

HARRINGTON RACEWAY EXACTA PAYS PEAK $1,446; 3 HAD TICKET

What is believed to be a record exacta paid off for Delaware was established at Harrington Raceway Tuesday night.

Senator Royal and Sports writer finished 1-2 in the ninth race to produce an exacta of $1,446.40.

There were three winning tickets on it. A track spokesman said they were held by James F. Thomas, of Harrington; John Reiser, of Easton, Md.; and Donald Burke, of Baltimore.

Senator Royal, owned by Woodrow W. Hudson of Bishopville, Md., and driven by Myer, was a 71-1 shot. The 5-year-old gelding paid $143.90, $26.50, $4.20. His time was 2:09.2 was a lifetime record. His best previous time was 2:13.

Senator Royal beat Sports writer by 1 1/4 lengths. The latter finished six lengths ahead of the favored Bie Rhythm, who was third.

Sports writer, owned, trained and driven by Sam Gravenor, returned $4.30 and $2.40, and Bie Rhythm $2.90.

Blue Cross Rates To Go Up In Early '68

The long-expected increase in the Delaware Blue Cross and Blue Shield rates will have to be made early in 1968 it was predicted early this week.

H. V. Maybee, managing director of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Delaware, told the trustees at their meeting Sept. 25 that the non-profit community organization will be forced to react to a second round of hospital rate increases soon to be announced.

Delaware Blue Cross and Blue Shield managed to weather the last round of hospital rate boosts last fall without changing its own rates. But the new round of hospital rate hikes will mean cutting further into the reserves of Blue Cross and Blue Shield and this can not be managed for long, Maybee said.

The extent to the Blue Cross and Blue Shield rate changes will depend on two factors, neither of which is definitely known as yet. The primary one is the amount and nature of the rate changes soon to be announced by the hospitals. The secondary factor is the possible improvements in benefits Blue Cross and Blue Shield itself may add to its contracts in response to suggestions from members.

He also reported that work in the addition of two stories to the Blue Cross Building is proceeding a little ahead of schedule. He said steel is to be erected soon.

Appreciation Night Plans Underway At Raceway

Plans for another gala Appreciation Night are being laid at Harrington Raceway, the mid-Delaware harness racing oval that is moving toward the fifth week of a 60-night meet.

Date for the annual celebration has not yet been selected, but admission will be free and a new 1968 automobile will be given away to some lucky ticket-holder.

Tickets on the automobile will be given away nightly beginning tonight (Friday). They must be filled out with the appropriate data and dropped in receptacles strategically located on the track grounds. A drawing will be held on the Appreciation Night to determine the winner.

No person under 21 years of age is eligible to participate and no employee of the raceway, the Delaware Harness Racing Commission, the raceway stockholders, contractors, caterers, concessionaires and advertising agencies or their immediate families are eligible.

First step in the planned $850,000 clubhouse addition has been taken with the signing of construction contracts by raceway president J. Gordon Smith and J. Fulton Downing, president of the Harrington Lumber and Supply Company, which was awarded the work.

Senior Citizens Grateful

Last Thursday 43 senior citizens left Harrington in Annett's bus for a ferry ride across the Cape May-Lewes Ferry for a sightseeing trip to Cape May and Wildwood, N. J. Little did they realize how rough the crossing would be and the difficulty of moving about especially for those with canes.

Had it not been for the dedicated employees on the Cape Henlopen their trip certainly would not have been as pleasant. The Senior Citizens want to express their gratitude to Melvin Williams, porter; George Hallett, steward; Betty the stewardess and Mack, the deck hand, for their courteous service.

A wheelchair patient, who had never crossed the ferry, wanted to go up on deck to enjoy the crossing. Melvin and his co-worker found a chair and rigged up a seat carrying her up on deck and was prompt in getting her back to the bus before the boat docked. These conscientious employees prepared food, saw that their guests reached the dining area safely, assisted them to and from restroom to avoid falls. When a tip was offered their comment was "No, thank you. We wanted to do it. We'll be old some day."

When you read of demonstrations and riots in other areas just remember with pride the dedicated employees on the Cape Henlopen doing everything in their power to make the weary traveler's crossing as pleasant as possible.

Kent Turn To Local Aid Urged

Kent County Community Action Committee programs should depend more on local resources and less on federal funds, committee board members were told Tuesday night.

Members of the county group, meeting with a four-member evaluation team from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, criticized methods of allocating OEO funds.

Some said they feel Washington is insensitive to local poverty problems and they questioned the purposes of constant group evaluations.

In May, an OEO report cited deficiencies of the local group and said they must be corrected by this month. Dr. Ruth Laws, Kent County chairman, said most of the summer was spent correcting these deficiencies.

In response to Tuesday night's criticism on fund allocation, James Draper, head of the evaluation team, explained that OEO funds are scarce and that the local group should involve the community, in support of its programs.

Robert O'Connor, a team member, said the original intent of OEO was not to hand out money but to coordinate local resources.

Some of the members said they were discouraged because many of their programs were re-funded.

"I have been so discouraged by the fact that all the programs we present are turned down and that our organization is questioned, that the enthusiasm with which I entered this program three years ago has been dissipated," said Mrs. William K. Paton.

She cited a child development center which the group planned and the OEO rejected. She also mentioned a homemakers program which had been effective in Kent County and was turned down by the OEO because it was "low priority."

"You're saying, 'We want to know what you need, what's necessary in your area.' But you're also saying, 'We've already decided what's high priority and what's low priority,'" said Mrs. Margaret Weller of Catholic Social Services.

CLUBHOUSE CONTRACT SIGNED — Harrington Raceway Wednesday took the first big step toward realization of its planned $850,000 clubhouse with the signing of construction contracts. Inking their signatures to the pacts are J. Gordon Smith (left), raceway president, and Fulton J. Downing, president of Harrington Lumber and Supply Co., contractor for the building and renovation project. Witnessing the signing are (standing l-r) George C. Simpson, raceway assistant general manager; J. Edward Taylor, raceway director; R. Edmund Harrington, raceway vice president; Arnold B. Gilstad, raceway secretary; Clark Cosden, contracting firm estimator; Frank Silicato, Harrington Lumber & Supply Co., general superintendent; and A. B. Parsons raceway director. KENT LEVY COURT CHILLS HOPES OF AMBULANCE AID TO DOVER

Kent County Levy Court Tuesday turned a cold shoulder to Dover City Manager Francis P. Neylan's plea that the county help the city operate a Dover area ambulance service.

The present ambulance service is to be discontinued Oct. 31 by Dover funeral director William C. Torbert.

The court politely listened to Neylan's claim that the county should help the Dover area form a service because more than 50 per cent of the county's population and property valuation is centered within that area.

But Commissioner Isaac Thomas told Neylan, "If we get into the policy of operating ambulances, fire companies who operate ambulances would expect us to operate theirs."

Nor could the county help the city continue service by paying for full-time help for Torbert's commercial service, county attorney Roy Shields said.

"As I read the state statutes," Shields said, ambulance services

Brochure Distributed By Del. Dev. Dept.

A brochure on recreation in Delaware is currently being distributed by the State Development Department, Samuel L. Shipley, Department Director, announced this week.

The publication, "Adventure Outdoors", highlights the State's camping, hunting, fishing, and boating facilities and includes information on hunting and fishing licenses and small boat registration.

Points of particular interest in each of Delaware's nine state parks are described briefly. Charts outlining the facilities and activities available at Delaware's state parks, forests, and recreational areas are also included.

Public hunting and launching ramps, plus crabbing, trout fishing and camping areas are pinpointed on a large state map.

The brochure, prepared by the Travel Division of the Development Department, is designed to provide information on Delaware's outdoor attractions to residents of the state as well as to out-of-state travelers.

"Adventure Outdoors" is available at the office of the Delaware State Development Department, 45 The Green, Dover, Delaware 19901.

