheran Church. Chairman, Mrs. Becky Nickerson, reports her committee has completed the script. Mrs. Nancy Roy, chairman of decorations, has some exciting plans for the evening. All participants will gather at the church at 1 p.m. for rehearsal and judging. The Kent County Links will serve a refreshment break in the afternoon and provide the dessert and milk at dinner time. Narrators are Marjorie Hudson, Joy Gooden, Pattie Stites and Beverly Lucks. Other committee members are Cindi Hawke, Debbie Moore, Janet Clendaniel, and Delores Tinley.

Doverama is almost here. Some 45 4-H'ers will have a part in the spectacle—be sure you have your ticket. It promises to be quite a show. Delores Tinley will hold down one of the narrator parts—I'm sure she attributes her past experiences in public speaking and demonstration contests to being selected. 4-H experiences always remain a part of your life.

Terbacil (Sinbar) weed killer, manufactured by DuPont, was cleared last week for spring application on peach and apple trees. Five years of field tests by Dr. Vernon Fisher, associate professor in the department of Delaware, led to the release. The new orchard herbicide will be a valuable tool for peach and apple growers, he believes.

Terbacil controls a wider variety of orchard weeds and lasts longer than many similar orchard herbicides. Terbacil also effectively controls weeds which have already sprouted, particularly if a good rain follows the application.

Terbacil is safer to peach trees than other orchard herbicide of this type, with the possible exception of dichlobenil, Fisher points out. Since the weed killer is present throughout the tree root zone, trees are uninjured because they tolerate terbacil and not because they escape contact with the chemical.

Although terbacil leaches into the soil, enough stays near the soil surface to kill germinating weeds for a much longer time than either diuron or simazine, similar herbicides.

The rate of application depends mostly on the orchard soil, according to Fisher. For normal orchard conditions, the recommended yearly rate is one to two pounds per acre on light soils and two to four pounds for heavy soils. If the soil is extremely sandy, herbicides such as terbacil should not be used.

Organic matter in the soil helps prevent tree injury from terbacil. The herbicide is not risky to use if the soil has two per cent or more organic matter present. With this much organic matter present, even sandy soils may be treated.

Although terbacil is only cleared for use on peach and apple trees that are established in the orchard three years or longer, Dr. Fisher points out that his research shows a good chance that the herbicide can be safely used around peach trees even the first year.

Different varieties react to terbacil approximately the same. The herbicide can be used with dwarfing rootstocks; however orchardists should use greater caution for dwarfs than on regular trees.

Mrs. Jacob Hatfield

Mrs. Emory Williamson flew to San Antonio, Texas, last week to see her son, John, graduated from U. S. Air Force Officers' Training School at Lackland Air Force Base. John's next orders were for Ohio, so his mother was able to ride home with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bennett and daughter, Michele, of Elmhurst, Wilmington, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Workman and Mrs. Nellie Burton were guests of Mrs. Blanche Perry, of near Preston, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Anna Isaacs and Mrs. Helen Workman attended the Alumni Banquet of Greenwood High School Saturday evening. This was the 15th anniversary of their respective sons, Everett Isaacs and Ralph Harmon, and the mothers represented their sons at the table with other members of the class who could be present.

Mrs. Louise Neal and sons, Barry and Terry, were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield.

Greenwood Alumni Banquet

The Greenwood Alumni Association held its annual entertainment with 100 more present this year than ever. Two hundred and eighty-five persons were present to enjoy the occasion. A banquet was served at 6:30. The oldest member present was Mrs. Stella Reynolds, of the class of 1903. The second oldest member present was Mrs. Leon Kubeck of Farmington, class of 1908. The person coming the farthest distance was Miss Donna Kay Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson, of Chicago. The class of 1952 held its 15th year reunion, with 13 members present. Mrs. Nell Lyons, a retiring teacher, was presented with a beautiful silver tray.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by Mrs. Nancy Morgan, of Seaford, who gave many vocal numbers with a history of their origin.

The Brandywine Blazers, of Wilmington, played for the dancing. It was interesting to know that one of the members of the dance band was young Bobby Nichols, who is the son of Jimmy Nichols, who grew up here in Greenwood as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichols.

Pilgrim Holiness Church

A revival is in progress this week at the Pilgrim Holiness Church, with the Rev. H. D. Dukas as the evangelist, and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Minner, of Delmar, singers. Services held nightly at 7:30. Sunday will be the closing day with services at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Friday evening, the Rev. Etta Clough attended a banquet at the duPont Hotel in Wilmington, commemorating the 60th anniversary of American Leprosy Missions. Almost 500 were in attendance and were privileged to hear as guest speaker, the Rev. Paul Brand, one of the world's leading leperologists. About a year ago, Reader's Digest brought to the attention of the nation, the work of this famed man, in a review of the book by Dorothy Clark Wilson, "Ten Fingers for God," telling of the wonderful work of Dr. Brand and his dedicated staff, among the lepers of India. The doctor is a devoted Christian, a gifted speaker, and for more than twenty years, the "beloved physician" of India's outcasts.

Beauty Contest

The annual beauty contest, sponsored by the Greenwood Lions Club, was held on Friday evening at the school.

The second runner-up for the older girls was Miss Wanda Ann Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gross. She sang, "Somebody Bigger Than You and I", accompanied by Ted Robinson, of Seaford.

The first runner-up was Miss Diane Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Short Jr. She played "Musetta's Waltz Song" from La Boheme by Puccini.

The winner was Miss Carolyn Hawk, daughter of Mrs. Earl Hawk and the late Mr. Hawk. She presented "Lady MacBeth's Sleep Walking Scene". Miss Bonnie Algier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Algier, was on hand to crown Carolyn as the new Miss Greenwood of 1967.

Miss Lynn Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Franklin Morris, won the coveted title of "Miss Personality", which is voted upon by the girls themselves. Miss Morris played George Gershwin's "Little Rhapsody in Blue" off her talent presentation.

In the contest for Little Miss Greenwood, the second runner-up was Colinda Kay Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Andrews; the first runner-up was Lisa Jean Hamstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hamstead, and the winner was Kimberly Davida Bushey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bushey. Little Miss Christine Robin Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baker, crowned the new little queen.

Mennonite News

Our deep appreciation goes to Hulda and Ammon Troyer for many years of faithful service as janitors of the church. We welcome Irene and Chris Zook to take over their responsibility. Congratulations to Connie and Daniel Balwell on the birth of their first child, Daniel Arlen, on April 24.

Cafeteria Menu - May 8-12

Monday: milk, hot roast beef sandwich, mashed potatoes and gravy, fresh fruit or cookies.

Tuesday: milk, pizza pie, buttered corn, celery and carrot sticks, bread and butter, fresh fruit or rice pudding.

Wednesday: milk, tomato soup and crackers, grilled ham and cheese sandwich, potato chips, fresh fruit or jello.

Thursday: milk, turkey salad, French fries, buttered peas, orange glazed yeast rolls and butter, fresh fruit or cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stevens, Jr., of Newark, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stevens, Sr., over the weekend and attended the Alumni Banquet on Saturday evening, Sunday, they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Marvyl Austin, of Laurel, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watson, of Milford.

Mrs. Charles Conaway, Miss Leila Tatman, Mrs. Della Russell, and Mrs. Nelson Meredith attended the fellowship night on Wednesday evening in Georgetown, sponsored by the Home Economics Extension Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Jr. and family spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Meredith, Sr., and attended the Alumni Banquet on Saturday evening. They were joined Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lynch and family, of Selbyville.

Miss Donna Kay Wilson, of Chicago, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson. Kay attended the Alumni Banquet and received honors for coming the longest distance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brosey, of Lancaster, Pa., visited Joy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Cooper, and also attended the Alumni Banquet.

Mrs. Miriam Lord has returned home from Wilmington Hospital, and we hope much improved.

Miss Grace Porter was in Media, Pa., visiting last week.

Miss Grace Porter, Mrs. Jeanette Sadowski and Mrs. Kathryn Mills attended the concert given by the Community Singers in Dover Sunday. Mrs. Mills is the accompanist for the group.

Mrs. Lena Barwick has been on the sick list, but is back again teaching school.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lofland have been in Wilmington for several days this past week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Veasey. Mrs. Veasey underwent surgery at Wilmington Hospital, and is home again, doing fine.

Grace Church will recognize all mothers on Mother's Day, May 14. Please plan to be present.

Miss Bonnie Algier, Mrs. Darryl Algier and Bradley Larimore motored to Ft. Jackson, S. C., to visit Darryl and to bring him back with them for a week's leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Algier were in Wilmington Saturday. They called on Mrs. Algier's brother and family in their new home in New Castle. Her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Dixon, have just moved to Delaware from New Jersey.

The Greenwood Home Economics Extension Club will meet with Mrs. Oscar Lofland on Tuesday evening, May 9.

1967 Field Day Scheduled

The University of Delaware's 1967 Field Day is scheduled for August 9, at the University's Georgetown Agricultural Substation, according to J. Frank Gordy, director of the substation and chairman for Field Day activities. Approximately 1,000 farmers and agricultural businessmen are expected to attend.

The program will include tours of field plots and research projects at the substation farm, with University research scientists on hand to explain the projects. A sick plant clinic will be held with University specialists available to diagnose plant diseases, and identify and prescribe controls for insects and weed problems. Field Day will also feature special exhibits, a homemakers program and an outdoor chicken dinner.

The 1967 Field Day is designed to bring farmers up to date on the University's agricultural research at the substation, according to Gordy.

The University of Delaware's 1967 Field Day is scheduled for August 9, at the University's Georgetown Agricultural Substation, according to J. Frank Gordy, director of the substation and chairman for Field Day activities. Approximately 1,000 farmers and agricultural businessmen are expected to attend.

The program will include tours of field plots and research projects at the substation farm, with University research scientists on hand to explain the projects. A sick plant clinic will be held with University specialists available to diagnose plant diseases, and identify and prescribe controls for insects and weed problems. Field Day will also feature special exhibits, a homemakers program and an outdoor chicken dinner.

The 1967 Field Day is designed to bring farmers up to date on the University's agricultural research at the substation, according to Gordy.

THE SEWER REFERENDUM MUST PASS

If Harrington is to go ahead, a proposed referendum for a bond issue to improve the sanitary-sewer system must pass. We know it will pass, sooner or later, but the sooner, the better.

Besides the more obvious reasons, the sewage-disposal plant is loaded to capacity and the Delaware Water and Air Resources Commission has forbidden the City to permit any more hook-ons. Of course, if the referendum passes and work gets under way, one can be sure the state board will be lenient in the matter of hooking up to the system.

One of the squawks we hear is, "the city needs industry." You can say that again. An official of a state agency told us recently three industries had inquired of his agency on Harrington for sites. When told of the shortcomings of the sewage-disposal plant, "that's all she wrote," as the boy from Sockum says.

Industrial scouts do not come to town until they have checked with national and state agencies. Then, if everything appears favorable, they come to town and we learn of it, usually for the first time.

The previous city administration did the groundwork and picked up the ball. A referendum, on sewer improvements, failed to pass last fall. Opponents said it was because of lack of information.

This newspaper, and the daily press, offered the public all kinds of information. This time the press will have to be aided by a canvass of the voters.

The current city council and Mayor Fulton J. Downing have been studying the proposed referendum, and sewer improvements, in detail. They pick up the penny, look at it on both sides, and then bite it. One can be sure they will not spend any more than they have to.

When a public hearing is held this month, date to be announced, one can be sure practically all questions can be answered.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

From time to time we've lauded the merits of some of our worthy poetically-minded women contributors and since the following lines by Helen Lizengood of my boyhood town (Blairsville, Pa.) a town with about the same railroad background as Harrington, drew worthy mention in the Ellicottville, N. Y. Post last March, we give you—

FIREMAN'S WIFE BLUES

The time just seems to drag along, I speak the gospel truth. It makes no difference if your name Is Helen, Jane or Ruth.

You sit around and wonder why You chose this way of life. But you can see my point of view, If you're a fireman's wife.

You cook supper then sit and wait, And cuss a little bit. And then you wonder; "Is he hurt?" Then pray that won't be it.