Schiff Announces Office Opening

Dr. J. W. Schiff announces the opening of his office. Dr. Schiff received his B/S degree in 1962 from the University of Maryland. He received his doctor's degree from the University of Maryland School of Dental School in 1966. Following graduation he served internship in oral surgery at Sinai Hospital, Baltimore. Dr. Schiff's practice will be in the Cambridge Professional Building, Cambridge, Md. Dr. Schiff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schiff of Harrington.

Delaware's Special Census Now Underway

Delaware's special census, which will be the basis for reapportioning the General Assembly, is now well underway.

Over 700 U.S. Census Bureau workers are now out on the streets and roads of Delaware counting heads according to Brig. Gen. D. Preston Lee, State Census Coordinator.

The counting started last Wednesday (Sept. 20), and that is the date as of which information is recorded, Lee said. People who have died since then are counted; babies born later than the 20th are not counted.

If you have not already been counted, there are two things you can do to help speed the counting, Lee said.

First, write down on a piece of paper the information the census taker will ask, so you won't have to depend entirely on memory.

Here are the questions: —What is the name, including middle initial, of each person who lives in your house?

—What is the relationship of each to the head of the household, spouse, child, other relative, non-related?

—What is the birth date-day, month and year-of each?

—What is the sex of each? When the census taker comes, you can then quickly read off the requested information.

If you don't expect to be home during the daytime, when most census calls will be made, you can then take the second step to help your census taker:

Put the information you have gathered in a sealed envelope, mark it for "Census Taker", and leave it with a neighbor who will be home during the day to give it to the enumerator.

This will save the enumerator from the need to call back at your home in the evening, and help insure that the complete census data is available by the Oct. 15 target date.

Case Reunion Held Sunday

The 11th reunion of the John and Lydia Case family was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Felton Methodist Church, Sunday, Sept. 24. There were 70 members present, from Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and Delaware.

Gifts were given to the three remaining members of the original family, Miss Valet Case, Mrs. Della Revell and Mrs. Virginia C. Morrow.

Gifts were also given to Harold Hatfield, who came the greatest distance; to Mrs. Rau with the most children present; to Barbara Livingston for her anniversary and having the youngest child, and to Mrs. Ruth Jester Jensen whose birthday was on this day.

A gift was also given to Mrs. Ethel Case, one of the older members of the family.

A business meeting was held and new officers were named, President, Donald Case; vice-president, J. Burton Case, and secretary-treasurer, Jean Dougherty.

A social hour followed the business meeting.

Street Resurfacing Held Up Because of Gas Main Installations

Resurfacing of streets will be delayed until the spring of 1968, the City Council decided Monday night.

The motion was made after it was learned some streets were being torn up by installation of gas mains, and others would be torn up by sewer improvements to begin next spring if all goes well.

Meanwhile, Mayor Fulton J. Downing told the Council municipal aid funds not spent this year could be used next year.

Patching of streets is continuing by a contractor doing the same work for Chesapeake Utilities which is installing gas mains.

In other business Monday evening, the council acted as follows: Agreed to paint two signs at West Harrington Elementary School and two at Harrington

High School at a cost of $23.50 each. These signs will read "School" and will be painted on the highways. Originally, this work was done by the state highway department, on the state-maintained roads, but this has been discontinued.

Learned the city has to clean Liberty Street, a state-maintained road, on an agreement with the state highway department.

Postponed action on the sole bid received for construction of a dry pit at the Liberty Street sewage pumping station until the city's consulting engineer, Dudley Willis, is present. The bid was $10,944 and the bidder, W. B. Mitten & Sons, Dover.

Agreed to blacktop end of driveway of Harry Greenberg, U.S. 13 South, with hot mix, and refund $65 to Greenberg. He said when the city installed a 5-inch water main, the driveway was torn up and replaced with "dirt and gravel" which would rattle onto his windows from traffic.

He said he didn't ask for the money, paid to Scotton Construction Company; he just wanted the end of the driveway restored to its original condition.

Tabled until next meeting request of Patrolman Robert Darling for an increase in salary from $85 to $95 per week, time and a half for overtime, and paid holidays. Police work 48 hours and are not paid for holidays.

At the next meeting Chief of Police Franklin Rogers report on application for replacement for Patrolman George Collins who has resigned to work for General Foods, Dover.

Turning to the perennial problem of trash collection, Mayor Downing appointed a committee of Councilmen Bennie Hughes, Burton Satterfield, and Acting City Manager Kathryn Derrickson to get data on the feasibility of buying a packer-type trash truck.

Hughes said P. J. Wilcoxson, of Wilmington, had offered a used truck for $7000. It had been overhauled, had 40,000 miles on it, and still needed a little work. Hughes explained Wilcoxson felt the truck and two men could collect the community's trash in a day in one load. The councilman wondered if use of the truck and dumping of the trash as a commercial landfill, at $5 per load, might get the city off the hook, on the constant problem of maintaining a dump, and would provide a more efficient means of collecting trash. A new packer-type trash truck, the council, was told, would cost more than $10,000.

The incoming President is highly qualified for the office to which she was elected. She belongs to the American and Maryland Dietetic Associations and has been treasurer and program chairman prior to serving as president-elect of the Maryland Dietetic Association. She has been an ardent supporter and an active and interested member of the Food Administration Section. Her memberships included the Maryland State Teachers Association and the American and Maryland Food Service Associations. Carnival Saturday At Bacon Health Center

The annual carnival at the Governor Bacon Health Center will be held Sept. 30, according to Dr. Daniel Lieberman, commissioner of mental health. The event, which has been sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary throughout the State of Delaware for the past eighteen years, has been arranged by Mrs. Agnes Stanton, coordinator of volunteer services.

The carnival, starting at 1 p.m. and lasting until 3:30 p.m., will feature a band, musicians, pony and horse rides, jeep rides, fire truck rides and numerous booths.

The highlight of this year's Carnival will be the dedication of the newly-built stables at the Center.

Dr. Lino M. Lapenna, acting superintendent, has observed that children relate well to animals, and he believes they not only enjoy riding horses, but learn to take responsibility for care of the animals as well.

Therefore, the hospital has leased five horses and built stables to house them.

Mrs. Leon Scott obtained the necessary materials for building the stables and Joseph Fitzharris, president of the Governor Bacon Health Center Auxiliary, was in charge of construction. The Knights of Columbus and the American Legion also participated in the effort.

Residents and staff of the center and their families will take an active part in the program. The public is cordially invited.

Luff Named Development Dept. Manager

Melvin C. Luff, Jr. has been named manager of the Delaware State Development Department's Travel Division, Samuel L. Shipley, Department Director, announced this week. Mr. Luff has been acting manager of the Division.

He is a member of the National Association of Travel Organizations, the Ocean Highway Association, Delmarva Hospitality, Inc., the Delaware Travel Council, and will represent the Department on the Tourism Committee of the Delmarva Advisory Council and the Travel, Business and Industrial Development Committee of the Sussex County Overall Economic Development Program.

Mr. Luff lives near Camden with his wife, Carole, and their daughter, Barbara.

Diamond State Telephone Co. Buys Property

The Diamond State Telephone Company completed settlement for the purchase of a garage property which is adjacent to the south side of its existing Harrington central office site, a telephone company spokesman stated.

The property has a frontage on Hanley Street of 87 feet and extends to the rear 187 feet on the north line, 161 feet on the south line and 91 feet across the rear.

Improvements consist of a 50 feet by 60 feet block garage building.

Until the property is required for central office expansion, it will be used to centralize the buried cable placing operations in the downstate district at this location.

The property was formerly occupied by United Parcel and was owned by R. H. Quillen.

Asbury Church Auction Oct. 14

The Asbury Methodist Church of Harrington, will hold an auction sponsored by the Methodist Men on the church parking lot Saturday, Oct. 14, beginning at 10 a.m. In case of rain it will be held the following Saturday.

It will consist of household furnishings, garden and farm tools, garage and shop tools, store supplies, men's, women's and children's wearing apparel.

At the end of the sale there will be a turtle race and a greased pig contest.

Lunch will be served noon and evening.

FFA Meat Judging Contest

The Harrington FFA participated in the State FFA meat judging contest that was held at Kling's Meat Market, at Wyoming, Sept. 13.

There were seven teams in the contest and Harrington F.F.A. placed second. The individual placings were: Nyle Callaway, third; Marshall Anthony Jr., fifth, and Larry Larimore, eighth.

There were 21 boys in the contest. The first place team won a ten day trip to Kansas City to participate in the National FFA Contest.

FFA Boys Attend Eastern State Exposition

Gerald Legates, Terry Donovan, and Glenn Layton, left Friday morning, Sept. 15, with their advisor, Mr. Brasure, to participate in the North Atlantic Region dairy judging contest.

They were in competition with boys from 12 states and placed seventh.

Friday evening the boys attended the North Atlantic Region public speaking contest and banquet at West Springfield High School. There were four contestants in the contest and Bobby D. Frame, representing Maryland, Delaware, and West Virginia, won first place. Bobby is from West Virginia and his speech was on water pollution. Saturday evening the boys attended the awards banquet where they met the National President and National Vice-President of the FFA. After the banquet the boys participated in the North Atlantic Region Star Farmer pageant. The boys returned from their trip on Sunday evening.

The Conference Day Apart

The Conference Day Apart of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Peninsula Annual Conference will be held on October 5, 1967 at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Odessa. "Bless Us Lord" will be the theme of the day's program, which begins at 10 a.m. and concludes at 2:45 p.m.

Devotional message will be presented by the Rev. William Archer, Jr. and Mrs. Oron F. Smith. The soloist for the day will be Mrs. T. Aubrey Jeter, Jr. This day of spiritual renewal and enrichment has been planned by the committee on Spiritual Life Cultivation. The District Secretaries of Spiritual Life will participate in the program. Luncheon will be served.

3 New Films Now Available On Public Health

The Division of Health Education of the State Board of Health announces the acquisition of three new films on subjects of wide interest to the people of Delaware at this time. All three are 16mm films with sound.

"Drug Abuse - Bennies and Goodballs" (black and white - 20 minutes). This film about Measles Immunity on the proper use - and misuse - of two major classes of prescription drugs - the amphetamines and barbiturates. Based on interviews with four actual victims of pep-pill and sleeping-pill abuse, the film dramatically details the dangerous psychological and physiological effects of "pill popping," and explains how the new drug abuse control amendments will help control this explosive sociological trend.

The film is recommended for high school, college age and adults. "Spot Prevention" (color - 14 minutes).

Animated, with live introduction and fast-moving humorous treatment of a serious subject. Shows chase and capture of measles "germ" and his "conversion to protective vaccine." A fictional tale with a plot climaxed by the triumph of the "good guys" over the "bad guys".

This film about Measles Immunization was designed for kindergarten and primary grades but parents will find it worthwhile, also.

"The Third Pollution" (color - 23 minutes).

This is a film about solid waste management. Burning refuse contributes to air pollution and dumping it contaminates ground water supplies. In addition, the collection and disposal of solid wastes is expensive and technically challenging. Municipalities are abandoning earlier haphazard methods and are switching to more sophisticated public works procedures. It describes the various alternatives which are available.

This film is recommended for high school, college and adults.

The Division of Health Education of the State Board of Health maintains a film library containing up-to-date audio-visual materials on health subjects for use by any group or individual within the State of Delaware. Anyone interested in promoting of planning programs devoted to better health may contact: Division of Health Education, State Board of Health, State Health Building, Dover, Del., Phone 734-5711, ext. 414.

Public Hunting Program, Deer 1967

The Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge will be open to shotgun deer hunting.

Refuge manager Nelson announced that approximately 1,045 acres of the Dutch Neck Unit will be opened to licensed deer hunters from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset, November 10, 13, and 15, and from 10 p.m. until one-half hour after sunset Nov. 1 and 14, 1967.

Required federal permits will be reserved for successful mail applicants as chosen by public drawing. Application must be made on special refuge forms and mailed to arrive at the refuge by Oct. 8. Successful applicants will be notified by mail. Application forms may be obtained from State hunting and fishing license sales offices.

The number of hunters admitted to the open area at one time will be restricted to 50. Hunting will be terminated when 40 deer are harvested including those killed during the archery season and reservations for later periods will be invalid.

Reservations forfeited for non-appearance of applicants or not previously reserved will be made available by drawing at the refuge office one hour before sunrise.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the refuge manager, Bombay Hook National Wildlife Refuge, R.D. 1, Box 147, Smyrna, Del. 19977; telephone 653-9345 (8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday).

Lilies Offer Variety To Home Gardener

Lilies offer infinite variety to the home gardener. They bloom in many colors and may have flowers an inch across on stems a foot high or giant 17-inch blossoms on eight foot stalks. The variety extends even to fragrance; there are overpoweringly fragrant lilies and others that are almost odorless.

Even the ease with which lilies grow varies, according to Dr. Richard W. Lighty, assistant professor of horticulture at the University of Delaware. Some are no more challenging than daffodils or daylilies; however, the spectacular Oriental hybrids are extremely difficult.

Plant lilies now through November. Although spring planting is often suggested, it is not the best time. All lilies prefer a well-drained, fertile soil. They thrive when water is plentiful in the spring but like it dry late in the summer. Top-dress with a high-phosphate fertilizer while they are growing. Lightly recommends.

Asiatic hybrid lilies such as Enchantment, Prosperity, Marlin, Connecticut Yankee and Nutmegger are sun-lovers that are easy to grow. They're ideal lilies for the more inexperienced gardener. Blooms may be spotted or speckled, in red, bronze, yellow, orange, white or pink.

The shade-loving Martagon hybrids will bloom in one spot for as long as 60 years if left undisturbed. Varieties such as Glacier, Paisley, Gay Lights, Sutton Court and Mrs. R. O. Backhouse come in pastel shades of yellow, pink or purple with large whorls of leaves suggesting a pagoda.

The American hybrids are similar to Martagon lilies in that their leaves grow in whorls, but they come in much brighter colors. Unfortunately, most are difficult to grow successfully on the East Coast.

Among the easiest to grow and yet most spectacular lilies are the Trumpet hybrids. Growing in full sun, some reach eight feet in height and carry great heads of blooms resembling Easter lilies in shades of white, pink, yellow, apricot and green. Bright Star, Goldspire, Damson, Golden Splendor, Limerick, Black Dragon and Life are examples of these hybrids which are definitely recommended for beginners.

Whatever variety you select, inspect the bulbs thoroughly before you buy. Lightly warns. Never buy dried-out or moldy bulbs; using plump, firm bulbs with no sign of rot is one of the secrets of success in growing lilies. Many growers now package lilies in a plastic bag so they will stay moist.

Winners Named In FFA Meat Judging Contest

Bill Long, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Long, Selbyville, earned first place in the Delaware State Future Farmers of America Meats Judging contest held September 13, at Klings Meat Market, Willow Grove.

man, John Harrington and Harrison were members of the winning team. Second place team honors went to the Harrington High School team, with Marshall Anthony, Nyle Calloway, and Larry Larrimore participating. The seven teams from vocational agriculture classes throughout Delaware competed in judging beef, pork and veal. The annual competition is used as a teaching tool to help FFA members become better judges of livestock, according to Dr. Ralph Barwick, executive secretary of the Delaware FFA Association.

Delaware Food Market Report

Check on October and you will find it's okay for hay rides, weiner roasts, after-the-game parties, and all kinds of enjoyable activities. And the food that makes these occasions special will be in fairly good supply. October also will be marked by such special events as the rice harvest festival, fall cheese festival, fish 'n' seafood parade, National Apple Week, and the celebration of "Eggtober." For parents of school children, a special occasion to note is National School Lunch Week, October 8-14.