I mean the reason he's not home, He should have come at four, Then you start to beat a path, From the window to the door.

You spread a slice or two of bread, The kids eat that with glee. Again you wander back and forth And think; "Where can he be?"

Pretty soon the door-bell rings, You run and think, with joy, That dad is home from work at last, But it's the paper boy.

Come five, then six, still he's not home, Again you get so mad. "Come kids sit down and eat your meal, The heck with dear old dad."

And when the meal is almost done Our Dad walks in the door He greets you with a little kiss, That's when you bubble o'er.

As calmly he sits down his grip, And says, "Did you miss me dear?" I would have been home sooner, But stopped to have a beer.

DPI Fund Drive Now Underway

Noting that the Peninsula's poultry association, Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., is taking the lead in attacking problems which cost the industry $10-million a year, Wm. R. Stephens of Bridgeville, urged stepped up support for the association's 1967 fund drive, now underway.

Speaking at a meeting of the General Fund Drive Committee held at Georgetown, recently, association president Stephens reminded those present that these $10-million problems facing Delmarva can mean the difference between profit and loss to an industry that brings well over $200-million in business each year to the Peninsula. "In such a highly competitive industry as ours," he reminded, "we have to whittle down those $10-million problems so that we can meet the challenge of other broiler-producing areas."

"Last year," he reported, "our association spent $35,000 plus the time of many of its officers and directors in research and industry improvement projects to backstop the work being done at the Universities of Delaware and Maryland in the fields of poultry health and poultry housing, and to carry on transportation rate studies. By conservative estimate, this has returned us $1 1/2-million in benefits already and has the potential to return much more in the next two or three year."

Singling out the problems Delmarva faces in railroad rates for hauling feed ingredients from the Midwest, Stephens reported that association efforts in recent years had brought a $1-million-a-year savings in this field alone but that subsequent changes in freight rates to southern areas competing with Delmarva had posed new problems.

"According to an official report presented at a meeting of Eastern Railroads traffic executives earlier this year" he said, "the Delmarva broiler industry faces a continuing $4,000-a-day squeeze on freight rates if some relief is not forthcoming."

"Your association, DPI, has been working on this problem ever since the South got preferential rates in 1963. Now the Eastern railroads are with us and we are looking forward to an adjustment. If a rate proposal now under study by the Interstate Commerce Commission and supported by the Eastern Railroads is acted on favorably, it will lower our rail costs for feed ingredients by about $1-million a year and cut down considerably the $3.50 per ton rail rate advantage on feed that Georgia now enjoys."

Army Nurse Corps Seeking Registered Nurses

Our country's expanded worldwide commitments have caused a critical shortage of registered nurses in the Army Nurse Corps, M/Sgt. Walter R. Frazier, local Army Recruiter, said this week.

To meet its critical needs, the ANC is seeking graduates of either diploma or baccalaureate degree programs in accredited institutions. Registered nurses, male and female, who meet the requirements, are eligible for ANC direct commissions in the rank of second lieutenant, first lieutenant or captain, depending upon their education and experience.

Newly-commissioned Army nurses spend the first six weeks of active duty at the Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where they attend an orientation course in the Army's Medical Field Service School. They are then assigned to an Army hospital.

The ANC can often arrange for two friends or relatives to serve together at the hospital of their choice. In addition, nurses qualified in a clinical specialty may request assignment in that field.

"To insure the best care possible to our country's servicemen, the Army Nurse Corps stresses continuing professional education for its members," stated Sgt. Frazier. "A variety of education programs are offered from which Army nurses may make their own choice," he added.

These education programs include clinical post-graduate study in basic and advanced operating-room nursing, maternal and child health nursing and anesthesiology; professional in-service programs in neuro-psychiatric and Army health nursing, and advanced programs in such fields as military nursing and hospital administration. Additionally, Army nurses may complete advanced degree programs in a nursing specialty at civilian universities.

To qualify for a direct commission in the all-officer Army Nurse Corps, a nurse must be between 20 and 35 years of age, currently registered to practice nursing in at least one state of the United States or in Puerto Rico and have no dependents under 18.

Men and women interested in learning more about Army Nurse Corps programs and their advantages and requirements may phone their local Army Recruiter at 736-6937 for an appointment. Or, they may request a visit to their home, school or hospital by a member of the Army Nurse Corps recruiting team, whose members are qualified to answer questions on all ANC programs.

Veterans News

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My son, determined by the VA to be helpless, is being furnished training under the War Orphans program. This is the first month he has attended school and we have received checks both for the schooling and the regular $80 a month compensation. Shouldn't one of these checks be returned to the VA?

A—No. In the case of a helpless child both the Dependency Indemnity Compensation and the War Orphans Act benefits are paid simultaneously.

Q—I am considering converting my term G.I. insurance to the new Modified Life Plan. I hear that I won't get any dividends on this plan. Is that true?

A—It's true you may not get a dividend on the Modified Life policy for several years, and then they will be small. Dividends should not influence your decision too much. Compare the rates for Modified Life and Term policies, especially on the Term policy after age 50. VA Pamphlet 29-22, available at any VA office or by writing the VA, will give all comparative details.

Q—I previously had a G.I. home loan through the VA. Am I eligible for an FHA loan under the special terms as a veteran?

A—Now you are. Previously, veterans who had obtained VA home loan guarantees were barred from getting the special FHA loans. This provision was amended in November 1966 so that it is no longer material under the FHA program whether or not a veteran has had a G.I. home loan.

Flower Show Training Session Set For Youth

A Delaware Flower Show training program for young people through high school age will be held May 6 in the Agricultural Hall auditorium at the University of Delaware. A second workshop in flower arranging will be held September 23.

Two sessions are scheduled for the May 6 program, with a meeting from 10 a.m. to noon for junior and senior high school students, and an afternoon session from 1 to 3 p.m. for elementary school children. No reservations for the classes is necessary.

Instruction and practice for the flower judging contest and for the plant and garden insect identification contest will be given at both meetings. Seeds, cuttings, and plants will be distributed; elementary school children will receive dahlia tubers and pumpkin, sunflower, gourd, ornamental corn and marigold seeds, while the older students will be given chrysanthemum cuttings.