In outstanding abundance during the first month of fall will be apples. The season's crop is expected to total 125.5 million bushels. This is slightly less than last year, but here on the East Coast, particularly in the Northeast, the crop is above a year ago. Look for good buys on Golden Delicious, McIntosh and Stayman. As far as other fruits are concerned, the pear crop on the Pacific Coast is down and this is the area that supplies our markets in October; thus, expect pear prices to be relatively high. Massachusetts, our major source of fresh cranberries, anticipates a smaller crop this year than last. Other fruits that are in smaller supply than last year are sweet cherries, tart cherries, grapes, and apricots. Those in larger supply are plums, prunes, and oranges.

Orange juice continues to hold a favored spot in the food scene. There is plenty of frozen concentrate, chilled and canned single strength orange juice on the market to satisfy the demand, with prices fair to low. A bumper fall potato crop is in sight. In addition, you will find lots of late summer potatoes still available, because the harvest is several weeks late. Other vegetables which are expected to have larger crops than last year are summer celery, sweet corn, onions, sweet potatoes, and rice.

The meat to choose during October is broiler-fryers, since supplies promise to be abundant and prices low enough so that you may buy often yet stay within the food budget.

Egg prices continue low but during the last three months of 1967, prices are expected to average higher than during the previous months. Don't get alarmed, for prices will stay well below 1966 levels. Butter has dropped a penny or so as supplies continue to build. On August 1 butter in storage was more than double stocks of a year ago. Stocks of American cheese are also above a year earlier and slightly above average.

Funeral services were held from Rogers Funeral Home yesterday afternoon. Burial was at Henlopen Memorial Park.

The family requested that contributions be made to Milford Memorial Hospital, in lieu of flowers.

Robert T. Jaquette, 61, died Sunday afternoon in Milford Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was assistant secretary and director of the Shawnee Country Club and processing clerk for Steiner & Company Inc., at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth, of Milford; three daughters, Mrs. Jean Luce, Summit, N. Y.; Mrs. Frances Snek, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Judy Berwick, Milford; one son, Robert A. of Elsmere.

Also, three brothers, J. Paul, of Philadelphia; James D. of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Amos C. of Newark; one sister, Mrs. Martha Dwyer, Boston, Mass., and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from Rogers Funeral Home yesterday afternoon. Burial was at Henlopen Memorial Park.

The family requested that contributions be made to Milford Memorial Hospital, in lieu of flowers.

Highlights Of Board of Education Meeting

The Board of Education revised transportation rulings. Under the new provisions all students, without regard to residence in or out of corporate limits, are eligible for bus transportation. Secondary pupils must reside two miles or more from the school and elementary pupils one mile or more.

Funds will be requested from the General Assembly to implement the program. Estimates place the cost between $60,000 and $75,000.

Representations were made by Representative Everette Hale of Newark and Representative Jacob A. Zimmerman of Dover, as well as parents from the Alfred I. duPont District and from Newark, requesting consideration for situations which were felt to be hazardous to pupil pedestrians. The Board authorized the continuation of a study on traffic and safety problems by the Unique Hazards Committee, previously appointed.

The Board approved major and minor capital improvement programs for fiscal 1969, totaling $42,239,225. Major capital improvement program includes:

Sussex, $14,842,225; Kent, $2,540,000; New Castle, $24,875,000. Minor capital improvement: Sussex, $348,666; Kent, $161,036; New Castle, $629,265 for a total of $1,338,967.

"Watch It, Johnny!" the bus safety film prepared in the Delaware ETV studios, was viewed by the Board. It is being released currently in the elementary schools as part of a state-wide program in pupil safety.

A unit allotment increase was approved. For Division II expenditure for fiscal 1969, the recommended state allotment is $1,192 an figure of $192 over the 1968 figure. Districts should request $900 for all other costs and $292 for capital outlay per unit.

The State Board will require the installation of wiring for ETV in all schools on or before September 1, 1968. Cost for installation will be borne by the districts. Preparing of specifications, supervision and inspection will be handled by ETV technical staff.

Transportation was approved for 150 Caesar Rodney Special School District pupils living inside the two mile limit, because of unique pedestrian hazards, as recommended by the committee set up by the Board to study such cases.

Request will be made for salary increases for bus drivers and also for additional buses to relieve overcrowded bus conditions.

A study on teacher recruitment was authorized at the Superintendent's request, in order to find ways to attract additional well qualified persons to teach in Delaware schools.

The Board will meet October 2 to review the budget for fiscal 1969.

It was proposed that auditing and inspection funds be removed from the school construction bond monies and made a line item in the budget. The proposal was tabled for further study.

The Board approved changes in the Educational Advancement Act, recommending that:

(1) a referendum be required to raise local matching funds for educational advancement.

(2) present current expense funds may be used to match State share of advancement funds.

(3) dates be revised for implementation of the Act.

The Board will meet with the Governor and key legislators to request immediate action on the measure.

District referendum dates set: Alfred I. duPont, Oct. 14; Caesar Rodney, Oct. 14; Stanton, Oct. 18.

Certificates of Necessity approved: Alfred I. duPont, $168,000, addition to administration office and $1,457,000, new elementary schools.

Policies for the program of hearing impaired children were adopted as follows:

Teacher unit, eight pupils, principal, ten units; $500 per unit.

The establishment of resident facilities for the children will be delayed until funds are available. New Castle and Kent County children will be bused to the facility in Newark; Sussex County pupils will continue to be sent to Pennsylvania until resident facilities are available.

The State Plan for Title VI, ESEA, dealing with programs for certain handicapped children was presented. Copies will be available to the districts.

Mrs. Audrey Doberstein, ESEA Title I supervisor, is going on four-fifths time assignment at her own request. She will work Monday through Thursday of each week.

Resignations were accepted from Randall C. Aungst, assistant supervisor of Teacher Education, and Mrs. Joan Watrous of adult education services.

The Board received a report from the Public Information Office of the Department of Public Instruction about a conference to be held October 25 for chief school officers and their public relations officers at the Dinner Bell Inn in Dover. Speakers will include the national director of Project Public Information, Dr. Richard Gray, and public information director for ESEA, Lucien Haas.

Approval was granted by the Board of $310 for gas, oil, maintenance and other operating costs for each driver education car. Districts should include this amount in their budget requests.

What're They Doing Down on The Farm

Too many children never see a cow and wouldn't know a sheep from a pig or a chicken from a turkey. Their food and clothes came from a farm but they might as well have originated in outer space as far as many city and suburban children know.

"What's going on down on the farm?" is a question answered daily during the annual farm tour for school children and kindergarten youngsters at the University of Delaware's Newark research farm. Many youngsters see for the very first time where the milk they drink comes from and where their wool coat began; and more important, they learn the vital job farmers have.

Children have a chance to watch cows being milked and farm animals being fed. They see chicken, cattle, horses, pigs, sheep and other farm animals as well as farm machinery and vegetable and field crops.

Tours by elementary school classes are scheduled during October, with kindergartens invited to visit the farm September 25 to Sept. 29. The tours, each lasting about an hour, are conducted Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. through 3 p.m.

More than 45,000 children have visited the farm since tours began in 1957, according to Edward H. Schabinger, New Castle County agricultural agent. In 1966 alone, approximately 7,000 youngsters went on the tour.

Teachers wishing to have their classes tour the University research farm may schedule visits by telephoning Schabinger at the University of Delaware, 736-2566. Schabinger advises calling as soon as possible since the number of tours is limited.

Sewing Contest Open to Delawareans

The annual Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contest is open to all Delaware women and girls over 10 years of age, according to Mrs. Bette D. Butler, Odessa, state contest director.

If you're planning to enter, be sure you choose material that will be acceptable in the contest. Mohair, cashmere, alpaca, llama, camel's hair, guanaco and vicuna are accepted as wool. The fabric may contain up to five per cent of another fiber or fur and still be eligible; interfacing, facings, linings and underlinings need not be wool. Also all-wool fabrics bonded to tricot or foam can be entered. The correct name of the fabric manufacturer may be necessary if there is any doubt about the cloth being American made.

District judging will take place for New Castle County November 18; judging for Kent and Sussex Counties will be held November 11. The deadline for entries is two weeks before district competition.

State judging will be held Saturday, Nov. 25, at the Agricultural Hall auditorium, University of Delaware. Four divisions will compete at the state level. Adults over 21 years of age, seniors from 17 to 21 and juniors from 14 to 17 may enter dresses, suits or coats; girls from 10 to 13 may enter skirts or jumpers.

State winners in the junior and senior divisions will compete in the New England regional contest. The winner of the area contest will enter national competition being held in Dallas, Tex., Jan. 29, 1968.

Contest information and entry blanks are available from Mrs. Bette D. Butler, Box 107, Odessa, Del. 19730.

Sponsored nationally by the American Wool Council and the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers Association, the contest is Delaware Sheep and Wool Association.

Around Home With Jean Cranston

If you are a young married couple who want to make a good start in managing your finances there are three basic steps: 1, a plan; 2, making your plan work; 3, evaluating your plan. This is often referred to as budgeting.

Budgeting doesn't mean that you will be pinching pennies and nearly recording how you spent every one, but it does mean that you will:

1. Make money management a joint venture from the start.
2. Face money matters frankly and get problems down on paper.
3. Consider each other's wishes.
4. Agree on a realistic spending plan.
5. Stick to budgeting until your plan works.
6. Adjust the plan as your circumstances change.

Newlyweds are often more romantic that factual about what it actually costs to run a household. Your views on what you can afford may be a little unrealistic at first. Perhaps you have been living on an income of your own and did not have to share, or you have been in school and dependent on your parents.

Now you find yourselves in an entirely new situation—with new responsibilities.

You'd like to establish the right pattern of money management in your marriage, but you hardly know where to begin. If you would like more information, call your County Extension Office - phone 736-1448 and ask for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Home and Garden Bulletin number 98 - "A Guide to Budgeting for the Young Couple."

$11 Million More Income Predicted For Del. Farmers

The bumper crop in Delaware will give farmers $11 million more income this year than last. Although prices at harvest are 20 to 25 per cent lower this year, a big yield is still a money maker, according to W. T. McAllister, extension farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Increased corn acreage plus a predicted yield of 84 bushels per acre should result in a corn crop worth $7 million more than last year's crop; this means a million dollars more income than expected. A good soybean crop is expected to more than double last year's poor crop; it will increase this year's gross farm income in Delaware by $4 million from last year.

In an agricultural community, a good year is the best shot in the arm, McAllister believes. Eleven million more dollars brought into Delaware's agricultural communities will be felt along Main Street as well as in farmers' homes. Bills will be taken care of.

High Lysine Corn Helps Feed Hungry

High lysine corn may someday improve the diets of millions of people throughout the world. It will change the American corn industry as much as hybrid seed corn did 30 years ago, according to Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

Corn is one of man's principal grains and scientists are constantly working to improve it. In 1963, they discovered it was possible to boost the lysine content of corn by almost 50 per cent through planting breeding. Lysine is an important amino acid contained in protein. Several other amino acids are also increased in the new variety.

This scientific breakthrough will be a key to extensive agricultural development in the future, Mitchell believes. In order to grow and repair tissues, all living things must have a supply of protein. Since most animal proteins are too expensive, a large part of the world's population must depend on plant proteins. Corn containing a larger proportion of protein could bring a better diet to millions of the world's hungry.

The new varieties may also be used for animal feeding in some cases. For instance, a high lysine hybrid recently developed can supply all the food needs for heavy swine. This eliminates the necessity for expensive protein supplements and cuts costs for producers.

The discovery of high lysine corn has opened new areas of research to plant scientists, Mitchell points out. Nebraska University researchers are studying wheat varieties to try to find high lysine lines; Purdue University isolated grain sorghum strains with twice the lysine content of ordinary varieties. Also, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Beltsville, Md., is investigating rice varieties for strains with higher lysine content. All three may well be a vital factor in upgrading substandard diets.

Peach Blossom 4-H News

On Sept. 20, the Peach Blossom Club met at the Farmington Fire Hall with 21 members present. Seven new members attending were: Delmar Freeman, Elmer Freeman, Lisa Calvert, Gary Baker, Kevin Baker and Billy Knotts. Enrollment cards for the new year were given out. Election results were:

President, Ronnie Bramble; vice president, Lee Mesibov; secretary, Robin Cahill; treasurer, Steve Mesibov; song leaders, Terry Bowman and Linda Newnom; recreation leaders, Becky Messick and G. B. Langford; sergeant-at-arms, Rabin Hill; sunshine chairman, Rita Messick; news reporter, Juanne Jerread.

G. B. Langford told of some of the fun at 4-H camp. Others showed some of the crafts they made at camp.

Terry Bowman was named window display chairman and Lee Mesibov chairman of our entry for 4-H parade in Milford, Oct. 14.

Debbie Salmons explained the yearly achievement banquet to be held October 28 in Caesar Rodney School. This is a time of reward for 4-H'ers and clubs.

Four letters were read by the secretary thanking us for our work in cleaning up the old Salem Cemetery. These letters were from the trustees of Salem Methodist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Eilers, Mr. Wilmer Collier and Sergeant Ewing of the Delaware State Police.

Refreshments were served by Leslie Smith, Cris, Donna and Cindy Rust.

Harrington Man Dies After Fall

The death of Julius H. Cooper, Sr., 68, of Harrington, has been blamed on a skull fracture suffered in a fall.

Mr. Cooper was dead on arrival at Milford Memorial Hospital Monday night of last week.

State police said last week the victim, a public accountant and a director of Delaware State Fair, suffered the injury when he fell in the driveway at his home and struck his head.

Police said Mr. Cooper regained his feet, entered his home and went to bed unaware of the extent of his injury. Later when he became ill he was taken to the hospital.

The cause of death was learned in an autopsy performed by Dr. Judith Tobin, Seaford, assistant state medical examiner, and disclosed by the state police.

It is not how many brains one has that is important:
 it is how many are used intelligently that counts.

Granville (Speck) Truitt showed us some chinquapins today. He said they came from McColley's Pond and he had seen 15 bushes. Perhaps this member of the chestnut family is coming back. They were once plentiful but were believed to have been decimated by the chestnut blight of the thirties.

Harrington, without a doubt, is the first community to have installed a Christmas decoration. A new one has been erected at the corner of the Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency at Commerce and Fleming Streets.

Its purpose was merely to show the community what the Chamber of Commerce proposes to do to improve the Yuletide decorations. The present decorations, as one man describes it, look good at night but bedraggled in the daytime. The Chamber will stage a drive for funds and the public will be asked to give accordingly.

Poems from Paradise Pastures

By W. Cliff Miller

We have heard lots of stories on Texas boasting about their state and its happenings being superior to any other. Now, since Hurricane Beulah has paid them an extended visit they will be claiming Noah only thinks he had a flood. It might also be a little humiliating that it would be a woman who dampened their ardor, for Beulah has sure been raising:

HELL IN TEXAS

The devil, we're told in hell was chained,
 And a thousand years he there remained,
 He never complained, nor did he groan,
 But decided to start a hell of his own
 Where he could torment the souls of men
 Without being chained to a prison pen.

So he asked the Lord if he had on hand,
 Anything left when he made the land,
 The Lord said; "Yes, I had plenty on hand
 But I left it down on the Rio Grande".
 The fact is, old boy, the stuff is so poor,
 I don't think you could use it in hell anymore.

But the devil went down to look at the truck,
 And said if it came as a gift he was stuck;
 For after examining it careful and well
 He decided the place was too dry for hell.
 So in order to get it off His hands
 The Lord promised the devil to water the land.
 (So Beulah is taking care of that)

The story is told of a Texas seaman known as Butch, who never saw anything afloat that couldn't be topped back home. One night while his ship was nearing a volcano, they awakened Butch and asked if they had anything like that in Texas? "Naw", he drawled, but we have a fire company back in Houston that could put it out in a h_____ of a hurry.