Training program teachers will include Mrs. E. Hart Davis, New Castle, general chairman of the Delaware Flower Show junior division committee and Mrs. William E. Smith, Newark, chairman of the high school division committee. Teachers from the University of Delaware will include Paul Read, horticulturist; Dean Belt, New Castle County 4-H agent; David Tatnall, assistant county agent for ornamental horticulture; and Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist.

The training programs are designed to help young people planning to compete at the Delaware Flower Show Oct. 7 and 8 at the new fieldhouse of the University of Delaware.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton

Inventories of beef and pork continue high and advertised specials for the weekend are numerous. Though cattle receipts have been reduced and wholesale costs have climbed steadily, demand has been slow, thus leaving the inventory high. Most features are in the front quarter cuts—chuck and rib—however, there are a few good buys in round and sirloin steaks also available. Beef should remain at attractive prices for several weeks to come.

Brisk demand from packers has been absorbing the reducing receipts and wholesale costs have risen. Supplies are ample, though, for production has been running about 18% above last year. Most special prices are on smoked ham, bacon and center-cut chops. But, a number of stores are offering good buys on loin roast and prices between markets should be compared.

Eggs continue to be one of the best protein bargains in grocery stores with retail prices expected to be even lower this week than last. Remember, buy your eggs from refrigerated cases and keep them cold. Avoid leaving them in a hot car—or in a hot kitchen for any length of time since extreme temperature can lower the quality of eggs. Also store the eggs in the paper carton in which you bought them if you do not have an air tight container for the job. You need a covering to retard moisture loss and help prevent the eggs from absorbing other food odors.

Vegetable supplies are up and down since cold rainy weather has hit both Florida and California, thus halting harvest and retarding growth. Lettuce prices advanced sharply but Arizona is now harvesting and shipping, so volume is expected to increase and prices to fall soon.

Though potatoes are a good buy according to price, they may not be when you take them home and check quality. True potato grading does leave much to be desired from the consumer's point of view. The commercial grades, used by wholesalers in selling to stores, are somewhat misleading. If you have been buying U. S. No. 1 potatoes, under the impression this was the top grade, you have been mistaken. U.S. No. 1 is the second grade, while U.S. Fancy is the top commercial grade, however you will not see this grade often. Regardless, though, the grades are established to allow for a generous percentage of defects or undersizing. Also, the potatoes are not always handled carefully and bruising or lack of time to "cure" potatoes properly causes many defects to appear in the consumer's package, which were not visible when graded. What to do about your dissatisfaction: let the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., know of your disappointments.

Ten Del. FFA'ers Get Diamond Degrees

Ten Delaware Future Farmers of America club members were awarded state Diamond Farmer Degrees at the annual FFA state convention, Wednesday evening. Arba Henry, Laurel, state FFA president, presented the awards which were given for leadership, scholarship and outstanding vocational agriculture projects.

Diamond Degree winners are William Abbott, Harrington; Thomas Davis, Milford; Allen Drummond, Greenwood; Gary E. Isaacs, Greenwood; James L. Leates, Laurel; Charles Postles, Milford; Fred Stites, Jr., Dover; F. Thomas Unruh, Middletown; Gary Warren, Felton, and James D. Whaley, Laurel. Stites was also given FFA Star Diamond Farmer Award.

Abbott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Abbott, Jr., is president of his FFA chapter. He has received livestock judging awards and is a successful exhibitor at Delaware Crop Show and Delaware State Fair. He worked with sheep and cattle projects, including trimming and showing his 15 registered Hampshire sheep.

Davis, 17, is particularly interested in dairy production; his project work was with Guernsey cows. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jehu M. Davis, Sr., he won awards in state dairy and milk judging contests and participated in a land judging contest.

Drummond, 18, is the son of Lawrence A. Drummond; he has worked in poultry projects throughout his vocational agriculture program. He was a delegate to the Junior Poultry and Egg Fact Finding Conference and to the American Institute of Cooperatives Convention and won the Northeastern Poultry Products Council FFA Delaware Poultryman Award.

Isaacs, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Emerson Isaacs. He has worked with cattle, pigs and field crops and participated in dairy and soil judging contests.

Leates, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leates, has been active in poultry projects. A member of the poultry team and secretary of his FFA chapter, he plans to work with his father in an expanded poultry farm. Postules, 17, has worked with soybean projects and has taken part in land judging and public speaking contests. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Postules, Sr., he plans to attend the University of Delaware preparing for a career in marketing or agri-business.

Unruh, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Unruh. He has worked with corn and soybeans. Unruh says "Through my participation in FFA field crop programs, I became interested in agronomy; now my FFA projects will help finance my way through college."

Warren, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Warren. The FFA chapter president, he has taken part in many judging teams and place third in the state FFA tractor driving contest. He hopes someday to have a grain or dairy farm.

Seventeen-year-old James Whaley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Whaley, has been active in field crop projects and swine and beef feeding. He has won honors in poultry judging and public speaking and is serving as president of his chapter.

MONDAY — 7:30 p.m. Choir rehearsals. TUESDAY — 3:30 p.m. Girl Scouts. 6 p.m. Boy Scouts. 7:30 p.m. Healing service. WEDNESDAY —

7:30 p.m. School of prayer, Asbury Methodist Church.

THURSDAY — 8 p.m. "Vestry Team" meeting. 9 p.m. Fair project committee meeting.

SATURDAY— 10:30 a.m. Ordination service at Milton.

This coming Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. service it will be a pleasure for the congregation of St. Stephen's to receive through the Sacrament of Holy Baptism little Susan Michele Ross, the one year old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross III. Everyone at St. Stephen's knows Mrs. Ross as the former Anne Perry. Godparents for little Michele will be her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Perry, of Harrington, and Miss Carman Felix, of California. As Miss Felix can not be present, Sue Perry will act as her proxy at the service. The congregation joins with the vicar in welcoming Michele as their newest "family" member. We pray for her a long and useful life in Christ's Church.

The "Vestry Team" meeting which is mentioned in the calendar of the week as meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, is composed of Mrs. Robert Creadick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clendening, William F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNally and George Thompson. It is hoped that each of these members will have read the book "Reality Therapy" by Glasser before this meeting at which time the book will be discussed and plans for future activities will be laid.