A bank at Chester, Pa., has placed a box containing $20 in small change on a desk for the convenience of its customers, who make their own change. The risk they run of losing anything by this method is negligible. We know a fellow by the name of Tom Shell who operates a service station on the north-western corner of the court square in a southwestern town. There are several dollars in small change on top of the cash register, and when you buy a soft drink you wait on yourself and make you change because Tom is outside most of the time selling gas and oil. "We've been doing this for over two years," Tom explained, "and haven't lost a penny "there's not a politician within sixty miles of here."

 Jaycees

By Harry Jarman

In the very near future the Harrington Jaycees will be conducting a community survey. This will be a door-to-door survey; however, it will be almost impossible to reach everyone. Consequently, we as asking you to please answer the questions below with either "yes" or "no". Mail the completed questionnaire to the Harrington Jaycees c/o Post Office, Harrington, or give to any Harrington Jaycee as soon as possible.

Age of husband: _____
 Age of wife: _____
 Number of children in school: _____
 Number of children not in school: _____

1. Are the Town Council and Chamber of Commerce doing an adequate job?

(A) Do you understand the functions of the Town Council?

(B) Do you understand the functions of the Chamber of Commerce?

2. Are the people in the community well represented in these two organizations?

3. Do you feel that the town of Harrington is doing its part in promoting new industry and employment in this area?

4. Would you support the construction of a medical office building for the purpose of providing more adequate services of physicians, dentists, etc.?

5. Do you think the community backs its school activities?

6. Is the present number of policemen sufficient for the town of Harrington?

7. Are you satisfied with the present system of water supply, sewage disposal and drainage?

8. Do you support the theory that a weak community constitutes a weak scholastic attitude in the students?

9. Are your town taxes doing the job you think they should do?

10. Do you feel the Harrington area is well-represented in the State Government?

11. Do you know who your representatives are?

12. Are you satisfied with the Christmas street lighting that the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Harrington provide?

13. Would you be willing to contribute to a fund raising campaign to purchase new lighting?

The Jaycees will be selling Hallowe'en candy this coming month to help raise money for the Christmas parade. A dollar will buy a hundred pieces of candy. If you plan on giving treats Hallowe'en, give Jaycee candy and help us help the community.

Jaycees will be out in October also, for answers to the community survey we are sponsoring. Letters have been mailed to many organizations and individuals in town for participation in this year's Christmas parade.

Bill Wood, president of the charter, and myself attended last Sunday's picnic for Jim Antell, national Jaycee president. Many state dignitaries and Jaycees attended the affair, even though the weather left much to be desired and the untimely death of Col. Ellis of the Delaware State Police. Mr. Antell's speech was on his part in being at the Vietnam elections and how this experiences personally affected him.

If you are a young man between 21 and 35 years of age, and are bored with life—join the action group—the Jaycees.

Delaware Farm
 Labor News

STATE SUMMARY

Demand for labor exceeds supply at the present time. Several growers have no help with which to finish their harvest, others are operating with very short handed crews. Those workers still in the area are being encouraged to stay to help complete all harvests. Weather for the past three or four weeks have been ideal for harvesting.

WILMINGTON AREA (Lower New Castle County)

There are still quite a few potatoes to be harvested. Movement seems to have picked up but is still slow. Labor is still very scarce. Several growers are without crews but others are going along with skeleton crews. There are approximately 110 workers harvesting potatoes. Another 40 are picking tomatoes. This crop will probably be finished this week. The lima bean harvest continues with no apparent labor problem as most of this is mechanically harvested. Field corn harvest has started and grain farmers are filling silos. Ground is being prepared for fall cover crops.

DOVER AREA (Kent County)

Approximately 280 workers are harvesting potatoes with large acreage left to be dug. Movement is still slow. Some growers have been left with no crews and remaining crews are short-handed. There are about 200 workers picking tomatoes, peppers, apples, and snap beans. Mechanical harvesters are taking care of a very good lima bean crop. Grain and dairy farmers have started cutting corn and filling silos. Fall cover crops are being planted as fast as the ground is prepared.

GEORGETOWN AREA (Sussex County)

Local processing plants reporting shortage of workers, male and female. Processing peppers, snap beans, lima beans, white potatoes at this time. Off shore and migrant workers picking tomatoes, peppers, potatoes, and apples. Shortage of workers to harvest field crops still exist, as we are unable to locate any crews to move to this area.

WAGE SURVEY

Harvesting white potatoes: Kent and New Castle County: Field pickers, 10 cents per bag. Loaders, 2 cents per field bag. Grader, sorter, male, $1.25 per hour.

Grader, sorter, female, $1.00 per hour.

Harvesting machine workers, $1.25 per hour.

William M. Horner

William M. Horner, died at his home at Greenwood Saturday after a long illness. His age was not disclosed.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Aradner B. Horner, a son, the Rev. William H. Horner, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; a brother, John, and a half-brother, Emory Ellegood, both of Bridgeville.

Services were held yesterday afternoon in Trinity Methodist Church, Bridgeville. Interment was in the Federalsburg, Md. Cemetery.

Organist To Address Music
 Teachers

Prominent organist, Anita Greenlee, will address the Delaware State Music Teacher Association on Sunday, Oct. 8, at the University of Delaware.

The 3 p. m. meeting in the Rodney Room of the Student Center will also feature musical selections by students of the University.

Miss Greenlee attended Radcliffe College and received her B. S. and M. S. degrees from the Juillard School of Music, studying organ under Vernon de Tar. In 1959-60 he studied with James Dalton at Queens College Oxford University, England, and served as music mistress of the Oxfordshire State Schools. She spent 1961 to 1964 in the Netherlands studying improvisation with Cor Kee and Adrian Engles, composition with Ton de Lesuw, harpsichord with Gustave Leonhardt and interpretation of modern organ literature with Seigfried Red.

A finalist in the first organ improvisation competition in Philadelphia in 1964, Miss Greenlee has lectured on improvisation in the church service to American Guild of Organists Chapters throughout the East and Canada. In 1966 she was appointed instructor in organ improvisation at the Philadelphia Musical Academy and director of music at St. Stephen's Lutheran Church Wilmington. Her series of six articles was published this year in the "Journal of Church Mu-

NOTICE OF SALE
THE CITY OF HARRINGTON DELAWARE
SEWER SYSTEM BONDS
The City of Harrington, in Kent County, Delaware, (hereinafter referred to as "City"), will receive sealed proposals for the purchase of the bonds of said City hereinafter described, at the City Hall of the City, until 1:00 o'clock P.M. (Eastern Daylight Saving Time) on October 24, 1967, at which time such proposals will be publicly opened and considered.
The bonds comprise an issue of $380,000.00 Sewer System Bonds dated November 1, 1967, payable in annual installments of $20,000.00 in each year as follows: $15,000.00 in each of the years 1968 through 1971, inclusive, and $20,000.00 in year 1972. The bonds bear interest from their date, and such interest will be payable semi-annually on November 1 and May 1. The bonds will be of the par value of $5,000.00 and will be coupon bonds, negotiable as to principal only. Both principal and interest are payable at The Peoples Bank, in Harrington, Delaware.
Each proposal submitted must name the bidder, the interest rate named must not exceed five per centum (5%) per annum and must be a multiple of one-eighth or one-tenth of one per centum and must be the same for all of the bonds bid for. The purchase price specified in the proposal must not be less than $380,000.00, in selecting the proposal to be accepted the lowest rate of interest offered in the proposals which offers the highest price will be accepted.
The purchase price accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. No interest will be paid on the bonds of the successful bidder. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved. Proposals should be addressed to the undersigned City Manager at the Harrington City Hall, Harrington, Delaware, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on the outside with the name of the bidder and the amount of the bid. Bidders must deposit a certified or cashier's check for $5,000.00 with the City of Harrington to secure the City from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds.
The bonds will be delivered to the purchaser on or about November 1, 1967 at The Peoples Bank, Harrington, Delaware, upon payment of the purchase price in accordance with the purchaser's bid. The City will furnish without cost to the purchaser, at the time the bonds are delivered, (1) the opinion of Messrs. Reed, Hart, Weast and McCarty, of New York City, that the bonds are valid and legally binding obligations of the City and that the City is authorized and required by law to levy on all real property taxable by the City such additional taxes as may be necessary to pay the bonds and (2) certificates in form satisfactory to the purchaser evidencing the proper execution and delivery of the bonds and receipt of payment therefor, and (3) a certificate, dated as of the date of delivery of the bonds, that the officers who signed the bonds, stating that no litigation is then pending or threatened by or against such officers, threatened to restrain or enjoin the issuance or delivery of the bonds or the levy or collection of taxes to pay the bonds or the validity of the statutes or the proceedings under which the bonds are issued, or that the boundaries of the City, nor the title of any of the officers of the City, nor the title of any of the officers of the City, nor the title of any of the officers of the City, nor the title of any of the officers of the City, is being contested.

ledge that our president brings to the Maryland Dietetic Association. The many talents of Eloise are displayed by her professional advancement and accomplishments. She had held the positions of dietician in the Cambridge Maryland Hospital and the Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury, Maryland. She was an assistant dietician at Church Home and Hospital. In the public school cafeterias, Department of Education, Baltimore City, Eloise was a dietician, a specialist, and an assistant supervisor. She presently holds the responsible position of Supervisor of Public School Cafeterias of Baltimore City. A believer in "Publish or Perish," "Chip," as she is fondly called by her husband, is the author of the article "Cycle Menu for School Lunch" which was published in the April 1963 issue of the School Lunch Journal. This is evident by the animation shown whenever she discusses her work.

In addition to the above activities, our President finds time to teach adult education, "Basic Food Service Course". She is also active in her alma mater as a member of the Centennial Committee of Western Maryland College.

Because Eloise is an organization and a planner and has ambition and vision, she is a "Winner." She can always find time for her friends, traveling, bowling (she has trophies for proof), rose gardening, committee work and gourmet foods. Eloise is a wonderful friend and colleague and working with her is a pleasurable experience.

When you hear a cheery "hi" from an attractive, smartly dressed and lovely lady, then you have met our president, Mrs. Eloise Payne. We know that her enthusiasm will lend a spark to the Maryland Dietetic Association and that her leadership will encourage us to cooperate to help make this a "good year". We are grateful to have Eloise as our President for the year of 1967-68.

Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE
And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE
There are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new engine components increase dependability and keep your new Chevrolet running stronger. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION
There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your peace and quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES
You get the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW
There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

CHEVROLET

There's more quality and value built into Chevrolets than ever before, making every new 1968 model an even better buy!

Hunters . . .
Look Again
Before Firing

This article is aimed directly at the hundreds of thousands of hunters who are taking to the fields and woods this fall in search of game—

Before you pull the trigger, know what you're firing at.

Sporting arms, from a single-shot .22 calibre rifle to a heavy big game weapon to a fast-shooting automatic scattergun, are designed to kill birds and animals. They also can kill or wound humans.

Each fall several hundred hunters return from fall outings via hearse. Thousands of others return with a load of bird shot or a rifle bullet to be dug out. Behind almost every hunting accident is one cause: carelessness. The hunter who blazes away at everything that moves runs a big risk of bagging a fellow hunter.

Never cross over or through a fence or climb a tree with a loaded gun. It might fall and discharge. Unload first and reload after crossing. Don't shoot at a hard, flat surface. Ricocheting bullets can carry long distances with killing power.

Even a small bore rifle has considerable range. Know where your bullet will stop before pulling the trigger.

Keep guns away from children. Never leave a weapon unattended without unloading it. Store guns and ammunition beyond reach of youngsters, preferably under lock and key.

Always carry a gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble. Keep the safety catch on until ready to shoot. Always be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions. A barrel clogged with mud or snow may burst.

Guns and alcohol don't mix. If you like a nip around camp, wait until you're through hunting for the day and all weapons are unloaded and cased.

Treat guns with respect at all times. They may be loaded, despite all precautions. Thus never point a weapon at something unless you plan to shoot it.

Veterans News

Delaware veterans now in school will soon receive automatic increases in their G.I. Bill Education checks, Leon Fields, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Wilmington announced this week.

Effective October 1, the new amounts will be included in checks scheduled to arrive in November.

The rate increases were provided in Public Law 90-77, signed last month by the President. Single veterans taking full-time courses have been increased from $100 to $130, veterans with one dependent from $125 to $155, and veterans with two dependents from $150 to $175. An additional $10 will be provided monthly for each dependent in excess of two.

Proportionately smaller allowances will be paid for part-time training.

"Wetherhold's Fabulous" Says Seaford's Cross Country Coach

Chris Wetherhold, a freshman with the look of greatness, romped to victory on Seaford's brand new cross-country course on Tuesday afternoon. The finely-trained 14-year-old trounced the Blue Jays' highly-regarded, 18-year-old, senior Peter Jacobs, by a whopping margin of 42 seconds, as he paced Coach Harold McDonald's Lions to their 25th straight victory and 54th win in the last 55 starts. The course was supposed to be 2.4 miles but is probably a little longer. Wetherhold's 13.37 is an automatic course record.

Jacobs and his teammate, Parker, had finished 1-2 in a race with James Bennett High School in Salisbury, Md. Despite the home course advantage and the benefits accrued from having had an earlier meet, the Sussex Countians could not extend the youthful Lion.

Joe Nielson, the Seaford coach, watched Wetherhold enter the half mile straightaway with no one else in view for more than a half-minute. Said he "This kid must be something else to beat my No. 1 boy that bad". A Harrington fan stated "He's O.K. for a freshman". Nielson did a double-take. "Only a freshman! He's fabulous."

Gary Simpson, No. 2 Lion in 1965, did not run in 1966. Trying a comeback, the 16-year-old natural runner, surprised by leading for more than half the race. Gary has had only a few workouts, is a long way from top shape and was running on courage, natural ability and little else. Once he regains his sense of pace and gets in condition for the long grind, he should reach the top three easily and strengthen the Lions immeasurably.

The winning score was Harrington 26, Seaford 33. Low score wins in cross-country.

Ronald "The Champ" Morris was hampered by a heavy cold but sprinted up the homestretch to catch one man and finish a good fourth. Freshman mighty mite, Danny Hitchens, was the third Lion to finish with a very good sixth place effort.

Nick Morris missed several practice sessions due to an ear ailment and a sprained ankle, so his seventh place finish was a good one for the Lion captain.

Sophomore Roger Jarrell, a first-year harrier, was next to complete Harrington's scoring.

Jack Warrington, another sophomore, last ran in 1965, but showed his class with an excellent ninth-place effort. Jim Redden, 15, stopped to pull some thorns out of his bare feet, but still managed to grab eleventh place. Jack and Jim helped widen the gap as their performances added three points to Seaford's total.

Brad Morris, a Cinderella-story-come-to-life, is a perfect example of perseverance and courage overcoming adversities. In 1966, as an eighth-grade tyro, he couldn't beat but two or three teammates, for most of the season. He kept plugging away, however and now has broken his practice record seven straight times, cutting off two minutes and forty-five seconds. At Seaford he finished in twelfth position. He is definitely a top future prospect despite physical ailments which would stop most kids.

Bob Rash, a tough performer last season, couldn't run because of a back ailment. We hope he will soon be in fine fettle once more.

Lions Improve In Loss to Delmar

A term that's being used these days by some of the upstate sportswriters, to describe a crushing defeat, is the word "laughter". They have used it to describe the Lions' loss to Bridgeville and again when the locals were on the short end of a 39-6 score Friday night against Delmar here. We don't use this word because there is nothing funny about a team doing it's best but still losing by a large margin.