At the 9 p.m. meeting on Thursday evening of the Fair Project Committee, it is suggested that any St. Stephen's personnel interested in this project be present as well as committee members. At this time plans for this year's food booth will be discussed including policies which will be followed at the time of the Delaware State Fair.

The ordination to the Priesthood is one of the beautiful services of worship of the church. On Sat., May 13, at the church of St. John the Baptist in Milton at 10:30 a.m. the Rev. Jack McKelvey, vicar of that church and the Rev. Richard Comegys, assistant at Christ Church in Dover will be ordained Priests.

Cochairman of DPI Fund Drive Urges Support

Citing the importance of poultry to the entire economy of the Delmarva Peninsula, Jeremiah Valliant, Salisbury, businessman and former Mayor of that city, urged broad-scale support by all Peninsula businessmen for the current drive to secure operating funds for the activities of the Delmarva Poultry Industry Association.

He is cochairman of the 1967 fund drive committee which has a little less than two weeks remaining to reach their $187,000 fund drive goal.

Calling 1967 "a year of decision" for Delmarva and its poultry industry Valliant said that the next 12 months could determine whether the Peninsula would ready itself to build a $300-million-a-year poultry industry by 1970 or let its present $200-million-a-year poultry business gradually slip away to competing areas.

"Only with a strong regional poultry association to lead the way and act as a nucleus for industry improvement and sales promotion efforts can we lay the groundwork for a vastly enlarged poultry economy on the Peninsula by 1970," he said.

In appealing to "Main Street" for its support, Valliant noted that in at least one of the Peninsula's poultry counties the poultry dollar represented one of every four dollars rung up on merchants' cash registers. "In none of the 'Shore's eight major poultry counties is it less than one of eight dollars," he added.

Quoting from the results of a mail and telephone survey conducted by the association in two Delmarva poultry counties recently, he reported that many general businessmen not directly connected with the poultry industry nevertheless report that the poultry dollar is an even greater part of their total business than this.

"In the case of my own truck sales and service business, my books show that 19.1 per cent of my parts business alone came directly from the poultry industry during the first quarter of this year," he said.

"Other businessmen report an even larger slice of their revenue is due to poultry," he added. "Collins and Ryan, Inc., of Millsboro, say that approximately 35 per cent of their total volume from propane gas sales comes from the poultry dollar. The Dukes Lumber Company, of Laurel, estimates that almost half of its business is from poultry construction.

"Harold White, manager of the Georgetown sub-district of the Diamond State Telephone Company measures it a different way. He reports that Sussex County had 12,000 telephone customers when he came there 13 years ago. Now there are 23,000 and White believes that the growth of the poultry industry and of the Sussex seashore resort areas are the two main reasons why."

Turning to bankers contacted in the survey, Valliant had this to report: "According to Ford M. Warrington, president of the Sussex Trust Company, their Laurel branch reports that 25 per cent of their total loan business is concerned directly with some branch of the poultry industry. In Georgetown, John F. Richardson, vice-president of the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware, estimates that at least 35 per cent of his bank's earnings in Sussex County come from the poultry industry."

Valliant urged other businessmen to take a look at their ledgers to determine what part of their present business comes from poultry and then estimate how much this would grow if the Delmarva poultry industry achieves its goal of a $6-million-a-week business by 1970 compared to its present $4-million-a-week contribution to the Peninsula's economy.

"To Main Street, the poultry association fund drive is one of the best investments on Delmarva," he told a group of businessmen recently. "I urge you to give it your financial support in the few days remaining until the fund drive ends, if you have not already done so.

"The poultry association—DPI—does one of the most effective jobs of its kind in the U.S. It operates on a budget that totals less than one-tenth of one cent for each dollar the poultry industry brings to the Peninsula each year. Its efforts return to our economy many times the $187,000 it needs to carry on its projects this year."

Shopping Habits Changing, Say Retailers

Sixteen million working wives are changing every food shopping habit of the past, food distributors were told recently at the tenth annual Delaware Conference on Food Distribution held at the University of Delaware. These women are reaching for good nutrition in quick-to-prepare foods, according to George H. Allen, vice president of Fawcett Publications, N. Y., and conservation of time is a great problem.

What's more, there is a definite trend away from the shopping list, said Les F. Willson, manager, Trade Relations, Film Department, DuPont Co., noting that today over 60 per cent of shoppers do not carry a list, relying on the store to suggest items to buy. Citing the 7th annual DpPont Consumer Survey, he pointed out that almost 70 per cent of all purchase decisions are made by the shopper while she is there in the store. And even more significant, according to Willson, is that most of these store decisions are completely unplanned purchases — that is, the shopper had no plans whatsoever to buy these items before she entered the store.

Changes in food shopping habits and attitudes were reflected in the mass picketing of housewives last fall. These picketers did the food industry a service, Clarence Adams told the food conference delegates last week. "Food retailers must learn to adapt their operations to the wants and needs of the particular mass markets they wish to serve," said Adams, who is president of the National Association of Food Chains.

Picketers demonstrate the dangers involved in assuming too much from mass marketing, Adams noted. "Mass marketing can be carried too far," he said. "Of course, much of the progress made in the food industry has resulted from the application of mass marketing in self-service, high-volume, low-margin retailing. But when the industry assumes that everyone is the same in terms of likes, dislikes and value judgments, they make a mistake. Some people get exceedingly annoyed when mass marketing concepts are applied to them."

Supporting Adams' statements, Robert W. Mueller, publisher and editor of Progressive Grocer, cited results of recent research which shows that various economic groups differ greatly in what they buy and how they react to market services. Up to now, food retailers and manufacturers have adopted a "standard" supermarket designed to suit the "average" customer. However, now many food leaders believe, said Mueller, that we may be at the beginning of another concept — matching the supermarket to its immediate trading area.

Attempts are now being made to give the consumer a better chance to make her views known. The Better Business Bureau expansion program, for instance, is seeking to develop a dialogue between government and business in which the consumer has a significant voice. "We are trying to bring together leaders of responsible organizations, government, business and the housewife," explained Leonard Sanders, executive director of the BBB in Wilmington, "to share ideas, experiences, hopes and aspirations which affect the consuming public."

Expect The Unexpected

Every emergency is different. If an emergency catches you unprepared, what you don't know about protecting your home and family could be costly—even fatal—to them and to you, rural civil defense specialist Tom Williams points out.

In early America, every family had a survival plan. When a fire, flood, or Indian attack threatened, each person had a job to do. Natural disasters — tornadoes, floods, blizzards, fires, hurricanes, ice storms—still happen. And now, the possibility of a nuclear emergency poses an additional threat to all Americans.

Modern Americans should be just as alert, just as prepared as their forefathers. If you plan for an emergency before it occurs, your chances of being alive and healthy afterward will be greatly increased.

Williams suggests picking the safest place in your home or on your farm. Add shielding to make it better. A shelter needn't be elegant, only safe. Be ready to take advantage of the best shelter available at all times. Store a two weeks' supply of food, water, and other everyday essentials in your home.

"Don't get caught mid-stream not knowing how to swim," cautions Williams. These measures are do-it-yourself insurance against the time your life may be at stake.

Kaffeeklatch

with Eleanor K. Voshell

When Grandma comes to live with you—be good to her! Remember, you, too, will be a senior citizen some day.

Privacy without isolation is a factor of first importance. The aging member's room should be one with the family household, yet his or her exclusive domain—not easy, but possible. The right to be alone should be respected; the opportunity to entertain self-selected friends created. Both give a reassuring sense of independence retained.

Weakened muscles, stiffened joints, a toil-tired heart, can make stair climbing a severe hardship, often dangerous, for a person in the higher age brackets. If your home is of more than one story, the living quarters of the aged member should, if possible, be on the ground floor—provided there are bath and toilet facilities on that floor.

The older person should decide what he wants in the room. Pieces of furniture and other possessions from his own home often gives a sense of continuing ownership. And since it is his (or her) home, let him keep it the way he wants it. Hobbies may make a room untidy, but they are great insurance for continued health and happiness. Let the decision about when and how to clean the room remain with the occupant. Your compliments after it is cleaned, of course, may help to get it done more often. But consider the place his—and his responsibility—not yours.

The need for bodily warmth becomes more and more acute as one gets older. In chilly or cold weather, there should be facilities for keeping the aging person's room well heated. Be wary of any type of portable space heater. If you use one, be sure that you and the older member of your family practice all safety precautions.

Since flexibility—of mind as well as of body—often lessens with age, it is frequently the younger members of the family who have to make most of the adjustments. When this is done in good spirit, the aged member, too, will usually respond with amazing resiliency, doing his best to contribute his full share to the welfare and happiness of the whole family.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Church School this Sunday at Trinity Methodist Church, Harrington will be in session at 10 a.m., under the direction of Manlove Bradley, superintendent.

Morning worship will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. William J. Garrett. The sermon topic as announced by Mr. Garrett is "The House of Mystery".

The sermon will be in keeping with the beginning of National Family Week, which begins Sunday and culminates with Mother's Day. The organist, Melvin Brobst, will play "Holy Spirit of God", by Dillion as the prelude and "March of the Victorious", by Johnson as the postlude music. The anthem by the Senior Choir is "Unto Thee O God" by Watson. The Junior Choir will sing a special selection. Altar flowers are to be presented by Mrs. Ernest Raughley and Mrs. Lewis Slaughter. Greeters are Mrs. Raughley and Mrs. Slaughter.

ORTHO talks sense:

You'll never grow rich if your seed's gone to seed.

That seed of yours could be eaten right out from under you. You don't get that good solvent feeling that comes from soybeans unless you get the crop off the ground in the first place. And that's why ORTHO® sells Soybean Seed Protectant. Regular and MO with Molybdenum—the ideal supplement for areas deficient in this minor element. Each has been known to up an acre's value. Simply because there's no better protectant around for coping with seedling blight, dampoff and decay. Measure ORTHO Soybean Seed Protectant right out of the can and mix in the planter box. That's all. There's even a special lubricant added so the seed runs through the box like lightning. Which, by the way, is how your crops get growing, too.

Ornamental Disease Notes

By W. J. Manning - J. W. Heuberger

When cold weather and snow arrive, most fungi causing plant diseases develop dormant structures for the duration of winter. There are, however, several exceptions to this rule. One of these exceptions is the fungi that cause snowmold of turfgrass. The damage these fungi cause is now apparent to many homeowners who are finding irregular dead spots in their lawns. It is quite possible that the grass in these areas was killed by snowmold fungi.

The fungi (Fusarium Nivale and Typhula itoana) that can cause snowmold are active under the snow throughout winter. They are particularly active if snow has fallen before the ground has frozen. Free water is necessary for the dispersal of spores of these fungi.

Snowmold caused by Typhula itoana is also called snow scald or winter scald. It usually becomes apparent at the first spring thaw with small, yellowish, scalded areas as the first symptom. These areas enlarge, grow together and the leaves become matted together. The matted leaves are usually covered with grayish-white fungal growth. The grass underneath these matted areas may or may not be completely killed. Snow scald or winter scald shows up as visible brown, hardened fungus bodies (sclerotia) embedded in the leaves and crowns of diseased plants.

Snowmold caused by Fusarium nivale is also called Fusarium patch or pink snow mold. The symptoms and signs are similar to snow or winter scald except that the fungal growth of the matted leaves turns light pink on exposure to light, and there are no brown embedded hardened fungus bodies.

Control of snowmold is based primarily on cultural practices. Matted leaves should be raked to help plants recover. Removing thatch from lawns in the fall can also help to lessen the severity of snowmolds in the spring. Fall application of nitrogenous fertilizers usually leads to more snowmold the following spring.

FFA Presents Star Diamond Farmer Award

Fred Stites Jr., 17, Dover, was presented the Future Farmers of America Star Diamond Farmer Award at the Delaware FFA State Convention held May 3, in the Agricultural Hall at the University of Delaware.

The Star Diamond Farmer Award is presented annually to an FFA member who has shown outstanding leadership, scholastic ability, and growth in his farming activities.