Actually, Harrington looked much better in Friday night's game and could do much better in the next eight games left on the card. With no game this week, the rest of the walking wounded on Coach Bill Muehleisen's eleven might be ready for action when the Lions travel to Rehoboth next week.

Harrington received the opening kickoff and gained nine yards on three plays before punting out to its own 42.

Delmar utilized this good field position immediately, as Webster turned the right flank to the 29. Burt Culver, the 205 pound Wildcat, took a screen pass, at that point and charged into the end zone, although hit twice en route. Culver is bidding for all-state honors and the state scoring crown. This screen pass play allows him to get the momentum he needs. Once he gets rolling, a team made up of 170 pounders or less, like H.H.S., finds it hard to knock him down.

Five plays later Delmar was knocking at the door again on a completed pass from Hammond to Dougherty on the Lion 39. This combination clicked again for 24 yards with Dougherty stepping out of a tackle on the way. Culver went to the 3 and then scored through the line from there.

Harrington's best offensive drive of the young season then occurred. The Lions marched from their 24 to Delmar's 20, recording five first downs in the process.

Jim Harris, a bull of a carrier all night, led off with a four yard gain. Steve Welch turned the corner to the 34. Jack Redden's pass to John Swain added six. Jerry Cagle darted through the line to the H.H.S. 46, a pickup of six more yards. A Redden to Bill Moore toss, over the middle, was good for 10. Harris cracked through for five yards and S. Welch went left for four. After Harris notched the fourth first down of the surge, Redden hit Moore on the 20, but the latter dropped the ball, as he was tackled, hit hard by the Wildcats. Three plays later the visitors were on the scoreboard once more. Dougherty burst through the forward wall and wno a 72 yard foot race to the wide stripe. Culver's kick made the count 20-0.

The kickoff was returned to the Lion 40. Harris bulled and dragged tacklers to pick up eight. Welch's end sweep was good for seven yards to Delmar's 45. Cagle swiveled through for a gain of eight. Moore caught a pass threw off a tackler and went to the 9. Welch hit the line, straight-armed a Wildcat and raced to the two yard stripe. Steve got a yard more before Harris crashed over for Harrington's first TD this year. The kick was blocked.

Culver threatened to go all the way with another screen pass. The play started at the Delmar 27. Burt raced upfield for more than 30 yards, was hit, fumbled the ball forward to teammate Dougherty, who was downed on the Lion 33. Howard Brown of Harrington was shaken up on the long gainer. Welch broke up a pass attempt to Culver, but the big guy caught one for 15 yards on the next down.

Moore batted away a second-down-and-eight aerial try. A penalty cost Delmar five yards. Another forward misfired. Fourth and thirteen. A screen to Culver ended up on the two yard line. Burt had his third score on the next play.

The second half began with Delmar reaching the H.H.S. 20 in four plays before bobbling the ball away. Harris gained 7 before Delmar picked off a jump pass intended for Swain. The Wildcats drove near the goal but Harrington's defense finally got the message and halted the thrust. Welch got his team out of a hole by advancing 14 yards in three carries. Later, a 15 yard punt enabled the Sussex Countians to start again at the Lion 36. The locals stiffened at the Lion 36. The locals stiffened at the 18 to complete a scoreless third quarter.

The fourth period was a repeat of the first two stanzas. Early in the going a pass completed to Culver reached within 12 yards of paydirt. Dougherty ran for eight yards as Lion Bill Barey was hurt on the play. Culver scored his fourth TD, score, 32-6.

Bob Thompson ran the subsequent kickoff out to the 43, but a pass interception set up the final score of the ball game. A long strike was gathered in behind the defenders for a John Phillipps touchdown. Culver added his 27th point of a prolific evening.

The Lions, aided by 30 yards in penalties and gains by Welch and Harris got to the Delmar 10 before the Wildcats setopped three pass attempts and regained the pigskin.

A speedy Delmar back named Ward was headed for an apparent seventh touchdown when he was caught from the rear by the swift Lion track star, Jerry Cagle.

At Rehoboth next week the Lions could hit the win column. Delmar Coach Harry Bradley says Harrington is the better team. Let's hope this is enough to cancel out the home team advantage held by Rehoboth.

Baseball League Meeting Oct. 4

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 4, there will be a meeting of all managers, coaches, officers and anyone interested in helping out next year with the three baseball leagues (Senior, Little and Minor).

The meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Emma Carroll, 104 Grant Street, at 8 o'clock.

All interested persons, please try to attend.

Public Hunting Program - 1967

The Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge near Milton, will be open to public hunting this season. This refuge was established in 1963 primarily to preserve coastal wetlands that are historically of high value as waterfowl habitat. When acquisition is completed, the refuge will encompass 10,700 acres, including 7,300 acres of marsh and water.

Approximately 3,186 acres of the refuge will be opened to the hunting of migratory game birds (rails, gallinules, woodcock, common snipe, and mourning doves), upland game and deer in accordance with all applicable State and Federal regulations. Permits will not be required on areas designated by appropriate signs as being open to upland hunting. Access to the upland hunting areas may be gained from adjacent public roads.

A special condition of the regulations regarding hunting on the refuge is that no mink, otter, owls, or hawks (including vultures) may be taken.

Under a joint program with the Delaware Game and Fish Commission, controlled waterfowl hunting will be allowed on a portion of the Prime Hook National Wildlife Refuge this fall. Hunting is permitted during the regular State waterfowl seasons but only on the designated waterfowl hunting area which comprises approximately 1,512 acres of marshland.

A joint Federal-State checking station will be set up to accommodate waterfowl hunters. The specific location of this checking station will be released at a later date. Permits are required and will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis from two hours before legal shooting hours until 3 p.m. each hunting day. Advanced reservations will not be accepted. Permittees must enter the restricted Prime Hook waterfowl hunting area through the State access point off Prime Hook Road or at the refuge headquarters off Route 16. No more than three persons will be allowed per blind. All permittees will be required to check out through the checking station by one hour after sunset.

Boats will be required to reach the designated shooting positions. Small boats, low-horsepower motors and stout poles are recommended because of the nature of the narrow and shallow waterways. Additional information, hunting area maps and regulation leaflets will be available at the refuge headquarters, Rd. 1, Box 195, Milton, Del. 19968. (7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday).

Harrington Bowling League

Kent Gas was handed another split, this time by Robbins Hardware. Kent Gas still maintains a slim one game lead.

Breathing down the neck of Kent Gas is McKnatt Funeral Home, who won three of four games to take sole possession of second place.

Robins Hardware, even with their fine effort against Kent Gas, dropped from second to third place. They have really improved from last year's bowling and might wind up the league leader if they can maintain their balanced bowling.

Penn. R. R. and Hamilton Fund are tied for fourth place; Penn. R. R. coming up from sixth place, taking four games from Wally's Garage. Hamilton Fund dropped from the second position.

Hobbs Newsstand and Jarrell Fuel are tied in sixth place with Hobbs coming up from eighth place. Jarrell Fuel remained in the same position as last week though they won three of their four games with Acme.

Taylor & Messick dropped way down from fifth place to the eighth spot, losing all four games. Usually strong Wally's Garage is in ninth place with Acme still in the cellar spot. Wally's Garage is going to have to start winning some games if they want to look like last year's team.

R. Butler had a grand 232 game to lead all bowlers Tuesday night. He also rolled a fine 522 series.

G. Collins rolled a fine 214 game and led the bowlers with a good 543 series. H. Brode had a 207 game with D. Hayman and J. Shaffer both rolling fine 520 series. Hayman also had a 200 game.

known. James Washington of the local NAACP branch agreed and said he thinks a simplified program would be more beneficial to the needy.

"The federal government — they're going to coordinate this and coordinate that, and evaluate this and that, and, by the time you're through coordinating, you've wasted a year and haven't accomplished anything," Washington said.