Stites, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Stites, has taken an active part in FFA activities for the past four years. He is presently serving as president of the local Caesar Rodney chapter; previously he served as secretary for that chapter and secretary for the State Association. A member of the first place State FFA parliamentary procedure team the last two years, he won first place in the 1966 State FFA Public Speaking Contest. On a first place state judging team the last three years, Stites went to Waterloo, Iowa on the dairy judging team in 1964, to Kansas City on the poultry judging team in 1965, and to Kansas City again in 1966 on the livestock judging team. In addition, he served as one of Delaware's two official delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City in 1965 and 1966.

Stites' FFA projects were pea, tomato, and dairy production. He produced more than 25 tons of tomatoes per acre for each of the last two years. This year he has three acres of tomatoes contracted with a local cannery in Dover.

In his dairy program, he owns seven registered Holstein dairy animals, three cows in production, three heifers, and one bull. In addition to developing his own FFA program, he has continued to work with his parents in their cooperative dairy operation.

Stites is also a member of the Caesar Rodney High School orchestra, Student Government Association and National Honor Society. At present, he ranks eighth scholastically in his senior class.

Upon completion of high school, he plans to attend the College of Agricultural Sciences at the University of Delaware majoring in mechanized agriculture. "I want a sound college education so that I will be able to take over from my father when he retires."

Roger Price To Entertain At Poultry Banquet

Roger Price, well known television personality and author of "Doodles", will be featured entertainer at the Delmarva Poultry Industry's annual $100-a-plate dinner in Salisbury on May 16.

Mr. Price has been on every major television show as a guest, including Jack Parr, Ed Sullivan, Jackie Gleason, Victor Borge Special, Dobbie Gillis, Steve Allen, Kraft Theater, etc.

In addition to appearing on Broadway in "Tickets Please", he has appeared in such clubs as the Blue Angel, the Vanguard and London's famed Palladium.

His cartoonist-type artistry lends his quick wit an appeal that distinguishes him in the field of humorists.

Roger had a syndicated feature in 110 newspapers and has written for many of the top magazines throughout the country.

He is author of "In One Head and Out the Other", "Doodles", "The Rich Sardine", "What Not To Name the Baby", "I'm For Me First", "Oodles of Doodles", "J.C. The Upright Ape", "Madlibs", "Son of Madlibs", and "Non-Quotes". He has appeared on the Night Life Show and the Mike Douglas Show.

The dinner culminates the annual DPI Fund Drive and starts off another year of a program that encompasses Industry Improvement, Consumer Education, and Product Promotion. This organization, that subsists solely on voluntary contributions, has been a significant factor in the growth and success of the poultry industry on Delmarva. Combined poultry industry operations on the Peninsula net an annual payroll of $59 million and a gross product value of $215,000,000—a truly vital segment of the economic health of this area.

Felton Trounces Unbeaten Millsboro

Felton's Green Devil baseball squad ended Millsboro's win streak at four straight, by scoring an 11-2 victory behind the five-hit pitching of Chris Moore.

The winners' 5-1 record moves them into second place in the Henlopen Conference with Millsboro dropping to third.

Barrett Qual regained his batting eye with three hits. Gene Palmer retained his with two bingles.

Felton broke open a 1-1 ball game by scoring nine times in the fifth and sixth innings.

Felton Defeats Rehoboth, 6-1

Felton High's strong baseball team won its fourth victory in five starts by downing Rehoboth 6-1.

The visiting Seahawks took a short-lived 1-0 lead in the first inning only to see Felton tally twice in the same frame. Two runs in the third and two more in the sixth ended Felton's scoring.

Bob Dill held the losers to three hits, while Felton was connecting safely eight times. Gene Palmer had three hits in four trips to the plate for the Green Devils. Sipple and Dill had two bingles each. Lloyd Knocks as the top of the batting order did all the hitting. Whitman had two RBI's.

Local 8th Grader Runs 453.8 Mile

A Dover High School sophomore, Mike Patterson, is being touted as the best high school half-miler in Delaware scholastic history with some predicting that he will be the best miler, too, before he finishes school.

Patterson won the half mile at Tuesday night's 13-team Milford Invitational in 1:59.3, compared to the present Delaware State record of 1:59.1 and took the mile run in 4:39.1.

But Harrington may have, waiting in the wings, a young prospect who could break Patterson's marks after the Capitol City triad graduates.

Chris Wetherhold, an eighth-grade student here, was fourth in the mile run in 4:53.8 and traversed the half mile in 2:11.7. Since he is two or three years younger than Patterson, his track future, from this seat, appears to be at least as bright. Lion school records of 2:06.4 in the half (Dennis Rogers) and 4:38 in the mile (Harry Knotts) may be owned by Chris before he finishes his freshman season next year.

Coach Harold McDonald's Lions made a good showing with several boys posting career best efforts.

Ron Morris lowered his 880 record to 2:11.7, while 13-year-old Allen Parker dropped his 880 time to 2:22.6, in finishing second by inches in the junior high division.

Dan Hicks was clocked in 10.2 in the 100 yard dash compared to 10.1 for the winner.

Jim White clocked his fastest 1967 time of 54.6 in the quarter mile to win his heat, then anchored both the 880 and mile relay teams to heat triumphs in fast times.

Gary Simpson also won a 440 heat though still way below his peak form.

Doug Berry again cleared 5 feet 7 inches in the high jump, a fine leap for such a short lad.

Dale Motter was second in the junior high division with five feet, one inch.

Ken Tribbett's 23.8, 220 yard dash was his fastest yet and got him third place. Ken is only 15 and should be a valuable performer.

Dan Hicks, Ken Tribbett, Jerry Cagle and Jim White did a swift 1:37, 880 relay heat victory, then Martin Adams, Cagle, Hicks and White repeated that feat in the mile relay (3:46), some 15 seconds faster than any Lion clocking, in that event, this campaign. Cagle and Hicks are normally sprinters but handled their 440 stints in great fashion. Cagle buzzed a fast 55 second lap, which has to be his top track performance in four years of competing. Many sprinters eventually learn that they can perform better in the 440 than the 100 and/or 220.

Bears Beat Lions, 8-4

Jhon M. Clayton's Bears took an early 7-0 lead over Harrington High's Lions and went on to defeat the locals 8-4 in a game played here Monday afternoon. Harrington has one victory and four losses.

Clayton had a narrow 6-5 edge in baselists. Jerry Cagle and Bob Thompson had two safeties each for the Lions. Dale Hamilton also hit safely.

Steve Welch and Mike Adams were the Harrington moundsmen.

Harrington Bowling League

By Leah Wheeler

Last Thursday night ended the bowling for the season in the Harrington Bowling League. With Jarrell Fuel capping the title, Kent Gas and Wally's Garage were left to battle it out for second and third place.

Kent Gas came through with superb bowling, rolling a team series of 2622 to defeat Wally's Garage in the final night of bowling. On the way to winning all four games, Kent Gas bowlers racked up some very good games individually.

K. Layton led all bowlers with a fine 548 series with games of 183-165-200. L. Wheeler was next with a good 536 series, with games of 193-171-172. D. Jester also contributed a 200 game for Kent Gas.

For Wally's Garage, G. Wright rolled a very fine 219 game and L. Breeding rolled games of 180-166-167 to net a 513 series.

Tuesday night the Harrington Bowling League Banquet was held at the Farmington Fire Hall. After a scrumptious dinner, prepared and served by members of the Farmington Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary and others, awards were presented to various teams and individuals for their outstanding jobs during the season. There were somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 persons who attended the affair.

Trophies were presented to the three top teams, with each member of these three teams also receiving a trophy as follows:

First place team trophy—Jarrell Fuel—Clarence Jarrell, Gordon Jarrell, Martin Jarrell, Robert Jarrell, Aaron Hurd, Dallas Hayman and Phil Shulties.

Second place team trophy—Kent Gas—LeRoy Wheeler, David Jones, Donald Jester, Paul Fallon, Kenneth Layton, Richard Finkbner.

Third place team trophy—Wally's Garage—Larry Breeding, Jack Jones, Carmine (Junior) Gallo, Ernest Gallo, Wallace Ryan, Gene Wright and Norman Woodall.

Trophies were also presented to the sponsors of the top three teams.

A trophy for the first place team high series was awarded to McKnatt Funeral Home, with a great 2676 series. Second place team series trophy went to Jarrell Fuel with a fine 2655 team series. Third place team series trophy was capped by Kay's Beauty Salon with a fine 2577 series.

McKnatt Funeral Home was awarded the first place trophy for the team high single game with a 966 total. Kay's Beauty Salon with a 946 team high single game took the second place trophy. Third place trophy was awarded to Jarrell Fuel for a fine 931 total.

Winning the individual high series trophy was Kenneth Layton, who amassed a great 648 series with games of 177-256-215. Second high individual series trophy was awarded to Dallas Hayman for a fine 626 series. Taking the third place trophy for high individual series was George Hobbs with a 608 series.

Ralph Gray was awarded a trophy for first place for high single game with a great 266 game. Second place trophy went to Kenneth Layton with a fine 256 game. Third place trophy was awarded to George Hobbs with a 236 game.

Receiving the award for the most improved bowler was Kenneth Layton, who raised his average by 15 pins during the season.

Ralph Gray received the award for the highest average of the league with a high 179 average.

Door prizes were won by Herb Robbins, gift certificate; Jack Carpenter, bowling bag, and Richard Finkbner, bowling ball.

The award for outstanding sportsmanship was received by two bowlers after a vote by league members, resulted in a tie. A flip of a coin decided who received a plaque and which one received a trophy. Ernest Gallo was awarded the plaque and Jim Cabbage was awarded the trophy.

Desperately trying to keep up with the announcement of the various winners in each category, I was startled to hear my name announced as receiver of an engraved plaque for outstanding sportswriting. After the initial shock, which left me utterly speechless for a while (which is something for a woman), I somehow managed to croak my thanks. It is doubtful that everyone in the room heard me, so again I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to everyone for their thoughtfulness.

Team captains for this year were as follows—Wally's Garage, Wallace Ryan; Kent Gas, David Jones; Acme, Jack Carpenter; McKnatt Funeral Home, Donald McKnatt; Jarrell Fuel, Martin Jarrell; Hamilton Fund, Robert Creadick; Taylor & Messick; Bob Collins; Wilson Electric; Richard Wilson; Kay's Beauty

Salon, Jim Cabbage; Pennsylvania Railroad, Paul Baker.

A vote of thanks for services rendered this season go to: George Hobbs, president; Phil Shulties, vice president; Richard Finkbner, secretary, and Donald Wilson, treasurer.

Greenwood Wins First Game

Greenwood's Forester nine banged out 15 hits, to romp to an 11-2 triumph at the expense of Lord Baltimore's hapless Eagles, in a battle of winless teams.

Otto Retzlaff had three hits in four trips to the dish, while Heinz Retzlaff had three-for-five. Maurice Hughes broke out of a hitting slump with two safeties. Forester shortstop Hamstead had two bingles. H. Retzlaff, Steve Willey, Hamstead and Perdue had two RBI's each.

Scott Baker held the losers to two hits.

Greenwood FFA To Sponsor Horse Show

The Greenwood FFA Chapter is sponsoring a horse show on Sunday, May 7 at the Delaware State Fairground. The show will be all western, consisting of twenty classes for horses and ponies, and will begin at 9:30 a.m.

There will be a trophy and four ribbons awarded in each class and an entry fee per class will be $2. There will also be champion and reserve champion prizes awarded.

The Greenwood FFA Chapter would like to welcome spectators as well as exhibitors to come out and spend a day at the horse show.

would come from the real estate tax.

Richter's letter to Martin W. Johnson Jr., Sussex Levy Court president, asked the Sussex commissioners to take an active interest in a proposed House bill.

The legislation, fostered by Reps. Mary Etta Gooding, D-Woodcrest, and Melvin A. Slawik, D-New Castle, calls for an amendment to the Delaware Code to permit an increase in Maximum welfare benefits with the counties footing the expense, Richter said.

"The counties have, unlike the state, no control over the spending of welfare monies," Richter wrote. "Further, the state has a wider-based revenue source in its income tax than have the counties, whose main revenue source is the property tax. Even this is now encroached upon by the state real estate transfer tax."
